The fares charged for the Cruise and Excursions provide for hotel and other accommodations for the time stated only.

The Canadian Pacific issue all tickets and make all arrangements for transportation or conveyance or for hotel accommodations ashore upon the express agreement of the person or persons accepting any tickets or accommodations in connection with this Cruise that the Canadian Pacific shall not be liable for injury, damage, expense, loss or claim which may be occasioned by any defect, error or mistake or through the acts or default of any persons, firms or corporations or their servants engaged in rendering any service or accommodation with respect to this cruise.

The Canadian Pacific acts as agents merely, in arranging for the transportation of baggage ashore. Such transportation is at the passenger's own risk and all baggage should be insured. Overcoats, coats, umbrellas, cameras, small handbags and travelling rugs remain at all times under the passenger's control.

The right is reserved to withdraw the Cruise, and to make such alterations in the itinerary, before or during the voyage, as may be found desirable for the convenience of the passengers and the proper carrying out of the Cruise; also to decline to accept or retain any person as a member of the Cruise, at any time.

The fares do not include such personal items as laundry, steamer chairs or rugs, beverages ordered by passengers which are not ordinarily served by the Steamship Company or hotels without additional charge, expenses of conveyances or guides not ordered by Canadian Pacific representatives, passports and visas, baggage insurance nor rooms with bath at hotels.
