Wynndel Opens Pre Cooling Plant

Wynndel Co-Operative Fruit Growers' Association dispensed a splendid line of hospitality at their "at home" on Thursday night in connection with the opening of the pre cooling plant, which has just been completed and is ready for business. The function was was largely attended by Wynndel people as well as a number of invited guests.

In fitting recognition of his services in securing a substantial grant from the federal department of agriculture to help construction, the honor of getting the machinery in motion was conferred upon R. H. Gale of Vancouver, who in very workmanlike manner pulled on the belts and started the pre cooling machinery at work at about 8.30. Following this ceremony the guests were shown over the plant by President A. Joy and Manager E. Uri, and on completion of the inspection the crowd gathered in the central pre cooling room, which had been fitted up with benches, and where the opening addresses were delivered President Joy introducing the speakers in characteristic fashion.

Major Mallandaine, president of Creston board of trade, was first called upon, and assured those present that the affair gave him just as much satisfaction as any grower at Wynndel. He had watched the development of the fruit industry in Creston Valley from the planting of the first tree and warmly complimented Wynndel on the practical co-operation that had always obtained and had culiminated with the installation of a pre cooling plant that had few equals anywhere in the province.

W. H. Bamford of Nelson, C.P.R. freight superintendent, was equally felicitous in his remarks, and assured that anything and everything in the way of facilities that the railway could supply could be had for the asking. From the information he had gathered he predicted that within the next three years it would be found necessary to add to the present impos ing plant.

In introducing R. H. Gale President Joy felt called upon to express appre ciation of the part Mr. Gale had so successfully played in securing federal assistance, without which building could not have been proceeded with, and the crowd reciprocated in giving Mr. Gale a great round of applause when he rose to speak.

With characteristic modesty Mr. Gale disclaimed much of the credit for making the plant possible. The Association directors had been so insistent and persuasive in their negotiations with himself and the authorities at Ottawa that it was only fair to give them at least half the credit. Mr. Gale assured that it had been a pleasure to render the servicee he had because he felt that any added prosperity that might come to Wynndel would in due course in some measure be felt by other parts of the province. And that satisfaction with the accomplishment of Wynndel was also shared by other parts of Canada was indicated in a a telegram which Mr. Gale proceeded to read from Hon. W. R. Motherwell, Dominion minsiter of agriculture:

R. H. GALE,
Creston, B.C.

Please extend to Mr. O. J. Wigen my congratulations on the completion of the up to date pre cooling plant. Earnestly hope plant will fill requirements of district, though I feel that if Wynndel continues to develop as rapidly in the future as in the past, thanks to the wise policies and efficient management of Mr. Wigen and his associates, it will only be a very short period before further enlargement will be necessary. Kindly wish them continued success and kind regards on my behalf.

W. R. Motherwell,
Minister of Agriculture.

The message was roundly applauded, and in concluding Mr. Gale assured that he was on his way to Ottawa and that no fear need be felt as to the forthcoming, in due course, of another $7000 which was the aid anticipated from Ottawa by the Association.

Others called on for speeches were A. McL. Fletcher, Dominion fruit inspector; C. F. Hayes, president of Creeton Reclamation Company, Limited; and G. Taylor, district superintendent of the Canadiam Pacific Express Company, who pleased immensley with his announcement that the company was working on a rate schedule that would be issued shortly to give a transportation cost that would enable other places in West Kootenay to make use of the Wynndel pre cooler.

Public recognition of Mr. Gale's effort on behalf of Wynndel was expressed in a resolution sponsored by W. J. Copper and John Wigen of the Association direstors, and which was read to the meeting by Secretary A. Spencer, and was greeted it with prolonged applause.

Regrets at not being present were read from Col. Fred Lister, M.P.P., who is at present on the sick list; and W. K. Esling, M.P., who was unable to be present due to a previous engagement.

After the speechmaking the ladies served a sumptuous lunch, and then with the orchestra stationed in the middle pre cooling room dancing was indulged in the other two rooms, and was kept up till an early hour of the morning by the young people.

Sirdar

Mrs. Whiteside was a visitor at Cranbrook last week, returning on Sunday.

Sirdar market is well supplied with fresh strawberries from the S. Pascuzzo ranch. The fruit is well sized and of excellent quality.

Friends of W. D. Goodman will regret to hear that he met with another auto accident near Cranbrook, on Sunday. Bill sustained a broken collar bone and fractured arm. Other occupants of the car were more or less hurt, but none seriously.

Mrs. R. C. Proctor and children went to Cranbrook on Monday, on hearing of her brother, W. D. Goodman, being hurt in a motor car mishap.

Jas. Cook of Creston arrived on Sunday for an over night visit with Mr. and Mrs. A. North. With the dyking of Kootenay Flats all but assured Mr. Cook is figuring on immediately doubling his green-house capacity for next season.

Mrs. G. Cam and daughter, Miss Dorothy, were Cranbrook visitors last week, the latter remaining for a more extended stay with friends in the terminal city.

Mrs. Rogers and Mrs. Dibley were hostesses at at a charming tea at Mrs. Rogers home on Wednesday last. The proceeds, amounting to $7, were donated to the general funds of Christ Church, Creston.

The boom of logs owned by P. Cherbo and Frank Pelle, was taken in tow from Sirdar to Nelson by the tug Ondot. Unluckily the tug got stuck at the bridge at Atabar, resulting in a great loss of logs that got away, though many were recovered as far away as Kuskanook. The loss will be felt by the owners as the cut represented almost a winter's work sawing, skidding and watering the logs for the tow to Nelson.

Inspects Dyked Areas

R. H. Gale of Vancouver was a Thursday, Friday and Saturday visitor in Creston. On his first night he had the pleasure of opening the new pre cooling plant at Wynndel Friday, in company with C. F. Hayes, G. Johnson, H. S. McCreath and M. R. Joyce, was spent at Bonners Ferry, inspecting the dyked areas in that locality and on Saturday the visitor left for Ottawa in the interests of the Reclamation Company, for a conference with the officials of the indian department with the object of lining them up to pay their share of the cost of dyking about 2000 acres of indian lands within the first unit to be reclaimed. As soon as they officially consent to pay their share dyking work will commence.

Institute Votes Jubilee $35.00

Creston and District Women's Institute met in June session on Friday afternoon, with the president, Mrs. R. Stevens, in charge, and a turnout of thirty members.

It was decided to postpone the annual flower show until a later date, owing to the closeness of the big Dominion Day celebration, to which a donation of $35 was made.

Miss Irene Huscroft will be the Creston candidate for the Dominion Day queen, and will have the backing of the Institute members and friends. A committee consisting of Mesdames Stevens, Hayden, Hayes and Lillie was appointed to arrange for an Institute refreshment stall on the fair grounds on July 1st.

Mrs. Murrel gave an outline of proceedings at the Women's Institute conference at Chilliwack, at which she had represented the local Institute. The tea hostesses were Mrs. Jas. Cook, Mrs. W. H. Crawford and Mrs. Jas. Compton. A freewill offering of $3.10 was taken for the Crippled Children's Fund.

Lister

Col. Fred Lister, M.P.P., is at present a hospital patient at Cranbrook, to which institution he was removed on Friday last, suffering with what the hospital doctors diagnose as a case of acute lumbago.

Mr. Williamson, inspector of weights and measures, was here on an official visit, Monday.

Lister is looking at its best this month. Never in history has the alfalfa, particularly, been so good, and certainly the orchards were never more promising to look at.

D. McKee, Harry Yerbury, Alf. Wellspring and Ed. Smith are at work dismantling the old L.S.B. mill which is to be moved to the site of Putnam, & Staples, Limited, operations on the lower road. The firm purchased the mill along with the timber limit about a month ago.

J. W. Smith, appraiser for the department of lands, Victoria, was here on Monday. He was making an inspection of the logged off area between the L.S.B. holdings and Goat River, recently cut over by the Winlaw firm. The land was surveyed a year ago, and will be offered for sale this year.

The loss of sheep and lambs that has been rather heavy of late at John Huscroft ranch has now ceased with the taking of a bear in a trap about three-quarters of a mile from the ranch on Sunday. About a dozen old and young of the flock have already disappeared this season.

Mrs. Kervenko and family af five are at present occupying the house on on the Sam Lazachuk ranch, pending the securing of the necessary papers that will permit them to join Mr. Kervenko at Kellogg, Idaho. They made a visit to Fernie at the first of the week to interview the the U.S. consul.

A meeting of the citizens of Huscroft and Lister was held on Monday night to lay plans for the Dominion Day celebration to be held at the Huscroft recreation grounds on July 1st. T. A. Banks presided and committees were struck to arrange all details for the outing, which will feature patriotic singing and sports for the children, with supper and an evening baseball match. Huscroft school has voted $20 to help defray expenses.

Jack McDonald of Kimberley was a weekend visitor with Mr. and Mrs. J. Kelly.

Fred Davis of Erickson has taken a long term lease on the former Schmidt (Elroy Jackson) ranch and gets immediate possession. His arrival will still further enlarge the school attendance.

Guy Constable is a Nelson visitor this week, looking after the interests of the Stockbreeders Association at the hearing by the water board of the application of the West Kootenay Power & Light Company to put in a dam below Nelson that may cause such a rise in the water of Kootenay Lake as to make hay cutting impossible.

Alice Siding Social Club had their annual picnic at the tourist camp at Arrow Creek on June 5th. They were favored with ideal weather and a most enjoyable time was had.

Given average weather Reed & Mather anticipate opening the strawberry shipping season about June 20th.

Canyon City

R. Lowerson has just been notified of his appointment as lookout man at Swansea, near Invermere, for the forestry department, and has left to take up the work.

The United Church ladies' aid had the annual lawn social at Mrs. Knott's on Saturday night, which was well attended, and accounted for an intake of $25

All that is needed now is a few days of continuous sunshine and the Canyon strawberries will be moving in quantity by the 22nd.

The Canyon baseball team took another 10-11 beating at baseball at the hands of Creston high school at Creston on Saturday afternoon, the winners being reinforced by three of the senior team.

In the absence of Rev. J. Herdman the United Church service on Monday evening was taken by M. Samuelson, and it is announced that Fred Lewis of Creston will be the speaker this Sunday afternoon.

This is the Saturday night for the picture show, when the comedy, "A Wife's Hero," and the feature film, "Ziegfeld," will be shown. There will be a dance after the pictures, with the Davis orchestra supplying the music.

Wynndel Invests $20,000 in Plant

Wynndel's new pre cooler is 78 x 30 feet, with a ten foot porch to give shelter when unloading, and standing six feet from the C.P.R tracks; a loading tunnel providing an almost heat-proof runway between pre cooler and cars in loading.

There are three pre cooling rooms, each 28 x 15 feet, each with maximum capacity of 1500 crates, though at present it is anticipated they will only be called upon to handle a carload, 1000 crates. Each has a gravity conveyor system on which the berries slide down a chute from growers conveyance to the pre cooler floor, and a gravity conveyor is used for transferring the crates into the car when ready for shipment. The facilities provide for cooling the rooms to 32 degrees, which would place the berries a about 35 degrees of cold, and it is claimed that in the process of loading a rise of but one degree will be experienced.

The cold air is manufactured in what is termed the bunker room. It is 9 x 28 feet and equipped with a stand of 20-foot cold air pipes seven pipes wide and ten pipes high, giving 1400 feet of pipe from which cold air is generated and from a 30-inch fan is blown into ducts or channels about 12 inches square which lead into the three pre cooling rooms. This air circulates in its cold state along one side and end, and along a duct on the opposite side finds its way back to the bunker room where it is again cooled and again sent on the same circuit of the three cooling compartments continuously.

These bunker room pipes are cooled with ammonia pumped from a tank 4 feet long and ten inches in diamater under 200 pounds pressure, operated by a compressor developing up to ten ton pressure, and driven by an 18 h.p. oil burning engine which also operates a storage system electric light plant for the needed illumination of the whole building which is wired throughout.

On entering the cooling rooms one is immediately struck with the attention that has been paid to providing the best possible in construction. These rooms are of No. 1 for flooring with Sublac finish, while the outside is clear cedar siding. The outer walls are 12 inches thick with shaving filling to six inches, then another ply of siding with building paper, a sea grass quilt and air space, absolutely defying heat penetration when in operation. The partitions have a thickness of nine inches with shaving fill.

The pre cooler has been built so that a fourth cooling room can be put on at the minimum of cost, but as it stands today it is the second biggest plant of the kind in the B.C. interior, and represents an expenditure of between $12,000 and $15,000. And when this is conjoined with an outlay of $8000 made last season in putting in an icehouse of 400 tons capacity and the railwad siding, Wynndel Co-Operative Fruit Growers have made an investment the past two seasons of over $20,000.

Building construction has been under the formanship of Fred Penson and a crew of Wynndel workmen, while the machinery and plant has been supplied and installed by Linde Canadian Refrigeration Company of Montreal, from their Vancouver branch, Mr. McGreagor, their B.C. representative, supervising installation.

Imported direct from the Orient in metal lined chests. Blended and packed into 1 lb., ½ lb., ¼ lb. bright Aluminum packages.

Law and Order, or Chaos?

The action of the British and Canadian Governments in breaking off diplomatic and trade relations with the Russian Soviet Government is the culmination of a long series of non-diplomatic actions on the part of the Soviet authorities, and openly expressed and active enmity to British interests in all parts of the world. Professing friendship and enjoying rights and privileges wherever the Union Jack flies, Soviet emissaries everywhere plotted and schemed to undermine British influence, destroy British interests, all with the avowed object of ultimately overthrowing the British form of government and breaking up the British Empire.

Wherever in any part of the world unrest was found to exist, wherever trouble loomed up, there the Soviet agents were busy carrying on their baneful propaganda, and always especially active if British interests were in any wise concerned. The British Government continued to exercise patience and forbearance until these ceased to be a virtue. Ir sooth, the Soviet regarded the policy of conciliation followed by Great Britain as a sign of weakness. They treated it with contempt while taking full advantage of it.

But it is not the British Empire alone that is involved in Soviet propaganda and activities. Every nation having a regard for the continuance of law, order and good government, and interested in the maintenance of sound economic principles in all international relationships and trade, must view with concern the attitude of the Russian Communist Government. In a word, all nations must recognize the fact that there are two major forces contending for supremacy in the world today so hopelessly antagonistic to each other that both cannot survive.

On the one hand, there is the communistic idea sponsored by the Soviet, a system which denies God, decries the moral code recognized in all civilized communities, ignores rights of property, flourishes on strife, discord and unrest, has no regard for obligations solemnly enterd into by it, and ever seeks to promote its theories and activities through the medium of spies and openly lawless characters.

On the other hand there are those people who reverence God and religion, who uphold the moral code, who believe in the sanctity of marriage, recognize property rights, observance of law and respect for constituted authority and the honorable obligations of promises and treaties, who strive for peace and the orderly solution of social and economic problems, rather than resort to revolutionary methods, spy systems, treachery, threats, intimidation, even execution without trial.

One or the other of these codes for the government of mankind must prevail; there can be no compromise where principles of conduct are so absolutely opposed.

The nations of the world are coming to a realization of the situation and to an acceptance of the struggle involved. Unlike Great Britain and some other countries, the United States never recognized the Russian Soviet Government and has consistently refused to have any dealings with it. The whole English-speaking world now takes the same position. France, too, is alarmed, as is evidenced by the recent declarations made on behalf of the French Government. And U.S. Ambassador Herrick to France has declared his belief that "the people of every country have got to choose between order and anarchy, between honesty and thievery, between every day virtue and crime." "Either we believe in orderly society or we don't" he declared, "if we do, we ought to use all the power within us to defend and advance it."

Calling itself a Workers' Government, the Communists of Russia have sought to get control of organized labor throughout the world. In this they failed in Great Britain, in the United States, in Canada, where the hard common sense of the working men and the sanity and patriotism of their leaders have foiled these insidious attempts. "Reds" everywhere seek to create the impression that opposition to Bolshevism is opposition to organized labor, but nothing was further from the truth. Labor has everything to fear and lose from the spreading of the Russian doctrine and nothing to gain.

Eternal vigilance is the price of liberty, and as there can be no true liberty under the Bolshevists, as even many of them have learned to their sorrow, the civilized nations must remain on guard lest they fall in the pit which has engulfed the people of Russia.

Hudson Bay Railway is Only Another Aid to Canada's Progress

Those who talk of the Hudson Bay Railway in similar strain today should be reminded that only, comparatively, a few years ago Edmonton was regarded as too far north to become the centre of developed territory. But Canada, once all length, grows broader year by year, Marquis wheat pushes the limit of cultivation two hundred miles or so nearer the Arctic circle and long before settlement has exhausted the lands thus made available, means will be found to utilize those beyond them. The Morning Star believes that once the Hudson Bay railway is completed and begins operation, less than a decade will elapse before those who now condemn the enterprise as hopelessly fantastic will be glad to forget that they ever posed as prophets.—Vancouver Star.

Says Comet Caused War

The cause of the war was due to gaseous trails left in the earth's atmosphere by Halley's comet in 1910, declared a speaker to a meeting in Washington. The gas made humanity nervous, suspicious and irritable, he said, and if another war occurs in 1929, the Pons-Winnicke comet of last June must be blamed.

Honored Poor Inventor

Egyptian King Visited England to Pay Homage to Samuel Crompton

Because 150 years ago a poor yoy named Samuel Crompton wanted to help his mother, a king came to England all the way from the glamorous Orient, with all his glittering entourage, to stand in silent homage at his simple gravestone.

What the boy did completely revolutionized the cotton spinning industry, made the British city of Bolton one of the busiest and richest towns in the world, and made possible a vast development in the cotton growing industry of Egypt.

That's why King Fuad came from Cairo especially to take part in the centenory celebration of Crompton's death.

Last January, when the International Cotton Congress was held in Cairo, the King was asked to come to the Crompton celebration at Bolton. He accepted.

As a boy, when Samuel Crompton helped his mother spin yarn at home for the industry was then carried on in the cottages, the difficulties he encountered suggested to him a cross between the Hargreaves and Arkwright contrivances.

The invention is generally known in the trade as a "mule." Its principal innovation was the introduction of a spindle carriage which took away the strain on the thread and enabled much finer yarn to be spun, thus making muslin possible.

FOUND A HEALTH BUILDING TONIC

A Nova Scotia Lady Was in an Anaemic Condition

Men and women who do not sleep well and are not refreshed and strengthened by a night's rest, are generally suffering from thin, watery blood. The nerves fail to get the nourishment they demand and headaches and a worn-out feeling is the result. Building up the blood is the one sure step to renewed health and strength, and for this purpose nothing else can equal Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. From first dose to last they enrich and purify the blood, and in this way promote better appetite, better rest at night, and renewed strength.

Mrs. Mary E. Uhlman, Williamstown, N.S., writes:—"I have received so much benefit from Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, that I would feel myself ungrateful if I did not let you know.

I was in a very poor state of health and reached the stage where I had to remain in bed. A doctor was called in and he told me I had no organic trouble, but was simply run down from overwork. I had been left with a family to support, which I did by dressmaking. The doctor said my blood had almost turned to water, and advised a rest cure. I did not see how it was possible for me to take a very long rest, so I decided to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Soon I found my strength returning and before very long I was able to go about my duties as usual again. This was a few years ago, and my health remained good until about a year ago, when I broke out with humor of the blood. Again I consulted the doctor, who said my blood had become so thin that it had really poisoned itself. I told him I had bought several boxes of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and he told me to go on taking them as he thought they were just what I needed. I took eight boxes and again was in good health. I can therefore recommend these pills to all in a weak or run-down condition."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are sold by all druggists or will be sent by mail, post paid, on receipt of price, 50 cents a box. Try them today.

For a Better Understanding

Appreciation of Needs of All Pirtions of Canada Required Says Beaty

Vancouver.—"In this year which we celebrate the Diamond Jubilee of the Confederation of Canada, our greatest contribution to the memory of those courageous Fathers of Confederation should be a greater understanding of the needs of those portions of the country in which we ourselves do not live," said E. W. Beatty, president and chairman of the Canadian Pacific Railway in an address given at a combined luncheon of the Canadian Club and the Vancouver Board of Trade.

"National characteristics are backed by greater resources heretofore undeveloped," said Mr. Beatty. "The first is the tremendous areas of agricultural lands producing the finest wheat in the world, and not less important vast areas of equally good arable land as yet untouched by the plow.

"It is estimated, in fact," continued Mr. Beatty, "that only from one twelfth to one eighth of the country's agricultural lands have as yet been cultivated. The second is its also unlimited water powers. I doubt if there is any other country in the world so plentifully supplied with power development as is Canada, and every one realizes what that means as a factor in industrial expansion.

"The third is its forest wealth, which already has enabled it to conduct lumbering operations, the annual output of which exceeds $145,000,000 and to produce pulp and paper to the value of $200,000,000.

"Then there are its mineral possibilities, the potentialities of which are very great enabling it to produce gold, silver, nickel, zinc, lead and copper to an aggregate value in 1925 of $113,000,000."

U.S. Pilot Lost Bearings

Went 145 Miles off Route Between Montreal and Ottawa

Ottawa.—After being in air for five and ine quarter hours, having lost his bearings and gone more than one hundred miles off his route, Captain R. G. Hoyt, piloting a United States army goodwill 'plane, landed at Ottawa. In leaving Montreal the aviator mistook the St. Lawrence River for the Ottawa River, he said, and after following the former stream for some hours, came to earth to regain his bearings and discovered he was 145 miles off his route.

The final landing in the capital almost proved disastrous. The field adjoining the Dominion Experimental Farm on which the 'plane came to earth was rough of surface and in gliding down the 'plane suffered a smashed wing and badly crumpled landing gear. Both Captain Hoyt and Sergeant B. D. Boozer, who accompanied him, escaped injury, however.

WAR GESTURE IN RUSSIA FOLLOWS RAID IN LONDON

Moscow.—An appeal has been addressed by the central committee of all the Russian communist party organizations, declaring that the rupture of Anglo-Soviet relations is unquestionably a step towards war against the Union.

The rupture is further described as the culminating point in a long game of British diplomacy, inspiring and organizing an imperialistc onslaught on the Soviet Union. It is emphasized that the Soviet Union has pursued and is pursuing a policy of peace, and that everything possible has been and is being done for the preservation of peace, despite provocations.

The appeal says that war may be forced on Russia, in spite of its efforts for peace, and calls on all members of the party and all toilers to pay the closest attention to questions consolidating the economic strength and defence of the country.

Getting Branch Line Work Under Way

C.N.R. Anxious to Have Lines Completed Says Vice-President

Winnipeg.—"We are forging ahead with the branch lines," said S. J. Hungerford, vice-president in charge of operating of the Canadian National Railways, who arrived in the city from Montreal.

"As quickly as the contracts can be let, the work is getting under way," he added.

The system was anxious to get the lines completed and serving the public as soon as possible, he said, and a good deal of the work would be done this year. Mr. Hungerford was not prepared to say anything regarding new development, and knew nothing of any projected lines into Manitoba's central mining areas.

The vice-president was here on one of his periodical trips for conference with western region officials.

A Giant Photograph

New York.—A giant photograph of 22,000 square miles of Newfoundland is to be taken from the air and pieced together in the most thorough search yet to be undertaken for the missing French aviators, Nungesser and Coli.

It is believed this photograph will definitely establish whether or not the crew of France's White Bird succeeded in crossing the ocean and went down in Newfoundland.

Appeals to United Canada

Should Keep Soviet Agents Out Says Sir Henry Thornton

St. Thomas, Ont. — Sir Henry Thornton, president and chairman of the Canadian National Railways, in the course of an address before the business men of this city, suggested that agents of Soviet Russia should steer clear of this country and permit Canadians to build a united, contented and prosperous dominion.

"This nation is founded upon the fine traditions of the Anglo-Saxon race; its jurisprudence embraces the fine principles of the English law and fair play," Sir Henry said. "We are essentially a law-abiding people, and we want no element to come in and disturb that condition.

"Whatever others may think about other forms of government and about visionary schemes of society, it may conservatively be described as distinct and unique and if any communist wants to come here and rouse the slaves, we should inform them that we can do the waking of these slaves ourselves."

Reach Amicable Settlement

Britain Waives Claims for Detention of Shipping During War

Washington.—Claims of the British Government and its nationals against the United States for seizure and detention of shipping during the world war have been waived by Great Britain, it was disclosed with publication of notes ratifying an agreement reached two weeks ago.

In return the United States Government agrees to employ the money thus saved to pay claims of Americans against the British which might fail of settlement in the British courts but which the United States Government regards as meritorious.

British claims which the United States Government has recognized as just are understood to total approximately $1,000,000, with others for which liability has not been conceded reaching a higher figure.

Possibilities of Increased Immigration to Canada Will Be Discussed

New York.—Five hundred Manxmen residing in Canada and the United States sailed from Montreal June 3, for a four weeks home-going celebration on their native soil, the Isle of Man, famous for its tailless cats and ancient for its self-government. Delightful Holiday Location

FOREIGN POWERS SENDING TROOPS TOWARDS PEKING

Peking.—The movement of the Nationalists on Peking, ancient capital of China, and the strategic retreat of Chang Tso-Lin, Manchurian war lord, under whose regime foreigners in the Peking district have been protected, has caused an ominous rumbling in the Chinese imbroglio. The powers are expected to concentrate allied forces for protective purposes in the threatened area.

Japan has landed 2,000 troops at Tsingtao, ready to advance to Tsianfu, capital of Shantung province, along the Shantung Railway, which Japan surrendered to China at the Washington conference. This advance, it is stated, will be made only if Japanese interests require protection. There are also indications from Tokio that 2,000 additional troops will be despatched to Peking and Tientsin if needed.

Great Britain is ready to despatch at least a battalion to Tientsin from Shanghai, and it is understood the border regiment has been selected.

The United States is moving between 4,000 and 5,000 marines from Shanghai and the Phillipines to Tientsin to meet any emergency that may arise.

Practically all missionaries in the northern inland stations were evacuated to the coast early in April, and a large proportion of the women and children in Peking left either for the coast or for Japan at the same time.

The Japanese expedition is adversely criticized by all factions of Chinese here, who assert it has even less justification than the British expedition to Shanghai.

Canadian Minister Welcomed In Kentucky

Addressed English-Speaking Union on "Exploits of Neighborliness"

Louisville, Ky.—The Union Jack and the Stars and Stripes politely fraternized over the heads of 150 members of the Kentucky branch of the English-speaking Union while Hon. Vincent Massey, Canadian minister to the United States, spoke on "Exploit of Neighborliness."

"I am glad English-speaking folk are learning that we may be good patriots and good neighbors at the same time," he said. He praised the English-speaking Union for its work in promoting comradeship and good feeling between peoples and paid a tribute to the Kentucky branch.

Judge R. W. Bingham, honorary president of the Kentucky organization, presided at the luncheon. He characterized England as the "most important entity in the world."

"By England," he said, "I do not mean a small island off the coast of Europe. I refer to the state of mind of the English-speaking people throughout the world who have wrought for themselves a condition of religious, political and social freedom without losing that supporting attitude toward life which is the characteristic of the race."

Horse Destruction

EDITOR REVIEW:

SIR,—An article in an April issue of the Review notified that all horses were to be taken off the flats, and two weeks after the appearance of the notice was given for such removal, after which date horses found on the flats would be shot.

I daresay that some of the more valuable or useful horses were rounded up and brought in, but I know of several cases where horses were not wanted and so were left to be shot.

Some of these horses were seen on the night of May 14th in a place called Tebow Bay—at least two miles from town. On the morning of May 15th eighteen head were impounded in the village pound at Creston.

I would like to know why these horses were not shot as ordered, instead of making the owners pay pound fees—and then have to shoot them themselves. FAIR PLAY

Creston Valley

In the land that's consecrated
To "Our Lady of The Snows,"
There is such a wonderous Valley
Through which murmuring waters flow.

Mountains grand are all about it.
Like a mother's shelt'ring arms,
Guarding it from angry tempests,
From the cold and blighting storms.

Meadows green, so gently rolling;
Hills with wood to build new homes.
Nooks are filled witd ferns and flowers;
Lillies meek, and fragrant rose.

Waterfalls that roar and sparkle
With their power not yet known,
Waiting for the time soon coming
When they'll light up happy homes.

Happy homes where wife and husband
Know the joys of rural life;
Homes in which are children helpful
Hearts so clean, and free from strife;

Homes where God is known and worshipped;
Justice garlands each fair brow;
Virtue, honor, truth and meekness
Rule supreme through sun or snow.

Lakesand valleys, hills and mountains;
Fruits and grains, and birds of song;
Cattle browsing in green pastures
Bright hued Indians pass along.

Church bells call to grateful worship;
Heads are bowed In thanks to Thee.
Creston Valley's wonderous blessings
Shower o'er both you and me.

Winter's snows so softly falling
On the heads both gold and grey,
Bringing thoughts of our long slumbers
In this valley fair to see.

But we care not for the passing,
Other hands will carry on;
Generation without number
With smiling lips that sing sweet songs. —MRS. D.S.T.

Full information concerning regulations regarding pre-emptions is given in Bulletin No. 1, Land Series, "How to Pre-empt Land," copies of which can be obtained free of charge by addressing the Department of Lands, Victoria, B.C., or to any Government Agent.

Records will be granted covering only land suitable for agricultural purposes, and which is not timberland, i.e., carrying over 5,000 board feet per acre west of the Coast Range and 8,000 feet per acre east of that Range.

Applications for pre-emptions are to be addressed to the Land Commissioner of the Land Recording Division, in which the land applied for is situated, and are made on printed forms, copies of which can be obtained from the Land Commissioner.

Pre-emptions must be occupied for five years and improvements made to value of $10 per acre, including clearing and cultivating at least five acres, before a Crown Grant can be received.

For more detailed information see the Bulletin "How to Pre-empt Land."

PURCHASE

Applications are received for purchase of vacant and unreserved Crown lands, not being timberland, for agricultural purposes; minimum price of first-class (arable) land is $5 per acre, and second-class (grazing) land $2.50 per acre. Further information regarding purchase or lease of Crown lands is given in Bulletin No. 10, Land Series, "Purchase and Lease of Crown Lands."

Mill, factory, or industrial sites on timber land, not exceeding 40 acres, may be purchased or leased, the conditions including payment of stumpage.

HOMESITE LEASES

Unsurveyed areas, not exceeding 20 acres, may be leased as homesites, conditional upon a dwelling being erected in the first year, title being obtainable after residence and improvement conditions are fulfilled and land has been surveyed.

LEASES

For grazing and industrial purposes areas not exceeding 640 acres may be leased by one person or a company.

GRAZING

Under the Grazing Act the Province is divided into grazing districts and the range administered under a Grazing Commissioner. Annual grazing permits are issued based on numbers ranged, priority being given to established owners. Stock-owners may form associations for range management. Free, or partially free, permits are available for settlers, campers and travellers, up to ten head.

Observing Diamond Jubilee

Large Attendance Expected at Service in Westminster Abbey

Preparations are now well advanced for the great service in Westminster Abbey, July 1, which will form the chief commemoration in London of Canada's Diamond Jubilee. The Dean of Westminster, Very Rev. Dr. Foxley Norris, has drawn up an order of service which follows as nearly as possible that which was used when the jubilee of Confederation was commemorated in the Abbey in 1917.

Owing to the King and Queen having a number of engagements to fill in Scotland so close to the date, it is feared it will be impossible for Their Majesties to attend the service. The Duke of Connaught already has intimated his intention to be present. Practically the whole of the British cabinet and a large number of representatives of embassies and legations have asked that seats be reserved for them.

New Use For Helium

May be Substituted for Nitrogen in Air of Diving Bells

When helium was first discovered it was considered a sort of scientific toy, and was obtainable only in extremely small quantities. Then it was produced in quantity sufficient to take the place of hydrogen in airships. Experiments are now in progress to substitute it for nitrogen in the air of diving bells, for the nitrogen under high pressure enters the tissues of the bodies of the divers, and when it escapes during the ascent causes severe lacerations. The discovery has an economic value for with helium it will be possible for divers to descend to the bottom of the Bay of Vigo and secure millions of gold from sunken Spanish galleons.

Will Always Bring Results

Success Assured if Anything Worth While is Advertised

Some time ago the people of Colorado Springs got the idea that there were great attractions in that place for tourists. Following up this bright idea they made spasmodic efforts for several seasons to attract visitors, but without much success. So they decided to appropriate $14,000 for advertising. This helped, and the next year they increased the sum to $60,000. They advertised chiefly in newspapers, all over the country. Over 88,000 autos visited Colorado Springs last year, carrying some 350,000 people. More than 90,000 more people came by train. These visitors spent about $13,000,000 in the Colorado Springs neighborhood. Not a bad return for a $60,000 investment! Where there is no publicity the enterprise perishes. If there is something really worth while advertising of the right sort will make a great success of it.

PETER DELIVERED FROM PRISON

Golden Text: "Many are the afflictions of the righteous; But Jehovah delivereth him out of them all."—Psalm 34.19.

Lesson: Acts 12.1-17.

Devotional Reading: Psalm 34.1-8.

Explanations and Comments

I. Peter Imprisoned, verses 1-4.—Peter, James and John were the three prominent men among the apostles, and Herod Agrippa I. began his persecution of the followers of Christ by having James beheaded. Finding that this act greatly pleased the Jews, he selected Peter as his next victim and had him imprisoned to await his execution after the close of the Passover. Executions were not carried out during the Passover, and Herod was nominally a Jew and most careful in all Jewish observances. Peter was guarded in prison by four quarterions of soldiers, four sets of men, one set for each watch, two of whom were chained to Peter in his cell, and two were on guard outside, verse 6.

"When a man finds that a certain course of conduct is receiving popular applause he is led on to further excesses. A public speaker descends to a coarse and vulgar jest, and because it pleases the baser sort in the audience, and the speaker is awarded a round of applause, he is prone to descend to still farther depths of degradation."—Dr. J. H. Jowett.

II. Peter's Deliverance, verses 5-11.—Peter was in prison, but prayer was made earnestly of the church unto God for him.

"I wish I could burn these two words, unto God, into every heart, so that whenever we pray, in public or in private, they would stand right before us; and that before we prayed a syllable of prayer we would be sure every time that we had really come into the presence of God and were actually talking to him."—R. A. Rorrey.

At night, shortly before he would have been brought forth for trial and death, help came. "There is the enemy plotting, there are the friends praying; and the man himself around whom all the menace and the intercession are gathering has shut his eyes and quieted himself to slumber, because there, too, is he who neither slumbereth nor sleepeth. God is there in the palace, there in the house of prayer, there in the prison, keeping all the threads of the drama in his own hands; holding the tyrants' power in derision, hearing the prayer that ascends to his holy habitation, responding to the trust of his child, whom He is lulling to sleep. And now it His time to work. The final act is ready to be launched on the stage. The moment of deliverance is appointed, and already its messenger and intrument is on the wind to loose him that is appointed unto death. How well may Peter sleep when God is watching over his bed and preparing his awakening!"—Robert Law.

The circumstances of Peter's escape are told very minutely — the coming of the angel (the word angel means messenger), the light in the cell that awakened Peter, the brief words to make haste, the falling off of the chains, the girding and putting on of sandals and outer cloak, the command to follow, the passing of the first and the second guard, the opening of the outer gates of the prison leading into the city, the going out and passing through one street, and then the being left alone.

Peter was dazed and thought his experience unreal until he "came to himself" and said. "The Lord hath sent His angel and delivered me out of the hand of Herod." One thing is certain, whoever delivers us from a great peril will always seem to us an angel. "There are no bolts and there are no bars which can withstand the purposes of God."

Wise mothers who know the virtues of Mother Graves' Worm Exterminator always have it at hand, because it proves its value.

The Largest Consignment Ever Made in Canada

The largest single consignment of salmon eggs ever shipped in Canada was that made by officers of the Fish Culture Service of the Department of Marine and Fisheries to the upper waters of the Fraser River in British Columbia. Fifteen million sockeye eggs, in the "eyed" stage, were transferred in specially constructed crates from the Dominion Government's fish hatchery at Pemberton on the Fraser River below Hell's Gate Canyon to the following spawning grounds in the upper Fraser: Stuart Lake, Francois Lake and the Quesnel Lakes.

CHAPTER I.

It all began with the rustle of silks.

When Helmi's Aunt Lili came back to Finland for a visit, after six years of the crowded ways of life in America, the older women-folk of her family regarded her with mingled feelings of awe, envy and reproach. Her elder sister, Helmi's mother, said it was foolishness for a girl who had to earn her money hard, carrying trays, to put it all on her back and wear clothes that only queens should be wearing. At which Aunt Lili laughed, showing her gold teeth, and said it was a matter of principle with her to spend her money so fast that no one could steal it from her! Helmi was the one member of the family who gave the visitor full hearted and unmixed devotion. She loved the rich sound of her silken skirts, it was so luxuriant, so Heno, it seemed to raise the whole family to a higher social level, and she marvelled how anyone, even her mother, would dare to find fault with this wonderful person, who wore silk stockings, had fur on the inside of her coat, and pink ribbons in garments that did not show at all!

Aunt Lili had not spent all her money on her own clothes. To Helmi's mother she had brought a purse which closed with a crack. It had a head on one side, and two claws which could be flapped on the the other side; gold satin lining; mysterious chambers inside; and better than all was the delicate inference it conveyed regarding women and money. To Helmi's father she brought a silk handkerchief with welted roses on both sides, a sort of magic handkerchief, for no matter how hard it was squeezed in one's hand it would spring out again without even a wrinkle. To Anna, Helmi's big sister, who had her hair in bangs, she brought a square bottle of powder the color of skin, and a round downy thing to put it on with. Aunt Lili used a black sock herself for this purpose, but she said powder-puffs were certainly style in America now.

Aunt Lili made many contrasts between America and Finland. "You work too hard here," she said, "and you never play. We work in America, but we have good times, too. This country is all right for men, but what is there for women but raising children and work? When a woman here is married ten years she is old, and her life is over. It is all just giving in, and giving up for women, until at last they give out. I wouldn't live here if you gave me the whole country. I couldn't stand it now after I have seen what a good time American women have!"

Her words, received in silence by the older women and scoffed at by Anna, who was going to be married in the Spring to Emil Saari, who lived near and had built a two-roomed house, found a sympathetic listener in Helmi, who was then thirteen. Her mother and Anna might be content with Finland, but Helmi's eyes had caught the vision of the far country.

The resolve to see this wonderful country for herself was definitely taken when she saw the beautiful picture Aunt Lili brought her. It was a colored picture, shiny as ice and rioting with light and color, called "Aunty's Flower Garden." It showed an old-fashioned garden bursting with roses and hollyhocks and Canterbury bells. Down the brick walk came two lovely ladies, one in a crimson velvet dress, the other one in fairy blue; a little golden-haired girl ahead of them clad in white, carried a green basket brimming with roses.

Helmi believed that title literally and wondered how her Aunt Lili could leave such an enchanted place even to come for a visit to the old home. Aunt Lili had saved soap wrappers to get the picture, and had left it honestly enough in the pasteboard roll in which it came and where all concerned might see from whence it came. But to Helmi the name carried proof—"Aunty's Flower Garden." It was too thrilling a thought to lose, so she did not ask for confirmation.

Aunt Lili stayed for the Black Ice Skating, and then returned to her adopted country, but the picture she left with Helmi kept the fires of her imagination and desires burning.

Brighter still they burned after her mother died and the querulous, scolding grandmother came to direct the house until her son would find a stepmother for his family. Anna had married and entered upon the strenuous program of a baby a year.

With monotonous work and continuous scolding all around her the example of Anna, who was rapidly losing her red cheeks and her light heart, Helmi held to the vision Aunt Lili had given her of the Promised Land. The roses in the picture nodded approval, the Canterbury bells were ringing a welcome, the velvet clad ladies, still sauntering along the garden path, smiled into her eyes and whispered "Come and be one of us."

There are great moments in every life. When Aunt Lili sent the money and Helmi, now seventeen, held the letter in her hand, with its mysterious pale blue paper that the postmaster said was money, she was suddenly caught up into another world. Now all things were possible, for here were the wings with which she could fly away. She, too, would come back with silk skirts that creaked like a bag of cabbage, and purses and toys for Anna's children. Granny would be sorry then for the things she had said, but she would tell her that the past was gone. She was sorry for Granny, who would never, never see America.

Helmi made the journey to Saint Paul, Minnesota.

It was well that her young heart was fortified by so many pleasant thoughts upon the way, for bleak disappointment and sorrow were hers when she arrived. Aunt Lili, the dashing Aunt Lili, who seemed to defy sorrow and death just as she defied conventions and traditions, lay fighting a losing battle with a pitiless disease, in a cheerless little room in the hotel owned by her husband. Over the bar, in the noisiest room, lay the shadow of the great Aunt Lili, praying just one prayer between her spells of coughing, that she might live until her young niece came and then have breath enough to tell her what she must be told.

Letters take a long time to go to Finland, and although she had written as soon as she new how serious her condition was, she feared her message might not arrive in time to save Helmi the journey. She must stay alive for Helmi's sake. Helmi had always been her favorite niece, Helmi with her golden hair, and eyes the color of the green brown moss in the bottom of the running puro at home. "Oh, just enough time to see Helmi and tell her things—please . . . please . . . God!"

And so the frightened Helmi, who had expected to be met by the Great Person who had brightened her childhood, came into the dark and dreary room, whose only vivid spot was the white face on the soiled pillow with its two burning eyes.

"Don't kiss me, Helmi. Ain't it awful? It is a bad disease I have which goes from me. I thought it was just a cold like I often have, but it's worse than that. Anyway, I only wanted to see you and tell you. Don't stay with Mike. He says he will keep you. You do not owe him the money—it was mine. He wants you because you are young and pretty. The girls tell me he's acting bad already, and me not dead so soon. I have money enough to send you back, Helmi, that will be best. You know what is ahead of you at home. It might be worse. You will go back, won't you, Helmi?"

Helmi fell on her knees beside the bed.

"But isn't it a good country, Aunt Lili, like you said? Can't I get along like you did?" she sobbed. "I can work, Aunt Lili, like you did."

"It's a good country, Helmi," said Aunt Lili when she could speak, "just like I said, only men are so bad, and it's hard for a young girl alone, and I am so afraid for you. Men just want their own pleasure. Mike was good to me while I could sport around and dance, and while I did not say a cross word to him for what he did to men when they got drunk. He takes their money, Helmi; I can't stand that. I threatened him I'd go and tell, and then he struck me with a chair. He never comes to see me now, Helmi, and he made me take this room above the bar because when people pay for rooms they want to sleep. He says, 'You're awake, anyway,' with your cough, so what's the odds!' Helmi, men are queer and all for self. The trouble started when my little Helmi was on the way. I had her named for you. Men do not like kids, they're too much trouble. He was mad and cross at me because I was not smart and was sometimes sick, and when little Helmi came she only lived a day, and he was glad. Then I hated him, Helmi—I hate him now, and an dwas sometimes sick, and when one is going to die, but I cannot help it, Helmi. I wanted to warn you not to get mixed up with men—they break your heart."

TO WOMEN OF MIDDLE AGE

Mrs. Wilson's Experience a Guide to Women Passing through the Change of Life

Hamilton, Ontario.—"I have taken several bottles of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I cannot speak too highly of it as I wasnt the Change of Life and was all run-down and had no appetite. I was very weak and sick, and the pains in my back were so bad I could hardly move. I got very sad at times and thought I had not a friend on earth. I did not care if I lived or died. I was very nervous, too, and did not go out very much. A friend advised me to try a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, so I did. I am a farmer's wife, and always worked hard until lately, and was in bed for two months. I began to feel like a new woman after the first bottle and I recommend it with great success, also Lydia E. Pinkham's Liver Pills. I am willing to answer letters from women asking about your medicines, as I cannot speak too highly of them."—Mrs. Emma Wilson, 471 Wilson Street, Hamilton, Ontario.

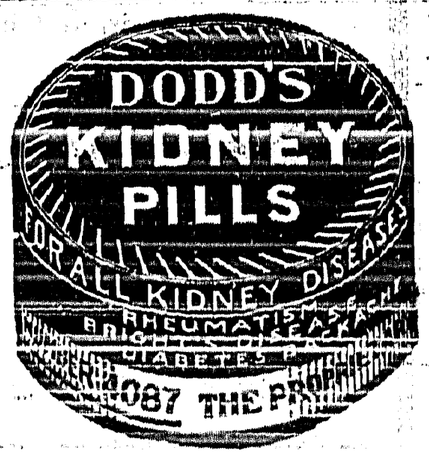
Had All of Them

A man wearing a worried look went into a shop which advertised a patent exterminator, and asked for a hundredweight.

"Certainly, sir," said the amazed assistant, "but that quantity would be sufficient to destroy all the slugs in the Queen's County."

"I know that," was the reply. "They are all in my garden."



Would Girdle the Globe

Colossal Number of Papers Printed Every Week on Bouverie Street, London

For many years the "News of the World" has been produced in Bouverie street—a comparatively short thoroughfare leading southwards from Fleet street to the Thames embankment.

Despite its size, Bouverie street produces more newspapers than any other street in the world. If the pages of the papers sent out of this small thoroughfare in a week were placed end to end they would girdle the globe.

The vast weekly issue of the "News of the World" would provide a quarter of this belt, for, if the pages were placed end to end, they would make a pathway from London, across the Atlantic, across the United States, and a few hundred miles out into the Pacific Ocean on the way to Japan.

About 25,000,000 newspapers are published in Bouverie street each week, making a breath-taking total of 1,300,000,000 copies per annum.

To get the 4,000,000 copies off the machines in time to distribute them over the length and breadth of the British Isles on Sunday morning and over the rest of the world as fast as great liners can carry them, the huge battery of printing presses must produce copies of the "News of the World" at the rate of 7,000 per minute, or 420,000 per hour.

Each issue requires 500 tons of white paper, 16,000 lbs. of black ink, and to tie up the parcels, 70 miles of string.

A new building in course of completion will be the most modern in existence.

New Ocean Depth Found

A greater ocean depth than heretofore known has been discovered by the cruiser Emden, the German Admiralty announces. On the way from Celebes Island in the Dutch East Indies to Nagasaki, Japan, the Emden measured an ocean depth of 34,416 feet. What has up to now been thought the greatest depth is 32,614 feet, off the eastern coast of Japan.

But He whose human feet have trod
All paths of trial, He who knew
No sympathy but that of God,

And mindful of our feeble frame,
Holds to His heart our throbbing heads,

Agricultural Lime in 100 lbs. or Carloads

Several thousand years ago, possibly millions, the country where Kimberley now stands was covered with water, either the bed of a large lake, or possibly an ocean. This section raised by pressure from within the earth crust.

Several miles from Kimberley lies a large bed of mussle shells, partly decomposed but still containing thousands in their natural shape. This shell substance ground to a fine powder in Nature's labaratory has many uses, but probably the most beneficial is as a Fertilizer Lime, as it is one of the best forms of lime for use upon the soils of B.C., which are very much in need of it.

As a sample to the Department of Agriculture at Ottawa was analyzed and recommended for this use, the Dominion Chemist stating it was a very good grade of agricultural lime—the analysis showing 91% lime. For sale at $20 a ton by
