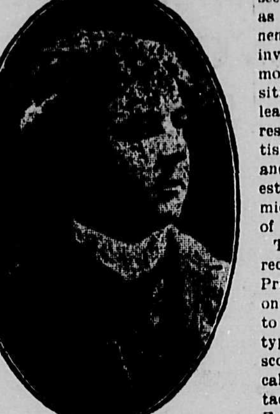
VOLUME 16 CRANBROOK, BRITISH COLUMBIA, SATURDAY, DECEMBER 17, 1910 NUMBER 51

PREMIER McBRIDE

Youngest Prime Minister of any Dominion or Colony

HIS NATAL DAY



The Hon. Richard McBride, K. C. L. L. B., M. L. A., Premier of British Columbia—and incidenta,ly the youngest prime minister of any British dominion state or colony—today celebrates the fortieth anniversary of his birth, he having been born within the high walls of the penitentiary at New Westminster (of which his father was governor) on the 15th of December, 1870. He has now been prime minister of his native province since June, 1903, being but thirty-three when he achieved the high honors and accepted the responsibilities of the premiership.

And every year makes more appreciable the quality of this statesman and his importance as a national more than a merely Provincial figure.

In comparison with the Hon. Newton James Moore, C. M. C., premier and State Secretary of West Australia, whom the British and Antipodean press have devoted much attention to as "the youngest premier that any British Dominion has ever known", it may be noted that Hon. Mr. Moore was born at Bunbary, in the state over which he now presides in May of 1870 and succeeded to his present position of high honor in 1906. Premier McBride, while his junior in age by about six months, is, therefore, his senior in political distinction by three years, achieving the premiership of British Columbia at thirty-three, whereas Hon. Mr. Moore became premier of "Westralia" at thirty-six.

It is interesting to note that both these "youngest premiers" of Greater Britain are native sons of the lands they rule.

Hon. Richard McBride occupies a unique position in Western Canada politics. He is not only the youngest of Provincial premiers, the leader of the first British Columbia government established on party lines, but what is more important to the welfare of the country, the first government of British Columbia, in many years at least, which has wholly won the confidence of the people, has placed and maintained provincial business and provincial credit on a sound basis, has anticipated and provided for the developing necessities of the country, and has in general so discharged its obligations as custodians of the public business as not yet to have been touched by the breath or suggestion of any scandal.

Premier McBride is a big man. In the eyes of visitors (who sometimes obtain a truer perspective than do those "familiar with the vieR") he is as truly a type of the best Western Canadianism as Col. Roosevelt is or ever was the type of aggressive American citizenship. He does not play the "game of politics." He makes it something more worthy than the "game" into which, in other hands, it had degenerated. Premier McBride is a Conservative because he finds better material available in Conservative citizens and Conservative policy for bettering conditions in this province and in this Dominion than are available to his hand elsewhere. But he is not a partisan politician, albeit there are already very many, on the Atlantic as well as on the Pacific slope and all the way between, who are watching his developing statesmanship with pride and prophetic vision, counting upon the altogether dominant personality of Western Canadian public affairs as a man fit for Conservative and National leadership when the time shall come, as come it must, for Sir Wilfrid to lay aside the burden of responsibility with high honor that he has for so long borne as first citizen of the fast-growing Dominion.

In his provincial career Premier McBride has shown himself indisputably a leader. He has shown himself above the tricks and subterfuges of petty politics. He has shown himself possessed of "the hand of iron within the velvet glove." He has shown himself as scornful of the threats of self-seeking politicians of his own party as of the wire-pulling of his opponents, and disposed to in emergencies invariably adopt the simplest and most honorable policy—place his position squarely before the people and leave himself in their hands. As a result he is not only Premier of British Columbia, and unquestionably and undeniably the country's strongest man, but he has held the Premiership much longer than did any of his predecessors in office.

The local Premier's course in the reception and welcome of the Federal Prime Minister, Sir Wilfrid Laurier, on the occasion of the latter's visit to British Columbia last August was typical of the man and host. It scorned the pettiness of party political strife, and was alike marked by tact and good taste. It afforded the Eastern journalists who accompanied Sir Wilfrid Laurier, an opportunity to study the new star in the sky who, as one of their number expressed it, "had hypnotised British Columbia." And, having marked him well, they come to the conclusion that Premier McBride is not "a politician par excellence," as the machine men admiringly describe him, but juse a sound, strong-hearted, resourceful, optimistic, thorough-and-through Canadian, who finds his mission in life the employment of his admitted genius in leadership towards the progressive development of his native Province and his oative land. Such men are rare. Yet every Anglo-Saxon nation breeds them upon occasion. The perpetuation of their kind is all essential to the redemption of national government from its occasional lapses into torpor or degeneracy.

Liberal Party Sick

Listen to the confession of a Liberal M. L. A., Mr. Godfrey Langbois, in his paper Le Pays.

"Our party has met with a crushing defeat, and we must have the courage to avow it. All will admit that our party is not what it was formerly, for the Liberals have certainly weakened during the past few years. A great number of partizans have raided the depository of the government, spoilers have wrung from the ministry everything in their power for their own personal account instead of remaining at their post as good soldiers of duty and progress. As a matter of fact our party is gravely sick. In the minds of a great number of people Liberalism has given place to ministerialism. Instead of the grand principles of a former day, we find keen appetites and personal aspirations impregnating the present entourage of Sir Wilfrid Laurier. There are too many people, in fact, who are trying to get rich at the expense of the country. There are too many advocates in Parliament who wish to don the ermine. Our Liberal newspapers instead of being allies of the Government, have been playing the role of servile domestics, and power has been used for the material satisfaction and advantages which it brings.

"We are both disabled and disorganized. In Montreal, for instance, we have no leaders, no centre for rallying purposes, no centre for political action, and no cohesion in the ranks. As a matter of fact there is nothing at all except general dissatisfaction. We frequently hear of an election committee, but all this is a myth, for since fifteen years it is centered in the pocket of Senator Dandurand."

"In short, whoever is premier of Canada after the next General Election, it will not be Sir Wilfrid Laurier."

IT IS COMING.

The Upper Columbia and Kootenay valleys are open to the world and are to.day vast storehouses of riches. The men who are far-sighted enough to invest in these valleys now will "sure" be rewarded. Thousands of men will find profitable employment in this territory during the next few years, and hundreds will make fortunes. Great mines will be opened up, and many towns will be born and increase in size. The great population that will fill these valleys from Golden to Cranbrook will create a growing market for land produce and every line of manufacture.

Municipal Candidates

Municipal candidates for Mayor and Aldermen are now coming to the front. The following candidates are reported to be in line for nomination on a moral reform ticket:—

For Mayor, James Finlay.

For Aldermen:— Simon Taylor, A. A. Mackinnon, J. McNabb, Frank Dezall, G. W. Patmore and Frank McKenna.

It is said that Alderman Hunt, will accept the nomination for Mayor; and that Aldermen Jackson and Johnson as Aldermen.

Down Scott Act

Victoria, Dec. 14.—A campaign for the substitution of the Canada Temperance (Scott) act for British Columbia's present drastic and well enforced high license and strict regulation liquor law in the counties of Prince Rupert and Chiliwack ended today in a rejection of the proposition of the prohibitionists in both cases, with adverse majorities of 103 and 35 respectively. This is the first attempt at a prohibitory law in the province.

Defeat Local Option

Regina, Sask,. Dec. 13.—While figures have still to come in from a few rural districts returns from Monday's local option elections now tabulated show that local option forces were generally defeated throughout the province. Altogether 159 licenses were involved by the bylaws voted upon and of these only 27 or less than one-fifth have been cut off.

Contracts for Battleships

London, Dec. 14.—Contracts were let to-day for the construction of two battleships provided for in the current year's naval programme. The specifications call for vessels of 24,000 tons, having 27,000 horsepower.

Earthquakes in Scotland

Glasgow, Dec. 14.—A series of earth shocks was felt last night and also north of the Clyde. These shocks caused great alarm but no damage was reported.

DEATH OF JAS. M'MULLEN

Many in Pomona were saddened to learn of the death of James McMullen on Sunday morning at his home, 450 East Holt avenue.

Mr. McMullen was born in Toronto Canada, in October, 1856, and the greater part of his early life was spent there. He lived for one year in Cleveland, and while there, in 1883 he was married to Miss Lou Gamble, and they returned to Toronto to live going from there to British Columbia, where they lived until their removal to Pomona in December 1900.

Mr. McMullen was a member of the First Methodist Church of Pomona, and was a man of sterling worth, honored and respected by all who knew him, and he will be mourned by scores of friends. He leaves a wife to mourn the death of a most devoted husband. His mother, Mrs. Francis McMullen, came to Pomona from Toronto about two months ago and has been in the home of her son all the time since her arrival, and it gave Mr. McMullen much pleasure to have his mother with him after a separation of eleven years.

Mr. McMullen also leaves three sisters: Mrs. Herbert Miatt of Toronto, Canada, Mrs. William Millechamp and Mrs. A. O. Lastrange of Winnipeg, and two brothers, William McMullen of Pomona and George McMullen in Idaho.

Mr. McMullen had been ill but one week and on Saturday felt so much better that he remarked that he would go downstairs and take dinner with the rest of the family on Sunday, but at 2 o'clock the next morning he was taken suddenly worse and died at 9 o'clock of inflammation of the brain.

The funeral services were held at the McMullen residence last Tuesday morning, Rev. L. D. Van Arna officiating, and the body was interred in the Evergreen cemetery.

Mr. McMullen was a resident of Cranbrook some years ago.

An enterprising young man has been arrested in Alberta whose diversified abilities were not limited by an industrial unit. He pursued the occupations of preacher, newspaperman, and horse thief. The first two are honorable and more or less lucrative, but the latter led to his down*fall and for the next five years his* activity will be confined to picking oakum under the supervision of a government demonstrator.

ENGINEERS' ULTIMATUM

Chicago, Ill., Dec. 14.—Engineers of 61 western railroads who submitted a strike ultimatum on Monday,today sent a communication to the railway managers committee refusing to arbitrate their demand for increased wages.

The communication was in answer to one sent by the managers committee yesterday which while not openly offering to arbitrate paved the way for a conference between the opposing forces.

Wedding at Fort Steele

A very pretty wedding took place at St. John's Church, Fort Steele, on Tuesday, Dec. 6, when Miss Emma Tabener, of Manchester, England, and Arthur H. Nicol, of Fort Steele, were united in marriage by Rev. E. Flewelling, Rector of Cranbrook. The bride, who was given away by R. L. T. Galbraith, Esq., J.P., was charmingly attired in a tailored suit of navy cloth and white beaver hat with ostrich plumes, and carried a bouquet of white carnations. Miss Mildred Galbraith was a very dainty bridesmaid in a pale blue dress and black satin hat with pink roses. Mr. W. Dunstan, of Creemore, Ont., supported the groom. Immediately following the ceremony a reception was heid at the residence of the bride's sister, Mrs. Henry Kershaw.

The many beautiful and costly gifts testify to the popularity of the young couple.

The bridegroom's gift to the bride was a handsome black fox scarf, and to the bridesmaid, gold nugget dress pins.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Nicol will be at home to their many friends after Dec. 12 at their home on Government Avenue, Fort Steele.

ELECTION OF OFFICGRS.

Canals in Canada

Ottawa, Dec. 14.—Large delegations from different sections ol Canada today urged the government to begin work upon two canal projects, either of which would involve an expenditure of $100,000,000.

An Ottawa-Montreal delegation favored the immediate construction of the Georgian Bay canal. The second delegation representing town s in western Ontario, demanded that the Welland canal be first enlarged.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier said the government favored both projects. The question of money was the only thing that deterred it from beginning the work.

MINING NOTES

Of Interest to Those Engaged in the Mining Industry

There are several good zinc mines in Southeast Kootenay. Notable among these are the Estella and Kootenay King.

A good deal of development work has been done on properties located on Wasa, Tracy and Wolf creeks during the past summer.

The St. Eugene is the chief silver-lead shipping mine in the Kootenays. With the Sul,ivan group of mines rapidly coming to the front, and the Aurora on the shipping list, the St. Eugene will have to hustle to hold its laurels as the banner shipping mine of the district.

The completion ol the Kootenay Central railway, together with a telegraph line from Cranbrook to Golden will afford speedy and convenient means of access to the mines located in the Kootenay valley.

Miners of Southeast Kootenay have no cause to worry, it is only a question of ore, it is only a question of treatment and railway facilities.

Perry Creek gold fields have received considerable attention during the past summer. Mine owners are much elated with the amount of gold that has been taken out, as well as the development made on a number of quartz properties.

Our politics in the coming municipal election are the general good of the public.

It is doubtful if any city or town in the Kootenays is attracting more attention then the city of Cranbrook.

The Indian summer has vanished, but the Indians will remain with us during the winter.

The municipal elections seem to be somewhat like the weather, a little chilly.

The political mix-up in Great Britain appears to be the most complete of which there is any record of in the history of the country.

This is the age of selfishness and every man is expected to dip his beak deep in the measure of the almighty dollar, but for the sake of appearance he should not get down on all fours to do it.

While it is the right and privilege of every elector to vote for the candidate who, in their opinion, will and can better existing conditions, it must be admitted that in the ordinary course of business alone of municipal legislation, he must demonstrate that he is a fitting custodian of the interests of the people.

This is a popular season for predictions what the winter will be like. A number of old settlers have stated to us that indications point to a hard winter. Whether this is true or not, it is a safe plan to prepare for such a condition.

The local lumber mills report a most satisfactory season. Winter logging operations are fairly under way, a sure indication of healthy conditions in lumbering, and a big cut of timber in the coming spring.

Anyone who has followed the reports of mining in the Cranbrook district for the past year, must realize that before long, mining will be a very large and important industry in this district.

Men are crowding in from all local points to spend the holiday season in Cranbrook. We wish them one and all a good festive season.

The Prince Rupert Empire which was founded by the late John Houston and which under him and his successors has persistently fought for the enforcement of the law against illicit liquor selling has come out squarely in favor of licenses. It gives as its reason the fact that public opinion is behind the officers of the law in their efforts to abolish the blind pigs and the impossibility of enforcing the farcial act known as the Scott Act. It is notorious that the stuff sold by blind pigs is the most damnable concoction which can be used for producing intoxication. It is the sort of stuff that kills men or makes them crazy. It has been ever since there were men to buy it in Prince Rupert. John Houston waged unceasing war against the blind pigs. But the sale went on and has never ceased to this day. John Houston failed to arouse public opinion however and got snubbed by the business men and clergy for his pains. As a substitute for the license and no blind pigs Dr. Spencer proposes the Scott Act but the Empire will have none of it. The Empire points to the difficulties in the way of enforcing that law. That it has been a failure wherever it has been tried in the East, everyone who has lived under it and studied its operations knows, and it would be a failure in British Columbia as it has been in the East. With such a licence law as was given this province by Attorney-General Bowser in the last session of the legislature, the province is infinitely better off than it would be with an unenforcable law such as the Scott Act. A stringent license act rigidly enforced is infinitely preferable to prohibition that does not prohibit. That the Scott Act has been prolific of the evils complained of in Prince Rupert everyone who has observed its workings must know. It fosters blind pigs to which men go who would not go into a barroom, and taking advantage of their opportunity, became intoxicated. It encourages false swearing. No fair-minded person who saw the working of the Scott Act as I did in my native country could have anything but the liveliest contempt for it and no such person but must admit that conditions under it were infinitely worse than under license. It is to be hoped that better counsels will prevail among the friends of temperance and that the attempt to introduce that abortive measure into British Columbia will be abandoned.

The British elections are a political see-saw, with the Nationalists as the balance center.

"Skated on thin ice" is now taking the place of "shot in mistake" in the casualty columns.

There is nothing surprising about the stock of the bath-tub trust being watered.

A number of counterfeit Canadian quarters have recently been put in circulation in Spokane. As the spurious coins were passed to the cafe waiters as tips the balance of trade between the two countries will not be seriously affected.

The female typists employed in the Dominion Parliament buildings have been replaced by men. It was feared that the presence of a number of attractive young women would divert the attention of the flirtatious Senators from the grave affairs of the State.
