THE CRESTON REVIEW

Vol. XVII. CRESTON, B. C., FRIDAY, MAY 22, 1925 No. 14

Sirdar

Mr. and Mrs. Heap were weekend visitors with Mr. and Mrs. Simister at Creston.

The auto tourist traffic is starting off with a rush. Six cars were unloaded at Kuskanook eastbound on Tuesday.

The week-end tourist rush to Kuskanook is also in full swing, almost a dozen cars being parked there for the usual Sunday afternoon outing on the 17th.

Mrs. Martin and Mrs. Whiteside got back on Friday from a trip to Seattle. Mrs. Loasby, who has been in the same city for a week with Mrs. Cook of Creston, got home on Saturday.

Quite a company of old friends and acquaintances of W. D. Touhey had a stag at home on Saturday night in his honor at the home of Mr. Hines, at which a most enjoyable time was had, with Master Mechanic Ironsides of Cranbrook officiating as master of ceremonies.

Funds have been raised and other arrangements made for the usual Victoria Day picnic and outing for the Sirdar children, which will this year be held on Saturday, May 23rd. If the weather is right it should be a red letter day for the youngsters and grownups alike.

W. D. Touhey, who has held down the position of car foreman at Sirdar for the past fifteen years, left on Monday for Vancouver, to which terminal he has been transferred to take up similar work. Mrs. Touhey and family are remaining until school closes, Mr. Touhey planning to return in July to move the family. Bill has been a splendid all round citizen during his long residence here and will certainly be missed. His successor is Mr. Dibley of Swift Current, Sask., who arrived at the end of the week to take charge.

The feature to social activities this week was the garden fete given by Miss Rose Pascuzzo at which music and sociability pre-dominated, refreshments being served in a large marquee and cooling drinks making and ideal substitute for tea. The guests included Mrs. Walthers, Mrs. Wilson, Mrs. Brawn, Mrs. Proctor, Mrs. Cam; Misses Chadwick, Wilson, Heap, Parento, the Misses Cam and Tolerico, and Lester Grosbeck, Nelson Smith, Pete Cherbo and Jim Pascuzzo. The time passed most pleasantly the going-home hour of five coming all too quickly.—Com.

Residents of the Valley were deeply stirred when the news spread on Wednesday morning of the sudden death of James Maxwell, who was killed by the discharge of his rifle while getting through a wire fence near the barn, going out on a hunt for pheasants which had been doing damage to his crop. He left the house shortly after eight, but not returning shortly after ten Mrs. Maxwell became alarmed and not finding him working in the neighborhood went over to enquire at the Wickstrom place, and Mr. Wickstrom set out to see if he was on the ranch anywhere, and was horrified to discover him just through the fence back of the barn dead from a bullet wound. Dr. Burnett was at once notified and although it is evidently a case of death from the accidental discharge of the weapon, being a new practitioner the doctor thought it well to have an inquest. With coroner Dr. Henderson away it is necessary to bring in Dr. McKenzie, coroner at Nelson, who will arrive at noon today (Thursday) and will hold the usual enquiry. Deceased was a well known resident of the Valley, coming here at least fifteen years ago, and settling on the ranch he now occupies. He was in his 65th year, and is survived by a widow and three sons, Clarence of Vancouver; Robert of Nanton, Alberta; and Denzil of Cranbrook, who arrived home on Wednesday, with whom a large circle of friends will sympathize in their heavy bereavement.

Howard Russell—the leader of The Scottish Revue, who will "out Lauder" Lauder at Chautauqua.

Wynndel

A. H. Piggot was at his home here this week, making an inspection of ties in this district.

Quite a large crowd took in the "Birth of a Nation" in Creston on both Friday and Saturday, and all report it a very fine picture.

The ice cream season has now opened. Both stores have their parlors fixed up, and ice cream in great variety can now be had.

Miss Florence Wood arrived last week from Creston, and is assisting her father, Jas. Wood, in his Wynndel store.

Mrs. R. C. Eakin and family arrived on Monday from Vancouver, and expect to make quite an extended visit here this summer.

Miss K. Rosindale left on Friday for Yahk, where she will make her home for awhile, with Mrs. Murray at Camp 3.

There will be a meeting in the old schoolhouse at 8 p.m., Saturday, May 23rd, about irrigation. All those interested in this subject are asked to attend. A. Joy will take the chair.

The C.P.R. paint crew is here at present, at work on the new station.

Mrs. Ken. Dewar of Rossland is a visitor here at present, the guest of her father, John Bathie.

Tie hauling and shipping are prominent in commercial activities these days. A. & E. Andestad loaded out a car on Monday, and M. Wigen has several teams hauling and has about four cars piled on the siding.

Mrs. R. Rosindale's new house is nearing completion, and she expects to move into it before the end of the month.

Geo. Williams, who has been around the district the last eighteen months, left for the Old Country a few days ago, where he has secured a good position.

H. Beaumont has the contract to move the old store building of E. Butterfield across the track to a new site, where it will be re built into a two room bungalow.

The tennis club are to have a necktie dance in the old schoolhouse on Saturday night, May 23rd. Ladies are expected to bring a gent's tie with their name inside. These will be auctioned before supper. Gentlemen not securing a tie will be charged 50 cents. Ladies please bring refreshments. Good music, and good time guaranteed.

Co-Operative Fruit Growers Association have unloaded three cars of strawberry crates this week, and are expecting two or three more any time. The demand for raspberry crates will be very light this year as most of the growers were forced to cut their raspberries back owing to canes being killed by the December blizzard.

1925 Chautauqua Plans Completed

The sale of season tickets for the six day Chautauqua at Creston, which opens on Wednesday next, is now under way at all points in the Valley, and up to the present the demand for these admissions has been well up to the sales of previous years.

As in the past reserve seats will again be available at $1 for the whole eleven programmes, or ten cents single. The plan is at the Fraser bakery and we advise immediate reservations as there is a good demand, one buyer taking a block of six the first day the plan was on view.

From Ladner and Armstrong, where Chautauqua opened at the first of the week comes word that this year's programme is the most popular of the many presented. The McDonald Kiddies are tremendously popular and along with the comic opera, "The Mikado," are said to be well worth the price of admission alone. The lecturers this year, too, are of the same high class, and Creston is assured the biggest and best week of entertainment that is likely to come this way for many years.

Almost 300 children are expected to line up in the costume parade which will be staged at 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon, May 30th, and for which four prizes will be given in each school as well as four grand prizes. The youngsters from the schools at Lister, Canyon, Erickson, Wynndel and Creston are assured, and if transportation can be had the Kitchener children will also be in line.

Free ice cream will be given each youngster in the parade, thanks to the generosity of Geo. Kelly of the Creston Drug & Book Store. Tickets will be handed out before the parade starts and at the end of the march the cones will be handed out at the store. The parade committee is also indebted to the co-operative store at Erickson who are giving four fountain pens as prizes for the best dressed boys and girls from the Erickson and Canyon schools. With these attractive prizes it will be surely Erickson or Canyon that will win at least one of the grand prizes.

Miss Aylesworth, the supervisor who is already here, is specializing on the children,s work and it is more than likely that the musical programme that afternoon will be a little longer than usual and the talk by Judge Bale particularly appropriate for children's day. Another feature to the effort with the youngsters is the bad habits bonfire which will be set off at the fair grounds on the evening of Tuesday, May 26th, at 7.30.

Those attending Chautauqua are asked to come early on opening night so as to give as much time as possible for the collection of the amusement tax before the hour for opening arrives. If anyone wanting a season ticket is not called upon by the ticket sellers they can purchase these tickets at the drugstore, bakery, Speers' or the Review office.

Everyone is reminded of the community church service to be held in the big tent on Sunday morning and evening, May 31st. While we are not at liberty to divulge the names of the speaker or the musicians we can assure that the morning devotional exercises, particularly, will be the most impressive in the years Chautauqua has made a stop at Creston. On Sunday evening the speaker will be Norman Moore, and his subject, "The Measure of a Man."

Canyon City

A. Bond left at the first of the week for Kimberley where there is considerable plastering work in sight, and will probably remain for some weeks.

Alf. Speaker, jr., is taking up the trade of auto mechanic, being on the staff at The Lidgate garage at Creston.

The sale of Chautauqua tickets is in full swing this week and in good demand. At the school the youngsters are making great plans to capture the grand prizes in the costume parade, and there will be keen competition for the best dressed paraders, as the co-op. store at Erickson is donating fountain pens as prizes. At Creston druggist Kelly will need at least 60 ice cream cones to take care of the Canyon scholars.

Mrs. Alexander, who has been visiting at the old home in Scotland for the past few months, arrived back in Canyon last week, and is stopping with Mrs. Filmer.

Oltime Canyonites who can recall residents of ten years ago will be interested to know that Pete Demers who left here in 1915 to live at Leduc, Alberta, is back again driving team for C. O. Rodgers.

Rev. G. Knox is due back this week and will take the Methodist service on Sunday afternoon. It is expected his final service will be the following Sunday.

Guy Browell was here from Nelson a few days at the end of the week, demonstrating the new Chrysler auto, for which the firm that employs him is agent. He motored to Nelson on Sunday.

W. Wetherhead was home from Yahk for the weekend and witnessed the showing of the "Birth of a Nation" at the Grand on Saturday night, along with quite a few other Canyonites. He says the water in the river at Yahk is very high and he has gotten out about half of the winter's cut.

Otto Johnson, L. Moberg and Arvid Samuelson have gone to Kitchener, where they are working at the Sash & Door Company mill at present.

Lister

Summer has officially arrived. A humming bird—the very first of the year—was seen at the Geo. Jacks ranch on Friday last.

Word has just been received from Mervyn Williams, who has been on an extended visit to England, that he is sailing for Canada next week, and will be back to Lister early in June.

Harold Langston left at the first of the week for Klockmann, where he will be remaining for several months. A little later Mrs. Langston will leave for Winnipeg to spend the summer.

John Bird is taking a real holiday this week, leaving on Friday for Nelson to renew acquaintances in that city until the end of the week.

Mr. Gillespie, who has been spending the winter here along with Mrs. Gillespie, with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Niblow, is moving to Canyon City shortly, having purchased the ranch of W. C. Cleave at that point.

Miss Cherrington has the school children greatly interested in the costume parade at Creston's Chautauqua on Saturday afternoon, May 30th, and if transportation is available there will be at least 30 children from here in the parade.

Messrs. Malthouse and Powers have been busy the past few days with ploughing and cultivating some of the places that have reverted back to the L.S.B., and have certainly made a creditable job of it.

During his visit here last week Jos. Bell made arrangements with Andrew Sinclair to look after the Bell bees this season, and along with their own Mr. Sinclair should this fall take off the biggest honey crop in East Kootenay.

Mr. Adlard of Creston was in charge of the churchservice on Sunday, Lister having its devotional exercises in the afternoon, a delegation from the Creston Methodist choir helping out splendidly with the music.

Lister junior baseball team will play a game with the Canyon City juniors at 3 p.m., Saturday, May 23rd.

Everybody is cordially invited to the picnic at the Huscroft Community Picnic Grounds on Sunday, May 24th. All sorts of games for the children. Come, and bring your basket.

Annual Meeting Stockbreeders' Association

The annual meeting of Creston Valley Stockbreeders' Association will be held in Speers' Hall, Creston, on Saturday, May 30th, at 3 p.m. Business: Election of directors and receiving of reports. CHAS. MOORE, Secretary.

Kitchener

Kitchener was quite well represented at the dance at Porthill on Saturday night, at least three autos being requisitioned to carry the crowd of young people.

The baseball team made their first appearance away from home on Sunday afternoon, when they played at Creston, and were defeated by a score of 9 to 2. Creston team is billed to play another game at Kitchener on Sunday, May 24th.

Geo. Reece arrived from Cranbrook last week and is again in charge of forestry fire patrol work in the Kitchener district.

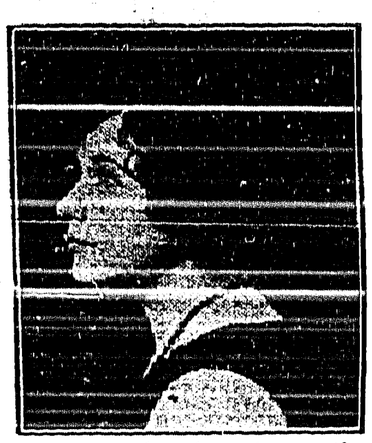
B. Johnson opened his beer parlor in the Kitchener Hotel at the middle of last week, and had a very generous trade on Saturday. He has the place attractively decorated and in every way in accord with the regulations.

There is sure to be a big crowd here on Saturday night for the wrestling match in Hunt's Hall between Fred Androsoff of Kitchener and Nels Jepson of Yahk. Both are reported to be experienced matt artists and as the match is best two out of three falls some fine rassling may be looked for. The admission is $1 to men, and 50 cents to ladies and boys, and there will be a dance after.

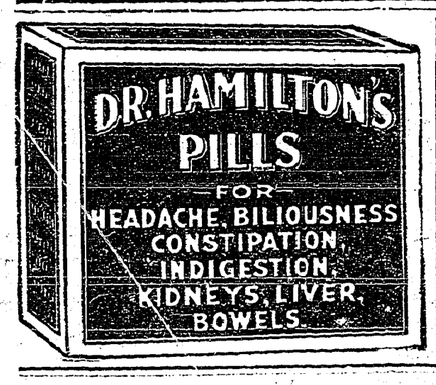
This week the beer parlor in connection with the McConnell Hotel opened for business, Mr. McGonegal getting the necessary license on Monday. He has had the place nicely fitted up and is sure to get his share of the trade.

R. S. Bevan, the well-known Creston garage man, is opening out a branch garage here this week in a building that is being erected next the Devlin store, and which will provide a repair shop approximately 20 x 40 feet. Henri Despins, an experienced mechanic will be in charge and with a full line of parts always on hand and a gasoline supply always on hand, Kitchener is assured a long needed and satisfactory auto repair service.

The many friends of Miss Irene Schmidt, a former teacher here, will read with interest the report of her marriage at her home in Rossland on May 13th, which we take from the Rossland Miner: One of the prettiest home weddings in the history of the Golden City was solemnized at high noon Wednesday, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Schmidt, Washington St. South, when their youngest daughter, Irene Beatrice, became the bride of Harvey David Drummond, of Vulcan, Alberta. Just as the bells were chiming the noon hour, the bride entered the living room on the arm of her father. Very girlish and pretty she looked in her gown of white flat crepe, with panel of lace and trimmed with seed pearls. Her veil of tulle was worn cap fashion, caught up with orange blossoms, and her shower bouquet was of sunset and bride roses, combined with lillies of the valley and asparagus fern. The young couple left by motor for Spokane, and for the next ten weeks will motor through Southern Oregon and up the Coast to Vancouver, and expect to make their home in North Vancouver. The groom's gift to the bride was a magnificent rope of pearls.



Eileen Hoff, prima donna—the girl with the golden voice—will appear at Chautauqua on the closing night.



Spendthrift Dominions

There is probably no other country which so lightly regards the rights of the future as our own Australia. To tear something out of the continent and pass it over to others for its present cash value has become the ruling principle. After nearly a century and a half of white settlement, the year 1925 finds us still largely hewers of wood and drawers of water for other peoples.—Sydney Bulletin.

A Romance of the Spanish Main

CAPTAIN BLOOD

RAFAEL SABATINI

Copyrighted, 1922, by Rafael Sabatini

"CAPTAIN BLOOD," a Vitagraph picture with J. Warren Kerrigan in the title role, is an adaptation of this thrilling novel.

SYNOPSIS

Peter Blood, a young Irish physician, is sent to the Barbadoes as a slave under orders of King James. He is bought by Colonel Bishop, the military commander, and falls in love with Arabella, the niece of the colonel. Spaniards bombard the city and sack it. Blood saves Arabella and Mary Traill. He captures the ship and sails for Tortuga, the rendezvous of buccaneers of the Spainish Main. There Captain Blood, tormented by his fear that he will never see Arabella again and importuned by his comrades, takes command of a pirate fleet. Levasseur, a Frenchman, enlists under him. Levasseur captures a Dutch vessel and lands with Madelon d'Ogeron and holds Madelon as hostage. Upon this scene enters Captain Blood whose ship had lost sight of Levasseur's vessel in the storm.

"Not so." Levasseur contained himself with difficulty before that irony. "They were in the Dutch brig."

"I don't remember that, you mentioned them before."

"I did not. They are prisoners of my own—a personal matter. They are French."

"French!" Captain Blood's light eyes stabbed at Levasseur, then at the prisoners. He frowned thoughtfully upon Levasseur.

"Yesterday you surprised me by making war upon the friendly Dutch. But now it seems that not even your own countrymen are safe from you."

"Have I not said this is a matter personal to me?"

"Ah! And their names?"

The prisoner answered for him.

"I am Henri d'Ogeron, and this is my sister."

"D'Ogeron?" Captain Blood stared. "Are you related by chance to my good friend the Governor of Tortuga?"

"He is my father."

"The saints preserve us now! Are you quite mad, Levasseur?"

Captain Blood sat down on the cask that Levasseur had lately occupied, and looked up blandly. "I may inform you, to save time, that I heard the entire proposal that you made to this lady and this gentleman, and I'll also remind you that we sail under articles that admit no ambiguities. You have fixed their ransom at twenty thousand pieces of eight. That sum then belongs to your crews and mine in the proportions by the articles established. But what is far more grave is that you have concealed from me this part of the prizes taken on your last cruise, and for such an offense as that the articles provide certain penalties that are something severe in character."

"You do not take her while I live, he cried."

"Ho, ho!" laughed Levasseur unpleasantly. Then added: "If you dislike my conduct we can dissolve the association."

"That is my intention. But we'll dissolve it when and in the manner that I choose, and that will be as soon as you have satisfied the articles under which we sailed upon this cruise."

"What do you mean?"

"I'll accept the situation as I find it. Yourself you've fixed the ransom of this couple at twenty thousand pieces, and, as I gather, the lady is to be your perquisite. But why should she be your perquisite more than another's, seeing that she belongs by the articles to all of us, as a prize of war? However, I'll not dispute her to you if you are prepared to buy her."

"Buy her?"

"At the price you have set upon her."

"That is the ransom of the man. It is to be paid for him by the Government of Tortuga."

"No, no. You've set their value at twenty thousand pieces, and for that sum you may have them, since you desire it; but you'll pay for them the twenty thousand pieces that are ultimately to come to you as the ransom of one and the dowry of the other; and that sum shall be divided among our crews."

That Captain Blood should dare oppose him with but a dozen followers whilst he had a hundred at his beck and call never entered the ruffian's mind. But he did not reckon on the cupidity of his own men. They saw twenty thousand pieces within their reach. Levasseur demanded time until he had captured sufficient booty. But Blood would have none of that. Death lurked always in this desperate business, and [illegible]

"Then let [illegible] the prison[illegible] who has."

"And who do you suppose has it if I have not?"

"I have," said Captain Blood.

"You have!" Levasseur's mouth fell open. "You . . . you want the girl?"

Captain Blood drew forth a small bag, twenty pearls poured into his hand, and Cahusac appraised them as worth the ransom. Levasseur in his anger sprang at Cahusac, and a blow scattered the pearls in the sand. The men dived for them.

Levasseur, his hand on his sword, his face a white mask of rage, confronted Captain Blood.

"You do not take her while I live!" he cried.

"Then I'll take her when you're dead," said Captain Blood, and his own blade flashed in the sunlight.

It was soon over. When, with both lungs transfixed, he lay prone on the white sand, coughing out his rascally life, Captain Blood looked calmly at Cahusac across the body.

"I think that cancels the articles between us," he said.

With soulless, cynical eyes Cahusac and his mates considered the twitching body of their recent leader. Captain Blood had brought them to find Levasseur guilty of the one offense they deemed unpardonable, the crime of appropriating to himself something which might be converted into gold and shared amongst them all. Whilst still they hesitated, Blood added something to quicken their decision.

"If you will come to our anchorage, you shall receive at once your share of the booty of the Santiago, that you may dispose of it as you please."

They crossed the island, the two prisoners accompanying them, and later that day, the division made, they would have parted company but that Cahusac, at the instances of the men who had elected him Levasseur's successor, offered Captain Blood anew the services of that French contingent.

"If you will sail with me again," the Captain answered him, "you may do so on the condition that you make your peace with the Dutch, and restore the brig and her cargo."

The condition was accepted, and Captain Blood went off to find his guests, the children of the Governor of Tortuga.

Mademoiselle d'Ogeron and her brother—the latter now relieved of his bonds—sat in the great cabin of the Arabella, whither they had been conducted. He doffed his feathered hat, and came forward to the table.

Lord Julian Wade aboard the Royal Mary

"Mademoiselle," said he in his vile but fluent French, "I beg you to dismiss your fears. Aboard this ship you shall be treated with all honor. So soon as we are in case to put to sea again, we steer a course for Tortuga to take you home to your father. And pray do not consider that I have bought you. Count it, if you please, a friendly loan to be repaid entirely at your convenience."

Mademoiselle stared at him in unbelief.

"Oh, you are noble!"

Captain Blood sighed. For the whole truth, which he withheld from Mademoiselle d'Ogeron, was that in venturing his life to save her, he had been driven by the thought that the deed must be pleasing in the eyes of Miss Bishop could she but witness it.

That affair of Mademoiselle d'Ogeron bore at its natural fruit an improvement in the already cordial relations between Captain Blood and the Governor of Tortuga. It was not difficult then for Captain Blood to recruit able crews, and he might have increased the number of his ships as well, but he decided to hold to the three vessels which were his—the Arabella, the La Foudre and the Santiago, which he had rechristened the Elizabeth.

It was with this fleet that he carried out the enterprise against Maracaybo, an enterprise in which Peter Blood's daring was only surpassed by stupidity which almost turned the tide against him and delivered him and his men over to the tender mercies of his implacable enemy, Don Miguel de Espinosa y Valdez, the Admiral of Spain. Captain Blood had landed at Maracaybo and had found the town empty. Too soon he learned of the trap. Espinosa had put into the narrow neck of the bay with his ships and had bottled the buccaneer in the bay. A sloop, captured by Captain Blood, was loaded with combustiles and powder and was sailed directly at the Spaniards until the grapnels held the two like a vice. Then it was set aflame. The Admiral's flagship burst into blaze, and fine seamanship and hard fighting with his three ships made Captain Blood master of Maracaybo Bay. But, when the Spaniards turned tail for shore and he gave chase, the fort which guarded the bay and which had seemed deserted, poured down a raking fire upon him and drove him in mortification and despair to take refuge in the town. The Spaniards secured themselves in the fort.

With a devil's luck and clear headed thinking, Captain Blood feinted with preparations for a land attack after he had managed to acquire a large ransom in gold from the Governor of Maracaybo, and, opening a broadside, put the fort in flames. Captain Blood sailed for Tortuga. Don Miguel was left to chew the bitter cud of lost opportunity.

Nerves Gave Little Rest

Relieved by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Harrowsmith, Ontario.—"I took your medicine before my baby was born and it was a great help to me as I was very poorly until I started to take it. I just felt as though I was tired out all the time and would take weak, fainting spells. My nerves would bother me until I could get little rest, day or night. I was told by a friend to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and I only took a few bottles and it helped me wonderfully. I would recommend it to any woman. I am doing what I can to publish this good medicine. I lend that little book you sent me to any one I can help. You can with the greatest of pleasure use my name in regard to the Vegetable Compound if it will serve to help others."—Mrs. Harvey Milligan, R. R. No. 2, Harrowsmith, Ontario.

In a recent canvass of purchasers of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound over 100,000 replies were received and 98 out of every 100 said they had been helped by its use. This medicine is for sale by all druggists.

Discount Was Worth While

Mark Twain Given Book and Seventy-five Cents

In American bookselling circles it is customary to allow a discount to publishers, authors and personal friends. When Mark Twain once visited a bookshop he chose a book and said to the assistant:

"Now, as a publisher, I am entitled to a discount of 50 per cent. As an author I am also entitled to 50 per cent., and as a friend of the proprietor I should get 25 per cent. Now what's the price of the book and what do I have to pay for it?"

The assistant did some rapid figuring and handing over the book, said:

"I guess we owe you 75 cents. Here you are. I hope we may have your further patronage!"—Jugend, Munich.

Meals Served By Electricity

Modern Restaurants In United States Have No Waiters

Electrically served meals are obtainable in some of the modern restaurants in the United States. The diner enters the restaurants, selects his table, notes on the menu the food he requires, drops the menu through a slot in the table, and waits a minute or two. Presently there is a humming noise, and in the centre of the table, on a four-poster tray, appears the food he has ordered. When the menu is slipped into the slot it drops to the kitchen below; the server there attends to the order, presses a button, and the food is on its way to the table. When the diner has finished his meal he takes the bill, which has also been delivered by electricity, and pays at the usual cashier's desk.

Over Sixty Ways To Serve Cheese

Beautiful Recipe Book May Be Obtained Free of Cost

That Canada will soon take its place with the nations that are the largest consumers of cheese seems assured considering the steady increase in its consumption in the past few years since the Kraft-MacLaren Cheese Company, of Montreal, introduced the five-pound box. The Kraft Company were the originators of the popular tinfoil-wrapped cheese, without rind or waste, in the five-pound wooden box, and while the original product has had many imitators, none have been able to produce a cheese of the same uniform quality and flavor because the Kraft process is protected by patents. The company does not make cheese, therefore, it is not competing with the cheese factories. But it purchases Canadian cheese in enormous quantities, thus keeping the cheese factories busy and adding to their prosperity and that of the farmers. Kraft Cheese is simply a scientific blending of these manufactured cheeses by means of the patented Kraft process which absolutely controls the flavor.

The company has just issued a beautiful recipe book showing over 60 different ways in which cheese may be served. Many of the dishes are illustrated in natural colors. A copy may be obtained, free, on writing to the company, in Montreal, mentioning this paper.

Flame Burns Under Water

Produces Steam Power Capable of Driving Locomotive or Steamship

By a process evolved by Mr. Oscar Brunler, a young English engineer, a submerged flame, burning in direct contact with water, can produce instantly steam power capable of driving a locomotive or a steamship. The method is applicable also to chemical solutions, for purposes of concentration. With a generator measuring three feet by four feet six inches, Mr. Brunler claims he could generate power sufficient to drive a locomotive from London to Glasgow and back. Its application to shipping would enable a liner to leave harbor immediately, it is claimed. The flame is produced by a mixture of oil and air, which is ignited after contact with the water, where it burns fiercely, attaining a heat of four thousand degrees Fahrenheit. In addition to its mechanical applications, the principle can be applied to the interests of agriculture in the production of nitric acid and calcium nitrate, by regulating the amount of air burned in the flame.

Adapts Rotor To Airplane

Austrian Engineer Applies Flettner Principle to Air Travel

Successful adaptation of the rotor to the airplane is claimed to have been accomplished by an Austrian engineer, Herr Gligorin. The inventor is a graduate of Vienna University, and for several years he has been connected with various Austrian and Hungarian airplane firms and is a qualified pilot.

"My invention," he says, "is a combined propeller and rotor-driver plane, and is an application to air travel of the Flettner principle."

Herr Gligorin says he believes he can make the flight to New York from Europe in less than twelve hours. He claims that his model when tested at Vienna showed that it could travel at more than three hundred miles an hour with only a 120 h.p. motor, and reach a height of three thousand feet within two minutes.

No Need For Suspicion

Balfour Replies to Attack in Lords on Singapore Base

The Singapore base scheme was attacked in the House of Lords by Lord Wimborne, on the ground that it would offend Japan and stimulate the race in armaments.

Lord Balfour declared that no other country, certainly not the United States, would have left Singapore unfortified so long as had Great Britain, and that there was no foundation for the suggestion of jealousy or offence on the part of Japan. He added that the only way a fleet could be made effective, should the necessity arise in the vast areas of the Pacific and Indian Oceans, was by having a base at Singapore which would exist for defensive purposes only.

Former War Ace Plans Air Service

Would Establish Route Between Vancouver and Interior of Province

Inauguration of airplane service from the coast to the Dease Lake district in the interior of British Columbia is planned by an organization headed by Major Donald R. MacLaren, former war ace.

It is understood the service, which is to be maintained by several large seaplanes, will be aided by a government subsidy for mail carrying and guarantees from the large operators in the area. It is hoped the planes will eventually operate between Vancouver and Dease Lake and also link up other outlying parts of Northern British Columbia.

Poland Paying National Debt

Only European Country Following In Great Britain's Steps

Poland is paying her national debt, and is the only European country which has so far followed in Great Britain's steps. Ratification of the agreement for the funding of the debt to the United States has been unanimously voted by the Chamber of Deputies. The agreement provides that Poland shall pay this year a sum of more than a million dollars and that the payment of the debt would be spread over a period of years until 1984.

Internal parasites in the shape of worms in the stomach and bowels of children sap their vitality and retard physical development. They keep the child in a constant state of unrest and, if not attended to, endanger life. The child can be spared much suffering and the mother much anxiety by using a reliable worm remedy, such as Miller's Worm Powders, which are sure death to worms.

Audience Goes In Costume

If you want to go to a new amateur playhouse at Hastings, Eng., you must dress like the actors do on the stage. "The Knight of the Burning Pestle," a play of the King James I. period, was recently presented and the entire audience appeared in ancient costumes.

Mother Graves' Worm Exterminator will drive worms from the system without injury to the child, because its action, while fully effective, is mild.

Manitoba Redistribution

A redistribution measure, which would reduce the number of seats in the Manitoba Legislature to 45, is under consideration by supporters of the Bracken Government it is stated. At present the legislature is composed of 55 members. Plans for registration of voters have been put forward, and a policy already has been adopted by the Farmers' Government in preparation, it is reported, for the next appeal to the country.

MARCH WEATHER DANGEROUS TO BABY

Our Canadian March weather—one day bright, but sloppy, the next blustery and cold—is extremely hard on children. Conditions make it necessary for the mother to keep the little ones indoors. They are often confined to overheated, badly ventilated rooms and catch colds which rack their whole system. To guard against these colds and to keep the baby well till the better, brighter days come along, a box of Baby's Own Tablets should be kept in the house and an occasional dose given the baby to keep his stomach and bowels working regularly. The Tablets are a mild but thorough laxative which never fail to regulate the stomach and bowels and thus they relieve colds and simple fevers and keep the baby fit. The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

CRESTON, B.C., FRIDAY, MAY 15

Board of Trade Appreciate Roads

Highway matters and consideration of resolutions to come before the convention of the Associated Boards of Trade were the features of the May session of the Creston Board of Trade on Tuesday night last, which was presided over by President C. W. Allan, with a good turnout of members.

There was a letter from F. A. Pauline, the B.C. agent general in London, England, asking for literature dealing with the Creston area, and also asking that the board advise him of any projects of any sort where British capital would be of assistance. In this latter connection Chairman Constable of the Reclamation committee was authorized to communicate with the minister of lands to ascertain if the government would part company with the Kootenay Flats area, and at what price and terms, if a responsible syndicate were prepared to drain the same. If a favorable reply is received Mr. Pauline will be advised accordingly.

Chairman C. O. Rodgers of the committee on highways, spoke in the highest terms of the handling of road repair work and improvements this year, which sentiment was concurred in by the members present, and on motion it was agreed to have the secretary write Mr. Ramsay and Mr. Philip, deputy minister of public works, expressing appreciation of the work under way at the Crawford hill, and expressing the hope that the Arrow Creek diversion would also be gone on with this season. Some members thought mention might also be made of the north and south road to connect up with Porthill, but it was finally agreed to let that work stand for special consideration in 1926.

Two of the resolutions the board's delegates—President Allan, C. O. Rodgers and C. B. Garland—will put forward at the associated boards convention at Cranbrook this week, will have to do with the completion of the Arrow Creek diversion, which is part of the trans provincial highway, and one urging the provincial publicity bureau to have literature prepared by districts, rather than in a general way, and asking that one setting forth the varied possibilities of the Kootenays should have first consideration.

The board went on record as thoroughly appreciating the efforts of the commissioners in cleaning up the town, improving the roads, and the fine start that has been made to give Creston fire protection, and a letter to this effect will be sent the council.

Chairman Gibbs of the 1924 tourist campsite committee reported that an autoists camp ground will be in operation this year. Fred Smith is now putting in shape a five-acre naturally wooded area adjoining his ranch, which will furnish an ideal camp ground, and on which he will erect at least one building into which will be put a stove for cooking so as to eliminate all danger of fire. The board will do everything within its means to advertise the fact that a camp has been established, and advise as to its location.

If suitable photos can be secured it is proposed to send a framed group photograph of Valley scenes for display at the British Empire Exhibition at Wembley, and the publicity committee is now in communication with photographers who have visited Creston to see what they can supply in this line.

Is it Anybody's Business?

Is it anybody's business
If a gentleman should choose
To call upon a lady,
If the lady don't refuse.
Or, to speak a little plainer,
That the meaning all may know,
Is it anybody's business
If a lady has a beau.

Is it anybody's business
When that gentleman does call,
Or when he leaves the lady,
Or if he comes at all;
Or is it necessary
That the curtain should be drawn,
To save from further trouble,
From outside lookers on.

Is it anybody's business—
But the lady's—if her beau,
Rides out with other ladies
And doesn't let her know.
Is it anybody's business—
But the gentleman's—if she
Should accept another's escort
Where he doesn't chance to be.

If a person's on the sidewalk,
Whether great, or whether small,
Is it anybody's business
Where that person means to call.
And if you see a person
As he's calling anywhere,
Is it anybody's business
What his business may be there.

The substance of our query,
Simply stated, would be this:
Is it anybody's business
What another's business is?
If it is, or if it isn't,
We would really like to know.
For we're certain if it isn't
There are some who make it so.

If it is, we'll join the rabble,
And act the noble part,
Of the tattlers and defamers
Who throng the public mart.
If it's not, we'll act the teacher
Until each meddler learns,
T'would be better in the future
If he'd mind his own concerns.

SYNOPSIS OF LAND ACT AMENDMENTS

PRE-EMPTIONS

Vacant, unreserved, surveyed Crown lands may be pre-empted by British subjects over 18 years of age, and by aliens on declaring intention to become British subjects, conditional upon residence, occupation, and improvement for agricultural purposes.

Full information concerning regulations regarding pre-emptions is given in Bulletin No. 1, Land Series, "How to Pre-empt Land," copies of which can be obtained free of charge by addressing the Department of Lands, Victoria, B.C., or to any Government Agent.

Records will be granted covering only land suitable for agricultural purposes, and which is not timberland, i.e., carrying over 5,000 board feet per acre west of the Coast Range and 3,000 feet per acre east of that Range.

Applications for pre-emptions are to be addressed to the Land Commissioner of the Land Recording Division, in which the land applied for is situated, and are made on printed forms, copies of which can be obtained from the Land Commissioner.

Pre-emptions must be occupied for five years and improvements made to value of $10 per acre, including clearing and cultivating at least five acres, before a Crown Grant can be received.

For more detailed information see the Bulletin "How to Pre-empt Land."

PURCHASE

Applications are received for purchase of vacant and unreserved Crown lands, not being timberland, for agricultural purposes; minimum price of first-class (arable) land is $5 per acre, and second-class (grazing) land $2.50 per acre. Further information regarding purchase or lease of Crown lands is given in Bulletin No. 10, Land Series, "Purchase and Lease of Crown Lands."

Mill, factory, or industrial sites on timber land, not exceeding 40 acres, may be purchased or leased, the conditions including payment of stumpage.

HOMESITE LEASES

Unsurveyed areas, not exceeding 20 acres, may be leased as homesites, conditional upon a dwelling being erected in the first year, title being obtainable after residence and improvement conditions are fulfilled and land has been surveyed.

LEASES

For grazing and industrial purposes areas not exceeding 640 acres may be leased by one person or a company.

GRAZING

Under the Grazing Act the Province is divided into grazing districts and the range administered under a Grazing Commissioner. Annual grazing permits are issued based on numbers ranged, priority being given to established owners. Stock-owners may form associations for range management. Free, or partially free, permits are available for settlers, campers and travellers, up to ten head.

Local and Personal

Queen's Birthday (May 24th) falling on Sunday this year, the holiday will be observed on Monday, and all places of business in town will be closed.

Provincial police H. McLaren was at Boswell on Tuesday making an inventory of the chattels and securities of the late W. Nack who died intestate on May 11th.

Vic Mawson, who succeeds Mr. Woolverton as the Watkins dealer, commenced covering his territory on Tuesday, using a Ford car, and is well satisfied with trade.

There was considerable evidence of prosperity in the Valley on Saturday last when the Ladies' Guild of Christ Church enjoyed a gross cash intake of over $120 at their spring sale of needlework, cooking, etc.

Alex. Lidgate and "Buck" Davies were Fernie visitors a few days at the end of the week, making the trip in C. G. Bennett's McLaughlin car, which had been left here when the latter moved to Fernie. 8

C. O. Rodgers commenced 1925 operations at the box factory at the first of the week, and now has the season's make of strawberry crates well under way. The capacity of the plant has been almost doubled since last year.

President C. W. Allan of the board of trade, along with C. G. Garland and C. O. Rodgers, left on Tuesday for Cranbrook, where they are in attendance at the annual convention of the Associated Boards of Trade of Eastern B.C.

The school board had their May meeting on Friday night when they had the usual midsummer conference with Inspector Manning. Principal McLellan will send up sixteen pupils to try the Entrance exams. which start on June 22nd.

The co operative store office building on the lot near the Bank of Commerce, has been purchased by the village and has been moved onto the Union property next the R.C.M.P. barracks, and will be fitted up for a firehall immediately.

Kitchener baseball team made its second appearance in Creston on Sunday afternoon, and made rather a better showing than on the initial visit, the score being 9 to 2 in Creston's favor. The return game will be played at Kitchener on the 23rd.

A number of the Creston indians left via the overland route for Cranbrook on Monday to take in the May 25th sports in that town. Jimmy Lockhead shipped his two race horses with the party, and expects to bring back a share of the running race prize money.

Bob Beaton, who has been assistant at the C.P.R. depot, the past two months, left on Monday for Fernie, to take a similar position, and is succeeded by Chas. Armstrong, who was on the depot staff last season.

R. S. Bevan is branching out in the garage line, having this week opened a repair shop at Kitchener, with Henri Despins in charge. He has a building 20 x 40, centrally located, and will give customers the same first-class service that always obtains in his Creston garage.

Mr. and Mrs. Clark Moore of Dover, Idaho, were weekend visitors here with the former's mother, Mrs. Hugh Taylor. He was accompanied by his brother, Bob, who recently lost his hand in a planing mill accident, and whose injury is making quite a satisfactory recovery.

Misses Cherrington were hostesses at court whist at their home on Friday night, with five tables of players competing and the prize scores going to Miss Lyda Johnson and Ted Staples. Refreshments were served and then followed dancing to round out a most enjoyable evening.

Miss Ayleaworth of Edmonton, Alta., who will supervise this year's Chautauqua, arrived at the first of the week, and is making a call on all the schools interesting the children in the junior work. The ticket sale commenced on Wednesday and there is a fine demand for the pasteboards.

Anyone wishing to have their name placed on the 1925 provincial voters list should be at the provincial police office, Creston, Tuesday afternoon, May 26th, between 2 and 4 o'clock. A special sitting of the court of revision is being held here that afternoon by the registrar of voters, J. Cartmel.

Chas. Moore got back from the Slocan on Wednesday as due to the deep snow in the hills it was impossible to get on with mining survey work. He states that mining is active in a small way on many claims and mining men with capital are more numerous in that country than for years past.

The most welcome rain of the year came along on Thursday morning and continues at the time of going to press, the downpour at noon registering over an inch. It will get the field crops off to a great start, and assures a yield of early strawberries. This is the usual Chautauqua rain and is sure to bring about a brisk demand for season tickets.

Fish dinners were in evidence on Sunday at the homes of several of the friends of W. E. McAlpine who is holidaying at Proctor and who, on Friday last, landed a 13½ pound salmon whilst fishing in the lake in that neighborhood, and which was landed with the aid of the gaff. This is just a sample of what he expects to catch; if there are any 20 pounders in the lake he is determined to have one before his vacation is over.

For the community service in Chautauqua tent on the evening of Sunday, May 31st, the guarantors have been fortunate in securing Norman Moore, former district forester of Cranbrook, to give his address on "The Measure of a Man." Creston Valley people who have heard him on two other subjects can vouch for the statement that Mr. Moore is in Chautauqua class as a speaker, and the big tent should be filled to capacity that evening. Special musical features are being arranged.

According to the first draft of the stationing committee of the Methodist Conference in session at Victoria the past week, Rev. Jos. Herdman of Anyox will have charge of the incoming United Church at Creston, the present pastor, Rev. G. Knox, having been assigned to Sapperton, replacing an oldtime Creston minister, Rev. F. L. Carpenter, who is moved to Ferris Road, Vancouver. Rev. M. W. Lees, who was here in 1917-18, comes from Smithers to take the United Church at Kaslo, where the Methodists and Presbyterians merged at the first of May without the latter taking a vote.

Canada Must Fight Geography

Sir John A. Macdonald, the first Premier of the Dominion, used to say that Canada was a difficult country to govern. The truth of that observation has become more and more apparent with the passing of the years. In Sir John's day the greatest difficulty was found in reconciling the opposing viewpoints of the French and English speaking, Protestant and Roman Catholic elements in our population, although he also was confronted with the differences existing in the economic requirements of Ontario and Quebec as compared with the Maritime Provinces. The West versus East problem had not become acute prior to Sir John's passing.

Much of the bitterness in regard to racial and religious differences which divided Canada into two camps in the eighties and nineties has passed away. Occasionally the dying embers are fanned by extreme partizans bankrupt of any solid basis for opposition to their political opponents, but such tactics are frowned upon by the people of Canada generally.

But while education and the cultivation of a spirit of charitableness has largely succeeded in banishing the old partizanship and bigotry of the past, lines of division among the people of Canada are just as sharply drawn as ever, only now the differences are wholly economic, whereas formerly they were racial and religious. While it is regrettable that there should be lines of division, they are much to be preferred to those which once existed and bedevilled public life and largely nullified every effort toward national development of the Dominion.

In this very strenuous commercial age, and in a world still handicapped by the upheaval of the Great War, Canada finds itself unable to present a united front to the world with a strong and well defined national policy. On the contrary, there is a lack of anything worthy to be called a national policy. There is an absence of deep national sentiment. Instead of the people being united as Canadians first, last and all the time, they are divided into three main groups—the far east or Maritime Province group, the central or industrial group of Ontario and Quebec, and the Western agricultural group. To some extent there is a fourth, or far west group, British Columbia. Events are, however, rapidly shaping themselves making the interests of the Prairie Provinces and British Columbia common interests.

Not man, but nature itself, has set up the obstacles operating to divide Canada into these distinct groups. For half a century Canada has been fighting nature, or geography, in an almost superhuman and certainly courageous effort to build up a united people and nation on the northern half of this continent. Canadian public men, irrespective of party, or race, or religion, and regardless of the fiscal or economic views held by them, have striven to achieve this result. It has been their lifelong dream, and the ardent desire of the majority of native-born Canadians.

Canadians have poured out money like water to develop the Dominion east and west and bind it together and into one unit from the Atlantic to the Pacific. Yet the desired result has not yet been achieved. Why? Because with a mere handful of people Canada has to fight geography all along the line. Nature never intended that the entire traffic and business of this country should proceed along rigid east and west lines. There is, first, the gap between the Maritime Provinces and the centres of Quebec and Ontario, it being easier and cheaper for the central Provinces to do business to the south, for trade, like the flowing water in a river, follows the lines of least resistance. Then comes the 1,000-mile barren stretch between North Bay and Winnipeg. Finally, the Rocky Mountains erect themselves between the Prairies and the Pacific Coast.

In Canada it is a continuous fight against geography to build up a nation along east and west lines. Yet if Canada is to remain a distinct national unit, that fight must be persisted in. There is no other alternative. Either the Dominion must break up into three or four separate groups, or become merged into the republic to the south, or its people must get together, compromise their more acute differences, adopt a policy of give and take, and with renewed courage and energy continue the battle with the obstacles which nature has set in our path to a strong, united nationhood.

Bigger wrongs than footing it is positively suicidal whether as individuals, geographical groups, or as a Dominion, to go on as the Canadian people have been going. A house divided against itself cannot stand, and Canadians must either get together before long and unite on some common policy which, while not meeting the extreme views of any one section, will be acceptable to and command the support of all, or the Dominion will break up or be swallowed up.

Furthermore, the get-together policy must, in the present temper of the people, be adopted before long or it will be everlastingly too late. It may not be exactly palatable to say these things quite so bluntly, but they are true, and the facts might just as well be faced. It is, therefore, the imperative duty of all true citizens and lovers of the Dominion to bend their minds and energies to the task before them and save this Dominion for their children and children's children.

No Secession Talk

Robert Forke Says There Is No More Patriotic Section In Canada Than In the West

Emphatic denial to reports that Western Canada largely favored "secession" was made by Robt. Forke, M.P., leader of the Progressive party, in presenting the western viewpoint on the tariff and other matters of national importance before the Young Men's Club of the board of trade at Toronto.

In declaring that Canadians were going to fight out their own problems as one family, Mr. Forke said: "I can assure you that there is no more patriotic section of this country than the west and that this talk of secession has been unwarrantably magnified.

"I have no fault to find with moderate protection for Canadian manufacturers, but I would like to see the government announce a definite policy regarding protection and stand by it, rather than have the tariff subject to constant alterations."

It would be very difficult, said Mr. Forke, to convince the western farmer, who sold his produce and cattle in the open markets of the world, that he stood to gain by protection.

George Crawford Tells What Dodd's Kidney Pills and Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets Did for Him

Quebec man relieved of rheumatism and stomach trouble

Standon, Que.—(Special).—Another tribute to Dodd's Kidney Pills is sent to us by Mr. G. Crawford, a well known resident of this place. He says: "It is with pleasure that I let you know your Dodd's Kidney Pills have done me good and I am well satisfied with the results. My trouble started from a cold. My sleep was broken and unrefreshing and I had a bitter taste in my mouth, especially in the mornings. Rheumatism also troubled me. I am now taking your Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets and find them very good. When I feel my stomach bad I take them and get instant relief. My age is 76."

Dodd's Kidney Pills not only relieve the pain or ache that is causing the most distress, but they put the kidneys in good working order and all the impurities and poisons are strained out of the body.

Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets keep the stomach free from trouble. They are a natural remedy, digesting the food while the stomach rests and recuperates.

London Fogs Take Heavy Toll

Deaths From Lung Disease Reach Height During Winter

According to one authority, says Popular Mechanics, a single London fog may cost more lives than a pitched battle. The period of the greatest prevalence of the dense mists is in December, with the other winter months not far behind. At this season of the year the death rate from lung diseases reaches its height. The heavy, moisture-laden air aggravates such maladies, the lack of sunlight reduces physical resistance and illness frequently results from chills caused by the dampness. Mental depression is considered another harmful effect.

Many persons have a jaw biting power of 300 pounds.

NATURE'S WARNINGS

Danger Signals That Everyone Should Take Seriously

Pain is one of Nature's warnings that something is wrong with the body. Indigestion, for instance, is characterized by pains in the stomach, and often about the heart; rheumatism by sharp pains in the limbs and joints; headaches are a sign that the nerves or stomach are out of order. In some ailments such as anaemia, pain is not so prominent. In this case Nature's warning take the form of pallor, breathlessness after slight exertion, palpitation of the heart, and loss of appetite. Whatever form these warnings take, wise people will not ignore the fact that many diseases have their origin in poor blood, and that when the blood is enriched the trouble disappears. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are most helpful in such cases because they purify and build up the blood to its normal strength. In this way it tones up the nerves, restores the appetite and gives perfect health. Miss Hazel Berndt, of Arnprior, Ont., has proved the great value of this medicine and says:—"I am a young girl and have been working in a factory for the past four years. For two years I had been in such poor health that at times I could not work. I was thin and pale, and troubled with headaches and fainting spells. I doctored nearly all this time, but it did not help me. My mother advised me to take Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and after using them for a while I could notice an improvement in my condition. I used nine boxes and can truthfully say that my health is restored. When I began taking the pills I weighed 97 pounds and now I weigh 114. I feel that I owe my good health to Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and hope other ailing people will give them a fair trial."

You can get these pills through any medicine dealer or by mail at 50 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Five Bushels Per Acre More In Production Is Possible Within the Next Ten Years

F. S. Archibald, director of experimental farms in Canada, told the members of the University Club at Ottawa recently, that a five-bushel per acre increased production of wheat in Canada is possible within the next ten years. This would add to the value of Canada's yearly production between 120 and 200 million dollars. It is quite within the realm of possibilities, he said, that within the next 10 to fifteen years, science may increase the value of Canada's agricultural products by from 250 to 300 million dollars a year.

Mr. Archibald also explained that it was possible the output of milk by a single cow could be increased by 1,000 pounds a year. This would mean an added revenue to Canada of fully 60 million dollars a year.

The address was an earnest plea for sympathetic consideration on the part of city men for the problems of the farmer and for the work that is being done in the way of experimentation on scientific lines.

Mr. Archibald said that agriculture is still Canada's seven billion dollar industry, which employs and maintains a little over one-half the population of the Dominion. Indirectly, also, it is responsible for industries and employment of well over 50 per cent. of the remainder of the people. Agriculture yields 2½ times the production of the mines, fisheries and forests of Canada, said the speaker.

Beef and Butter For Orient

Demand For Canadian Products Shows Rapid Increase

Increased demand in the Far East for Canadian beef and butter was evidenced in the heavy consignment of refrigerated cargo which left Vancouver recently for Oriental ports on the Canadian S.S. Empress of Russia. More than 250 tons of these commodities was shown on the ship's manifest.

The big liner took out more than 300 passengers, including a party of eight Shell Oil representatives, enroute to the Far East to open new branches of that company in China and the Dutch East Indies.

Alberta Sugar Plant

Construction to Commence at Once on Million Dollar Factory

It has been officially announced that the Utah-Idaho Sugar Company will commence construction at once on a million dollar sugar plant at Raymond and will be ready to slice beets by next October. Six thousand acres of beets, with a production of between 70,000 to 90,000 tons, have been signed up by irrigation farmers on Southern Alberta projects. Two more factories will be erected in Southern Alberta if the Raymond plant proves the success expected.

It is also stated that the duke expects to acquire a ranch near that of the Prince of Wales in the southern area of the province.

Saskatchewan Poultry Pool

Organization Capitalized at $50,000 is Formed

Incorporation of the Saskatchewan Co-operative Poultry Producers, Limited, has been effected by the provisional board of directors.

The poultry pool is capitalized at $50,000 in 50,000 one dollar shares, and the head office is located at the Farmers' Building, Regina.

The incorporators are: Mrs. Sarah E. Selby, Kerrobert, representing the Farmers' Union of Canada; George F. Edwards, Regina, representing the Saskatchewan Grain Growers' Association; Mrs. Ida McNeal, Expanse, W.G.G.A.; Mrs. Bertha Holmes, Asquith, W.G.G.A.; W. H. Beesley, Moose Jaw, S.G.G.A.; Harry W. Ketcheson, Davidson, representing the agricultural co-operative associations.

It is expected the provisional board will approve of the final draft of the contract at the next meeting and that a sign-up campaign will be launched throughout the province early in April. A special poultry and egg marketing bulletin is being prepared by the provincial markets, and co-operation branch for use in the campaign.

A trade mark that will be used on posters and advertising material consists of a chicken stepping out of an eggshell and calling, "Where's that pool?"

Soil Fertility In West

Prairie Soils Lose Fertility at Less Rapid Rate as Time Goes On

Soil fertility investigations conducted by Dr. F. T. Shutt, Dominion chemist, over a series of years, have proved that western prairie soils which lose fertility at a rapid rate during the first few years of cultivation and cropping, lose fertility at a less rapid rate as time goes on.

The lessons learned from this investigation point conclusively to the necessity of introducing rotation grasses and clovers into farming practice if profitable farming is to be maintained says the Dominion department of agriculture. At the conclusion of his bulletin covering his investigations on this subject, the Dominion chemist points hopefully to the increasing adoption of mixed farming, including dairying and stock raising.

The extension of this practice, Dr. Shutt points out, necessarily involves a scheme of soil management which serves to maintain fertility and tends towards increasing rather than decreasing the grain output of the prairies.

The bulletin covers investigations, particularly at Brandon, Manitoba; Scott, Saskatchewan; and Lethbridge, Alberta.

Fewer Canadians Emigrating

Sharp Falling Off in the Number Going to the United States

A sharp falling off in emigration of Canadians to the United States during the past year, as compared with the previous year, is noted in the returns of the U.S. department of labor. In this connection Senator Reed, of the United States, recently stated that no quota law was needed to apply to the Dominion in view of the smaller immigration. He said the net immigration from Canada for the last six months was 61,000, as against 198,000 the net immigration for 1923.

Experimental Stations For Bay Territory

Suggested at Ottawa That Seed be Sent to Port Nelson

The establishment of experimental stations at points on the Hudson's Bay Railway has been urged at Ottawa. Western members expressed the opinion that the district traversed by the 200 miles of Hudson's Bay Railway now in operation had great agricultural possibilities.

R. A. Hoey, Progressive, Springfield, suggested to Hon. W. R. Motherwell, minister of agriculture, that seed for experimental purposes should be sent to Port Nelson, the terminus of the Hudson's Bay Railway. The production of samples of grain and vegetables grown in that district would act as an aid to immigration.

Mr. Motherwell informed the house that he had been considering the establishment of a sub-station on the Hudson's Bay line. He said Mr. Hoey's suggestion was an excellent one and he would be glad to accept it.

To Help Mining Industry

Its Tremendous Importance to the Dominion Is Recognized

Eloquent assurance of wholeheartedness support from the governments which they respectively represented was given to mining men of the Dominion in general and of Ontario in particular, by Hon. Charles Stewart, minister of mines for Canada, and by Hon. Charles McCrea, minister of mines for the province of Ontario, in addresses given by them at the banquet which terminated the 27th annual general meeting of the Canadian Institute of Mining and Metallurgy at Ottawa.

Hon. Charles Stewart assured the members that he ever kept in front of him the duty of calling the attention of those around him to the importance to the Dominion of the mining industry, and its tremendous potentialities in the future.

The Many Different Basic Sources of Wealth Which Are To Be Found In Canada

It is one of the outstanding features of Canada that it has naturally about as many different sources of commercial strength as any one country can have, and has also the very decided advantage of being able to bring into commercial play a great variety of basic sources of wealth, says the natural resources intelligence service of the department of the interior. First, it has a remarkable estate in lands suitable for grain growing, stock raising, fruit farming and other forms of husbandry. It has immense forest areas of pulpwood species as well as saw timber. The range of its mineral products is altogether unusual. Its waterpowers are generous in extent, and well distributed. A great area of fertile fresh and salt water fishing grounds, and an abundance of useful wild life, round out the physical estate. Thus nature itself has given to Canadian enterprise about all that any country needs in order to attain commercial strength as well as size.

The net primary production figures for 1922 for each of these broad divisions give some very interesting profiles. In the Maritime group, for instance, in round figures, the showing is as follows: Agriculture, $88,933,000; forestry, $35,336,000; fisheries, $16,506,000; trapping, $350,000; mining, $28,186,000; electric power, $3,631,000. It will be noted that the Maritime Provinces, as a group, have been able to draw each of several different classes of physical resources into commercial play on a considerable scale. Agriculture looms up above the other primary industries, but forest industries, mining and fishing have likewise assumed large proportions. The Maritime area, as a whole, exhibits an unusual degree of both natural and developed diversity.

The basic industries of Ontario and Quebec are, of course, on a larger scale. In this group agriculture overshadows the other primary industries more heavily than is the case in the Maritime area, nevertheless, Quebec and Ontario possess great strength in lumbering and mining, and, although fishing is a minor factor, this group presents a new giant in its power-generating industry. Despite the greater predominance of agriculture, the Ontario-Quebec division is obviously one of exceptional variety in basic pursuits. The value of the individual industries is as follows: Agriculture, $535,979,000; forestry, $170,514,000; fisheries, $4,947,000; trapping, $8,226,000; mining, $76,247,000; electric power $61,914,000.

No other form of primary industry approaches agriculture in importance in the prairie provinces. Aside from this industry, mining has made the most notable advance. The figures are: Agricultura, $487,759,000; forestry, $8,506,000; fisheries, $1,484,000; trapping, $4,721,000; mining, $31,385,000; electric power, $9,093,000.

Leadership in British Columbia and the Yukon belongs to forest industries. Mining also improves its relative position, and fishing is likewise prominent. Here alone agriculture yields first rank. In fact, British Columbia draws its commercial sustenance more equally from the several different branches of primary industry than does any other province. No one main industry is overshadowingly dominant, as will be seen by the following values: Agriculture, $36,018,000; forestry, $52,018,000; fisheries, $18,849,000; trapping, $1,564,000; mining, $39,423,000; electric power, $7,567,000.

The individual figures for the Yukon are: Fisheries, $10,000; trapping, $2,025,000; mining, $1,785,000; electric power, $118,000.

Western Flour Goes to Russia

Alberta flour mills will receive direct benefit, it is expected, from the large order placed by the Russian Government with Canadian mills for more than $12,000,000 worth of flour. The order is to be filled by the Maple Leaf Milling Company, which has a mill at Medicine Hat, and by the Western Canada Flour Mills Company, which has mills at Calgary and Edmonton.

Seized Good Opportunity

Farms Being Prepared For Dairy Community Near Winnipeg

Within 50 miles of Winnipeg a vast dairy community is soon to spring into being. "Spring" is used deliberately, for within two months ready-made farms will be ready for 25 families, and these will be the first of 300 or 400 such homes. The whole project, financed from St. Paul, will include 70,000 acres and will take about $2,000,000. Each settler will have 160 acres, with 30 broken, a home, a barn, silo and ten cows. The settlers will be from the United States and Europe and will be "handpicked."

That is opportunity—a dairy community within 50 miles of one of Canada's most progressive cities. Perhaps it did not seem possible. Yet now, it is started, the only wonder is that no one thought of it before. The country is full of such opportunities.—Border Cities Star.

Motive Easy To Understand

Canada Has Reason For Wanting Embargo on Pulpwood

The motive behind the movement for an embargo on Canadian pulpwood is plain. It is, in the main, to provide that the employment and wages incidental to the converting of pulpwood into paper shall go into the pockets of our own workmen, not into the pockets of workmen in the States. It is to prevent the existing condition whereby every carload of pulpwood that crosses the border takes work and wages from labor in Canada and gives them to labor in the States. It is, in a word to foster the sound policy of developing the resources, the industries of Canada, instead of sacrificing them to the advantage of others. If there is a nation in the world that ought to be able to understand that motive, that nation is the United States.—Ottawa Journal.

Metal Products In Canada

Over 106 Million Dollars Invested In Plant and Equipment

Representing an actual investment of more than 100 million dollars in plant and equipment, 333 establishments in Canada manufacturing products from metals other than iron and steel in 1923, produced commodities having a total selling value in excess of $8 million dollars and a value added by manufacturing of more than 45 million dollars, according to a report issued by the Dominion bureau of statistics. The manufacture of electrical apparatus and supplies was the chief industry, having a value of more than 51 million dollars.

B.C. Pine Seed For Finland

Among the recent shipments of lodge pole pine seed from the Dominion Government's seed extracting plant at New Westminster, B.C., was one consigned to Finland, where an attempt will be made to propagate this specie of forest tree. Other large shipments have been made during the past two or three years mainly to the British Government forestry commission in London.
