The New Agent-General

The Nanaimo Herald has this to say about Mr. Wade's appointment to the position of Agent-General

It is just possible that Mr. F C. Wade will make good as the agent-general in London of British Columbia, and this is about all that can be said of his appointment. In giving him this position the government has advanced another notable step toward its downfall. Mr. Wade is a man with a strong political reputation. He is of the Roegis type in politics, and almost any man in British Columbia who has been in public life for the last few years would have made a better representative for the province in London. So far as we understand the situation Mr. Wade has been te man at the handle of the Liberal political machine for the last several years. It was this machine, as controlled by Wade, that put Brewster to the bag, and force him to swallow his promises, and brought about a greater abuse of the patronage system than this province has ever suffered from . And in this respect the climax has beeu reached in the appointment of Mr. Wade to this position. No one will ever forget the abuse which the Sun lavished upon the late Sir Richard McBryde when holding this same position, and at that time Mr. Wade controlled The Sun. At that time, the time of the last provincial election, it was a criminal waste of money to maintain such anoffice. Now it is all right and just the proper thing for Mr. Wade. There is a limit to most games, even to the political game, and this last action on the paart of the Government about touches it.

Don't Overlook the Possibilities of the Telephone

Did you ever notice how some people shout into the Telephone ? They think becauce the party they are txalking to is some distance away, that the tone of voice must be loud. They forget that a conversational tone is all that is needed

It is the same with the long distance..telephone. Some people have the idea that because the party wanted is distant, it is not possible to talk to them—the voice cannot carry that far. The voice may not carry that far, but it iseasily carried by the wire any distance, owing to modern invention. No matter how far your friend is away you can converse by telephone without difficulty. Try it some time.

New London, Conn., has adopted a unique but effective means of curbing profiteering in house rents. A board has been formed consisting of public spirited citizens of standing, including lawyers of standing, real estate men, manufacturers and others who met daily in sub committeesof three to hear complaints of tenants regarding extortionate rents. If a tenant makes out a case the sub-committee requests the landlord to attend to give his side of the case. If he refuses, or if a plain case of rent profiteering is made out against him, all the facts aer published and public opinion is allowed to do its work. This plan has proved most effective.

The Signal Has The Right Idea—Why Not Try It Here?

The Goderich Board of Trade is making an extra effort to "put Goderich on the may." and this is the way the signal "tal's up" to the citizens in a recent issue. It's good advice too. "When anyone comes to town grasp him by the hand and tell him what bright prospects the town has. Don't tamm around like a lot of dressed up dummies before a clothing store and wear long faces with gloomy looks and see only the dark side of life. Above all, don't go whining around and make a shadow on the bluest sky. If you really havn't the heart to speak a cheery word or land your influence on behalf of your town, for mercy sake hide yourself when some strangers come to visit us," If you havn,t a bright cheerful word for the place, for heaven's sake pack up your old kit bag and get out, You'll feel better and the town will be a darn sight better ofl without you.

Some people never have a good word to say about their town or their neighbors, they go around with a sore head and they're forever picking the scab off: their faces are as sour as a fifty year old swill tub. they squeal about this. they grouch about that, they complain about everything under the sun.

The Lord evidently has no use for such people or he would invfte them to heaven.

Last year British Columbia placers produced $496,000 worth of ore. The lode gold amounted to $2,367,190 mainly from the copper bearing ores. Mining for gold is not popular just now, owing to the increased cost of producing. Gold has not gone up in price since the war like other metals,
