Exit, Daffodils Enter, Tulips

Marketed 6000 Dozens Daffs—Tulip Movement Under Way—Light Rhubarb Demand but No Call for Potatoes.

Daffodil shipping is over for the season and the cargo of these blooms from all points in the valley is placed at about 6000 dozens—most of which were from Stark flower farm at Creston. While prices realized have not been as remunerative as desired they are higher than last year and the volume somewhat greater.

The first of the tulips went out on Tuesday morning. The initial shipment was 400 dozens from the W. G. Littlejohn flower farm at Erickson. These were widely distributed, such points as Winnipeg, Regina, Moosejaw, Calgary, Edmonton and Medicine Hat being remembered. Opening prices, while not high, are better than last season, but if the present warm weather continues the local crop is likely to be about all harvested prior to the favored market for Mother's Day, May 13th. A year ago the crop came too late to catch this very desirable trade.

Asparagus got onto the shipping list at the end of the week, with L. T. Leveque, Mrs. G. Cartwright, H. Cowling, Erickson; W. A. McMurtrie, Alice Siding, and Monrad Wigen, Wynndel, the early shippers. The amount to be marketed is not large. At the middle of the week there was some demand for rhubarb, but this is not likely to continue. For potatoes there is absolutely no call from outside points.

With the blossom season fairly well advanced, provided no setbacks are encountered, it looks like a wonderful year for cherries and all stone fruits. The cherry bloom is particularly abundant. Pears are due for a light crop this year.

The blossom period would indicate that 1934 will be a big year for Delicious and McIntosh Reds, with the Wealthys also promising well. With the winter varieties the bloom is not far enough advanced to predict with any certainty, but taken all round this year's apple crop has every indication of considerably exceeding the 200,000-box crop of 1933.

From all sections come reports that orchard owners are paying closer attention to ranch work in all its branches, particularly to spraying and fertilizing. On unirrigated lands the moisture supply has never been better, and if no grief is encountered at the full moon period, which centres on Sunday, 29th, early season prospects could hardly be more promising.

Sirdar

Mr. and Mrs. James Wilson were visitors at Creston Saturday last.

Robin Taylor of Twin Bays was at Creston during the week with his truck for supplies.

C. B. Twigg of Creston paid a visit to the ranches at Twin Bays and Sanca during the week.

The number of bees in evidence at this time is considerable and, according to the old timers, unusual.

Mr. Pollard of the waters right branch, Nelson, was a business visitor here, looking into water licenses.

Mr. Duckett of Nelson who has taken a lease of the Lodge Inn, Kuskanook, has arrived here preparing for summer visitors.

H. Osborne of Kuskanook was in Creston on Monday attending the funeral of the late Water P. Edwards of Camp Lister.

A large number of young folks motored to Wynndel last Thursday to attend the dance there by the Commanders of of Trail.

R. S. Bevan of Creston was at Kootenay Landing on Sunday and Gus Benedetti was here from the Borosoto ranch by motor boat.

A slide occurred on the C.P.R. track on Saturday at Tye but was handled very quickly by several outside crews without any great impediment to traffic.

P. Longville of Twin Bays is busy enlarging his summer camp there and hopes to have everything completed and in order in time for the tourist season.

Mrs. James S. Wilson Miss Gwen and Charles Wilson, accompanied by Frank Hamilton, were visitors at Canyon on Sunday, guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. VanAckeran.

A softball match between Sirdar and Wynndel took place on Sunday at Wynndel, a very clean, well contested game resulted in a score of 11-7 in favor of Wynndel.

A notable increase in the number of Boswell people who go to Creston is evidently attributable to travelling facilities. This is as it should be as Creston is their natural centre.

The water as indicated at Slough bridge by guage, reads 10.5 feet for the week. The large outflow during the last two weeks would indicate that very high water is a remote possibility.

R Harris of Cranbrook and Mr. Fisher of Nelson, along with "Shorty" Millen of the B.C. Telephone Co., were business visitors at Atbara, the beginning of the week, proceeding up the lake later.

The Canadian Bridge Company, Ltd., whose equipment has been 'ying at at Kootenay Landing since their erection of the span over the Kootenay, have secured a contract near Grand Forks and expect to move in a day or so, on the arrival of some structural material.

Arrow Creek

Birth—To Mr. and Mrs. Bomer, a daughter, April 14th.

B. Cole is here from Sasketchewan on a visit at the Weere home.

Ingrid and Jens Wilson are employed on the Huscroft sawmill in the Huscroft area at present.

Old timers can not recall an April when Arrow Creek was showing such high water as this year.

Rev. F. G. M Story of Creston was calling on residents in the Arrow Creek area a couple of days last week.

Work has been done on the road past the P. Resche ranch. It straightens the road at this point, instead of crossing at an angle.

P. M. Wiltse, of Arrow Creek fox farm, is offering a reward of $10 apiece for a couple of silver foxes that escaped from th farm early in the week.

The water in Arrow Creek has established a record for the highest stream flow for April, but as yet is not as high as during the flood stage last June.

Mr. and Mrs. L. Olson of Canyon were callers at the Wilson home last week. Mr. Olson had the bad luck to lose considerable wood as well as his gasoline outfit by fire a few days previous.

C. B. Twigg, district agriculturist, was here from Creston Wednesday last, when he spoke at a meeting of Arrow Creek Improvement Association, on crop rotation and fertilizers suitable for Arrow Creek district.

Canyon City

C. Blair has just taken delivery of a Chevrolet sedan from Creston Motors, Creston.

J. Loubet is trying out his luck placer mining on the Goat River above the canyon.

Jock McRobb, jr., left for Trail this week where he has struck a job in the C M. & S. fertilizer plant.

Seeding operations are in full swing in the Frank Putnam acreage at the Nelson corner, most of which is being planted to oats.

Mrs. Miles Hurl and two children of Carmangay, Alberta, have arrived on a visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. Cook.

Mrs. Guy Browell of Nelson spent a few days here the past week on a visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. Hickey.

Mr. Pollard of the water rights branch, Nelson, is here again this week, finishing up his survey of water licenses in the Canyon area.

The pink spray is being applied in the Canyon apple orchards this week. Cherries and stone fruits are in full bloom and promise a heavy yield.

The mail carrying on the Creston-Canyon-Lister route will be in charge of John Lloyd, who has secured the contract for another four years.

Jock McRobb is wondering if Premier Pattullo's Special Powers Act is effective in the animal kingdom, due the fact that one of his Jersey cows has just given birth to twin calves, both of which are heifers.

With the badminton season over the young people are taking to tennis, and are utilizing the field opposite the store. Misses Blair and McRobb are in charge, pending the holding of an organization meeting.

Canyon's second store, with barber shop, opened for business this week on a location at the Martin Nelson corner, and is in charge of Lorne Craig, formerly of Erickson. Mr. Ruff had the distinction of getting the first haircut in the new establishment.

West Kootenay Power & Light Company had to resort to dynamite to clear the canyon of driftwood on Monday. Supt. Parker is on duty almost 24 hours daily keeping the driftwood on the move over the dam, which at the first of the week showed a depth of six feet of water over the dam's crest.

Observe Hospital Day, May 12

Women's Auxiliary Having Tea and Open House—Book Shower Quite Successful—Grounds Committee Wants Shrubs.

Creston Hospital Women'e Auxiliary met in regular April session on Thursday afternoon last, the president, Mrs. R. Stevens, presiding, with an attendance of 27 members.

Mrs. C. H. Hare, the auxiliary's representative on the hospital board, who is a member of the new hospital grounds' committee, appealed for donations of shrubs, etc., for beautifying the hospital grounds. Mrs. Cherrington reported for the visiting committee, and Mrs. Chas Murrell for the buying committee. The visiting committee for the ensuing month is Mrs. G. Jacks and Mrs. Hare.

Miss N. Downes, R.N., read a paper dealing with the observance of National Hospital Day, May 12th, giving a number of suggestions for attracting public attention to hospital work. The auxiliary will have a tea, with silver collection, at the hospital, on May 12th, and arrangements will be made to show visitors over the building.

Mrs. A. L. Palmer undertook to head the kitchen committee, Mrs. W. L. Bell will be in charge of the tea tables, assisted by Mrs. Forbes, Miss Irene LaBelle, Mrs. A. B. Ness, Mrs. Canute Anderson and Mrs. W. H. Cartwright.

The book shower brought in 35 volumes. Mrs. Joe Foster donated some plates, etc., for use in the hall. Feathers for pillows were donated by Miss Hanson, and a dozen dessert spoons for the hospital by Mrs. G. Sinclair, Mrs. Hare and a friend.

Tea hostesses were Mrs. Sinclair, Mrs. R. J. Forbes, Mrs. J. P. Ross and Mrs. H. A. Powell. Tea collection amounted to $2.40.

Institute Adopts Flower Show List

Wynndel Ladies O K Awards for 1934 Flower Show Which Replaces Fall Fair—Help with Purchase Hospital Awnings.

The April meeting of Wynndel Women's Institute was held at the United Church on Tuesday last with the president, Mrs. V. Johnson, in the chair. Hospital matters were the first order of business and a letter of thanks will be sent Mr. Crane for his good work in the construction of a dresser for the Institute room at Creston hospital. It is splendidly finished and well in keeping with the other furnishings. There was a letter from the secretary of the hospital board asking for a donation of $10 with which to purchase awnings for the new hospital, and a motion was passed authorizing a donation of this amount. The financial statement of hospital was also presented.

The proposed flower show for early autumn was discussed and the revised list of flowers was read, and after some further revision was adopted. The members talked over the matter of prizes and Mrs. Eakin was made convenor of the committee on this work. Mrs. Dunseath will have charge of the children's section. Motion was passed that $30, balance from 1933 fall fair, be used as prizes at the 1934 flower show.

There will be the usual apple blossom tea in the orchard of Mrs. Paul Hagen on May 12th. Arrangements were completed for the refreshments and ice cream. Purchase of a freezer was talked over and it was agreed to buy one if available at a suitable price. The secretary will communicate with Mrs. C. Robinson, a former president, to see if he can locate one in Nelson.

Mrs. Wood sent letter acknowledging flowers sent her while in Creston hospital. The visiting committee submitted a report on sick persons visited. There was a letter from the Solarium which was passed around for reading. Mrs. Hackett offered a receipe for cheese to to all members interested.

Tea hostesses were Mrs. M. Wigen, Mrs. V. Johnson, Misses S. Benedetti and Florence Wood.

Iris Taylor, who is taking senior matriculation work at Cranbrook high school, ranked fifth in the class at the Easter examinations.

Pioneer Lister Settler Passes

Walter P. Edwards Expires Suddenly—Found Dead by Neighbor from Heart Attack—One of First Soldier Farmers.

Camp Lister mourns the untimely passing of one of its first and highly respected settlers in the death of Walter P. Edwards, who was found dead in his farm home late Saturday afternoon, by Tom Young, who was prompted to look in on his neighbor due the fact that he had seen no signs of life about the place the day previous. Deceased was found sitting in a chair and it is presumed the end came Thursday evening from a heart attack. As soon as the discovery was made the medical and police authorities at Creston were notified but no inquest was deemed necessary.

Deceased was a native of Liverpool, England, which city he left at the age of 17 years to seek his fortune in Canada. He was for a time employed at prairie points and later was with one of the railways operating out of Seattle, Wash.; going from there to Vancouver where, in 1917, he joined up with a forestry battallion and served overseas during the remainder of the war.

He was one of the first to sign up for a farm at Camp Lister arriving there shortly after operations commenced in 1919, and is one of the very few of the original settlers who stayed with his farm, practically all of which is cleared and planted to alfalfa, in the growing of which he was highly successful.

The funeral took place on Tuesday from the Christ Church, Creston, Rev. M. C. T. Percival officiating, and interment in Creston cemetery.

The pallbearers were all Camp Lister friends, Col Fred Lister, R. T. Millner, R. Stevens, John Finlay, Chas. Davis and A. W. Sinclair, and the flowers and the many out to pay their last respects bespoke a deserved popularity.

Deceased was in his 57th year. He took quite an active part in community affairs, serving as a trustee of Lister Waterworks district. His only known relative in Canada is Harry Smith of Trail, who is here to look after deceased's affairs. A brother, W Edwards, and a sister, Mrs. A. Smith, both of Liverpool, survive.

Those remembering with flowers were: Neyhew and neice, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Smith, Trail; Creston Post, Canadian Legion, Mr. and Mrs. Chas Davis, Mr. and Mrs John Bird, Mr. and Mrs. R. Stevens, the Langston family, Mr. and Mrs. Yerbury and family, Mrs. Beard, Mr. and Mrs. D. J. McKee, Mr. and Mrs. F. Powers, Alice Wellspring, Kitty and Milly Beard and Jean Flynn.

Erickson

Spraying is in full swing in Erickson orchards this week, with ideal weather conditions prevailing.

Mr. and Mrs. George Currie of Fernie have bought the Angus Cameron ranch, and take possession at once.

Hugh Graham and Jack Dodds were at Kellogg, Idaho, at the first of the week for a Knights of Pythias reunion.

Mrs. R. Vincent and children of Evansburg, Alta., have arrived on a visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. Campbell.

Tulip shipping got under way from the W. G. Littlejohn flower farm, the first of the blooms going out Tuesday morning. Some quantity of asparagus is also on the move.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Clements, who have been residents here for the past twelve years, left on Tuesday for Devonshire, England, where they plan to reside permanently in future.

The tea and sale of home cooking and plants by Erickson Ladies' Hospital Auxiliary at the United Church hall, Creston, on Saturday afternoon, was a splendid financial success, the intake running over $86.

Mrs. A. E. Penson left at the first of the week for Cranbrook, where she is this week attending the graduation exercises at St. Eugene Hospital. Her daughter, Miss Beulah Penson, completes her course in training this year.

A Record Of Service

Forty-four years as member of any parliament, even in the inconspicuous role of a back-bencher, would be an impressive record of service and endurance. It would indicate, at the very least, a tremendous capacity to resist boredom and endure platitude.

Forty-four years as member of the British parliament, where the M.P.'s job is pretty much a full-time affair, is almost a transcendant feat, for, at Westminster, oratorical standards differ but little from those of parliaments and legislatures nearer home.

Forty-four years as member of the British parliament, thirty of them in the very forefront of polemical politics, twenty of them in the role of an imperial as well as a national figure, and, at least ten of them as a world luminary, represents something, however, which cannot be judged by ordinary criteria.

Forty-four years as member of the British parliament, during eighteen or so a member of the cabinet and six of them spent as wart-time premier, the dynamic centre of a whirling world—that is the consummate achievement which fell to the lot of a little Welsh lawyer.

David Lloyd George: Perhaps it was unnecessary to mention the name for, were it posed to any group of intelligent citizens within the British empire, it is doubtful if the juxtaposition of "forty-four years" with "wartime premier" in the question, would fail to elicit the right answer.

David Lloyd George has just celebrated his forty-fourth year as member of the British parliament. In that long term, the little Welsh lawyer who entered the portals of the "Mother of Parliaments" with none of that political background which, prior to his advent, was deemed essential to ministerial rank, has run the full gamut of political achievement; has scaled the dizzy heights and been dashed from them; has tasted the sweet fruits of popular acclaim and the bitter of obloquy. Spectacular always, in success as in defeat, his is perhaps the most amazing personality in its very contradictions of a generation replete with outstanding figures.

To-day, in the quieter nooks of political life, the old fires burn dim—but they still burn. The flash of those "Limehouse" days which added a word to the English language is recalled, ever and anon, as he asseverates warnings and behests a heedless world heeds not. From the couch of the prophet, or the desk of the mentor, he sallies, occasionally, to guide and to counsel those who, caught in the full flood of the stream, pay little attention to what adumbrates the stiller eddies of the backwaters. In sickness or in health, one word of contumely brings the old fires forth. Jove still can thunder—objurgations!

His attendance at sittings of parliaments is rarer than it used to be, but a strange reaction follows his periodic entries. Be the debate never so dull, when Lloyd George appears members rouse themselves from lethargy and prepare for action. Imperceptibly, a ripple animates the house; electricity is in the air. Lloyd George has entered! Surely here, despite the fact a whirling world has thrown him from the vortex, is anything but a spent force.

Two or three weeks ago, he celebrated the forty-fourth anniversary of his election to parliament. If he were asked what is his fondest recollection over all those years, undoubtedly, his answer would be: it had been given him to retain the respect, the loyalty, the confidence and the affection of his own constituency of Carnarvon. That is, perhaps, the most amazing feature of his amazing record. For forty-four years he has enjoyed the unbroken loyalty of his constituents. For forty-four years he has enjoyed their confidence, their respect and their affection. Surely no man could ask more. That is the mead of his service and the gauge of his success.

Ease Pain, Headache in Few Minutes

For Quick Relief Say ASPIRIN—When You Buy

Now comes amazingly quick relief from headaches, rheumatism, neuritis, neuralgia . . . the fastest safe relief, it is said, yet discovered.

Those results are due to a scientific discovery by which an Aspirin Tablet begins to dissolve, or disintegrate, in the amazing space of two seconds after touching moisture. And hence to start "taking hold" of pain a few minutes after taking.

The illustration of the glass, here, tells the story. An Aspirin Tablet starts to disintegrate almost instantly you swallow it. And thus is ready to go to work almost instantly.

When you buy, though, be on guard against substitutes. To be sure you get ASPIRIN'S quick relief, be sure the name Bayer in the form of a cross is on every tablet of Aspirin.

Wizard At Illumination

Nova Scotia Man Planned Many Spectacular Lighting Effects

Walter D'Arcy Ryan, famous creator of lighting effects and director of the illuminating engineering laboratory at the Schenectady works of the General Electric Co., died recently of a heart attack at his home in Schenectady.

Born in Kentville, Nova Scotia, 63 years ago, the son of the late ex-Mayor and Mrs. J. W. Ryan, Walter Ryan had for many years been known as the "wizard" of illumination.

He was the man who had outshone the Aurora Borealis or the scintillating stars of a moonlight night with electrical effects of his own devising. For instance, the illuminating of Niagara Falls, the magnificent lighting effects of the Panama Pacific Exposition in San Francisco; those of the Exposition in Rio Janeiro, Brazil; the Washington Arms Conference; the Silver Jubilee of the City of New York; the Altar of Victory in Chicago; the Republic Eagle Sunburst, during the National Convention in Kansas City, and his most marvellous achievement of all, the lighting of the 1933 World's Fair in Chicago.

Of this Nova Scotia-born engineer, Thomas A. Edison once said: "This man Ryan has performed miracles."

Japan's Rivalry May Cut Living Standard

American Diplomat Says Competition Hard To Cope With

Japan's commercial rivalry ultimately may result in a lower standard of living throughout the world, Richard Washburn Child, American diplomat, said.

Child, in Europe as President Roosevelt's special representative to study and improve trade conditions, said he had come to the conclusion during his two week's study in Great Britain—first stop on his trade tour.

He admitted that at present he discerned no means of coping with the increased commercial rivalry of the Japanese, with their lower wage scales and production costs, which threatens to wreck the English textile trade abroad, including India.

"My British friends told me that they believe the Japanese technical efficiency is at least as vital a force in enhancing Japanese competition as lower wages and their living standard," he added.

Safety Of Mail Bags

England Lost Only One Out Of 40,000,000 Last Year

Only one of more than 40,000,000 mail-bags, each containing an average of 5,000 letters, had come to grief last year in Britain up to the end of October. And that bag contained nothing of value. A few years ago the average number of mailbags stolen in a year was more than 60, while there were frequent attacks on officials in isolated post offices. There have been few such attacks this year—none of them successful. A reorganization scheme involving close co-operation between Scotland Yard and the special investigation department of the Post Office police throughout the country is responsible for the improvement.

Despite Price Rise Tea Still Most Economical Drink

For the past two years people in Canada have been enjoying the lowest prices for tea in a decade, but this has meant tremendous losses to growers who, to save their industry, have restricted tea exports and caused prices to advance. Tea packers, particularly those supplying very fine quality teas, have reluctantly been forced to increase prices.

New Radio Telephone

A novel ultra-short-wave radio telephone sending outfit, operating entirely from self-contained dry batteries, which weighs 15 pounds and is capable of sending spoken messages clearly over distances of more than a mile through city streets, has been developed. The wave-length utilized is 100 centimeters or about 39 inches.

The Safety Of Surgery

Technique So Perfect Now Could Hardly Be Improved

"The operating table is safer than the crowded streets outside," says a noted British surgeon.

Not long ago another surgeon, Lord Moynihan, declared that the technique of surgery is so perfect nowadays that he did not see any way in which it could be improved.

We sometimes read that So-and-So died after an operation. The phrase is somewhat unfortunate, because it carries the suggestion that the operation had something to do with the cause of death. It is not the operation that causes death, but the disease or injury which made the operation necessary. The operation was the only chance of saving the patient's life, and either the operation had been delayed too late, or the injury was too severe.—St. Thomas Times-Journal.

India's oldest society, the Asiatic Society of Bengal, recently celebrated its 150th anniversary.

Worth Fabulous Sum

Russian Crown Jewels May Be Shown At Chicago Fair

The Russian crown jewels, valued at nearly $250,000,000, and one of the richest treasures of precious stones in the world, will be displayed at the Century of Progress Exposition in Chicago this summer if the Soviet authorities grant a request they have received from exposition authorities that the gems be lent for the period beginning May 26, when the fair re-opens. The authorities have the request under advisement. The collection, which is assembled in an isolated storeroom in the State Bank at Moscow and is guarded day and night by Red soldiers includes the crown used at the coronation of Catherine the Great and her successors, which is said by experts to be worth $52,000,000. Almost 5,000 diamonds, together with a great ruby, go toward making up its weight of five pounds.

Producing maple trees on eastern Canadian farms total 70,000,000.

MILBURN'S HEALTH AND NERVE PILLS

Household Drudgery
The Bane of a Woman's Life

Nature intended women to be strong and healthy instead of weak and sickly, but how can a woman have good health when she has to go through the household drudgery without any relaxation. Is it any wonder she becomes nervous and irritable, has hot flushes, faint and dizzy spells, shortness of breath, sinking and smothering sensations, and can't sleep at night.

Women who are weak and run down will find in Milburn's H. & N. Pills a remedy to strengthen the system and bring back the much desired health.

ALMOST GENERAL APPROVAL OF BUDGET SHOWN

Toronto.—First reaction to the budget of Hon. E. N. Rhodes, Dominion finance minister, came at Vancouver, where gold mining issues on the stock exchange declined sharply on news that a 10 per cent. tax would be levied on the yellow metal.

Experts estimated the tax would bring the treasury more than $10,000,000 in the next year, taking into account rapid expansion being made by large mining companies. It was not believed, however, that the tax would have an adverse effect on mining activities.

Other provisions of the budget brought forth almost general approval. Sugar wholesalers said decision to cut the tax on that commodity from two to one cent a pound would have little effect on them as the cut would be passed on to the consumers just as the original tax was last year. In some quarters it was said reduction of the tax might result in about a 10 per cent. increase in sugar sales, but many firms handling sugar said they expected no heavy increase in sales anyway until the beginning of the fruit preserving season.

Bakers said the reduction in the sugar tax would have little effect on them, but expressed keen pleasure over abolition of the six per cent. sales tax on cakes and pies. This measure, they expected, would result in considerably increased sales.

Winery officials expected an increase in consumption of sparkling wines as a result of the decision to cut the tax on those beverages from $1.50 to 75 cents a gallon. Stewart McClenaghan, chairman of the liquor control board of Ontario, said it was "a move in the right direction." Brewers of the more humble fluid, beer, said the decision to merge the three-cent-per-pound duty on malt with the 12½ per cent. gallonage tax would have little effect on their business and that prices would not be reduced.

Headquarters of the United Farmers of Ontario viewed with interest announcement of Mr. Rhodes that legislation would be introduced to ease the burden of farm debts. Secretary H. H. Hannam said something would have to be done to lighten the debt load unless steps were taken to raise values of farm produce. He recalled his organization had urged refinancing of farm mortgages and reduction of interest charges as a means of scaling down debt payments to something like the depressed level of farm prices.

Sir John Aird, president of the Canadian Bank of Commerce, stated a reduction in interest rates on savings accounts "might have the effect of inducing people to buy bonds."

Sir John said he had not been anticipating any reduction in interest rates. "I don't think the move was discussed with bankers, unless it was with Jackon Dodds, chairman of the Bankers' Association," Sir John stated.

Battle Tuberculosis

Quebec Province May Adopt Lines Employed By Saskatchewan

Montreal. — Attempts to battle tuberculosis along the same lines employed by Saskatchewan will be made by Quebec it was learned here, as various anti-tuberculosis societies gathered to make preparations for the convention of the Canadian Anti-Tuberculosis Society Association here June 6, 7 and 8.

J. J. McGurran, member of the Saskatchewan commission, was asked to attend the meeting, officials said.

Resources Case

Ottawa.—The Dominion government and the province of Saskatchewan reached an impasse in the $250,000,000 natural resources suit before the Dysart royal commission. Adjournment was taken until May 14. The long adjournment was made to allow preparation of further evidence by federal departments.

Relief Problems

Revenue To Be Collected Depends On Conference In Edmonton

Edmonton.—Relief officials of the four Western provinces completed a conference on the common problems of relief administration and discussed the question of uniformity, especially in the matter of food allowances for the three prairie provinces.

The conference was described by Hon. J. A. Merkley, minister of railways, labor and industries in Saskatchewan, and chairman of the meeting, as the "most satisfactory for some time" in a statement issued to the Canadian Press.

He declared that the conference studied food quotas for the prairie provinces, and that British Columbia, being a little differently situated as it is more of an industrial territory, "sat in."

"We discussed," Mr. Merkley said, "the matter of the back-to-the-land movement and also the possibility of a new agreement in relief which we are expecting to secure from Ottawa. The old agreement ran out on March 31 and the provinces have been working at loose ends. However, we expect authority to carry on as in the past and expect a similar federal percentage as was in the 1933 agreement."

Officials present at the conference were L. W. Griffith, relief administrator, British Columbia; from Winnipeg, Hon. W. R. Clubb, minister of public works, and A. MacNamara, assistant deputy minister; from Saskatchewan, Hon. J. A. Merkley, and Thomas M. Molloy, deputy minister in his department; Alberta, Hon. O. L. McPherson, minister of public works and Walter Smitten, provincial labor commissioner.

Prohibit Smoke Screens

National Revenue Department Puts Ban On Importation

Ottawa.—The department of national revenue comes to the aid of the civic authority in the addition to the list of articles whose importation into Canada is prohibited of "smoke screen apparatus, for use on motor vehicles or on water-borne craft of all kinds."

It is understood that this prohibition was made at the request of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police, who, in pursuit of their anti-smuggling activities, have encountered both automobiles and gasoline launches equipped with devices for the spreading of smoke-screens. This facilitated the escape of the law-breakers.

The police figure that no citizen occupied in any peaceful pursuits requires apparatus for the making of screens.

Graceful Gesture

Irish Harps Removed From The Realms Of Taxation

Ottawa.—Hon. E. N. Rhodes, finance minister, having granted a great concession last year to the Scot in placing importations of bagpipes on the free list, made a graceful gesture to the Irish in similarly removing from the realm of taxation importation of harps. The minister's action a year ago provoked paeans of praise from exiled Caledonians who were quoted as declaring this would "encourage the study of music in Canada."

The harpists have yet to be heard from.

Lower Tariffs

Ottawa.—Downward revision prevailed in the 72 changes in the customs tariff announced in the budget. Reductions under all tariffs were 24; reductions under British preferential only, 15; reductions under intermediate and general only, 13; increases under intermediate and general only, two; increases under all tariffs, one, and clarification of wording only, 17.

Regulations Extended

Ottawa.—Extension of butter and dairy grading under Dominion regulations was provided in a bill passed through the House of Commons. It placed further restrictions against butter substitutes, vested department of agriculture inspectors with power to seize dairy products not graded in conformity with the regulations and increased penalties for infractions.

CELEBRATES

The Earl of Athlone, brother of Queen Mary, and a popular member of the British Royal Family, who celebrated his 60th birthday on April 14. The Earl of Athlone is a former Governor-General of South Africa.

Attempted Train Wreck

Obstruction Is Placed On Track Of Canadian National

Saskatoon.—Attempt to wreck a Canadian National Railways passenger train one mile west of the Vanscoy water tank was disclosed here.

One new tie and pieces of steel cylinder supporting it were placed on the track by persons unknown. The engineer of No. 9 passenger train, bound for Calgary, saw the obstacles and applied the emergency brakes just in time.

No damage was done to the locomotive. As it pulled to a stop it broke the tie across the rails.

Royal Canadian Mounted Police and Canadian National Railways investigtors are understood to be cooperating in an investigation.

Salt Lake Speed Course

Shores Of Great Salt Lake In Utah May Be Used By Sir Malcolm Campbell

Salt Lake City.—William F. Sturm, American representative of Sir Malcolm Campbell, holder of the world's automobile speed record, announced the shore of Great Salt Lake would meet requirements for the speed demon's new record attempt next summer.

His announcement followed a decision of the junior chamber of commerce here to attempt to raise a $10,000 fund to guarantee expenses of the test.

Cannot Take Pictures

Singapore.—Roy Tucket, Britisher aviator, now flying from Great Britain to Australia to photograph the air route of next October's race, was forbidden by the Netherland government to take pictures of the Dutch East Indies and decided to return to London.

Tax On Gold

Revenue To Be oCllected Depends On Price Of Precious Metal

Ottawa.—The total revenue the government will collect from the 10 per cent. tax imposed on gold in the budget presented by Hon. E. N. Rhodes, minister of finance, depends entirely on the world price of gold. The tax is payable on the metal when delivered to the mint or exported but the full 10 per cent. can not be collected in whole if its result was to give the producer less than $30 an ounce.

In other words, the effect of the limitations on the collection of the tax, to all intents and purposes, one of ensuring to the producers—so far as such assurance can be given, having regard to world price fluctuations, a minimum of $30 an ounce.

In making his announcement the minister declared that this impost would compensate for the reduction of revenue resulting from his slicing the sugar tax from two cents per pound to one cent.

Canada's gold production this year will, in all likelihood, approximate 3,000,000 ounces. Last year production was 2,947,618 ounces. What the average price throughout the year will be can not be guessed. If, however, the figure which the minister gave—one of $35 an ounce—is maintained, then on an estimated production of 3,000,000 cunces the treasury might be enriched as much as $10,500,000, which would more than overtake the drop of $9,000,000 in the sugar tax reduction. At least a revenue of $7,000,000 is expected.

Reduction In Interest

Saskatchewan Minister Of Agriculture Would Ease Burden Of Farmers

Ottawa.—Reduction in the interest on public and private debt was urged by Hon. W. C. Buckle, Saskatchewan minister of agriculture, before the Stevens price spreads and mass buying parliamentary probe.

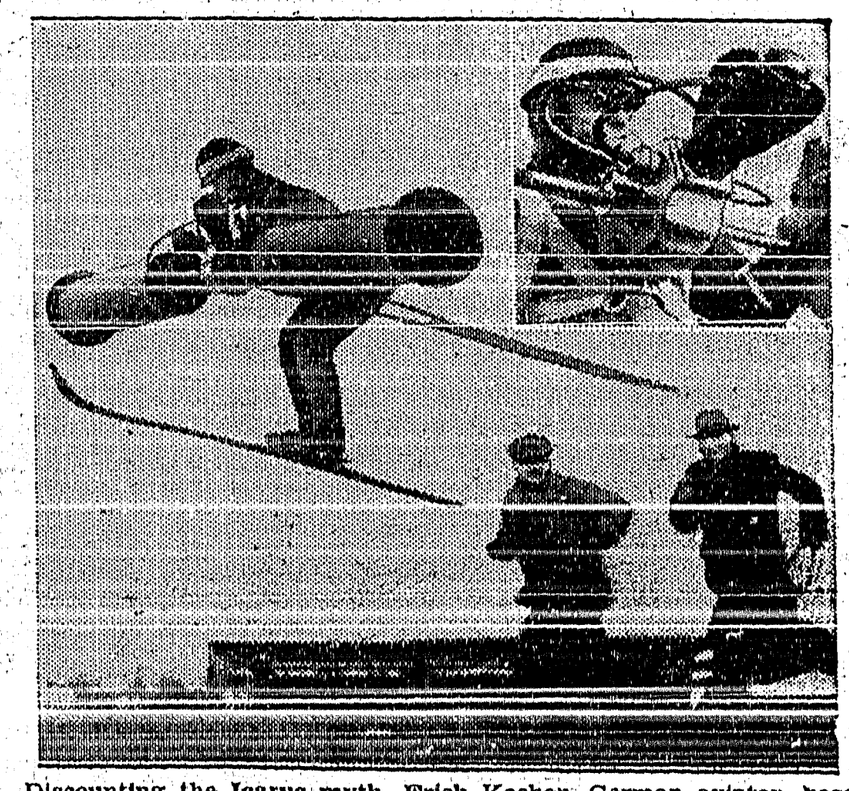
"A tremendous burden would be lifted from agriculture if a drastic cut in interest rates were made," the Western minister declared. "Taxes could be reduced and the beneficial effect upon both industry and agriculture would be almost immediate."

Inquiry by a Dominion commission "with adequate producer representation" into livestock marketing in all its phases was recommended by Mr. Buckle. The witness placed before the committee a resolution of the Saskatchewan legislature supporting this suggestion.

Better Dairy Prices

Saskatoon.—Heartened by the firm condition of dairy prices during the winter, J. A. Caulder, Toronto, president of the Dairy Corporation of Canada, expects "good production" of dairy products this year and prices nearer normal than in other branches of farming. There was decided improvement, however, in other commodity prices as well.

FLYING ON HIS OWN POWER



Discounting the Icarus myth, Erich Kocher, German aviator, becomes the first man in the world's history to fly through space using only man-power. His flying device has rotors instead of wings, and propulsion power is supplied by wind from the flier's lungs. He is shown in flight near Berlin. Inset, operating the "lung-power" motor.

SUGGESTS RADIO BE OPERATED BY A COMPANY

Ottawa.—The flat suggestion Major Gladstone Murray of the British Broadcasting Corporation be brought to Canada to take charge of broadcasting here was made in the House of Commons radio committee by G. A. Greer, Montreal. Major Murray last year completed a Dominion-wide survey of radio in Canada and presented a report to Premier R. B. Bennett.

"He tried," said Mr. Greer, "to put radio in Canada back on a non-political basis. He failed. With his report to the government he submitted to Premier Bennett a private report on politics in radio. I happen to know he submitted a personal report to the prime minister."

Canadian radio should be operated by a company, with a board of five directors who received no salary. "I recommend negotiations be entered into to obtain Major Murray," he said.

"Do you think a salary of $15,000 to $20,000 would intrigue Major Murray?" asked Dr. Raymond Morand, chairman.

"I happen to know he would have come to Canada for that figure," replied Mr. Greer.

The radio commission, he continued, with more sympathetic treatment of newspapers, would have received more sympathy from the public. The company to take over the commission's work, he explained further, would take over all stations, appointing station managers and employees.

Sensational Charge

Claim Trotzky Plotted Revolutionary Dictatorship In France

Paris.—The sensational charge that Leon Trotzky plotted for a revolutionary dictatorship in France through the fatal February street riots was disclosed by authorities as the exiled Red army leader hunted vainly for another refuge.

They said a manifesto he issued after the disorders called for "an armed workers' militia," and declared that "war has just begun between them; there is no possible peace, but in a fight to the death; in the street, by force, will be decided the future."

Police pressed the bewhiskered Trotzky to move on from his villa in suburban Barbizon, where he had lived mysteriously for four months until gendarmes raided it recently.

Officials said they wanted him to leave as soon as possible, but were willing to be patient for a few more days in "view of the menace to his life.' Where he can go was a matter of conjecture.

Sees Spot On Planet

Portland, Ore.—A spot on the planet Jupiter is making a night owl of A. V. Goddard, Portland astronomer. Goddard says the spot moves across the planet in about three hours' time each night. Through his 16-inch telescope Goddard has been watching the phenomenon closely, but is unable to explain its presence.

Want Air Mail Resumed

Calgary.—The council of the Calgary Board of Trade has wired Prime Minister R. B. Bennett supporting the resolution of the Winnipeg Board of Trade that air mail contracts be resumed with Canadian Airways, Limited.

United Palestine Appeal

Montreal.—To date $64,000 from eastern Canada—Halifax to Winnipeg—has been collected in the $200,000 United Palestine appeal, it was announced. Returns from Winnipeg to the Pacific coast have not been available.

Ruling On Annuities Tax

Calgary.—That only one-quarter of Dominion government annuities are subject to income tax is the effect of a ruling handed down by Mr. Justice Frank Ford, who allowed the appeal of Dr. J. S. McEachran against the Alberta income tax department.

There's no place like home, but--

"Ah, me!" sighed Katy. "There may be no place like home, but never the less it's nice to be invited out once in a while."

Evening after evening, Katy sits at home waiting for invitations that never come. The reason, if Katy only knew, is that there is no telephone in her house.

Nowadays most invitations come by telephone. If people who "go places and do things" can't reach you by telephone, they call someone else.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

An Apathetic Public

Editor Review:

Sir,—I would much appreciate your giving space in your paper for this letter, in that it pertains to a matter which I feel should be drawn to public attention.

On two occasions in the last two weeks residents of Creston Valley were given the opportunity to hear lectur s by competent speakers, on subjects which are very much to the fore throughout the world to-day, namely, 'The Present Problems of Youth' and 'Technocracy's Startling Discoveries'. The speaker in each case drew a very clear and logical picture of the social and economic disaster towards which we and all other nations are headed today, due to the continued use of obsolete methods and the application of last century's ideas to a civilization that has outgrown them and must, to save itself, adopt a radically different concept of world problems today.

One would think that the so-called leaders of our community would have been alive to the seriousness of these problems, and would have grasped the opportunities mentioned to get authoritative information, yet it is with regret that I have to point out that there were, at the most, two or three of the business and professional men at either of these meetings. More serious still, not one of the nine Creston teachers or the twelve teachers in the rural schools from Kitchener to Sirdar was, to my knowledge, present at either of these meetings. If this is indicative of the mental attitude of our "successful" citizens and teachers, it is, to say the least, unfortunate.

Then there is another matter. Mrs. Jamieson offered to address the the students of the high school on "How to Build World Peace". Despite the obvious suitabilty of the lecturer to speak to school children, and the very important matter chosen as a subject, our school board saw fit to refuse to accept the offer. It seems that there is on the records of the board a resolution to the effect that no speakers will be permitted in the Creston schools. I submit, Mr. Editor, that if this arbitrary and unreasonable restriction is all that prevents our young people being given the opportunity to hear from time to time progressiqe and instructive addresses, it is high time that the resolution was rescinded. Further, I wish at this time to point out that in view of the rapidly changing conditions of the day it is essential that our young people should have presented to them some new and practical ideas to round out and augment the large number of impractical and antiquated presentations of learning that compose the curriculum of our schools,

J. & M. MURRELL.

"Brass Tacks"

A GOOD many years ago, most merchants used to "yard off" a length of cloth by estimating a yard as the distance from the tip of their nose to the extremity of an outstretched arm—or by some equally haphazard system.

No doubt some customers may have noticed that certain merchants had shorter arms (or longer noses) than others, and felt vaguely that something was wrong; but nobody did much about it until one bright merchant hammered two Brass Tacks into his counter, exactly 36 inches apart, and thereafter measured his cloth on them—ACCURATELY. Soon all merchants followed suit—customers insisting that they "get down to brass tacks" in their measuring. That was how the expression started.

EATON'S Catalogue "gets down to brass tacks" in describing its merchandise. There's nothing vague—nothing uncertain—nothing that can be "taken two ways." If an article's all-wool, we say so—if it isn't, we admit it. Always, you KNOW what you're getting. Accurate illustration and precise information tells exactly the value you'll receive for the money you send—and, of course, it's our aim to make that value the best you can obtain anywhere. But in any case, you KNOW what you're getting—experience has taught you long ago that "It's SAFE to save at EATON'S."

WORLD HAPPENINGS BRIEFLY TOLD

The Board of Trade of Churchill has a slogan: "Churchill is the port. Give it your support." The letterhead of this new organization carries the picture of an ocean liner.

Plans for an aeroplane flight to Russia with a cargo of samples of American manufactured articles for display in Russian cities have been announced.

Despite the refusal of federal aid, the city of Calgary will grant $24,000 a year to the medical society for services rendered relief recipients. It is hoped the provincial government will contribute a like sum.

The draft of a new Franco-British trade treaty is in the hands of the French ambassador in London and will be the basis of negotiations to end the present tariff war between the two countries.

Hugh H. Rowatt, C.M.G., deputy minister of interior, has been superannuated as from April 1, it was announced. It was also stated that the term of Dr. A. V. Doughty, Dominion archivist, was extended for six months from the same date.

A committee of experts appointed by the Commonwealth government proposed a comprehensive plan for the development of northern Australia which would include construction works, tariff reform and a large government loan.

Far from being a "white elephant," Canadian National Steamships has given back to the people of Canada $23,578,358 more than taxpayers paid for its maintenance up to the end of December, 1933, F. G. Wood, freight traffic manager of the steamship line, told a service club at Montreal.

Dr. John Spencer, leader in the milk pasteurization movement in Canada and the United States during the last 30 years, died at his home at Bowmanville recently. He was an outstanding lecturer in veterinary science and served many years in universities and colleges in Canada and United States.

Relic From German 'Plane

A piece of red fabric from the airplane flown by the famous German airman Richtofen has just been presented to the Imperial War Museum in London. During the war Richtofen downed so many British machines that his countrymen thought him invincible. When he did not return on April 21, 1918, there was great consternation. He had been shot down by a Canadian airman, and was buried with full military honors.

Gardening

Early Spring Is The Proper Time For Lawn Repairing

The foundation of good gardens and about the only factor over which the owner has no control is the seed. As the cost in any case is but a few cents there should be no temptation to sacrifice quality, but only the very best should be used, and this obtained from Canadian sources which cater to Canadian conditions. Seed saved from the home garden cannot be recommended. Unless one goes to the trouble of screening individual flowers from insects, and cross-pollenizing, it is absolutely impossible to prevent mixing of colors in flowers and of types in vegetables. Then, too, in order to secure earliness and quality, it is often necessary that seed be secured from a district where the season is much longer than in most parts of Canada.

Early spring is the proper season for lawn repairing and few indeed are the lawns which do not require a little extra attention after the recent and unlamented winter. If at all possible a heavy roller should be used when the earth is soft, but lacking this implement a home-made pounder will serve. This treatment forces the small roots back into their proper element and encourages quick growth. A spring tonic in the form of some good commercial fertilizer high in nitrogen is also advisable. This stuff must be applied carefully, to avoid burning. Bare spots should be thoroughly raked and then seeded heavily with a good mixture. Cover by raking lightly one way only and roll or pound. It is well to cover such spots with brush or wire or the birds will get most of the seed. Where clover is in favor, the old practice of sprinkling a pound or two of White Dutch over the lawn every spring and then raking lightly if there is no convenient rain to wash in, has much to commend it. Good seed, commercial fertilizer, and frequent mowing, are three essentials in the development of a splendid lawn of fine stemed grasses free from weeds. For shaded corners, all seed houses put a special mixture of grasses on which do not require full sun.

Steep pieces of ground can be turned into the most beautiful parts of the garden by the judicious use of old weather-beaten stones and alpine plants. Such gardening is not to be confused with the old-fashioned and very artificial rockeries. In the kind advocated here, boulders are set into the side of the hill, embedded so deep that frost will not seriously disturb them, and also in such a way that the soil between will lead back into the main bank. Between the rocks a miniature Rocky Mountain Range is created with gulleys, alpine meadows, crags and steep canyons. Seed catalogues usually list alpine rock garden plants separately. It is most important to secure seeds and plants suitable to Canadian conditions and it is also advisable to get special literature on the subject, or visit a neighboring rock garden, before attempting too elaborate a lay-out.

Depicts Crucifixion As Taking Place In English Town

Mark Symon's "In the Street of a Great City," a painting of The Crucifixion which three years ago caused considerable controversy in Great Britain, Canada and the United States, has been sold at Christie's in London for about $90. The canvas is 58 by 83½ inches. It depicts The Crucifixion as taking place in the streets of Reading, England. The picture is remarkable for the number of modern characters it portrays and the groups of all classes of people represented in the scene. Criticism was directed at the artist's unique interpretation of the event as well as his execution of the work.

Scouting Radium Fields

Belgian interests which for some years held a virtual world monopoly of radium deposits, are reported to have scouts in the Great Bear Lake radium field, it was learned from authoritative sources at Edmonton. The Belgians own the pitch-blende deposits at Katanga, in the Belgian Congo. Prior to Gilbert LaBine's discovery in the wild country 1,000 miles north of Edmonton, they controlled the world supply.

Little Journeys In Science

DRUGS

(By Gordon H. Guest, M.A.)

Some scholars believe that the word chemistry is derived from a Greek word, meaning a mingling or infusion, because chemistry was used in extracting the juices from plants to heal the sick.

The ancient Greeks possessed some knowledge of drugs and their use. In the golden age of Pericles there lived a great physician known as Hippocrates, who mentioned 265 drugs in his writings.

Drugs used by early medical men were obtained from plants. In curing fevers the bark of the Cinchona tree came into use about 1650. This bark is composed of some active substances mixed with a large amount of useless woody material. The proportion of active constituents varies and hence the action of the dose of bark was not always the same and not easily controlled. To two French scientists, Pelletier and Caventou, is given the credit for isolating by chemical processes from the bark a crystalline substance called quinine, and to-day the pure drug is always used.

Science has discovered that many artificial drugs are better for some purposes than the naturally occurring ones which they replace. Cocaine was once used by the dentist as a local anaesthetic, but this drug has unoesirable after-effects. It is now replaced by such artificial drugs as stovaine and novocaine. To stop bleeding, which does not occur when cocaine is used but does with novocaine, another drug known as adrenalin is added to the novocaine. Adrenalin was obtained at first from certain animal glands but it is now prepared in chemical laboratories.

Minute living organisms called bacteria are responsible for most diseases and it is the purpose of a disinfectant to destroy them. Many kinds of chemicals are used for killing germs. Chlorine is an excellent disinfectant and is added to the water supply of most cities to eliminate narmful germs. Hydrogen peroxide is very useful because when diluted with water it is not poisonous. Certain kinds of tooth-paste contain substances which when brought in contact with water produce hydrogen peroxide. Other disinfectants contain carbolic acid and similar substances, known as cresols, which are obtained from coal-tar.

Diseases such as malaria and sleeping sickness are caused not by bacteria, but by organisms called trypanosomes, which get into the blood and go through complicated life-processes. Drugs have now been discovered which will kill trypanosomes but will not harm the cells of the human body.

Employ More Men

Says Science and Invention Have Created More Jobs

When circumstances eliminate a blacksmith shop it is replaced by a garage or a service station employing more men; the tradition of the cross-roads carriage shop is continued in the automobile factory, and so on down the roll of industry. Among them the engineer, the inventor, the scientist, it appears abundantly proved, have made far more jobs than they have destroyed, and in addition they have added enormously to the comforts and luxuries available to the masses of the people.—Ottawa Journal.

Agricultural Notes

Many Items Of Interest To The Western Farmer

Much the greater part of Peru's wheat crop is grown in the sierra, the mountainous, high-altitude district.

Japan has about 900 woollen and worsted weaving mills and imports 96 per cent. of her wool from Australia.

Commercial production of peaches in Canada is confined to Ontario and British Columbia, 88 per cent. being in Ontario, chiefly in the Niagara district.

At the Perth stock sales in Scotland, an Aberdeen-Angus bull (Primats of Lethen) was purchased by Sir Edmund Findlay of Aberlour for 1,000 guineas (5,250 dollars).

Canada is the largest supplier of butter to British Honduras (West Indies) where there is also a fairly large demand for pickled pork and beef in barrels, lard, bacon and hams, canned meats and cheese.

The chief hay producing areas in Canada are the Ottawa, St. Lawrence and St. John river valleys, the dyked areas of the Maritime provinces, the Georgian Bay area of Ontario, and southern Alberta.

Canadian agricultural products on which British preference is given, such as condensed milk, canned goods and preserves, are offered a particularly promising field in British Malaya.

Available statistics indicate some decrease in hog production last year but the numbers of hogs marketed at public stockyards and packing plants somewhat exceeded those of the previous year.

With the attention that is being given to the grading of dressed poultry and eggs during the past few years in Canada, a big increase in the Canadian export trade is forecast.

The financial inability of farmers in the past four years to pay the usual prices for registered seed grain has resulted in reducing slightly the volume of production of registered seed, particularly in the prairie provinces.

Of the oats produced in Canada, approximately 7 per cent. is used industrially by Canadian mills, while the bulk is utilized on Canadian farms for feeding purposes. During the past ten years, only 4.5 per cent. of the total annual production has been exported as grain.

The sheep population of Korea and other Japanese dependencies, all of them in the Far East, is negiglible, but there are about three million sheep in the new kingdom of Manchukuo where steps are being taken to encourage sheep raising and to improve the fleece which at the present time is of poor quality.

In the poultry work throughout Canada, the hatchery approval of the Dominion Department of Agriculture is making it possible for keepers of poultry to obtain a yearly dependable supply of bred-to-lay chicks, while the cockerel distribution policy enables breeders who supply eggs to hatcheries to secure outstanding sires from record of performance birds.

Lake Rate On Grain

Six Cents A Bushel From Head Of Lakes To Montreal

A rate of six cents a bushel for carriage of grain from the head of the Great Lakes to the port of Montreal has been agreed upon by leading Canadian shipping companies, W. H. Coverdale, president of Canada Steamship Lines Limited, told shareholders at the annual meeting in Montreal.

Mr. Coverdale explained that a six-cent rate was agreed upon early last season, but that the rate had fluctuated much lower. The average rate of the 1933 season was abbut 3½ cents. The Canada Steamships Lines president said he expected a more stable rate this season, partly due to the application of N.R.A. codes to the United States inland shipping lines, which would prevent them from undercutting their Canadian competitors.

CHRIST'S STANDARD OF GREATNESS

Golden Text: "The Son of man to minister, and to give his life a came not to be ministered unto, but ransom for many." Matthew 20:28.

Lesson: Matthew 20:1-34.

Devotional Reading: Philippians 2:1-11.

Explanations And Comments

Fitness, not Influence, Secures Honor in the Kingdom, verse 23. "My cup indeed ye shall drink," Jesus then declared: "but to sit on my right hand, and on my left hand, is not mine to give, but it is for them for whom it hath been prepared of my Father." It was prepared for those who should deserve it. Mt. 25: 34, 35; Rev. 3:21.

True Greatness Lies in Service, verses 25-26. Calling the disciples to him, Jesus reminded them that the rulers of the Gentiles played the tyrant over them and their great ones exercised authority over them. This is the worldly idea of greatness—power to exercise authority, high position which can demand service, enforce obedience, and exact signs of homage. "Not so shall it be among you," Jesus continues, but greatness shall be power as a means of rendering service: "Whosover would become great among you shall be your minister; and whosover would be first among you shall be your servant." Among you the passport to power is service: you are measured, not by the way you lord it over others, but by the way you serve others: greatest among you is the one who is most useful to his fellow men.

"It is always our peril that we hunger for place more than for character. These disciples wanted to be great and prominent; the Lord wanted them to be pure and good. They longed to be prime ministers; the Lord purposed that they should be glad to be ministers, working contentedly in an obscure place. They wanted to be the Kings' cup-bearers; he offers them to drink of his cup. They call for sovereignty; he asks for sacrifice. They seek a life of getting; he demands a life of giving. Through self-sacrifice we pass to our throne." (J. H. Jowett).

Husband Persuaded Her To Take Kruschen

By following her husband's advice, this woman made a tremendous improvement in her appearance—she actually took off 32 lbs. of her excess fat. Telling of her experience, she writes:—

"A year ago I was troubled with rheumatism, nervousness and other complaints. And I got so fat that I was ashamed of my figure. I was persuaded by my husband to take Kruschen Salts. Before I began, I weighed 161 lbs. After taking Kruschen for a short time the rheumatism was less painful, my nerves got stronger, and my step lighter. Then I knew that Kruschen was doing me good, so I persevered with it and got my weight down to 129 lbs., a reduction of 32 lbs. of unwanted fat. I am not boasting when I say that I feel younger and more active, have a much better figure, and am healthier than I have been for years."—(Mrs.) J. S.

Kruschen is a blend of six mineral salts which assists the internal organs to throw off each day those waste products that would otherwise accumulate in the form of fatty tissue.

OCCASIONAL WIFE

By

EDNA ROBB WEBSTER

Author of "Jorette," "Lipstick Girl" Etc.

SYNOPSIS

Camilla Hoyt and Peter Anson, young and in love, marry secretly, deciding to live their own lives apart until Peter is able to provide for her. Peter is a young, struggling sculptor trying to win a competition for a scholarship abroad and Camilla is the adopted daughter of a wealthy family. She is not to inherit money when she comes of age and so is studying commercial art in the hope of landing an agency job. Others in the story are Avis Werth, another wealthy girl who is trying to win Peter, Sylvia Todd, Peter's model, and Gus Matson, his former roommate with whom he has quarrelled. At a party at an exclusive club Peter entertains Camilla's guests with impersonations. When the rest of the members of the party go to a cabaret to continue the gaiety, Peter and Camilla slip off to the beach by themselves and fall asleep on the sand. When they awake it is early morning and Avis and another boy are standing near them. This makes it necessary for Camilla to announce before the party that she and Peter are married. Bowman and Weeks, an advertising agency, where Camilla has submitted some of her work, send for her and offer her a salary of $50.00 a week to start and a prospect of having it doubled. She tells Peter of her good fortune in securing employment. Mrs. Hoyt is also informed that Camilla has obtained work and is going to leave the Hoyt household. Avis Werth rents a studio on the same floor as Peter, and invites him to have lunch there. He accepts reluctantly, but is favorably impressed with his visit. Camilla urges Peter to accept some of her earnings to help him along, but Peter refuses and they quarrel. After Camilla has gone from the studio, Avis Werth calls and persuades Peter to accept a loan of $1,000.

(Now Go On With The Story)

CHAPTER XL.

On the second evening after their disagreement over their financial affairs, Peter went to Camilla with contrition and appeal.

But that two-day interim of silence had been a century for Camilla. She had gone over every word they had spoken, as if she were reading carbon copies of old correspondence, wondering what she might have said to hurt Peter less, or to convince him that she was right. A hundred times she decided to beg his forgiveness, but her own sense of justice withheld her. She knew that, actually, she had said nothing for which to be forgiven. Rather, it was Peter who had been in the wrong. Even if he would not let her help him, he had no reason to be so angry with her at her suggestion of it.

The hours dragged like days, her work lost its fascination and she scarcely tasted food. She maintained a subterfuge of cheerfulness at the office, but Rose perceived instantly that Camilla was grieving. It was about Peter, she guessed. Men always were the cause of women's deepest grief, she had observed. From any other sorrow, a woman recovered and somehow managed a substitute; but for the loss of a love, which transcended everything else in life, there was no compensation.

Rose voiced something of this philosophy when, on the second evening of Camilla's estrangement from Peter, they were tidying their apartment after dinner. The windows were open to the warm autumn breeze and from all directions across the open court the strident blare of radio music drifted in. Always such a variety of stations were turned in that the effect was like the sound of the tongues of Babylon: jazz bands, crooners, symphonic airs, high soprano voices and deep bass, orators holding forth, announcers cutting in, time signals.

Usually, the jazz bands and the crooners predominated. Their voices lamented and sighed and exulted, but always their subject was love. Their tragic words taunted Camilla, their triumphant phrases mocked her. Love—love—love. Was that all anyone thought of and lived for? Perhaps it was. Love was the beginning and the end of all things. It was the reason for which one lived and the urge which gave life reason. But the yearning voices of radio singers did not thrill her. Only Peter's voice could do that. She closed the windows with irritable bangs, trying to shut out those insistent reminders of her shattered romance.

"Isn't it silly the way women get sentimental over the radio crooners whom they never see, and listen for their voices like young girls waiting for their dates to telephone? Age, color and language make no difference. I'll bet all the radios tuned in to that kind of stuff have women listeners. Men listen to sports and speeches. They don't get silly over some woman's voice and make it a personal interest. Why do women?"

"Oh, I dunno," Rose observed. "That's about the only way most of them can get their quota of romance. Take it by and large, men are pretty rotten about love. Most of them don't want it for a monotonous diet, fewer of them appreciate it when they do get it, and there's darn few of them ever recognize it.

"Love doesn't mean everlasting romance to a man, and that's all a woman thinks love is; until she gets a jolt of disillusion. Even then, it doesn't always take, the first time. She goes on dreaming until she gets hit so hard it almost kills her. Some never recover, and go through the rest of their lives with their emotions half paralyzed because some men told them things they didn't believe themselves and forgot them the very next day. Believe me, I'm never going to take any man that seriously."

"But—but, Rose, don't you believe there is love that endures and transcends everything else in life? Can't men be sincere about love?"

"Darn few of 'em can for more than a minute at a time. I've noticed that there are about four classes of men, checking 'em up on this love chart, in my experience. Not all personal, you understand, but from what I've observed in the office and among girls like me and in neighborhoods like around home. I don't know such a lot of men from your crowd, but enough of them to believe they run about the same all the way down and up the line." She stopped to remove a dozen pins from her mouth, in the process of shortening a new slip.

Camilla was interested. "Tell me about them, Rose."

"Well, there are the men who never are sincere in their relation to women. They don't know any more about love than they do about the people who live in another world. Every woman who attracts them is a new conquest—until they get her interest or love or thumbs down. There are plenty in that class.

"Then there are men who pick out some girl because it's expected of them and settle down to the routine of marriage like all the rest of their habits. They get in a rut and stay there because they haven't originality enough to do anything else, but they don't know much more about love than the first class. The men who rate high in the real love game are divided into two groups, also. Most of them fall in love with some woman and keep her above all other women in their lives, but they're restless—easy to get out of line. They dont' mean to be unfaithful but they just can't help using their own minds and being naughty once in awhile.

"Then, I guess there are a few men, scarce as icicles on a radiator, who love and adore and cherish one woman all their days, and look neither to the right nor left of them. Pretty girls and clever women leave them cold, and the wife is a goddess on a pedestal. You can just bet there aren't many like that."

Camilla smiled. "I think your classifications apply to all kinds of people. But how do you know so much about it?"

"By keeping my eyes and ears open. I've always had to fight and work and think for myself. And you can't win out alone and handicapped unless you know people—men and women, all kinds. Take Pa, for example. He was in the second class. A woman was a habit with him. Your old man, Alexander Hoyt is the same, though the two men are no more alike any other way than night and day.

"Young Dawson, at the office, is in class one—and how!" She made a wry face and continued. "He may change later on, and be like his dad. He's in class three—sets his wife and his reputation up on a throne, but he slips down and plays around with the boys and girls when he gets a chance.

"Do you know any men in that exclusive fourth class?"

"Just two in my experience. Funny, too, they are as different as Pa and Mr. Hoyt. There's Mr. Oblatz, up our street, who worships his wife, Anna, like a saint and treats her like a princess. Of course, he can't give her everything a princess has—it's the way he does what he can for her. Every night, when he comes home, he looks and acts as if he were coming to call on her for the first time, and he is always doing nice little things to make her happy. It's the same with Mr. Perdue, at the office, except he is more refined and elegant about it. Men like that are just pure gold, but I never hope to get one of them. It's about like winning a lottery where half a million tickets are sold."

"If you know so much about analyzing men, Rose, in which class is —Peter?" She spoke his name almost in a whisper, as if with apprehension.

"Don't you know?" Rose evaded.

"I hadn't thought much about it, until—" she stopped, and sighed.

"You and Peter have quarreled, haven't you?" Rose asked gently. "I knew it as soon as you came back here on Sunday. What's wrong?"

Relics Of Romanoffs

Many Brought To New York By Dealer In Antiques

Many of the little intimate things belonging to the last Imperial family of Russia, Nicholas II, and his children, have been brought to New York from Leningrad by a dealer in antiques who has dealt with Russia for years.

Among the collection are the Czarevitch's cradle, skis and dolls, a little red notebook, decorated with the Russian imperial eagle, done in red, with the little initials A. F. at the top and E. F. at the bottom. It means For Alexandra Feodorovana from Elizabeth Feodorovana. Alexandra was the Czarina and Elizabeth was her sister. Also there is the little crib of Olga, the oldest daughter.

Other souvenirs are an autograph book kept by Grafina (Countess) Vorontosova Dashkova, ladyin-waiting to the Czarina, which has in it the autographs of almost all the royalty of Europe, a new collection of Easter eggs belonging to the children of the royal family, two very fine copies in English of "Alice in Wonderland" and "Little Women", given by the Czar and Czarina to the girls and inscribed "From Mamma and Papa," the cigarette case the Czarina gave the Czar, signed "Alice", very personal and intimate, and a lot of snapshots of the family and the work baskets of the children. These souvenirs as well as other belongings of the Czar, were all bought from Government warehouses in Leningrad and Moscow at prices set by a Soviet commission of former antique dealers.

THE RHYMING OPTIMIST

By Aline Michaelis

LIGHT

Is any other thing on earth
As beautiful as light,
As nearly kin to song and mirth,
As tuned to heart's delight?

"Let there be light," and at God's word
A flash of glory came,
While all the universe was stirred
With primal dawning's flame.

Is any other thing at all
As wonderful as light?
Before it, swiftly backward fall
The legions of the night.

O, light, I lift my being's cup;
Flood me too full for doubt,
With love and gladness brim me up,
Shine all the evil out!

Butterfly Hunter Has Wonderful Collection

In 100,000 Specimens There Are Seven Thousand Varieties

The most enthusiastic butterfly hunter who ever lived, a Swiss named Hans Fruhstorfer, made a wonderful collection of 100,000 butterflies, and this has been lent to the Natural History Museum in Paris. He began his collection in Brazil, when he was twenty-two years old. Then took his net to Java, where he spent three years; then he followed his pursuit for two years in the Malay Archipelago. He travelled through South America, Japan, China and Siam, until he had placed his net over some of the rarest butterflies in the world. His 100,000 specimens have nearly 7,000 varieties.

In A Nutshell

To Mr. Beatty, president of the C.P.R. goes the credit for having made the best speech delivered in Ottawa on the titles' question, and he did it in two sentences: "I will always be a plebian myself, but I am in favor of titles for Canadians if they are restricted to those who really earn them." He was opposed, he added, to hereditary titles in Canada. That is the plain sense of the titles question and the best summary of the views of the average Canadian citizen that has yet got into print.—Edmonton Bulletin.

Little Helps For This Week

"Let the peace of God rule in your hearts." Colossians 3:15.

Drop Thy still dews of quietness,
Till all our strivings cease;
Take from our souls the strain and stress,
And let our ordered lives confess
The beauty of Thy peace.
—J. G. Whittier.

"These things write we unto you that your joy may be full." What is fulness of joy but peace? Joy is tumultuous when it is not full, but peace is the privilege of those who are "filled with the knowledge of the glory of the Lord, as the waters cover the sea." "Thou wilt keep him in perfect peace whose mind is stayed on Thee, because he trusteth in Thee." It is peace springing from trust and innocence and then overflowing in love towards all around him. He who is anxious thinks of himself, is suspicious of danger, speaks hurriedly and has no time for the interests of others. He who lives in peace is at leisure wherever his lot is cast.—J. H. Newman.

Many Inventions Refused

British Patent Office Turns Down Many Gadgets Offered

No fewer than 20,000 of the 33,699 inventions submitted to the British Patent Office in the past year were refused on grounds of impracticability. A gadget for capturing motor-bandits was an electrically-operated harpoon that could be concealed in lamp-posts, so that when a stolen car was tearing down upon him, a policeman had only to touch a switch to send the harpoon whizzing into its tires. Another invention of a crook-catching window pane designed, upon being broken, to create an absolute vacuum which summarily and irresistibly drags the luckless cracksman into the room and lays him prostrate on the carpet until someone opens the door.
