C.P.R. TRAIN HELD UP.

Vancouver, B. C., Sept. 11.—The transcontinental express, due here at 8 o'clock last evening was held up about 15 miles east of this city.

When the train was seven miles west of Mission three masked men crawled to the engine to uncouple the engine, which they ran ahead. Then they proceeded to the express car and forced the express messenger to give them the contents of the safe, which was said to contain about $7,000 in cash.

The train did not arrive here until 12:30 o'clock. It is supposed that the train robbers expected to intercept the cleanup from the Consolidated Cariboo mines amounting to $60,000, and which was expected to be sent here about this time.

It is said a cipher telegraph message was sent to the express messenger telling him to have his safe open to be searched for an inspection, and that therefore he was off his guard. The authorities are now investigating this rumor. This is the first train robbery which has ever taken place in British Columbia. The Canadian Pacific detectives and provincial police are leaving at 1:30 this morning on a special train for the scene of the robbery.

Fernie May Get Daily Train.

As soon as the Crows Nest Southern railway is completed to Fernie, B. C., the Great Northern may resume its daily train over the Jennings branch which will place the Fernie district within 12 hours of Spokane. The railroad is an extension of the Great Northern which puts J. J. Hill's line into the heart of the southern Canada coal fields.

When the Jennings branch was first built a daily passenger train was operated over the line at a loss. Later it was made into a triweekly service, which was to become daily whenever the traffic would warrant it. The traffic is said to be all that can be handled three times a week now and if the extension brings more traffic the service will be increased. The Great Northern is showing activity in the Crows Nest and is increasing its coal orders. Nearly all the fuel used by the company along this and the Montana division of the road comes from the Crows Nest. The company has placed orders for 500 tons of Fernie coal and 350 tons of Morrissey coal daily.

A Great Attraction Coming.

Managers Clapp & Rollins have secured for the theatre goers of Cranbrook a genuine treat in the engagement of Miss Jessie Shirley and her incomparable company. This sterling attraction has just completed a summer stock engagement at the Auditorium theatre, Spokane, Wash., of seventeen weeks where Miss Shirley's name in that city has become a household word in every family. It is fortunate indeed that such a company could have been secured and the reason of it is that they were engaged especially to open the Lyric theatre at Calgary week of September 5th, and 12th, where they are at the present enjoying one of the most prosperous engagements of the season owing to the excellence of attractions presented. In connection with their engagement here Manager Smith of the Shirley company and Messrs. Clapp and Rollins have offered part of the proceeds of the three performances to Mr. King, principal of the public school of Cranbrook in aid of the library fund. The plays presented by Miss Shirley during her stay here will be as follows: Friday, September 23rd, the sparkling southern comedy drama, "The Princess of Patches." Saturday night September 24th, the well known society drama "Camille," and Saturday matinee, the tuneful musical farce, "The Child of the Regiment," a dramatization of Donnizetti's opera, "The Daughter of the Regiment." Seats will be on sale Monday, September 19th, at Beattie's drug store. Prices $1.00 and 75 cents.

A Sad Day at Fort Steele.

Last Saturday Miss Gertrude Mair, who was visiting her sister, Mrs. E. J. Cann, died of typhoid after an illness of nearly two weeks. The funeral was held on Sunday, Rev. Beacham, of Cranbrook officiating. A large number of people from various parts of the district attended the service.

On Saturday N. T. Blakney, also died of typhoid fever. He had been living in Wardner, and was quite sick when taken to Fort Steele. The funeral was held on Tuesday, and the remains afterward disinterred and embalmed for shipment to his former home in the east.

Wallace Moore.

The Oak Lake News: A very pretty wedding took place Wednesday morning, when Miss Ethel K. Moore, youngest daughter of Mrs. Wyman Moore, of Oak lake, was married to Mr. James B. Wallace, manager of the Oak lake branch of the Merchants' bank. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. S. Ryall and took place in St. Albans' church. The bride was escorted to the altar by her uncle, Mr. A. S. Leitch and looked very handsome in a beautiful gown of white silk organdie, trimmed with silk lace and ribbons, and wore a lovely picture hat of white chiffon and plumes. She carried an exquisite shower bouquet of white roses, lilies of the valley and maiden hair fern. Miss Jessie Leitch and Miss Dorothy Banister, attired in pretty dresses of white silk over pale pink, with picture hats to match, and carrying bouquets of pink roses and sweet peas, made charming bridesmaids, while Mr. F. D. Noble, of the Merchants bank, Brandon, assisted the groom. Mr. Marsh, of St. Matthew's church Brandon, officiated at the organ, and Mr. A. Thompson and Mr. R. L. Hood performed the duties of ushers. The church was prettily decorated with palms, ferns, poppeis, and chrysanthemums, and quite a number of the friends of the happy couple were present. After the ceremony, the party, together with a few invited guests, repaired to the house of the bride's mother, where a luncheon was partaken of. The house also was artistically decorated. A large number of valuable presents were received, including a handsome marble clock from the congregation and choir of St. Albans.

A CANADIAN COMPANY.

The Toronto Globe has the following interview that will prove of interest to the people of this district, since they are all interested in good insurance. The firm of Arnold & Roberts represent this company in Cranbrook, which fact brings it closer home to all who live here.

Mr. A. Dean, manager of the Anglo-American Fire Insurance company, was an interested spectator in the Manufacturers' building yesterday. "That's the sign I like to see," said he to a Globe reporter, pointing to an exhibit bearing the "Made in Canada" label. "If every consumer when purchasing insisted upon obtaining the product of home factories what a boom would be given to our industries. And why should they not so insist? Are we in Canada not able to turn out just as good goods as our foreign competitors? One of the features of the Anglo-American Fire Insurance company that should appeal to insurance is that it is a purely Canadian concern, doing business in Canada only, with Canadian capital and Canadian directors. Look at the names of these directors, all men of high standing." And Mr. Dean produced a card showing them to be as follows: President, S. F. McKinnon (S. F. McKinnon & Co., Toronto); Directors, Mr. A. A. Allan (Messrs. A. A. Allan & Co.), Toronto; Mr. John R. Barber, Pres. Toronto Paper Co., of Cornwall, Georgetown; Dr. George H. Bowlby, Berlin; Mr. A. B. Cunningham, barrister, Kingston; Mr. H. P. Eckardt (Messrs. H. P. Eckardt & Co.), Toronto; Mr. John Flett (Flett, Lowndes & Co., Ltd.), Toronto; Mr. W. J. Gage (The W. J. Gage Co., Ltd.), Toronto; Mr. John Knox (Messrs. Knox, Morgan & Co.), Hamilton; Mr. R. Millichamp (Messrs. Millichamp, Coyle & Co.), Toronto; Mr. J. N. Shenstone, Sec.-Treas. Massey-Harris Co., Ltd., Toronto; Dr. Uriah M. Stanley, Brantford; Mr. Hugh Waddell, Peterboro'; Mr. Emil Nerlich (Messrs. Nerlich & Co.), Toronto.

"The Anglo-American was largely interested in the great Toronto conflagration, and all the claims were paid promptly on adjustment," said Mr. Dean. "Indeed, since the organization of the company, five years ago, all losses have been equitably adjusted and promptly paid. We have no outstanding adjusted losses unpaid and no claims in litigation. The fact that all the wholesale firms who were insured with us at the time of the Toronto fire are replacing their business with us is striking testimony as to the confidence of the public in the soundness of the Anglo-American company. We are now doing a larger business from one end of the Dominion to the other than at any period of the company's existence. The gross income for the present year will run about $450,000. Although the company is not a member of the Canadian Fire Underwriters' Association, that is to say, it is what is known as a 'non-tariff company,' it is writing business at equitable rates."

KOOTENAY CENTRAL WILL BE BUILT.

Last Sunday the special car of the Canadian railway commission passed through Cranbrook enroute east, the commission having just closed a session at Nelson. Two members were present and a representative of The Herald had the pleasure of talking with the president, the Hon. A. G. Blair. He was very much pleased with the appearance of the Kootenays, and his ride on Kootenay lake. Speaking of East Kootenay and its resources and prospects, Mr. Blair said that there was no doubt but that the Kootenay Central would be built without any possible delay. This statement, coming from such high authority, is very good evidence that, according to the way the arrangements now stand, the road will be built and that the C. P. R., is the power that is furnishing the sinews of war.

The Herald man had the pleasure of meeting a representative of one of the largest contracting firms in the United States one day this week, and he stated that he was on his way up the valley to look over the proposed route and gather all information possible.

The surveys are being pushed forward as rapidly as possible and with the long falls that characterize the climate of this section, it is quite probable that they will be far enough advanced to permit cross sectioning long before snows set in. And it is said that there is much of the work that can be carried forward in the winter, so that in all probability if once started this fall there will be no cessation during the colder months.

KING'S SAW MILL BURNED

The mill known as No. 1, belonging to the King's Lumber Mills company, was completely destroyed by fire last Sunday morning about six o'clock. The cook who was getting ready for breakfast, discovered the flames and gave the alarm, but the fire had advanced too far to permit the men doing anything to save the building or machinery, all of which were a complete loss. Fortunately the planer was situated some distance away and not burned. There is no idea how the fire originated, as there had been no fire in the furnaces that night, owing to repairs being made. The loss is hard to estimate at this time as there was considerable to be cut by this mill yet this season, and this makes it necessary to put in one for that purpose. The company had $1,500 insurance placed with Arnold & Roberts and the adjuster will be here Saturday to arrange matters. One serious feature, and the one that is greatly regretted by the company, is the fact that a large number of men will be thrown out of employment at a bad time of the year.

$5,000,000 OF GOLD IN WILD HORSE.

A. W. McVittie has evolved a scheme that has a great deal of foundation and promises to turn a golden stream into the pockets of the backers of the proposition. It is well known that in the early sixties there were over $20,000,000 in gold dust taken out of the Wild Horse diggings. It is also known that the apparatus used in those days did not save over 75 per cent. of the gold, if it did that. Therefore if there were $20,000,000 millions taken out there must be at least $5,000,000 in the tailings. At least this is the view taken by Mr. McVittie and he has staked the old tailings of the stream and will organize a company and go to work with a dredge so that a vast amount of dirt can be handled each day. The tailings would not have to be very rich to pay a fair profit, and if there is as much gold in them as is generally believed the project might turn out a big bonanza.

Tennis Tournament.

The final results of the open tennis tournament held by the Cranbrook Lawn Tennis club last week are as follows:

Mens' singles—A. W. Wilmot, Fernie, defeated M. A. Beale (6-4) (2-6) (6-3).

Mens' doubles—Pinkham and Beale defeated Wilmot and Carrick Fernie, (6-3) (4-6) (6-3).

Ladies' singles—Miss Duff, Lethbridge, defeated Miss Daisy Moffat (6-4) (6-2).

Ladies' doubles—Miss Duff and Mrs. Beacham defeated Mrs. Pownall and Edwards, (6-3) (3-6) (6-0).

Mixed doubles—Miss Daisy Moffat and M. A. Beale defeated Miss Duff and H. Beacham, (6-2) (6-3).

MARYSVILLE NEWS.

Special correspondence to The Herald.

The smelter company have just complete two neat cottages to be occupied by some of their officials in the near future.

Dave Keefe, one of the first men to engage in business in Ymir camp, arrived this week and may take up his residence here.

Dr. King, of Cranbrook, was in town on Friday on a professional trip. R. E. Beattie was also here on the same date doing business.

Gus. Theis, Mayor of Old Town, Perry Creek, spent two days in town last week, telling of the wonderful resources of that particular section.

The Wallace & Manahan mill company have resumed operations after a shut down of three weeks, on account of shortage of water, and now have forty men engaged.

Henry McKinnon, one of the first locators in the Pyrimid camp, has just returned here from Prince of Wales Island and other Alaska camps after an absence of three years.

Work has commenced at the Sullivan mine, excavating for the ore bunkers. Clearing the right of way for the tram line between the mine and C. P. R. is also under way. It is understood Mr. Riblett, of Spokane and Nelson, the inventor of the well known Riblett tram, will install one at once to be in working shape not later than October the 20th.

What might have been a very serious accident occurred here last week at one of the hotels, when one of the guests collapsed into a good old Rip Van Winkle sleep, concluded to get out of bed and take a spin around, but how he managed to walk out of the window on the second flat and land one leg in each large window glass in the lower storey without drawing blood or being awakened from his peaceful slumbers will always remain a mystery.

FORT STEELE ITEMS

From the Prospector.

E. A. Elton, Cowley, Alberta, was in town Sunday last.

Mrs. V. Hyde Baker and Miss Moss, Cranbrook, were Steele visitors last Saturday.

Miss L. Taenhanser, post-mistress at Cranbrook, is enjoying a pleasant holiday at Steele this week.

The indications are that the town of Fort Steele, this winter, will be the busiest of the past three years.

M. A. Beale, Cranbrook, who has been outing at Wasa for the past week, was at Steele on Saturday last.

The following Cranbrook people were registered at the Imperial Sunday last: Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Nelson, Miss L. B. Staples and Miss J. N. Proctor, Dr. G. W. Green and J. H. Thompson.

Mr. Curtis, of Fish Lake, killed a hawk last week that measured five feet ten inches from tip to tip. M. E. Guinter visited Mr. Curtis' ranch Saturday to see if it was "Pa's hawk."

Died.

Died, on Monday, September 12th the baby boy of William Schofield, aged five months. The funeral services were held at the home of Harry Rabichaud on Wednesday and the remains interred in the Cranbrook cemetry along aside of the mother who died a few months ago. Mr. Schofield was in Winnipeg but arrived in time for the funeral. The child has been taken care of by Mr. and Mrs. Rabichaud and its death was a severe blow to both of them. They wish to thank friends for the many acts of kindness during the child's sickness and after its death.

Eagles in Moyie.

An aerie of Eagles was organized in Moyie on the 13th with nearly 100 members. The following officers were elected and installed by D.G.P.P. Chas. Parsons from Vancouver: President, B. J. Riley; Vice-President, E. A. Hill; Chaplain, Dr. S. K. Harvie; Secretary, J. H. Hawke; Treasurer, W. J. Atchison; Conductor, F. F. Eddy; Inner Guardian, F. W. Frith; Outer Guardian, H. N. Bunton; Trustees, P. F. Johnston; J. J. Murphy, F. J. McMahon.

CAUGHT ON THE WING.

At the Epworth league in the Methodist church on Tuesday night eighteen sets of the reading course were ordered. Any person who desires to join the reading circle will kindly notify Miss Etta Belan, who will be pleased to forward their order for a set of books. Readings will commence about October 1st.

Miss McLeod and sister, of Kaslo, have come to Cranbrook to engage in the millinery and dressmaking business and the sale of fancy goods. They have leased the Short block on Armstrong avenue, where they have fitted up a very attractive place. Monday and Tuesday they have a millinery opening.

George Urquhart has a force of men at work on the Welcome group on the upper St. Marys. This group is located on the opposite side of the creek from the Great Dane, and it is generally believed that it is a continuation of the Great Dane lead. Those who are familiar with the property say that it promises to be one of the best in the St. Marys valley.

Rev. and Mr. Fortune left Tuesday for Fernie where Mr. Fortune will attend the Presbytery of the Kootenays. At its close they will go to Calgary and other points, and expect to be absent for about four weeks. Rev. McCord, of Rossland, will occupy the pulpit of the Presbyterian church next Sunday and the following Sunday Rev. Johnson of Fort Steele, will officiate.

A Chartrand has sold his bakery business and building to D. Le Berge of Sandon, who will continue in the same line. Mr. Chartrand has been a resident of Cranbrook for the past four years and he has always been a good citizen. The Herald is pleased to know that he has prospered in Cranbrook and trusts that he will continue to do so wherever he may go.

Mrs. McInnis left last Monday with her four children. She will place Hugh and Earl in the Western Canada college, and take Charley to a school for the blind in Montreal. She and the baby will return in about four weeks. Wilbur Hill and Colin Leitch also went to Calgary Monday under the care of Mrs. McInnis where they enter for their second year in the college in that city.

There will be a meeting at Oddfellows' hall Friday evening, September 23rd, for the purpose of arranging for the organization of the literary society for the winter season. All friends of such work are earnestly requested to be present and give the meeting the benefit of their advice and knowledge. The work last year was a success, and with energy and judgment this year it can be made still better.

Considerable road improvement is being contemplated about Fort Steele by Don McKay, the road superintendent of this district. A new cutoff will be graded from the top of the hill and repairs made on the hill on the east side of the river. Mr. McKay is a road man of of many years experience, not only in British Columbia but in the States, and he has done work in South East Kootenay that will remain a monument to his genius and ability.

There were a few omissions in the Labor Day report that were unfortunate. In the parade were the order of Carmen with enough members to make a strong representation, but in making up the list they were inadvertently left out. They were headed by Piper McCowan, who attracted no little attention with his kilt and bagpipes. On W. H. Wilson's float the name of the flower girl Edith McNeil was accidently ommitted. Little things like these will happen in a newspaper office and too often it is supposed to be intentional when any newspaper in the land would rather give $25 than have such a thing occur.

Fred Smyth, of the Moyie Leader, was in town yesterday. Mr. Smyth is a pioneer of that town and for years he has sung the praises of the Lucerne of the Moyie and boosted the people and the town. There have been years when there was no butter on the bread and the bankets were thin, but now the mine is in operation, business men are advertising, and Fred is getting more than wages once more. He never went back on the town, he kept on smiling when other people were cussing, he mantained that in every bunch of lead there was some silver, and that some time the sun of prosperity must rise over the St. Eugene hill. It has and today Moyie is one of the best towns in the Kootenays with a lot of business men that deserve to grow rich for their faith and steadfastness.

CRANBROOK HERALD

Editor and Proprietor.

The Herald is worth $10 a year. It costs only $2. No man in South East Kootenay can afford to be without it, and everyone living outside of the district, who is interested in the progress of this section, should read it. It publishes the news while it is news. It is controlled absolutely by the publisher. No clique, party or individual dictates it policy. It don't try to please the people. It's desire is to publish a newspaper that will be a credit to the community. Send in your subscription and and you will be thankful ever afterward.

Advertising rates $1 per inch, single column, per month, no more and no less.

Reading matter 15 cents per line to non-advertisers; 10 cents per line to regular advertisers. Business locals five cents per line each insertion.

If you desire to reach the people of South East Kootenay you must advertise in The Herald.

The Herald has a firstclass job plant, and its work is of the best. The Herald don't want charity. It wants a square deal on your job work. If we can't suit you in quality and price, kick, and send your work to some Cheap John house in the east that never spends a cent in Cranbrook.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

The report of the Chief Commissiones of Lands and Works has been just issued. The strange part of the proposition is the fact that the report covers the year ending June 30th, 1903. Of what possible use such a report can be, no one can answer. The McBride government would confer a boon on the province, as well as inaugurate an economical inovation, if it would stop this expensive and senseless practice that has always prevailed in British Columbia of issuing reports, the contents of which are ancient history when they reach the public eye. It is throwing away good money that might much better be invested in roads, trails and bridges in the interior.

There is every reason to believe that there will be no unnecessary delay in beginning construction on the Kootenay Central.

Lord Minto made the mistake of his life when he visited the coast and failed to pass over the Crows Nest Pass railway.

The railway commission did not convene in Cranbrook for the simple reason that Cranbrook is not a kicker.

The subscription list to The Herald continues to grow in the most gratifying manner. Last week R. E. Beattie sold 140 copies of The Herald and could have sold more if the office could have supplied them. That is pretty good evidence on the face of it that the people like The Herald.

It is wonderful how rapidly Cranbrook takes hold of propositions that means progress. The people of this town are wideawake business men and ready for anything that promises advancement. That is one of the pricipal reasons why the town is always growing.

A petition is being circulated asking that the new supreme judge to be appointed shall reside in Nelson. There are many reasons for this, and if there are no coast lawyers willing to come to Nelson to live, The Herald will venture the assertion that there can be found a resident lawyer of Nelson self sacrificing enough to don the ermine to save his city's pride.

There should be an import duty on United States train robbers. Now would be an excellent time to enforce a dumping clause.

Elihu Root, late secretary of war in the States, says that Canada is bound to be one of the great nations of the earth. Mr. Root shows a great head.

Who ever heard of a train carrying an editorial excursion being held up?

If you know a piece of news tell The Herald about it. Don't carefully conceal it until after the paper is out and express surprise that it was not published.

The Nelson News continues to be the best daily news paper published in any town the size of Nelson on the American continent.

The building of the Kootenay Central will prove a great boon for the entire district. What helps to develope the resources of one part is bound to benefit the district as a whole.

When Cranbrook stops growing it will be when the valleys in this part of the district are devoid of timber and the hills are no longer repositories of great mineral wealth.

Whoever is the correspondent for the Nelson News in Cranbrook should be more accurate in the statements he sends to that paper.

The big stock yards strike in the States is declared off by the workmen. The loss is estimated at $5,000,000 for the employes and over $6,000,000 for the packers. As a strike it was a first class fizzle from the start. And yet, as a matter of principle it should have been successful. But the strikers resorted to violence at different times and soon lost the sympathy of the public. There is one right that should prevail in every free country, and that is the right of any individual to work where he please with out fear of his life being taken by the assault of thugs. The packers of the States are a combination of the worst lot of monopolists in the world, and a strike properly handled against them on a sound basis would have won.

There seems to be a slight cessation of hostilities in the Japanese-Russian war, owing to the elements. The death roll up to the present time has been appalling, in fact when the truth is known it may exceed anything in the history of the world. And yet they call this the age of civilization. In the light of passing events the word civilization seems to be a farce. To think of hundreds of thousands of human beings being sacrificed for the political advancement of some one country, which when reduced to a fine proposition simply means the financial or political advancement of a clique of individuals. War is hell. There is no other adequate definition. And the participants are the ones who have to pay the penalty.

The rapid growth of the Cranbrook schools is a good creterion by which to judge of the growth of the town. There are at the present time four rooms, and one more will soon be added under the instructions of the superintendent of education. And yet that is not sufficient to meet the demand. A sixth room will have to be added in a very short time. Cranbrook is a growing town and the school authorities might just as well appreciate this fact now as later.

Marysville is destined to be a town of importance in this district. The completion of the Sullivan smelter will give to that place a permanent payroll and a basis of prosperity that will result in success for the town.

Last week we devoted nearly four columns to labor day, and endeavored to cover all the important features. In the rush of the days following we overlooked one or two, but said many kind words for the participants generally. As a result we only heard one person speak in commendation of the report, and he was a Methodist parson, while a half dozen cussed the paper for the few ommissions. That is the way of the newspaperman's life. The average one, and especially if he has been at the business as long as the editor of The Herald, gets used to it, and laughs at the peculiarities of the human race.

When the government is pleading poverty so far as expenditures on roads and trails are concerned it would seem good wisdom to see that what money is spent goes where it is most needed, and not to suit the fancy of one individual. The people pay the taxes, and their wishes should be consulted in every community. No one man constitutes a government in this country.

The Hon. Mr. Blair is of the opinion that the general elections will be held in November. That opinion is being pretty generally accepted by the people.

William Randolph Hearst spent a few days in Nelson and vicinity and went into ecstacies of delight over the scenery. Well, he had a right to since he had never been through East Koojenay.

Timber Notice.

Take notice that thirty days after date hereof I intend to apply to the chief commissioner of lands and works, Victoria, B. C., for a special license to cut and carry away timber from the following described lands, situate in South East Kootenay, B. C.

Commencing at a post planted on the north boundary of Dan Rowe's pre-emption and at the south east corner of Meagher and Rowe's timber license, thence north 80 chains, thence east 80 chains, thence south 80 chains, thence west 80 chains to the place of beginning.

Dated this sixth day of August, 1904.

Edward Elwell.

Timber Notice

Take notice that I intend to apply to the Chief Commissioner of Lands and Works for permission to purchase the following described lands in Southeast Kootenay:

Commencing at a post on the bank of the St. Mary's river being the south-west corner of Lot 2868, Group 1, thence north to the north-west corner of said Lot 2868, thence east twenty chains, thence north sixty chains, thence west forty chains, thence south to the St. Mary's river, thence down stream to the place of commencement, containing in all 320 acres, more or less.

Dated this 6th day of September, A.D. 1904. 25 Otis Staples.

Summons.

In the Small Debts Court of J. F. Armstrong holden at Cranbrook, between Charles James Reynolds, of Fort Steele, B.C., free miner, plaintiff, and Albert Louis Gwenley, of Cranbrook, B.C., blacksmith, defendant.

Upon reading the affidavit of Frederick R. Morris, filed the 13th day of September, A.D. 1904:

It is ordered that service of a copy of this order, and of a copy of the summons in this action, by publication in the issues of the Cranbrook Herald of September 15th and September 22nd, shall be good and sufficient service of the summons.

Dated the 13th day of September, A.D. 1904.

J. F. Armstrong, Stipendiary Magistrate.

You are hereby summoned to appear at a small debts court to be holden at Cranbrook on the 10th day of October, 1904, at the hour of eleven o'clock in the forenoon, to answer the plaintiff to a claim, the particulars of which are:

CALGARY, Thursday, October 20th, 1904, at 10 o'clock a.m.

HIGH RIVER, Monday, October 24th, 1904, at 10 o'clock a.m.

PINCHER CREEK, Thursday, October 27th, 1904, at 10 o'clock a.m.

These lands are situated, generally speaking, within a distance of from twelve to twenty miles of the Calgary and Edmonton Railway and of the Crow's Nest Pass Branch of the Canadian Pacific Railway.

They will be sold without regard to persons who may be in illegal occupation of the same, but such persons will be allowed a period of thirty days after the sale within which to remove buildings and other property.

TERMS OF PAYMENT.

One-tenth in cash at time of sale and balance in nine equal annual instalments with interest at the rate of five per cent. per annum on the balance of the purchase money from time to time remaining unpaid, except in cases where the area of the land sold does not exceed forty acres, in which case the terms of payment shall be one-fifth in cash, and the balance in four equal annual instalments with interest at the rate of five per cent per annum. The second instalment with interest will be payable on the 1st November, 1905, and the remaining instalments yearly from that date. Scrip or warrants will not be accepted in payment.

Upon a parcel of land being knocked down the purchaser shall immediately deposit the sum of One Hundred Dollars with the Clerk of Sale, otherwise the parcel will at once be put up again. For this purpose intending purchasers should provide themselves with marked cheques on chartered banks of Canada made to their own order and payable at par at the point of sale, or with bank notes of as large a denomination as possible. The balance of the cash instalment must in every case be paid before the close of the sale, failing which the deposit of One Hundred Dollars will be forfeited and the land withdrawn from sale.

Lists of the lands to be sold may be had on application to "The Secretary, Department of the Interior, Ottawa;" or to any Agent of Dominion Lands in Manitoba or the Northwest Territories.

By order,
P. G. KEYES,
Secretary.

Department of the Interior,
Ottawa, 27th August, 1904. 23-31.

Synopsis of Regulations for disposal of Minerals on Dominion Lands in Manitoba the Northwest Territories and the Yukon Territory.

Coal.—Coal lands may be purchased at $10 per acre for soft coal and $20 for anthracite. Not more than 320 acres can be acquired by one individual or company. Royalty at the rate of ten cents per ton of 2,000 pounds shall be collected on the gross output.

Quartz.—Persons of eighteen years and over and joint stock companies holding free miner's certificates may obtain entry for a mining location.

A free miner's certificate is granted for one or more years, not exceeding five, upon payment in advance of $7.50 per annum for an individual, and from $50 to $100 per annum for a company, according to capital.

A free miner, having discovered mineral in place, may locate a claim 1500x1500 feet by marking out the same with two legal posts, bearing the initial notices one at each end on the line of the lode or vein.

The claim shall be recorded within fifteen days if located within ten miles of a mining recorders' office, one additional day allowed for every additional ten miles or fraction. The fee for recording a claim is $5.

At least $100 must be expended on the claim each year or paid to the mining recorder in lieu thereof. When $500 has been expended or paid the locator may upon having a survey made, and upon complying with other requirements, purchase the land at $1.00 an acre.

Permission may be granted by the Minister of the Interior to locate claims containing iron and mica, also copper, in the Yukon Territory, of an area not exceeding 160 acres.

The patent for a mining location shall provide for the payment of royalty at the rate of 2½ per cent of the product of the location.

Placer Mining.—Manitoba and the N. W. T., excepting the Yukon Territory.—Placer mining claims generally are 100 feet square; entry fee, $5, renewable yearly. On the North Saskatchewan river claims are either bar or bench, the former being 100 feet long and extending between high and low water mark. The latter includes bar diggings, but extends back to the base of the hill or bank, but not exceeding 1,000 feet. Where steam power is used, claims 200 feet wide may be obtained.

Dredging in the rivers of Manitoba and the N. W. T., excepting the Yukon Territory.—A free miner may obtain only two leases of five miles each for a term of twenty years, renewable in the discretion of the Minister of the Interior.

The lessee's right is confined to the submerged bed or bars of the river below low water mark, and subject to the rights of all persons who have, or who may receive entries for bar diggings or bench claims, except on the Saskatchewan river, where the lessee may dredge to high water mark on each alternate leasehold.

The lessee shall have a dredge in operation within one season from the date of the lease for each five miles, but where a person or company has obtained more than one lease one dredge for each fifteen miles or fraction is sufficient. Rental, $10 per annum for each mile of river leased. Royalty at the rate of two and a half per cent collected on the output after it exceeds $10,000.

Dredging in the Yukon Territory.—Six leases of five miles each may be granted to a free miner for a term of twenty years, also renewable.

The lessee's right is confined to the submerged bed or bars in the river below low water mark, that boundary to be fixed by its position on the 1st day of August in the year of the date of the lease.

The lessee shall have one dredge in operation within two years from the date of the lease, and one dredge for each five miles within six years from that date. Rental, $100 per mile for first year, and $10 per mile for each subsequent year. Royalty same as placer mining.

Placer Mining in the Yukon Territory.—Creek, gulch, river and hill claims shall not exceed 500 feet in length, measured on the base line or general direction of the creek or gulch, the width being from 100 to 2,000 feet. All other placer claims shall be 500 feet square.

Claims are marked by two legal posts, one at each end, bearing notices. Entry must be obtained within ten days, if the claim is within ten miles of mining recorder's office. One extra day allowed for each additional ten miles or fraction.

The person or company staking a claim must hold a free miner's certificate.

The discoverer of a new mine is entitled to a claim of 1,000 feet in length, and if the party consists of two, 1,500 feet altogether, on the output of which no royalty shall be charged, the rest of the party ordinary claims only.

Entry fee $10. Royalty at the rate of two and one half per cent on the value of the gold shipped from the Yukon Territory to be paid to the Comptroller.

No free miner shall receive a grant of more than one mining claim on each separate river creek or gulch, but the same miner may hold any number of claims by purchase, and free miners may work their claims in partnership by filing notice and paying fee of $2. A claim may be abandoned, and another obtained on the same creek, gulch or river, by giving notice and paying a fee.

Work must be done on a claim each year to the value of at least $200.

A certificate that work has been done must be obtained each year; if not, the claim shall be deemed to be abandoned, and open to occupation and entry by a free miner.

The boundaries of a claim may be defined absolutely by having a survey made and publishing notices in the Yukon Official Gazette.

Petroleum.—All unappropriated Dominion Lands in Manitoba, the Northwest Territories and within the Yukon Territory are open to prospecting for petroleum, and the miner may reserve for an individual or company having machinery on the land to be prospected, an area of 640 acres. Should the prospector discover oil in paying quantities, and satisfactorily establish such discovery, an area not exceeding 640 acres, including the oil well and such other land as may be determined, will be sold to the discoverer at the rate of $1.00 an acre, subject to royalty at such rate as may be specified by order-in-council.

Department of the Interior, Ottawa, Sept. 1903.

ZINC SMELTER.

"Zinc enrichment and smelting is to be an accomplished fact in the Kootenays at no late date. Constant Fernau, the English engineer and chemist, who originated the idea of treating Canadian zinc ores on the ground, was in Rossland last night enroute from England to the Slocan, where the initial start in the advanced stages of the zinc industry will be made," says the Rossland Miner of last Saturday.

"Mr. Fernau has been absent from the country for several months. The enterprise of which he is the practical head has excited much interest throughout the country for several months, and he was requested by the Miner to make a statement on the topic. Mr. Fernau was exceedingly averse to discussing his plans, owing to misrepresentations anent himself and his undertaking subsequent to his last visit to the Kootenays, but on being pressed upon he said:

"'I hope it will suffice to say that I am here for a stay of many months, in the course of which I propose to put into effect the plans outlined when here last. The zinc enrichment works at Rosebery and the zinc smelter at Fernie will be built. The machinery for the Rosebery works is ordered, and part of the plant needed at Fernie is under order. The purchase price for the enrichment works site at Rosebery has been paid over, and a start will be made at once with the buildings. Installation of plant can be proceeded with at our convenience, once the superstructure is finished. The plans for the Fernie works require some finishing touches, and these will be done by my draughtsman, who will be here in a fortnight.'

"The Rosebery enrichment works which are to be constructed under Mr. Fernau's plans, will be the first of the kind in Canada. It is intended to 'concentrate zinc concentrate;' that is, to take the crude concentrates carrying zinc and mechanically handle the product to eliminate a further percentage of contents other than the desirable zinc. The higher percentage of zinc thus obtained renders the product more desirable from the smelter's standpoint and reduces the bulk on which railroad tolls must be paid. The process of enrichment is based on standard concentrating practice, varied to meet the special ore in treatment. On the start it is understood the Rosebery works will handle the zinc produced at the Monitor mine in Three Forks, while provision is to be made for the handling of customs concentrates.

"Much the most interesting factor in Mr. Fernau's plans, is however, the construction of the zinc smelter at Fernie, which, he states, will now be proceeded with under his personal supervision. One of the objections to the erection of such a plant heretofore has been the excessive cost of construction. The outlay on machinery is comparatively small, less mechanical plant being required than in an ordinary lead smelter, owing to the elimination of blowing apparatus. Exceptionally large and heavy furnaces of fire brick are required, and such construction costs heavily with fire brick at $70 to $80 per thousand. Then at Fernie a gas plant will be required, the fuel used in the furnaces being gas. The latter fact is the reason for the erection of the works at Fernie.

GREAT MARKET.

"The fulfillment of Mr. Fernau's plans should have a decidedly stimulating effect upon the production of zinc in British Columbia. The metal is widely distributed, although usually in conjunction with lead. Heretofore it has been a detriment to lead ores, owing to the zinc penalty charged at lead smelters, and this condition prevailed until recently, when zinc concentrates from the Kootenays have found a fairly good market in Kansas and abroad.

"The Fernie smelter will be constructed with a view to finally handling 30,000 tons of zinc ores per annum. This tonnage is by no means available at the present time, hence the plant when ready for operation will be prepared to purchase 10,000 tons of zinc ores per year. From time to time the plant will be extended until the maximum is reached, after which, should any further expansion be desirable in future years, the mechanical apparatus will require to be increased.

"The smelter will produce spelter, which is zinc containing a small percentage of lead, iron and other imparities. The demand for spelter is very great, and its use in the industries is continually growing, while in some important fields of production the tonnage produced is on the down-grade. The principal consumption of zinc is in galvanizing and the manufacture of brass, while in Europe large quantities are used in sheets of the pure metal for roofing.

"It is naturally expected that the establishment of works for the treatment of zinc ores will stimulate the development of properties producing ores which have hitherto had small inducement to operate."

Increase in Revenue From Timber.

Vancouver Province: It is learned that the revenue accruing to the provincial government from timber royalties, irrespective of that from timber licenses, during the months of July and August of the present year exceeds the revenue from royalties alone derived during any four months in the history of the province.

The revenue from royalties during the month of July, the first month of the present fiscal year, was in the neighborhood of $50,000 while that from the same source during the month of August is said to have been about $15,000, making a total of $65,000 in revenue for the two months.

Never before during the history of the lumber industry in British Columbia has so great an amount of revenue been derived in any four months from the actual returns on timber manufactured into lumber. Conditions in the lumber industry at present are such as to justify the prediction that the total revenue of the government from this source will this fiscal year exceed that of the last fiscal year, when the amount derived was approximately $250,000.

Will Build Flathead Line.

Victoria, Sept., 11—The deal for the building of a railway into the Flathead oil and coal country was consummated on Saturday night. There was a hitch in the negotiations following the announcement of two weeks ago, but all difficulties were finally overcome, and arrangements as then made now stand.

The railway company is really subsidary to the coal company, and will build from Flathead to Morrissey.

D. C. Corbin of Spokane is understood to be at the back of the railway company, which receives a hundred coal claims as a bonus, or over sixty thousand acres.

THE GIRL OPPOSITE

.... By Leslie Gray

Copyright, 1902, by McClure's Newspaper Syndicate

Sudden starting of the elevated train fairly jerked Alston Davis into a seat. His armful of papers slid to the floor.

As he stooped to recover them his glance fell upon the face of the girl opposite.

It was delicate and sensitive, framed in a soft mass of hair. There was something attractive in the clear pallor of her cheeks and the appealing droop of the mouth. Yet Alston smiled grimly.

"One of the clinging type that I despise," he said to himself. "The kind that scream at a mouse, and all women are more or less of that variety. It only shows how stubborn Ursula is when she argues that they have courage. Courage!"

But the girl must have become conscious of his contemptuous scrutiny, for a flush rose to her cheek and she turned toward the window. Thus admonished, Alston betook himself to his paper.

He had just buried himself in the stock quotations when the sheet was almost torn from his hand. Some one lurched heavily against him.

He looked up in surprise not unmixed with anger, but the aggressor was already part way up the aisle. It was a woman who staggered blindly up the car. Now she turned uncertainly so that he could see her face.

She was no pleasant sight. She was black haired, black browed, middle aged and drunk. Dirt and grime had taken all vestige of respectability from her shabby clothes. A rusty black bonnet was perched rakishly on the back of her head. From beneath this gray-black locks straggled. On one cheek was the mark of a bruise. As she again lurched past, evidently groping for the door, her eyes were fixed in a glassy stare. Her lips muttered unintelligibly.

Alston's ear caught a sigh that was half a sob. The girl opposite was gazing at the woman with fascinated, fear dilated eyes. Others in the car were watching and smiling. Now, as a lurch of the train flung her into an empty seat, there was an audible titter. Not a hand was raised to help her.

In a minute she was on her feet again, but the shock had turned her round, and she began a second labored passage up the car.

The girl had sunk into a miserable little heap. Alston watched her half pityingly, half anxiously. "She was just the kind of a girl to faint away," he told himself.

As the woman passed he caught among her mutterings the word "Twenty-third." Evidently that was the station where she wished to get off. Some one would have to help her. Who? The motorman stood stolidly on the platform between the cars. Alston comforted himself with the reflection that it was no business of his if a woman got so jolly drunk she could not take care of herself. City life superinduces a certain hardness.

To quiet his guilty conscience he turned again to the girl.

She, too, had caught the word "Twenty-third." It was the next station. She looked around appealingly. She was the only woman in the car. The men were engrossed in their papers or smiling broadly at the fun.

Her face whitened into determination. She got up hastily and touched the woman on the arm. The wretched creature turned aggressively, but something of the pain and pity in the young face seemed to pierce her befuddled brain.

"Twenty-third street," she said thickly, while a fatuous smile spread over her face.

"You want to get off at Twenty-third," the girl repeated gently. "Yes; I know. I will help you off."

Alston sprang to her side. "Let me help," he implored.

The girl turned to him defiantly. "No; thank you," she said in cool, even tones.

She drew her slender figure to its full height and took the woman's arm in hers. As she piloted the trembling figure down the long length of the car the smiles died away. There was such unveiled contempt in her flashing eyes that every man cowered.

Alston watched her in shamefaced wonder. This creature of fire and passion, this avenging goddess, was very different from the shy girl who had shrunk before his gaze.

Almost before he realized the train had stopped, had started and Twenty-third was left far behind. The girl opposite did not come back to her seat. She had left the car with her charge. As he thought of the gray eyes that had not flinched during that journey down the aisle the satisfied look of the self appointed judge had given place to a new humility.

* * * * * * *

"Alston, I want you to meet Miss Harcourt," his sister Ursula said as he strolled into her drawing room a night or two later. He saw a slender figure in pale gray and a delicate face framed in soft hair. His heart gave a great throb.

"You have often heard me speak of Elizabeth"— But she broke off in astonishment. A slow flush had crept up to the roots of her brother's hair, and, turning, she saw it was vividly reflected in the cheeks of the girl at her side.

"Oh, then you have met before? And I had been congratulating myself that I would be the first to make you friends!"

"Yes, we have met before," Alston answered unsteadily, in pity for the blushing girl, and he bent down in his courtliest manner and kissed a hand that trembled.

Ursula, observant sister, saw that explanations were due, so she stole away. Alston promptly sat down beside Miss Harcourt on the big divan.

"Can you forgive my impertinence in staring at you the other day?" he asked, too impetuous to waste time on preliminary conventionalities. "Oh, if you could only know how often I have thought of you since that afternoon and how I have loathed myself! Every man of us in that car was a cad, too fearful of public opinion to show that poor creature the commonest humanity. You put us all to shame by your courage. I dared not tell my sister that we were friends, but I want to be. Will you let me show you that I am not utterly a coward?" He held out his hand appealingly.

The girl gave him her hand. "I have thought about you, too," she confessed shyly, "but not as a cad. I was afraid that you would think me too forward. And I was rude too. You see, I recognized you from one of your photographs, and I knew you were not a coward. I knew I should meet you when I came here today"— She paused, and a rich tide of color swept over her cheeks.

Alston had meant to take her hand, but sudden intuition made him draw her to him instead.

"We shall be friends—and lovers," he whispered. And she did not say him nay.

Painting a Prince In Siam.

A well known New York artist, who has just returned from an extended journey in the far east, tells how he attempted to paint the portrait of a native prince in Korea:

"For more than three hours the prince sat motionless and without a word, like a statue. 'It is finished,' I told him at last, and he jumped up like a child and ran over to see the work. His delight was unbounded, and he seized my hand and began to shake it in a most enthusiastic manner.

"Suddenly he became grave and stared at the picture in a mystified way. He looked and looked, and then peered around at the back of the canvas. He seemed horrified beyond expression.

"'What is it?' I inquired.

"'You have not put in my jade ornament,' said he in despair.

"I had painted his portrait full face, and as the Koreans have a strange habit of putting small buttons of gold, silver, jade or amber behind the left ear these, of course, did not appear.

"My explanations did not satisfy the prince, so I did a rapid sketch of him in profile, bringing in the jade ornament.

"'That is all very well,' said he, 'but now where is the other eye?'"

Uses For the Baby Carriage.

"Did you ever notice the uses to which baby carriages are put?" asked the observant man. "Just look at those children taking those puppies out for an airing. The youngest child was graduated from that perambulator less than two years ago, I'll bet. The carriage is somewhat rickety now, and a careful mother would hardly intrust an infant to it, but it makes a good plaything for the children.

"I see laundresses wheeling baskets of clean clothes home to their customers in baby carriages. It beats walking and carrying a big basket. Only this morning I noticed two poorly clad girls gathering odds and ends of boards thrown aside by carpenters who were building a house. They put their stock of fuel in a baby carriage. I suppose they will take the baby out in that same perambulator this afternoon."—New York Press.

Pat Was a Sideboard.

An Irishman went to a foundry in Lancashire after work. When he arrived, he found another man there on the same errand. The foreman came, and Pat, being unaccustomed to asking for work, stood back, with the intention of hearing how the other fellow went about it.

After the man had asked, the foreman said, "What trade are you?"

"I'm a dresser," replied the man.

"Come tomorrow," said the foreman "I'll start you."

Turning to the Irishman, the foreman asked him what he was.

A Modern Newspaper Evil.

Talking of newspaper headings suggests a protest against the continual breaking of articles to continue on some succeeding or other page; more often other by the same token. Reading a daily journal has come to be very much like reading a weekly or monthly serial, only instead of having one novel to follow, you have half a dozen, the result being that you either overlook something that you would like to know or lose the thread of the argument and have to repeatedly turn back. The tendency is always nowadays to length, and I must confess that I sigh for the good old days of pith and brightness, when, for instance, The New York Sun used to give all the news all the time in concise form. Those days will return, mark my words, and the most successful and most profitable paper of the future will be the one that gives business men the day's information at the breakfast table in concise and easily digestible form. I, for one, never fail to read the summary of the news if one is given, before entering upon a perusal of the main body of the paper. In that way I often get possession of news that in the hurry would be overlooked.—The Captious One, in Toronto Sunday World.

The Eskimos of Canada.

The Census Bureau recently received from Rev. G. Walton, Church of England missionary, at Fort George on the east shore of Hudson Bay, the schedules of an enumeration of Eskimos, in Ungava. The schedules were not sent from Ottawa until the spring of 1901 and did not reach the enumerator until the Eskimos had gone from their usual domicile at Big Whale River to their hunting grounds, a considerable distance north. Mr. Walton had, therefore, to wait until the spring of 1902, before he could take the census and it was not until the subsequent September that an opportunity occurred of forwarding to Ottawa the results of his labors.

One hundred and seventy-four Eskimos, which number only represent one-third of the total, were counted. There were altogether forty-two families. All belong to the Church of England and almost all the adults can read and write. A typical name for the head of a family is Oochungwak and for a wife Melukto.

ITEMS FROM MOYIE

From the Moyie Leader

It is said that the boys in Medicine Hat are anxious to get a match with the Moyie baseball team.

Jack Cronin, Norbert Neiderstadt and James Harper returned to the Gonzaga college in Spokane this week

T. Roberts, of the firm of Arnold & Roberts Cranbrook, was in in town during the week rustling for business.

Wm. Mills and family have moved to Fernie for a short time. Mr. Mills will have charge of the Central hotel during the absence of Mrs. Jennings in the east.

The Dominion celebration in Moyie and the Labor Day celebration in Cranbrook will be hereafter be the two big events of the year so far as this district is concerned.

This is pay-day at the St. Eugene and a sum of $24,000 will be disbursed. On account of the shortage of water it was necessary to lay off some of the men. Therefore the payroll for August is about $1,000 less than that for July.

Prof. Walker of Toronto university was here this week inspecting the mines and procuring ore sample for geological purposes. On Wednesday in company with O. Johnson he went to the Society Girl mine east of the St. Eugene for the purpose of securing some specimens of phosphate of lead. This is the only mine in Canada where this character of ore is found.

The way that the people of Cranbrook have of celebration is anything but slow. Their Labor Day celebration was the best ever held in the district. The prizes were liberal, and the various events were pulled off without the slightest hitch. Nearly 300 people turned out from Moyie. The mine and sawmill were shut down for the day and the town was practically deserted.

Two churches are now in course of erection in Moyie. D. J. Johnston has the contract of building both, and expects to have his work finished in a month's time. The Catholic church is 27½ feet wide and 70 feet long. It is being built on a stone foundation and it will be in every way a substantial edifice, costing who finished nearly $3,000. The Methodist church is 24x36 feet and has a study adjoining 12x20 feet.

A party of Moyie gentlemen consisting of A. R. Stephenson, R. Gardner, Dan McKay, and W. Appleton, left Thursday for Ashcroft, and from there they go out on the proposed new line of railway. It is their intention to take timber limits and await the boom which will naturally come with the building of the road. All four until recently have been in the employ of the Moyie Lumber Co. They are good fellows and the best wishes of the people go with them.

Echo From the North.

The Ketchikan, Alaska, Journal, in writing of the Maime mine and its development, has this to say of J. L. Parker, formerly superintendent of the North Star mine, and Paul Johnson, well known in British Columbia:

J. L. Parker, a mine operator and manager of ability and long practical experience, has charge of the mine, and unlike his predecessors is proceeding on a systematic plan of development looking to to the largest production of which the mine may be capable and that his efforts in that direction will be abundantly rewarded may be fairly well considered a reasonable certainty.

Dr. Paul Johnson, under whose personal supervision and direction the plant began and brought to its present state of perfection stands high among scientific and practical smelting managers and operators of the United States and to his signal ability and indomitable energy is mainly due the credit for the magnation within so short space of time of an industrial enterprise destined to be so profilic of future if not immediate, beneficial results to this immediate section of Alaska. In this work he has the aid of an able staff of assistants—notably L. C. Shaw, chief constructor of buildings, master mechanic, R. Linden, draughtsman, and Gus Sundberg assayer.

Alexander Laird, assistant general manager of the Canadian Bank of Commerce, was in town a few days ago en route for the coast. Mr. F. C. Malpas, manager of the local branch, accompanied him as far as Nelson.

A. H. Jarnigan is getting everything in shape on the Dominion group on the St. Marys for carrying on work this winter. Bunk houses are being built, supplies are being taken in and everything indicates great activity during the winter months.

Miss Gertie Williams left last Wednesday for Vancouver and Victoria. She will visit in both places two weeks before she resumes her studies at Vancouver, where she is attending Normal. Milt Williams, her brother, accompanied her part of the way.

Unusual activity is noticeable on the Moyie river just above the falls where a number of men are placer mining It is said that there are some good clean-ups being made, showing beyond question that the Moyie is a stream that will give good returns for some time to come.

The plans are being drawn for the new fire house which will be built without delay. It will be a two story structure fitted up for the hose cart and hook and ladder, with sleeping room for members of the brigade. There will be a tower at the front for a fire bell, and when completed will be a modern firehouse in every respect, equipped with apparatus to successfully fight any Cranbrook fire that may be reached in a reasonable time.

Business men should change their ads. A dead ad. is a bad thing for any business. Keep up with the procession.

FERNIE NEWS

From the Free Press.

Messrs. White and and Comtois contractors, have received the contract for the lock-up at Michel. This building is one of the regulation style, with three cells, a passage and two small rooms.

Con Whelan leaves to-morrow for Toronto. It is said that he will follow his brother's example and bring back a wife from the Napanee River.

Rev. D. McK. Reid who has been substituting for Rev. D. L. Gordon at Knox church for some time left on Tuesday for High River, where he will be stationed for a time. Rev. Mr. Gordon and family are expected home this week.

A little girl of four or five travelling alone was a passenger on the yesterday morning's express to Fernie. The little tot had come all the way from England to live with Thos. Evans of this place. She is an orphan and friends are assisting the helpless children by taking them to raise.

Big game is reported from Baynes lake. A pair of Ferneites drove down from Elko on Monday. At the mill the team were allowed to stand untied. They started off and one of the above nameless gentlemen started after them. He caught up with them but as he was in the act of climbing into the the buggy a revolver which he carried in his hand was discharged. The bullet entered the body of one of the horses and after a time he died.

The swinging bridge over the Elk River at Morrissey Junction collapsed yesterday afternoon at 5 p. m., caused by the heavy wind that was blowing. Mr. W. Stewart, proprietor of the Union hotel, was on the bridge and he was thrown violently to the rocks beneath. He received serious injurias but their particular nature are not known. This bridge was the only crossing of the town excepting the G. N. Railway bridge.

Construction Trains Called in.

All construction trains on the C. P. R. have been recalled, preparatory to the beginning of the wheat movement. The initial shipments of grain are expected to take place the latter part of next week and within ten or twelve days it will probably be in full swing. As the season is later this year than usual, the company is going to try and get the greater part of the crop at the lake ports as fast as it can be delivered. To do this they need all available motive power, and consequently construction trains have been called off.

New Lumber Deal

J. Hanbury, the chief stock holder in the North Star Lumber company, as well as the owner of a large sash, door and finishing factory at Brandon, was in town a few days last week looking after his business in this district. Mr. Hanbury has studied the lumber situation in this district for the past year, both from the standpoint of the manufacturer here and the purchaser on the prairie. He admits that with many of the smaller manufacturers matters have not been as rosy as they might have been, and he has evolved a scheme by which he thinks he can vastly improve that condition so far as the local lumbermen are concerned and at the same time build up a good business for himself. His proposition is this. He has purchased land at Elko between the C. P. R. and Great Northern depots, on which he proposes to build an up to date planing mill, with a large dry kiln and other modern accessories. His plan is to buy the product of the smaller mills in the rough, so that they escape entirely the expense of finishing, the insurance, the interest paid, and the expense of a man on the road to sell one or two million feet of lumber. This lumber will be shipped direct from the saw to Mr. Hanbury's plant at Elko and at the end of each month the small mill owner gets his money. "I believe that the plan is a good one," said Mr. Hanbury, "and feasible in every respect. At least I have enough faith in it to go ahead, and if the small mills cannot see it as I do then I will have to put in some small mills myself and supply my finishing plant. But I believe that they will. They cannot hold their lumber, they have no facilities for drying, and consequently they are paying out thousands of dollars to the C. P. R. every year for hauling water from their mills to the prairie If I make as a profit what they have been paying the C. P. R. as freight on water I will be satisfied. I will leave in a few days for the east to look over the latest machinery and appliances for handling lumber cheaply, so as to reduce the cost to a minumum figure, and I have no doubt that I will make a success of the proposition."

The plan proposed by Mr. Hanbury may prove the salvation of the small mill owner. There is no doubt that many of them are under an expense in getting out their product that is all out of proportion as compared with the larger mills. This would enable any man with a small limit to put in a portable mill and start to work, since he would know that his market was assured. As it is now, with many mills getting out lumber, and those without capital unable to hold their product, there is confusion in the market which is bad for any legitimate trade. The idea that is entertained by many on the prairie that the manufacturers of British Columbia are rolling in wealth would be very quickly dissipated on even a cursory investigation. The sale of the product right at home will do away with the uncertainty and may result in a benefit to all concerned.

Literary and Musical Society.

The committee appointed last winter to arrange for the revival of the literary society for this season met the other night. As the sentiment in favor of the organization of the club is strong, it was decided to call an open meeting on Friday, Sept. 30, to reorganize and to decide what line of effort shall be carried out. In the meantime, it was thought best to announce some of the suggested ideas that have been brought forward in connection with this year's proposed effort. If these are carefully thought over by those interested, the business of the first meeting will be expedited.

One suggestion is to affiliate the club with the Success League, an organization embracing numberless clubs throughout the United States and Canada, having for their principal activity, viz., debating, declamation, literary work, reading and lecture courses, dramatics, athletics and healthy social diversion. The league is a union of success clubs for the benefit of co-operation. The union is a very loose one and is intended to be mutually inspirational. The Success club of Nelson was organized along these lines.

Among the suggested features of the club's work are: Debating and musical programs, current events, mock parliament, hustings, Shakesperean study, study of history, for instance that of ancient Greece. As the purpose of the club is not simply one of amusement, but also of self-improvement, the idea of taking up the study of things Shakespearian seems to be meeting with popular favor, as there are a great many would like to become better acquainted with Will of Avon.

Grecian history would also furnish the club with an opportunity for pleasure and profit. As the club will most likely continue for some years, a progressive outline of work as indicated above should be profitable.

Weekly meetings with shorter sessions will also be considered.

Reorganization, election of officers, and a discussion of the plan of work will be taken up on Friday, Sept. 30, in the Oddfellows' Hall.

School Benefit.

Much gratification is felt in town over the coming of the Jessie Shirley company on Friday and Saturday evenings and Saturday afternoon of this week. This excellent company will produce on Friday evening "The Princess of Patches," for the Saturday matinee, "The Child of the Regiment" and on Saturday night, "Camille." A percentage of the receipts of all three performances will be given to Mr. King, principal of the school, for the school library fund. It is to be hoped, therefore, that the efforts of the pupil ticket-sellers will be highly successful and that the school library will be richer for the coming of the company. Secure your tickets from the children. They can be exchanged at Beattie's for the tickets bearing the reserve coupon.

"One on Baldy."

At a game of whist recently where Constable Morris and another gentleman of even greater averdupois and less hair were seated, the latter suddenly turned to the other participants in the game, and said: "I have never told you of the time my friend Morris and I were in Winnipeg have I? Well, you know we were staying at the Manitoba, and had been taking in the sights of the town, so on this particular occasion retired rather late. On the following morning I appeared on deck at about nine o'clock. There being no sign of Morris, I read the morning paper and whiled away the time until about a quarter to ten, waiting for "Baldy" to turn up that we might have breakfast together. Becoming impatient as to the welfare of my friend, I finally summond up enough courage to go to his room Knocking at the door, I was told, in a petulant voice to enter. I discovered my friend "Baldy", in a dreadful state of mind, in fact he was much upset. Eager to know the cause of distress and delay, I asked him why he did not come down to breakfast, that I had been waiting for him a very long time, to which he replied, in tones of agony, that it was simply impossible for him to go down stairs, as some one had stolen his hair brushes, and he could not go down in that state.

St. Eugene Mission.

Rossland Miner: Easily the most interesting missionary enterprise in the Kootenays is the St. Eugene mission, established many years ago by Father Coccola, the devoted Jesuit priest, who was fortunate enough to secure substantial monetary assistance for his missionary enterprise through being one of the locators of the great St. Eugene silver-lead mine. hundreds of Indians have passed through the course of training at the mission, and are now useful, intelligent and prosperous agriculturists, while the mission farm is among the best cultivated and most profitable in the province. This year the hay crop on the mission was excellent, and grain was good wherever irrigated. On the land without water the drought affected grain seriously. The mission is famous for its fruits, and the outlbok for a large yield of apples and other fruits is bright.

A Probable Town.

A gentleman talking the other day regarding the building of the Kootenay Central and the probable results, said: "Do you know where there is liable to be a big town in this district? I will tell you. If the Fenwick mountain turns out as is expected it will prove the greatest deposit of iron ore in British Columbia. The Kootenay Central will pass close to it. The next town in British Columbia is liable to be at the crossing of this road over Bull river, and if the deal goes through for the iron properties that is pending, that town will be a hummer. Just remember what I have said and watch the trend of events."

OBSERVATIONS
BY THE OLD MAN

We believe in good schools, and we know that to secure good schools there must be good teachers. There is still another important point, and that is the co-operation of the parents. While reading the other day we ran across the following suggestions that impressed us as containing a lot of good horse sense, and we reproduce them for the benefit of The Herald readers:

Do not be afraid to go to the teacher and give her an idea of your child's disposition and temperment. Your years of experience with him will be valuable to her. She will thank you for it.

Do not believe all that your children tell you about school. There was only one George Washington, and he is dead.

Do not fail to make allowance for slight exaggeration when hearing of pranks in school. They strive to stimulate the imagination in school nowadays, but hardly in that direction.

Do not accuse the teacher of undue favoritism. If she is kinder to one child than to another it is because that one does not take advantage of the liberty allowed him. This is simple justice.

Do not tell the teacher that Willie will not lie. She probably knows better.

Do not condemn the teacher without a fair hearing. That is accorded to even the worst criminal. There are usually two sides to a story.

Do not send a scathing note to the teacher by Nellie, the contents of which she knows. Her aggressive look of triumph is not soothing, and the teacher is only human.

Do not make unfavorable comment upon the methods of the teacher in the presence of your child. Send him to carry in the wood while you are doing so, if it must be done.

Do not expect the teacher to understand Jimmie's disposition the first day. You have studied it for six years and there are still kinks in it which you have failed to straighten out.

Do not let your children hear you tell of the tricks you successfully played upon the teacher when you attended school. They need no instructor in mischief.

Do not plead lack of time to visit the school. There is no excuse for shirking a duty.

Do not reproach the teacher with the fact that "Tommy has not learned a single thing the entire year." She is not responsible for his lack of brains.

Do not send a verbal request to have Jessie's seat changed. There is often no vacant seat, and one change usually means at least half a dozen.

Do not forget that the teacher's interest in your child is personal. She will do more to help him than any one except yourself.

Do not expect the teacher to manage without friction a child whom you yourself have never been able to control.

Do not insist that the teacher is keeping your child back through spite. She will hardly risk her reputation as an instructor to gratify a personal grudge, however disagreeable the child may be.

Do not condemn the teacher because she makes mistakes. You make them in managing three or four children; she has fifty or more.

Do not forget that the parent owes a duty to the teacher just as surely as the teacher does to the child.

Great Advertising Medium.

Last week Swinarton & Armstrong, of the Manhattan hotel, had an ad. in The Herald for a man and wife to take charge of the dining-room. The following letter speaks for itself:

Moyie, B.C., Sept. 21, 1904. Old Man Simpson, Cranbrook. Sir: You need not continue our ad. re wanting a man and wife to run dining-room. Once is all that anyone need advertise in the Cranbrook Herald. You can understand by that, that we have a man and wife here taking things over to-morrow. Yours respectfully, Swinarton & Armstrong.

Services in Baptist Church.

Services in the Baptist church at the usual hour. Morning subject. "The Warrior's Morning Hymn." Evening. "A Lonely Grave." During the evening service Miss Finniss will sing the solo "He Shall Wipe Away Every Tear From Thine Eye." All welcome.

Don Carlos, the Hypnotist.

Don Carlos and his company of funny fun makers will open on Monday, Sept. 26, for one week. Don Carlos is an hypnotist, up-to-date in his influence on animals as well as men. Remember the opening date, next Monday.

Big Plant is Ready

This week sees the close of work on what is probably the largest and most expensive placer plant in the district, that established by the Perry Creek Hydraulic Mining company on Perry Creek above Old Town. Three years ago a Wisconsin syndicate acquired nine leases on the creek and then in a businesslike manner proceeded to get ready to work the property on a large scale. For two years they have kept steadily at it except during a portion of the winter season, and on Saturday of this week the men will be paid off and the big works will be ready for operation. The flume is about four miles and a half long with a fall of something over 600 feet, giving a head that would sweep most any house in Cranbrook off it's foundation if the stream from one of the giants were to be turned upon it. The flume is four feet deep and four feet wide, and where the water is carried over a gulch an inverted siphon is used, which is constructed of an iron pipe 28 inches in diameter and 1,800 feet in length. This pipe was made right at the creek, the sheet iron being brought here from Pennsylvania and iron workers secured who established their works on the ground and made the pipe under the supervision of the management. Everything will be completed by Saturday night and all ready for the heavy work to begin, with one exception, and that is the water supply. This has been an unusual season, and as a result the water in the creek is lower than has been known for years, and this may render it impossible to carry on the work of hydraulicing to the extent desired until the water supply is increased. The ground to be worked is the old bed of the stream and has been throughly prospected by tunnels. This great work has been carried on by the original stockholders of the company, and the stock is held in the hands of a very few men in Wisconsin and this district. Not a dollar of it has been sold, and although there has been in the neighborhood of $100,000 expended this burden has been borne by the promoters of the scheme. Last year the work was carried on under the supervision of J. T. Trow, who had little to say but kept steadily at the task in hand. This spring he was joined by H. A. Bright, of Black River Falls, Wis., president and general manager of the company, who said that he would stay until the plant was ready for business. He has done so and worked early and late like a trojan, going back and forth from one end of the work to the other, keeping his eye on every move until now he can console himself with the thought that the big task is drawing to a close and that the plant is a success.

The construction work of this company has been a good thing for the district in general and for Cranbrook in particular. They have bought their supplies here and made this place their headquarters. What is more, the people have found the representatives of the company agreeable individuals to deal with, and everyone in this part of the district are hoping that the most sanguine expectations of the promoters will be more than realized.

C. P. R. After Conductors.

Winnipeg Free Press: The Free Press was informed last night that investigations are now under way on the Canadian Pacific railway west of Brandon, as a result which six passenger conductors have already been discharged, and it is calculated that wholesale dismissals will follow later, the number of heads to fall being estimated at 100, in round figures. Prosecutions, it is said, are also contemplated against some employees who have been found systematically cheating the road.

Some months ago, the Free Press informant said the company engaged operatives in the employ of the Theil Detective agency, as some of the heads of its own special service department had been tried and found wanting, and it was deemed necessary to dispense with some of their services. The Theil men from the States flooded the towns along the road west of Brandon and started to work in with the railway employees.

Investigations went on secretly, and are still being made and information, it is said, has been received at the head office here which indicates that the mis-appropiations of some of the employees have been large.

From semi-official sources it was learned that the company had only begun to act and that other developments along these lines might be expected during the next couple of weeks.

Similar investigations appear to have been prosecuted on the Canadian Northern railway lines and one conductor was discharged for carrying a detective free. The spotter claimed to be a gramophone agent and actually sold instruments along the line. He sold the conductor one and took it's value out in transportation, thus cheating the company of his fare, with the conductor's connivance.

Fighting Tuberculosis.

Dr. Fagan, of the provincial board of health, was in town the other day in the interests of the movement to establish an hospital in this province by popular subscription for the treatment of tuberculosis. The idea is to get the laboring men all over the province interested and secure from each one the uniform amount of $1. When there has been sufficient subscribed to warrant it the trustees will go ahead and build a home for this purpose. The place will be some where in the Kamloops valley. The increase in the number of these cases has caused the provincial government through its board of health to take up the matter. It is of more importance to the laboring man than to one who has the money to seek a change of climate when afflicted. With a home of that kind, when a laboring man, or anyone else who desires to go, becomes a victim of the white plague, he is sent there at once by the authorities, providing he has not the means to meet his own expenses, and if taken in time the disease can be arrested or cured. It is not only a great boon for the victim of the disease, but by confining him to a place of that kind it prevents the spread of the disease among his associates. There will be a meeting held in Cranbrook before long to discuss the matter, and it is to be hoped that every labor union in this part of the district will take hold of the proposition and endeavor to make this meeting one of the largest ever held in Cranbrook.

The Coal Fields.

Nelson News: A returned traveler from East Kootenay says that the Rossland syndicate who have interests in the Flathead country have had an expedition in on the ground to size up the situation. The party consisted of Ross Thompson, James Fisher and Louis Stockett, the latter a brother of Thomas R. Stockett, late manages of the Crows Nest Pass Coal company, a coal expert of great experience. They found 18 seams of coal running from 5 to 40 feet in width, or 250 feet wide all told. This coal is situated on the Flathead river and Lodge Pole creek. It is of good quality, bituminous and good coking coal.

J. W. Steele, of Lubreck, Alta. was in the city last night on his way to the coast, says the Nelson News. Mr. Steele is a very old timer in that part of the country and has seen it develop from a "spot on the range" to a coal mining centre. The contracting firm of Breckenridge & Lund have been developing a coal mine at Lubreck, (a name derived from the union of the names of the members of the firm), which is now on a shipping basis and producing an excellent quality of domestic coal for which a ready market is found at the prairie towns of Cowley, Pincher Creek and Macleod. Mr. Steele says there is a great future in store for the coal fields of south western Alberta, that while the coal and coke of southeastern British Columbia will always find a ready market at the smelters of British Columbia and Montana, the Alberta coal will supply the wants of the prairies to the east.

The Nelson Fair.

The prizes of the children's department in connection with the Nelson Fair are very good, and include 12 prizes for penmanship, 4 prizes for drawing; also prizes for map in colors, two prizes of $5 and $3 for relief map of West Kootenay by pupils of high and public schools, 3 prizes for collection of postage, 2 prizes for best boquet of wild flowers, two prizes for best three house plants grown by girls under 15 years. Prizes are also offered for embroidery, crochet work, monograms, darning, best six button holes, and for the best dressed doll to be done by girls under 15 years.

CRANBROOK HERALD

A. Simpson

Editor and Proprietor.

The Herald is worth $10 a year. It costs only $2. No man in South East Kootenay can afford to be without it, and everyone living outside of the district, who is interested in the progress of this section, should read it. It publishes the news while it is news. It is controlled absolutely by the publisher. No clique, party or individual dictates it policy. It don't try to please the people. It's desire is to publish a newspaper that will be a credit to the community. Send in your subscription and and you will be thankful ever afterward.

Advertising rates $1 per inch, single column, per month, no more and no less.

Reading matter 15 cents per line to non-advertisers, 10 cents per line to regular advertisers. Business locals five cents per line each insertion.

If you desire to reach the people of South East Kootenay you must advertise in The Herald.

The Herald has a firstclass job plant, and its work is of the best. The Herald don't want charity. It wants a square deal on your job work. If we can't suit you in quality and price, kick, and send your work to some Cheap John house in the east that never spends a cent in Cranbrook.

HOW ABOUT IT?

Is incorporation to be a benefit or a detriment? The question is an important one, and affects every property holder and resident of Cranbrook. But the question should be treated fairly and from an intelligent standpoint. It is up to the people of Cranbrook to decide, and the decision should be based on the knowledge of the facts, and not the result of petty prejudice or hope of petty gain. The "pass the hat" system has reached the limit in Cranbrook. The town is growing. There are improvements needed now, and more of importance later on. Who is to pay for them? What is to be the result of the liberal contributions for the fire department? Are these to be paid back by the town when incorporated or are fifteen men to meet the expense of fire protection in Cranbrook? The sidewalks are now a disgrace to the community, and a menace to life and limb as well. Where is the money coming from to fix them? The town is soon to have a waterworks system. Who is to pay for the hydrants that will afford further fire protection? The people who take water will be taxed a higher rate to meet the expense, you say. Why should this proportion of the people be taxed to meet necessary obligations that should rest upon all alike?

Cranbrook is growing. It is the natural center of this part of the district. The district is growing. If Cranbrook is to maintain her supremacy, she must go ahead. When a business house enjoys an increase in its business, it meets the situation by supplying additional facilities, although it costs something. That is business. Will Cranbrook meet the demand made upon the town as the accepted metropolis of this section, or will her people lie supinely down and drift with the tide?

It is said that there is some opposition to incorporation from the hotels, as it is claimed that under incorporation licenses will be granted for saloons. There is no danger of that. The hotel keepers as a body are opposed to saloons, their friends are opposed to saloons, and what is termed the "church element," are opposed to saloons. The same situation existed in Fernie, and it was met as it will be met in Cranbrook, by the passage of a by-law making it a condition that no licenses should be granted except to hotels with at least fifteen rooms.

All of these questions must be considered. A crisis has arrived in the history of Cranbrook. It is the duty of the people to take up the incorporation feature and discuss it intelligently and honestly. The Herald believes that incorporation is now a public necessity, and it has the courage of its convictions. Yet, The Herald may be mistaken. It believes in Cranbrook and Cranbrook's future. But it wants to state at this time one fact—no town will grow beyond a certain point by drifting. There comes a time when the people must take hold. That time has arrived in Cranbrook. Not only in regard to incorporation, but other matters as well. South East Kootenay is making rapid progress. There is going to be one large, central point in this district, one town that will grow to meet the demands of the district. Is it to be Cranbrook or some other place? Are we going to drift, or are we going to take hold of the oars and pull? It needs a pull altogether, not a few working at the oars, while the majority are attending to their own personal business, but all willing to make the sacrifice of time and energy that insures community success.

What are you going to do?

EDITORIAL NOTES.

November 17 is the date set for Thanksgiving day in Canada. It should be observed in Cranbrook, since the people of this town have much to be thankful for.

The Winnipeg Telegram is persistent in its blindness, as shown by its fight on the Grand Trunk railway. Some men are so narrow that to express their feelings politically they would cut off their thumbs to spite their little fingers.

This "holier than thou" business is a poor argument in a campaign.

The Montreal Star is sending out requests for advertising contracts to weekly newspapers at the rate of 1½ cents per line. The Star evidently is of the opinion that printers in this part of Canada are paid with mountain ozone.

The newspaper critic should always see that he does not live in a glass house before he turns his venom loose. The good nature of newspaper publishers often saves the reputation of many pestiferous fault-finders.

Inordinate vanity has lead many a man into trouble. But perhaps the worst vanity of all is that of the man who loves to see something that he has penned put in print. This brand of vanity is no respector of persons or rank. The ignorant, as well as the wise, are affected by it, and when it is working at its height, the victim is a subject for commiseration of his fellowmen.

"The enterprise is vastly greater and more important one than I thought it was," said Senator Cox, referring to the new transcontinental line. "Only those who have really investigated the facts can appreciate what this railway will mean for Canada and British Columbia. It is the greatest development project ever undertaken by mankind." And all of Canada will take the same view as soon as the elections are over. It means a Greater Canada and a Greater British Columbia. There are millions of acres of land awaiting transportation to bring to Canada increased prosperity, and to several millions of people, happy homes. A man may have the best wagon ready, yet it would be worthless without horses. It is the same with the land in the Great Northwest of Canada. This is not a question of party politics. It is simply a question of Greater Canada and greater prosperity.

All aboard for the Flathead country, some of Canada's richest lands. Go by the way of American points as the British Columbia government thinks so little of the business in that country that it has not spent a cent on either roads or trails to permit entrance by way of Canadian points.

Don McKay, road superintendent for this district, hurried to Morrissey when the swinging bridge was overturned by an accident, and within three days time had it as good as the suspension bridge at Niagara. All over the district are monuments to Mr. McKay's genius and ability. What British Columbia needs in every district is men who are practical road men, who know how to do things, who are never idle, who believe in work and also that the men employed by the government should work, who saves the government money by their energy and judgment, and who is willing to accept suggestions from each community as to what is best for that particular section. Men like this are of inestimable value to the province, and a credit to the party that appoints them. All eyes are now on South East Kootenay and a feeling of envy permeates the beating hearts of the tax payers in other less fortunate districts.

Never before in British Columbia has the provincial government's revenue from timber been so large And yet, when the Kootenays were burning up, no move was made by the government to save the timber to the lumberman.

Is there no one in authority in this part of the district who has the courage to spend $11.60 for sidewalks improvement in Cranbrook.

Canada cannot expect her representatives to withstand temptation when they receive the paltry sum of $1500 per year. It is a shame that a man with enough ability enough to serve his consituency in the Dominion parliament should not receive a sufficent amount to pay his legitimate expenses. In the United States a member of Congress receives $5,000 a year. That is little enough. If a man is not worth that much in parliament he is not worth anything.

Here is an item of news. John Houston spoke a good word for the McBride government the other day.

Fernie is well satisfied with incorporation.

Elko will be a town of importance some day. Located on two railways with the finest water power in British Columbia, the town will come into its own before many years pass away.

The trustees of the Cranbrook schools should secure a sufficent number of teachers to take care of the pupils. The idea of one teacher having eighty pupils is simply preposterous. If the department at Victoria are so slow or negligent as to fail to meet the necessities, then let the trustees show their independence and close the schools. Cranbrook must have proper educational facilities, and it is up to the trustees to see that the town secures them. The responsibility is upon their shoulders.

Charges of corruption in an election have been made against certain liberal members in Ontario. The liberal party should take the lead in a thorough investigation, and if the parties are guilty, never rest until the law has been vindicated. Corruption should be punished no matter what party it is in.

The individual who persists in his endeavor to injure the town of Cranbrook by petty stories based on prejudice is wasting his time. In the early day, those things were in the nature of an irritant to the people of this community, but now, since nature and the people themselves have unanimously declared Cranbrook the natural business, mining, government and railroad center of this district, such puny, pureil attempts to hurt the town are laughed at. The weak minded never know when to quit.

It is thought that the Great Northern extension from Morrissey to Fernie will be completed within ninety days.
