IMPROVEMENT AT THE ST. EUGENE HOSPITAL

THE NEW X-RAY MACHINE WILL BE A SCIENTIFIC MARVEL —THE HOSPITAL HISTORY.

Nirvana is a Buddhistic conception of absolute rest supposed to be enjoyed in the other world by the thrice blessed and holy ones. It is well that no such condition is known in our physical life. We either go forward, or we do the other thing. It is either up the hill of betterment or down the inclined plane of slackness and inefficiency at the bottom of which is the veritable hell of Failure wherein there is really and truly gnashing of teeth. Hospitals must progress upwards as conditions around them move from bad to better, from good to better still. The St. Eugene hospital illustrates progress.

There was a time here where Cranbrook now stands when conditions were about as bad as they could be. That was in 1897 when the construction gangs were strung along from the Crow to Kootenay Landing engaged on the building of the present railway system. At that time it was commonly accepted that the breaking of fresh ground with pick and shovel, with ploughs and especially with, the steam shovel in some way released some principle from the virgin soil which was the cause of typhoid fever. The average man never thought of the relation between the disease and unsanitary camps and bad water. The part played in the dissemination of the disease by the common house fly—bred in millions and billions in the stable manure around the horse barns—by contaminating the food and food vessels of the men was then hardly suspected even by the medical men. Nowadays the domestic fly is rightly named the typhoid fly and is being "swotted" out of existence whenever the chance occurs. The verb "to swot" is a good one and fills an age old want. One does not know precisely how to "swot" on scientific lines, but it sounds like what you'd like to do to a fly, a typhoid fly—"swot" him. But in 1897 the men on the construction were dying by the half score and the camp on Joseph's Prairie was growing to be a camp of the dead. Mr. M. J. Haney, contractor for the construction of the road for the C.P.R., was fairly in the grip of a dangerous outbreak. At that time there were two or three Sisters of Charity in charge of the childrens' school at the Mission. "Would you," said Mr. Haney and the C.P.R., "lay aside for the moment the teaching of the children and nurse back to health our dying comrades if we build you a Crow for the C.P.R.—the epidemic their hearts and their hands to the bigger and the newer work. The hospital was built on the banks of the St. Marys river near the Mission bridge, and after a desperate grapple with the outbreak under the direction of Doctors King and Green—then both young practitioners fresh from McGill University and in medical charge of the camps along the died down. After a little time it brook and the district grew in was found that the hospital at the Mission was inconveniently situated and on this account the St. Eugene hospital was erected here in Cranbrook. At first it was a very modest structure but sufficed for the requirements of the time. As Cran- contagious diseases and the general population the hospital grew in increased accommodation, so that it now contains within its ambit, both the hospital for the treatment for contagious diseases and the general and surgical hospital for the entire district.

Just as in the days of its foundation Doctors King and Green, assisted by Dr. KcKinnon, still constitute the medical staff and the Sisters of Charity are still in charge. Between them they have proven that progress has ever been the keynote of the institution and that their endeavors along that line have not slacked of late.

In 1912 the new brick wing was completed with the exception of the installation of the elevator. This has not been completed so that patients can be lifted from the ambulance on the ground floor level on the outside of the building and carried smoothly to the level on which his or her room may be situated, thus saving all the wretched agony and jolting of a trip upstairs on a stretcher. The elevating plant was supplied by the famous Otis Elevator company and is operated by electric power. It has been in operation now for several weeks and gives the utmost satisfaction.

Even, as in 1897, the men working along the C.P.R. still provide a large percentage of the surgical and general cases, so that the hospital is to a very considerable extent supported by the company which through its officials keeps its sympathies in its sick and injured employees warmly in touch with their welfare. Only the other day when Mr. George Bury, the vice-president, was in Cranbrook his enquiries after the condition of some of the injured members of the train crews were as marked and cordial as the interest he showed in the progress and good work of the hospital when he was superintendent of this division.

The majority of railway cases consist of broken limbs and obscure dislocations, sometimes presenting problems which baffle all experience. But those cases yield up their secrets under X-ray machine. The skiagraphs provided by the present stattic machine, which, by the way, is the largest of its kind between Winnipeg and the coast, are not all they might be and, therefore, the machine is being pushed to the wall, scrapped, in fact, in favor of a much better and newer one which is on its way from Chicago and will be installed in a week or two at an expense for the medical staff of over $1200. The present machine performs its wonders by means of the indirect electrical current, but the new one will, automatically, convert the indirect current into a direct current so that skiagraphs which now may take three minutes exposure can be taken in one or two seconds. Prolonged or careless exposure of healthy tissue to the X-ray produces dangerous burns, which are highly difficult to cure. This, if one may so call it, snap-shot machine will preclude all possibility of such accidents. It will also afford an opportunity of examining the interior of the body and investigated the deeper seated organs. Thus, if stone in the kidney or bladder be suspected or where some foreign body has intruded or been driven into the softer tissues, the true position of the cause of the trouble can be ascertained with speed and certainty to the increase of the hopes of recovery of the patient. Very recently the use of the rays has been extended to the inspection of the digestive tract. By swallowing a small quantity of carbonate of bismuth the cavities of the stomach and the coils of the intestines are rendered impervious to the rays and thus, by rendering it possible to have a skiagraph taken, tell the tale of their diseased condition to the doctor. It has also been found possible to inject certain substances which render the kidneys opaque so that the state of these organs can be studied without resort to the knife. One often heard, in the old days before Roentgen discovered the rays, after a party had visited a doctor an expression something like this:

"I went to see Doctor So-and-So and he looked through me." It has come to pass that they can now, by means of this marvellous white magic, literally and actually "look through you"—and out at the other side, if they want to.

Another department of the hospital now perfected in its appointments and administration is the maternity ward. Only those who have knowledge of the suffering and the risk to both mother and child involved in unsuitable, and especially in filthy and unsanitary surroundings at child birth, can realize what an actual blessing this department has proved since it was instituted. If those who avail of treatment, those who can pay are expected to do so, and indeed, invariably do so; but if they are really poor and not able, everything is done for them free of charge and with as gentle a care as if they were as rich as some of those whose material instincts are lavished (God help the future of our race), on pet dogs and chimpanzees.

We hear a deal about the mayor of Rochester, Indiana; but our local hospital is doing as good, maybe better, work in its degree and taking it as a matter of course as being "all in the days work"; and what a day's work means for the medical staff hardly they themselves can realize. They are the slaves of every ill that flesh is heir to. The Grecian myth wherein Hercules wrestles successfully with Death for the life of the beautiful Alcestis typifies the triumph of science over disease and dissolution, and as such has been the theme of many classic sculptures and paintings. The doctors of the St. Eugene hospital levy successful war with Death in half a dozen different forms every day of their laborious lives and do it with little, or indeed no regard for reward. Suffice it if their work for poor, suffering humanity be fitting sacrifice to Duty, stern daughter of the Law of God. In this consists the true nobility of their profession and of the utterly self-sacrificing Sisters who are associated with them.

CRANBROOK'S FAIR BEST IN THE INTERIOR

Outside Judges Say the Poultry and Stock Exhibits Equal to Large Coast Cities---Farmers Did Not All Exhibit in Fruit and Vegetable Classes.

Complete Official Prize List of Winners

Cranbrook's fifth annual fair came to a close at six o'clock last Friday evening and proved an unqualified success throughout. The closing day of the fair was one of brilliant sunshine and the attendance was much in excess of the opening day. There were more outside people in and every event on the programme of races and sports was keenly contested before an enthusiastic audience.

All of the concessionaires at the grounds did a big business and the executive are fully satisfied with the financial results, and they state there will be a surplus of funds this year.

Mr. Pargeter, the poultry judge, from Nanaimo, stated that the poultry and egg exhibits were the best seen this year in the interior and fully up to the exhibition by New Westminster in this regard. Wm. Gibson, of Victoria, judge for the rock exhibit, stated that the show in Cranbrook was undoubtedly the best shown anywhere in the interior of British Columbia and was a credit to any town of the size of Cranbrook. All of the buildings for poultry and stock were filled to overflowing and additional quarters will have to be provided another year.

As an educational advertisement of the agricultural resources of the district this year's fair set a high mark because of the varied exhibits in the vegetable and fruit class. There were a large number of growers who did not exhibit and should be encouraged to do so another year. The fair management did all in their power to provide prizes and the opportunity for exhibition and if the growers have not enough pride in their own district to show their products it is not the fault of the fair management.

The sports were well conducted and most of the prize money, aggregating about $1000, was won by local men. The parade of the live stock on the second day was a new feature and one which should be given more attention each year.

The Cranbrook city band, under the direction of Prof. James Austin, rendered high class musical programmes both afternoons.

The cattle exhibit was the best yet held at Cranbrook and in dairy stock especially a vast difference was observable as compared with former years. The outstanding feature of the stock exhibit was the surprise sprung on the public by the enterprising proprietor of Hillside Dairy, J. A. Pringle, who brought out about a dozen head of Ayrshire cattle of first-class breeding and giving evidence that Mr. Pringle believes in having exhibition stock in exhibition shape.

This is the first time that the ethics of large metropolitan stock shows have been brought into play at Cranbrook fair and we venture to say, will mark a revolution in exhibition practices here. Hillside Dairy won first, second and third in registered Ayrshire cows, with Burnside Missie," "Barcheskie Lady Pride" and "Lassie A," respectively in a class of five good animals. Burnside Missie won out on large capacity both of barrel and udder and is a large useful looking animal and won for her owner in addition to the above, Fink's $10.00 special, for champion dairy cow of the show, the Nor'West Farmer's special for champion Ayrshire and the Farmers' Institute special for best dairy cow with calf, having her three weeks' old calf showing with her in this class.

"Barcheskie Lady Pride," winner of second, is an imported cow, having been bred by Mitchell, of Barcheskie, Scotland, and by many was expected to win over the others, but Mr. Gibson gave the larger cow the premium place.

The third prize cow is a smaller sample of the breed tending to the older type, and is of Trimbles breeding, showing in shape a fineness of type not often beaten, her only fault being lack of size.

The Hillside entry had the only number out in two-year-olds in "Ivy of Lone Spruce," a very large animal of the modern type and color being almost white and with the strong head now favored.

Ayrshire yearling females brought out only one entry, the property of W. B. Bardgett, a very promising heifer that fully deserved her winning. Mr. Bardgett also showed two cows in the aged Ayrshire class that in an average class would have been in the honors but were just a bit outclassed by the Hillside entry.

In Ayrshire bulls first place was taken by Lakeside Flyer owned by T. E. Austin, a very typical two-year-old, brought into the district by Mr. Pringle last year and fully justifying his selection. This animal also won W. E. Worden's special for best registered bull and Calgary Herald's special for best bull, any age or breed.

The second prize in Ayrshire bulls was won by Hillside Dairy in a recent purchase from Ness, of Alberta, that promises when filled out in another year to make things more even in this class.

In Holstein cattle only one representative of the breed was entered, a very large growthy bull, full of breed type, belonging to McDonald Bros.

In Dairy Shorthorns the same was the case, W. B. Bardgett showing the only entry in a strong animal with plenty of length that should sire a good useful sort of heifers.

In grade cattle, class one, for two typical dairy cows in milk, Hillside Dairy won first and second on two pair of grade Ayrshires that are practically pure bred. This was a strong class, six or eight couples being shown and requiring quality to win.

In grade two-year-olds, Hillside Dairy won first and W. B. Bardgett second on a pair of promising heifers and one-year-old was won by J. Brennan.

In class six best cow in milk for owners of not more than two cows, D. Moore won on a very fine type of Holstein, that he brought in from Salmon Arm and one of the best animals on the grounds, T. H. Doris winning second on a grade Jersey.

THE HORSE SHOW.

The horse show in stock classes was about equal to last year, but in harness classes quite an improvement was seen, both in numbers and fitting. It is to be regretted that there is so little competition in the regular classes of horses. It is no honor to an exhibitor to get a prize by default of competition, if he has any sporting instincts and here in a country full of young horses only two foals were present, one in draft and one in general purpose class.

While there is no line of stock better adapted to this district than horses, and the country has a lot of good ones, it seems strange that none of the owners take pride enough in their work to get it before the public.

The draft stallion class (registered) brought out two entries. The Mission Fathers Belgian and A. Doyle's Percheron, the former getting first place.

In unregistered stallions J. Reid won on a young Clyde.

Brood mare and foal W. E. Worden won without competition, the foal being a good one sired by the above mentioned Belgian.

The lumberman's team prize went to the Sash and Door company on a very well fitted team of blacks that were admirably set off by a special set of harness made for the occasion by W. M. Parks and Co. that was not without effect on the outfit.

In standard bred horses A. Doyle, of Fort Steele, had out the only entry in Onward Lee, a handsome horse with plenty of speed that has already left some fine colts in the district.

In single roadster in harness W. F. Doran captured first on his young Chestnut, an animal that shows up well both in form and training, giving evidence in the ring of a lot of pains to develope her manners. Dickinson and McTavish, of Jaffray, came in for second here in a large class with a nicely moving black.

The gentlemen's saddle horse, 15½ hands and over was won by F. Clifford on Dr. Green's roan, with Futa second on a small black.

Ladies saddle horse was taken by A. H. Playle, with a very handsome gray, possessing splendid manners in the ring.

The following is the official prize list:

UVANNI WON DECISION

REFEREE DISQUALIFIES MARSHALL IN ELEVENTH ROUND OF FAST GO.

Referee Ed. McMahon disqualified Dick Marshall in the eleventh round of his match with Joe Uvanni at the Auditorium last Friday evening and awarded the match to Uvanni. There was considerable protest raised from the Marshall corner but popular opinion supported the referee's action. The agreement before the fight was for clean breaks on call of referee. Marshall was repeatedly warned throughout the contest for his unfair methods of hitting in the clinches. Uvanni fought very clean and fair and the crowd approved of his gentlemanly conduct.

The contest was for the middleweight championship of Canada and was one of the best ever pulled off here. Although Uvanni was much the cleverer of the two and landed telling jabs almost at will and had his opponent bleeding from the first round the bull dog tenacity and grit of Marshall won him the applause of the crowd. Although Marshall did not land any telling blows, and at the end of the contest Uvanni seemed as fit as when he began, he continually bored in and although Uvanni jabbed him with both left and right he continually forced the fighting and in the last two rounds Uvanni was kept busy dodging and avoiding his rushes.

Uvanni displayed several bad bruises very low on his body the next day which he claimed he received in the fight, but as they did not happen to hurt him, made no complaint. In the last fight here Marshall fouled McLean of Bull River, and these tactics are not making him any friends in this city.

The contest was staged by R. E. Nafe, the local promoter, who is to be congratulated on the class of matches he is showing here. T. Hedigan officiated as time keeper.

Two good preliminaries between Young Kay and Scotty Taylor and Eddie Hanley, of Marysville, and Nathan Barnhardt of this city, were both declared a draw by the referee.

Cam Lindsay introduced the prin- was taken by Photographer Binning. was eaken by Photographer Binning. Dick Lucca, who meets Fighting Dick Hyland in Fernie next month was present and also Jim Burrows, who challenged the winner of the contest. The weight of the principals was announced, Uvanni 158, Marshall, 166. There was a fairly large crowd present. Uvanni returned to Great Falls, Mont., the next day and Marshall to Fernie.

ELK VALLEY FAIR A SUCCESS

New Michel, B.C., Sept. 22.—The first annual fair of the Elk Valley Agricultural association was held in New Michel today with great success. Despite threatening weather a large crowd from Michel, New Michel, the Elk valley and neighboring towns was in attendance. The exhibits were of high class and demonstrated the fruitfulness of the Elk valley. The races were well contested and furnished great excitement.

Premier honors in dairy cattle were carried off by William Weaver and the competition in this event points to a great dairying industry in this district. The principal prize winners were as follows:

Poultry—Dr. Weldon, Messrs. Hampton, Cunliffe, Lockhart and Smith.

Vegetables—Murray, Weaver, jr., Musil, Hampton, Crook and Platt. There was a fine display of the culinary art.

BOY SHOOTS LITTLE SISTER

BULLET PASSES THROUGH BRAIN OF SCHOOLMASTER'S DAUGHTER AT WILMER.

Invermere, B. C., Sept. 23.—An accident occurred yesterday evening at Wilmer, when the nine-year-old son of Mr. Patterson, schoolmaster of Athalmer, shot his little sister of five years through the brain.

The boy, who had been out shooting with a small rifle, came with it loaded into the house, where it was accidentally discharged and the bullet passed through the forehead of his little sister. The child still lives, but recovery is hopeless.

Mr. Patterson only came from Scotland this spring.

MCKAY-ROE

POPULAR MANAGER OF THE PALM JOINS THE ARMY OF BENEDICTS.

At the Presbyterian manse at 8 o-clock on Wednesday evening, September 24th, 1913, Mr. David H. McKay and Miss Annie Roe, were united in marriage by Rev. W. K. Thomson, in the presence of a few invited guests. Miss Sallie Roe, sister of the bride, was bridesmaid and Mr. Harry Banfield was best man. Mr. W. Marshall gave the bride away.

The bride wore a dress of Cadet brocaded silk with white and gold trimming. The bridesmaid wore pale blue silk. After the ceremony all motored to the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. Marshall, where a splendid wedding supper was served. The rooms were decorated with red bells, beautiful flowers and Japanese lanterns.

The groom is the manager and one of the proprietors of The Palm, the pioneer confectionery and ice cream store of the city, on Norbury avenue. He has been here for the past five years. The bride arrived in Cranbrook from West Hartlepool, England, about eighteen months ago. They have furnished a house on Kootenay street, where they will reside.

Those present at the ceremony were: Mr. and Mrs. John Leask, Mr. and Mrs. H. Gridley, Mr. and Mrs. Howlett; Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Christian, Mr. and Mrs. James Beech, Mr. and Mrs. T. E. South, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Tanner, Percy Weatherill, Mr. Swetman, Misses Lillian and May Turner.

The happy young couple were the recipient of many presents as follows:

Mr. John Roe, silver vases; Miss S. Roe, china tea set, Miss M. Roe, silver cake knife and needle work; Mr. and Mrs. Alliston, guest towels and covers; Mr. and Mrs. Joe Jackson, silver tea service; Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Christian, cut glass cream jug and sugar bowl; Mr. and Mrs. W. Marshall, satin eiderdown; Mr. and Mrs. K. Marshall, Vancouver, handsome cushion cover; Mr. and Mrs. Howlett, china salad bowl and servers, Mr. and Mrs. H. Gridley, china berry set; Mr. and Mrs. J. Leask, Battenburg buffet covers; Mr. and Mrs. Turner, glass berry set; Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Ismay, electric toaster; Mr. P. and B. Weatherall, cut glass tumblers; Mr. and Mrs. T. E. South, cut glass fruit bowl; Mr. McQuarrie, cut glass salad bowl; Miss M. McCowan, handsome Battenburg table cover; Mr. Banfield, set of cutlery; Mr. Swetman, dinner service; Mr. W. B. McFarlane, caserole bowl and custard set; A. Raworth, brass book stand.

MARRIED

On Tuesday at ten o'clock a quiet but pretty wedding was celebrated at the residence of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Huscroft at Creston, when their daughter Vera was united in marriage to George Lions Faulkner, of Fort Steele. Miss Maud Huscroft was bridesmaid and the groom was attended by Thomas Ross. Rev. G. W. Blake performed the ceremony. The happy couple left on the noon train for Cranbrook, where they will make their home.

Harry Knight Clayton and Miss Ethel Bent were married at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Edith Bent, in this city on Saturday evening, September 20th, 1913, by Rev. W. K. Thomson, pastor of the Presbyterian church. Miss Elsie Bent, sister of the bride, was bridesmaid and Mr. Wm. Harrison was groomsman. The wedding was a very quiet home wedding, only a few being present. They were the recipients of many valuable presents in linen and silver. The groom's gift to the bridesmaid was a pearl necklace. After the ceremony the young couple departed for Calgary and after an extended wedding trip will make their home in this city. The groom is employed as brakeman on the C.P.R.

OVERSEAS CLUB

On Thursday, October 2nd at 8.30 p.m. the above club will give a whist drive, and a short programme of readings, songs, etc., in the Carmen's hall for members only.

Refreshments will be served and a good time is assured. It is hoped that all members possible will turn out.

APPLE PACKING CONTEST.

Judge—O. B. Appleton, Proctor.

This is the first year the directors of the fair featured the apple packing contest, provided by the provincial government, and the management express themselves as very well pleased with it. A specially built platform was erected in front of the grand stand and the apples of the Wealthy variety placed thereon by independent parties. There were four contestants, all from Creston, for the prizes of $15, $10 and $5.00, by the government, and which were duplicated by the association. The contestants were slightly handicapped in the speed by a wind just strong enough to blow their wrapping papers, but Judge Appleton expressed himself as much pleased with the results, the results of which were as follows: First, J. Ryckman; second, L. D. Timmons; third, O. Arrowsmith; fourth, E. Pease.

News of the District

ELKO

(By Fred Roo).

H. W. McGuire, the bonanza farmer from the Roosville valley, drove in with George Walker Scott this week.

The Toronto Globe says the McBride government is on its last legs. We know for sure the members are, every one of them, on their last and only legs they ever had.

Frank Dickinson, the Potter Palmer, of Jaffray, brought several sightseers to Elko in his seven-passenger motor car the other day.

C. E. Ayre, manager of the North Star Lumber company, left for the coast.

"Oh, had I the wings of a dove," I would stay right here and watch the construction of the Elko water works and be at rest.

Harry Cody, "minister of the interior," for the Flagstone Lumber company, Flagstone, was up to Elko this week.

Simon Dragon, proprietor of the Queens hotel, Fernie, got a fine buck deer at Flagstone this week. We don't know the exact price he paid for it. The mayor of Flagstone, whose guest he was, returned with him to Fernie for a few days.

It has been known for some time that the Roosville Pass is the nearest road to the much talked of Kintla lake coal and oil fields, and also the valuable mining claims along the international boundary line between Roosville and Flathead river. The fact that the lands department has now a large gang of men at work east of Roosville cleaning out the trail will bring a big crowd of people in for the timber and mineral.

The prize fight between Tommy Burns, of Calgary, and Bob Fitzsimmons, of Spuddunk, Cornwall, at Elko on September 24th, was postponed on account of the Nelson fair.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Griffiths made several motor trips to Elko this week from Baynes Lake.

Canada gave the Canadian Pacific railway $62,000,000 in cash and 25,000,000 acres of land, and the way merchandise is allowed to be pilfered in transit is a disgrace to the empire. More particulars later.

By the kind permission of Fred Starkey, the man who put Nelson on the map and kept it in the front ranks, Jim Thistlebeak will read a paper at the Nelson fair on the social unrest in the Balkans. Meet me at the fair.

A large consignment of travellers and train jumpers, who are working west to the Nelson fair, stopped off Starkey, the man who put Nelson on gineers, rubber hose peddlers and surveyors, and gave the town a gala appearance.

Messrs. Hill and Rochester, of the Canadian Pipe company, Vancouver and Elko, arrived from the coast and started in locating camps for construction gangs for the water works. They will employ all the men they can work on the job, and expect to have the job completed in sixty days.

J. M. Agnew, J. McKee and J. Letcher were Cranbrook visitors this week. William Hammill, of Roosville, was up to the fair also. He was in one of the hospitals along the Crow and just getting over a long siege of typhoid fever and was only in Elko. Tourists, water works tapioca. He pleaded with the nurse for more food and when she refused him he said in disgust "I would like to read a little. Would you mind bring me a postage stamp?"

Mr. and Mrs. Blunt, of Flagstone, allowed to eat a mere spoonful of Bob Sinclair, assistant manager of the North Star Lumber company, returned from Toronto, where he had been spending his vacation. Bob told the writer that Toronto was much larger than Elko. All we have to say, Bob, is to wait until we get all our subdivisions built up and we'll make Toronto look like a deserted village.

From the accounts of the suffragette outbreaks in the old country one might infer that the streets are knee were Elko visitors this week.

deep in puffs, jute and hairpins.

tertained the tennis club to a pink tea this week. Covers were laid for twenty and every blessed one came.

A Roosville rancher lost a lot of money last week. Driving into Flagstone with a load of wheat a sack full of the golden grain fell off unnoticed.

Messrs. Peacock and Rainbow were Elko visitors, this week from Calgary.

The Misses Agatha and Esther Masters, Hilton and Howard Scott, of Nelson, who have been spending their vacation at Roosville, Tobacco Plains, passed through Elko on Saturday on their way to Nelson.

Superintendent of Construction Rochester says the Elko water works will be completed in sixty days.

The agricultural journals state that science has found out how to make hens lay, but nobody, says Jim Thistlebeak, has found out how to make a lazy girl help her mother.

Visitors to the Nelson fair, be sure and take the key hole with you. You'll need it.

Big Bill Murdock, of Flagstone, passed through Elko on his way to Cranbrook, accompanied by a fair maid from Perth.

Fred Roo will be in Nelson on Monday night. This is no brandy and soda item—to enjoy a few days. Au revoir.

WARDNER

(Special correspondence).

R. H. Bohart and Geo. Baw were Cranbrook visitors on Monday.

Messrs. Otto Wisner and Dave Douglas were in Marysville last Wednesday.

Mr. Fay, the Jefferson shoe man, was doing business in town this week.

Mrs. C. Dow and little daughter visited with friends in town this week.

Mr. George Lesselyoung was in Cranbrook last Thursday on business.

Mr. C. E. Benedict, postmaster at Bull River, called on friends here on his way back to Bull River, after attending the Agricultural fair at Cranbrook.

Miss Verle Martin, principal of the Moyie public school, is spending a couple of days this week with friends in town.

Father John was visiting with friends in town last Saturday.

Two of the Sisters of the St. Eugene hospital, Cranbrook, were in town last Saturday on their way to Bull River to transact some business.

Mr. and Mrs. William Silliker, who have been spending the past few weeks with friends and relatives in Prince Edward Island, returned home on Saturday last.

Mr. J. T. Martin and family left on the noon train last Sunday for Moyie, B.C., where she intends to make her home for a time at least. In time of trouble of any kind or sickness Mrs. Martin was always ready and willing to lend a helping hand. The whole town and surrounding country will greatly lament her departure from Wardner, where she has lived for the past seventeen years. She has endured the trials and hardships of the pioneer settler, while trying to raise her family of five children. Though we must say "Good Bye," we all join in wishing her many long years in her new home.

Mr. George Welsby, provincial police, who has been relieving Chief of Police Minty, for the past two weeks, returned to Wardner last Saturday to resume his duties. We are glad to welcome George home again.

Mrs. C. E. Benedict and Mrs. Jack Stinson, Bull River, were visitors at the Cranbrook Agricultural fair.

Mr. John Eggleshaw, chief of police, at Merritt, B.C., is renewing old acquaintances in town after an absence of a year or so. Mr. Eggleshaw favored the congregation of St. Andrew's church with a well rendered solo last Sunday evening.

Mr. George Baw left on Monday morning's train for Nelson, where he will attend the Nelson Fruit fair.

Policemen from Marysville, Wycliffe, New Michel, Bull River and other places have been here for several days assisting in the search for the Italian who murdered a fellow countryman at Rampart a few days ago.

Mrs. Henry Dougan, accompanied by Miss Flora and Masters John and Richard Dougan, left on Wednesday of this week for Nanaimo, B.C., where they intend making their home. Mr. Dougan will remain in Wardner for some time.

Mr. Wm. Radke, of Hanbury, spent Sunday with friends in town.

Mr. Ben Sherdahl was in Cranbrook last Tuesday on business.

Mr. Frank Graves was in Cranbrook last Sunday visiting Mrs. Graves at the St. Eugene hospital.

On Tuesday evening last Miss Grace V. Bonner gave a concert in the library hall, which took the form of a series of stories. These stories were told by Miss Bonner and acted by her in a very pleasing and entertaining manner. The attendance was large, and the performer realized a fairly good sum.

The attendance at the public school is very encouraging these days. The teachers are insisting on punctuality and regularity in all cases and it is to be hoped that the parents will assist them in this.

Mr. C. M. Pennock was called to Galloway last Tuesday on business.

V. E. Swanson was in Cranbrook last Saturday with friends.

Mr. A. C. Blaine, of Cranbrook, called on friends here this week.

Dr. Davis spent Monday of this week with friends in Cranbrook.

WALDO

(Special correspondence).

Our fellow townsman, Mr. A. M. Beattie, exhibited twenty fowl at the Cranbrook fair, and took fourteen first prizes and two seconds, as well as some specials. A splendid showing when one considers that many of his best birds died this year.

Miss Lamont, who has been a guest of Mr. F. Adolph at Baynes, returned to Creston on Tuesday.

On Sunday evening at 7.30 at the Presbyterian service Miss Fox, an ex-missionary, will give an address on her experiences in India. She will dress in the native costume and exhibit images that once were worshipped in India as gods. Waldo friends should take this opportunity of hearing this lady. Miss Fox will speak at Baynes at 3 p.m. the same day.

Little Annie Muir has returned home to Waldo to convalesce after a trying time in Fernie hospital.

Mc. Harry Griffiths and H. H. Ross motored to Jaffray on Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Divers and family returned to their home near Spokane this week for the winter. They hope to return next spring, when the work recommences.

Mr. Hales H. Ross has gone down to Minneapolis on business.

It is expected that work on the new bridge will be begun the first week in October. The bridge built across the Kootenay last winter, lost its central span on June first during the floods. The present cable span cannot be looked upon as other than temporary. This is the second bridge that has been washed out in recent years in this district. Flimsy superstructures mean a waste of government money, which is the peoples' money. It is time to protest against waste. Engineers ought to know the vagaries of the Kootenay river, and their plans should provide against contingencies.

Bert Hyde has come back to Flagstone after spending some months on the prairie.

Billy Allan was a visitor on Tuesday.

The mill of the Joyce Lumber company in Flagstone broke down on Monday and was at a standstill for two days.

Although we do not consider Waldo the "hub" of the universe it is surprising what business is done here. That reminds the correspondent of the oft-repeated complaint regarding lack of bank facilities. A certain bank cashes cheques in a certain hotel here. Many self-respecting men hate the idea of doing their business in such surroundings. It may be legal, but it is not right.

MOYIE

(Special correspondence).

Miss Clara Whitehead, one of our local artists, sent two of her pictures to the fair at Cranbrook and was successful in the art competition. Two prizes were secured, one for a picture representing Highland cattle and one for a hunting scene.

Mrs. Martin, who is an old resident of Wardner, arrived here this week and has rented the cottage formerly occupied by Dr. Coffin, on Queen avenue, as she will make her home here in future. Mrs. Martin is accompanied by her two little sons and her daughter, who is on the teaching staff of the school here.

Little Frank Laird celebrated his fifth birthday last week by inviting a number of his friends to his home, where a happy afternoon was spent in playing games. A delicious supper was much enjoyed by the little people, who report having had a delightful day.

A large party of Gypsies arrived in town this week and after spending a day here moved on to Aldridge, where they made their camp.

Mr. and Mrs. Conrad and family went to Cranbrook last week to attend the big fair.

Mrs. Nordman returned from Spokane yesterday, after having spent a week enjoying the sights of that lively center.

Miss Johnson, the popular primary teacher of our public school, went to Cranbrook on Saturday on a shopping expedition. She returned on Sunday evening.

Messrs. Conrad and Fitch, directors of the Society Girl mine, which is situated some three and a half miles from here, paid the mine a visit on Sunday. They are well pleased with the quality of the ore which is now being found in that mine in the upper workings.

That game of all kinds is plentiful in this vicinity can be proved by several of our citizens, who have lately had tome rather exciting experiences. Some days ago young Louis Nordman, a lad of about sixteen years of age, was out hunting and happened to take the road leading to the flume. He then followed the flume for some distance, when he was surprised to see a large brown bear liesurely walking along the flume. The animal soon scented danger, however, and disappeared in the woods. A few days later James Roberts was up in the same direction and again Mr. Bruin was seen taking his daily exercise. Mr. Roberts started in pursuit of the bear, but was not able to locate him, so he is still at large in the vicinity of the flume. Then on several occasions deer have been seen roaming about in the woods near the lake, and several of our citizens have been successful in obtaining a venison steak during the past week.

Mr. Williams, the missionary in charge of the Methodist church here, went to Yahk on Monday to hold services there.

GIVE PROPER CARE TO THE HAIR AND YOU WILL NEVER NEED A WIG

HERPICIDE

The man who wears a toupee does not like it, but has the courage of his convictions.

Nature never intended that the top of the head should be left entirely without protection. A bald head is very susceptible to contraction of colds and neuralgia. Wearing an artificial top piece counteracts this tendency, and, aside from the improvement in the personal appearance, is amply justified.

How much better it would have been had the man, now chronically bald and wearing a toupee, but realized earlier in life the approaching danger and devoted a little regular attention to his hair, which would have saved it.

There is a remedy which will absolutely prevent baldness. Loss of hair in nine cases out of ten is unnecessary, being due to dandruff and the germ that causes it. This germ must be destroyed and the accumulations of dandruff checked. Then the hair will not fall out, but instead will grow naturally and luxuriantly.

Newbro's Herpicide is the remedy, regular applications of which oftimes producing the most gratifying results. It has long been known as the "original remedy that kills the dandruff germ" and is absolutely dependable.

Newbro's Herpicide in 50c. and $1.00 sizes is sold by all dealers who guarantee it to do all that is claimed. If you are not satisfied your money will be refunded.

Herpicide applications may always be obtained at the better barber shops and hair dressing parlors.

Anyone desiring to try Newbro's Herpicide before purchasing a large bottle will receive a nice sample and booklet by sending 10c. in postage or silver to The Herpicide Co., Drpt. R., Detroit, Mich.

A LEGAL CURIOSITY

A deed for the conveyance of a piece of land that is one of the greatest legal curiosities in the world was drawn up in 1881 by J. Henry Shaw, a lawyer at Beardstown, Ill. The curio complies with every requirement of law and has more than once been declared by the courts of that state to be entirely valid. It reads as follows:

I, J. Henry Shaw, the grantor herein,
Who live at Beardstown, the county within,
For seven hundred dollars to me paid today
By Charles E. Wyman do sell and convey
Lot two (2) in block forty (40) said county and town,
Where Illinois river flows placidly down,
And warrant the title forever and aye,
Waiving a homestead and mansion to both a goodby,
And, pledging this deed is valid in law,
I add here my signature, Henry J. Shaw.
(Seal) Dated July 25, 1881.

I, Sylvester Emmons, who live at Beardstown,
A justice of peace of fame and renown,
Of the County of Cass, in Illinois State,
Do certify here that on the same date
One J. Henry Shaw to me did make known
That the above deed and name were his own,
And he stated he sealed and delivered the same
Voluntarily, freely and never would claim
His homestead therein; but, left all alone,
Turned his face to the street and his back to his home.
(Seal) S. Emmons, J.P.
Dated August 1, 1881.

THE TRUE CANADIAN SPIRIT

The return of Mr. George E. Foster to Canada, afyer his prolonged absence at the antipodes, is naturalfy serving to recall that most eloquent speech which he made in the house at Ottawa in support of the Canadian navy policy and against the policy of contribution.

Many and eloquent have been the speeches Mr. Foster has made in the Dominion house since Sir John Macdonald made him minister of finance in 1888—a position he held for eight years, until the downfall of the Conservative regime in 1896. But of all his speeches, whether as a minister in the former Conservative government, as an ex-minister looming large before the country on the opposition side of the house, or as minister again in the present government, that speech he made in March, 1909, in the debate which ended in the adoption, by unanimous vote, of the resolution MOVED BY SIR WILFRID LAURIER AND SECONDED BY MR. BORDEN, stands foremost in power of eloquence and force of argument.

The influence of such a speech does not end with the dying away of the echoes of the applause in the commons chamber. It endures as a continuing force. It lives in the memory of the Canadian people. Its influence has been undeniably making itself felt during all the months when Mr. Foster and his colleagues have been, so to speak, at opposite poles, "with the thick of the world between them." It has been working in accord with the spirit of Canadianism against the contribution policy.

Here are some of the outstanding sayings in that great speech of Mr. Foster's, as it stands on record in the pages of Hansard, with the record of the unanimous vote of the house in favor of the Canadian navy policy:

"The first difficulty is that as to fixing the amount of the contribution . . . How long shall the sum which you have fixed today remain the proper sum, and will it not be subject to constant friction, trouble, negotiation, and maybe occasional disagreement, and consequent troubles?

"Another objection raised is that it smacks too much of tribute. That we are a free people and we do not want to be paying a contribution to the old country for this or for any other purpose.

"THE GREATEST OBJECTION WHICH I HAVE TO A FIXED MONEY CONTRIBUTION IS THAT IT BEARS THE ASPECT OF HIRING SOMEBODY ELSE TO DO WHAT WE OURSELVES OUGHT TO DO. As though a man, the father of a family, in lusty health and strength, should pay his neighbor something per month for looking after the welfare and safety of his house, instead of doing that duty himself.

"After 10, or 12, or 20, or 30 years you will have paid out an immense amount of money. You will have been protected in the meantime, but in Canada itself there will be no roots struck. There will be no residue left. There will be no preparation of the soil or beginning of the growth of production of defence. Yet some time or other, no one can doubt that with resources and with a population constantly increasing we must and will have in this country a naval force of our own, for our coast and home defence.

"The interest that we take in a contribution made by another is not the interest that I desire for Canada. I want to see something grafted on the soil of Canada's nationhood which takes root and grows and develops until it incites the spirit of defence in this country, leads to a participation in the defence, leads to that quick interest in it, its glories, its duties, and its accomplished work, which is, after all, the one great thing that benefits all people for great expenditures, either on land or on sea, in the way of defence and of the maintenance of the rights of the country.

"Again, it disjoins what has been joined together from the earliest days of the world's existence—commerce and the protection of commerce. After all a basic idea of a naval force is the protection of the commerce of a country. A commerce side by side with its protector and its protector side by side with the growing commerce of a country flourish best together and are the surest helpers to each other.

"When we make our contributions in the way of a fixed sum and it goes from us and we are not responsible for it, we have none of the inspiration arising from the growth and development of a system of future defence in our own country. We are deprived of the larger benefit ourselves, and in the future we do no greater service to the empire of which we form a part in this matter of defence.

"I think this method ignores the necessities and the aspirations and the prospects of a great people such as the Canadian people are destined to become. We must have beginnings. This must at first be small, but some time or other our country will have its naval force for the defence of this country, if for nothing else. The point with me is as to whether it is not the greater wisdom to sow the seed at once and cultivate its growth as best we can in our circumstances and with our resources until at last we arrive at that stage of expansion which we have reached in other great lines of our country's progress."

With every year that passes it will be made more and more manifest that, in that speech Mr. Foster voiced the true Canadianism of the Canadian people. It is a speech that will live in Canadian history; it is a speech which will be carried into realization. To have made such a speech is to have done something for Canada.

"The song that stirs a nation's heart is, in itself, a deed," surely Mr. Foster may well take patriotic pride in having made such a speech, and in regarding it as a deed for his native land and for the empire, not merely "the sound af a voice, flying, to be lost in the wind."

It is high and inspiring utterance of the Canadian spirit.—Manitoba Free Press.

AMERICAN DUCHESS GIVES BIRTH TO SON

DUCHESS OF ROXBURGHE.

The son and heir so ardently hoped for by the Duke and Duchess of Roxburghe was born at their London residence. The Duchess is the former Miss May Goelet, of Newport, R. I.

The baby born to the Duchess is a boy, according to the Duke, principally because his mother ate no food containing sugar for months before his advent into the world.

Desiring a male heir to the dukedom, the Duchess went to Vienna in 1909 and there consulted Dr. Leopold Schenck, a noted scientist, who is a world famous authority on embryology and has given much study to the prenatal determination of sex.

CUTRI CAPTURED AT WHITEFISH

CONSTABLE COLLINS, OF WALDO, APPREHENDS ITALIAN MURDERER.

Bruno Cutri, who last week murdered Felice Zappia by shooting him three times at Rampart, was captured on Monday at Whitefish, Montana, by Ben Holton, chief of police. The American authorities took him to the immigration officials, who immediately deported him as an undesirable citizen. As soon as he was on this side of the line Constable Collins, of Waldo, took him in charge and brought him direct to Cranbrook, where he was immediately lodged in the provincial jail. He was brought up for hearing before Magistrate Ryan on Wednesday morning and on petition by the crown, he was remanded until today, when the principal witnesses were examined and Cutri committed for trial.

Considerable credit is due to Constable Collins for his clever work in bringing Cutri back so promptly. When approached by the officers in Whitefish, Cutri promptly reached for his gun but Constable Collins was too quick for him and two Colt's automatics with extra full loaded chambers were taken fram the Italian.

The coroner's inquest on the body of Felice Zappia was held at the undertaking parlors of W. R. Beatty on last Friday morning and the jury returned a verdict charging Cutri with the crime of murder in the first degree. The hearing was before Coroner J. H. M. Bell. There were two eye witnesses of the shooting. Those on she jury were. D. A. Sutherland, J. M. McCreery, P. DeVere Hunt, E. Paterson, Mr. Turner and G. P. Tisdale.

DIED

George Walter Scott, of Roosville, died at the St. Eugene hospital Tuesday morning of consumption. The funeral was held this afternoon from the Presbyterian church, conducted by Rev. W. K. Thomson. The arrangements were in the hands of Undertaker Macpherson. Deceased was a son of Rev. E. Scott of the Y.M.C.A. of Montreal.

Mrs. Maggie Thomas, sister of Mrs. John Gibson, of this city, died at Frank, Alberta, on Sunday, September 20th, 1913, and the remains were shipped to Cranbrook and funeral services were conducted from the train by Rev. W. K. Thomson, pastor of the Presbyterian church, on Tuesday afternoon.

IMMIGRATION FROM SCOTLAND

CANADIAN RESOURCES ATTRACT YOUNG MEN IN GREAT NUMBERS YEARLY.

Edmonton, Alta., Sept. 23.—"Since coming to Canada I have seen why our efforts are futile in attempting to check immigration from rural Scotland to the agricultural districts of the Dominion," said Colonel Donald Walter Cameron, of Lochiel, Scotland, chief of the Cameron clan, who, accompanied by his wife, Lady Hermoise, daughter of the Duke of Montrose, is making a tour of the coast and prairie provinces. Continuing, he said:

"Really, we cannot blame our people for coming out here, where there are so many opportunities as compared with those afforded in Scotland. After what I have seen in various parts of the Dominion, I have come to the conclusion that it will be utterly impossible to stop our men and women from coming to Canada.

"Naturally our problem is to keep the people on the land. As to methods, there are different proposals. For example, the Radicals, under the Small Holdings Act, which is already in force, have provided for the acquisition of large estates and renting them out in small holdings to the people. But I cannot see how this act has done any good. If a man can make only, say from $25 to $65 in a year, why should he remain in Scotland when there are such opportunities in the Dominion of Canada?

"Personally, I think it is an excellent idea to break up the large holdings, if it will have the effect of keeping people on the land, but I cannot see how it is feasible when the land available simply will not support the population. The standard of living has risen all over Scotland, and yet the land produces no more, if as much, as formerly. What the end of it will be is difficult for any one to foresee.

"Improvement in the way of opportunities is being made in the old land, but the Lowlands of Scotland are already occupied, in fact, there are more applications than there is land. There have been fully fifty thousand applications for land in the Highlands, but the board of agriculture will never be able to accommodate all."

Colonel Cameron said that many of the best young men and women of Scotland are migrating to Canada. More than 34,000 young men have already left the Clyde for Canada this year, he added, and many others are making preparations to settle in the Dominion. In the Hebrides the population is now composed chiefly of old men and women and children, while in the Isle of Skye, out of a population of 13,000, there are about 1,100 on the old age pension list.

"I thought that possibly a trip through Canada would give us some plan as how to stop the wholesale immigration from Scotland," Colonel Cameron said; "but," he added with a sigh, "after seeing this wonderful country and the opportunities on every side, where one man has as good chances as his neighbor, I have come to the conclusion that nothing more can be done."

During their stay in Edmonton Colonel Cameron and his wife were entertained by Lieutenant Bulyea at the government house, the party including Premier Sifton and Mrs. Sifton, Hon. Charles R. Mitchell, minister of public works, and Mrs. Mitchell, Rev. Dr. D. G. and Mrs. McQueen and Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Babbit. They will visit Australia after touring Canada.

AN UNWARRANTED PRONOUNCEMENT.

Sir Richard McBride, premier of British Columbia, uttered a good deal of nonsense about the navy question in an interview he gave the Morning Post on his arrival in London. He had no warrant for asserting that British Columbians are "all to a man behind Borden" in this matter. It is quite well known all over Canada that a large proportion of the people of British Columbia prefer a Canadian navy, and for the very good reason that in the event of its institution there would be a "fleet unit" on the Pacific as well as on the Atlantic. It suits Sir Richard to ignore the agreement arrived at by Canada and Australia in 1909, with the sanction of the British admiralty: that these two centuries should in co-operation assume the task and perform the duty of guarding British interests on the Pacific ocean. Australia has carried out what she then undertook, and Canada will do the same thing as soon as Canadians afford an opportunity to get it done by a Liberal ministry. When that time comes Sir Richard McBride will express his real sentiments in approval of what has been done.

It was quite beneath the dignity of a Canadian provincial premier to accuse the Liberal party of shirking "their obligation to undertake their share of the empire's naval responsibilities." The Liberals of Canada are just as good imperialists as the Conservatives are: far better, indeed, for at the last general election they fought the Quebec Nationalists, of whom Mr. Borden has taken three into his cabinet. In the debate on the naval service bill of 1910 Sir Wilfrid Laurier defined the Liberal attitude on the fleet question by stating that "when Britain is at war Canada is at war," and that when the Canadian fleet is in actual naval service its vessels will be under the absolute control of the British admiralty. Sir Richard McBride is perfectly familiar with that debate and of course, with these pronouncements.

The British Columbia premier made no reference to the nature of the "setback" given to the Borden policy by the action of the Canadian senate. The senate did not refuse unconditionally to sanction Mr. Borden's proposal: it merely delayed that offer to allow the people of Canada to express their will in the premises. If Mr. Borden wants to secure the adoption of his policy he should dissolve parliament and appeal to the people for a mandate. If he gets one the senate will offer no further objection.—Toronto Globe.

One of the largest crowds ever in the Auditorium attended the L. A. to the B. of R. T. dance last Thursday evening. Mrs. Wallinger's orchestra furnished the music, which was up to its usual high standard. Dancing commenced at 10.30 and continued until about 4 a.m. C. H. Knocke was floor manager. The society netted a neat sum, the dance proving a financial as well as social success.

Among the school exhibits at the Cranbrook fair was work done by George Kero, of Fernie, and Rose Fenwick, of Fort Steele. Their work was very good and carried off prizes. The management would like to encourage outsiders in showing and were glad to receive these exhibits.

Petty thieves seem to have been operating their nefarious games in Cranbrook quite frequently of late. Someone broke into A. L. McDermot's warehouse near the stockyards last week and entered the bonded room, taking therefrom a case of whiskey. This warehouse has been broken into six times in the last half dozen years but this is the first time that the bonded room has been entered. The lock on the bonded room was smashed off with some heavy instrument.

George Leadbetter, a former resident of Cranbrook, is in town. Mr. Leadbetter is an expert sign and window writer and is receiving a generous share of work in his line. He has just finished work for A. L. McDermot, the Montana Restaurant, the Wentworth hotel and Bulloch's barber shop.

At a joint meeting of the city council and board of trade held at the city hall on Monday morning the resolution passed offering to Mr. Frankel for his proposed new abattoir and cold storage plant a gift of two acres of land and free water and sewerage for a term of six years. There was a majority of the members of the council present and they agreed to vote for the resolution at their next regular meeting. Mr. Frankel was notified to come immediately and work out the details of the agreement but was stopped at Fernie by important business and has not arrived in the city today.

James Ryan, one of the pioneer and respected residents of this city, while arising from his bed at his home in Vancouver on Monday morning, September 15th, suffered a paralytic stroke which affected his speech and right side. Dr. F. W. Green, of this city, who was in Vancouver at the time, was called in consultation and says that Mr. Ryan was not unconscious at any time and was considerably better when the doctor left the city a few days later. His many friends in this city will be pained to learn of his misfortune and all wish him a speedy and total recovery.

On complaint of Jos. Campbell, manager of the Cosmopolitan hotel, Thomas R. Lumsden was brought before Magistrate Ryan Tuesday charged with issuing a cheque without money in the bank. There were about eight or nine similar charges against Mr. Lumsden, who on last Saturday evening spread a number of worthless cheques through the city. The cheques were mostly for small amounts, $15 being the usual amount. It has since developed that Mr. Lumsden is under suspended sentence at Winnipeg for securing money under false pretenses. He was committed for trial by Magistrate Ryan.

BASEBALL.

Wardner won the first day 17—13 from Cranbrook and the latter captured the second day's game, 9—4. The first prize of $100 was given for the largest aggregate score, which was won by Cranbrook. A second prize of $50 was given Wardner.

THE FARMER'S POSITION

Did it ever occur to you that the farmer is the last man in the row? After everybody else from the banker, the railroad man, the manufacturer, the merchant, and the speculator, down to the trade unionist, has taken what he can get, the farmer takes what's left. He has no recourse, short of nation-wide or world-wide organization, and that is so difficult to effect and hold together that it seems chimerical to try. The way it all works out would be a revelation if only it could be unfolded. But it cannot, for the whole story would fill encyclopedias by the stack. The best we can do is to suggest a few illustrations. Here is a city merchant, paying four thousand dollars a year for rent, amounting perhaps to four per cent of his turnover. Up the street is a better stand commanding eight thousand a year. In this stand he figures that he could sell enough more goods to make up the difference in rent. He moves. Perhaps his increased volume of sales justifies the change, and perhaps it does not. In any case the rental, whatever it is, becomes a first charge on the business. The continual competition for favorable locations enables landowners to force rentals ever higher and higher. The more business flourishes, the higher the rentals, which are paid, of course, by customers, so instead of prices coming down as they otherwise might, they are kept up, and, in some lines, increased, partly owing to land rentals accruing to non-producers who happen to be in possession of the real estate.

As with the merchant, so with other classes. The manufacturer who isn't making so much money as he thinks he should persuades the government to raise tariffs on his goods. Also he often secures municipal bonuses and sometimes tax exemptions. The railroad company is likewise let off easy by the Canadian tax collector, and, furthermore, receives huge subsidies from federal and provincial taxpayers. The bankers enjoys special charter privileges, including the profitable function of note issue without any taxation of that privilege, as in some other countries. The trade unions battle effectively for higher and higher wages to meet the increasing cost of living.

Every important class, except the farmer, has more or less to do with naming the prices of his product. The farmer has to take what is offered or let his produce spoil. So it works out that both the cost of production and the price of the product is beyond the farmer's control. His chief hope of increased profits lies in thinning of his numbers through stress of circumstances. Because of an innate love of the land, an instinctive spirit of independence and in some cases a lack of fitness or preparation for other life, men cleave to the business even when profits are meagre. Eventually, however, enough drift away from it to lessen competition, prices for farm produce advance a peg and another factor among many is added to the citizens' high cost of living. Then there is governmental extravagance, which waster revenues collected through customs and excise taxation; the growing demand for leisure, and for a multiplicity of creature comforts. All these things exert their influence, which ramifies in this direction and that, producing effects from which people suffer without knowing why. Where will it end?

Some big problems are suggested, the solution of which will be anything but easy. They loom up mountainous on the horizon of the future, and some day they will have to be faced.—Vancouver Sun.

A syndicate of Calgary and Minneapolis capitalists, of which Mr. O. G. Devonish is the head, will shortly commence the erection of what is declared will be the largest flour mill in the British empire. It will be built in four units, to cost $1,400,000 each, and when all units are completed will have a capacity of six thousand barrels a day.

Has anyone yet discovered what Canada gained by the six months' journey to the ends of the earth taken by Hon. Mr. Foster, ostensibly to advance Canada's trade interests? When the next auditor general's report comes out the people will learn that Mr. Foster's expenses were by no means so small as his performances.—Regina Leader.

SIR RICHARD'S FUNNYISM

Sir Richard McBride, premier of British Columbia, is receiving considerable kudos these days for repeated declarations of his pet phrase "British Columbia must be an all white province." Sir Richard must have his tongue in his cheek while using the expression for it is notorious that British Columbia is being invaded by hundreds of Orientals and the Asiatic population of the coast cities is growing by leaps and bounds. The Asiatic has the dominant position over the white man in the fisheries, canneries and lumber camps, and the mines also have a generous quota of yellow skins employed. In view of these facts known to every man in British Columbia, the loud declamations of the premier in London is causing considerable amusement. Sir Richard is too good a politician to think that he is fooling the people at home, and if the praise he receives in the London press is sufficient compensation for stating that which is untrue, Sir Richard should go to it with doubled energy. The flattery will be forthcoming. Beyond a discrimination against Hindus the province of British Columbia has no protection against the invasion of the yellow races and no action to stop their pouring in will be taken by the McBride government so long as the Borden government is in power at Ottawa. An all white British Columbia as countenanced by Sir Richard is something of a joke.—Lethbridge Herald.

COUNTESS TARNOWSKA TO WED SOLICITOR

COUNTESS TARNOVSKA

It is reported at Rome that the Countess Tarnowska, who is serving an eight year sentence for murdering her husband, who had insured his life in her favor, will be released from prison that she will marry a Milanese solicitor.

It is further said that after her marriage the Countess will live in England.

NEW WESTMINSTER EXHIBITION

New Westminster, B.C., Sept. 17.—To the eastern visitor and to the resident of the province not near an Indian reservation, one of the features of the annual provincial exhibition at New Westminster is the display of Indian work and the Indians themselves.

This has always been a feature of the exhibition and will be even more interesting at this year's fair, which opens on September 30th and continues until October 4th.

The Indians, being wards of the government, are always admitted free of charge to the exhibition and they take advantage of their privilege in large numbers.

They not only take an interest in the exhibition from a spectator's standpoint, but they take an active part and enter exhibits in the space reserved for them and compete for the numerous prizes.

Entry forms have been forwarded to the various Indian agents throughout the province and a number of entries have already been received.

ZAM-BUK

MRS. A. SAICH, of Cannington Manor, Sask., Writes:—"My brother suffered severely from eczema. The sores were very extensive, and burned like coals into his flesh. Zam-Buk took out all the fire, and quickly gave him ease. Within three weeks of commencing with Zam-Buk treatment, every sore had been cured."

This is but one of the many letters we are constantly receiving from people who have proved the healing powers of Zam-Buk. For eczema, piles, sores, burns, cuts and all skin troubles there is nothing like this wonderful balm. No skin disease should be considered incurable until Zam-Buk has been tried.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE AND THE ATONEMENT OF JESUS CHRIST

Editor Herald:

Dear Sir: Christian Science denies the substitutionary sacrifice of Jesus Christ for sin. Jesus did not die to meet and discharge the penalty of man's sin. He did not die to enable God to deal graciously with a rebel world. The death of Christ does not enable Him to be just and yet justify the sinner who claims satisfaction and peace through Him. The cross is the place of spiritual triumph over the unreality of sin, death and false belief in matter. Science and Health utterly fails to give us a key to that vast volume of teaching in the Bible dealing with the mission of Jesus, which mission is clearly stated as being the revelation of God's hatred of sin, His wrath against it, and His love for the world in delivering up His only begotten Son to make atonement for it. Instead of teaching that sin is to be put away by the death of Christ, His death has an altogether different meaning. In this letter we shall confine ourselves to four passages of absolute statement, from Science and Health defining its attitude toward the atonement as a sacrifice for sin.

Page 328. "One sacrifice, however great, is insufficient to pay the debt of sin." The sacrifice offered for sin in Jesus was the greatest ever offered, therefore we may conclude it was insufficient. If Science and Health were quoting the Bible we might tremble for the foundations of faith. Observe a very brief testimony from scripture on the sufficiency of the atonement. Gal. 3:10: For as many as are of the works of the law are under the curse: for it is written, Cursed is every one who continueth not in all things that are written in the book of the law to do them. And in verse 13, Christ hath redeemed us from the curse of the law, having become a curse for us; for it is written, Cursed is every one that hangeth on a tree. The curse here is the sentence of death passed upon every sinner, from which Christ delivers by his own death. Again we see what the author of Hebrews says of the sufficiency of Christ's death. Heb. 10:10: By which will (the will of Christ doing God's will) we have been sanctified through the offering of the BODY of Jesus Christ ONCE FOR ALL. Further in verse 12: But he when he had made one sacrifice for sins forever, sat down on the right hand of God; For by one offering he hath perfected forever them that are sanctified. The boast of the gospel is its sufficiency to save sinners from the penalty and habit of sin.

Science and Health, page 330: "The material blood of Jesus was no more efficacious to cleanse from sin when it was shed upon the accursed tree, than when it was flowing in his veins." If this be true all the professions of Jesus doing the Father's will are empty, for the shedding of blood was the central fact of making atonement. The Bible emphasis upon this fact is supreme. We shall merely quote a very few passages to bring out the Bible statement of this. Col. 1:19. For it was the Father's good pleasure that in Him should all the fullness dwell; and through him to reconcile all things unto himself, having made peace through the BLOOD of his cross. Also verse 22: And you.....hath he reconciled in the body of his flesh through death. Heb. 9:22. Without shedding of blood there is no remission. Jo. 1:29: Behold the Lamb of God (God's sacrifice for sin) that taketh away the sin of the world. Pe. 1:19: The precious blood of Christ as a lamb without blemish and without spot. I. Jo. 1:7: The blood of Jesus His Son cleanseth us from all sin. Space forbids extending this thought.

"Atonement requires constant self-Atonement requires constant self-immolation on the sinners part." The Bible answers, Rom. 5:11. We also joy in God through whom we have RECEIVED the atonement. Atonement is received by the sinner, not made. The preceding verse says, If when we were enemies we were reconciled by the death of his Son. No self-immolation for the sinner here, nor is there anywhere in the Bible to make atonement. Self-immolation is essential for the saved sinner, because he is saved, to bring his body under, but he is excluded from any part in the work of atonement.

Again, page 328. That God's wrath could be vented upon His beloved Son is divinely unnatural. Such a theory is man-made. Permit the Bible to answer this.

Rom. 8:32. He that spareth not his own son but delivereth him up for us all.

II Co. 5:21. Him that knew no sin be made to be sin in our behalf.

I. Pe. 3:18. Christ also suffered for sins once, the just for the unjust, that he might bring us to God.

Rom. 1:18. For the wrath of God is revealed from heaven against ungodliness (Revealed in the death of Jesus).

Isa. 53. Philip the evangelist applies this to Jesus. We did esteem him stricken; smitted of God. He was wounded for our transgressions, bruised for our iniquities. By his stripes we are healed. The Lord hath laid on him the iniquity of us all. For the transgression of my people was he stricken. It pleased the Lord to bruise him. But, this is sufficient to prove the utter misconception of Christian Science when it attempts an exposition of this precious truth of God's reconciling grace to men. I shall permit my reader to draw his own conclusions from these four gross ideas of the greatest work of love this earth has ever witnessed. A man that hath set at nought Moses' law died without compassion on the word of two or three witnesses: of how much sorer punishment think ye, shall he be judged worthy, who hath trodden under foot the Son of God, and hath counted the blood of the covenant wherewith he was sanctified an unholy thing, and hath done despite unto the Spirit of Grace. Heb. 10:28.

O. E. Kendall.

AN IMPOSSIBLE DEMAND

Surely the premiers of the Maritime Provinces, with their demand that in the approaching redistribution there will be no reduction in the number of members of parliament from those provinces, must realize that before they can expect to be taken seriously they must abandon the preposterous position of demanding special treatment of the Maritime Provinces, and take their stand upon the general proposition that no province should suffer any reduction in its present representation.

The Maritime Provinces are not alone in facing a diminution in their representation in the house at Ottawa, on the basis of the Dominion census of 1911. Ontario stands to lose four members. It would be carrying petulant unreason to the extreme of preposterousness, if the Maritime premiers, at the conference of premiers of all the provinces, which is to be held at Ottawa on October 20th, at the call of the premiers of Ontario and Quebec, were to demand that in respect of all the other provinces the provisions of the British North America Act should be carried out, but that Nova Scotia, New Brunswick and Prince Edward Island should be specially privileged by having their present representation secured to them in perpetuity.

Therefore, we surely may take it that when the Maritime premiers formulate their demand it will be in the form of a declaration that no province should suffer what the Maritime premiers evidently regard as the indignity of having its representation diminished in number. Why they should regard it as an indignity is a problem of psychology, which may be passed by; the main thing is that they do regard the very thought of the Maritime Provinces not having as many members in the next parliament as in the present parliament as a thought too galling to be borne by persons of their proud stomachs. Their pangs of wounded pride would not be at all assuaged by the knowledge that their provinces would still have as many members as they were justly entitled to, on the basis of population.

This Maritime demand, in order to claim serious attention, must then take the form of a demand for a new unit of representation. The British North America Act provides that the unit shall be determined after the taking of each decennial Dominion census, by dividing the population of the province of Quebec by 65. That is to say, the representation of Quebec is fixed at 65. Thus it is that the plight in which the Maritime Provinces, and Ontario also, find themselves in having to face a mininution of their representation in parliament, is due not at all to the growth of the western provinces, but entirely and solely to the fact that population has increased more rapidly in Quebec than in the Maritime Provinces and Ontario.

The only way to make every province secure against what the Maritime premiers, with a truly Chinese souchiness and anxiety to "save face," regard as an indignity, would be to make provision that after each census the unit of representation of the redistribution should be determined by taking the population of the province which shows the smallest increase in population, and dividing its population by its existing number of members in the Dominion house. That would mean a large increase in the representation of Quebec every ten years, and it would mean that in a couple of decades the house of commons would have six or seven hundred members. Would not that be a reduction ad adsurdum? try, than either the British house or for enlarging the size of the house of commons. As it now stands, it has a decidedly larger membership, in proportion to population of the country, than either the British house of representatives at Washington. At the last redistribution, after the census of 1901, the unit of representation was 25,000 odd. The census of 1911 shows the population of Quebec at 2,003,232, which number, divided by 65, gives 30,818 as the unit for the redistribution, now overdue, as provided by the British North America Act. That is to say, there should be in the next house of commons a member for every 30,818 people in Canada. But, if the Maritime Provinces, with their population of 937,955, as shown by the 1911 census, were to retain their present number of 35 members at Ottawa, they would be given a member for every 26,800 people. On that basis, Quebec would be entitled to 75 members, instead of 65, and the western provinces—on the basis of their 1911 population, as the census gave it, of 1,715,189—to 64 members, instead of the 55 which the British North America Act's provisions will give us.

And, needless to say, the population of the prairie provinces is today several hundred thousand in advance of the 1911 census figures; and unless things change radically, it will continue to advance at a rate increasingly in excess of the Maritime. It is an entirely reasonable estimate that the prairie provinces will have a population of close upon 3,000,000 in 1921, when the next Dominion census is taken.

There are some of these Maritime demanders, of the extreme sort, who demand not the retaining in perpetuity of the present number of Maritime members at Ottawa, but that there should be a return to the number of Maritime members at Ottawa when the first Dominion house assembled in 1867, and that that number should be retained in perpetuity. Both these sorts of Maritime day dreams are in vain. The Maritime dreamers, and their Ontario and Quebec aiders and abettors who want to have the west deprived of its just share of power in the Dominion parliament—not that they love the Provinces more, but the west less—will have to wake up to the fact that the Canadians of the west are not of a sort to submit tamely to being thus deprived of their just rights as Canadians.

Do they want to force a struggle between east and west, with "representation by population" as the western battle cry?

Concrete is the best building material

ABROAD statement—Yet literally true. The aim of man from the beginning has been to make his building materials as nearly like natural stone as possible. The great labor required to quarry stone led him to seek various manufactured substitutes. The only reason he ever used wood was that it was easiest to get and most convenient to use.

Wood is no longer easy to get. Like most building material, its cost is increasing at an alarming rate.

The cost of concrete is decreasing. So, from the standpoint of either service or economy, Concrete is the best building material.

Canada's farmers are using more concrete, in proportion to their numbers, than the farmers of any other country. Why?

Because they are being supplied with a cement of the highest possible quality, which insures the success of their concrete work.

Canada Cement—

The secret of concrete's popularity in Canada lies in the fact that while we have been advertising the use of concrete, we have also been producing, by scientific methods, a cement so uniformly high in quality that the concrete made with it gives the complete satisfaction our advertisements promised.

Concrete would not have been in such universal use today, had an inferior grade of cement been supplied. Insist upon getting Canada Cement. It is your best assurance of thoroughly satisfactory results from your concrete work. There is a Canada Cement dealer in your neighborhood.

Without this label it is not "Canada" Cement.

BIG PARTY OF U. S. FARMERS VISIT WEST

Travelling in two special trains, and being brought here by the Canadian Pacific railway company, to look over land in the irrigation belt in Southern Alberta with the ultimate intention of locating in this province, two hundred and fifty farmers from Iowa, Nebraska and Illinois will arrive in Calgary some time tomorrow.

The homeseekers are all farmers who have made a success of agriculture in their home states, but who have heard of the advantages offered by Alberta and have been induced to take part in a big excursion to this province in order to conduct a personal investigation into conditions existing here.

Although the excursion is only on its way here now, it has been in process of formation for months past, and among those who are on board the special trains are several of the wealthiest farmers of the states mentioned above.

The party is coming to Calgary in two special trains over the Soo line, and on arrival here will spend some time in the city before being taken on to Southern Alberta to look over the irrigated lands there.—Calgary Albertan.

Customs revenue for the Dominion still shows a steady increase. Receipts for August were $10,838,666, as against $10,147,908 for the corresponding month last year, an increase of $690,757. For the five months ending August 31st the customs revenue was $49,937,999, compared with $46,397,937 for the same period during the former fiscal year, an increase of $3,340,062.

PRINCE OF MONACO AND HIS MAGNIFICENT YACHT---WILL TOUR THE UNITED STATES

Prince Albert, of Monaco, ruler of the principality in which the famous Monte Carlo gaming casino is situated, arrived in America on board his steam yacht, the Hirondelle, one of the most pretentious yachts afloat. The Hirondelle is fitted with a wireless piano and when entering New York Harbor signalled her arrival by playing "The Star Spangled Banner" by wireless to the wireless station in New York. The twinkling eyed, democratic Prince, who is accompanied by eight scientists, discussed world topics, big game shooting, government and the American woman. The Prince will tour the United States and before he returns home he will go to Wyoming to shoot grizzly bear

THE PRESS ASSOCIATION MEETING

GENEROUS ENTERTAINMENT PROVIDED FOR VISITING EDITORS AT TENTH ANNUAL CONVENTION.

Last week ye editor returned from the tenth annual session of the Alberta and Eastern British Columbia Press association meeting, which was held at Edmonton September 11-14. The meeting was one of the most successful ever held in the history of the organization from the standpoint of representation, there being eighty editors present. Seven of these formed the British Columbia contingent, those from this province being Armstrong of Salmon Arm, Walker of Enderby, Ball of Vernon, Powers of Kaslo, Essling of Rossland, Foster of Nelson, Stanley of Creston, and Thompson of Cranbrook.

Messrs. Galbraith and Cardswell, of Red Deer, Alberta, were chosen president and secretary respectively. The 1914 session will be held at Vernon, B.C., that point being unanimously chosen. A considerable amount of important work was left in the hands of the incoming executive.

Other officers of the association are:

First Vice-President—W. Garland Foster, editor of the News, Nelson, B.C.

Second Vice-President — Charles Clark, of High River.

Third Vice-President — Louis J. Ball, Vernon, B.C.

Secretary - Treasurer — J. A. Carswell, Red Deer.

Executive Committee — A. J. M. Tyrrill, Medicine Hat News; V. C. French, Wetaskiwin Times; George Gordon, Ponoka Herald; W. A. Buchanan, Lethbridge Herald; H. M. Walker, Enderby Press. The name of M. R. Jennings, of Edmonton, was added to this committee in recognition of his splendid work during the past year, and the feeling that his knowledge would be of great value to the incoming board.

One of the important actions taken at the convention was the amalgamation with the Canadian Press association, the national organization, with which, until this year this association had only been affiliated. John M. Imrie, the secretary of the Canadian Press association, was present and gave the meeting the benefit of his knowledge and experience in reveral important discussions. He is at present engaged in a national campaign for the combining of all associations under the Canadian Press association.

The feature of the meeting this year was the entertainment furnished the visiting editors by the former executive, working in harmony with the Edmonton Ad. club and the officials of that city.

The organization of the various branches of the entertainment was primarily in the hands of M. R. Jennings, past president, and C. F. Hayes, secretary, both of Edmonton. To these two gentlemen is due in a large measure the thanks of the visitors for the splendid entertainment furnished.

Following the morning session of business, which was held in the Empire hotel, a new hostelry of first-class appointments, a luncheon was served by the city of Edmonton, at which the mayor presided and on behalf of the city welcomed the visiting editors. He was followed by the chief of the board of works and also by the provincial minister of education. The editors were made to feel entirely welcome, in fact, they indicated that the city keys had been thrown away during the editors sojourn and they were at liberty to roam at large.

Following the afternoon session all were invited to board the steamer "City of Edmonton," which took about one hundred and fifty passengers to Laurier Park, where Mr. Van Pelt, secretary of the Master Printer's Association of Edmonton, had prepared a barbecue. This was held under a string of electric lights in the woods, which had been placed especially for the occasion. The ninth regimental band was in attendance as well as a trumpeter and an orchestra for dancing. Following the barbecue, bonfires were lighted and to the music of the band moonlight madness mixed with the grizzly bear and a tango of fat and bald editors did ragtime dancing, cabaret style, over several acres of virgin hillside.

Friday was a busy day, there being three business sessions, which was broken into in the afternoon by a motor drive over the city. The ladies of the party had previously been given a motor drive by a ladies' club of the city. The editors were taken over the city of Edmonton and the guides narrated the principal features and wonders of this splendid young city.

EDMONTON.

These are the principal features of this new young city gathered on the motor drive: Everything in the city is municipally owned, including street car systems, water service, electric light plant and power system, in fact every public utility. The city is governed by the commission form of government and operates under the single tax system. In this way it is probably the most advanced city with more new features of up-to-date government than any other city in the west. The city has purchased several large tracts of virgin land, which have been transformed into some of the most beautiful parks to be seen in Western Canada. These parks are situated along the banks of the Saskatchewan river in scenic spots of rare beauty. The city is this year expending on municipal improvements the sum of $10,000,000 more money than is being expended by the Alberta provincial government. All the new street car tracks are being laid in asphalt pavement, guaranteed to last for one hundred years. The new sewerage operations in north Edmonton are being expended on a viaduct one hundred feet in depth. The Hudson Bay company have sold $20,000,000 worth of their Edmonton holdings and still own within the heart of the city a tract one mile wide by two long, which is not for sale at any price.

The provincial government building is ideally situated on a high eminence overlooking the city on one hand and the Saskatchewan river on the other. The growth of Edmonton is illustrated by observing the old Hudson Bay buildings just below the present beautiful governmental edifice. These buildings are low lying log huts with small windows. It was here the first western Hudson Bay post was established 115 years ago. It was at this post that in 1861 "English Charlie" and "Dutch Jake" sold several thousand dollars worth of brass filings for gold dust which resulted in 1865 by an order being issued from London ordering the Hudson Bay posts not to buy an ounce of gold. That order still stands. The new high level bridge constructed by the C.P.R. is a double decked bridge with provision for pedestrians and vehicles below the railroad grade. It is now one of the prominent sights of the city.

There are numerous other very interesting features concerning the growth of Edmonton, which must be seen to be appreciated. North of Edmonton there is a prosperous country of stock raisers extending for one hundred miles and from there north is still an untouched wilderness with every natural resource, consisting of timber, petroleum, gold and other minerals of every kind, and a stretch of productive land. This tract is larger in extent north from Edmonton than is the distance from Edmonton to New Orleans

G. T. P. TRIP.

The Grand Trunk Pacific gave a special train to the editors for an excursion to Tete Jaune Cache and return. The train consisted of six standard sleeping coaches and a diner and baggage car, besides a colonist car in which members of the Edmonton Ad. Club assisted the diner in feeding the excursionists. Attached to the rear of the train was a private car belonging to the officials of the G.T.P. It was no small matter for the G.T.P. to detach sufficient equipment from their regular traffic to handle an excursion of the magnitude of this one and it was the unanimous verdict of those who participated that they were handsomely entertained and every welfare considered by the courteous officials who looked after the train.

During the trip the party were the guests of the G.T.P., under the chaperonage of Mr. Tillie, travelling passenger agent, while Mr. Gormley, superintendent of the sleeping and dining car service, looked after the material welfare of the excursionists, and all were most enthusiastic over the manner of their entertainment.

Leaving Edmonton Friday night, Tete Jaune Cache was reached the next morning and a few hours most pleasantly spent at the head of navigation on the Fraser river. Returning to Jasper, the excursionists became the guests of P. C. Bernard Hervey, chief superintendent Dominion parks, and Colonel S. Maynard Rogers, superintendent Jasper park. Here side trips were made to the beautiful mountain lakes Patricia and Pyramid, revealing to all the glories and grandeur of the Rockies.

A further stop was made at Pocohontas, with a visit to the Punch Bowl Falls, another of the marvels of the mountains.

On the return trip, Sunday night, an informal meeting was called by President Galbraith, at which hearty votes of thanks were passed to the railways and the railway officials for their entertainment; to Mrs. Murphy, president of the Edmonton Women's Press League, for her hospitality to the ladies during their stay in Edmonton; to Mayor Short, for his hospitality, and Past President M. R. Jennings and Past Secretary C. F. Hayes, for the excellent and capable work done by them during the past year in the interests of the association.

Those who wakened early from their berths on Saturday morning and gazed out of the windows or went to better vantage points, saw to the southwest the first view of the snow clad peaks of the Rockies, pyramidial in shape, and with very few exceptions their heights were capped with winter verdure.

This first view was obtained along Prairie Creek, after which the Athabasca was skirted on the right for a distance of forty miles, through a district rich in scenic grandeur. On the western side could be seen the mountains that go by the cognomen of Boule Roche, Roche de Smet and Roche Ronde.

MOUNT ROBSON.

At Mile 1079 from Winnipeg the first view of Mount Robson is obtained. Robson is the highest peak in the Canadian Rockies, and for a distance of twelve miles in favorable weather this magnificent pile is in full view along the route of the Fraser river, whose circuitous course is in the foreground. On the trip made by the editors the peak was not discernable on the trip west owing to clouds, but on the return the party had an excellent view of its summit and the glaciers along the sides.

Tete Jaune Cache, the goal of the train, was reached shortly after dinner, and here for an hour the visitors strolled about the old, historic post of the fur trading days when the Hudson's Bay company's factor was stationed there. Today it is one of the last of the end-of-steel towns of the western world. Practically few of the original pioneers are left in the district for the reason that the Grand Trunk Pacific has forged ahead and its steel is 75 miles beyond.

TRAIL TO MALIGNE.

The Maligne canyon is possibly the most striking of all the canyons in the Canadian Rockies, and for the convenience of travellers to Canada's national playgroubd a trail gang is now at work building an eight-foot roadway, making Maligne lake and the country lying on the headwaters of the Bareau easily accessible. It is proposed next year to construct the route crossing the Spruce Grove bridge, following the west bank of the Athabasca to Mount Geikie and on the whirlpool. The travellers had an excellent view of Geikie with its snow clad and seemingly inaccessible top.

One of the Mumms, of champagne fame, and a world-renowned mountain climber, has just recently returned from a four weeks' attempt to conquer Geikie, and in spite of unfavorable weather he and his party got to within four hundred feet of the summit when they were obliged to desist as they faced certain death, for some of the party, at least. A terrific hurricane which lasted for ten days made camping impossible. Mumm's party located Mount Hooker and Mount Brown somewhat different to the position now assigned to them on the maps, and it is expected that when a geographical survey of this section of the mountains is made many changes in the divide between Alberta and British Columbia will be adopted.

HUNDRED PEAKS IN SIGHT.

Over one hundred peaks worthy of being called mountains were in full view of one of the heights to which Mumm's party climbed, and they expressed the view that the valley of the Athabasca south and west contained features of mountain scenery which no place in the world could possibly excel. Mumm places Geikie in a class by itself.

In the matter of color, both in the lakes and mountains, one of the most distinguished civil engineers of the Dominion government, who recently visited Jasper Park, stated that this feature could not be equalled, especially so far as the lakes are concerned.

When the editors and their wives were travelling the newly built trail up to Lakes Pyramid and Patricia, they had two of these beautiful spots of nature pointed out to them. Due southeast from Jasper as seen from the ridge between the Athabasca river and Pyramid lake lay Lac Beauvert, horse-shoe shaped, and of a most vivid green, far deeper in color than the waters of the Atlantic or the Pacific. A mile to the east of Beauvert could be seen Fish lake, a deep, rich blue that the artist has not been able to duplicate by the blending of colors on his pallette. The parks commissioners hope within the next two years that an artistic rustic suspension bridge will cross the Athabasca, making accessible the chain of five beautiful lakes that lie along the south of the river.

At Pocahontas one of the most accessible and interesting falls caused by erosion was seen—the Punch Bowl Falls—not more than one thousand yards from the station. It made a seven-minute walk, and all of the party took the opportunity of seeing this point, for which the party had left Jasper five hours ahead of time. At a contact between the conglomerate and harder formation of rock the water has cut out a most interesting fall, the freak of nature having worn away many feet of a course during the countless ages it has flowed. The fall of twenty-five feet which the water takes as it leaves the upper bed of its stream is into a natural punch bowl, in which fifteen can can punch bowl, in which fifteen men can easily stand.
