A FATAL ACCIDENT

Rock Slide Throws Engine From Track.

PINNED UNDER ENGINE

Wrecking Crew Worked Heroically to Extricate Imprisoned Man.

A fatal accident occured on the Crow's Nest branch, about three miles east of Fernie, at 4 o'clock Monday morning, by which engineer Edward Roberts lost his life. At the hour named engine 1348 in charge of Mr. Roberts and fireman Selby, and drawing only a caboose with conductor Marron, was nearing the Fernie Lumber company's mill, when a rock slide came down on the track immediately in front of the train.

TURNED TURTLE

Before the engine could be stopped it crashed into the obstruction, and was thrown from the track. Engine and tender turned over, and fell down a seven foot bank and was partially submerged in the creek.

FATE OF ENGINE CREW

The fireman was thrown through the cab window into the stream and after he had been carried 100 feet down the stream was able to reach the shore. The engineer, however was pinned underneath the wreck and was not released until ten o'clock in the morning when life was extinct, the unfortunate man having died about 8 o'clock.

DID THEIR BEST

Superintendent Brownlee was soon on the spot with a wrecking outfit, accompanied by Dr. Douglas Corsan, Constable Sampson, and other officials and the work of rescue was immediately commenced. The wrecking crew worked heroically and did everything in their power to reach the imprisoned engineer, but owing to the position of the engine the work was most difficult and dangerous.

For upwards of two hours he in agony and those about him could hear his voice as they toiled frantically to relieve him. The rescuers became almost hysterical in the face of a borror they were powerless to prevent as they had no appliances to extricate the poor fellow who, game to the last of his most agonizing extremity, died before the engine was lifted off him.

BROUGHT TO CRANBROOK

His remains was brought to Cranbrook on the Soo-Spokane westbound train, and taken in charge by undertaker W. R. Beatty.

Engineer Roberts was on of the most popular men in Cranbrook, a prime favorite, well liked by everybody. He was recently promoted to the position of engineer, and was considered a most capable and careful man. The fireman escaped without injury.

THE FUNERAL

The funeral of the late Edward Roberts, the engineer, who was killed in an accident on the Crow line, two miles east of Fernie, on Monday morning, took place Wednesday afternoon. The attendance was large, the stores were closed, many proprietors and clerks attending the funeral.

The funeral was held from the Presbyterian church, the Rev. C. O. Main officiating. The funeral procession was headed by the Cranbrook band, and fully half a mile in length. The Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers; Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Engine Men; Brotherhood of Railway Conductors, and Railway Trainmen; also the Knights of Pythias escorted the remains to the grave.

The Ladies Auxiliary to the B. of L. E., and the Pythian Sisters followed in carriages.

The floral tributes were many, and a special vehicle, filled to over-flowing preceded the hearse.

The time of the funeral was about 4 p. m., the eastbound train being late, was standing at the station, as the funeral cortege slowly wended its way, across the track, to the cemetery.

Conductor Arthur Martin, as the funeral procession approached, instructed the engineer not to pull out until the last carriage has passed. The train was delayed ten minutes.

Both sides of Baker street was lined with people, who with bowed heads paid their last tribute to the late Edward Roberts, who was one of the most respected citizens of Cranbrook, and almost the entire population of the city was either at the church, in the procession, or witnessed the procession as it passed to the cemetery.

300-SPOKANE TRAIN DITCHED

Limited Flyer Piles Up, all but one Coach Being Derailed.

Spokane, April 15.—Running at half its usual speed over a stretch of track where ordinarily from 50 to 60 miles is made with the Soo-Spokane limited passenger, which left this city at 10 o'clock yesterday morning, was derailed 13 miles west of Sandpoint, Idaho, about 11 o'clock. The low speed prevented serious damage, although every coach but the observation left the tracks. Had the train been going as is usual at this point, trainmen say, nothing could have prevented the coaches pilling up with a long list of fatalities.

Only one man, Express Messenger E. C. Whitney of Spokane was hurt. He dodged a flying safe, only to be hit on the stomach by an ice cream freezer. It was first thought he had suffered internal injuries, but at the Sacred Heart hospital last night it was said that his injuries were not serious.

SIDE RIPPED FROM COACH

The baggage car, the first to leave the track, was tilted to one side. It struck a stump, which ripped out all of one side, and which kept the rest of the train from shooting off the tracks at an angle. The smoker and the day coach were packed with immigrants, but there were no injuries.

The rear truck of the tender left the rails, but the engine managed to keep the track and to break away from the rest of the train, keeping the other cars from piling up behind it.

The track was torn up for a long distance, the rails being twisted and the ties splintered. The passengers were taken on board a special train sent out from Spokane and brought back to this city. They will leave at 10:30 this morning.

Passengers say the roadbed at the point of the wreck is not in proper condition for the heavy trains which run over it. The ties, they say, are of "Bull" pine, which rots quickly, and the ballast is inadequate.

A spreading rail is blamed by the company's officials for the accident. The tender truck is thought to have left the rails first.

IS POSTPONED

Will Not Hold Conservative Convention in June.

Ottawa, April 12.—The general committee of 50 which had in hand the preliminary arrangements for the Conservative convention which was to have met here next June, decided this afternoon to report to the caucus that it be postponed. The caucus meets again in the morning and the report of the committee will be adopted. While the convention has been postponed from the date originally set it is not likely that it will be held this year

Mr. Borden was enthusiastically endorsed as leader of the party at a prolonged caucus of Conservative members, George H. Perley, M. P. for Argenteuil, presiding. There was no half heartedness about the matter and a resolution was unanimously passed amid loud cheers, expressing implicit confidence in Mr. Borden's administration It was the most enthusiastic caucus held this parliament.

CAUCUS PLEDGES LOYALTY

There seems to have been no real foundation for any report of dissention in the Conservative party as to the leadership of R. L. Borden, the caucus expressing confidence in Mr. Borden as the leader of the Liberal-Conservative party and its unanimous desire that he should continue to hold that position, and pledged to him its allegiance and loyalty.

KITCHENER INTERVIEWED

On Military Matters the General Spoke Guarledly.

Chicago, April 14.—Lord Kitchener of Khartoum, became "Kitchener of Chicago" for exactly one hour and thirty minutes today. Surrendering gracefully to a surprise attack by a reporter who boarded the train on the outskirts of the city, Lord Kitchener asked and answered questions with good humor.

On military matters, the general spoke guardedly, saying: "One must be careful, when a thoughtless word might be wrongly taken to mean something I did not intend it to.

"As to Canada's military future; I have not visited Canada. I see no aggressiveness in the future so far as Canada is concerned. The little navy they are building up there is only that they may sleep a little easier o' nights. One rests better with a "Bobby" walking around the square. I suppose they will some day begin to increase the army there just for the same reason.

"I see no reason that international peace should not continue from this very moment. One never knows, however, when something may stir up trouble and war does not often announce itself far in advance. It is always better to keep one's powder dry."

The genial Joe Carter, who was formerly C. P. R. passenger agent at Nelson, and later representing the company, in the same capacity, at Spokane, has been appointed city passenger agent at Winnipeg. "Joe" is one of the most popular men in the British Columbia railway service.

INSPECT SCHOOL HOUSE

The Fire Brigade were out for practice on Thursday evening. They made a quick run to the new school house, and then made a thorough inspection of the building. A representative of The Prospector was at the school house when the inspection was made, and Chief Dezall, after spending nearly half an hour looking over the building, said: "That the new building was a credit to the city. That he could not think, or see of any chance for a fire in the building. The heating plant was first class, and completely walled in, with no wood work of any kind near it. That if a fire should occur, which is not at all probable, the pupils would certainly have time to leave the building in safety, that the stairways were wide, giving ample room for the scholars to get down, and out of the building without crowding. That when the fire escapes are placed in position, there will be no better, or more safe building from fire, or a better equipped school building in the province.

Chief Dezall has a fine lot of men under his command, and it is this sort of dril that gives the fire laddies the necessary information as to how, and which are the best methods of attacking a fire.

QUEBEC'S ACTION

JARS WASHINGTON

Washington, April 13.—The announcement that the province of Quebec would almost immediately prohibit the exportation of pulp wood to the United States was received here with surprise and regret. At the state department it was said that the prospect of close commercial relations and of a trade treaty with the Dominion were thought to be sufficiently encouraging to determine the province not to impose prohibitory restriction at this time.

DEATH OF CAPT. TATLOW

Thrown From His Trap Friday Last.

DIED AT VICTORIA, B. C.

Career of the Late Minister of Finance—The Premier's Tribute.

Victoria, April 11.—Captain R. G. Tatlow, late minister of finance and agriculture for British Columbia died at 12:30 today from injuries received when thrown from his trap on Friday last. He had not recovered consciousness since the accident.

HOW IT HAPPENED

Thrown from his trap when his horse shied at a passing auto at the corner of Vancouver and Maclure streets, Capt. R. G. Tatlow, late minister of finance and agriculture in the McBride government, sustained injuries on Friday which proved fatal. The accident occurred at 5:30 o'clock and until a late hour had not regained consciousness.

The accident was witnessed by E. J. Murray, who happened to be passing. He ran at once to the rescue of Captain Tatlow, called the ambulance, and had him conveyed to the Jubilee hospital, whither Dr. O. M. Jones had already been summoned. Dr. Jones at once made an examination and did all in his power for the injured gentleman.

CONCUSSION OF BRAIN

The chief injuries appear to have been to the head, the fall being extremely severe and the concussion to the brain great. Dr. Jones would not speak of the injuries pending a later examination.

Captain Tatlow since his retirement from office has been living quietly in this city, devoting his attention to his ranch at Finnerty's Beach, and to riding and driving. The time has been occupied as a holiday following his labors in the office which he held for such a considerable period and with such success.

HIS LIFE

Hon. Robert Garnett Tatlow was born in Scawa, county Down, Ireland on Sept. 6, 1855, the family having an honorable and distinguished ancestry. He was educated at Cheltenham in England. He was a captain in the First Prince of Wales regiment Montreal, and in 1874 came to British Columbia with Major Strange, being a member of Battery B. He was on a tour of inspection of the defences, but became enamored of the country, and decided to remain. He went to Victoria as private secretary to Hon. A. N. Richards, who was then lieutenant governor of British Columbia, and remained in that position until the termination of his official duties. He was then appointed secretary to Lieut. C. F. Cornwall, continuing with him till 1886. His next move was to Vancouver, where he went to represent a large portion of the townsite of that city. He remained in Vancouver, engaged in various financial enterprises, and was connected with the Stanley Park firm for 15 years, all the improvements being made under his management.

Captain Tatlow was an unsuccessful candidate for the legislature in 1894 for the city of Vancouver. He entered the house in 1908, and became minister of finance and agriculture in the McBride cabinet in June, 1903. He was re-elected at the elections of that year, and again in 1907 On all sides the splendid services of the late Capt. Tatlow, to his province, were admitted and particularly in the reconstruction of the provincial finances. Before the late election, he differed from his leader, Hon. Richard McBride, on the railway policy and retired from public life.

The late Capt. Tatlow in 1900 marries Miss Elizabeth Crombie, a daughter of G. Camsbie, of Montreal, and their family consisted of three children.

PREMIER'S TRIBUTE

Hon. Mr. McBride is deeply moved by the sad occurrence which had cast its shadow over the entire province. "My high regard for Captain Tatlow is well known throughout the length and breadth of British Columbia," said the first minister upon being asked for an expression of appreciation of one whom he had known so very well.

"I have the great satisfaction of knowing that I enjoyed his unbroken friendship to the last. In the records of our provincial public men Captain Tatlow will always be remembered as an energetic and most forceful minister."

HIS USEFUL WORK

Touching briefly upon the career of the late Captain Tatlow as a minister of the crown the premier continued: "The laws in regard to assessments and to the collection of taxes, passed during the sessions of the parliament of 1903-4-5, and which in a very direct way must be recognized as having effected most excellent and beneficial reforms, are to be credited to the genius and thoroughness of my late colleague. It was a time of great anxiety for the government and Captain Tatlow was always prepared to accept the fullest responsibility that he, as minister of finance, was called upon to meet.

AID TO AGRICULTURE

"No sooner had the affairs of the treasury been placed on stable and satisfactory footing than he turned his attention to the department of agriculture, and his work in this branch of the government stands out today as perhaps the most prominent accomplishment in any department of the civil service of the country during many years past. It is hardly necessary to particularize, but one cannot help but recall the great advancement made in horticulture as well as in agriculture under his inspiration.

"The shortage of farm and domestic labor which would appear to have been felt all over the province had for the past two years been one of the perplexing problems my late colleague was trying to solve. His arrangements with the Salvation army and other kindred associations to the and that some relief might come to the province, are very well known to all, and to say that his very sanguine anticipations were fully realized in the results is to state a fact that is well known throughout the country.

CIVIL SERVICE REFORM

"The members of the provincial civil service, I am aware, will join with me in our appreciation of the late minister's keen interest in the welfare of provincial government employees. Together with Hon. Dr. Young he gave a great deal of attention to the matter of civil service reform, and in this as in all else that he undertook, not even the most minute details were permitted to escape him."

LAST TRIBUTE

Vancouver, April 13.—The largest funeral cortege in the history of the city today followed the body of R. G. Tatlow to the grave in Mountainview cemetery. All parts of the province and leaders of every profession were represented among the mourners.

Services were held at the home of the deceased's father-in-law, H. J. Cambie, by Rev. H. G. Fiennes, Clinton, who also officiated at a full choral burial service at Christ church and at the grave. Four carriages were necessary to carry the floral tributes. The pall bearers were: Premier McBride, Hon. F. J. Fulton, R. Marpole, Campbell Sweeney, C. C. Gamble, and F. M. Chaldcott.

JOHN OLIVER'S TRIBUTE

John Oliver, former leader of the opposition in the legislature, today gave a glowing tribute to Captain Tatlow, declaring his death a great loss to the entire province.

KEEP YOUR EYES ON THEM

They will be here this afternoon.—Who? The Knights of Khorassans.

Over one hundred Arabs from Spokane and Crow's Nest points will arrive this afternoon, including the famous D. O. K. K. Band of El Mabarraz Temple No. 92 of Spokane.

They will also bring along about four tons of implements of torture, to initiate about 80 Tyro's into the Arabic mysteries of the order.

Officers, members and Tyro's will be on parade at 8:30 p. m.

The night will be filled with music, and the cares that infest the day, will fold their tents, like the Arabs, and silently steal away.

ADVICE TO TYRO'S

Be on time, delays are dangerous. Don't ask what will be done, you will find that out, soon enough. You need not say "if you please" and "thank you", for you will get all that is coming to you, and you are welcome to it.

If the camel bucks, and things seem wrong, just clinch your knees a-straddle, and don't lose heart. If the road seems long, just stick to the saddle, for you cannot walk, the sands of the desert are burning hot.

LABOR PARTY WINS

Sydney, Australia, April 13.—Elections for members of parliament were held throughout Australia today. Returns already received assure a working majority for the Labor party in both houses. The voting was heavy. Intense interest was taken because for the first time, a coalition party opposed the Labor party.

The young people of the Methodist Church are busy preparing an evening's entertainment for next Thursday night in the Gymnasium. Box and Cox a most amusing farce will be presented in which two lodgers, to whom the landlady has let the same room one occupying it during the day and the other during the night, play a most laugh-provoking part. The farce is an old one, being produced in London, Eng., over fifty years ago, but is none the worse for wear and all who hear it will be rewarded for coming. Dr. Cure all is another very amusing dialogue between a quack doctor and his patients. These two presentations, with a few Tableaux Vivants will make a very enjoyable evening, and it is hoped that the building will be well filled. If necessary, it will be repeated on Friday evening.

THE PROSPECTOR.

The prospector has the honor of belonging to an occupation which has done much for the welfare and prosperity of the world—an occupation which is dignified by the persistent effort and honest toil of many centuries and enobled by the endurance and self sacrifice of many forgotten heroes. Although history has left no record of his doings, he must have searched the waste places of the earth to find the precious and useful minerals long before Phoenicians visited Cornwall for tin, or "Hiram sent in the navy his servants, shipmen that had knowledge of the sea," or Ophir for gold, or King Snefru, Pharoah of Egypt, conquered the Sinia peninsula for its stores of copper. His adventures, privations, failures and successes must have preceded and made possible the advent of the Bronze Age of prehistoric man, when the crude implements and weapons of stone were cast aside for those of a better material, and when progress made one of its early epochs making advances towards the fulness of its promised inheritance. Since then he has faithfully examined many a rockribbed hill for the natural treasures of the earth, but the difficulty and importance of his work have never been fully appreciated or adequately recognized by his fellow man. Most of his efforts are "born to blush unseen and waste their sweetnes on the desert air," and even when a rich find does crown his search with success his remuneration is but a meagre pittance of the vast wealth he has discovered.

No class of men lead a more strenuous and adventurous life than these brave knights of the mountain and the stream. When the ordinary man passes through a dangerous spectacular experience he delights to tell the thrilling story to his friends. He looks upon himself as a sort of hero. He would not repeat the adventure for the world, neither would he have missed it for the world and the stars. But with the prospector these things are but the commonplace of life.

Sometimes we hear persons, who sit snugly and lazily among the comforts and luxuries of life, wonder why men will elect to waste their short lives in wandering alone over the solitary places of the earth, far away from the blessings and benefits of civilization. But the "wonder" is short sighted and narrow visioned. These men do not waste their lives. Even if their arduous efforts seem to return them void, even if they fall by the wayside and their white bleached bones, uncoffined and unknown, mark the place where they fell, they have not lived in vain, for they have struggled bravely and manfully to discover the treasures of God which He has stored in the bosom of the earth for His children, and they have the honor of belonging to a class of brave and sturdy men who have added much to the material assets of the world.—Whitehorse Star.

British Columbia newspaper men have figured out, that by 1916 the western part of Canada will have control of the political destiny of the Dominion. SAVING THE LONG SAULT

Mr. Pugsley's Determined Effort to Give Something to Standard Oil.

If the Conservatives in the House of Commons had not put their whole strength into the fight, and undergone the discomforts of an all-night sitting, the Liberals, headed by Mr. Pugsley, would have forced through the St. Lawrence Power Transmission Bill. The measure is not dead yet, and an attempt may be made to fight it through by the aid of the Laurier Government majority.

This is what the Toronto Saturday Night, a non-party paper had to say on the subject:— "Mr. William Pugsley, with a few well-trained trusty followers, did their level best the other day to hand over to a United States syndicate a vast water power on the St. Lawrence river. Had they been able, Pugsley and his followers would have passed over to a group of men, whose names even are unknown to Canadians, one of the greatest assets that the country Posses.

"When asked the whys and the wherefores in the House of Commons this Minister of Public Works had the impudence to not only block the inquiry, but took the high-handed position that it was none of the peoples affair. He would see to it, me lords and ladies, that Canada's rights are properly safeguarded, but further than this it was no one's dam business what he did with the waterway in the Dominion.

"On top of this comes the statement of the Hon Mr. Emmerson, delivered on the floor of the House of Commons, to the effect that he had been informed on good authority that a fund of two million dollars had been raised to buy enough members of Parliament to jam the Long Sault power project through. The charges made by Mr. Emerson and others may be hot air and again they may contain sufficient ground work for an inquiry. Under the circumstances it would appear to be up to Parliament to get at the bottom of it and in the interval shelve the bill for good and all.

"An innocent looking thing was this bill when first introduced. In its eirlier stages it asked that the St. Lawrence Power Transmission Company be given the power to erect wires for the transmission of power on the Canadian side of the river St. Lawrence. It would, in any event, do nothing worse than enter into competition with the Hydro-electric Commission However, a close examination of the bill uncovered the sting. The Company was authorized to get its power any old place, and build its lines anywhere it wished. It would be free to expropriate the property of the Crown in Ontario, and it would have the right to build in any municipality without asking the permission of the people. These are the powers which were to be given to a foreign company, the projectors of which are unknown to even the members of Parliament, barring of course the Hon. William Pugsley and his select band of adherents.

"Oh, yes, the Hon. William would look after the interests of the country. Canada's rights would be properley safe-guarded. Leave it to the Hon. William Pugsley, Minister of Public Works.

"The Hon. William had the plans and presumably the specifications of the St. Lawrence Power Transmission Company, which is now discovered to be one and the same thing is the St. Lawrence power company, the latter being an United States corporation with powers to build a dam across the St. Lawrence for the development of electrical energy. The scheme, it is self-evident, is nothing less than a barefaced attempt to give an United States electrical trust a foothold in Ontario, and at the same time give these people an opportunity of creating in eastern Ontario a monopoly in electrical energy.

"Yes, the Hon. William is looking after us all right. But is it not time that the tables were turned and some one looking after him?

"It is to be noted in this connection that Saturday Night has lately been devoting a great deal of attention to financial affairs, the operations of companies and the expedients of promoters. It may be added that Saturday Night is in error in attributing the remark as to two million being set aside for promotion expenses to Mr. Emerson It was Colonel Sam Hughes who made it."

Discussing the same subject, the Montreal Star described the bill as "this means of rounding out into absolute control the rights already acquired by the Standard Oil group in the St. Lawrence". It adds: "Deceiving, or attempting to deceive, ones colleagues as to the import and purposes of a parliamentary enactment may be high patriotism or good business, but it is difficult to conceive how even the eloquence and personal probity of the Hon. Mr. Pugsley can make it appear both."

Grand Trunk officials still hanker after the yellow workmen, and hope that the present antipathy which now prevails against them in British Columbia, will soon be over come.

The outlook for a good busy season, for the mining and lumbering industries, and commercial business in and around Cranbrook is the best for many years past.

NEW TRAIN DISPATCHING

Is Known as the A. B. C. System--In Use on the Northern Pacific.

Arrangements are being perfected for the national convention of train dispatchers of the United States which is to be held in Spokane on June 21. Upon that date it is expected that between 500 and 1,000 men engaged in this line of work on the different railroads of the country will be at Spokane to attend the gathering.

One of the most interesting featuresof the convention will be the exhibition of a new system of train dispatching invented and patented by two Spokane railway men. A. Beamer, division superintendent and T. H. Langtry trainmaster of the Northern Pacific railway. This invention is known as the "A. B. C." system and has been in use on the western division of the Northern Pacific for the last three years. So great has been its success that train dispatchers all over the country have become interested and while here will not only watch the workings of the system but will have every detail carefully explained to them.

SUPT. BEAMER'S NEW DEVICE

While in session in Spokane Superintendent Beamer will have wires run directly into the convention hall in order that the visiting dispatchers may listen to the transmission of train orders and familiarize themselves with the workings of the new system.

In explaining the details of the invention Superintendent Beamer said that it is an exact reversal of the old system now in use throughout the country. Instead of the train dispatchers calling up the operators at the railroad stations along the line and giving them their train orders, the new system requires the operators to ask for orders.

Continuing the explanation, Superintendent Beamer said: "Take three stations designated A. B. and C. When the train pulls out of A going towards B, the operator at A notifies the operator at B that the train has passed his station. The operator at B then calls up the dispatcher and asks for a block card from B to C. If the block shows clear on the train dispatcher's sheet he gives B instructions to issue a block card.

EXPERTS APPROVE IT

Before the train leaves B, the operator at that station calls up the operator at C and asks him to pledge the block between their stations. If the block is busy the operator refuses to pledge and immediately calls the train dispatcher. Because of this checking system a collision will be impossible unless all three men make the same mistake at the same time.

Under the system invented by Superintendent Beamer and Mr. Langtry no train can pass a station without first receiving its block card, and instructions are issued to trainmen from station to station.

The "A. B. C. system" has been in use on the division of the Northern Pacific running from Paradise to to the Coast for three years and thus far no defects have been discovered in it.

Some time ago the interstate commerce commission which examines all devices and systems in use on the railroads, commend the "A. B. C. system" very highly, Superintendent Beamer says, and believes that in time it will be put into general use throughout the country.

THE FRENCH TREATY

Do not forget that this whole tariff muddle with the United States is due to the French Treaty.

The net results are that the United States has dragged out of Canada tariff reductions which otherwise we should not have given.

And that France has given to the United States larger concessions than she has given to Canada.

And that we have made one more pilgrimage to Washington.

And then figure out what good the French Treaty does us?

SEE THE COMET NEXT FRIDAY

Friday next at 1 o'clock in the morning, will be the earliest time at which it will be worth while trying to see Halley's comet with the aid of the nacked eye.

During the latter part of this month and the early part of May the comet will be visible in the east before sunrise a few degrees north of east. By May 17 it will be too nearly in line with the sun to be seen in the morning, but from then on it will appear in the west in the evening.

PARISIAN SAGE

CURES DANDRUFF

If it Don't Beattie & Murphy Will Give You Back Your Money.

Yes, Parisian Sage, the most invigorating hair restorer, cures dandruff and grows hair. The women of Canada, who have luxuriant hair, know it does, and that is why thousands of attractive women throughout the land are regularly using it.

For years this almost marvelous grower of lustrous and beautiful hair was confined to the elite of Europe and New York City, but about two years ago it was given to a select list of druggists, and today can be obtained in any city or town in America where society women of refinement dwell.

Parisian Sage is the most delightful hair tonic in the world. It makes the hair soft, lustrous and luxuriant in a few days. It is perfumed most daintily and is not sticky or greasy. It stops falling hair, cures dandruff and itching scalp in two weeks or money back. Beattie-Murphy, Ltd., sells it for 50 cents a large bottle, and guarantees it, or direct, all charges prepaid, by Canadian makers Giroux Mfg. Co., Erie, Ont.
