Council Asks Citizens Report on Efficiency of Bell Alarm—$277 Accounts Paid—Water Service on Barton Avenue Discussed

The March session of Creston village council was featured by water supply matters. Reeve F. H. Jackson presided, and Councillors Edmondson and Henderson were in attendance. February payroll was one of the smallest in several years, the total accounts ordered paid running to only $277.

Eight residents on Barton Avenue submitted a petition asking for a larger water main on that thoroughfare and the installation of one or more hydrants for fire protection. They complain that with the present main pipe it is almost impossible at times for residents at the upper end to secure water if the residents at the lower end are using the water to any extent. They ask for at least a two-inch main. The matter will be referred to the waterworks company.

The council was in receipt of a letter from Creston Board of Trade asking the council to use their endeavors to have a new 10-inch main laid through the business section of the town and more hydrants to give better fire protection, and lower insurance rates. The board will be advised that the matter is not within the jurisdiction of the council but if the new main is laid certainly the council will co-operate to the extent of providing the hydrants.

W. B. Martin and E. H. Pridham were given permission to lay a 1½-inch pipe across Cemetery Road to their ranches in that locality. They are needing this accommodation in order to connect with their water pipe from the East Creston Irrigation system.

F. Romano and son, Frank, were at the meeting to discuss the sale of about 800 feet of frontage on Canyon street in order to enable the council to widen out that thoroughfare the full length of the Romano & Talerico ranch to a depth of ten feet. As no agreement could be reached as to the purchase price of the strip the matter had to stand over to a later date.

The C.P.R. wrote accepting the council's check for $7 in full payment for seven lots owned by the company on the west side of town. There was also a letter from a Mr. Rayson of Golden asking for specific information in connection with town financing and management. Golden has an idea it ought to incorporate as a village.

Endorsation was given a resolution passed at the recent convention of the B.C. Municipalities' Association which will amend the Village Act so as to give villages the same powers as other municipalities in levying taxes on railways and tramways, the pole lines of telegraph, telephone, power and light companies, as well as gas, water and irrigation companies.

Word was to hand that the lieutenant-governor-in-council had approved of the Dairy By-Law recently enacted by the village and which provides for regular inspection and the general sanitary condition of the premises of all who sell milk in the village. The legislation provides that all milk sold must be up to standard of 3¼ per cent. butter fat, and 8½ per cent. milk solids other than butterfat.

The new town bell has now been installed. This is to be used used specially for fire alarm purposes and a tryout of the bell ill be made on Saturday from 12 to 1 o'clock noon. Citizens are asked to be on the alert for the alarm and the council will appreciate hearing from all interested as whether the fire alarm effect was satisfactory.

Will the Hospital Pay?

In the effort to secure funds to free the hospital of its opening debt of $2400 the executive meets up with a sort of conscientious objector who insists on having an answer to the question, "Will the hospital pay?"

And we submit the answer to the question is to enquire, "Do we want the hospital to pay"—in the way the questioner looks at the matter.

In order that a hospital will pay in the dollars and cents way it will be necessary for more than a few of us to meet up with serious accidents, to be laid up with serious illnesses, or ailments that require hospital care and attention.

Surely no one wants that sort of misfortune to befall anyone—and it less than three months since January 1st at which time we were wishing everyone else a healthy new year?

A family man of modest income (name supplied if desired), who some months ago had to go to Cranbrook for an appendicitis operation tells us that had he been able to be operated on at Creston Hospital he would have saved at least $50.

He reckons that much extra had to be laid out to provide transportation to and from the hospital for himself and wife and the latter's board in Cranbrook for a few days after the operation, and other incidental expenses.

Too, had the local hospital been open at the time he could have had visits and attentions from friends that are always welcome, but seldom forthcoming when away from home.

Utilizing unofficial figures we believe it is safe to say the hospital expends up to $400 a month in salaries to nurses, housekeeper and in the purchase of hospital necessities of one sort and another The greater part of this finds its way into business houses of the town.

Friends from outside Creston who come to the hospital to visit patients probably spend something during their stay.

Every patient who saves up to $50 by having his appendix taken out here rather than at Cranbrook, has that much extra capital to disburse after or during his recovery.

And instead of an out-of town doctor collecting the medical fees this monetary consideration also is available for local expenditure.

Less than a month ago a three year old Creston resident was taken with acute appendicitis. The seriousness of his condition was not fully realized until late that particular Sunday evening. With the appendix trouble the boy also had whooping cough. Nothing but an immediate operation would save the day. Had there been no hospital at Creston the boy might have survived a drive over the almost impassable roads to Craubrook. But every minute was precious. About midnight he was on the operating table at Creston public hospital. The treacherous appendix was removed and the little fellow is now getting about, well on the way to oldtime vigor.

Does the hospital pay?

And this is only one of a number of equally serious cases of this or a similar nature as satisfactorily handled by the Creston hospital and the efficient medical service it affords.

Of course, kind reader, this was not your boy, and you may not be directly concerned with any of the other cases we have referred to, but to-morrow you may be equally unfortunate. Misfortune is no respector of persons

Will the hospital pay?

A hospital is very much like irrigation. Nobody wants it to quit raining, but if a dry spell does come there's nothing like having the water—even at $6 an acre. And in case of accident or illness its mighty nice to know efficient hospital care is to be had in Creston.

No community investment yields dividends equalling those of a hospital. Let us have your donation this month, if you can make it, and might we ever so respectfully suggest a life membership at $25. Thank you.

Kitchener

G. L. Parkins and Wayne Robinson of Lebanon, Oregon, are at M7 ranch which Mr. Parkins will be in charge of for Mr. Enlow, who has taken over from Chester Paulson

Mrs. Wm. Slean and young son are here from Cranbrook, on a visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Molander.

Mrs. Charles Anderson and son, Curt, who have been in town for the last few days packing up their household goods for Columbia Lake where Charles Anderson is now in permanent charge of the C.P.R. section. We are sorry to lose them and wish them all success in their new home.

Canyon City

A. D Pochin of Nelson is spending a few days here looking after some spring work on the ranch.

The United Church Ladies' Aid report an intake of $15 at their social and supper at the hall on Saturday evening.

Mr. Elwell, who has been occupying the Kemp ranch here for some months past, left for Calgary, Alberta, this week.

The Kemp ranch is reported sold to John Bedry, who takes possession immediately. The place is on the McLeod Road, and backs the McRobb ranch.

The Farmers' Institute are having social evening at the hall on Saturday. A feature will be a talk on First Aid by Dr. Henderson of Creston.

Sirdar

Vic. Grundy of Crowsnest was a Sirdar visitor last week.

Miss Isabelle Genest of Nelson, was a visitor with Miss Eileen Heap last week.

Mrs. Rogers and Mrs. Heap were visitors with Mrs. Lewis at Boswell last week, making the trip by auto.

Norman Lawritz was a Sunday visitor here from Nelson.

Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Armstrong of Creston were calling on Sirdar friends on Sunday.

Arthur Dibben left on Thursday for Nelson on a business visit.

Dick Dennes of Trail is a visitor with his family here this week.

R. Bleumenauer and son were Nelson visitors over the weekend.

O. W. Humphrey of Nelson was a business visitor here on Tuesday last.

Mr. Ruinet of Spokane was a business visitor at Sirdar on Tuesday and Wednesday.

Lister

Jas. Duncan, who is in charge of the cookhouse at Washout Creek road camp, spent the weekend at his ranch here.

Rev. C. Baase of Creston was here on Sunday afternoon for Lutheran Church service.

The Community Society have their next meeting on Saturday, March 21st, with Miss Curtie and R. Stevens the committee in charge of arrangements

Travel in this section is much better since the government road grader was put over them last week, "Copper" Botterill handling the tractor, and Jack Brown at the grader controls.

A party of 14 local citizens left on Sunday for Washout Creek, where they expect to remain until the end of the month on road construction.

W. K. Beard left at the end of the week for Vancouver on a business visit.

A meeting of all the settlers is called for tonight to discuss waterworks district matters, and the district annual meeting will be held Saturday evening. Col. Fred Lister's term as trustee has expired, and R. T. Millner has resigned, so there are two trustees to elect.

The Community Society had another novelty bridge on Saturday night which was attended by six tables of players. The men opposed the ladies, and some new features were in evidence in the scoring, "No Tricks" having a higher value than No Trumps The total score of the men was somewhat the highest, with prize scores going to Mrs. C. Huscroft and Frank Baker

Huscroft section had another serious fire on Friday night when the home of Sam Demchuk was completely destroyed and very little of the effects were saved. The blaze occurred between 9 and 10 o'clock, apparently from defective stovepipes or chimney. There is some insurance, the adjuster being here on Tuesday in that connection. Mr. Demchuk takes this means af expressing his thanks to all who turned out and did everything possible to save the house and contents.

Wynndel

Miss A. Davis, who has been holidaying with her sister at Riondel, returned home last week.

Mrs. M. Young of Creston was a visitor with her daughter, Mrs. Rumsey, last week.

R. Foxall of the staff of the Associated Growers, Nelson, is home for a couple of months.

Remember the K.K. Klub masquerade on Tuesday, March 17th. Al. Fredericks' orchestra.

Creston, Canyon and Erickson were quite well represented at the dance in the Recreation Company hall on Friday night under the auspices of Wynndel Women's Institute, for which music was provided by the Al. Fredericks' orchestra. During the evening there was a drawing for a doll raffled on which the winning ticket was held by Mrs. S. Gregory.

The K.K. Klub meeting last week was one of the best—snap all the way through. Sack races were won by Miss A. Lewis and Walter Johnson. Cracker eating and whistling was won by Miss A. Davis and H. Ofner. Wonderful trunk contest was won by Mrs. Slingsby and A. Hagen. Rabbit, with an all day sucker as prize, caused great merriment, as also did the men's dressing race. Each man had to don whatever goods were in the parcel he received and many and varied were the articles. The prize went to Fred Hagen. The music was first-class; local talent and Al. Fredericks at the drums, and the supper was excellent.

Alice Siding

Miss Rose Seaver of Spokane is a visitor here at present with her grand parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Stewart.

Mr and Mrs. A. Krygsveld and family moved the latter part of the week to the Lamont place on Goat River bottom along the K.V. Up to the present no one has moved on the Rose ranch which the Krygsveld's have operated the past year.

Fred Baker of Yahk was a weekend visitor at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Kelly.

Mr. and Mrs. John Parkin, who have been visiting with the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Parkin, returned to Lethbridge, Alberta, at the end of the week.

The government rock crusher has been shifted a little further west on the highway at the Constable ranch, and is expected to commence operating this week.

Alice Siding has the goods that indicate the spring is unusually early. Daffodils and tulips are in bloom at the Ostrensky ranch.

Mr. and Mrs. Willis were last week's hosts to the surprise party crowd when a party of about 30 happened along to pass the evening pleasantly at dancing to music by Ralph Krygsveld, harmonica. Tom and Bob Marshall, accordeon and drums respectively, and a fine lunch at midnight.

Word from Cloverdale is to the effect that W. A. Pease is making progress with the erection of a new house on his property there. Headway is a little slow, however, due to heavy fogs in one of which, in his hurry to make speed, W. A. put several slabs of Gyproc on the roof and shingled up half the kitchen before the mist cleared and he was able to discover his mistake.

Board Protests Twigg Transfer

Insist District Agriculturist Office Remain Here—Boswell Visit Arranged for 18th—Rowboat for Ferry—Road Matters.

The feature item of business at the March meeting of Creston board of trade Tuesday evening was the decision to enter a vigorous protest with the minister of agriculture against the transfer of C. B. Twigg, district agriculturist, to Cranbrook, which is arranged for April 1st. Under the new arrangements Mr. Twigg will be in charge of all the territory from Sirdar to the Alberta boundary and from Canal Flats to the U.S. boundary. Mr. Delisle, formerly stationed at Cranbrook, has been shifted to the Peace River country.

Announcement was made that the get-acquainted visit to Boswell will be made on Wednesday, March 18th, which date is satisfactory to Boswell. A letter was also received from the local Masonic Lodge giving the board permission to use the lodgeroom for sessions of the Associated Boards of Trade convention in May.

There were two letters from the minister of public works in reply to requests made him at the February meeting. A rowboat is to be carried alongside the Kootenay River ferry in future, and assurance is given that the Kuskanook-Gray Creek road is fast being put in shape and that the ferry to handle this season's auto traffic over that highway will certainly be available at an early date.

The village council wrote that they had nothing to do with putting in a new 10-inch water main in the business section, but were in favor of the improvement, on the completion of which the council would supply all the hydrants necessary to give adequate fire protection and thus reduce insurance rates.

In reply to the boards's letter to the seed branch of the departments of agriculture at Victoria and Ottawa, answers were to the effect that only inspection of seed grain entering Canada was now provided at Vancouver. A copy of the Idaho regulations will be sent the departments and ask that something similar be enforced especially for the protection of the seed pea growing industry.

The attention of the board was called to some tourist association maps of the province that did not show Creston thereon. The secretary will write auto associations at various points asking that this oversight be remedied.

The meeting was well attended, and was in charge of President Col. Mallandaine. Three new members were added to the roll. They are Reeve F. H. Jackson, R. A. Palfreyman and Sam Steenstrup.

Respect For The Law

Views entertained by people with respect to the majesty of the law seem to be divided into two main classes—those who regard the laws of their country as having been enacted primarily for the protection of the rights and liberties of the people, and, in the second group, those who act as if they considered all laws an infringement upon their rights and a denial of liberty to which they feel themselves entitled.

Speaking in a large and general sense, the former view is entertained and upheld in Great Britain, while the second view apparently animates a very large percentage of the people of the United States. Public conception of the functions of the law in Canada is divided between these two groups. Canada's judicial system, its code of laws, and its ideals and methods of law enforcement, are based on the laws of England, and have come down to us through the centuries, with precedent built upon precedent. But, on the other hand, living next door to the big republic, and with a daily intercourse which is not possible to the same extent with Great Britain, our people are naturally and insensibly influenced and affected by the prevailing trend of thought across the line.

Public concepts of the functions of law are the foundations upon which a nation is reared. It is, therefore, of vital importance that those concepts be sound and firmly established in the minds and ideals of the people. Throughout the United States today no one thing is causing public men, and the more seriously minded portion of the people, greater concern than the breaking-down of law in that country. Apart from the disastrous effect on the morale of the people, it is costing them in dollars and cents more than all the taxation imposed by governments, both Federal and State.

The trouble with the United States is that people have developed the belief, and the younger generation is growing up in that belief, that they can defy the law with impunity and get away with it; that laws are not designed for their protection, but quite the reverse; that courts and policemen are their enemies, not their friends and guardians of their rights and liberties.

Children hear the threat: "The cop will get you if you don't watch out," and even when engaged in innocent play the cry is raised: "Here comes a cop, let's beat it." And they beat it, only to returns when the policeman has passed by.

In England, and largely so in Canada, an entirely different atmosphere, a different conception prevails. A policeman is not an enemy, but a friend, one to whom you can appeal when in trouble or difficulty.

We must, for our own good, maintain this attitude, and because of our proximity to the United States, and the constant intercourse between these two countries, it is essential that in our homes and schools the true conception and meaning of "the law," and the officers of the law, should be constantly taught and stressed. All law, in the beginning of law enactments, had but one object, the protection of the rights and liberties of individuals and communities against those who would deny those rights, usurp our liberties, and defraud us of our property.

Law is the reverse of lawlessness, it is orderly government as contrasted with mob-rule, it is the only safeguard against anarchy. Therefore, "the law" is something to be held sacred, to be upheld, to rejoice in; not to be regarded as something irksome, an evil, necessary perhaps for some, but to be flouted if one so desires. Laws should not be regarded solely or merely as prohibitions, restraints upon one's conduct. In their essence they are not prohibitions, but rules of conduct, guides to follow, measures of protection.

In the final analysis, law is but the view of a majority of the people as to what they consider is in their own best interests. It is their own formally expressed will. That being the case they should respect and abide by it. A minority opposed to any given law should nevertheless respect and obey it as the will of the majority, just as they expect and insist that others shall respect and obey laws of which they approve, but which some of those others, who may constitute a minority in opposition to themselves, consider unnecessary.

Disregard of law will undermine the home, the nation, and ultimately rob the individual of his own freedom and liberty of action.

Size Of Bee Colony

An interesting experiment has been under way for the past five years to determine the approximate field force of a normal colony of bees. During this period, thirteen calculations have been made by officers of the Department of Agriculture, the figure varying from 22,187 to 39,687, but only on two occasions did the number fall below 31,000. It is reckoned that approximately 5,000 bees weigh a pound.

Popular Taste In Movies

Producers declare that really artistic films fail to draw at the box office. Those who are demanding "art" in motion pictures seldom are willing to risk their money in experimentation. The film theatre is not like a store where one may stock grades of goods to suit all tastes. The only successful movie house is one where a large percentage of the films shown pleases a majority of the patrons.—Los Angeles Times.

Canada's Fine Record

People Have Adequate Protection Through Solvency Of Banks

In the last thirty-seven years Canada has had 12 chartered bank failures whose total liabilities amounted to $72,785,000. In the same period 8,476 United States banks have failed with liabilities of no less than $3,754,370,000. On a strictly comparable basis, and after adjustment for the difference in population. This means that liabilities of U.S. banks which have failed have been four times those of Canadian banks.

According to official decennial census figures over the past forty years, average population of the United States during this period has been approximately 12½ times greater than that of Canada. Thus a simple multiplication of the liabilities of Canadian banks which failed in the 37 year period, by 12½, indicates that if Canada had had the same population as the United States during this period the liabilities of failed banks would be approximately $900,000,000, or less than one-quarter of the liabilities which have been rolled up under the United States banking system since 1893.—Financial Post.

Genuine Gratitude Compels Tribute.

Alberta Oil

Production Last Year Close To One and One-Half Million Barrels

Alberta produced close to one and one-half million barrels of oil in 1930, comparative figures from the provincial department of mines reveals. The total 1930 output was 1,433,844 barrels which compares with 999,152 in 1929, an indication that Alberta's oil bubble is steadily expanding. Naphtha, from Turner Valley limestone, was the leading product with a total of 1,314,039 barrels. Light and heavy crudes accounted for the balance.

The Canadian Ayrshire Breeders' Association reports that during the period from January 1st to 26th it received 76 reports of cows and heifers that had qualified in the R.O.P.—37 in the 365 day division and 39 in the honor roll or 305 day division. In the first classification 11 qualified in the mature class; 4 in the four year old; 7 in the three year old, and 15 in the two year old class. Thirty of these records were made on two milkings a day.

Radio Gaining In Popularity

493,176 Receiving Sets In Use In Canada At End Of January

At the end of January there were 493,176 radio receiving sets in Canada under licence or about one radio for about 20 persons in the country. The total of licensed receiving sets at the end of January was 69,030 more than the number in use at the end of the 12 month period of the Canadian Government fiscal year 1929-30. Toronto has more radios than any other city, with 77,194 at the end of the first month of this year. This total is nearly 15,000 more than was registered at the end of March, 1930, the close of the government fiscal year. Montreal is credited with 41,378 sets; Hamilton, Ont., with 16,932; Vancouver, with 19,530, and Winnipeg with 19,433. A charge of $1 per year is made by the Canadian Government for a licence for a radio receiving set. Licences are issued free to the blind in Canada and the latest report shows 659 such licences have been issued.

Railways and Air Routes

Joint Rail and Air Services May Be Future Development

Air developments, more particularly as they affect the operations of a large transcontinental transport system, are being closely watched by the Canadian Pacific Railway with a view to the inauguration of joint services, when the time is considered opportune, it was stated recently by E. W. Beatty, president of the Canadian Pacific Railway.

"If the development in air services, which is progressing satisfactorily, demands joint rail and air services, they will undoubtedly be provided by the Canadian railways," said Mr. Beatty.

SETTLEMENT OF INDIAN QUESTION PEACE TRIUMPH

New Delhi, India.—When India awoke on the morning of March 4, it found peace on its doorstep.

Overnight, Mahatma Gandhi, with the vision of a prophet, had led his invisible sleeping multitudes from the precipice of war to the path of peace. He won the confidence of Viceroy Lord Irwin, who, less than a year ago, jailed the mystic agitator for challenging the authority of the British Empire, and an accord was reached which ended the year-old civil disobedience movement.

Nationalist circles naturally regard the truce as a triumph for Gandhi's doctrine of non-violence which, as Rahindranath Tagore said, introduced a new technique into international revolution.

While the terms of the agreement have not been officially published, it is understood they are as follows:

1. Nationalists will abandon civil resistance.

2. Indians along the coast will be given the right to manufacture their own salt and thus will not have to purchase it from the government monopoly.

3. Property of congress adherents which has been confiscated because of non-payment of taxes will be returned, with certain reservations.

4. Nationalists will be permitted to do picketing within the normal laws of the country and will be permitted to conduct boycotts so long as they do not aim specifically at British goods — in other words, if their idea is to promote local trade and industry.

5. Nationalists who were imprisoned for civil disobedience activities will be given amnesty and all government repressive measures will be withdrawn.

6. Nationalists drop their demand for an investigation into alleged police brutality.

7. The government won from them consent to work for qualified dominion status in a second round-table conference.

While the Nationalists have admittedly gained much by accepting the settlement, it is pointed out on the government side that Great Britain gains commensurate advantages.

The most important gain in this direction was the point wherein the Nationalists agreed to confine themselves at the next round-table conference to the specified scope of constitutional questions elucidated by the first round-table meeting in London, England.

This commits Gandhi to the principle of a federation of Indian responsibility, but with British safeguards covering finance, defence, foreign affairs, the position of minorities and the discharge of India's national debts.

The agreement was hailed with approval by British and moderate Indian newspapers. The Calcutta Statement characterized it as just as decisive for the world as the Armistice in 1918, adding that the instrument has the possibility of solving two of the most menacing world problems today—the clash of color and the class economic struggle.

Naval Parity For Italy

Has Gained Practical Parity With France In Naval Construction

Rome, Italy.—Italy gains practical parity of construction with France over the next five years under the terms of the British-Franco-Italian naval accord as disclosed unofficially here, and in 1936, when the accord expires, will be in a better position relative to France than she is today.

The principle of parity which broke up the London conference so far as Italy and France were concerned is not settled by the new accord but is postponed until 1938.

Meantime naval construction programmes are put on a practical level and so harmonized as to guarantee each country against surprise and to permit accurate check on annual tonnage laid down. The annual programmes are reduced from more than 40,000 tons to an average between 21,000 and 22,000.

Italy made some sacrifices, the terms of the agreement show, but she believes they will not affect the national security and that they are balanced by sacrifices on the part of the French.

The accord will give France, in 1936, a superiority of 229,000 tons, but Italy discounts this, uointing out that 84,000 tons of that total will be obsolete while the Italian obsolete tonnage will be only 5,000.

Moreover, the French have certain types of ships which the Italians believe unnecessary to their navy.

A unique point, according to the terms disclosed recently, is that both countries are permitted to build two 23,000-ton cruisers. Another is the decided superiority the accord gives France in submarines — 81,900 tons as compared with 52,700 for Italy. Italy, however, receives parity in this category with Great Britain, the United States and Japan.

Awarded McKee Trophy

Squadron Leader J. H. Tudhope Is Winner For 1930

Ottawa, Ont.—Squadron Leader J. H. Tudhope, M.C., of the Royal Canadian Air Force, stationed in Ottawa, has been awarded the McKee Trophy for 1930, it was announced here by Hon. Donald Sutherland, Minister of National Defence. The trophy is awarded annually to the Canadian flyer who renders the most meritorious service in the advancement of aviation.

During 1930, Squadron Leader Tudhope was the pioneer of all east and west air mail routes from the Atlantic to the Pacific. In the first four months of the year, he made an aerial survey of the Rocky Mountains, flying over 10,000 miles.

Squadron-Leader Tudhope joined the Royal Flying Corps in 1916, and served in France with No. 40 Squadron. He was granted the Military Cross and bar for gallantry. In 1920, Squadron-Leader Tudhope joined the Canadian Air Force and is now superintendent of airways in the civil aviation branch of the department of national defence.

Farm Loans

Appraisers To Commence Work On Valuations On May First

Ottawa, Ont.—May 1 next, has been fixed as the date on which appraisers this season will begin the work of valuation on applications for loans to the Farm Loan Board.

This decision was made at a meeting of the Farm Loan Board. Premier R. B. Bennett, who is also minister of finance, presided.

Loans are made to applicants on farm lands and buildings at the rate of 6½ per cent. under the Farm Loan Act. When applications for loans are received by the board they are, if favorably looked upon, passed to appraisers for valuation.

British Estate Duties

London, England.—The British exchequer will benefit to the extent of nearly $15,000,000 in the death duties of the estate of Sir David Yule, head of Andrew Yule and Company, and probably the wealthiest Briton in India, who died in 1928. The court of appeal ruled that Sir David was legally domiciled in the United Kingdom.

Grand Duke Alexander, of Russia, who is a claimant to the throne of the czars, has just arrived in America on a visit.

Brydges Wins Dog Derby

Russick Was Second and Emil St. Godard Finished Third

The Pas, Man. — Sturdy Earl Brydges was acclaimed king of Western Canada dog mushers for the second year in succession.

Brydges, battling an icy trail, almost bare of snow, and carrying four injured dogs on his sled, came home the winner of The Pas 200-mile non-stop derby, winning the premier prize of $1,200 in cash and the Walter Goyne trophy. His time was 26 hours, 30 minutes, 20 seconds.

While far behind the record of "Shorty" Russick, established in 1924, when he finished in a little more than 23 hours, Brydges' time was remarkable when the condition of the trail was taken into consideration.

Earl plodded across the finishing line covered with perspiration and nearly exhausted from his struggle with the treacherous northland trail.

"Shorty" Russick was second, 16 minutes behind Brydges.

Emil St. Godard finished third, 28 hours, 4 minutes and 22 seconds.

Pioneer Settler Dead

James Harvey Saw Service In Rebellion Of 1885

Vernon, B.C.—James Harvey, aged 88, who was the first settler at what is now Indian Head, Sask., died at the home of his son, Dr. J. E. Harvey, here, following a prolonged illness.

In the rebellion of 1885, Mr. Harvey had three transport teams working near North Battleford, Sask., and he himself saw service at the Battle of Batoche. He came to Kelowna, B.C., in 1906, and at one time was vice-president of the Okanagan Fruit and Land Company. He resided at Kelowna until his wife's death, at which time he came here.

Fire Destroys Mail 'Planes

Fleet Of Seven 'Planes Lost In Disastrous Fire In Winnipeg

Winnipeg, Man.—A fleet of seven Western Canada Airways 'planes and a Fairchild cabin machine, privately owned, were lost in a fire that totally destroyed the company's huge hangar at Stevenson Field, St. James, causing damage estimated at about $150,000. Much higher earlier estimates were completely discounted by company officials.

Flames broke out following an explosion in the hangar. Company officials, meeting with Fire Commissioner Edward McGrath, were unable to determine what had caused the blast

More than a dozen mechanics and workers escaped from the building without injury, as the blaze quickly spread. No one was seriously injured, though minor injuries were reported having been suffered by fire-fighters. Three automobiles, standing inside the structure, also were destroyed.

Witnesses of the outbreak believed the blast occurred in the gasoline tank of one of the 'planes. Everyone in the building hastily fled as the resulting flames crept along the gas-soaked floor to other machines. When the first Winnipeg fire brigade arrived, eight 'planes were in flames, several standing just outside the hangar. Firemen were hindered from doing effective work by lack of water pressure.

Two small Laird mail 'planes, delivered only a short time ago, were among the flame-wrecked debris; and the pride of the company's fleet, a large tri-motored Fokker cabin machine, also was destroyed.

Eight hundred gallons of gasoline, stored outside the building, failed to explode, though the tanks broke into flames shortly after the blaze started.

Russian Trade

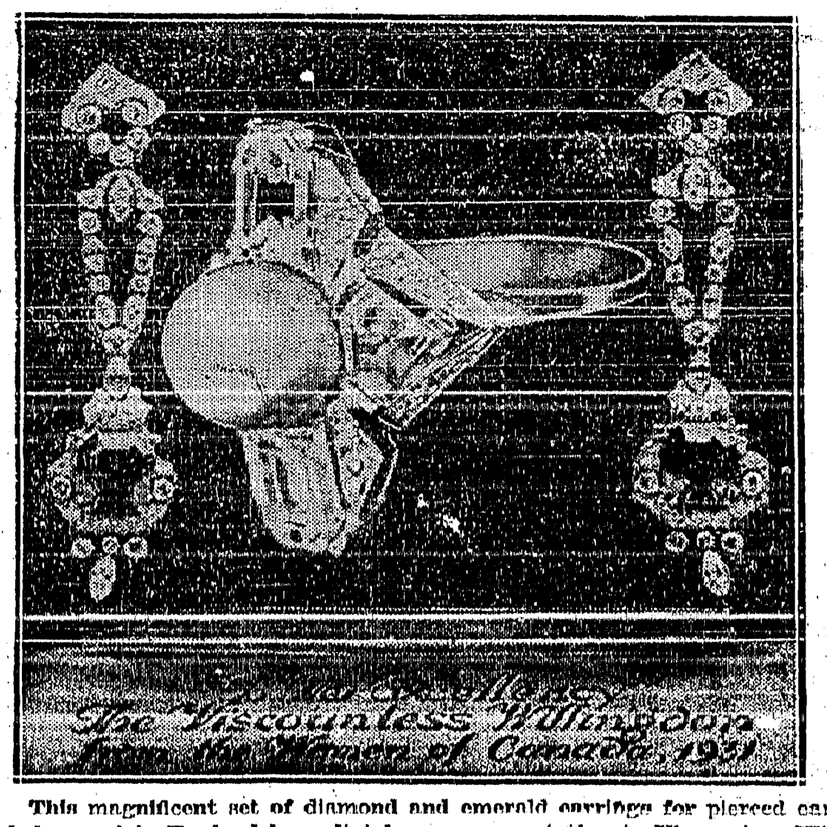
Thinks Canada Foolish In Refusing To Trade With Soviets

Montreal, Que.—For Canada to refuse to do business with the Soviets because Russians have their own idea of government is as illogical as refusing to listen to Italian grand opera because Mussolini is a dictator, in the view of Ald. Joseph Schubert, widely-known Labor party politician. By the Canadian embargo on Bolshevik goods, he said, Canada throws away a market of 162,000,000 people while Great Britain, the United States, and other countries feed on it.

Canadian Is Appointed

Ottawa, Ont.—Robert H. Coats, Dominion statistician, has been selected by the League of Nations to be one of a committee of international experts to co-ordinate the statistics of the world. Mr. Coats is not representing Canada, but has been chosen by the League in recognition of his outstanding ability.

GIFT OF BEAUTIFUL EARRINGS



This magnificent set of diamond and emerald earrings for pierced ears is being sent to England immediately as a presentation to Viscountess Willingdon from the women of Canada. Each earring consists of 44 diamonds and one emerald. Miss Mildred Bennett, sister of the prime minister of Canada, is convenor of the Viscountess Willingdon presentation committee. In centre is hand-moulded platinum ring with large oriental pearl, the whole in a solid gold case, also included in presentation from women of Canada.

MARKETING OF WHEAT TO BE INVESTIGATED

Ottawa, Ont.—While no official announcement has yet been made by the government in connection with a royal commission to investigate wheat marketing, it is understood that the government will likely institute such a body. Belief in Ottawa is that the membership of the commission will comprise three persons, one representative of the farmers of the prairie provinces, a second representing the Winnipeg Grain Exchange, and a third acting for the Dominion Government.

It could not be confirmed that the government had sought the services of Sir Josiah Stamp, internationally famous English economist. Hon. Robert Weir, Minister of Agriculture, however, declared that he had been in touch with someone in England, the identity of the individual not being disclosed. Circumstances surrounding the railway situation in England had caused the person indicated to forego the prospect of acting for the Dominion. It is believed, but not confirmed, that this individual was Sir Josiah Stamp.

One of the purposes of the commission would be to see whether the present system of trading in grain futures has, or has not, an injurious effect on the marketing of grain.

Making More Butter

Butter Supplies Now Almost Meeting Local Demand

Vancouver, B.C.—Increased attention that is being given to dairying on the prairies is revealed in the fact that butter supplies from the three prairie provinces are almost meeting Western Canadian requirements.

Attention is drawn to this new condition by the relatively small imports of butter from Australia and New Zealand at the present time.

Last week the "Aorangi" brought 725 boxes of butter to Vancouver from New Zealand, and 300 for Victoria, 3,642 from Australia for Vancouver, and 111 from the Fiji Islands, or a total of 4,779 boxes.

On February 28 of last year, the imports from the same sources were 18,515 boxes from New Zealand to Vancouver, and 1,495 from Australia, and 82 from the Fijis, while Victoria had 3,200 from New Zealand, or a total of 23,292 boxes.

Vancouver dealers report that Alberta supplies are meeting the requirements in Vancouver, and that most of the butter imported since November is still in storage. Under an agreement between the importers and the Canadian Government none of the Australian butter can be sold at a price below 32 cents a pound, and the Alberta makes are being marketed just slightly under that figure.

Slight Drop Reported In Wheat Shipments

Movement Slowed Up For Last Week In February

Winnipeg, Man. — Movement of Canadian wheat overseas, maintained at a rate better than 4,000,000 bushels weekly since the first of the year, slowed up the last week in February, and at the same time the drop in the visible supply was less than average. Exports for the week ending February 27, were given as 3,094,800 bushels in a report issued by E. A. Russell, statistician to the Dominion Board of Grain Commissioners.

Of the week's clearances, 1,054,149 bushels was shipped from Pacific ports in Canada.

Visible supply of Canadian wheat decreased during the week by 1,847,310 bushels and totalled 190,408,833 bushels.

Europe Has Mortgage Bank

Basel, Switzerland.—An international mortgage bank capitalized at $5,000,000 was created for the purpose of extending long-term credits to European nations in need of such financing. It will work in close co-operation with the International Bank for settlements.

He remembered her birthday by telephone

Mother's birthday! And her son was in a distant city, too far away to reach home for the anniversary. He couldn't get home—but his voice could. He decided to call his mother by long-distance telephone.

"Happy birthday, Mother!" came the son's voice over the wire. What a wonderful treat to hear that voice again! Mother said later that it was the best birthday surprise she had ever had.

Whatever the anniversary, a telephone reunion will add to the joys of the occasion.

CRESTON, B.C., FRIDAY, MAR. 13

HOME BREW

The Review, doubtless, has some sins to answer for, but you can't blame us for the Jones budget. In 1928 we did our level best to restrain all and sundry from voting Conservative. Yes, sir, we told you so.

Some local Conservatives who were so hard pressed for an excuse for voting for the party in 1928 that they were compelled to plead the old reliable, "time for a change," must now admit that it was time to change members, but not governments.

The Jones budget went down so badly with the Conservatives that it was necessary for the legislators to take a day off a couple of days previous to its presentation. Premier Tolmie, we are told, was laid up for a week before its presentation, and even the roustabout of the cabinet, attorney general Pooley, was also on the sick list.

Are You on the List?

With the wave of unpopularity that is rolling against the Tolmie government it looks a bit ridiculous to be talking about getting your name on the voters list in anticipation of a provincial general election, but stranger things have happened, and particularly where there is considerable possibility of next year being worse than 1930.

In some likely quarters the idea will not down that Premier Tolmie is about due to announce negotiating a deal to dispose of the Pacific Great Eastern Railway, which now costs the taxpayers about $8500 per day on deficit, principal and interest charges, with an appeal for re-election on the score that his government is the only one that can successfully negotiate such a sale.

If you voted in 1928 your name will be on the existing voters list, but if you did not vote then, or have come of age since that date, or have moved into the district since that time, it will be necessary for you to register.

And in case of elections do not imagine that because you voted in July, 1930, your name is on the list. Dominion and provincial elections are separate institutions. Before you can vote at a provincial election you must sign on the dotted line of an application form.

Why Discriminate

The rank injustice of the Jones budget as originally introduced is that the town dweller who earns over $600 per year must pay a 1 per cent. tax, but the farmer who may earn that sum, or even several thousand dollars per annum, is exempt.

If British Columbia needs the extra revenue as urgently as the budget indicates why this playing favorities. Hitherto we had always thought the British principal was a square deal for all.

The Vancouver Sun very aptly points out that the man who works three days a week at $4 a day on government relief will have to pay income tax, while the farmer who can earn part of his living off his land, and sell a thousand or more dollars worth of farm or orchard products, is relieved from this extra tax imposition. As a bid for the farmers support nothing quite so vicious has been previously attempted.

Excuse is Too Lame

In a miserable attempt to cover up their own inefficiency finance minister Jones would try to make the public believe that the dozen years of Liberal rule is really to blame for the deplorable state of provincial finances. But it wont work.

The Conservatives came into office at August, 1928, and almost the first thing they did was to have a special audit of the province's books and finances by a specially selected lot of auditors.

Since that time we have had budgets presented in 1929 and again in 1930. If the Liberals were responsible for this mess why was the information held back until 1931—two and a half years after Tory rule commenced?

When they took office Premier Tolmie assured that he had given British Columbia a business administration. During the years he was in opposition Hon. Mr. Jones had the reputation for having altogether too little regard for the truth when it came to criticising Liberal finances, and it would look as if he still imagines the people like to be misinformed.

Where the Money Goes

In these parts no one is entirely surprised at the state of affairs revealed in the Jones budget, and if conditions in other sections are on a par with what has been experienced here, the wonder is that the situation is not worse.

By way of illustrating how funds have been squandered it is only necessary to size up public works department operations. At least $12,000 has been spent on the short stretch of turnpike between the George Hurry ranch and the Idaho boundary, over which never a vehicle has passed—nor is likely to for some time to come.

The Review again reminds of the cylindrical gravel screen unloaded early in 1929, and which rested in the C.P.R. yards until late in 1930 in its original shipping frame, and then shifted in order to make room for building operations in the locality of its original resting place.

In 1930 a substantial looking brand new rock crusher found repose on Canyon street at the head of Third street, and for many months sat out in the rain and the heat and the dust with never a thought of being put to work for at least that year.

And then we have the loan of $65,000 for the waterworks system at Camp Lister—a cost plus undertaking, we are told, that is so rank that not even the stoutest friend of the party anywhere in the valley cares to defend.

And take our original road maintenance which in the past two years has had the most generous appropriation ever, and has produced the poorest travelling the district has ever known.

Extravagnaces and mismanagement of this sort repeated all over the province is the big reason for the very bad shape in which Hon. Mr. Jones finds the province.

A Rare Compliment

In a feeble effort to make the Jones budget go down a little easier the Victoria Colonist, the chief newspaper apologist for the Tolmie administration, observes, "British Columbia has the lowest average interest rate on its debt than any province except Quebec." As this province has been under Liberal rule for more than twelve of the past fifteen years, four-fifths of the credit for this good showing must be accorded them. And don't forget that Quebec has been governed by the Liberals for at least the past 40 years. Unconsciously the Colonist pays a well deserved tribute to the business ability of Liberal governments generally.

High Priced Officials

In purely departmental administration right in Victoria we have the same thing. Under Liberal rule the Liquor Control Board was in charge of one man at $12,000 a year. Now we have a three-man board, with less liquor being sold, but costing the province $30,000. And in some quarters the belief is prevalent that it cost another $25,000 to "induce" the former chairman to "resign" to make room for the $30,000 Tolmie triplets.

Official records show that at least half a hundred new civil servants have been placed on the payroll, and this in spite of the fact that the Tory opposition used to claim the province was previously over-staffed.

Friday's Nelson News very innocently points out, "In the last year the government had no control whatever over 76.7 per cent. of its expenditures." Most people hereabouts have the idea that 99.9 per cent. of the expenditure was uncontrolled.

ANALYTICAL tests prove the purity of the beers listed below. These tests also take into consideration taste, flavor, aroma, brilliancy and general attractive appearance. The alcohol and extract content as found by analysis indicate the amount of food value as exemplified by the foam-holding capacity of the beers.

The modern methods employed in brewing these British Columbia beers include such safe-guards to the drinking public as the sterilization of the air before it comes into contact with the brew . . . the purification of all water used; also a series of analytical tests taken at frequent intervals during the brewing process to make certain the finished product will pass every test for purity and required food value.

Printed Butter Wraps at Review Office

Erickson

Wm. Graham, who has been visiting with his aunt at Wetaskiwin, Alberta, for some weeks, returned home on Wednesday.

Elgin Crozier, who has spent the winter at Erickson, has returned to his home in Ontario.

Ray Crisler and R. J. Long, who have been working at their mine for some time past, were home at the weekend.

Mr. and Mrs. McWilliams, who have been on the G. P. Smith ranch for the past two years, have moved onto the Haskins (former Hunt) ranch.

The Erickson garage went on the cash basis for gas at the first of the month.

The senior boys were out in full force on Sunday for baseball practice at the school grounds—another sure sign spring is here.

Erickson had quite a fall of snow on Wednesday. With the rains of the past few weeks there should be ample moisture to start spring off right.

R. J. Long was a business visitor at Nelson at the end of the week.

Members of Trinity United Church Ladies' Aid were out in large numbers for the March meeting at the home of the president, Mrs. Geo. Cartwright, on Thursday last. It was quite a social affair as the date happened to be Mrs. Cartwright's birthday.

Most every orchardist in this district wss at Creston on Wednesday afternoon for the annual meeting of East Creston Irrigation District, at which L. T. Leveque was elected to succeed himself as a member of the board of trustees.

Local and Personal

FOR SALE—Horse, about 1400 lbs.; demo rat, nearly new; 14-inch Oliver plow; Planet Jr. cultivator, set of single Welsh harness. W.G.Greig, Wynndel.

Creston egg pool conducted by the Farmers' Institute had an export of about 30 cases of eggs in Eebruary, very much on a par with January. Kimberley is at present the heaviest buyer and there is a good local demand.

The K.K. Klub are having a St. Patrick's masquerade dance in the Wynndel community hall on Tuesday evening, March 17th. Prizes for both dress and dances. Gents, $1; ladies, 50 cents. Al. Fredericks' orchestra.

At the meeting of the landowners in East Creston Irrigation District in the United Church basement on Wednesday afternoon, L. T. Leveque was elected to succeed himself as trustee for a three-year term. The meeting was largely attended.

An auction sale of furniture, implements., will be held at Creston Transfer yards on Victoria Avenue, Wednesday afternoon, March 18th. These are the property of the estate of the late F. K. Hurry. Terms are cash. Jas. Compton will auctioneer.

Jas. Comption, who made such a fine success as auctioneer at the sale of the farm property of the late J. F. Rose on March 4th, has decided to go into the auctioneer business and is prepared to handle sales at any point in the valley on the usual terms.

At the council meeting on Monday night it was decided to test out the new town bell as a fire alarm on Saturday between 12 and 1 o'clock. Citizens are asked to report as to whether the alarm came in sufficiently loud to be effective in case of fire.

Public school pupils at Creston, Erickson and Alice Siding should be getting busy on their bird houses, as the competition will close very shortly. The Women's Institute announce they are offering prizes in three groups. Pupils from 6 to 8 years 9 to 12 years and 13 to 15 years. Prizes to boy and girl in each group.

The Full Gospel Tabernacle saw a capacity audience Sunday evening when Evangelist Rita Elliott of Vancouver spoke on "Broken Cisterns." An interesting feature of the service was the enthusiastic singing of the oldtime hymns. Miss Elliott will be speaking Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday of the coming week and there will be an evangelistic rally on Sunday evening at 7.30.

C. B. Twigg, who has had the position of assistant provincial agriculturist at Creston for the past ten years, has been notified of his transfer to Cranbrook, where he will do the work of district agriculturist, covering the territory from Sirdar to the Alberta boundary and from Golden south to the international boundary line. He is asked to make the transfer by April 1st.

Dr. Thompson, assisted by Dr. McKenzie were in charge of a successful dental clinic at Creston public school on Thursday last, when the teeth of all the children were examined, and in the afternoon the former gave a talk at the Grand Theatre at which all the children attended and were given advice on the care of teeth and what to eat. The trustees thank C. O. Rodgers who gave the theatre free of charge for the afternoon.

CARD OF THANKS

The members of Wynndel Women's Institute wish to thank all those coming from Creston, Canyon and Erickson for the co-operation and wonderful community spirit they brought with them to make the Women's Institute dance on Friday night a success. The dance was for the benefit of the crippled baby at the Solarium at Vancouver Island. Mrs. F. L. L. Bathie, President W.I.

The Stolen Prince

The United Church children are at work on a unique two-part concert that will be presented on the evening of Friday, March 27th. The front part of the entertainment will consist of drills by the Mission Band, and calesthenics by the girls of the gym. conducted by Mr. Larson.

The second half is the play, "The Stolen Prince." This is a Chinese play with Chinese costumes and scenes, having taken place in the year 1001. The plot centres around the prince who was stolen when a baby and was floating down the river Shang Hi in a wooden tub until he was rescued by a fisherman and his wife. Then it tells of a famine nine years later and the coming of the soldiers who arrest the fisherman, his wife and son, Joy, because they tan e duck. Lee Mee has stolen the emperor's sacred scarlet fish and the discovery that the little boy, Joy, is the prince, stolen so many years before, just as he is about to have his head cut off by the executioner's axe.

Chinese plays are very simple in that they leave much to the imaginatio , quietly ignoring inconsistencies and carrying the story through despite all material difficulties, and through all the chatter and singing wanders the property man dressed in black, and thus presumed to be invisible He gives the characters their properties, holds the peach blossoms, and shakes the sail, sometimes yawning, sometimes absent-minded, and sometimes snoring. The cast includes 15 children in ages from 15 down to 9 years. Proceeds for W.M S. and M.M. fund.

How To Lose 24 Pounds of Fat

At the Same Time Gain in Physical Vigor and Youthfulness and Swiftly Possess a Clear Skin and Vivacious Eyes that Sparkle with Health.

Here's the recipe that banishes fat and brings into blossom all the natural attractiveness that every woman possesses.

Every morning take one-half teaspoon of Kruschen Salts in a glass of hot water before breakfast.

Be sure and do this every morning for "It's the daily dose that takes off the fat."—Don't miss a morning. Kruschen daily means that every particle of poisonous waste matter and harmful acids and gases are expelled from the system.

Modify your diet, and take gentle exercise. The stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels are tuned up, and the pure, fresh blood containing these six salts is carried to every part of the body, and this is followed by "that Kruschen feeling" of energetic health and activity that is reflected in bright eyes, clear skin, cheerful vivacity and charming figure.

FREE TRIAL OFFER

If you have never tried Kruschen—try it now at our expense. We have distributed a great many special "GIANT" packages which make it easy for you to prove our claim for yourself. Ask your druggist for the new "GIANT" 75c. package.

This consists of our regular 75c. bottle together with a separate trial bottle—sufficient for about one week. Open the trial bottle first, put it to the test, and then, if not entirely convinced that Kruschen does everything we claim it to do, the regular bottle is still as good as new. Take it back. Your druggist is authorised to return your 75c. immediately and without question. You have tried Kruschen free, at our expense. What could be fairer? Manufactured by E. Griffiths Hughes, Ltd., Manchester, Eng. (Estab. 1756). Importers: McGillivray Bros., Ltd., Toronto.

WORLD HAPPENINGS BRIEFLY TOLD

Additional funds to combat tuberculosis among Indians will be asked from the parliaments, a report of the Department of Indian affairs reveals.

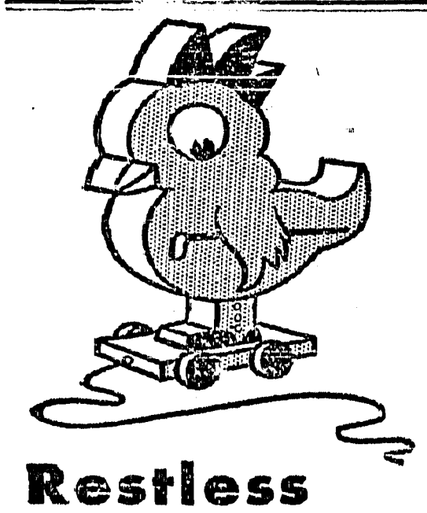
Canadian Indians, in 1929, numbered 108,012, the Department of Indian Affairs reports. One-half are listed as Roman Catholics.

More than $35,000,000 was spent by the British Government in the last fiscal year to help finance projects for providing work for the unemployed.

More definite protection for the agricultural debtor from foreclosure was sought by the board of the United Farmers of Canada, in session recently at Saskatoon.

The council of London, Ontario, has decided to support the Winnipeg resolution favoring the setting aside of the day after Christmas as a holiday.

The "rock pile" will be restored to all Ontario reformatories and jails in the belief that reformation is best accomplished by hard and productive labor. Prisoners will be provided with goggles to prevent the danger of eye-injury.



Restless CHILDREN

CHILDREN will fret, often for no apparent reason. But there's always Castoria! Harmless as the recipe on the wrapper; mild and bland as it tastes. But its gentle action soothes a youngster more surely than a more powerful medicine.

That's the beauty of this special children's remedy! It may be given the tiniest infant—as often as there is need. In cases of colic, diarrhea or similar disturbance, it is invaluable. A coated tongue calls for just a few drops to ward off constipation; so does any suggestion of bad breath. Whenever children don't eat well, don't rest well, or have any little upset—this pure vegetable preparation is usually all that's needed.

Devotional Reading: Psalm 86.1-7.

Explanations and Comments

Martha's and Mary's Friendship For Jesus, 10.34-42.—Jesus was a frequent Guest at Bethany in the home of Lazarus, Martha and Mary. On one occasion Mary was sitting at His feet and listening eagerly to His words, when Martha, troubled about the preparation of the meal, came and said impatiently to Jesus, "Lord, dost Thou not care that my sister did leave me to serve alone? bid her therefore that she help me." Can you not see how troubled she was, and how unjustly she felt that she was being treated? So intense was her feeling that she rebuked her sister in the presence of their Guest, and in asking Him if He did not care about her overwork, she rebuked Him also.

Jesus tenderly repeated her name, "Martha, Martha," thus showing His care for her, and then gently chided her, "thou art anxious and troubled about many things; but one thing is needful." Moffatt's translation reads, "one dish alone is necessary." Both sisters were wont to sit at Jesus' feet (note the word "also," verse 39); and according to Moffatt's translation we may assume that both helped to prepare the meal, but Mary returned, thinking the fare prepared adequate. Martha, on the other hand, wished to serve a more pretentious dinner—one of many dishes—in order better to honor the Lord. The whole point of Jesus' words to her, then, was to warn her against herself. He did not wish His visit to turn her into a drudge. He desired her also to sit at His feet and learn.

"If you had seen Martha you would frequently have said of her doings, 'She would do more if she did less!' The woman was overwrought. The busiest mother will do amazingly well for herself if she will withdraw from the ardent demands of the domestic circle and have ten minutes with her Lord. But I have so much to do!' I know all about it, but you will do them better for the apparent waste. Deep communion gives us the power of fine action. It conveys to the soul a calm assurance of God. The nerves are soothed and calmed and the soul is stilled."—J. H. Jowett.

"For Mary hath chosen the good part which shall not be taken away from her." "Not yours in bustling about, Martha, but hers is 'the good part' of ministering not to My body's but to My spirit's need for sympathy and understanding. It will not be taken from her now by My bidding her to help you, and it is of such a character that she will never lose it." Mary's gift was not so much sympathy as the power to detect in those whom she met what was the main thing to be sympathized with."—George Matheson.

"Speak low to me, my Saviour, low and sweet
From out the hallelujahs, sweet and low,
Lest I should fear and fall, and miss Thee so
Who are not missed by any that entreat—
Speak to me as to Mary at Thy feet."
—Mrs .Browning

Dust Causes Asthma. Even a little speck too small to see will lead to agonies which no words can describe. The walls of the breathing tubes contract and it seems as if the very life must pass. From this condition Dr. J .D. Kellogg's Asthma Remedy brings the user to perfect rest. It relieves the passages and normal breathing is firmly established again. Hundreds of testimonials received annually prove its effectiveness.

An archaeologist states that until eighty years ago, almost all the known remains of ancient Babylon and Nineveh were in a little glass case in the British Museum.

Internal parasites in the shape of worms in the stomach and bowels of children sap their vitality and retard physical development. They keep the child in a constant state of unrest and, if not attended to, endanger life. The child can be spared much suffering and the mother much anxiety by using a reliable worm remedy, such as Miller's Worm Powders, which are sure death to worms.

Manitoba Mining Industry

Over $62,000,000 Is Now Invested In This Industry

Hon. D. G. McKenzie, Minister of the Department of Natural Resources for the Province of Manitoba, reports a twenty per cent. increase in Manitoba's mineral production for 1929 over the previous year, the total production amounting in value to $5,423,825.

Capital invested in the Manitoba mining industry is now computed to be over $62,000,000.

The year 1930 was the best yet in the mining history of Manitoba in the matter of advances towards mineral production. Mining expenditures that year were 15 per cent. over the previous year's figure of $12,500,000.

Slump In Watch Industry

The watch-making crisis in Switzerland appears to have been reached. July, 1930, was the poorest month in years, only 114,000 cases being turned out. But the heaviest decline has been in pocket watches and automobile clocks. The clocks, most of which in former years were exported to the United States, have nearly disappeared from the market.

How To Lose 24 Pounds of Fat

At the Same Time Gain in Physical Vigor and Youthfulness and Swiftly Possess a Clear Skin and Vivacious Eyes that Sparkle with Health.

Here's the recipe that banishes fat and brings into blossom all the natural attractiveness that every woman possesses.

Every morning take one-half teaspoon of Kruschen Salts in a glass of hot water before breakfast.

Be sure and do this every morning for "It's the daily dose that takes off the fat."—Don't miss a morning. Kruschen daily means that every particle of poisonous waste matter and harmful acids and gases are expelled from the system.

Modify your diet, and take gentle exercise. The stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels are tuned up, and the pure, fresh blood containing these six salts is carried to every part of the body, and this is followed by "that Kruschen feeling" of energetic health and activity that is reflected in bright eyes, clear skin, cheerful vivacity and charming figure.

FREE TRIAL OFFER

If you have never tried Kruschen—try it now at our expense. We have distributed a great many special "GIANT" packages which make it easy for you to prove our claim for yourself. Ask your druggist for the new "GIANT" 75c. package.
This consists of our regular 75c. bottle together with a separate trial bottle—sufficient for about one week. Open the trial bottle first, put it to the test, and then, if not entirely convinced that Kruschen does everything we claim it to do, the regular bottle is still as good as new. Take it back. Your druggist is authorised to return your 75c. immediately and without question. You have tried Kruschen free, at our expense. What could be fairer? Manufactured by E. Griffiths Hughes, Ltd., Manchester, Eng. (Estab. 1756). Importers: McGillivray Bros., Ltd., Toronto.

Halliday's clenched hands trembled. He was remembering a time when he could not have gazed upon her thus without a longing to lay his cheek against her own. No such desire stirred him now. Her beauty seemed, almost, a repellent thing. His face quivered as he looked at her; but at last, with a sigh of weariness, he turned away and went to his own room.

For a week Nick's life hung in the balance. The fearful chill of the cold ride—the strain on his nerves—the terrible fatigue, had done their worst; and had it not been for the clean young strength of him, pneumonia would have claimed him for a victim.

"He's got only a fighting chance, Gay," said the old doctor honestly, while the look in his eyes nearly broke her heart, "but Nick won't go under without a fight. Now's the time, my dear, when he'll be repaid a thousandfold for leaving his wild oats unsown. He's sound and strong, and he has a lot to live for. We'll pull him through if it's a human possibility."

Gay hardly saw her babies in those days. With Julie's help she dressed them every morning, and after breakfast Janey Garnett (John Maxwell's youngest daughter and Gay's girlhood chum) home on a visit with her own baby, took them in charge, keeping them happy through the long days, and returning them at night, ready for bed.

"I'd keep them nights and all, Gay, if I didn't know you'd be happier to have them here," said Janey understandingly. "Mother says not to worry about dinner for tomorrow. She'll send down enough for everyone. Oh, Gay, I wish we could do more!"

Gay couldn't speak. This was the third day, when things looked very black indeed. A second nurse was installed now, and Uncle Sim was staying at the Bakersville Hotel, spending his time between Gay's garden, where he paced back and forth like a caged beast, and John Maxwell's house, where he took a sad pleasure in helping to keep the babies happy.

An atmosphere of gloom pervaded the First National Bank.

"Gosh!" exclaimed Johnny Symmes, whose cage joined Nick's, "what if he don't get well? I saw Doc Bennett this morning, and he said——"

He broke off suddenly, and began an attempt at whistling that deceived no one; while two stenographers openly wiped their eyes. The First National Bank was about as cheerful as a mausoleum.

Gloom also pervaded the house of Halliday. After five days Angela said she could stand it no longer.

"I believe I'll go to the shore. Between hearing you at the telephone calling up the hospital about that child—and the sight of that horrible old man pacing up and down that garden, I'll go crazy. I think I'll go to Narragansett for a month."

"You will do no such thing."

James Halliday spoke quietly, but with decision.

"You may be heartless, Angela, but for the sake of decency you shall not behave so, when, because of your own actions, the man is at death's door."

She drew an angry breath.

"You blame me for everything. It wasn't my fault that that stupid child ran in front of the automobile."

"No; but you shouldn't have been there, Angela. Considering the errand I had gone on, would it have hurt you to stay quietly at home?"

"What good would it have done me to be bored all day? No one in Bakersville knew your mother."

He turned away, then said, his back still to her: "Who were the friends whom you expected to join you on your trip?"

"Friends?"

Her voice was a little breathless, and her eyes dropped as he wheeled and faced her.

"What do you mean?"

"I mean that Hastings understood you expected company to take this trip; and that you didn't wish to drive the new car yourself."

She shrugged.

"Where did you get all that?"

"That's neither here nor there, but ——"

"You got it from that stupid little woman," she said scornfully. "Probably he concocted the story so she'd let him go. I didn't suppose he was so clever."

"Hastings is not a liar," said her husband quietly.

"And am I?"

Her eyes narrowed; but Halliday merely turned and left the room.

Slowly, doggedly, Nick fought his way through "the valley of the shadow."

"He'll pull through now," said the doctor quietly, "provided he has no set-backs, and we'll see that he doesn't. He's sleeping quietly and naturally. When he wakes, Gay, you can sit with him a while; but you mustn't talk. There, child! cry if you want to. It's been a hard week—hard on all of us. Gay, I'm going to stop at the bank on my way home, and let 'em know the worst is over."

But the doctor's progress down Main Street was very slow. People hailed him from many a doorstep, and went more happily about their tasks at the good news.

"Everyone loves Nick," he mused as he started his car for the fifth time in a half mile. "He's a good boy; but I can't help wondering why he was off that day with Mrs. Halliday. Don't understand it. Hope people won't get wind of it. Halliday won't talk, but somehow I don't trust his wife. She's a mischief-maker or I don't know women. Her eyes are too innocent for truth. But she's mighty pretty! Don't know when I've seen such a pretty face; though I wouldn't mind if she'd take it away from Bakersville for good and all."

She did take it away, for a time. Two days later, when James Halliday returned from a trip to a distant hospital, he found a violet-scented note in his wife's place:

"Now that our neighbor is out of danger, I suppose I may get the change I need. You gave me little enough sympathy after that terrible experience; but then, I didn't expect sympathy from you. I'm going to Rye. Don't look for me for a fortnight, or longer, but send a check first mail."

"It's just as well," said Halliday to himself, as he dropped the missive in the waste basket. "It may be a relief to Mrs. Hastings to know she's gone."

But in truth, Gay had no thoughts, unkind or otherwise, of Angela Halliday. In those days of anxiety and dread she had forgotten her. Now, in the joy of seeing Nick come back to life, nothing else mattered.

"There's a lot to explain," he said on the first day he was allowed a word or two, "but I haven't the strength for it now. If you'll just keep on trusting me——"

"I'll trust you forever and ever," she interrupted, and he said:

"I know, dear. I've known it all the time; but there's something I've got to ask or I can't rest. A terrible thing happened on that trip, Gay. I must find out——"

"It's all right, Nick," she broke in quietly. "The child is living. Mr. Halliday told me. He's been to see the little thing. Oh, my dear, everyone has been so wonderful! Now that you're getting better I—I feel that these terrible days have been paid for, almost, in human kindness."

He smiled, and would have spoken, but she said: "Wait, Nick. I haven't finished. I've been finding out that what your mother told you is true as truth. When the way seems hardest we do seem to reach a hill-top, a place where we can breathe again, and see life and—and everything, with a new vision. I can't say just what I mean, perhaps, but I feel that I've reached one of those hill-tops now. Life will lead us into the valley again, I know; there'll be suffering, and trouble, and doubts, and anxieties to live through; but I shall always be richer for the dearness of those who tried to make this hard time easier. Don't you believe that, Nick?"

—"Oh, Gay," he answered, "if I could only keep you on the hill-tops! But—but as I look back at things, I see that all your troubles come through me!"

She retorted, the first care-free smile in days lighting her eyes: "Have you thought where I find my joys?"

Peculiarities Of Pacific Salmon

Are Unlike Atlantic Coast Salmon In Many Particulars

Unlike the Atlantic Coast salmon which spawn several times, the Pacific salmon spawn but once and die immediately thereafter at the river spawning ground. All the five varieties of Pacific salmon are members of the family (Oncorhynchus), but show interesting differences in length of natural life span. The pink lives only two years; the coho, three; the chum, four; the sockeye, four to five; and the spring, six to seven.

Canadian Apple Exports

Canadian apples showed a large increase during the 1929-30 shipping season (covering the 1929 crop) as compared with the previous year, 1,727,089 barrels having been exported during the season just closed as against 1,021,490 barrels the year before.

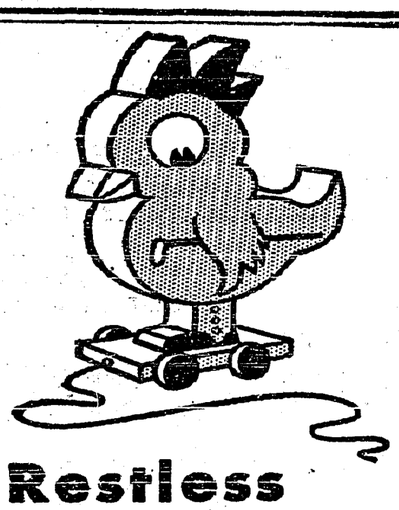
Live On Small Income

The tiny amount of money on which the average Chinese family exists is strikingly set forth in a government survey. The survey showed that middle class families frequently have incomes of less than $500 Chinese currency (about $140 Canadian currency at the present depressed rate of exchange) a year.

One Atom Thick

A layer of Caesium metal one atom thick, 300,000 times thinner than a sheet of notepaper, lines the bulb of a new photo-electric cell. It is part of an apparatus used for measuring both daylight and starlight.

Horsehair upholstery is becoming very popular in Germany.



Restless CHILDREN

CHILDREN will fret, often for no apparent reason. But there's always Castoria! Harmless as the recipe on the wrapper; mild and bland as it tastes. But its gentle action soothes a youngster more surely than a more powerful medicine.

That's the beauty of this special children's remedy! It may be given the tiniest infant—as often as there is need. In cases of colic, diarrhea or similar disturbance, it is invaluable. A coated tongue calls for just a few drops to ward off constipation; so does any suggestion of bad breath. Whenever children don't eat well, don't rest well, or have any little upset—this pure vegetable preparation is usually all that's needed.

A botanist points out that people who grow cactus plants in pots often fail to water them, forgetting that in the desert the cactus stores up water in a well-developed root system.

For Rheumatic Pains.—The pains and aches of Sciatica and Rheumatism should be treated with Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil. The soothing and healing properties of this famous remedy have been demonstrated for fifty years. Use it also for inflammatory pains, cuts, scratches, bruises and sprains, either in human beings or the lower animals.

Hull, England, will devote $27,230 of the profits from the municipally-owned telephone system to reduction of taxes.

GAS relieved

WHAT most people call indigestion is usually excess acid in the stomach. Food has soured. The instant remedy is an alkali which neutralizes acids. But don't use crude helps. Use what your doctor would advise.

The best help is Phillips' Milk of Magnesia. For the 50 years since its invention, it has remained standard with physicians. You will find nothing else so quick in its effect, so harmless, so efficient.

One tasteless spoonful in water neutralizes many times its volume in acid. The results are immediate with no harmful after-effects.

Once you learn this perfect way you'll never deal in any other manner with the headaches, gas, bloating, nausea, dizziness, indigestion, biliousness, etc., due to an over-acid stomach and bowels.

Be sure to get genuine Phillips'. It is always a liquid; never made in tablet form. Look for the name Phillips on the bottle. All drugstores sell it—50c.

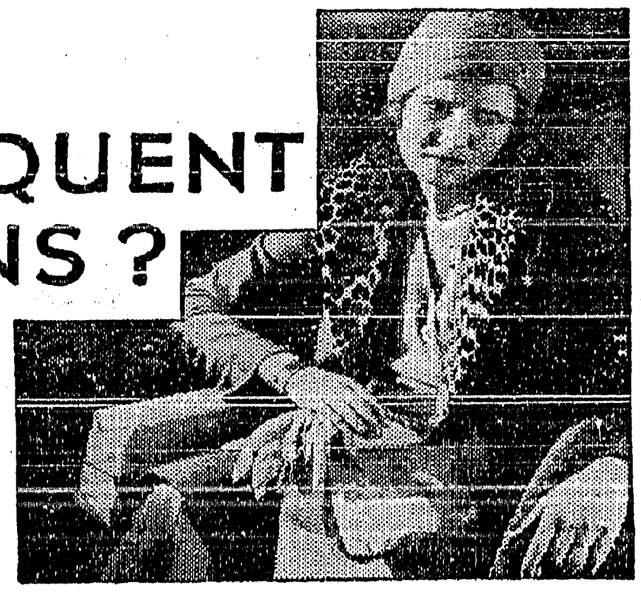
FREQUENT PAINS?



NEVER let a throbbing head interrupt your shopping! Or other pain that Aspirin ends so quickly. These harmless tablets are an antidote for the most acute pain. Relief is almost instantaneous. Taken in time, they will break up a cold and head off discomfort. They'll relieve your suffering from neuralgia, neuritis, or the like, at any time. Thousands of women depend upon Aspirin tablets every month to spare them from those pains peculiar to women. These tablets do not depress the heart; they may be used as frequently as there is need of their quick comfort. So, it's folly to endure any pain that Aspirin tablets could relieve so promptly. Get the genuine, which is always to be had at any drugstore.
