Roads, Airport Govt. Building

Board of Trade Still Pressing for Betterments on Highways—After Exact Information How Secure Establishment Airport.

Board of trade members were out in considerable numbers for the November meeting on Tuesday night, which was presided over by President Col. Mallandaine. Highway matters and the erection of a provincial government building at Creston provided most of the discussion and resolutions.

For the Hospital committee the president reported that the necessary by-laws, etc., had been drafted and approved by the directors and the formal application and fee had been forwarded the department at Victoria asking for incorporation, and that when this comes to hand a general meeting of all interested in the hospital will be held and a permanent board of trustees elected to serve for the next year. He stated that Dr. Lamb, inspector of hospitals, had been here and was very much taken with the hospital throughout.

In connection with the public building reports reaching the board indicated that recently an inspector had been sent in to investigate the situation and it is understood he has advised that better accomodation for government branches at Creston would not come amiss, and on the strength of this the board will again urge an appropriation for the erection of a suitable office building.

On highways Engineer Ramsay will be asked to do some gravelling at the ferry to make travelling safer in wet and slippery weather. Recently some grading has been done which makes a decided improvement and gravel is all that is needed to complete the job.

In view of the great improvement Idaho has made on the North and South highway right down to the B.C. border at Rykert's custom house, and with the Spokane-Cranbrook motor bus now coming into Creston over the K.V. route, as well as heavier traffic generally. the minister of public works will again be written to asking for much needed consideration of the Creston-Rykerts link of the North and South road.

The federal authorities will be asked to submit a statement to the board as to just what Creston ought to do to assure aving an airport on the east-west air mail route. C.P.R. Supt. Flett will be written to asking that some needed repairs in the way of new planking be made at the railway crossing at Erickson.

Legion Elects Year's Officers—Membership Shows Healthy Growth—Meeting Agrees that Suitable Building is Desirable.

The marked revival in interest in Legion activities that has been in evidence of late was strikingly demonstrated in the large and representative attendance at the annual meeting of Crestou Valley Post, No. 29, of the Canadian Legion of the British Empire Service League held on Tuesday evening, last, which was in charge of the retiring president, S. M. Watson, the feature of which was the election of officers and a general discussion of future Legion activities. The officers chosen for 1930-31 are:

President—Walter V. Jackson.
1st Vice-President—R. T. Millner.
Snd Vice-President—Geo. Niblow.
Secy.-Treas.—John Hall.
Executive—J. Brown, Reg Watson.

At this meeting three applications for membership were received and the secretary's report indicated that the membership is now in the neighborhood of 40. Insofar as funds were available assistance has been given the past year to all deserving needy comrades.

Possibly the outstanding feature of the year was the international get-together at Creston the latter part of May when a large number of delegates of the Idaho state Legion annual convention at Bonners Ferry visited Creston for a fraternal and social session, which was so much appreciated by the visitors that recently intimation has been received that the Idaho Legion hope to make the visit to Creston an annual one, and are counting on a return call from the Creston Valley veterans.

With the proceeds of the Armistice dance available it is expected it will be possible to make the final payment on the two lots the Legion now own on Barton Avenue, and in an informal discussion on this subject the opinion was quite unanimously expressed that the Legion should as soon as possible get on with the erection of a building to serve as a meeting place as well as provide a commodious hall for recreation and entertainment purposes.

Before adjournment the usual votes of thanks were tendered the retiring officers for services rendered during the year just closed.

Lister

Rev. Carl Basse of Creston was here for Lutheran Church service on Sunday afternoon.

Lister was well represented at the Legion church parade at Creston on Sunday morning and at the Armistice exercises at the same town on Tuesday.

At the election of officers for Creston Valley Post Canadian Legion, R. T. Millner was elected vice-president.

Mr. and Mrs. Bird and Miss Curtis, with Manning Powers and Cyril Bird, were visitors at Bonners Ferry on Thanksgiving Day.

A top dressing of gravel is urgently needed at both approaches to the new bridge at the site of the former twin bridges. Now wet eather has set in the travelling at that point is difficult.

John Reimer, son of Jacob Reimer, had the bad luck to have his left elbow put out of joint in a fall he sustained at the school on Tuesday morning.

The sale of the Butler farm, near the school, is reported this week. The buyer is Ed. Siebert of Nelson, who gets possession almost immmediately.

Rev. R E. Cribb will be here for United Church service on Sunday, when he will take for his text, "He teacheth my soul to war."

August Klein, who some months ago purchased the former Frampton place, is giving up the property and will move to near Creston where he will take the unimproved place recently purchased by C. Hollm from L. Leamy As soon as the place is vacated it will be taken by Frank Hollaus of Nelson, who has purchased it from the Land Settlement Board.

Alice Siding

Gordon Smith of Copper Mountain arrived at the end of the week on a visit with Mrs. Smith and family here.

The nice open weather that has prevailed has tempted some of our ranchers to get on with considerable new fencing, notably on the Stewart, Parkin and Miller places.

Harry Compton arrived on Thanksgiving Day from McGillivray on a visit at his home here.

T. Trevelyan left on Sunday for Michel where he has secured work on an electrical installation contract in that town.

Bob Marshall and Everard Constable returned on Sunday from their week's hunt in the Elko country but found deer scarce, coming home without any venison.

Mrs. Stace Smith and Ronald, who have been at Wenatchee, Wash,, for the past month. arrived home on Tuesday.

Teachers home from the convention at Fernie at the end of October report that former Principal Lukas is now in charge of the three-room school at Yahk, where he is giving instruction to some pupils taking first and second year high school work.

The trustees are calling for tenders for the supply of wood for Alice Siding School, bids to be in by November 28th.

Mr. and Mrs. T. Trevelyan wer surprise party hosts on Friday night when a full turnout of the young people made an unlooked for call and spent a very pleasant e ening at dancing, George Willis, violin, and Tom Marshall, accordeon, supplying the music.

The best take of the season in the hunting line came Hector Stewart's way the latter part of the week, in the Kitchener country, where he bagged a splendid sample of black bear, which he came across while out deer hunting. After the first skirmish bruin disappeared as if he had retired into his winter home, but came out again almost immediately and it was in the seco d round that he was finally despatched.

Canyon City

A series of whist drives will be given this season to raise funds for the usual Christmas treat for the children, and the next card party will be Saturday night, 15th.

A. D. Pochin of Nelson is spending a few days at his ranch at Canyon.

The Ladies' Aid have just announced a cafeteria supper to be followed by a concert which will be held on Friday evening, November 28th.

At the United Church service here on Sunday afternoon Pastor Cribb will speak from the text, "He teaches my soul to war."

Arvid Samuelson is busy this week on a haul of about 18,000 cedar posts which have been bought by the C.P.R., and which are being loaded out at Erickson. This is part of about 30,000 which were cut last winter.

There was quite a good turnout at the children's Christmas treat fund whist at the hall last Saturday night at which the high scores were made by Mrs. Humble and John Nygaard, with Consolation honors going to Mrs. VanAckeran and Bill Clayton.

The annual meeting of Canyon Water Users' Association was held on Saturday night with the chairman of the board, Jas. Bateman, presiding, and the balance sheet submitted indicated that the company is in a healthy condition financially. H. Young was re-elected trustee and with Jas. Turner, F. Knott, Jas. Bateman and W. G. Wearmouth will comprise the directorate for 1931. Col. Fred Lister, M.P.P., was present and discussed some features of irrigation legislation. Up to the present the Water Users have been unsuccessful in getting like consideration with other irrigation districts, who were allowed a 25 per cent. rebate by the department at Victoria last year. The rebate matter, however, is being pressed and there is still hope for favorable consideration.

Armistice Parade Dinner, Dance

Best Turnout Ex-Service Men Seen in Years at Armistice Day Activities—Reunion Dinner was Outstanding Success.

Creston's 1930 observance of Armistice Day was the most impressive since the observation of the day was commenced. The outstanding feature of the occasion was the larger number of returned men taking part in Tuesday's parade to the monument as well as at the reunion dinner, while the attendance at divine serviee at Christ Church on Sunday morning was also gratifying to those responsible for this feature.

Tuesday morning's parade was in charge of Sergt. S. M. Watson with arrival at the monument timed for 11 o'clock, and opening the exercises with the two minu es' silence. Rev. P. McNabb conducted the memorial exercises throughout, his address dealing mainly with the formation and work of the League of Nations and emphasis on the work each and every citizen individually may do to assure permanent peace. His reference to the importance to the children of the observance of the day was most timely. All the public school children were present, marching down in charge of Principal Marriott and the other teachers. There was the usual placing of wreaths, singing of hymns as well as "O Canada" and the National Anthem. Proceedings ended with the Last Post by bugler Geo. H. Kelly.

About 40 ex-service men sat down to the duck and chicken dinner at the Creston Hotel at noon with proceedings in charge of Walter V. Jackson, recently chosen president of Creston Post of the Legion, and the feature address by Col. Mallandaine. A number of others spoke informally and a couple of songs by H. Fortin brightened up proceedings.

The community hall at Canyon was packed to capacity the evening for the Armistice dance under Legion direction, with Roy Browell as master of ceremonies. Excellent music was provided by Al. Fredericks' orchestra and an equally excellent supper was served at midnight.

The financial intake at the dance was well up to expectations and the surplus will be used making what will likely be the final payment on the lots on Barton Auenue which the Legion secured some time ago as a site for a Legion hall and club.

What Have You Learned About Life?

A world-wide organization of men recently conducted a contest, requesting letters on the subject: "What Have I Learned About Life?" Numerous replies were received, and the writer of this column feels that he cannot do better this week than pass on one of the prize winning essays. It is brief, and to the point, and reads:

"I used to drive my father's car on the country roads. While bouncing along over the rough ruts on the right side, the left part of the road always appeared more inviting; but once on that side I inevitably found it just as rough or worse.

This is the first lesson I have learned about the roadway of life. The other side is deceiving. The boy longs to be a man, and the old man glorifies the golden days of his youth. The poor yearn to be rich, while a larger income consistently calls for more expense. But the successes and gains of life are not in the future or the past, nor in the other man's back yard. They lie within our own reach at the present time and in the present conditions. Life has lined us up for an even start.

The second thing I have learned about life is that God hasn't finished the job. We rejoice in the accomplishments of science, religion and social relationships, but yet in the crowded ways of life we find vile strife, unbrotherliness, political corruption and the curse of a maladjusted industrial order. Civilization is in its infancy, and its growth will depend on us of the present generation. There are still new worlds for men to conquer.

It doesn't take long for one to learn that there is no getting by in the long run of life. Being born into the world with this or that fortune or pedigree does not guarantee that one shall have a sturdy character and a personality that shines like the morning sun. Regardless of where a man starts in life those things of lasting value, education, religion, business power, a strong and virile physique and a happy home life are obtained only by long hours of patient and arduous toil and self-discipline which alone are the harbingers of a radiant and masterful personality. There are no sales and charge accounts in the market places of life. The price of the best is constant.

Finally I have learned that there is enough happiness in life to go around. No man is cut off from his heritage of happiness even though it be interspersed with hardships and sorrows. To be able to see the vision of life's task in spite of the cramped quarters of a small job; to find outlet of soul and character in stooping to help a brother while persecuted by others; to rejoice in the exaltation of personality while crushed in the wheels of industrialism; and to be happy in a great and thrilling quest with the fresh dawn of each immortal day—this is the major lesson of life.

Shipping Asbestos To Japan

About Eighty Per Cent. Used Is Produced In Canada

"The market in Japan for asbestos in lump, powder and fibre, as well as in packing and other forms is increasing year by year owing to the expansion of industrial plants using this material and to the great variety of uses to which asbestos products are being put in everyday life," according to James A. Langley, commercial secretary to the Canadian Legation at Tokyo, Japan, in an article in the October issue of the Commercial Intelligence Journal.

About 80 per cent. of the asbestos used in Japan comes directly from Canada, a small percentage from Russia and the balance through one or two English concerns interested in the African asbestos deposits. The demand for asbestos powder and fibre runs to about 12,000 tons.

Making Trial Shipment Of Western Cattle

Prominent Ranchers Send High Class Animals To Old Country

Jack Byers, Sr., livestock promoter, attached to the Dominion Department of Agriculture, has taken a trainload of range steers, two, three and four years olds which were contributed by a number of prominent ranchers of Saskatchewan and Alberta, as a trial shipment of high-class cattle to the Old Country markets.

The shipment is being supervised by the Federal Department of Agriculture from loading to market. Mr. Byers sailed from Montreal to Manchester on October 30.

Veteran Government Worker

Walter Todd Has Served In Civil Service For More Than Half a Century

Walter Todd, for more than half a century clerk of committees and private bills for the House of Commons, died at Ottawa recently in his 74th year. His illness had been of brief duration.

The 57 years Mr. Todd spent as a government worker made him, in point of continuous service, one of the oldest members of the civil service. He succeeded his father to the position of clerk of committees in 1874.

In addition to the coincidence that father and son gave many years to the same post in the service of their country, one other peculiar incident stood out similarly in both their lives. In 1848 when the Parliament buildings, then situated in Montreal, were fired by an angry mob during the agitation which followed introduction of the Rebellion Losses' Bill, Mr. Todd's father cut the portrait of Queen Victoria from its frame while the structure about him was in flames.

In 1916 when the Parliament buildings at Ottawa again went up in flames, Walter Todd cut the same portrait of her late majesty from its frame and once again the canvas was saved by a Todd.

Guard the Children From Autumn Colds

The Fall is the most severe season of the year for colds—one day is warm, the next cold and wet, and unless the mother is on her guard, the little ones are seized with colds that may hang on all winter. Baby's Own Tablets are mothers' best friend in preventing or banishing colds. They act as a gentle laxative, keeping the bowels and stomach free and sweet. An occasional dose of the Tablets will prevent colds, or if it does come on suddenly their prompt use will relieve the baby. The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Newspaper Convention

Provincial Meeting In B.C. Of Journalists On Daily and Weekly Publications

A provincial convention of the men and women who are engaged in the editorial departments of the daily and weekly press of British Columbia, the first of its kind in Canada, is planned for a late week-end in February, preliminary arrangements having been made at a meeting of the provincial executive committee of the B.C. Institute of Journalists, held in Vancouver.

The convention will coincide with the annual dinner of the Vancouver branch, which will act as host to the out of town members who are expected to assemble from all parts of the province.

To safeguard the child from damage that worms cause, use Miller's Worm Powders, the medicine par excellence for children. These powders will clear the system entirely of worms, will regulate and stimulate the organs injuriously affected by the worms, and will encourage healthful operation of the digestive processes. As a vermifuge it can be relied on for its effectiveness.

Uses Of Volcanic Dust

Volcanic dust is mainly used in the manufacture of cleansers, scouring powders, and abrasive soaps, but latterly, outside Canada, there has been an increasing demand for its use as an admixture in cement and plasters. Volcanic dust beds up to thirty feet thick are being worked near Swift Current, Saskatchewan. There are other beds in British Columbia.

ACID CONDITION

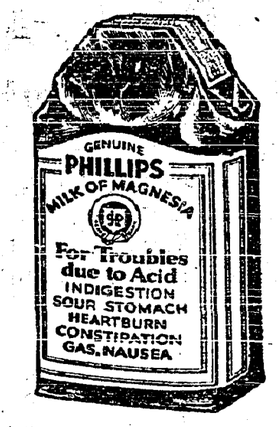
the common cause of pain and discomfort after eating--

GET RID of your dread of pain after eating. Eat without fear of "indigestion," sour stomach, disagreeable gas or headaches.

When your food ferments, "disagrees," lies like a lump in your stomach, it's a sign of too much acid. You need not resort to crude methods—take instead an anti-acid that will correct the condition. Phillips' Milk of Magnesia.

A spoonful of this pleasant-tasting, soothing fluid neutralizes many times its volume of acid. It restores the proper alkaline balance to an acid-soaked stomach and bowels—assists these organs to function as they should.

Phillips' Milk of Magnesia is what you need when a bad breath, coated tongue, headaches, nausea or biliousness indicates an over-acid condition. Take a spoonful today and for several days and see how it sweetens the system. You won't be nearly so liable to colds or sickness. All drugstores—in 50c bottles.



Genuine Milk of Magnesia is always a liquid—never a tablet. Look for the name Phillips' on wrapper and bottle.

Dairy Production Increases

Increasing Demand For Dairy Stock In Prairie Provinces

"Statistics of dairy production at the present time indicate that there is an appreciable increase in milk and cream production all over Canada at the present time," observes Dr. J. A. Ruddick, Dairy Commissioner of the Dominion Department of Agriculture. With respect to butter production Ontario and Alberta show a 15 per cent. increase for the first six months of the production year. Cheese production, of which 97 per cent. is centered in Ontario and Quebec, was 30,000 boxes behind last year as at October 11. One of the interesting features in the dairy industry at the present time is the increasing demand for dairy stock in the Prairie Provinces.

Postage Stamp Changes

New Color To Be Adopted In Printing New Issue

Fall styles in postage stamps will show a radical change in color scheme. Within a month, or sooner, if present stocks are exhausted, a new issue of stamps up to the eight cent denomination will be released by Canada's Post Office Department. Basic colors will be changed in conformity with regulations of the Universal Postal Union, of which Canada is a member.

The one cent stamp will change its "dress" from orange to green; the two cent stamp will be red in place of green as at present; the mauve five cent stamp will make way for one of blue and the eight cent postal carrier will give up its blue color for a modish orange.

DOMINION-WIDE AIR SERVICE TO BE INAUGURATED

Winnipeg, Man.—Negotiations are nearing completion for the formation of the Dominion-wide air service, in which the Canadian National and Canadian Pacific Railways will participate, according to word received here recently. Preliminary plans for an all-Canada service were discussed some months ago, and since that time negotiations, now nearing completion, have been under way with the railways and eastern aerial companies.

James A. Richardson, of Winnipeg, financier, and president of the Western Canada Airways, who will be the majority stockholder in the organization, to be known as the Aviation Corporation of Canada, is at present in the east completing negotiations for the new air development.

The Aviation Corporation of Canada will have under its control the Western Canada Airways, the Canadian Transcontinental Airways, the Canadian Airways and other companies, providing an air service from coast to coast. The railways will both be financially interested in the organization, which, it is stated, has the sanction of the Federal Government, although it will have no financial stake in the concern.

Development of train and air schedules to provide speedy transcontinental service across the Dominion is forecast.

There will be no public financing of the corporation in the immediate future, it is understood.

Franco - Italian Naval Difference

United States Ambassador Is Optimistic After Conference With Italy

Rome, Italy. — Hugh S. Gibson, United States ambassador to Belgium, has returned to Geneva apparently optimistic after a series of conferences with Italian government heads looking toward a settlement of the Franco-Italian naval difference.

He did not talk for publication about his conversations with Premier Mussolini and Foreign Minister Grandi, but he left behind an impression that negotiations between France and Italy will be undertaken at the League of Nations preparatory disarmament commission sessions with more likelihood of success than would have been the case before his visit to Rome.

Not Exempt From Taxation

C.N.R. Pays Over Eighteen Million In Three Years

Toronto, Ont.—Replying to the statement that the Canadian National Railway fed on the public exchequer and was exempt from taxation, Sir Henry Thornton, chairman and president of the system, told members of the Toronto Board of Trade Club, that from 1926 to 1929 the railway had paid in federal, provincial and municipal taxes $18,709,000. This amount, he said, was only $3,000,000 less than paid out by the Canadian Pacific Railway.

The $3,000,000 less can be explained by the fact that Maritime railways are under a different arrangement.

Pays Tribute To Grenfell

London, England.—The Prince of Wales paid a tribute to the work of Sir Wilfred Grenfell in a letter which was read by the Lord Mayor of London recently at a meeting of the Grenfell Association. The letter read: "There is no doubt that Sir Wilfred is carrying on splendid work in a territory rapidly becoming an economic unit of great potential value to Newfoundland and the Empire."

Section Foreman Awarded Prize

Winnipeg, Man.—G. Swanson, section foreman in charge of one of the British Columbia boundary subdivisions at Eholt, B.C., has been awarded the prize donated by W. M. Neal, Winnipeg, general manager, western lines Canadian Pacific Railway, for the best maintained section of track on the company's western lines during 1930.

Labor Secures Majority

Premier Ramsay MacDonald Wins Through First Division

London, England.—A majority of only 31 votes carried the Labor Government of Premier Ramsay MacDonald safely through the first important division of the current parliamentary session.

This was regarded a crucial test, for the balloting was only on a motion by the Conservative party to amend the Speech in reply to the Address from the Throne. The amendment was defeated by 281 votes to 250.

The Speech from the Throne has been under bitter attack for two days, the Conservatives regretting the failure of the Laborites to propose any adequate measures to deal with the crisis in the industrial, agricultural and commercial fields or to check the growth of unemployment.

Liberals decided to abstain from voting on the amendment. As a matter of fact, five Liberals, including Sir John Simon, voted against the government, but they were almost counter-balanced by four members of the same party who stood by the administration.

The left wing Laborites stood by Premier MacDonald.

Earnings Forty Millions Less

C.N.R. Has Deficit This Year Of Ten Million

Toronto, Ont.—Gross earnings of the Canadian National Railways system will be $40,000,000 less this year than in 1929, but drastic economies in all departments of operation and in capital expenditure will offset this to the extent of about $30,000,000, it was revealed here by Sir Henry Thornton, president of the system.

The large savings effected, he indicated, were largely achieved by putting off construction work and other new operations not immediately essential.

While no improvement or indication of immediate improvement in C.N.R. earnings was visible, Sir Henry was encouraged at what he thought was a "better feeling" by most people and business men. The extreme and unwarranted pessimism induced by the depression, he thought, was passing rapidly, which was a good sign.

For Improved Motor Cars

Increase In Speed, Comfort, Safety and Cheapness Is Predicted

London, England.—Motor cars of the future will have fewer parts — hundreds of fewer parts — while taxicabs and buses may have their engines at the rear, according to a prediction made here recently by Sir Herbert Austin, prominent manufacturer, while addressing the Institution of Automobile Engineers. He added that all transport would increase in speed, comfort, safety and cheapness.

"Why we put up with the present archaic type of vehicle in London streets," Sir Herbert said, "is difficult to understand." The weight of road vehicles could be reduced with advantage, Sir Herbert declared, and a design was wanted for a 15 horse power closed car to weigh not more than 14 hundred weight.

Brazil Establishes Provisional Government

Reforms and Democratic Elections Promised By Brazilians

Rio De Janeiro.—The Brazilian Government, of which Dr. Getulio Vargas has become the head as the victor in a brief revolution, plans to step out as soon as it has effected reforms and democratic elections will then be conducted.

This was the assurance of Dr. Osvaldo Aranha, associate of Vargas and just named Minister of the Interior and Justice in the temporary government, who told the Associated Press that the new administration will represent the will of the Brazilian people.

"We have established a provisional government similar to that when the republic was proclaimed in 1889," he continued. "We shall shape our programme with the idea of making a real representative government and bringing honest administration into all departments."

Investigate Indian Conditions

Minister Of the Interior To Study Situation In the West

Ottawa, Ont.—In order to examine at first hand conditions on Indian reserves in the prairie provinces, Hon. T. G. Murphy, Minister of Interior and Indian Affairs, will journey to the west the end of this week. While the minister's plans have not been completed, visits are contemplated to a number of reserves in the neighborhood of Regina, Sask., and Calgary, Alberta.

According to officials of the department, reports from Indian agents throughout the country indicate the plight of Indians is serious.

With winter coming on, every effort is being made to find ways to relieve the distress which is considered inevitable.

May Visit French Capital

London, England.—Premier R. B. Bennett, of Canada, will probably visit Paris, after the Imperial Conference has concluded, to discuss trade matters with the French government.

Freemen Of City Of London

Prime Ministers Of Canada, Australia and New Zealand Are Honored

London, England. — In the old Guildhall, with its five centuries of stirring history, the Prime Ministers of Canada, Australia and New Zealand became freemen of the City of London. Premiers R. B. Bennett, J. H. Scullin, and G. W. Forbes, were declared in the ancient formula to be "men of good name and fame."

"They do not desire the freedom of the city whereby they will defraud the King or this city of any of its rights, customs and privileges," so ran the declaration of the compurgators, "they will pay their scot, bear their lot, and so they all say."

Sir Adrian Pollock, city chamberlain, introduced the new freemen. He said Premier R. B. Bennett "has not belied his reputation for plain speaking and anxiety to get things done, which admirable attributes are the more conspicuous on account of his well-known hereditary and passionate loyalty to the empire."

Premier Bennett declared he felt the honor was conferred not upon himself personally, but as an honor to the Dominion of Canada. "I shall tell my fellow-Canadians, when I return, of the high regard you hold for them in this old city and of the deep concern ever manifested in their progress and prosperity," Premier Bennett said.

Premier Bennett referred to the Imperial Conference. "Of this great conference in which we are now engaged," he continued, "I can only say that every delegate, whether from the homeland or the overseas dominions, is actuated by an earnest desire to promote the well-being and prosperity of this great empire, this commonwealth of nations of which we are trustees."

Carried Out Father's Wish

Kingsford-Smith Scatters Ashes Of His Father Over Waters Of Pacific

Sydney, N.S.W.—Wing Commander Charles Kingsford-Smith, using the aeroplane in which he made his last memorable flight from England to Australia, scattered the ashes of his father over the waters of the Pacific Ocean, which had witnessed his first notable triumph in the air.

On his death bed, William Kingsford-Smith, father of the aviator, expressed a wish that his ashes be cast to the winds over the Pacific, and his famous son thus performed his last sad duty to his dead sire. The elder Kingsford-Smith died November 2.

Will Investigate Deportations

All Future Cases Will Be Carefully Considered On Merits

Blind River, Ont.—Further deportations to their native lands of patients confined to mental institutions in the province will not be authorized until every case has been carefully considered on its merits and passed upon following a thorough examination by a competent physician.

This policy will be followed by the Ontario Government in dealing with such cases in future, according to Hon. J. M. Robb, provincial minister or health, in discussing the cases of three women recently to come under the deportation order.

Will Command New Liner

Montreal, Que.—Captain R. G. Latta has been selected to command the new 42,500-ton Canadian Pacific liner "Empress of Britain," it was announced here.

BOUND FOR EASTERN TRADE

Two trucks of shortbread and more coming up to complete the carload which left Winnipeg for Toronto's Christmas trade. It required 645 cases, 12,900 toothsome cakes, to fill the car with the western manufactured product bound for eastern trade—a special order completed this month.

NATIONAL FARM POLICY MAY NOW BE FORMULATED

Ottawa, Ont.—New departures in Canadian methods of agriculture are expected to develop from a conference to be held here November 17 and 18 between Hon. Robert Weir, Minter of Agriculture, and Ministers of Agriculture of the various provinces. The conference has been called in the hope of formulating a national agricultural policy.

Not only will the views of the provincial ministers be presented at the conference, but suggestions from the various agricultural colleges will also be put forward. Major Weir has already been in communication with deans of colleges throughout Canada, inviting them to express their opinions.

The discouragement suffered by farmers in attempting to market their crops at reasonable prices has confirmed the minister in his determination to evolve an effective national agricultural policy, according to department officials. While the most crucial phases of the problem are present in the western provinces, the conference will not concentrate on the wheat situation alone, it is understood, but will endeavor to bring forth a policy of benefit to the country as a whole.

Major Weir has not made an expression of his own views, but is believed to favor a gradual increase in cattle-raising in the western provinces.

Helium Gas For Airships

Dr. Hugo Eckener Will Use Helium Gas and Crude Oil Motors In New Zeppelin

Berlin, Germany.—Dr. Hugo Eckener surprised the annual dinner of the American Chamber of Commerce here by announcing that as a result of the recent disaster to the British dirigible R-101 he had changed the plans for Zeppelins now under construction so as to provide for helium gas and crude oil motors.

He said he had received word from the United States that helium gas, which is non-inflammable and non-explosive, would be available to inflate his airships in whatever quantities desired.

Dr. Eckener, who is world famous as commander of the Graf Zeppelin, declared that had it not been for an explosion the crash of the R-101 in France several weeks ago would have resulted in minimum damages. As it was the great airship burned to almost nothing and 48 British lives were lost.

Wheat Shows High Protein

Calgary, Alberta.—The earlier threshed grain from the southern part of Alberta showed remarkably high protein, according to tests made from many points, it is reported by the Alberta Wheat Pool. Samples for Hesketh and Iddlesleigh showed a protein content of 19 per cent., while many other points supplied samples of wheat which tested from 15 to 18 protein content.

Planning Two Great 'Planes

Berlin, Germany.—The aeroplane that startled and surprised the world, the Dornier DO-X, is to have two sister ships if information received through aviation circles proves correct. It is reported that the Dornier Company is at work building two new 'planes the size of the DO-X and that they are expected to be completed in May, 1931.

Aviator Receives Decoration

Copenhagen, Denmark. — Captain Wolfgang Von Gronau, the German trans-Atlantic flyer, received from King Christian a decoration in recognition of his crossing the Atlantic to New York by way of Greenland. The flyer said the route will be the main highway of trans-Atlantic traffic in the future.

Manitoba Birds For Eastern Show

Brandon, Man.—A poultry exhibit of considerable size will be sent to the Toronto Royal Show this month by the province of Manitoba. John Windover of this city stated that more than 50 birds would be shipped east and that turkeys will comprise a large portion of the exhibit.

Sit at your telephone and go on a trip

Why not go on a telephone trip? It's the easiest way to travel. You just sit at your telephone, remove the receiver, ask for "Long Distance," and place a call for a person at some distant point. In a moment or so the gap between has been bridged, and you are talking away to a far-away friend, relative or business associate. Such a trip combines speed with that "personal touch," and it is an inexpensive way of travelling.

CRESTON, B.C., FRIDAY, NOV 1

In the Lower Kootenay

MIRIAM GREEN ELLIS

Family Herald and Weekly Star

Water finds its own level so 'tis said but "quelque fois" that level is not where we want it. For instance the district around Creston in the Lower Kootenays of British Columbia is busy as possible putting water on some places and taking it away from others and it is not the same water either. If one could just magic carpet the water off the Kootenay River flats during flood time, store it into a huge cloud just over the orchard districts and release an inch or two every so often the whole thing would be simple. What is worse than waste in one case would then be useful.

Instead of that they are dyking and enlarging outlets and all sorts of things to get rid of that water on the flats and going up the Arrow Creek, a tributary to Goat River to get other water to put on the orchards and berries. Grand clear water it is too with trout in it.

Strange that with a multitude of rivers, not to mention acres and miles of water in the flats, many of the Creston ranchers are hauling water in barrels for their domestic supply.

By the way, it was near the Canyon of the Great River that Ralph Connor laid the scene for part of his story "The Doctor," so 'tis said, but the Doctor would have had a dizzy ride if he had really tried to go down that Canyon. The scenery is gorgeous but it is doubtful if the doctor would have appreciated it. It looks more useful for power than transportation purposes.

Creston district prides itself on its apples, strawberries and cherries but also grows cantaloupe cane berries and various other things. There is a profusion of wild flowers on the hillsides but few gardens around the houses It is probable that with the coming of proper and sufficient irrigation and with the installation of the Hydro which is expected this fall, that the farmsteads and home will take on more paint and permanency.

Flowers Grow Well

There is no doubt that flowers and shrubs will grow well if given a chance for Tom Bundy, the C.P.R. agent at Erickson, three miles from Creston, has on many and various occasions won first prize for the best garden on western lines, and when he was out of luck he had second prize.

There has been a limited amount of irrigation supplied by the Community Irrigation, believing that as they have got along without it so long they should so continue. But there has been only one season in the last ten years in which has been sufficient rainfall.

However, the East Creston Irrigation district was organized and has borrowed $150,000 from the provincial conservation fund. This project proposes to supply about half the whole Creston district with all the water it requires; in addition the town of Creston will get its requirements from the same pipes.

Very proud is the East Creston Irrigation district of its pipings and the permanency with which it is putting in its system. Down by the Arrow Creek, "Bill" Mason of the B.C. Concrete Company is making 21 inch concrete pipes all reinforced with steel. It was easier to bring the plant to the work than transport the work to the plant out at the coast. So some miles of these pipes have been made and most of them laid. There will be ten miles of Scotch Steel, which should be a "tight arrangement" and they will serve some 1,600 acres of orchard land owned by about 100 ranchers. Most of this land is already in orchard but it is expected with the application of water, that production will be more than doubled in five years.

When he had to give up railroading after the war, Leonard T. Leveque and his wife went fruit farming and now while he is inspecting for the East Creston Irrigation district, be it said that Mrs. Leveque sees that nothing remains undone on the fruit farm and she has, as well, a little patch of alfalfa just behind the bluff for her cow.

There is no doubt that water on these orchards will immensely improve production records. Frank Putnam, one of the users of water provided by the original community system, grew something over 700 boxes of apples to the acre, while the average in the district is much less than half that amount. Of course, it may have been due not altogether to the water, for Mr. Putnam is known as a real orchard man and thrifty farmer.

Many Different Fruits

They grow the usual varieties of apples in the Creston district and the Bing and Lambert cherries. Some have planted quite a number of pear and peach trees. By the middle of June, the strawberry fields at Wynndel near by are full of Doukhobors picking strawberries. About 125 acres is in strawberries in the Wynndel area and a pre-cooling system has been installed by the Co-op. which handles this crop. Some 23,000 crates of berries were shipped last year as well as providing eighteen tons for processing.

Littlejohn and Stark are developing an export business in bulbs; W. S. McAlpine and Donald Bradley ship out something like 15,000 baby chicks a year from their incubators. These poultry men are looking forward to the installation of the hydro, since electricity would mean considerable both in the incubators and the brooder houses.

After bombing around with the Princess Pats, Bradley drifted out to British Columbia and started into the poultry and apple business. Safe to say he did not have much capital on which to start but he has got to a point now where he ships out 5,000 baby chicks a year, about half and half Rhode Islands and Leghorns. Says he, it is a good combination and lots of people buy half of each for the Reds lay better in winter and the Leghorns in summer. The flock is on R. O. P. and fifty consecutively banded pullets laid an average of 242 eggs. Fifty birds consecutively banded should mean pretty nearly run of flock.

But while fruit and poultry and irrigation projects on ten acre farms are interesting the folk up on the hills, Guy Constable and his settlers on the flat are interested in large acres of wheat put in with forty H. P. tractors dragging ten ploughs and disks behind them and taken off with combines. The International Harvester Company has some $75,000 worth of machinery in the area.

Howard Amon and Guy Constable are principals in the Kootenay Valley Power and Development Co. which bought 7,000 acres of this reclamation project and hope to get another 35,000 acres which is in crown and Indian lands.

Some 4,500 acres of wheat were put in this year as a demonstration of what can be produced. This reclaimed soil composed of silt washed over there for years on years by the Kootenay River, is very fertile.

On early maps the Kootenay River is shown as the MacChilleray River and the lake at Flathow Lake, after the Indians of that territory. Later they were known as the Kootenai Lake and River and the Geographic Board of Canada has more recently adopted Kootenay as correct.

Vagaries of this river are responsible for some of the problems in connection with the Kootenay flats now recognized as a highly productive area, well worth the trouble and expense of reclaiming.

The river wanders across the 49th parallel south of Cranbrook, back again north of Bonner's Ferry and then joining the Columbia, crosses again, making any scheme of reclamation an international one. At ordinary times the level of the river is fifteen or twenty feet below the land but when summer heat comes suddenly, the melting snow from the mountains comes down in great quantities, causing the river to rise twenty to twenty-five feet. In years of excessive floods the long level bottom lands are covered two to three feet and is liable to stay covered for six weeks, since the natural outlet is clogged up with fallen rocks and drifting gravel. The flood water has carried down and deposited an immense amount of silt, comparable in fertility to the Nile Valley.

The international complications have been pretty much overcome. Across the border in Idaho are 35,000 acres of reclaimed land and on the Canadian side are 42,000 acres reclaimable. This bottom land is practically free of timber except for the narrow strip of woodland fringing the river banks. The elevation of this land is between 1,700 and 1,800 feet above sea level; its mean annual precipitation is close to 29 inches.

A natural dam at Grohman Creek or First Rapids, consisting of boulders massed across the river, is one of the principal factors in any scheme of reclamation.

"This natural dam," states Guy Constable in "Reclamation, Creation of an Inland Empire," published a few years ago, "controls the lake level at low water as well as high water. The lowering of the low water stage of the lake is not desirable from either the standpoint of reclamation or present existing industries of navigation, so that when removing the natural dam, we must replace it with a constructed dam with movable gates through which the flood waters may be released in the desired quantity sufficient to confine the rise of the lake to a certain maximum.

"It would be necessary that this controlling dam should be built and in operation before any disturbance of natural conditions at Grohman Creek or points on the West Arm could be permitted. Nothing but benefits from these contemplated works could accrue to the towns and industries on the shores of the lake, which have all, more or less, suffered in the past from the high water stages. On the West Arm (of the lake) the removal of obstructions to navigation and excessive currents would be of great benefit to all, while at the city of Nelson, a large area of level land, at present flooded at a few feet above low water would be permanently reclaimed, adding considerable acreage to the water front.

"No very difficult engineering features are represented anywhere except it be at First Rapids, and it may safely be considered that the work can be done in two years once the controlling dam is built and in operation."

Reclamation of this area has been under consideration for twenty years. On the Idaho side the land is privately owned; in British Columbia, it belongs to the government.

In 1912-1914, an exhaustive survey of the condition was made and things seemed under way when the war came and stopped everything.

Reclamation Concession

But previous to that, as far back as 1885 W. A. Baillie-Grohman had secured a concession from the provincial government to reclaim these lands; however, this did not come to anything.

Some 80 per cent. of the area in the United States has been dyked and put under cultivation, chiefly wheat and peas, resulting in such enormous yield that the Canadian flats have been attracting wide attention. Some 7,000 acres of this land has been acquired by the Kootenay Valley Power and Development Company of which Guy Constable and Howard Amon are the principals. Following the Idaho Expedient dykes have been built along the Kootenay River which it is expected will take care of flood waters. Some of the old dyke has been repaired and considerable new dyke will be built.

The company put in 800 acres of crop following which some twelve experienced farmer settlers came in this year chiefly from Oregon, Washington and Idaho and have put in about 4,500 acres. They are paying on a crop payment plan. From appearance in the early summer this crop looked like a yield of 40 bushels to the acre. Double cleaned Marquis seed wheat was used.

Production for the Valley in 1929 included some 150,000 boxes of apples; 10,000 crates of cherries; 30,000 of strawberries; in addition to the processed berries; tomatoes is an increasing crop.

Creston has the advantage of being nearest the prairie market of all British Columbia fruit shipping points. Fruit can be shipped from Creston at noon one day and be in Calgary next morning. It is also near to the coal fields in the Crows' Nest and lumbering is still quite an important industry in the district. Fruit boxes are made on the premises and transportation charges are saved on fruit and vegetables going out as well as coal and containers coming in.

WORLD HAPPENINGS BRIEFLY TOLD

Sir James M. Barrie has been installed as chancellor of Edinburgh University, his alma mater, in succession to the late Lord Balfour.

Dr. Frank B. Jewett, president of the Bell Telephone Laboratories says plans are being made to lay telephone cable under the Atlantic from Newfoundland to Ireland.

The French Government has decided to erect a stone memorial to the victims of the British airship R-101 on the field where the dirigible met disaster.

Though lower in value, Canada's catch of sea fish and shell fish for the first nine months of this year was larger in volume than for the same period of 1929.

The Nobel prize in medicine for 1930 was awarded to Dr. Karl Landsteiner, of New York, connected with the Rockefeller Institute of Medical Research.

DON'T SUFFER WITH DANGEROUS INDIGESTION

Do you suffer after meals with a belching, from sour and acid stomach? Many believe they have heart trouble and tremble with fear, expecting any minute to drop dead. This condition can be prevented, likewise relieved.

Take Carter's Little Liver Pills after meals and neutralize the gases. Sweeten the sour and acid stomach, relieve the gas and encourage digestion.

The stomach, liver and bowels will be cleansed of poison, painful and dangerous indigestion disappears and the system enjoys a tonic effect. Don't delay. Ask your druggist for a 25c pkg. of Carter's Little Liver Pills.

Would you like quickly to free yourself of those hideous pimples—those unsightly blackheads—and have that smooth and soft skin perfection you've always envied?

Do you want to have eyes as dazzling and bright as water dancing in a summer's sun?

Would you like to enjoy glorious health with plenty of energy and possess a keen mind?

Then take a quarter teaspoonful of Kruschen Salts in a glass of hot water every morning before breakfast!

Kruschen is a combination of the six vital salts which your nerves, glands and body organs ought daily to receive from food if they're to function correctly and which are impossible to obtain in these days of modern cooking.

Kruschen swiftly clears your blood of those harmful acids which cause your skin to erupt—you'll possess a skin like velvet, and a health perfection you didn't think possible!

Adds Thrill To Sport

Ski Runner Can Fly With New German Invention

Some of the thrills of flying are added to the winter sport of skiing with a pair of wings worn by the ski runner. The wings made of aluminum by a German inventor, are nineteen feet from tip to tip and enable the wearer to take short flights in the air after gaining sufficient momentum on the skis. They are so constructed that the ski rider is virtually seated in the centre of them when he leaves the ground. They are movable from a horizontal position and easily controlled, enabling the rider to change direction of flight.

Regular Commercial Telephone Service Is Inaugurated

The American Telephone and Telegraph Company has announced it will inaugurate regular commercial telephone service between North America and Australia at once.

The new circuit, the longest ever established for regular commercial telephony, consists principally of two radio links, one across the Atlantic and the other between England and Australia. With the wire lines involved, the circuit between New York and Sydney is more than 14,000 miles long.

Ten persons were killed every day on French roads last year.

Canada Has Valuable Fur Farming Industry

Over Sixteen Million Dollars Invested In Fur Bearing Animals

Fur farming in Canada is now established as a leading industry. The latest available figures show that the industry today represents a capital value of $22,980,617, of which $16,401,453 is invested in fur-bearing animals.

Ten years ago the total value of fur-bearing animals on fur farms in Canada was placed at $4,723,105. The industry today represents a capital investment of practically four times as much as in 1920. The silver fox heads the investment list with a capital investment of $14,922,378—an increase of $10,400,000 over 1920. The next from the standpoint of investment value is the muskrat, which now represents an investment of about $600,000. With a capital investment of $328,928 the mink comes next. This is an increase of 50 per cent. over the preceding year and of $324,153 over 1920. The otter, coyote, silver blue fox and beaver are other newcomers to the fur industry.

Douglas' Egyptian Liniment should be in every household. Stops bleeding at once, cauterizes wounds and prevents blood poisoning. Keeps away inflammation and proud flesh.

Weak After Operation

"I was very weak after an operation. My nerves were so bad I would sit down and cry and my husband would not go out and leave me alone. Now my nerves are much better, thanks to a booklet that was left under the door. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound surely put me on my feet. I have taken eight bottles. My friends tell me I look fine. My sister has taken this medicine too."—Mrs. Annie Walton, 67 Stanley St., Kingston, Ontario.

THE BELIEVING CENTURION—A GENTILE WHOSE FAITH JESUS COMMENDED

Golden Text: "And they shall come from the east and west, and from the north and south, and shall sit down in the kingdom of God."—Luke 13.29.

Lesson: Matthew 8.5-13.

Devotional Reading: Isaiah 60.1-9.

Explanations and Comments

The Centurion's Faith, verses 5-7.—One day, as Jesus entered Capernaum, a centurion approached Him. A centurion was an officer in charge of a century, a company of from fifty to one hundred men, the hundredth part of a legion. This centurion was a Gentile, possibly a proselyte, who had built a synagogue for the Jews at Capernaum (Luke 7.5). He came to Jesus and told Him that his servant, who was dear to him, lay at home sick of the palsy, grievously tormented. "Some diseases then classed as paralysis produce violent pain," we are told. "It would have been in accord with the general manners of his day—a day in which the servant was a slave without civil rights, liable to be tortured in a court of law, and to be slain at the caprice of a brutal master—if the centurion had scorned the inmates of his own household; on the contrary, his servant was dear to him, and he trusted him with the tenderness he would show to his son. Perhaps there is no surer or severer test of the meanness or magnanimity of a man's nature than the simple question, 'How does he treat his inferiors?'"

The Centurion's Faith, verses 8-10.—The centurion declared himself unworthy to receive so great a Guest under his roof. "Only say the word, and my servant shall be healed," he said. Then he illustrated the power of a word from Jesus by his own experience: "For I also am a man under authority, having under myself soldiers: and I say to this one 'Go,' and he goeth, and to another 'Come,' and he cometh; and to my servant, 'Do this,' and he doeth it." If he, a man under authority to others, could say to his soldiers, "Go," and at once they obey, how much more might Jesus, under authority to God, say to the disease of the servant, "Go," and it would be gone! "Instantly, as it would seem, so large and true a conception of the world all held together in one sublime system of authority and obedience, running up to the highest, running down to the least of its activities, filled the soul of Jesus with delight" (Phillips Brooks). And as He marvelled at the centurion's belief that he could heal at a distance, Jesus said to those with Him, "Verily I say unto you, I have not found so great faith, no, not in Israel"

The Centurion's Reward, verse 13.—Turning to the centurion, Jesus then said, "Go thy way; as thou hast believed, so be it unto thee." Thy blessing shall be as great as thy faith. And the servant was healed in that hour.

Asthma Victims. The man or woman subject to asthma is indeed a victim. What can be more terrifying than to suddenly be seized with paroxysms of choking which seem to fairly threaten the existence of life itself. From such a condition Dr. J. D. Kellogg's Asthma Remedy has brought many to completely restored health and happiness. It is known and prized in every section of this broad land.

Paper Plant Keeps Busy

The Westminster Paper Company at New Westminster is operating its plant 24 hours a day with a staff of 100 men in order to keep up with its orders. The plant, in addition to a large domestic trade, is producing paper products for Australia, New Zealand, China, Japan, West Indies, South America and South Africa.

An Oil That Is Prized Everywhere.—Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil was put upon the market without any flourish over fifty years ago. It was put up to meet the wants of a small section, but as soon as its merits became known it had a whole continent for a field, and it is now known and prized throughout this continent. There is nothing equal to it.

for ANY CHILD

WE can never be sure just what makes a child restless, but the remedy can always be the same. Good old Castoria! There's comfort in every drop of this pure vegetable preparation, and not the slightest harm in its frequent use. As often as your child has a fretful spell, is feverish, or cries and can't sleep, let Castoria soothe and quiet him. Sometimes it's a touch of colic. Sometimes constipation. Or diarrhea—a condition that should always be checked without delay. Just keep Castoria handy, and give it promptly. Relief will follow very promptly; if it doesn't, you should call a physician.

ENO'S "FRUIT SALT"

Doctors Warn Against Drastic Purgatives

Physicians know the danger of using cheap cathartics that create a harsh, unnatural intestinal activity. They know that ENO'S "Fruit Salt" is more than a laxative. It is a delicious health beverage that sweetens and tones up the entire system—and that its daily use—just a dash in a glass of water, every morning—is an aid to vigorous good health.

"I believe," he said, turning with mock severity to Gay, "that you've been telling on me."

Simeon Bartlett chuckled as he replied: "She ain't told nothin' I didn't know beforehand, boy. You've got a sort o' conquerin' way about you. If you hadn't, do you b'lieve this little gal would ha' picked up her duds and started off at a minute's notice?"

"It was thirty minutes," Nick corrected, "and she didn't keep me waiting either! Well, we must be off. A thousand thanks, Mr. Bartlett, for this happy week."

"Good luck!" called Simeon Bartlett as they strode away.

And good luck had followed them. Through the whole summer, rain came during the night. With few exceptions their days were bright and sparkling. They struck off through picturesque New Hampshire, sleeping at farms when the chance came; often spending their nights beneath the stars; and once accepting the hospitality of a Gypsy camp.

September found them in Maine, revelling in those first beautiful days that only at night give a hint of the colder days to come. They had climbed what their hostess of the night before had called "a mountain," which, though hardly deserving the name, showed them a wonderful, wide stretch of creaming waves.

"I'd almost forgotten that I loved the sea," said Nick. "Gay! let's set sail for a warmer clime! There's money enough yet to take us South—or shall it be the big southwest we've dreamed about: Colorado, Arizona, New Mexico—deserts and mountains—canyons and waterfalls—California and the Pacific? Oh, my dear! Isn't it glorious to be free?"

Free? It was then that fear clutched at the girl's heart. She was seated upon the ground, but Nick stood, his back to the wide expanse of blue, his hair blown away from his forehead, an open shirt revealing his strong young throat. As she looked up at him Gay thought that Simeon Bartlett had been right—Nick had a conquering air about him. To think of shutting him up in that stuffy corner of the bank again seemed as cruel as clipping the wings of an eagle. Yet, she thought, with a quickening of her heart, even an eagle has its nest.

"Nick," she said, as he dropped beside her, "do—do you ever have the least, tiny desire to settle down?"

He smiled, and quoted:

"'Who has not felt how sadly sweet,
The dream of home, the dream of home. . . . .'"

"My dear girl, of course I think of settling down, as you prosaically put it; but not yet. We set out for the ends of the earth, if I remember rightly, and we've reached only the edge of the Atlantic! Settle down! Gay, are you crazy, or—— Why, what's the matter?"

She looked up, bravely fighting back the tears, and said: "Nothing, Nick. I——" Then so softly he had to bend to hear: "Nick dear—I can't go on."

"Can't go on! Have I tired you out, or—or—Oh, Gay!"

He knew, then. The knowledge came with a blinding sense of chaos. Wonder and dismay went hand in hand. New-stirring fatherly pride fought savagely with a sense of dull defeat. Then love triumphed over self, and he thought only of Gay—fear for her—terror for what she was to go through. . . . . Was she glad, or . . . . His clasped hands tightened, and he pulled himself together to hear her say:

"You mustn't feel too bad about it, dear old boy. I—I've thought out everything. I'm going back, but you are to go on. No! don't speak. I can't go back to Bakersville alone, Nick. That would be too hard. But I can stay with Mr. Bartlett. He'd like to have me—somehow I know I could give him pleasure. It—it won't be till spring, Nick, and perhaps by then you ——Oh, my dear," she broke off suddenly, "I should be so happy if I felt that you were happy! But you won't be satisfied unless you're free, Nick, and——"

"Free!" Nick tossed the word aside as impulsively as he had tossed his stick and bundle on that bright May morning. "Free! and you back there with that old man!" He put his arms about her. "What sort of freedom would it be, Gay, darling? What do you take me for? Do you think I haven't any natural instincts—that I can't be happy over this as well as you? What a goose you are! Have you been losing sleep because you were afraid to tell me that our wanderings are at an end?"

He kissed her with a tenderness that brought her tears, even as she protested: "But it mustn't be the end for you, dear. There's no reason ——"

"There's the best of reasons," he insisted. "I tell you what, Gay" (he was, to all appearances, enthusiastic), "we'll go back by train and hire 'The Bird's Nest' of Mr. Bartlett. We'll stay there through October; then, if nothing more interesting turns up, there's the bank, you know, with a raise waiting for me whenever I want to claim it. John Maxwell told me so before I came away. As for 'the ends of the earth,' dear—why worry about something that'll keep? We'll have it to look forward to, you know."

Through her tears Gay threw him a look of gratitude; but further arguments proved futile.

"No, I shan't leave you," Nick decreed soberly. "I should feel like a slacker. Dear, don't worry about my disappointment. Remember these glorious weeks we've had, and which we'll always have to remember and look back upon. We can't escape responsibilities forever."

"But," she hesitated, "I—I hate to be the one to bring them to you, Nick."

He smiled, and taking her handkerchief, dried her tears as if she were a child.

"There! you're not to cry another tear. As for those responsibilities, dear girl, I brought them on myself. I made you come with me. I didn't give you time to consider these possible complications. I didn't consider 'em myself. But do you imagine that I'd have things different now? Look back on the days we've had together and answer that!"

"Oh, Nick," she said, while comfort swept through her heart in a healing flood, "if I could know that you'd always feel so! But you've only begun to stretch your wings, and who knows how long it will be before you can roam again? Nick, promise me something—promise you'll tell me if the time comes when you feel you must have more freedom. I—I couldn't bear to think that you were tugging at your leash."

"I promise," Nick answered soberly, meeting her mood; then added with all the confidence of youth: "But the time won't come."

Two days later an amazed and beaming Simeon Bartlett, arose from a big rocker on his front porch, and greeted them with all the cordiality of a long-lost uncle.

"Jiminy Crickets! I was just wonderin' about you. Ain't had a card since you left Portland. Thought maybe you'd took the train for some fur-off port, or set sail for the Fiji Islands. And here you be, turnin' in my own front gate! Set down, ma'am. You're a sight for sore eyes, both o' you; but what in thunderation brings you back ahead o' time?"

Gay flushed, but Nick answered readily: "Only the time-worn and unquenchable desire for 'Home Sweet Home.' In other words, we want to hire your camp, and when cold weather drives us out we'll go back to Bakersville, and the stately portals of the First National Bank. May we have the cabin, Mr. Bartlett?"

"It ain't for rent—not at no price whatever; but you're welcome to use it long as you see fit. But first you got to visit with me a spell, and tell me all about your travels. I ain't had a thing interestin' happen since you left. Many's the evenin', ma'am, that I've set here thinkin' o' that chowder, and the good time you give me, to say nothin' of all them postcards you sent back, an' letters, too. I saved 'em all. They're in the lacquer box my great-uncle Ebenezer Bartlett brought from Japan. Don't hardly see how you got a chance to write 'em, ma'am."

"We usually manage to do the things we want to do," Gay answered, "and I wanted you to know what a wonderful time we were having."

"Don't regret your hasty bargain, then?" chuckled the old man.

"Not yet," said Gay, with a sweet, upward glance at Nick that was not lost upon their host.

"And Nick?" queried Simeon, his eyes twinkling. "Sorry you ain't wadin' in the Pacific, boy—or be you satisfied to come back to old New England?"

"I've never set foot out of New England yet," laughed Nick, "and some day I shall wade in the Pacific. As for being satisfied—you ask Gay if she's heard any complaints on my part."

Free Freight Policy

Westerners Can Ship Breeding Stock Free Of Freight Charges Under Certain Conditions

Major the Honorable Robert Weir, Federal Minister of Agriculture, has announced a new free freight policy whereby heifers suitable for breeding stock bought by bona fide farmers and cattlemen at stockyards west of Fort William will be returned to the buyer's farm or ranch freight free. Application should be made to the nearest stockyard for the benefits of the policy. The concession extends to carloads of not less than twenty heifers to be used for breeding purposes only, to be, so far as possible, of the same type and breed and to be not more than twenty-four months old. Free freight is obtained on the certificate of the authorized stockyards representative of the Dominion Live Stock Branch at point of purchase. It entitles the shipper to have his car of breeding stock billed to his home station free of freight charges. The railway company assumes 25 per cent. of the freight and the Dominion Live Stock Branch the balance.

Woman's Fortitude

Forces Herself To Smile Through Pain

"I never seem to find time to rest," says many an overworked housewife. Under smiles and forced cheerfulness she conceals weariness and nervous depression; headaches and backaches. Often she is in real pain, but still refuses to give up. This very fortitude is apt to be her undoing. If she continues to neglect the signals of distress she will sooner or later suffer a serious breakdown.

A noted doctor has stated that nine-tenths of the ills of womanhood are due to poor blood. That anaemia is the cause of the low spirits, the poor appetite and palpitation that make life a burden for so many.

There is no need, however, for women to suffer in this way. All the miseries of anaemia can be banished by taking Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. These Pills create an abundance of new, rich, red blood and this new blood will bring strength and vitality to nervous, overtired women. The Pills are sold by all medicine dealers or by mail at 50 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Montreal Largest Inland Port

It is expected that the improved ship channel in the River St. Lawrence as far as Montreal, giving a 35-foot depth for ocean liners, will be completed by 1934. This will enable liners of 20,000 tons gross to sail to Montreal, 1,000 miles from the Atlantic, the largest inland port in the world.

Little Helps For This Week

"O turn unto me, and have mercy upon me; give Thy strength unto Thy servant."—Psalm lxxxvi. 16.

I come to Thee, O Lord, for strength and patience
To do Thy Will;
Help me, O Father, in this world of duty
My place to fill.

It is so difficult to bear with patience and allowance the faults of others. It is very mistaken to think that the great occasions of life only demand religious feelings and principles; it is in the everyday petty annoyances, the constant call upon our charity, forbearance, and meekness, that we feel the constant want of some stronger and more powerful stimulant than the feeling of the moment to smooth down the rubs of life, and make our existence one of peace and happiness.—Maria Hare.
