SPECIAL TRAIN CARRIES CROWD—DAY SPENT ENJOYING PROGRAMME OF SPORTS AND BASKET LUNCH.

Court Cranbrook, No. 8943, Ancient Order of Foresters, picniced at Elko on Tuesday, Dominion Day. A special train had been chartered and a merry crowd gathered at the station at 9 a.m. and arrived at Elko about 11 o'clock. The ladies of the crowd had prepared baskets with generous lunches and this part of the day was especially enjoyed. The picnic was held on the banks of the famous Elk river, near the scenic falls.

The day proved to be ideal for the occasion, being sunshiny and warm, and the much feared mosquitoes were nowhere in evidence. The lodge has decided to make this an annual affair.

CELEBRATION AT KIMBERLEY

Dominion day was celebrated at Kimberley with a good day's sport. The weather was fine and a goodly number attended to witness the games and athletic events, the most fun-producing of which was probably the fat man's race. Mr. McFarlane held the lead till nearing the wire when in some unaccountable way, he got tangled up with Allan, who came in ahead, with Gamble second. Myers made a grand spurt, but fagged on the home stretch.

All the other events were keenly contested, Peckenan, of Wycliffe, doing some particularly good vaulting.

Following is a list of events with winners:

Standing long jump—Peckenan, 8 ft. 10 in.

Running long jump—Sice, 15 ft. 9 in.

Running high jump—Foster, 4 ft. 7½ in.

Pole vault—Peckenan, 8 ft. 7 in.

Boys race, over 10 years—Ed. Hanley.

Boys race, under 10 years—W. Houle.

Girls race—E. Lundeen.

Married ladies race—Mrs. James.

Single ladies—Miss Christenson.

Fat man's race—Mr. Allan.

Sack race—Ed. Hanley.

100 yards dash—Mr. Foster.

Log sawing contest—Luke and Jacob.

Log chopping contest—Luke.

Shovelling contest—Mr. Gamble.

Putting shot—Mr. Bush.

The ball game was a very interesting feature, both sides running up high scores, and after an exciting finish Kimberley won.

Following was the line-up:

Kimberley.	Wycliffe.
Center.
Barr	Craven
First
Fortier	Williams
Short stop.
Murphy	Sice
Second.
McDonald	Doe
Catcher.
Moe	Clark
Left
Nordman	Foster
Pitcher.
S. Newman	Clark
Third.
Swan	Brown
Right.
A. Newman	Davis

Perhaps the most enjoyable feature of the day was the dance. A large number attended and the music, furnished by the Cranbrook orchestra, was exceptionally good, and helped in no small degree to make the dance an entire success.

The prize waltz was won by Mrs. James, of Marysville, and Mr. Sundin, of Wycliffe.

HITS BACK AT GROUNDLESS CRITICISMS

Replying to recent criticisms, widely circulated, aimed at the credit of Canadian municipalities, a leading Moose Jaw publication makes significant comment which is commanding general approval. The statement of the editor would appear to have special application to Moose Jaw's finances. After a reference to the heavy responsibilities that have been thrust upon the Canadian municipality, the writes continues: "These responsibilities have been occasioned by the unprecedented inrush of population, particularly into the Western provinces. Population and business centres in certain localities and had to be accommodated. This has meant a large expenditure of money, and there has been no alternative but to raise it by borrowing freely. In common with those conducting important business enterprises, Canadian cities can with profit stand a little checking up now and then; but their basis is sound, for it rests upon a rapidly growing and assured population. Some of their assessments may be inflated; but will any person seriously argue that their property values are not more truly intrinsic than those of one-half the railroad securities?"

One Hundred Thousand Acres Best Farming Land Surround Cranbrook

This Vast Tract Was Held Under Timber Leases, Now Expired, and Settlers are Waiting For it to be Thrown Open For Pre-Emption

AGRICULTURAL COMMISSION MEETS IN CRANBROOK

Many Farmers Discuss Matters to Their Interest Before Board of Inquiry at Government Building Last Monday

Last Monday morning at 9.30 o'clock the provincial agricultural commission met at the government building in Cranbrook for the taking of evidence along the line of anything of interest to the farmers. There were a large number of farmers in attendance. Those compasing the commission were: W. H. Hayward, M.P., of Duncan; J. J. Campbell, of Nelson; J. Kidston, of Vernon; S. Shannon, of Cloverdale; W. Duncan, of Comox; C. B. Christensen, of Victoria.

Messrs. Campbell and Shannon started for Baynes Lake via automobile in the morning and after losing their way and meeting with a mishap, returned to Cranbrook and made a fresh start again in the afternoon.

The commission left Tuesday afternoon for Wasa via automobile where they were scheduled to hold a session at seven o'clock in the evening, proceeding then to Winhermere.

JOHN LEVETT.

The first witness called on Monday morning was Mr. John Levett, one of Cranbrook's most successful farmers. Mr. Levitt, in his evidence, stated he had farmed for a large number of years near Fort Steele. He had made weekly trips into town delivering butter, eggs and other produce in season and had always been able to dispose of all he had at profitable and satisfactory prices. His greatest difficulty had been to get reliable labor. He had to pay $50 per month and board and occasionally more and very unsatisfactory help in many cases. In clearing land he estimated it at that time to have cost $125 per acre.

In reply to the chairman's question he thought that some system whereby the actual practical farmer could obtain money at easy rates over long terms would go a great way towards getting the right kind of people to go on the land and improve it.

A. B. SMITH.

Mr. A. B. Smith, who is president of the Farmers' Institute, was the next witness called. He stated that a good many new settlers had located within the district during the past few years but that a good many had also gone away again. Lands in the district were valued at from $50 to $125 per acre. Prohucts usually commanded a good price on the local market. He was informed by Mr. Hayward, chairman of the commission, of the success of an egg-depot which had been established in Mr. Hayward's home town. The first year 31,000 dozen eggs were handled, the second year 81,000 dozen eggs were handled, the second year 81,000 dozen eggs were marketed and in 1912 151,000 dozen eggs were handled and the amount this year from present indications would exceed 250,000 dozen. He recommended the establishing of these depots in all parts of the province. Mr. Smith recommended the following subjects as being of most interest to the farmers of the district at the present time.

First.—The penalizing of low grade stallions and the bonusing of pure bred stock and asking the government to co-operate in a movement to have only one strain of stock bred in the district, which would work out to advantage in case of sale.

Second.—That means be provided by the government preventing the shipping of nursery stock imported from out the province to Vancouver for fumigation and inspection, as the extra shipping had proved the death of much of the imported stock which came into this district.

Third.—Government assistance in securing money for settler's at low rates of interest, such money to be spent strictly in improving the farms and lands.

Fourth.—That there is approximately 100,000 acres of logged-off lands within a radius of ten miles of Cranbrook on which the timber lease has expired and he recommended that the government throw this open for pre-emption in tracts of 160 acres and protecting the opening in such a way that speculators would be eliminated and only bona fide settlers be allowed to file and secure rights to such land.

Fifth.—That more work be done on settler's roads and not so much done on the automobile highways.

IRA R. MANNING.

Ira R. Manning stated that potatoes, currants and gooseberries could be secured from the local producers in sufficient quantities to supply the local demand, but that apples, strawberries, raspberries, peaches and all larger fruits were shipped in. More local fruit could be purchased if the growers knew more about packing and were provided with the necessary crates and boxes. The average prices paid for these fruits on the local market for the past three years were as follows: Strawberries, $3.00 per crate; raspberries, per crate, $2.50; gooseberries and red currants, $2.40; black currants, $3.00. Eggs ranged in price from 40 cents to 80 cents and had been known to be as high as $1.00 for strictly fresh laid eggs. Eggs could be shipped in from the prairie at from 7 to 20 cents less per dozen at all seasons of the year. There had been a surplus of fresh eggs for two months this year, which had never been known before but the price had not been lowered. Eggs were now 40 cents and could be purchased from the prairie at 30 cents. These were sometimes good but at certain seasons of the year very bad. New Zealand and Ontario butter was sold very little, local butter being made. Forty-five cents was a high price for butter at any season. Apples were ordered from the Americans principally because the merchants could get carload lots made up of one or two varieties while the British Columbia cars from the Okanagan usually had several varieties. The American pack was also superior, and the price with duty was usually a few cents cheaper per box. However, the B.C. apple was gaining, and he thought that within a year or so that they would be competing very strongly against the American fruit. He had supplied wheat to the Poultry association in carload lots at $29.50 per ton. Bran and shorts at $27.50 in carload lots.

SAM MACDONALD.

Sam Macdonald, secretary of the Farmers' Institute, said that stumping powder cost $5.00 per box plus the freight from the government that he had shipped in a considerable quantity mostly in small lots. He reported the sale of tracts of lands in the immediate vicinity by Cranbrook Orchards and Kootenay Orchards companies and said that the condition of a man who had only five acres and no money was absolutely hopeless from a farmer's standpoint. That a man could make these tracts pay, providing he selected one in the proper location and knew soil, was a practical farmer and had money to carry him for at least three years, but otherwise his plight would be a hard one. He repeated the assertion that there were 100,000 acres of lands in a radius of ten miles of Cranbrook on which timber leases had expired and which ought to be thrown open for pre-emption. He thought that 50 per cent of it would prove to be good farming land. All land in this country required two or three years cultivation before it was in good shape for planting fruit trees, clover, etc. There were late frosts until two years ago but only very light late frosts in the past two years. Strawberries had been frosted but currants and gooseberries were not touched. Bench lands were more free from frost than the low meadow land. From a record he kept of chickens he had made a profit of $2.00 per bird on one hundred chickens in one year, not counting his own labor. There were good prices for eggs the year round and especially good prices for dressed poultry.

B. PALMER.

Mr. Palmer owns land near Cranbrook, only a few acres, which he thought cost $100 per acre to clear and plow. He said that he had been hauling manure from town for several seasons and dumping it on his land and that it required two to three years of such work after clearing before the land would raise much of anything. On St. Mary's Prairie they could get a crop the first year but the stump land required humus, which took some time to provide. He stated that the great drawback in this country was lack of individual capital and too small acreage, too many farmers were trying to make a living without any money to start and on a limited acreage.

He said that there were 100,000 acres lying tributary to Cranbrook which would make a good stock country, as grass grew luxuriantly, but which he thought would make good farm land as well under dry farming methods or irrigation where such was feasible. He thought that this would grow into a mixed farming country, but that the conditions at the present time were discouraging for a man just starting in. He thought that a man had cleared a hundred acres here he had earned every foot of the land by his work and that the stump land was practically valueless. He considered co-operation on the part of the farmers as one of the most necessary things for the advancement of their own interests.

HAROLD DARLING.

Harold Darling, a local real estate man, reported that one man at Wardner had cleared seventy acres of land between seasons one year by burning the stumps. He had used only five cases of powder. He said that nineteen acres planted at Wardner had yielded 200 tons of mixed vegetables. One half of this tract was irrigated and the other half worked under dry farming methods and no difference could be distinguished in the yield. He had found orchards in various parts of the district killed by the use of too much water. Five acres planted by himself on St. Mary's Prairie two years ago were in a fine, healthy condition and no water had been used.

The five and ten acres tracts sold next to the city were valued according to their proximity to the city. The terms of sale for these lands were a small payment down and a small payment each month, and he thought they were to be classed as any other business proposition. A man who had no experience and no money was doomed to fail. His company loaned money on farm lands at the rate of about $10 per acre at 10 per cent interest. Farmers should pick the bench or air drained lands for the best success.

W. B. BUSH.

Mr. Bush owns 320 acres three miles south of the city, of which 30 acres was cleared. He came to protest against the school tax levied by the City of Cranbrook on his land. He had been included in a school district over which the City of Cranbrook had control, the school building being outside the city limits. The government tax on his property this year was $14.00 and the amount levied for the school alone had been $52.50, more than three times the government tax. He had appeared before the board of revision but that had proven only wasted time. A local real estate man acted as assistant assessor and fixed real estate men's prices on the lands. He would sell his land for the amount assessed.

S. F. CHILDS.

S. F. Childs, of Hanbury, owns 320 acres with 15 acres cleared, on which he raises fruits, vegetables and everything grown in this climate. Everything had grown successfully that he had tried but much of the trials were only as an experiment, as he did not grow enough to market. His best apples were the Wealthy, Duchess and Yellow Transparent. He now has thirteen head of cattle and finds a good market for his milk among the lumber camps. He stated the Holstein breed and calves that would ordinarily sell at $5.00, he could get $25.00 for his blooded stock. There were a few new people settling in his neighborhood. He thought East Kootenay a most desirable location for a farmer that understood his business. He had prospered since coming here sixteen years ago and all of his neighbors were in a good prosperous condition. There was a good market for anything grown in East Kootenay. One neighbor made a living from one cleared acre and his cattle, although he owned more land. He only wished to register a complaint against water rights being filed and not used when his neighbors were in need of the same water.

P. L. OWEN.

Mr. Owen stated that he was a carpenter who resided in Cranbrook and that if he had the money to insure his remaining, he would go on land and work hard to succeed, that he would rather work endeavoring to make a home for himself on a farm at a small stipend than to work for big wages at his trade, and that he knew several people of his acquaintance who would also prefer to do this. He thought that the plan to advance money on the amount of improvements made was a good one, providing a sufficient amount could be advanced to support a man and and family while he placed the land in cultivation.

W. A. Rollins left Saturday for Vancouver on business. He will return from there in a few days and then has planned to go to Fort Fraser to look after land interests and will probably locate in that district.

NEW BUILDINGS FOR GREEN HOUSES

DEMAND FOR CUT FLOWERS INCREASES BUSINESS OF CRANBROOK FLORISTS.

One of the growing institutions in Cranbrook is the East Kootenay Greenhouse company, which was started only about a year ago, being financed by a company of local capitalists. Most of those who put in money at the start have withdrawn from the company at a profit and the control is now in the hands of Mr. G. B. Willis, the manager, and one silent partner.

The company has just completed the erection of a new building which is covered with 2,000 square feet of glass and is divided into two green houses, 18½x50 feet and 16x34 feet in size. The glass used in covering this building is double thickness and was placed by the Cranbrook Sash and Door company. The new building is several feet higher than the old one and more than doubles the capacity of the green houses. Even with this additional room, Mr. Willis informs us, there will not be enough room to supply their demand and they are contemplating the erection of another house, somewhere near the city, which will be five times the capacity of the houses now erected. This will probably be done next year.

An office is being equipped at the front of the new building, where displays of hanging baskets, flowering pots, etc., will be shown. A cellar for maturing bulbs has been constructed, where they can be allowed to slowly mature. New beds of carnations are being planted. The demand for this beautiful flower far exceeds the capacity for growing them. Lettuce and mushroom beds are also in course of construction and the company expect to be able to supply part of the demand for these vegetables this winter.

An experienced and practical green house man is employed by the company and by autumn will be in shape to supply the demand for cut flowers of many different kinds as well as vegetables peculiarly adapted to hot house growth.

The present hot water heating plant will not be enlarged but pipes will be run through the new building soon.

CANADA'S FORESTS

A FEW FACTS FOR CANADIANS TO PONDER OVER.

Fifty years is a very short time in the life of a forest. Most of the timber being cut in British Columbia today is over two hundred years old—some of it over eight hundred.

It takes years to grow trees—not hours or days.

If we want our trees protected we must care for them now. Today is fifty years "ago" from th eyear 1963—and that is not very far away.

There is a crisis coming—when the forests which for a century men havd thought "inexhaustible" are going to be greatly depleted.

We must prepare for that contingency.

Stop the fires.

Stop the waste in logging, milling and utilization.

Stop the insect and fungus depredations.

Cut timber only when it is "ripe"—when it will produce as much value as possible in usefulness to men.

Plant up the waste places.

Plant the needed shelter belts.

These take time, they take men, they take money, but they are worth it.

France has spent $35,000,000 in planting trees on watersheds.

Germany spends up to $13 per acre per annum on some forests, and gets gross returns up to $24 per acre, thus yielding net profits up to $11 per acre every year.

As a whole, German forests produce about $2.00 net per acre annually.

Canada spends much less than one cent per acre per annum on the forest lands under management.

If we set the fire loss against the timber product, Canada's forest balance sheet shows an enormous deficit.

How can Canadians stop the losses, arrest the waste? There is but one answer. Public opinion, public conscience are the only forces that will ever make for progress.

CRANBROOK, B. C., July 3d, 1913

EDITORIAL NOTES

"Buy and then kick!" is a poor motto, but it seems that it is the only one that fits the man who buys without careful investigation.

A vacation trip to the city, to a near-by lake, to the old folks back east, will pay the largest dividends of any investment that can be made during the present season.

Men talk about co-operation as though it were something new under the sun. It is as old as the gatherings of peoples together. There is nothing done that is worth while in which men do not co-operate. Our schools and our churches, our roads our rural mail and our civic organization as a whole—all these things are essentially co-operative. The thin to which we give the distinctive name of "co-operation" is merely an extension of combined human effort to ordinary business, with this difference, that while under the old system the many do the labor and the few take the profits, under the co-operative system the many do the labor and also take the profits.

In another column of this paper will be found a communication upon the spread of the "Canadian Thistle" which is proving a menace to the province, especially to the agricultural districts. It should prove a timely warning to the farmers of East Kootenay and not only to the farmer but to the city authorities of the City of Cranbrook. This thistle is growing altogether too strenuously within the city limits and should be looked after as its spread will prove a serious menace in the years to come. A vigorous growth near the government building should be stamped out at once as well as in other parts of the city. The C.P.R. right-of-way also proves a good growing ground for this obnoxious weed and is a menace to the farms lying adjacent to the tracks.

DOMINION DAY.

1867-1913.

This is Canada's day.

Forty-six years ago July 1, 1867, several of the provinces of this great date. It was on May 22nd that the ion of Canada. Other provinces joined at later dates till the Dominion embraced this great country from ocean to ocean.

The Imperial parliament finally passed the British North America Act on February 28th, 1867. On March 29th it received the royal assent but it contained a provision that it should not come into force until a royal proclamation was signed within six months of the latter date. It was on May 22nd that the late beloved Queen Victoria signed the royal proclamation which called the Dominion into existence, and that proclamation set July 1st as the date for the official creation of the new Dominion. Lord Monck was sworn in on July 2nd as the first viceroy, and on November 6th of the same year the first parliament of Canada met.

July 1, 1867, marked the beginning of a new nation. The promise of that early date has been more than fulfilled. The development has been very remarkable. Canada has become one of the leading nations of the world. The increase in population has not been as rapid as anticipated at that time. Its expansion in commerce has been remarkable. It is rapidly taking a foremost place in the world of nations.

It is possible that we do not celebrate with sufficient enthusiasm this day which should be the very best of the entire year. Canadians glorify any achievement, as an eastern paper properly states, so long as it is not distinctly Canadian. Tuesday was a holiday but there was little distinctively Canadian about it. There was little reference on that day to the greatness of the Canadian nation, and the future of the Canadian people. There was no extensive consideration of the achievements of the Canadian citizens. There is much more intelligent celebration of Empire day, which is in memory of the birth of the last Queen of Great Britain, than there is of our own national day.

The Toronto Star suggests that the day might be set apart for a general review of Canadian achievement. The explorers and discoverers so brilliantly described by Parkman—the toils and hardships of the pioneers and early settlers of Canada—the winning of responsible government, the efforts of statesmen to reconcile the differences between French-Canadians and those other Canadians who traced their descent from the British Islands, the building of railways from the pioneer line to the three transcontinentals, the founding of our school systems.

The closing days of the schools, which comes shortly before the holiday, might be called Confederation day or Canada day, and be marked by appropriate exercises. Addresses might be given on the work of the fathers of confederation, the work of the pioneers, and other Canadian achievements.

KING EDWARD SCHOOL "AT HOME"

CHILDREN DELIGHT VISITORS WITH CLEVER PROGRAMME LAST WEEK.

A very enjoyable "at home" was given at the King Edward school on Wednesday, June 25th. Tea was handed to the guests by the little scholars from 4 p.m. to 5 p.m., and from 5 p.m. to 6 p.m. the scholars delighted the guests with their singing, recitations and pianoforte playing.

All the scholars entered heartily in so the singing and playing, and interpreted each song very cleverly by appropriate actions. Two very amusing pieces were "Where Are You Going to My Pretty Maid," and "Little Jack Horner." The children were encored again and again, and their training reflects very great credit on Mrs. and Miss Cherrington and Miss Hodgson, who must have taken infinite pains to train the children so successfully.

Among the guests were: Mrs. W. F. Green, Mrs. P. Wilson, Mr. and Mrs. Elwell, Mr. and Mrs. Chapman, Mr. and Mrs. Worthington, Mr. and Mrs. Nisbet, Mrs. Atchison, Mrs. Balkwill, Mrs. Bowness, Rev. E. P. Flewelling and others.

The following programme was rendered:

"Girls and Boys Come Out to Play."
"Oranges and Lemons."
"Ding Dong Bell."
"Three Blind Mice."
"Dr Faustus."
"How Does My Lady's Garden Grow?"
"Little Jack Horner."
"Three Little Kittens."

MOTOR BOAT OVERTURNS AND SIX DROWNED

Edmonton, June 28.—Before hundreds of spectators, who were enjoying themselves on the river banks Saturday evening at half past eight, six well-known Edmonton young people were drowned tonight close to the low level bridge by the overturning of a gasoline launch. Amid fruitless cries for aid six of the occupants of the boat sank in the fast-running river. Case clung to the boat and was eventually rescued.

On the trip down the river while the party was gay with laughter there was a sudden jar to the boat, due to it striking a snag. The engine stopped and the boat overturned precipitating its occupants into the water.

A large crowd was just leaving the ball grounds saw the launch overturned and rushed east along the bank of the river until they got to a point just south of Syndicate avenue and Jasper on the east end of the city where the occupants of the launch could be plainly seen still struggling in the waters.

There was a rush for boats but already the victims of the treacherous river had sunk from sight. At once boats were put out from the river bank and they are now dragging to recover the remaining bodies.

Mrs. Case, one of the drowned, had only returned with her husband from their honeymoon on June 16th. They were married May 27th in Spokane. Meredith and his wife are also a newly married couple. Case, the only one saved in the accident, is prostrated as a result, and is now under a physician's care.

SAVED.

The saved one is Everett Case, manager of the west end branch of the Imperial Bank.

Robert Patton, the mechanician of the boat, was formerly a resident of Cranbrook, residing here with his parents for several years.

CRANBROOK FAIR TO BEAT RECORDS

SPLENDID PROGRAMME OF ATTRACTIONS IS BEING ARRANGED BY AGRICULTURAL ASSOCIATION.

That Cranbrook will this year undoubtedly have a fall fair that will surpass anything previously held in that city is the conviction of Albert H. Webb, secretary of the Cranbrook Agricultural association who has been in Nelson for the past couple of days. The directors of the association are busily engaged at present in completing arrangements for the big event, he says, and from the encouragement given to them by the citizens of Cranbrook, that city will have a fair to be proud of.

Special attention is being paid to the athletic program this year and over $400 will be distributed among the contestants. Purses valued at from $30 to $50 will be put up in each of the flat races, 100-yard dash, 320-yard dash, the half mile and the mile races.

Mr. Webb has been distributing advertising matter on his way to this city and in each district he has visited he has received the greatest encouragement from the citizens. Two thousand dollars will be offered as prizes in the live stock, vegetable and other classes.

Mr. Webb was on the local public school staff during the term of 1911-1912 and is well known here.—Nelson Daily News.

When Summer Stops the Swing

Most of us can remember the school lesson in the law of accumulated motion—momentum.

If you exert a pound of pressure against a man in a swing, you'll start him moving slowly "to and fro." If you continue to exert a pound of pressure against him every time the swing makes a trip, you'll soon have him going so high that he almost turns the whole circle. If you stop pushing, the momentum will die out and the swing come to rest at "dead centre."

Winning trade follows the same natural laws.

Keep it Going by Advertising

Advertisements are the force behind the swing of public favor. Each new advertisement increases the momentum. Finally, the accumulated force of these numerous impulses swings indifference to the buying point.

If you stop Advertising, you lose momentum.

The moral of which is: Don't stop the business swing in summer. Keep adding the pounds of Advertising pressure.

In mentioning the success that attended the dance held Friday night by the young men of the town, words fail us in praise of the arrangements. The music, the supper, the social feeling all combined, making one fine evening spent. Many guests were present from Cranbrook, Jaffray, Bull River and Elko, filling the large hall to its utmost capacity.

COST IN FARM POULTRY KEEPING

WHAT DOES IT COST YOU TO FEED AND KEEP YOUR POULTRY?— SOME ACTUAL COSTS DETERMINED BY EXPERIMENT.

Recently, some valuable investigations have been carried on in Ohio with regard to profits in poultry keeping. The best results came from a farm flock of 96 fowls, which gave a net profit for the year above feed and labor of $237.37, or $2.47 each; the lowest results were from a town-lot flock of thirty fowls, which gave a net loss of $27.90, or a loss of 93 cents each. Out of twelve town flocks, four showed a loss, while of eighteen farm flocks, every one showed a profit, ranging from 14½ cents to $2.47 per fowl.

The average number of eggs laid by each hen on farms was 71 as compared with 70 in the town flocks. The profits, therefore, with farm flocks did not arise from the difference in egg production, but rather from the lower cost of feed and labor and from the methods of management. The cost of feed for twelve town flocks and one commercial flock averaged 97 cents per fowl yearly, as compared with an average of 61 cents on 18 farms.

The great difference in favor of the farm flocks is attributed to a number of causes, such as the use of the gleanings from harvest fields, orchard and garden, waste products——like cabbages and beets from the storehouse—the use of extensive pasture, weed seeds and insects, dairy by-products, and the lower price of grain consumed by hens off the farms. The labor cost on farms and in towns averaged 28 cents and 60 cents respectively—another great difference in favor of the farms.

It was also learned that, in both town and country, the small flocks gave greater profits than large ones; that fowls with unlimited range did better than those partly or wholly confined; that, to compete successfully with farm flocks, the town poultryman must keep high-producing hens and sell at a higher price; that a poultry system which requires the keeping of fowls confined or which necessitates a large amount of personal supervision, has no place on a general farm; and that a better system of marketing eggs and poultry is needed—one that will encourage the production of a high-grade product carefully and expeditiously transported to the consumer.

London, July 2.—Further developments occurred in the law courts yesterday in the remarkable case of Charles Slingsby, of San Francisco, who, as guardian for his infant son, claims huge estates in Yorkshire, yielding an income of $50,000 a year. Counsel today said that Slingsby started these proceedings here in order to obtain a decision of legitimacy. The Easy Laxative

In justice to yourself you should try Rexall Orderlies,—your money back if you don't like them. They are a candy confection that really do give easy relief from constipation.

Good health is largely dependent upon the bowels. When they become sluggish the waste material that is thrown off by the system accumulates. This condition generates poisons which circulate throughout the body, tending to create coated tongue, bad breath, headache, dull brain action, nervousness, biliousness and other annoyances.

Avoid harsh cathartics and physics. They give but temporary relief. They often aggravate the real trouble. They are particularly bad for children, delicate or aged persons.

Rexall Orderlies

Come in tablet form, taste just like candy and are noted for their easy, soothing action upon the bowels. They don't purge, gripe, cause nausea, looseness, nor the inconveniences attendant upon the use of purgatives. Their action is so pleasant that the taking of Rexall Orderlies almost becomes a desire instead of a duty.

Children like Rexall Orderlies. They are ideal for aged or delicate persons as well as for the most robust. They act toward relieving constipation, and also to overcome its cause and to make unnecessary the frequent use of laxatives. They serve to tone and strengthen the nerves and muscles of the bowels and associate organs or glands.

Make Us Prove It

We guarantee to refund every penny paid us for Rexall Orderlies if they do not give entire satisfaction. We ask no promises and we in no way obligate you. Your mere word is sufficient for us to promptly and cheerfully refund the money.

Doesn't that prove that Rexall Orderlies must be right? You must know we would not dare make such a promise unless we were positively certain that Rexall Orderlies will do all we claim for them. There is no money risk attached to a trial of Rexall Orderlies, and in justice to yourself, you should not hesitate to test them.

Rexall Orderlies come in convenient vest-pocket size tin boxes. 12 tablets, 10c; 36 tablets, 25c; 80 tablets, 50c.

CAUTION: Please bear in mind that Rexall Orderlies are not sold by all druggists. You can buy Rexall Orderlies only at the Rexall Stores.
You can buy Rexall Orderlies in this community only at our store:

At Fernie on Tuesday Jupiter Pluvius held full sway and it rained so continuously that all sports and games were called off. A large crowd accompanied the ball team, as a long programme of sports had been announced and a good time promised. Galloway and Wardher played an exhibition game in the afternoon but only a small crowd attended.

John J. Woods, the contractor, is at Corbin, B.C., this week superintending the erection of the new "Flathead Hotel" there. This building is to be 80x40 in size, two stories and full basement, at a cost of about $14,000. This new hotel will be one of the greatest improvements and most substantial buildings ever erected in the lttle mining town. It will be steam heated throughout, fitted with ladies parlors, billiard rooms, baths, etc., and will be modern and comfortable in every respect. The proprietors are local business men of the town who feel that they are filling a long felt want in the erection of the new building.

Last Thursday evening the rectory of Christ church was the scene of a very pleasant lawn party, which was given as a benefit for the church. Rev. E. P. Flewelling takes a great interest in gardening and has a very nice growth of many kinds of plants and flowers in his yard in which many of the visitors took considerable interest. Refreshments, consisting of ice cream, strawberries, cake, etc., were served by a large committee of ladies. The Cranbrook city band furnished music from 8 to 10. A number of young ladies gave several very interesting dances under the direction of Miss M. Rumsey. The little girls in their vari-colored gowns resembled brilliant butterflies as they fluttered and danced over the lawn. Those participating in the dances were: Misses Edith Caslake, Patsy and Judy Wilson, Patricia McDermot, Edith Cummings and Hilda Hood. They were vigorously applauded. A large crowd was in attendance and the church realized a neat sum from the proceeds.

A complaint has reached this office from a man who recently quit one of the lumber companies working in this district and was refused his time. We have not investigated the truth of the statement, but from a time cheque payable six months in advance to none at all is only a step, and unless the companies using these methods are forced to come to time and treat their employees more fairly they will, before long, be abusing the time cheque payable hereafter privilege and issuing due bills on eternity.

In another column will be found the train schedule and return fares for the special train which will be run to Creston on July 12th under the auspices of Loyal Orange Lodge, No 1871. This train will consist of four coaches which the local committee expect to have filled by the time the train reaches its destination. Stops will be made at Wattsburg, Moyie, Ryan, Yahk and Kitchener. The Creston lodge is making arrangements for the entertainment of the visitors on a large scale. The Cranbrook and Nelson ball teams will play there on that date. This will be the first game of the season between these two teams. A full programme of sport will be carried out. The local lodge will parade here before leaving at 9 a.m.

GRAFT IN SANDS OF THE SEA

LEASE ON ENGLISH BAY SANDS GIVEN BY CONSERVATIVE POLITICIANS TO DETRIMENT OF CITY OF VANCOUVER.

Vancouver, June 30.—Even the sands of the sea are not safe from the operations of political grafters. There has just come to light a deal by Conservative politicians of this city, aided and abetted by Hon. Robert Rogers, minister of public works, and by H. H. Stevens, M.P., for the city of Vancouver, which for audacity throws into the shade anything accomplished in the palmiest days of Boss Tweed and his gang in New York City.

For years past, indeed, ever since there has been a Vancouver, the building supply men of this city have been in the habit of pumping sand from Spanish Bank in English Bay, off Point Grey. This is a sand deposit created by the action of the Fraser river and the tides combined, and it provides the only pure building sand within reasonable distance of the city.

The firm of Champion and White have been dredging this sand for twenty-two years; that of Thomas G. McBride and Company have been doing so for eighteen years past; and other supply men have been doing the same for a lesser time. The result has been beneficial in two ways. It has aided in keeping down the size of the sandbank and thus assisting navigation. It has given building sand to the contractors of the city at the lowest possible price and of the best quality obtainable on the Pacific coast. No one was being injured, except those who cast envious eyes upon the sandbank; and the city as a whole benefited.

This condition lasted for years. But the sort of men who are looking for easy money, the "Rufus Wallingfords" of Vancouver saw in Spanish Bank an opportunity for making money without working and so, through H. H. Stevens, M.P., they made application to the late minister of public works at Ottawa, Hon. F. D. Monk, for a lease of the sandbank, so as to grab its money-making possibilities for themselves. But, to the credit of Mr. Monk, the application was ruthlessly rejected. And it must be added that when a similar proposition was put before Mr. G. H. Cowan, K.C., during his term of office as M. P. for Vancouver, he declined to endorse it or forward the scheme in any way.

But the schemers did not lose heart. With the disappearance of Mr. Monk from the public works department, they saw a chance of getting their plans accepted, and when Hon. Robert Rogers was made minister of public works they took fresh hope. They were justified in their knowledge of that gentleman's disregard for the public interest when party friends had to be favored, and so the chief promoter of the enterprise, William John Pascoe, went to Ottawa, planted himself on the threshold of the public works department and put in an application for the leasing of Spanish Bank to the Silica Sand and Gravel Company, Ltd., as the organization of Pascoe and his associates is described in the provincial letters patent of incorporation granted to them at Victoria. The membership of the directorate of the company is not known yet, but in addition to Pascoe, who acted as its agent in Ottawa, it has a Mr. Gunn as its secretary at its offices at 434 Robson street, Vancouver, and a Mr. Colvin Gray as one of its active members.

Pascoe did not stay in Ottawa for nothing. Aided by H. H. Stevens, he laid siege to Rogers, and his siege was rewarded by the signing, on April 2nd, 1913, of a lease granting to the Silica Sand and Gravel Co., Ltd., a license to dredge and take away sand for building and other purposes from Spanish Bank.

Meanwhile the building supply contractors had been dredging away for sand on Spanish Bank, as usual, without any idea that the "get-rich-quick" men were busy, but they soon got a rude awakening. A week or so after the lease was signed at Ottawa, a rumor reached Vancouver that the grab had been made and telegrams of inquiry were sent to Ottawa by the Vancouver Gravel and Sand association asking if the rumors were true that an individual lease had been granted to Spanish Bank to the detriment of the building interests of the city. On April 15th a reply came from the secretary of public works department to the effect that a "license of occupation" had been granted to the Silicia Sand and Gravel Company, Ltd., for five years on Spanish Bank, English Bay. This was followed on April 21st by a letter from the firm of Bowser, Reid and Wallbridge, signed by R. L. Reid, informing the various supply men of the agreement signed at Ottawa and adding: "You are hereby notified not to remove any sand or gravel from the section covered by the said lease and that action will be taken for any infraction of the rights granted to the said Silica Sand and Gravel Company, Ltd., under the said lease."

The letter concluded by saying. "The Silica Sand and Gravel Company, Ltd., will be glad to make arrangements with you for the removal of sand and gravel from the said premises, applications for which must be made to the company at its officer above mentioned."

When the supply men went to the office of the Silica company on Robson street they were refused a copy of the agreement and had to wait for several weeks whilst they secured a copy from Ottawa. But they soon learned that it was the intention of the Silica company to exact a charge of twenty cents a cubic yard for the sand for which it was to pay the Dominion government five cents a cubic yard, and this though it had no plant, no dredges and no means whatever of taking the sand from the sandbank.

In other words, the supply men were to go on doing the work with their own plants bringing the sand to Vancouver, and pay the Silica company twenty cents a cubic yard for the privilege of doing that which they had been doing for twenty years for nothing.

The supply men are in revolt. They have so far disregarded the claim of the Silica company and have gone ahead with their work as if the sand was as free as it was before Robert Rogers and H. H. Stevens and W. J. Pascoe made it a source of toll collection.

But now one of their number, Champion and White, has been served with an injunction demanding they cease taking the sand unless and until they have agreed to pay the exaction demanded by the Silica company.

Argument upon this injunction will take place on Friday, and it is understood that the supply men will put up a strong fight against the disposal of the sand of the sea to political favorites to the detriment of every man and woman in the city of Vancouver who desires to put up a building of any sort whatsoever.

CANADA AND THE MONROE DOCTRINE

In the Kingdom paper just issued from Ottawa an explanation is made of the Monroe doctrine, which is proven to be the policy of George Canning, who was then the British foreign secretary, and was adopted by the United States at the instigation and suggestion of Canning. The policy has been of inestimable benefit for the expansion of British trade and power. It has also been the means of perpetuating peace on the American continent for the past ninety-two years. In summing up Canada's position in relation to this policy, the paper says:

It has frequently been asserted that the United Kingdom has protected Canada from invasion, and that for such protection, we ought to be enthusiastically grateful. Let us now ask whether the Monroe policy has not, for ninety years, protected (not in war but as against war) all the Spanish American republics, and whether those countries ought for that reason, to contribute to the British navy? They should not—because the Munroe policy was adopted for purely British reasons; because its principal purpose was to preserve and extend British trade, and, at the same time, to thwart the ambitions of international rivals. The Monroe policy cost the United Kingdom nothing. On the contrary, it yielded wealth, and naval employment, and power. Incidentally, it benefited one set of nations and injured another set. Ask Argentine whether she ought, for that reason, to send $35,000,000 to the British admiralty?

In considering the existence of Canadian obligation, remember, too, that if Canada were a completely independent state, British policy toward her would be the same as it is toward the independent states of South America, and for the same reason. We would not object to that, would we? We would not feel humiliated by it? Argentine and Brazil enjoy the benefit of it, as also do Holland and Belgium. They would not be free from it if they could. It is, no doubt, strong protection for them, not so much in war as a preventative against war. But being the result of merely self-regarding consideration, they owe no gratitude for it. Nor should we.

Canada derives immense advantage from the Canning policy as held both by the United Kingdom and by the United States; but our neighbors are becoming conscious of the fact that as Canada grows in strength she will, in return and in pursuance of the same excellent policy, be a source of powerful protection to the United States. Canada would not stand idly by and see Japan or China occupy Alaska or Puget Sound. Such an irruption would fundamentally and forever alter our whole political and social situation. Unanimously, we should assert with Monroe that if would be impossible that these nations should "extend their political system" to those parts of the continent "without endangering our peace and happiness."

And for like reasons, if Germany or France proposed to occupy the State of Maine, Canadians would eagerly assist in their repulsion. We should not stay to formulate, or to give a name to our policy; we should be quite indifferent whether it were called by the name of Canning or Munroe; and we should never afterwards rail at the "unwarranted assumption of authority on the part of the United States." Take an example of what I mean from the history of South America:

Early in the 1860's, pending a boundary dispute between Chile, Peru and Balivia, Spain sent a fleet to enforce certain claims against Peru, and asserted a right to regain possession of her former colony. The effect was immediate. Local differences were laid aside, and an united front was turned against Spain.

"The outbreak of hostilities between Spain and Peru. . . . caused the president (of Chile) to imagine that if Spain was victorious, the Spaniards would endeavor to regain control of South America. . . and in 1865 these four South America republics were united against such power as Spain could send across the seas to attack them."

If neither Canning nor Munroe had ever lived, those four nations would have done precisely as they did. Community of interest—community of danger was the impelling motive.

Sometimes the question "Would you rely upon the Monroe doctrine?" is scornfully thrown at Nationalists. The jibe is as foolish as if, with contemptuous tone, you should ask a Britisher if he would rely upon Japan. Finding that they had a common interest, British and Japanese made an agreement for mutual support. Each relies upon the military assistance of the other, but neither is humiliated by the fact. There is no country in the world strong enough to stand alone. Every one of them relies upon treaties, ententes, and foreign policies. Germany relies upon her treaty with Austria-Hungary and Italy, and, until a few weeks ago, upon the foreign policy of Turkey and Roumania. France relies upon Russia and the United Kingdom. Every nation relies upon some other or others.

There is nothing humiliating in Canada's community of military interest with the United States. Upon the contrary it is a matter for the highest and most proper gratification. Would anyone suggest that a treaty with the United States for mutual guarantee of each other's territory against over-sea invasion would be dishonorable? That is precisely the effect of the treaty between the United Kingdom and Japan, which nobody has deemed disgraceful. And if we might rely upon such a treaty, should we be wrong if, in framing our military policy, we took into account the well known fact of United States policy? In truth, we could not if we would ignore that fact; and we would be fools if we did, for it is in the highest degree, advantageous to us. We might, as sensibly, rail at the geographical protection supplied to us by the three oceans.

SPREAD OF CANADIAN THISTLE

To the Editor Herald:

Dear Sir: I would be obliged if you would kindly allow me, through the medium of your paper, to call the attention of farmers throughout the province to the necessity of conducting a vigorous campaign against the spread of noxious weeds in the province. This constitutes a grave menace to the development of agriculture, and it is very essential that a determined effort be made at the present time to combat the evil before it gets too big to handle. It is deplorable to see in many good agricultural districts in the province the alarming extent to which the Canadian thistle has spread. This is one of the very worst weeds in existence, and probably the hardest to control.

The following course of treatment, which should be pursued for the eradication of Canada thistle is recommended by the seed commissioner's branch of the federal department of agriculture:

Remedy.—Being a deep rooted perennial, Canada thistle should be ploughed deep in summer just as the flowers open, or the flowering stems may be mowed down and the land plowed as soon as the new growth appears. As new stems are thrown up they must be cut off with a broad-sheared cultivator, at intervals during the summer and autumn. Deep ploughing in the autumn has been found useful in suppressing thistles in Manitoba. The chief safeguard against Canada thistle and similar deep-rooted perennials, is undoubtedly a regular short rotation of crops with thorough cultivation. A three year rotation, including two cuttings of early red clover for the first year, followed by deep fall ploughing for hoed crops with clean cultivation and a cereal crop for the third will suppress it.

For permanent pastures and wild lands where this course of treatment is not feasible, a plan which is followed by many with great success is to keep the plants cut off right at the crown and never allow them to flower. This course, if pursued faithfully, will in a few years time destroy this pest.

All provincial constables and fire wardens have again this year been appointed agents for the department in the enforcement of the provisions of the Noxious Weeds Act, and have been instructed in case of non-compliance with notices served on owners, to institute prosecutions. This in itself, however, is not all that is necessary. It is imperative that the co-operation of the farmers themselves be secured. The provisions of the Noxious Weeds Act are stringent enough, but its proper enforcement cannot be effected to the best advantage unless the farmers do their share, and see that their neighbors take steps to destroy weeds before they seed. I trust therefore that we may have united action along these lines, and that effective work will be done this year towards the suppression of those weeds which are proving such a menace to successful agricultural development in different parts of the province.

Thanking you in anticipation for your courtesy in inserting this letter.

Yours very truly,
Wm. E. Scott, Deputy Minister.

Cheap Suburban Acreage

The rapidity with which the lands surrounding Cranbrook are being taken up by people from a distance shows how thoroughly the advantages of these lands are appreciated by outsiders; but residents of the town should take advantage of the opportunity which exists of securing small tracts running from a little over an acre to five acres at a price per acre below what would have to be paid for an ordinary city lot. For instance, $300 will buy an acre and a half on terms to suit the purchaser.
