Comox Coal for U. S. Battleships

Vancouver Island coal is now being utilizex by the United States navy department on a large scale. Some years ago exhaustive tests were made with coal mined on Vancouver Island for use on American warships and as a result of thse tests the British Columbia production was declared to be almost as good in steaming qualities as the Pocahontas fuel, which is the standard coal used in the American navy.

It is understood that the Canadian Collieries Limited have contracted with the United States navy department to supply in the neighborhood of 130,000 tons of the best Comox coal within the next eight or nine months.

The steamship Point Judith, one of the United States shipping board's fleet, which was recently completed at Portland, is now at Comox loading the first carbgo of coal under the new contract for delivery at the Pearl Harbor naval station, Hawaiian Islands. The steamship Arabien a well-known trans-Pacific carrier owned by the Danish East Asiatic, is expected to reach Comox on Tuesday to load a full cargo of coal for Pearl Harbor.

All the ships making their base at Bremerton navy yard will now burn Comox coal.

The Courtenay Presbyterian Sunday School will hold their annual picnic at Millard's beach on Wednesday, August 14th. Cars will leave the church at 10 o'clock a.m. Will those who are willing to take the children to the beach in their cars please notify Mr. Wm. Duncan, the superintendent of the Sunday Sshool?

The Provincial Government, with a commendable spirit of economy have started work on the Courtenay River bridge. Instead of putting in a steel bridge, some new piling will be put under the present structure, and planks will be laid lengthwise on top of the old ones. This should lengthen the life of the bridge some five or six years.

The first of a series of Union church services washeld in the Presbyterian church on Sunday evening, the occasion being the fifth anniversary of our entering the great war. The service was conducted by Rev. J. W. Flinton, and Rev. J. R. Craig. the lesson being read by Mayor Duncan, Rev. Flinton took as his text the four words: "Have faith in God." from the gospel according to St. Mark, 2nd Chapter, 33rd verse. Rev. Mr. Craig in a few forceful remarks asked, are we doing as much here as the boys at the front. At the conclusion a thoughtful, earnest prayer was offered by Rev. Mr. Flinton.

HERE AND THERE.

The Forest Branch of the Department of Lands has entered into a contract with the Hoffar Motor Boat Co of Vancouver for the construction of a "fying boat" which the Provincial Government will operate on lease for a time, with the option of purchasing it at a later date. The machine will be used for forest patrol work and hereafter, partially at any rate, British Columbia's forests will be "fire wardened" from the air. A boat plane has been decided upon as the best and safest type of machine to carry out the tests owing to the nature of the territory to be patrolled. While there will be very few landing and starting places in the interior forest sections the water channels and myriad lakes of the coast region will provide all that is necessary in this connection with the more heavily timbered areas.

Property to the value of $1,252,343 up in smoke, twenty-three people met their deaths, and ten were severely injured as the result of fires in Saskatchewan during the first six months of this year, according to the half yearly report issued by A. E. Fisher, provincial fire commissioner.

There are more practical ways of appreciating the returned soldier than endeavoring to use him as a political pawn. British Columbia lumbermen demonstrated this when they contributed $500 through their association towards rebuilding the home of Pte. Gerald Hore, which was destroyed by fire. Pte. Hore will soon have a new home as a tangible appreciation of the service rendered in protecting other Canadian homes.

Killed The Breeding Stock

The live stock in the countries of the Allies in Europe has been decreased by 46,000,000 head since the beginning of the war. 40 per cent. of the hogs in France have been killed, and 35 per cent. of the sheep. It is estimated by French officials that French live stock cannot be restored to the pre war basis until from five to ten years after the war.

New Version of Old Story.

Leopold de Rothschild, in a speech as chairman of the Newspaper Press Fund dinner in London, demolished the tradition about the way in which his grandfather obtained advance news of the victory of Waterloo. According to the current story, which even the "Encyclopaedia Britannica" repeats, Nathn Mayes Rothschild was present at the battle and hurried back to London as soon as he saw it was decided, getting there some hours before the news became known, and making enormous profits buying up stocks. His grandson tod the newspaper men that "the accurate story would appeal to them as journalists, viz., that the news came through the medium if a small Dutch newspaper. The news was published in a single line: Great Victory of the English at Waterloo." His grandfather who was owner of some ships, told his captains that whenever they went anywhere they were always to bring him the latest newspapers. One of these trusted captains arrived with a paper announcing the great victory, and his grandfather, who believed as they all did now, in the accuracy of all newspapers, immediately took the news to the treasury, and gave the information to Lord Livehpool. He did not tell him how he knew it, and the news was scouted because the intelligence had arrived of the defeat of the English troops on the previous day."

The Peace River District has been for many years the subject of much interest and speculation. Alluring tales from adventurous pioneers, of its wonderful resources, charming climate, and varying scenery have long since lent to the district that charm of romance with a distance and uncertainty blended with glowing promises. Now however, the land so long famed by legend and mystery is being proved a reality, modern transportation having so to speak brought it to our very doors. A journey from Edmonton to the town of Peace River for instance, which five years ago consumed nearytwo weeks of toil and hardship may now be made in less than twenty- four hours, in comfort at all times of the year, trains to this latest settlers' mecca which is nearly 1,000 miles north of the international boundary line, carrying both sleeping and dining car accommodation.

The Department of the Interior through it's Natural Resources Intelligence Branch has prepared and is distributing a new illustrated report on the district based on investigations made by an official of that branch during the season of 1917. The publication contains interesting information with regard to climate, soil, agriculture, minerals, game, water powers transportations, and education. A map of the district showing general topography, also accompanies the report.

The recent reservation in the interests of soldier settlement of available Dominion lands has also necessitated the preparation of a map which would show the area in the north of Alberta that had been reserved for such purposes. This puublication is now available for distribution and should prove of considerable value to the returned soldier who is considering the advisability of settlement in the Peace River Country, likewise, to the prospective homesteader as it shows the area within which homesteads may be procured, also the total number of quarter- sections that are still available in each township within reasonable distance of a railway. A copy of the report or map or both may be procured free of charge upon application to the Natural Resources Intelligence Banch of the Department of the Interior, Ottawa.

The editor received this letter from a fresh youth: "Kindly tell me why a girl always closes her eyes when a fellow kisses her." To which the editor replid: "If yuo wll sind us your photograph we may be ble to give you the reason."

A Boston public school teacher was trying to give her phpils a definite idea of a volcano. With red chalk she drew on the blackboard fiery flames issuing from a mountain top. When she had done, she turned to the class before her and said "can any of you tell me what that looks like"? "It looks like hell, ma'am," replied replied one of the youngsters with starting promptness.

Poultry Diseases Responsible for Big National Loss.

At least fifty per cent. of the young ducks, chickens and turkeys, and ten per cent. of the of the adult birds die each year from diseases many of which are preventable This is an annual national loss of probably millions of dollars that could be avoided to a large extent.

War conditions make it imperative that farmers and poultrymen as far as possible should stop this enormous leak. To do this every breeder should pay strict attention to the general conditions of his flock. When anything unusual is noted in a fowl it is advisable to place the affected individual in separate quarters. If within a short time recovery does not take place, it is unwise to destroy the fowl without first ascertaining the cause of the disorder. The prevalnce of disase is more often the cuse of failure than the lack of practical knowledge and the extreme importance of keeping the quarters clean; isolation of all ailing fowls and immediate action in regard to finding out the cause cannot too strongly impressed upon the poultryman.

When trouble occurs forward to the Biological Laboratory Central Experimental Farm Ottawa Ont., a live but sick fowl or, in the absence of such, a dead bird. In the interval disinfect the quarters runs, drinking fountains and feed dishes to check the spread of any infectious disease.

Disinfect the poultry houses by spraying theinterior with a lime wash solution (50 lbs of stone lime slaked in abarrel of water, plus one gallon of a good commercial disinfectant.) Fill cracks and crevices to destroy mites, lice, etc. If a smaller amount is required it may be prepared by adding 2 1-2 pounds of lime to a pail of water plus half a teacupful of disinfectant.

Keep a growing crop in some part of the yards and alternate poultry and crops. If the runs are small cover with a coating of air-slaked lime and dig up. If the runs are too large to dig plough and cultivate befare sowing. Rape is a good crop for this purpose Rear all chicks on fresh soil.

Although these precautions may appear unnecessary it is the only way of combatting many disease condition affecting poultry, which if left to themselves will undoubtedly prove decidedly costly in the long run.

A SOLDIER'S CHANCES.

Some Interesting Statistics Based Upon Investigations.

The military hospitaal commission at Quebec has kept an account of how Canadian troops fared in the war and has compiled some interesting statistics based upon its investigations.

Addressing Canadian mothers and fathers the commission says:

If your boy goes to the front:

He has 29 chances of coming home to one of being kiled.

He has 98 chances of recovering from a wound to two chances of dying.

He has only one chance in 500 of losing a limb.

He will live five yeass longer because of physical training.

He is freer from disease in the army than in civil life.

He has better medcal care at the front than at home.

In other wars from ten to fifteen men died from disease to one from bullets.

In this war one man dies from disease to every ten from bullets. This proportionately less wasteful of life than any other in history.

Only ten per cent. of all Canadians disabled for further service have been physically unfit to engage in their former occupations.

If your boy is one of the ten per cent. the Government will re-educate him in another vocation at which he can earn a living.

This doesn't mean that war a danger-free occupation, and that life in the trenches is as comfortable as in the easy chair here at home, but it does make it appear less fearsome than it has been painted over here, especially by pro-Grman socialists, disloyal pacifists and German-born traitors in Canada.
