BERMUDA'S CLIMATE

The climate of Bermuda is believed to be the most equable in the world, and all seasons of the year yield delight to the visitor. The average annual temperature is 71.7°. The spring range of averages is from 64° to 73°, summer 77° to 79°, autumn 73° to 79°, winter 63° to 68°.

The Gulf Stream, the broad belt of warm water flowing between Bermuda and the mainland, is a barrier to the cold north winds of winter, while the mid-ocean location prevents excessive heat in summer. There is no rainy season.

GOLF IN BERMUDA

Bermuda possesses natural advantages for golf which probably are unsurpassed if not unequalled elsewhere. All courses have true "northern" turf.

The ideal year-'round climate ensures constantly enjoyable playing conditions. The rolling terrain, liberally interspersed with water areas, and the wealth of charming views, have inspired golf architects to make the most of the exceptional opportunities.

Seven of the eight courses are open to visiting players, throughout the year, upon payment of moderate green fees.
