Curfew Shall Not Ring in Creston?

Considerable Doubt as to Legal Status of Such a By-Law—Reeve Submits Contentious Motion—Explains His Stand

To one not familiar with events that transpired at the regular May meeting of the village council on the 14th, which was adjourned for one week without even adopting the minutes of the April meeting, there was little on the surface of Monday night's session to indicate that a serious deadlock had prevailed in transacting council business.

At he opening of the session Reeve Jackson enquired of Councillors Murrell and Comfort if they held the same views as to procedure as at the meeting one week previous, and being assured th.y had not changed their minds, the reeve announced that if they would submit their sewer survey resolution in writing he would be agreeable to placing it before the meeting. The reeve took advantage of the moment to say that he had intended to give his reasons at the first May meeting for refusing to submit the motion, but the meeting had been adjourned so abruptly that this was impossible. Just before the meeting adjourned he mad a brief statement which included a report of a telephone conversation he had held with Robert Baird, inspector of municipalities, at Nelson, on the strength of which he still felt justified in the stand he had taken at the outset.

The council will meet in session Saturday to take action on the proposed curfew law. Originally there was a letter from the attorney general's department which made it look as if such a by-law was in order. Since then the town solicitor, W. L. Bell, had been consulted, and a letter was read from him which made it quite clear the village had no such authority. Too, in the meantime another letter was to hand from the attorney general's department which was far from being as confident as the first one. In view of the doubt thus cast an the validity of the suggested by law, and other business being urgent, it was agreed to have a special meeting. In connection with the curfew law proposed to be established.

If any present were of the op'nion sewers were not needed they were not comforted by the report of Dr. Olivier, medical health officer, who stated with warm weather coming on sanitary conditions were going to be worse than unfavorable. The condition of the school toilets was scandalous, and with more than a few of the cesspools about town things were so bad that it would likely be necessary to condemn many of them and put it squarely up to the department of health to take the necessary action. The doctor was quite emphatic that if the health of the town was to be safeguarded a sewer system was imperative—and at the earliest possible date.

W. B Martin and E. Pridham are to be interviewed to see if their irrigation pipes can be tappe to provide water for a three-inch main to the swimming pool. The town has a tentative offer of three inch pipe at 13½ cents laid on top of the ground.

The providing of a hitching post, as requested by the Stockbreeders' Association, will be taken care of by placing one of them on the lane in the rear of the old power house. This one, together with one provided by the Creston Valley Co-Operative store on their lot, is expected to give all the accommodation required.

Goat Mountain Waterworks Company will be asked to team up with the village in a monthly inspec ion of the various hydrants. Messrs. Murrell and Jackson will investigate the purchase of at least 25 feet of a lot on Barton Avenue owned by the Lutheran Church. The price is $2.50 per foot, and with it the village wouln have an entrance onto Barton Avenue when Vancouver street is opened through to the hospital.

Under the head of unfinished business the previously rejected Murrell-Comfort resolution asking that the offer of W. M. Myers of Nelson to make a detailed survey of the village for sewers for $200 be accepted was read, and declared carried.

It was agreed to spend about $200 on a new walk on Fourth street, from the Mallandaine residence upstreet. A certain amount of rock and earth fill will be made to get away from putting in trestle work. At the Saturday meeting the council will confer with F. Romano in connection with acquiring a ten-foot strip along 339 foot frontage for additional widening of Canyon street.

Accounts passed for payment totalled $373. Of this $58 was salary to handy man, and $47 for street lighting. During the month 22 new globes had to be installed. To facilitate passing the accounts each month Coun. Murrell was named chairman of a finance committee to have these certified correct before coming up at council.

The local agent of Dong Barney, who owns the former Creston Hotel site, refuses to pay $80 for filling in old cesspool that was a menace to health. As no notice was served on the owner, doubt was expressed as to collection being enforced. Goat Mountain Waterworks Company notified of proposed pipe line improvements on Canyon and Fourth streets.

The Intermediate baseball club was awarded Exhibition Park Tuesday and Friday nights for practices, and the Knights of Pythias were given the use of the grounds and the pavilion for Dominion Day and evening, provided they pay the light bill and piano hire.

Provided he has the necessary license, and wil pay a yearly rental of 25 cents, the town will give Alex. Matheson permission to lay irrigation pipe line along the street allowance from the Ed Gardiner corner. Later in the year the council will take up the application of W. K. Brown for a sidewalk on Vancouver street to serve two residential properties on the east side of that street. Harry Smith will be advised that so long as he operates an auto truck catering for trade in the village, it will be necessary for him to take out a truck trade license.

Schools' Track Meet Success

Ten Schools with 159 Entrants Compete—Minnie and Margaret Huscroft, Ray Humble, Tom Tedford Show Class.

The annual track meet of he Creston Valley Schools has now come to be the most important athletic event of the year, a fact well borne out by the attendance at the fourth meet, held last Friday at the Creston high school track. Fine weather, tremendously improved grounds, large attendance, all conspired to make this annual field day the mo t successful to date. Ten schools and 159 individuals contested.

Improved track conditions sent many of last year's records into the discard, 19 of them being either broken or tied. By the narrow margin of 3 points Huscroft took the rural schools championship from Canyon, 57 to 54. Minnie and Margaret Huscroft retained their Senior and Intermediate championships, respectively, but new monarchs were crowned in all other divisions. A three-way tie precluded the declairing of a Junior Boys' champion. Full details follow and where record br ken former record shown in brackets;

Agricultural Notes

Many Items Of Interest To The Western Farmer

There are 680 genera of seed plants occurring within the Dominion of Canada.

The only broad-leaved evergreen tree in Canada is the Madrona. It is a small tree with thick leathery leaves and is found in the coast region of British Columbia.

The sales of branded beef in Canada for the first three months of 1934 totalled 8,609,435 lbs., an increase of 1,146,255 lbs. on the corresponding period of last year.

The disagreeable odour of the Canadian skunk cabbage is believed to be for the purpose of attracting carrion flies and thus securing pollination.

For the first three months of 1934, hogs graded in Canada showed an increase of 17,792 head over the corresponding three months of last year, namely, 835,358 in 1934; 817,566 in 1933.

Plantings of potatoes in Canada in 1933 increased one per cent., namely, 527,700 acres as compared with 521,500 acres in 1932, while the average yield was 78 cwt. per acre as against 76 cwt. per acre in the previous year.

The Canadian potato crop for 1933, according to the Markets Extension Division of the Dominion Department of Agriculture, is estimated by the Bureau of Statistics at 41,296,000 cwt., an increase of 5 per cent. over the 1932 production of 39,416,000 cwt.

The problems confronting the cheese industry in Quebec are quite similar to those in Ontario. In both provinces, declining volume of output has had a tendency to raise production costs per unit of product manufacture.—The Economic Annalist.

The minimum temperature reached in winter in Canada is of great importance in determining the distribution of plants, more particularly in the case of shrubs and trees. Herbaceous plants are often protected from the effects of severe cold by a covering of snow.—Division of Botany, Dominion Department of Agriculture.

In the shipments of livestock from Western to Eastern Canada during the first three months of 1934, cattle, calves, and sheep showed an increase, and hogs a decrease, compared with the corresponding period of last year, figures for the latter being within brackets:—cattle, 21,188 (7,642); calves, 148 (19); sheep, 31,215 (26,140); and hogs 66,367 (93,366).

The inclusion of rough unsuitable types in the majority of the cattle shipments to the United Kingdom in 1933, especially during the season when grass-fed cattle were loaded, was disappointing, writes the Canadian animal products trade commissioner in Great Britain, and it is injurious to the reputation of Canadian cattle as a whole. Only the right kind of cattle should be loaded for export.

The European apple sucker was first discovered in Canada at Wolfville, N.S., in 1919, and since that time has spread generally throughout Western Nova Scotia, as well as to the eastern section of New Brunswick and Prince Edward Island. To prevent further extension of this pest, a quarantine has been maintained on the known infested counties. This means that fruit growers in New Brunswick located outside of the counties of Westmoreland, Albert, King's, and St. John, may not procure any of the host plants from these counties, or from the provinces of Nova Scotia and Prince Edward Island.

Bordeaux Dust

In combating flea beetles, or in treating potatoes for insect enemies, a Bordeaux dust may be used in place of the regular poisoned Bordeaux spray. Such dusts can be purchased from all commercial spray companies ready mixed, or they may be prepared on the premises, provided a good mixing machine is available. The following is the standard formula for Bordeaux dust: Copper sulphate (dehydrated, and ground very fine) 12 pounds; hydrated lime, 80 pounds; arsenate of lime, 8 pounds.—Vegetable Insects Bulletin, Dominion Department of Agriculture.

THE LAST JUDGMENT

Golden Text: "We must all be made manifest before the judgment-seat of Christ." II Corinthians 5:10.

Lesson: Matthew 25:31-46.

Devotional Reading: Psalm 86:1-7.

Explanations And Comments

The Judgment, verses 31-33. When the Son of man shall come in his glory,—thus Jesus begins his parable of The Judgment. Compare Mt. 24: 30; 25:6, 19.

At the Last Judgment, so Jesus' parable declares, he himself will sit on the throne of judgment, and before him will be met all the nations, and he will separate them as the shepherd separates sheep from goats, putting the righteous on his right hand and the unrighteous on his left.

"You can fancy what was in the Master's mind when he said he would part folk, a day coming, 'as the shepherd separateth the sheep from the goats.' 'Tis a passing fine way, you see, of picturing what no man of us can explain, try as we will. Ah, they are a heady and quarrelsome stock, these goats. Climbing everywhere—why, sirs, they are like selfishness on legs! All day the shepherd must ward his sheep from them as well as he can, and when folding-time comes he must make sure of shutting them off for the common weal. And that, I take it, is like the judgment. Goat nature must be parted from kindly folk—so my thoughts often run, here where goats are on the hills." (William Allen Knight).

Service for Others is Service for Christ, verses 34-40. To those on his right hand the Judge will say, "Come, ye blessed of my Father, inherit the Kingdom prepared for you from the foundation of the world."

The Fate of the Unrighteous, verses 41-46. To those on the left hand, the unrighteous, the King will say, "Depart from me, ye cursed, into the eternal fire which is prepared for the devil and his angels." The word for "hell" is "Gehenna." Gehenna was a field outside the city walls of Jerusalem to which the refuse and garbage of the city were carried and there burned.

Little Journeys In Science

VITAMINS

(By Gordon H. Guest, M.A.)

Among the notable discoveries made by scientists in recent years, is that of vitamins. While they are as yet not known to have shape, taste, weight or color, they have been found to be a very necessary part of the diet, and to prevent many forms of disease. They were first discovered to exist in certain foods by medical men who were experimenting with the effect of diet on health. At about the same time, food chemists came upon these mysterious characteristics which could not be classified with fats, carbohydrates, proteins or mineral matter, the known components of food, yet which seemed to have definite life-giving qualities. Work is being constantly done by scientists in many lands, in an effort to find out exactly what vitamins are, but so far they have only been able to classify them according to what characteristics can be observed. As far as is known, vitamins contribute no material substance or energy to the body, but they act as what chemists call a catalyst, that is, they speed up the life processes. Vitamins have been designated by letters in the alphabet.

Vitamin A is found in green vegetables, Cod-liver oil and liver, and is growth-promoting. It was once thought it prevented a dread eye disease, but this theory is no longer held.

Vitamin B is found in vegetables, milk, wheat, fruit, graham flour and yellow corn meal. It is one of the most important members of the vitamin family, for it prevents beri-beri, a dread disease contracted by people who live on polished rice.

Vitamin C occurs in fruit and to a small extent in milk. This vitamin prevents scurvy, a disease which formerly took many lives.

Vitamin D occurs in cod-liver oil and it prevents rickets in infants.

Vitamin E is found in meat, the germ of the wheat seed and in numerous other natural foods.

Vitamin G, only recently discovered, is found in some types of yeast and has growth-promoting qualities.

The total annual production of clovers and grass seeds in Canada has remained about the same in recent years.

AFTER ACCIDENT SHE PUT ON WEIGHT

Kruschen Took It Off Again!

A woman sends the following account of the consequences of an auto accident in which she was involved:—

"A year ago I had a very bad automobile accident, which left me more or less a cripple. Having to lie in bed so long, and being unable to move, I began to put on flesh. When I was able to walk a little again, I found I was 144 lbs., and being just under 5 feet you may guess how I was placed. So I thought I would try Kruschen Salts, and I must say they have done me a lot of good in every way—but chiefly in keeping my weight down. In three months I lost 6 lbs. Then I left off taking the Kruschen, and I soon went up to 142 lbs. again. So at once I got more Kruschen, and am again steadily reducing. My weight last month was 134 lbs."—(Mrs.) W. H. M.

Kruschen combats the cause of fat by assisting the internal organs to perform their functions properly—to throw off each day those waste products and poisons which, if allowed to accumulate, will be converted by the body's chemistry into fatty tissue.

By

EDNA ROBB WEBSTER

Author of "Joretta", "Lipstick Girl" Etc.

SYNOPSIS

Camilla, Hoyt and Peter Anson, young and in love, marry secretly, deciding to live their own lives apart until Peter is able to provide for her. Peter is a young, struggling sculptor trying to win a competition for a scholarship abroad and Camilla is the adopted daughter of a wealthy family. She is not to inherit money when she comes of age and so is studying commercial art in the hope of landing an agency job. Others in the story are Avis Werth, another wealthy girl who is trying to win Peter, Sylvia Todd, Peter's model, and Gus Matson, his former roommate with whom he has quarrelled. After a party at an exclusive club, when the rest of the members of the party go a a cabaret to continue the gaiety, Peter and Camilla slip off to the beach by themselves and fall asleep on the sand. When they awake it is early morning and Avis and another boy are standing near them. This makes it necessary for Camilla to announce before the party that she and Peter are married. Camilla urges Peter to accept some of her earrings to help him along, but Peter refuses and they quarrel. After Camilla has gone from the studio, Avis Werth calls and persuades Peter to accept a loan of $1,000. Peter and Camilla are reconciled. Avis invites them to a party, at which she introduces Peter to well-known artists and public men.

(Now Go On With The Story)

CHAPTER XLIV.

"A title is always very important," Avis observed, and turned to Camilla. "Don't you think so? It has so much to do with the success of a book or play or picture. And it does with a piece of sculpture, also. It should strike the public's imagination, as well as being appropriate to the subject."

"Of course," Camilla agreed. She reflected that she probably knew more about that than Avis did. Wasn't that her obligation in her work—to attract the public eye with a few well-chosen words? "Have you anything in mind?"

"Several," Peter nodded, "but I've been so busy getting the unnamed thing finished that I haven't given it much thought. No use to have a name, however alluring, without an object to go with it."

"I had an idea the minute I saw it," Avis explained. "Just the one word, 'Inspiration' seems to me to fit it exactly. What do you think of it?"

Camilla repeated the word thoughtfully. "It sounds rather well," she hesitated.

Avis recoiled instantly. Her displeasure over Camilla's semi-enthusiasm was almost visible. She turned to Peter confidently. "Don't you like it better, the more you hear it? Doesn't it sort of grow on you?"

"I believe it does," he admitted, then turned to Camilla. "Have you a suggestion, dear? The committee is open to any new idea, and anxious for one."

"I've thought a lot about it," she confessed, smiling. "I have a list of ideas written down at home, but the best one I have thought of is 'Eager Youth'."

Silence for a moment, dominated by Tillie's clashing of china and silver in the kitchenette. "Say, that's hot, all right!" Peter exclaimed. "Well, you sly little cricket—had a whole page of titles topped by a prize winner and you haven't said a word!" He was immensely pleased.

"I was waiting for you to tell me your own ideas first, so you wouldn't be influenced by mine," Camilla explained quietly. "I wanted the whole thing to be yours, title and all, unless you got stuck and I could help you out."

"Gosh!" he enthused, "Am I in luck to have two women working their clever brains to name my stuff. It ought to be good!" He turned to Avis. "What do you think of that one, 'Eager Youth'?"

"Very good," she agreed instantly, but she thought to herself, "I'll handle you, alone."

"Anyway," Peter decided, "we have another week to think it over. It won't take long to scratch the title on when it's finished. Both of you keep up the good work and we'll vote on the final selection."

Camilla remained with Peter for what was left of the night, but it was only four hours later that she resolutely left him to his work and returned to her own apartment for a busy day of routine tasks, preparing her clothes for the following week and an afternoon nap that refreshed her for the evening, when Peter came to take her to a movie.

It was entertainment which permitted them to relax as that of the previous evening had not done; and although they were in a crowded theatre, they might have been entirely alone for the two hours in which they sat close together in the darkness and watched the tragedy of human emotions on the screen evolve into the miracle of happiness. There own emotions had been tense in the crisis of those make-believe lives, and it was with relief that they witnessed the final dissolution of all strife and misunderstanding.

"They always live happy ever after," Peter laughed.

"They should, after all that effort to deserve happiness. Not all stories end happily, but I like them a lot better when they do, don't you?"

"I guess everyone does. Still, you remember the tragedies longer. I guess that is why a few authors dare to leave them that way. True to life, too. There are plenty of real tragedies in real life that never end in happiness."

"Yes, and the saddest ones are those we never know about. Sudden death, murder, failure, are not the real tragedies. The worst ones are lived behind smiles and service, in silence. But we are going to have a happy ending," she added cheerfully and confidently.

"You know it," he affirmed quickly. "At least, we are going to give the controllers of destiny a fair struggle, I think."

"Just imagine, Peter, you may be in Paris in less than two months," she reminded him wistfully.

"I doubt it. If I'm not, I'll be earning some real money, though."

Always, the human mind is forced to measure achievement in financial terms, because the world ruthlessly demands that "with the same measure that ye mete withal, it shall be measured to you again." Each man measures his neighbor's success by that standard, by which the world judges him in return. It is no more fair than the scale of civic justice, but it is irrevocable. Effort and talent are cast into the discard for the glittering display of possession.

Camilla experienced her first measure of tangible achievement when she arrived at the office on Monday morning and Margaret Blaine greeted her with:

"Have you seen the new issue of Weekly Review? Your Tiny Tots scamper al over the centre double-scamper all ove rthe centre double-

A strange exultation rose up in Camilla's breast and she seemed to soar in the air like a flying bird. Her shining eyes just looked at the droll little figures. She could not speak.

"Well, aren't you thrilled to death to see them for the first time in actual print?" demanded Margaret. She was secretary to Mr. Weeks and held a profound respect for creative talent.

"Of course, I am," Camilla confessed. "But what shall I do about it?"

"Say, if that was my stuff, I'd make whoopee like an Indian—well, I don't know what I would do!"

"That's just about the way I feel. That is why I don't do anything at all. They do look darling, don't they?" she added fondly, quite as if anyone else had created them and she was admiring them.

"Do they! If that ad doesn't make the kids notice and demand Wheathearts, nothing will!"

"I hope you are right," Camilla said quietly. Again, that standard of success confronted her. Her work would be praised or condemned according to the measure of its return measure in gold to her employers. Margaret's opinion did not make it good, nor the opinion of any critic. But if that fickle composite mind that is known as public opinion, chose to favor her work with its passing approval, her work would then turn to gold for her employers and, in turn, gold for her—and her work would be good!

Camilla telephoned to Peter during her lunch hour. "Have you seen the new Weekly Review?" her voice sang with exuberance.

"No, I haven't."

"Well, rush out and get a copy and feast your eyes on that middle spread, done by your very own wife."

"Will I! Congratulations, darling. I'm terribly proud of you. When do we celebrate?"

"When you finish the figure. Then it will be a double celebration for the famous Ansons."

"How, famous?" he laughed.

"Just among ourselves, for awhile."

"Okay, honey. I won't lose a minute getting that magazine, you can bet. I'll call you back later, and tell you what I think of this new Anson artist."

Camilla accomplished little work that day. Every employee and executive had to compliment and comment upon the initiation of the Tiny Tots into the world of affairs at large and advertising in particular. Each was optimistic regarding their popularity, and Camilla walked again on winged feet with her head in the clouds of hope.

Her elation was not obvious. If possible, she was more quiet and reserved than usual. For deep emotion is not expressed in sounds and actions. It is lived within the heart and soul. Only superficial emotion manifests itself in violent demonstration.

A new bait for grasshoppers is being tried out by the U.S. Department of Agriculture, oil being substituted for molasses in mixing the bran and arsenic. Oil baits, it is stated, do not deteriorate during storage as rapidly as molasses. In Canada, water-mixed bait has been found to have a distinct attractiveness to the insects, because grasshoppers like to drink when they eat.

Quick Relief Now From Neuralgia

Real ASPIRIN Starts Taking Hold in Few Minutes

Now comes amazingly quick relief from headaches, rheumatism, neuritis, neuralgia . . . the fastest safe relief, it is said, yet discovered.

Those results are due to a scientific discovery by which an Aspirin Tablet begins to dissolve, or disintegrate, in the amazing space of two seconds after touching moisture. And hence to start "taking hold" of pain a few minutes after taking.

The illustration of the glass, here, tells the story. An Aspirin Tablet starts to disintegrate almost instantly you swallow it. And thus is ready to go to work almost instantly.

When you buy, though, be on guard against substitutes. To be sure you get ASPIRIN'S quick relief, be sure the name Bayer in the form of a cross is on every tablet of Aspirin.

WHY ASPIRIN WORKS SO FAST

Drop an Aspirin Tablet in a glass of water. Note that BEFORE it touches bottom, it has started to disintegrate.

What it does in this glass it does in your stomach. Hence its fast action.

Cunard Sailings

Intial Trans-Atlantic Trips Marked By Heavy Passenger Lists

The St. Lawrence season of the Cunard and Anchor-Donaldson Lines opened recently with the arrivals and departures of the Ausonia and the Athenia. The Antonia made her first appearance early in May and from now on, these companies will maintain practically a weekly service to Plymouth, Havre and London and to Belfast, Glasgow, and Liverpool, throughout the summer and autumn until the close of the St. Lawrence. Liners on this route will, beside those mentioned, include, The Letitia, Alaunia, Ascania and Aurania.

The initial departures have been marked by heavy passenger lists in all classes and this, with the advance reservations already made up summer sailings, would indicate that this will be a good year for trans-Atlantic business.

Slight increases in exchange rates in certain European countries have been more than offset by falling prices abroad; the many lands, hotels and railways have reduced their tariffs by as much as half.

Indications are that this will also be a good cruise year. Last winter the veteran Mauretania in her all-white dress and with her gayly decorated rooms, enjoyed enormous popularity in her West Indies' cruises from New York. After being newly furbished, she will make similar short "sea-breeze" cruises to the West Indies from New York, commencing July 21.

On June 26th the Carinthia will make a cruise from New York to the North Cape and Russia. Short cruises to the Saguenay, Quebec, Munay Bay and Bermuda will also be made on the California, Transylvania and Franconia, some cruises including a call at the Bay of Islands in Newfoundland.

One of the most popular cruises will probably be that made by the Franconia on September 18th from New York, to South America. Under the joint management of Thos. Cook & Son, American Express Co., and the Cunard Line, this cruise will carry hundreds of Canadian and American pilgrims to attend the Eucharistic Congress being held this year in Buenos Aires. Calls will be made in Havana, Trinidad, Rio de Janeiro, en route to and from the Argentine Capital.

The popularity of the short cruise in Britain has been phenomenal. This year will see an extensive programme of such sea excursions from Liverpool, Glasgow, and Southampton to the Atlantic Isles, and the Mediterranean and around the British coasts.

The semolina of the Kubanka Ottawa 37 variety of wheat is valued highly for the manufacture of macaroni.

Little Helps For This Week

"Obey my voice and I will be your God and ye shall be my people; and walk ye in the way that I have commanded you, that it may be well unto you." Jeremiah 7:23.

And oft, when in my heart was heard
Thy timely mandate, I deferred
The task, in smoother walks to stray;
But Thee I now would serve more strictly, if I may.
—W. Wordsworth.

Pray Him to give you what the scripture calls 'an honest and good heart", or "a perfect heart", and without waiting begin at once to obey Him with the best heart you have. Any obedience is better than none. You have to seek His face, obedience is the only way of seeing Him. All your duties are obediences. To do what He bids is to obey Him, and to obey Him is to approach Him. Every act of obedience is an approach, an approach to Him who is not far off though He seems so, but close behind this visible screen of things which hides Him from us.—J. H. Newman.

As soon as we lay ourselves at God's feet we have enough light given us to guide our own steps; as the foot-soldier who hears nothing of the councils that determine the course of the great battle he is in, but hears plainly enough the word of command which he must himself obey.—George Eliot.

The pastor, Rev. C. Basse, officiated at both services, the exercises at Lister being in German.

Services included examination of the candidates, and it was pleasing to all to note the cheerful manner in which the children answered questions and the very definite knowledge they had of the chief doctrines of the bible. In his address the pastor stressed continued faithfulness to Christ and his church

After the confirmation vow, which was recited jointly by the class, the children sang the class hymn, "In the Hour of Trial." The service closed with the presentation of bibles—the combined gifts of parents and congregation.

The church presented an attractive appearance, the altar and pulpit being decorated with tulips, fern and other flowers. Each child wore tiny sprays of lily of the valley, the flowers being the gift of Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Cook.

Those receiving the sacred rite were Charlotte Klein, Egon Hollm and Irwin Nickel, Crestou; Gustaf Steiner and Hans Steiner, Wynndel; Clara Domke and Martha Domke, Lister. At the service at Lister all three candidates were from that point, Clara M yer, Erika Meyer and Johanna Daus.

Music Festivals And Spring

The music festival season, whether by accident or design, coincides with spring in this Western country; and it is peculiarly fitting that it should. The two seasons are highly compatible.

Spring is essentially the season of song—of the joy of new birth, of life freed from the trammels of winter, of new hope and refreshment, of the seed-time and the filling and bursting of the buds, of the urge to new endeavor, of faith and a more expansive contentment. The pagans of old celebrated its advent with rites in which music was the vehicle of expression of that mirth and jollity the softer sun inspired.

The association of spring with song is universal—has been universal down the ages; for in the spring, nature awakes from long hibernal sleep to the notes of its own orchestra and the song of its own choristers. What more fitting then than that the soul of man should "blossom in singing" when spring brings life anew to prairie and woodland!

The music festival idea has given point and purpose to man's urge to vocalize the finer aspects of his emotional existence and experience. The remarkable growth of that idea in prairie communities, indicated in the consistent expansion of the festivals, is one of the most reassuring evidences of the enduring quality of the social organization these communities reflect. The joy of singing and the love of music, emotions never realized nor appreciated to the full unless they are shared, are infallible knitters of closer ties of friendship and fellowship. The association thus cemented inures to a deeper sense of that brotherhood of man which makes the whole world kin.

Song is of the heart and of the spirit—a weaver of the very fabric of community life. Music symbolizes the harmony of which that life is compact and without which it cannot long survive. It is significant that visitors to rural communities of the prairie west have been struck with the fulness of the social life obtaining in them, despite the lack of those adjuncts which are considered indispensable to the amenities of city life. This feature has been remarked upon particularly in relation to the remoter communities where residents have learned to rely upon their own resources and their own proclivities for social organization, and where, in co-operative endeavor, they have managed to add spice and variety to their ordinary routine.

Music and song have thus become the greatest adjutants of peace and contentment among the scattered communities of the far-flung prairies. They have contributed greatly towards the alleviation of the pangs of disappointment. They have made hardship less onerous, reaction less disruptive. These annual festivals, bringing, as they do, urban and rural dwellers of kindred tastes together, and demonstrating, as they do, a heritage common to the divers peoples composing the population of the western provinces, are contributing much towards developing that fellowship which, wider than the communal, reaches through the provincial into the national life.

It is right that the winter should be a season of preparation and practice; but it is essential that the festivals should be of the spring. That's where they belong.

Stowaway Makes Good

Boy On Antarctic Ship Has Become Popular With Crew

Fourteen-year-old Emar Lamberg, who stowed away on the whaling factory ship Southern Princess, has made good. Emar was discovered when the ship was on her way to the Antarctic. He had crept into the ship the night she left Sandefjord, Norway, and hidden under a barrel until hunger forced him to reveal himself. The skipper admired the lad's pluck, and made him assistant steward. His quickness and keenness soon made the boy extremely popular with all the crew. In dark hours after a hurricane had smashed the rudder of the Southern Princess and it seemed certain that she would be lost with all hands, Emar proved his worth. His bright cheery manner and utter disregard for danger helped the morale of the older men.

According to experiments in Italy, hens fed whole wheat flour laid more fertile eggs than hens fed white flour, and the chickens from such eggs were larger and healthier.

Wolves Kill Caribou

Trapper Brings Tale Of Wanton Destruction From North

Bringing stories of terrific onslaughts made by roving packs of wolves while the caribou were migrating, Edwin Sunquist, trapper of the sub-Arctic, reached The Pas, Manitoba, following nine months of travel west of Churchill.

They travelled by canoe, and reached their headquarters on Oct. 11. During the trip they saw no caribou. But on the morning after their arrival, they went outside to find the migrating herds passing their door. Thousands of animals were moving south. Following close on their heels were packs of from five to 35 wolves. Sunquist said the wolves in many cases killed purely for wantonness, and when there were not deer to knock down, they turned on each other.

The tall-growing hybrid delphiniums so popular in Canadian gardens can be raised from seed easily, but, as they do not come true, anyone wishing to increase the stock of a special plant must do so by division of the roots of that plant.

Sky Changes Coloring At Different Altitudes

Moscow Experts Studying Records Taken In Stratosphere Flight

Remarkable evidence of changes of color in the sky at different altitudes in the stratosphere is one of the results which have been obtained by the experts in Moscow who are studying the records left by the crew of the Soviet stratosphere balloon Stratostat which crashed after reaching the record height of over 13 miles.

Investigations are being carried on under the direction of M. Thomson, the senior-scientific worker of the Central Weather Bureau. The gondola of the Stratostat carried numerous instruments for making automatic observations at various periods of the ascent and descent.

Among the data on which the experts have been working are twelve photographs taken at different altitudes, and twenty-seven spectrum observations.

The results of the preliminary investigations are stated to show that the sky gradually changes color as follows: 5.28 miles, marine blue; 6.83 miles, dark blue; 8.08 miles, dark violet; 11.81 miles, dark violet marine; 13.05 miles, dark violet grey; 13.67 miles, black grey.

This evidence bears out observations made by Professor Piccard, the Belgian balloonist, and also by the crew of the Soviet Stratostat U.S.S.R., which made a previous high record attempt, who recorded that the sky at 11.81 miles high was "very dark violet."

The experts state that valuable records of sky colors were made by M. Vassenko up to the time when disaster overtook the balloon at a height, apparently, of 7.46 miles on the downward descent.

China's Guide For Pilots

Lighted Clock Greets Ships Entering Port At Shanghai

Instead of Liberty's flaming torch to greet arriving vessels, China has erected a memorable landmark in a clock, thirty feet in diameter. Visitors entering the Whangpo river off the Woosung Forts are now struck by the new tide indicator.

Figures from zero to 18 cover the rim of this gigantic face which at night is illuminated by Neon tubes visible for at least a mile out in clear weather.

The hands of the clock are geared to an automatic mechanism for registering tide depths. The device was put into position by the Whangpo Conservatory Board as a guide to skippers.

The base of the dial is a great arrow, whose position shows whether the tide is rising or falling. The complete outfit, rising high above the Woosung flats is a memorable sight to visitors, particularly when it shines in welcome out of the darkness.

Tenants Steal Building

Remove It Piece By Piece To Spite Landlord

Charged with stealing a building, several tenants of a row of flats have been arrested in Khodel, Poland. Back of this is a case of revenge against the renters' landlord. Following a long series of clashes between the occupants and the owner, the tenants got together and decided to steal the building. Stone by stone, door by door, window by window, they removed their flats several miles away and reconstructed them. Calling to collect his rents the landlord found an empty space where his flats had been. He aroused the village and a search was started. After many days the flats were found. Inside were the tenants, enjoying life without the shadows of a landlord's calls. The irate owner had them arrested, but is puzzling how he will get his building back where it belongs.

Of recent years, a number of promising smooth-awned barleys have been produced by different plant-breeding institutions, including the Dominion Experimental Farms, but these varieties have not yet been tested for a sufficient length of time to say which is the most desirable. For the present, however, the variety called Velvet is favoured in Eastern Canada, while Regal appears most promising in the West.

Figures Show Improvement

Average Value Of Canadian Farm Stock Has Increased

The average value of farm land in Canada in 1933, including both improved and unimproved land as well as dwelling houses, barns, stables and other farm buildings, is placed at $24 per acre in an estimate recently issued by the Canadian government. This shows no change since 1932. Average farm land values range from $63 per acre in British Columbia to $16 per acre in Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta.

Average values placed on farm livestock are: Horses, $52; milch cows, $31; other cattle, $17; sheep, $4; swine, $8.89. The changes from 1932 values are slight except in the case of swine, which have almost doubled, having increased from $4.73 to $8.89. In the same period the average value of wool increased from five to ten cents a pound. Total value of all farm livestock in 1933 amounted to $403,135,000, an increase of about $27,500,000 over 1932. The value of farm poultry is placed at $33,456,000, a slight falling-off from the value in the previous year.

Average wages of farm hands during the summer season were $17 per month for men and $10 per month for women, board and lodgings, in both cases, being furnished by the employer. Counting in the value of board the average wages for men were $32 per month and for women $22 per month.

"Made In China"

Orientals Make Up Irish Linen Handkerchiefs For American Trade

Handkerchiefs for sale in Atlantic City bearing the tickets, "Pure Irish Linen," and "Made in China," so aroused a visitor that he promptly wrote to the Belfast Times about it. In reply John Gilliland of Belfast, Director of the Irish Linen Guild declared that China is now buying thousands of pieces of linen to be made up into handkerchiefs and embroidered for the American trade. "Although Irish linen is used," he said, "owing to U.S. Customs laws, articles coming into that country can only be accepted if they are marked with the place of origin—that is China. It is really a question of China obeying the Customs laws. As a matter of fact Ulster manufacturers are keeping a good grip on the handkerchief trade in America."

PROPOSAL MADE TO ABANDON ARMS PARLEY

Geneva.—A proposal to abandon the disarmament conference and report its failure to the League of Nations council was tentatively launched by conference leaders.

Although the idea has not been formally presented, it is known to be under consideration by statesmen seeking to inject new life into an ill patient.

Encouragement for friends of disarmament came at the same time in a statement of France's foreign minister, Louis Barthou, that he had not given up hope of an agreement, and in reports that Germany is considering returning to the conference.

Indications are that the powers are trying to force France to show her hand on the question of guarantees, and that France is trying to induce Great Britain into a pact for mutual military aid in the event that either France or Britain is attacked.

Foreign Minister Barthou's proclamation tended to counter the move for eventual conference adjournment.

The impression prevailed here that disarmament will continue in a deadlock until the 1935 Saar plebiscite decided whether that area will be returned to Germany, and until Germany herself returns to the conference.

Canada Not Dumping Wheat

General Manager Of Wheat Pools Denies Published Report

Winnipeg.—Denial of published reports the Dominion government will dump its wheat holdings on the market was made by John I. McFarland, general manager of the Canadian wheat pools.

Rumors have been current among the grain trade for several days forced selling of government holdings was contemplated.

The Ottawa correspondent of a weekly financial journal reported: "With about three months of the crop year remaining, it is learned here the Dominion government intends to force wheat on the market in order to bring Canada's exports up to the London wheat agreement total of 200,000,000 bushels. Sixty million bushels of Canadian wheat remain to be sold before the end of July and information here is that the wheat will be marketed notwithstanding slight price losses which may result."

Mr. McFarland stated no such policy has even been discussed in Canada.

In Motor Accident

Sir Austen Chamberlain Bruised And Badly Shaken

London.—Sir Austen Chamberlain, former foreign secretary, was bruised and badly shaken up as the taxicab in which he was riding collided with another cab in Grosvenor square and overturned. Examinations showed no bones were broken.

Lord Dawson of Penn, the king's physician, happened to be passing at the time of the accident and stopped his car to render aid. He was surprised to recognize the victim as Sir Austen and took him to his home.

A bulletin issued said: "Sir Austen was badly shaken and a great deal bruised when his taxicab was run into and overturned. Fortunately no bones were broken.

To Be Deported

Montreal.—The first stowaway of the trans-Atlantic shipping season here is Charles Kinrade, 28, native of the Isle of Man. He landed from the freighter Carmona, out of Newcastle. He pleaded guilty and was sentenced to four weeks in jail, after which he is to be deported.

Paris. — France's crack distance flyers, Paul Codos and Maurice Rossi, are considering plans for a Paris to Los Angeles or San Francisco flight, in an attempt to smash their own non-stop record.

Boost Tourist Industry

Proposal Is Made For New Cabinet Post In This Connection

Ottawa.—A new cabinet post, that of minister of the tourist industry, was advocated before the senate tourist committee.

The new portfolio was proposed by Morgan Eastman, Toronto, former director of the Greater Vancouver tourist bureau and one of the organizers of the Puget Sounders, a bureau co-operating between Vancouver and Seattle, Washington.

Present provincial tourist activities are inadequate, Mr. Eastman said. The transportation companies are mainly concerned with the prospective tourist traveling by rail, while 75 per cent. of the tourists entering Canada come by motor. The bureaux maintained by various cities have a purely local motive. There is not at present a national tourist consciousness designed to boost all of Canada and not the separate provinces. These were the reasons given for creation of the new portfolio.

The government has developed some wonderful attractions in our national parks, said Mr. Eastman. But these attractions are not being sold to the extent they should be in foreign countries.

"Why not have a new federal bureau placed under the direction of the minister of trade and commerce?" asked Senator Creelman MacArthur, Summerside, P.E.I.

The Canadian Pacific and the Canadian National Railways presented a joint brief to the committee, based on the present tourist advertising activities of the transportation companies.

The brief was prepared by J. Murray Gibbon, general press representative of C.P.R., and C. K. Howard, manager of the tourist and convention bureau of C.N.R.

The railways advanced the opinion that advertising in the United States under the government's own name might react unfavorably, tending to be denounced as propaganda.

Ontario Elections

Premier Henry Announces Voting Day June 19th

Toronto. — The Ontario general elections will be held June 19. Official nominations will be held June 12 and advanced polls on June 16 and 18.

Premier George S. Henry announced the dates and also dissolution of Ontario's legislature. Premier Henry made his brief announcement from the open window of his automobile as he left Government House. He had been conferring for 20 minutes with Lieutenant-Governor Herbert A. Bruce.

The lieutenant-governor signed the order-in-council providing for dissolution of the legislature and issuance of the writs. Premier Henry did not issue his election manifesto.

For three days Premier Henry and his cabinet have held conferences discussing the election date and preparing the Conservative manifesto. At the conclusion of the conference, the election date was forthcoming.

For weeks party heads have been campaigning in preparation for the vote. Premier Henry and his cabinet ministers have delivered addresses at numerous nomination meetings, and Mitchell F. Hepburn, Ontario Liberal leader, has waged a busy campaign.

Cowboys For Rodeo

Montreal. — Wild horses, steers, calves and cowboys, the makings of the rodeo that will be shown in London shortly, sailed from Montreal aboard the freighter Nortonian. Only 30 of the cowboys went in the freighter, however, the remaining 120 leaving later on the liner Aurania. The cowboys are from Alberta and several of the southwestern states.

Washington.—The $40,00,000 item for the United States navy President Roosevelt included in his latest budgetary request to congress will be turned to the construction of submarines and destroyers.

Paris.—Dr. Louis Martin, one of the world's foremost authorities on contagious diseases, was named head of the Pasteur Institute. For 40 years Dr. Martin has been associated with the Institute.

MAY HEAD BOARD

Hon. Gordon Harrington, former premier of Nova Scotia, and now leader of the Opposition in that province, who is mentioned as a possibility for the post of chairman of the Board of Railway Commissioners. The vacancy was created when Hon. C. P. Fullerton became chairman of the Board of Trustees of the Canadian National Railways.

Advances in Aviation

First Inland Aerial Mail Service In British Isles

London.—Two notable advances in British aviation were announced with the maiden flight of the Scylla, largest air liner in the world, and inauguration of the first inland aerial mail service in the British Isles, to commence shortly.

The Scylla made her maiden flight to Paris. Built for Imperial Airways, she carries 39 passengers, two pilots, a wireless operator and steward. She is powered with four 550 horsepower engines. The passengers are able to dine and hear radio programs.

The airmail service, to open in a few days, will run between Inverness and Kirkwell in the Orkney islands.

Pennyworth To Be Scrapped

Montreal. — Manseau Shipyards, Limited, of Sorel, Que., has purchased the British freighter Pennyworth, it was learned here, and will scrap the vessel. The price could not be learned. The Pennyworth grounded last autumn on the Island of Orleans, near Quebec City, and all efforts to free her proved unavailing.

Destroyer Taken Over

Lisbon.—A crew of British tars took over a Portuguese-built destroyer here in behalf of the Columbian navy.

Marketing Bill

Mackenzie King Approves Proposed Changes In Act

Ottawa.—A significant statement by Rt. Hon. Mackenzie King that the amendments proposed to the marketing bill by Hon. Robert Weir had met some of his objections to the measure was made in the house.

The Liberal leader went further and suggested that if the government changed the legislation in respect to the powers of the boards to enact regulations and made such power a government responsibility, "as far as I am concerned I would cease to have any opposition to the measure as a measure of an experimental character."

Mr. King stressed that one of the basic things in the British constitution was the control of parliament over expenditures. This principle was ignored in the measure, he said. Expenditures under the bill should be made by appropriations of parliament. Strong exception also had been taken by the opposition, he said, to part two, which left it to a particular group appointed to investigate and determine what was to be an offence.

"I am glad to notice the government had taken account of the force of the exception taken to these clauses," said Mr. King, "and is proposing to make a material change which will meet all that there was in the nature of opposition to that part of the measure. The government is proposing to do away with the word 'determine' and substitute the word 'report'.

"That means that when an investigation is held a report will be made by the investigators to the minister and to the government. The report will be public, and undoubtedly will be serviceable in helping to make more effective the law with regard to preventing the enhancement of prices or the restraint of trade which is unreasonable and unfair."

Lost Race With Fire

San Diego, Cal.—Overcome on a mountain trail in a desperate race from flames fanned by a strong wind, three Sera camp members perished in the forest blaze near Julian. The men, with about 22 others, had raced to safety from flames which threatened to trap them in a gulch.

Narrow Nationalism

London.—The chief obstacle to the attainment of international security is a spirit of narrow and self-seeking nationalism which refuses to pay the price whereby security and recovery can be achieved, Sir John Simon, the foreign secretary, told the House of Commons.

U.S. SOUNDS DIRIGIBLE'S DEATH KNELL

The pride of the United States Navy Air Force, the giant airship Macon, is pronounced a failure after being unable to defend herself in fleet manoeuvres off Cuba. In addition to her theoretical destruction by aeroplanes, the Macon sustained new actual damage which necessitates repairs in Florida. This is the second occasion in recent weeks that the giant airship has had to put in for repairs, and many believe unless she shows better in her new tests with the fleet, no more airships will be built by the United States. Here we see the Macon swinging in the breeze as she lies anchored to her mooring mast.

NEGOTIATIONS BETWEEN WHEAT DELEGATES ENDED

London.—Ten days of private negotiations between the big four wheat delegates ended, leaving in doubt the question whether Argentina can be prevented from breaking the 1933 wheat agreement.

A report of the deliberations was being sent to the governments concerned, including Canada, the United States, Australia and Argentina.

It was indicated the report includes a tentative compromise arrangement under which no set amount would be loaned to Argentina on her quota under existing wheat export agreements.

It was known that during final sessions a firm demand was presented that Argentina reform its wheat sales practices before getting a bigger slice of the world wheat market.

Representatives of the Dominions and the United States were said to have stood pat on their insistence that Argentina must curb her alleged dumping. Dr. Thomas Le Breton, heading the Argentine delegation, came here May 6 in the hope of obtaining a 40,000,000 bushel loan.

Saskatchewan Claims

Natural Resources Case Presented To Dysart Commission

Ottawa. — Saskatchewan's claims against the Dominion, growing from federal administration of the province's natural resources from 1905 to 1930, were presented formally before the Dysart royal commission.

The commission has been sitting since February 5, with long adjournments necessitated by hearings in Regina as well as Ottawa. A vast amount of documentary evidence was submitted by both sides previous to the opening of oral arguments.

P. H. Gordon, Regina, chief counsel for Saskatchewan, placed the province's total claim sat $161,629,751. This was made up of a claim for 31,000,000 acres of land the province charges the Dominion with having alienated, with a tentative value of $4 per acre, a total of $124,207,460 with interest; loss of taxes, $2,538,535; loss of grazing rentals, $1,157,909; loss of timber revenue, $26,598,276; school lands and school land endowment fund, $7,127,571.

J. MacGregor Stewart, Halifax, chief counsel for the Dominion, advanced tentative counter claims of $170,000,000.

The Saskatchewan Act was passed in 1905 only after a great deal of opposition had been smoothed out, Mr. Gordon told the commission.

When Saskatchewan entered confederation, September 1, 1905, the province was not permitted to exercise any rights with respect to administration and control of its resources, he said. The province was thus placed in a position of inferiority with the other provinces.

Withdraws From Commons

Mitchell Hepburn To Devote Time To Ontario Provincial Affairs

Toronto. — Mitchell F. Hepburn, Ontario Liberal leader, announced he would submit his resignation as member of the Dominion parliament to Rt. Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King, Liberal leader.

Mr. King will hand Mr. Hepburn's resignation to the speaker of the house on June 11, the day before the official nominations in Ontario.

"This should set at rest all doubt as to whether I am withdrawing from the Dominion parliament and devoting my whole time henceforward to the leadership of the Ontario Liberal party in the provincial election campaign," Mr. Hepburn declared.

Northern Flight Record

Edmonton.—A new record was established in northland flying when Pilot Archie McMullen, Canadian Airways, flew into Fort Resolution and returned to Fort McMurray in the afternoon with a load of six passengers and a heavy consignment of fur. This flight is two weeks ahead of the previous earliest flight into Resolution.
