Children Are Fatally Burned

Four Little Ones Lose Lives at Glenlily; Also Two Indian Children

FIRE ON MISSION ROAD

(Special to the Herald)

Yahk, B.C., June 2.—The house of Mrs. Patrick Keeney, which has been occupied by Mrs. Marie Ann Wood and her family of six children, at Glenlily, was burned to the ground at about 10 p.m. on the night of Tuesday last, June 1st. Mrs. Wood had gone with two of her sons to visit the home of a neighbor, and left the other four children at home, these being three girls, aged seven months, one year and ten months and seven years and ten months, and a boy of nine years. They were in some manner trapped in the house when it was burned to ashes.

Sergt. Greenwood, who was in Cranbrook, was called to the scene of the fire, and proceeded on there the same night to investigate the details of the holocust. Mr. Wood, the father of the children, was at the time a patient at the Nelson hospital, where it is expected he will have to undergo the amputation of a leg very shortly.

Mrs. Woods, the mother, is reported to be grief stricken by the tragedy, and frantic in her sorrow.

What arrangements have been made for the funeral of the remains of the children have not yet been learned, nor as to whether there would be an inquest.

Fire on Shuswap Reserve

(Special to The Herald)

Invermere, B.C., May 28th.—The modest log dwelling of Louis Capilow, a remarkably good Shuswap Indian on the near-by reserve, was totally destroyed by fire in the late morning of Friday last. Sadder still to relate is the fact that in the conflagration two of his young children, aged respectively two and four, were also fatally burned and two more, slightly older, were so badly burned that up to the time of writing, while everything possible is being done for the sufferers in the local hospital, little hope is held out for their ultimate recovery.

Finding it necessary to go out a little distance to hunt some of their straying cattle Mr. and Mrs. Capilow left their house to the care of their young children.

The eldest of these was their thirteen year old daughter and next in age was a boy. While the girl was busy with some chores it is thought the boy with the two younger children made their way outside to where Mr. Capilow says he always kept his oil. Arriving there they, as children without knowledge of danger sometimes do, poured a little on the floor and ignited it, possibly intending to have a camp fire dance. Their first efforts were so successful that after ignition they poured on more and an explosion occured. The oldest boy made his way down the stairs and out into the open where the blaze on his clothes was soon put out, while the eldest girl very bravely dashed up stairs and managed to grab the boy four years old and landed him outside, though she was badly burned in doing so. Her efforts were in vain, however, as the little chap succumbed shortly after. Nothing could be done toward saving the two-year-old infant, who was burned to a crisp.

It is not many years since Louis Capilow's first wife, while out hunting, fell a victim to her twenty-two calibre rifle which she was carrying and was prematurely fired.

The funeral of the two little victims was held on Friday afternoon to the Shuswap cemetery and was largely attended by both white people and Indians.

Mission Road House Destroyed

A disastrous fire on Tuesday evening arising from some unascertained cause destroyed the home of L. N. Campsall, on the Mission Road, about four and a half miles from this city. Mr. Campsall had gone over in the evening to visit the ranch of a neighbor with the members of his family, who have been living with him, and in some unexplained way the house was consumed. The first to learn of the fire apparently were Mrs. Campbell-Smith, a sister-in-law of Mr. Campsall, who was returning from Cranbrook with her nephew, Henry Campsall, but when they reached the place nothing could be done to save the house.

The place was a seven roomed place, and perhaps more serious than the loss it represents itself, is the fact that along with the contents which were lost was a quantity of personal belongings which had belonged to the late Mrs. Campsall, and some of which had been in possession of her family for a century or two back, and which were in consequence very highly prized. Mr. Campsall puts a conservative value of about three thousand dollars on the value of the contents of the house which were lost. No insurance was carried on the place.

Here From Kimberley

Mr. and Mrs. C. H. DePfyffer and daughter, of Kimberley, were Cranbrook visitors on Tuesday. While in the city, Mr. DePfyffer transacted business for the Confederation Life Company.

FUNERAL OF AGED JAFFRAY LADY TAKES PLACE WEDNESDAY

On Sunday last there passed peacefully away at Jaffray, Martha, the beloved wife of P. J. Johnson. The late Mrs. Johnson, who had been ill for a year, finally succumbed to heart failure. The deceased lady was in her 70th year and had been a resident of Jaffray since 1907, when she arrived from Sweden. Besides her sorrowing husband, there are the following children, who mourn the loss of a beloved wife and mother: J. L. Johnson, Yahk; B. Johnson, Bull River; Gust and Will Johnson of Jaffray, and Mrs. A. Wallner of Jaffray, also two nieces, Mrs. Bjorkman and Mrs. Kary of Bull River.

The funeral took place in Cranbrook on Wednesday, Rev. M. S. Blackburn of the Presbyterian church conducting the service. The pall bearers were Messrs. J. Pooler, E. Demstrom, J. Johnson and A. Ingstrom. A number of floral tributes bore testimony to the esteem in which the deceased was held. These were from Mr. and Mrs. Wellander, Mr. and Mrs. B. Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. A. Raven, Mr. and Mrs. G. Matson and Annie, Mr. and Mrs. Bjorkman, Mr. and Mrs. Kary, Mr. and Mrs. Wallner, husband and children, Mr. T. Hepler, Mr. J. Pooler, Mr. and Mrs. J. Johnson, Miss Dagmery Nordmark, and Mrs. A. Sparman.

Last Sunday morning the joint Presbyterian and Baptist congregations had the pleasure of hearing Rev. W. P. Freeman, Baptist Young People's worker and representative of the C.S.E.T. movement. There was a large number of young people out to hear Mr. Freeman, especially Tuxis Boys. Mr. Freeman spoke feelingly and to the point concerning the youth of our day. "Give the youth of our land a chance along with efficient leaders and they will prove themselves good. Boys will take an interest in spiritual things if we dish such up properly." The whole congregation enjoyed Mr. Freeman's discourse and hope to hear him again in the near future.

Favorite Fails To Win Derby

(Special Despatch to The Herald)

Epsom Downs, June 3rd.—Lord Woolavington's 3-year-old colt, Coronach, ridden by jockey J. Childs on Wednesday won in a canter the 147th renewal of the Derby. The time for the mile and half was 2 minutes 47 and 4/5 seconds.

Wm. G. Singer's "Lance Gaye," R. Perryman up, was second, and the Earl of Derby's Colorado, carrying the faith of the public, and about $10,000,000 in wagers was third. Weston rode Colorado. Lord Astor's "Swift and Sure," ridden by R. Jones, was fourth. Coronach won by five lengths with a short head separating "Lance Gaye" and "Colorado."

PASTOR OF UNITED CHURCH EXPECTED TO ARRIVE SHORTLY

Word has been received from Rev. Payne Wallace, B.A., B.D., the incoming pastor of the United Church here, that he will arrive in the city on Friday. Mr. Wallace is a native of Scotland, coming to this country in 1907 from Greenock. He served as missionary in various fields in Alberta and British Columbia, including Hosmer and Fort Steele, and on 1915 he enlisted for overseas service, joining the 67th battalion Westcan. Later he was with the Field Ambulance, and was gassed at Passchendaele in 1917.

Following the armistice, Mr. Wallace studied at Edinburgh University, and returning to Canada graduated with his B.A. degree from Westminster Hall in 1922. He has since held pastorates at Cedar Cottage, Vancouver, Merritt and Duncan. He resigned from his charge at Duncan owing to the changes that arose in connection with the union movement.

Mrs. Wallace is a daughter of the late Dr. J. Knox Wright, and is a graduate nurse from the Vancouver General Hospital. Mr. and Mrs. Wallace will receive a cordial welcome not only from the members of their own particular church and congregation, but from many others in the city.

To Hold Dancing Classes

Elsewhere in this issue will be seen the announcement of the opening of a class in dancing by Miss Tina Thomson, of Fernie, at the Parish Hall on Saturday next from one to five p.m. It is understood that Miss Thomson will visit Cranbrook each week to give instruction in Scotch as well as other dances. Miss Thomson will be remembered as the young lady whose clever exhibition of the various Scotch dances won for her the admiration of the large crowd that witnessed the entertainment put on by Mr. Thomson of Fernie at the big Empire Day celebration here, and at which Miss Thomson won the much coveted prize for the grand aggregate. A large number have already signified their intention of joining the class about to be formed.

The anxious public is crowding closer to the wire as the candidates come down the home stretch exerting every nerve, straining every muscle, eyes on the one great goal.

The Overland Six Coach, purchased of F. H. Dezall, will be awarded to the candidate going under the wire with the greatest number of credits. The second highest will be awarded $200 in gold, while the third winner will receive $100 in gold. All non-prize winning candidates, who are active to the close, will receive 10 per cent on all subscription money they collect and turn in.

It Is Anyone's Race

No one has a walk away for the Overland Six Coach, neither is anyone hopelessly beaten. Just a few long term subscriptions for any one of the various contenders would at once change the line-up and crown a new leader.

Perhaps it is these closing days that will decide the victor in the great race?

Who knows? Who, indeed? No-one, in fact; nor will anyone until the final accounting has been made and the last credit placed on the list of the candidates. It's anybody's

FAREWELL SERVICE BY PASTOR OF THE UNITED CHURCH

Pleasure and Profit in Stay Here; Urges Church to Stand Firm

Sunday evening to a large congregation at the United Church, Rev. B. C. Freeman delivered his farewell address to the United Church congregation. Mr. Freeman, who has ministered to the church here for the last four years, is leaving this week to take up his new duties as pastor of the Collingwood United Church, Vancouver.

Instancing the farewell of Paul to the people of Ephesus as the earliest evidence of the close brotherly relation in which pastor and people were bound, the speaker claimed that such friendship and fellowship was peculiar only to the Christian church, and is evident today as in the earlier times. Though risking a weakening of his ministry and grieved at parting, Paul did not hesitate to follow the course laid out by the divine hand. He admonished his hearers to recognize that behind the hand was a personality, or divine wisdom, which could not be disassociated from divine purpose, and that we were the masters of our own destiny, electing as we might to put ourselves in the way of divine grace or to hold ourselves aloof.

The speaker concluded the first part of his address with an assurance that all life is in the divine hand and ruled with a divine purpose.

Referring to his pastorate here, Mr. Freeman intimated that never had he spent one more happily than the one just concluding, and while enjoyable he also felt that it had been profitable, in some respects at least. The change he felt was for the benefit of all. While the creation of enemies is inevitable to one possessed of the true responsibility of leadership, he felt that he could rejoice in the possession of a large number of friendships made. He urged that the church should not shirk its responsibility in connection with some issues which were imminent here.

With regard to their new pastor, he bespoke for him their encouragement and support; he suggested that he be not looked upon as a hired servant of the official board, but one sent with a mission. In him they should recognize a divine voice.

He took opportunity of expressing on his own as well as on behalf of his family, the appreciation they felt for the great kindness shown them during their four years' stay in Cranbrook, unsurpassed in any former charge. He expressed the wish that they might have the pleasure of again meeting, and that the friendships made would not be broken by the departure of the family from their midst.

During the evening the choir rendered the anthem "No Shadows Yonder," in which the solo was taken by Mr. W. G. Morton. Mrs. F. M. MacPherson and Mrs. Norgrove sang "Sometime We'll Understand," both of which were pleasingly rendered.

SOME CHANGES PENDING IN SCHOOL STAFFS HERE

Many applications are already being received by the school board for positions on the teaching staffs in Cranbrook, particularly at the high school, many teachers from outside having filed applications for all the positions from principal down. So far, the only change in the staff that the board is aware of is in the case of Mr. O'Meara, whose B.C. teaching permit is expiring with the close of this term.

On the Central school staff, the board has received the resignation of Miss Wright, to date from the end of the term, and Miss Freeman, one of the primary teachers, has been granted a year's leave of absence. No appointments have yet been made to these positions, though the board have many applications on file.

Will Hold Meeting at Kimberley

Wednesday next the regular meeting of the Cranbrook Assembly, Native Sons of Canada, No. 22, will hold their session at the I.O.O.F. Hall, Kimberley, when it is expected that a large delegation will go from Cranbrook to witness the initiation of about forty candidates seeking admission on that occasion. Cards will be provided.

Returns To City

Mrs. A. G. Hill returned last week-end from Vancouver, where she had been in attendance at the third annual convention of the Canadian Daughters' League, as one of the provincial executive. Also attending the convention was Mrs. F. S. Ryckman, secretary of the local branch, who was the official delegate from Cranbrook. The delegates at the convention were well entertained while at the coast, and one of the outstanding items on the program was a banquet attended by Native Sons and Canadian Daughters in force, at which some notable addresses were given.

CHAUTAUQUA THIS WEEK PROVES WELL UP TO REPUTATION

By the time this issue of the Herald is out, 1926 Chautauqua will have passed. This year, owing to the desire of many places in which Chautauqua has been held, there has been a change from a six day program to a four day.

By many it is felt that it had its advantages, the longer period being considered by them somewhat of a surfeit. On the whole the programs this year have been as much enjoyed as those of previous years. Whether or not Cranbrook will be again on the Chautauqua list is not known. An effort, however, is being made to enroll guarantors.

The opening program given by Leake's Orchestral Entertainers was one which was highly appreciated by those present. The ability particularly of the leader, Mr. Leake was very pronounced. Many are of the opinion that Mr. Leake has few equals. The same may be said of the three other members of his company.

For the second day the Toy Trio presented a musical program which was received with much appreciation from beginning to end, the audience being delighted with the difficult, intricate numbers. The musical prelude given by them was a distinct treat. The impression left by the Australian violinist was that he was an artist of the very first rank.

Tuesday evening a large number attended the Chautauqua when Professor John Duxbury, noted English elocutionist, gave a series of readings which were highly appreciated.

At this meeting, Rev. Jas. Evans of Kimberley, who is acting as district superintendent for Chautauqua, spoke to the gathering, emphasizing the important place that Chautauqua is holding as an educational medium in the Dominion. Many questions with regard to the operations of the Dominion Chautauqua company were dealt with by the speaker, it being shown that while in many places in B.C. a loss was suffered by the company despite the guarantee that this was made up by more profitable places on the prairie.

House In Uproar Over Rulings

(Special Despatch to The Herald)

Ottawa, June 3.—With appeals to the chair, shouts of order and protests from both sides there was an uproar in the house Wednesday afternoon.

Premier King had declared untrue in the house Wednesday afternoon, a statement made by Donald Sutherland, Conservative of South Oxford, that legislation before the house was the result of a bargain between Liberals and Labor members. Conservatives demanded that the word "untrue" be withdrawn, but chairman Duff held that under these circumstances, use of the word was not unparliamentary.

Mr. Sutherland first said he was not surprised at the ruling of the chair. There were loud Liberal objections. Chairman Duff ruled that the word be withdrawn. Mr. Sutherland then said he was surprised. Again the chairman ruled that the word must be withdrawn and again the house was in turmoil.

Chinese Building Damaged

On Saturday last at one o'clock Chinatown was visited by a fire, in which a rooming house at the rear of the Dart Coon Club was somewhat badly damaged. The property, which belonged to Chow Wing Kong and others, was used as a rooming house and club room, the three rooms above being occupied at the time. The fire is of an unknown origin, no one being near the place for some time before the blaze was discovered. It is estimated that the loss due to damage to building conditions will amount to about $400. This was partially covered by insurance. The fire department made an exceedingly quick run to the scene of the fire, and were but a short time in extinguishing the blaze.

Will Petition Carry Weight?

Premier Oliver Says Cranbrook Petition For Beer Not in Order

COUNTER PETITION OUT

Just what significance is to be attached to the statement appearing a few days ago in the coast press, stating that Premier Oliver had found the petition asking for a plebiscite in the city on the beer by the glass question out of order in several respects, has not yet been learned. The petition was signed by upwards of seven hundred people in the city, and if it cannot be acted upon, no doubt those who were active in promoting it will no doubt feel keenly disappointed.

In the meantime, those who are opposed to the opening of the beer question again in the city are circulating a counter petition which is also getting some backing, and which sets out the views of those who do not favor beer by the glass, and begs the government to attach no weight to the statements which the beer advocates have advanced on their petition.

The first of the interior cities to take a second plebiscite on the beer question was Revelstoke, which on Monday voted again on the question. In spite of the fact that the petition to reopen the question was very largely signed, the sale of beer by the glass in beer parlors was not favored in the plebiscite. The figures being, For 446; Against 569; Majority against beer by the glass, 123.

OLD FORT STEELE RESIDENT CALLED BY SUDDEN DEATH

Residents of Fort Steele and old timers of the district regretted to learn on Monday morning that Duncan Dewar had passed away. Being around as usual the previous day and in ordinary health the news came to all as a distinct shock. It appears that the deceased had been engaged on road work with J. Crooks, and that Sunday evening after the evening meal Dewar had retired to the shack which he was occupying alone; and nothing more was known of him till the next morning. After he had failed to respond to several calls, it was discovered that he was still in his shack, his head resting on the corner of his table, his glasses on, and a copy of a book he was heading by his side. The fact that the light had not been lit indicated that death had called him before dark on Sunday evening.

The late Duncan Robertson Dewar was a native of Montague Bridge, P.E.I., where he was born March 17, 1856. Leaving his native province he took the now much traversed trail to Boston from where he came West in 1897, engaging in mining and other work in East Kootenay, locating at Steele following the life of a miner and prospector ever since, being interested at the time of his death in claims in Alkali creek. Here was well and favorably known. He had also spent some time in northern Alberta, He was unmarried. There are left to mourn his passing Robert L. Dewar, of Fort Steele, and Mrs. Geo. Vissy, of Montague Bridge, P.E.I., a sister. The funeral service was conducted from the MacPherson parlors on Tuesday, interment being made in the local cemetery. The pall bearers were W. Carlin, Al. Doyle, T. Fulton, J. Kelly, J. Thomson and E. W. Warren. The service was conducted by Rev. M. S. Blackburn, of Knox Church.

Quebec, June 3rd.—Fifty-seven buildings were destroyed with an estimated loss of $1,000,000 in a fire that swept Riviere Du Loup Wednesday afternoon. The buildings razed included five warehouses, 14 stores and 42 dwellings in the commercial section of the town which is about 120 miles from this city.

P. E. I. Fisheries

It is interesting to note that from time immemorial fish, the product of the sea, has been the staple food of mankind, and is the great source of the wealth of many countries. And it is also interesting to note the great variety of this article of food.

The Gulf of St. Lawrence has been always famous for its fisheries. By the treaty of 1763 St. Pierre and Miquelon on the south of Newfoundland were left in the possession of the French on account of the fisheries, and a special privilege was granted to land on the coast of the Island of Newfoundland for the purpose of drying the codfish, and only during the season. This privilege was greatly abused, which almost resulted in a serious international dispute. French warships actually drove from the coast all and any other fisherman from Nova Scotia, New Brunswick and Prince Edward Island.

Britain Takes Over Fisheries

The climax was finally reached when Newfoundland fishermen according to the coast law of the Island when no fishing was allowed on Sunday and the day not being observed by the French went and drew in their nets and in some cases destroyed them, the British Government being very remiss in protecting at that time the shore of the island. The question was settled by the British Government paying for the destruction of the nets, and it finally led to a firmer protection of its own subjects. St. Pierre being a hotbed of smugglers in brandy and other contraband with the other islands contiguous, were exchanged for a section of the British possessions in West Africa. So the matter was amicably settled. The shore of Prince Edward Island teemed with the finest fish—famed for its mackrel, codfish and its variety of herring—and its streams with the finest trout, and in the spring with shoals of smelt. Lobsters last year became valuable in a commercial way. Clams and oysters are also unsurpassed, also crabs and shrimps. These in past years were used not so much for export as for home use. The lobster is noted for its objection to invasion of its native preserve, and many a bather has hurried to take refuge on dry land followed by an enraged lobster. At one time a barrel of oysters could be obtained for twenty-five cents. Soon their value began to be appreciated and five dollars was a reasonable price. The government leased extensive flats for oyster beds. At one time the oyster was an immense size. I have seen dragged from the Pinette river huge shells as large as the sole of my boot. This to a depth of over twenty feet—of course these were dead. But the mussel-meat, as it was called, was one of the best fertilizers for the land. Farmers fixed the dredge on the ice and loaded their sleighs by this means. There were various causes attributed to the extinction of these oysters. I think the true cause was the sawdust of the saw mills that had been built on the upper part of the streams where the tide did not reach. It is remarkable that but few salmon frequent the Island coast.

Quarrels of Poachers

It was found that the 3-mile limit British warships. The Yankee poachers had no scruple to run all risk. These pests were very defiant, and more than once the inhabitants, with axe handles as weapons, drove these piratical characters headlong to their boats and successfully put a stop to any ruthless action of Yankee fisherment. "You often hear "What protection do we owe to England?" The glorious Union Jack was and is our protection without money and without price. So the protection of our fisheries is of paramount importance. The Americans, through a reckless custom of fishing, denuded their own coast of all the fish, for Chesapeake Bay, at one time, was as much teeming with fish as is the Gulf of St. Lawrence today, and were it not for the protection afforded by the Union Jack, the Gulf would be today as devoid of fish as is the whole Atlantic coast of the United States of America. The Columbia River is another instance of the greed of the fishermen. Frequently overtures have been made by Canada to the United States for some return for the privilege of fishing on our coast. Permission for free fish from the British provinces was one favor. When a man sets out to cheat an unsophiscated man he generally succeeds. The treaty said only "fish," that this fish would need barrels was never thought of. Hence, on the staves was levied a big customs charge. The lobsters in the tin cans were also the object of a special tariff. This double dealing continued for ten years. When the Dominion government put the matter before the Home Government, they at last agreed to meet at Halifax in 1877, to consider the whole question.

Value of Fish and Fur

The Dominion was represented by John Thompson, whose name has already been mentioned in connection with the land question, and Louis Davies. The American was Ewarts, who started to be facetious over fish, with sneers and violence. John Thompson administered such a castigation that good manners were observed during the rest of the sitting. The Dominion's claim amounted to fifteen millions. This was reduced to five and a half millions. There was a good deal of talk to repudiate, but that would be a blow for negotiations in the future. However, at the last day the money was paid. The production as given a few years ago amounted to lobsters over one million and a half dollars, other fish over four hundred millions. There were at that date one hundred canning establishments.

Prince Edward Island now has over 500 fox ranches and 2,000 silver and black foxes. More than one million dollars' worth of silver fox pelts were exported a few years ago, and one half million dollars' worth of breeding stock.

Mail and post office matter in the days of Gov. Patterson were carried in birch canoe from the shore of Wood Island, across the strait to Pictou. Now palatial steamers ply between Summerside and Shediac. Powerful ice-boats fairly regularly cross the straits. One of these was lent to the Russian government during the Great War. Her captain received a national honor from the Emperor. The first submarine cable laid on this continent was between Cape Traveroe and Cape Formontine by Mr. Gisborne, who was afterwards in conjunction with Cyrus W. Field in laying the first Atlantic cable.

Outdoor Ontario Is Featured

In view of the increase in the popularity of Ontario and Canada generally with American tourists, the June issue of Rod and Gun which is a special Ontario Tourist number is particularly interesting.

All the stories and articles in the number, with the exception of the regular features, deal with Ontario sport while a personal message from the Premier of Ontario welcomes all tourists to the province and a special Ontario section describes some of the beauty, health, fishing and hunting resorts on Ontario.

A new aspect of angling is given in "The Jumbo Trout of Lake Superior," possibly the gem of the table of contents; while "Trout Fishin'" is a delightful reminiscence of the creeks of old Ontario.

The regular gun, fishing, outdoor and kennel departments contain specially interesting material for this issue.

Rod and Gun is published monthly by W. J. Taylor, Limited, Woodstock, Ontario.

Easy Lessons in AUCTION BRIDGE

New Series by WYNNE FERGUSON

Author of "Ferguson on Auction Bridge"

Copyright 1925 by Hoyle, Jr.

ARTICLE No. 35

What are the odds [illegible] holding a hand [illegible] thirteen cards [illegible] According to the mathema[illegible] about 600 billion different hands may be dealt at bridge and as there are four possible "perfect" hands, one of each suit, the odds are just four out of 600 billion. In other words, a player has one chance in 150 billion hands to hold thirteen trumps. Dr. F. L. Jenner, of the Quadrangle Club of Chicago, is reported to have held thirteen hearts and to have bid "seven hearts." This fact is remarkable in itself but the report adds that another member of the club, a professor of Chicago University, held a similar hand in clubs about four months ago. If these cases are authentic, they should be of great interest to all card players. It is very rare indeed to hold more than nine trumps. In fact, the writer has never heard of a player holding more than eleven trumps until the Chicago incidents.

It's really surprising how often games are lost by the failure to make the simplest kind of bids or plays. The writer was watching some very fair players the other night and in the first six deals, four games were lost; three by bad bidding and one by bad play. If that average were kept up for an evening's play it would mean that only one hand out of three is played or bid correctly. One of the greatest players in the country is authority for the proposition that four out of every five rubbers are "chucked;" that is, lost by bad bidding or play; and the writer is inclined to agree with him. If you doubt the statement, keep a record of bids or plays that lose game and rubbers and you will be surprised how they mount up. Here are the four hands mentioned:

Hand No. 1

Hearts — A, 8, 7, 6, 2
Clubs — A, J, 10, 7
Diamonds — A, 4
Spades — 9, 5

	Z

No score, rubber game. Z dealt, bid one no-trump and A passed. What would you bid with Y's hand? A should bid two hearts. It is an excellent example of a justifiable take-out, one that is practically a sure game in hearts but problematical in no-trumps. As a matter of fact, four odd could be made in hearts and only one odd in no-trump; quite a difference.

Hand No. 2

Hearts — 10, 6
Clubs — A, J, 8
Diamonds — K, Q, 8, 7, 4
Spades — A, J, 7

	Z

No score, first game. Z dealt and bid one no-trump. What should A bid? A should double with the expectation of bidding two no-trump if his partner should bid two hearts. A, however, bid two diamonds and only made three odd, while at no-trump he would have scored game. A's partner held the following hand:

Hearts — A, K, 7, 4
Clubs — 9, 8, 4, 3
Diamonds — J, 7
Spades — Q, 8, 5

It is a fine example of the value of the informatory double.

Hand No. 3

Hearts — A, J, 9, 8
Clubs — K, 10, 5
Diamonds — 7, 4
Spades — Q, J, 4, 3

	Z

No score, YZ a game in. Z dealt and passed. A and Y passed and B bid one diamond. If Z passed, what should A bid? A should certainly bid one no-trump. His partner has made a fourth hand diamond bid and should have a very strong hand. At either diamonds or no-trumps, AB can score four odd.

Hand No. 4

Hearts — K, 8, 4, 3
Clubs — K, 7, 3
Diamonds — K, J, 10, 3
Spades — 9, 7

	Z

Hearts — J, 7, 5
Clubs — Q, 10, 9, 2
Diamonds — 9, 5
Spades — K, J, 8, 4

No score, rubber game. Z dealt and passed. A bid two no-trump and all passed. Y opened the jack of diamonds. B played the five, Z the eight and A won the trick with the ace. A now played a low spade and won the trick in B's hand with the king, all following. B now played the jack of spades which won the trick, all following. A now played the eight of spades from B's hand. Z discarded the four of clubs and A played the ace of spades. What should Y discard? Y should discard his eight of hearts and show Z at once that he has a stopper in hearts. His next discard should be the trey, thus completing his echo. If Y makes this discard, YZ save game but if not, Z will be forced to guard his heart suit and so discard diamonds of which he held five. Don't hesitate to tell your partner by the discard what suit you can protect and therefore what suit he can discard. This hand is an excellent example, so note it carefully.

Mrs. August Daye, Mrs. H. Haney, Harry and Sam Thompson were numbered among those motoring to Cranbrook on Saturday evening.

Emil Shelborn has purchased the Ford "bug" formerly owned by Reg. Reed, while Reg has purchased a Ford touring car for his convenience.

The first game among the junior baseball teams for this season took place on Saturday evening at Wardner, when the Bull River juniors motored down to play the Wardner juniors, the Bull River boys arriving on the field so late as to make further playing impossible, owing to the darkness, although a game of seven innings had been planned as is usual among the junior teams. Batteries for the game were: Bull River, J. Treverna and T. Langwidge; Wardner, Harold Anderson and Rollie Thompson. From the start to the finish the game was more slaughter than baseball, the Wardner boys batting their oponents off the field. Ted Langwidge started the pitching for Bull River, while Traverna donned the catcher's outfit. From the first ball thrown the locals found the ball and the old "merry-go-round" began, each batter going up two or more times before Langwidge put out his third man. The last half of the first was a short matter, Anderson putting his men 1, 2, 3, out, in fine fashion. The second inning was merely a duplicate of the first. In the second River changed places, and the score stood at 13-0, favor of Wardner at the beginning of the third. In this frame Anderson walked four men on balls, while two others found the ball and knocked it for a good distance in the field, but running on the beses was poor and consequently the opposing team did not get far. Several balls slipped through in the in and outfield, however, and Bull River managed to score five runs. The darkness now had settled down and further play became impossible, the game was closed off by mutual consent of both teams, Wardner not taking their turn at bat, but winning by a score of 13-5. A return game will be played in Bull River shortly.

Mrs. August Daye, and daughter, Ruth, returned on Friday from Bull River, where they had been spending the week as the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Haney.

Miss Alice Shelborn arrived in Wardner on Thursday evening's train to spend a few hours visiting Miss Teresa Helman, returning to her home in Cranbrook on Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Simpson, whose wedding took place in Cranbrok recently, are expected to arrive in Wardner on Tuesday next, to make their home here. Mr. Simpson is logging superintendent of the C.N. Pass Lumber Co., while Mrs. Simpson was formerly Mrs. Robinson, of Lumberton.

Magnus Johnson, of Lumberton, motored to Wardner on Saturday evening and spent Sunday visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Michelson.

It is reported that Mr. Lee Rader, who returned recently from visiting the German colony at Medicine Hat, is expecting delegates from the colony during the early part of June, to look over the land through various parts of this district, their plan being to start a colony of German farmers here. Mr. Rader has been authorized by the colony leaders to look for and obtain options on suitable land in the district.

On Sunday afternoon Miss Dagne Nordmark and Miss Astrid Johnson, of Wardner, received the sad news of the death of their grandmother, Mrs. P. J. Johnson, at her home in Jaffray at noon on Sunday. Miss Nordmark has made her home with her grandparents in Jaffray since the death of her mother some years ago. Several Wardner and Bull River relatives and friends motored to Jaffray on Sunday and Monday and attended the funeral of the deceased, which took place in Cranbrook on Wednesday last, the body being interred in the Cranbrook cemetery.

Harold, Adolph and Morris Anderson, Rollie and George Thompson, motored to Coal Creek on Sunday last to witness the football match between Coal Creek and Coleman, the later team winning the match.

Miss Isa Taylor, Billy Mador, Dyer Elderhing, Ole Helman, Corsan Anderson and Tom Fitzsimmons motored to Bull River on Saturday evening to attend the dance.

Miss Astrid Johnson, Miss Isa Taylor, Ted Langwidge, Jim Trevera and Wallace Schad motored to Cranbrook on Sunday evening.

Chautauqua drew its usual large crowd both on the opening night and those following, from among Wardnerites. On Monday evening those motoring in to attend the evening program, which was conducted by Leake's Orchestral Entertainers, included Mrs. Chas. Hamrin, Mrs. H. Haney, Harry and Sam Thompson, who were very much pleased with the program of the evening.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Wallner and daughter, of Jaffray, motored to Wardner on Monday evening for a few hours' visit at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Helman.

Miss Dagne Nordmark left on Sunday evening for Jaffray, where she spent a few days visiting with friends and relatives, returning to Wardner on Tuesday.

FERNIE OPENS ITS SWIMMING POOL FOR CHILDREN ON MAY 24th

Victoria Day saw the formal opening of the children's swimming pool at Fernie, and notwithstanding the coolness of the air, the pool was thronged with children all day. During the afternoon and evening many adults took advantage of the splendid facilities of the pool to indulge in a swim. The water is maintained at a temperature of between 65 and 70 degrees fahrenheit by circulating it through a large boiler, and although the air was cool the water was very tempting and the majority of the swimmers preferred to stay in the pool rather than sit around the sides between swims. Francis Brady, an expert swimmer and diver, has been appointed superintendent, and has commenced instruction work with a large number of pool enthusiasts, in swimming, diving, etc.

The opening of the children's swimming pool there has been made possible through the untiring efforts of the swimming pool committee, who, although receiving a very disheartening set back when the Home Bank failed holding the majority of their funds, never lost sigh of their objective and worked all the harder to earn enough money to complete their plans.

This committee, to allow the swimming pool to be completed ready for operation this year, went considerably into debt when their funds ran out, but are planning on a big celebration on Dominion Day there to cover the amount necessary to wipe out this deficit.

NASH LIGHT SIX IS NEW NAME NOW GIVEN TO AJAX CAR

The Nash-built Ajax hereafter will be known as the Nash Light Six, the Ajax Motors Company, a subsidiary of Nash Motors, having been entirely absorbed by the parent company. Many processes among the various Nash plants being identical, the consolidation of manufacturing operations affords increased production facilities for the Nash Light Six while this interlacing of manufacturing interests made it advisable for the parent company to absorb its subsidiary.

Announcement of the change in name from Ajax Six to Nash Light Six also marks the greatest five-month period of business in the Nash history.

"In all my twenty-five years of manufacturing, I have never felt greater satisfaction in any product than in the Ajax Six, now known as the Nash Light Six," said C. W. Nash, president of The Nash Motors Company. "So far as I know there has never been produced a car which from the very outset gave a greater measure of satisfaction and trouble-free performance.

"The Ajax was introduced on May 27th of last year but no immediate effort was made to attain sizable production. This was in strict accordance with the manufacturing program we had adopted. Only a few cars were produced each day during the balance of May, throughout June and until about the middle of July, when production was permitted to proceed in larger volume.

"While we had spent a great many months in engineering, developing and testing the Ajax and were reasonably sure of the car at the time of its introduction, we were nevertheless surprised at the almost total absence of service requirements even on these first cars to be proudced."

The Nash Light Six plant at Racine, Wisc., was equipped a year ago with brand new machinery of the latest pattern and design known to the automobile industry.

Manufacturing facilities for the Nash Light Six are again increased because of this consolidation.

Nash models are now available in three series—the Light Six, Special Six and Advanced Six.

Line Now Abandoned

Last Saturday morning, the Great Northern local freight train made its last run over the track between Michel and Fernie and this train with its crew is now tying up on alternate nights at Rexford, Mont., and Fernie. There is now no doubt as to the permanency of the abandonment of the Great Northern line between Fernie and Michel as it is understood that the steel on this twenty miles of roadbed has been sold to the Alberta Government and that work will be commenced shortly on the lifting of the same, in all probability commencing at Michel and working in to Fernie. Before this work is completed, it is believed that the White Spruce Lumber mill will be dismantled and shipped out, as this would be an extremely expensive operation to carry out if left until after the Great Northern tracks had been pulled up and would mean teaming the entire plant over the Government highway in Fernie.—Fernie Free Press.

Borden's EAGLE BRAND Condensed Milk

A Dessert That Makes Itself

One of the most delicious desserts one can serve, and it is one especially loved by children, can be said practically to make itself. It is called Camarel Pudding. Here it is:

Place an unopened can of Borden's Eagle Brand Condensed Milk in a kettle of boiling water and simmer for two and a half hours, being careful not to let the kettle boil dry. Remove can, cool and chill. Remove top of can, cutting along the side of can—not the top—so that the contents may be removed whole; place on a serving dish and garnish with broken nut meats and whipped cream. To serve individually, cut in slices, garnish with nut meats, and whipped cream—or use plain unsweetened cream, with or without garnish.

RELIEVED THE PAIN

Miss Ruth Tarkington, 12 Trafalgar St., St Thomas, Ont. "My grandmother was subject to rheumatism and used to call me from my playmates to go to the druggists to get Minard's Liniment. Grandma came with the Liniment and applied it to my head and I was very much surprised to feel how quickly it relieved the pain.

FREEDOM OF THE PRESS

A COPY of "The British Gazette," which was issued by the British government during the recent general strike in England, while the staffs of the big London dailies were also out in sympathy, has reached the Herald office, and makes interesting reading. In spite of the pessimistic reports that reached this side of the Atlantic from correspondents during the short but intense struggle, this official publication, number six of the series, breathed nothing but optimism, and when the circulation of a million and a quarter copies is considered it must indeed have been a powerful instrument in keeping the British public informed as to the true state of affairs. British cabinet ministers contributed to the publication, and their direct pronouncements must have been read with intense interest. Not one of them show any signs of the government wavering in its policy of no negotiations while the general strike was on, and no doubt this inflexible stand convinced the rank and file of the strikers that their leaders had taken up an untenable position.

Incidentally the freedom of the press has been conceded in Britain with the consent of the unions concerned never to interfere with the editorial policy of any newspaper on which their members may be working, whether they are opposed to the views of the union or not. The liberty of the press within reasonable limits was a privilege too dearly bought for the British public to see it sacrificed.

THE DUMPING DUTY

A GREAT deal was heard at the time of the last Dominion election of the benefits that would accrue to Canada from the Canadian-Australian treaty arrangements, and how they were going to stimulate Canadian production for export. Now comes the intimation that it has been found necessary to impose a dumping duty on butter and on some varieties of canned fruit being imported from Australia, the contention of the government being that these goods have been bought in the country of their origin, Australia, at a price lower than the cost of production in Canada. Thus the dumping duty is imposed as a protection to the Canadian producer. So far as can be learned, the reason for the lower cost in the antipodes is that production for export is bonused in some lines by the government. Up to the present time the only real effect of the Australian treaty arrangements has been to allow importers a pretty considerable margin of profit till the dumping duty was imposed. The cost to the consumer has not been affected, and the producer here has been unsettled by the knowledge that his goods have to stand up against other produce bought at a price lower than he can put them out at in Canada. The treaty was broadcasted as a bold step in the direction of free trade, but it shows itself up as merely a motion that looks like a step and has to be camouflaged behind a bulwark of protection.

DURING those strenuous war years, when David Lloyd George was hailed as the man of the hour, and Asquith was thought to be the weaker and more vascillating of the two men, no one ever thought that the time would ever come when the little Welshman would be an outcast from his own Liberal party. Such has now come to pass, when Asquith, as the head of the Liberal party in England, ostracises Lloyd George from the party councils, and the movement is given the support of other prominent leaders in the party. The break was occasioned by the hostile stand which Lloyd George took up towards the British government's uncompromising attitude during the recent strike.

WHERE is the beer question going to land the provincial government? There is no possible way by which they can now reconcile themselves with both the wets and the drys on their handling of the liquor control question. A new angle on the matter of beer-by-the-glass petitions, particularly in dry centres, comes with the announcement which purports to come from some high up in the administration of the liquor act, or enjoying the confidence of the government, that the granting of beer licenses in such a centre as Cranbrook does not originate by the granting of a petition presented for a plebiscite on the question, but is a matter entirely in the hands of the liquor control board. In the meantime, petitions urging plebiscites are being showered on the provincial government from dry centres, and a pretty Gordian knot indeed is being presented to the attorney-general and the Premier to be cut.

From Our Exchanges

A TALK ON MINING

It was easy for anyone who listened to Hon. R. R. Bruce at the Canadian Club to understand why the interior of the province has been enthusiastic about his appointment as Lieutenant-Governor. The new executive head of British Columbia is a veritable encyclopedia of mining lore. The history of interior mines, their difficulties, their vicissitudes, their records of development are at his finger-ends. Mining is the great industry of the interior, and Mr. Bruce, in his high position, should be of inestimable value to the industry, both in the way of directing attention and capital toward it and as an example of a British Columbia mining man who has climbed high.

The Lieutenant-Governor presented the figures of British Columbia's mining development in a striking way. Of the $61,000,000 of output last year, he showed dividends amounted to about 10 per cent, while more than $54,000,000—over a million dollars a week—was spent in British Columbia for labor and supplies, and a very large share of this eventually found its way to Vancouver.

The enlargement of the output in recent years, the Lieutenant-Governor attributed to three factors, the employment of trained engineers, men from our own Canadian universities; the provision of better roads, which make it possible to get out ore by motor truck at a fraction of the cost of the old raw-hiding methods; and the high price for metals which now prevails, it is worthy of note that these three factors are continuing to make themselves felt, and Mr. Bruce predicted that the 1926 output would exceed that of 1925 by five or ten millions.

Mr. Bruce, in passing, paid a very high tribute to the work of the Dominion and Provincial Governments in assisting mining in this province; the Dominion through its geological survey, providing geological maps which make prospecting more certain and less laborious; and the province in constructing roads and in giving invaluable advice, through its resident engineers, to the holders of claims.—Vancouver Province.

"MUCH LEARNING HATH MADE THEE MAD?"

"Damned Souls" is the fetching title for the thirteen young bloods at Rochester University to take in order to promulgate the news that they are confirmed atheists and will make it their business "to prove the necessity of atheism and to abolish belief in God and all religions based on that belief." But they are far from being the first in the field, it is somewhat generally noted; there have been atheist associations in other days and other colleges, and belief in God seems somehow to continue. The University authorities, "wise in their day and generation," reply to the challenge of this organization by doing nothing about it, and to the young atheists, perhaps, there has been a disappointing lack of turbulence over their daring.—Exchange.

LUMBERTON CHIPS

C. H. Werden, president of the B.C. Spruce Mills, Limited, left Lumberton on Tuesday last for Minneapolis.

Fred Johnson, grader on the green chain, has left for Creston, where he will work for the Canyon City Lumber Co.

The first ball game of the season with an outside team was played on the 23rd, against Yahk. The game went to the visitors, with a score of 17 to 11. Reid and Steinberg pitched for the home team, and made a creditable showing.

The regular meeting of the Lumberton Club was called off this week, on account of the play being put on by the Orange Lodge on Friday.

H. McKenzie, auditor for the Workmen's Compensation Board, Vancouver, was a business visitor on the 28th.

Mrs. Barry, who has been visiting her sister, Mrs. Sam Wood, camp three, left for Vancouver on Wednesday.

Miss Della Baxter, of Cranbrook, was the guest of Mrs. Norman Moore, camp one, last week-end. Accompanied by Mr. Moore, the ladies rode to Cooper Lake on Sunday and spent the afternoon there.

The Nut League game on Tuesday between the sawmill and office teams resulted in another win for the former team. The score was 11 to 6.

Sam Wood, clerk at camp three, has added another skin to his collection. A large black bear that has been visiting the camp occasionally will visit no more, as his hide is now stretched out on one of the walls of Sam's cabin.

E. Cook, inspector for the National Lumber Manufacturer's Association, was in Lumberton on Friday to make the regular monthly inspection of grades.

The planing mill team was again victorious in the game played on Thursday against the sawmill. The score was 17 to 5. This is the third straight game the planing mill team has won, and it begins to look as if the diamond studded cup will be theirs at the end of the season.

The loaal Orange Lodge put on their play entitled "Never Touched Me," on Friday evening the 28th. Many visitors from Cranbrook and Kimberley attended the performance, which was played before a packed house. The entire proceeds were added to the fund for the annual kiddies' picnic, and lots of ice cream and pop are now assured. The play was put on entirely by local talent, and if there are any "bad actors" in Lumberton, they certainly did not put in an appearance on the stage Friday night. The different characters in the play were admirably portrayed by the members of the cast, but special mention must be made of the excellent work done by Miss Emily Gregory and Harold Piper in the leading roles. The cast was as follows:

Dr. Digby, a young physician ..... H. A. Piper
John Cullen, a broker ..... E. A. Cook
Prof. Barrett, an experimental chemist ..... W. A. Barter
Vanderberg, a broker who is broke ..... Harold G. Piper
Bill the Butch, a burglar ..... Ed. Woods
Joyce Barrett, the professor's daughter ..... Miss Emily Gregory
Millie, Joyce's friend ..... Miss Frances Trussler
Agnes, a nurse-in-training ..... Miss Margaret Trussler
Clancy, a cop. ..... Robert Henson

WELL KNOWN SOLDIER, FORMERLY C.M.R. COMMANDER, DIES AT COAST

British Columbia has lost a citizen of the best type, and the Empire has lost a real soldier, with a record of over thirty years of unbroken service, in the death of Lt.-Col. John Cecil Latham Bott, which occurred at Victoria, B.C., on Monday of last week, May 24th.

The Colonel was born at Devizes, Wiltshire, England, on the 24th of August, 1872. He chose the army as a career, serving with the 20th Hussars in India and throughout the South African war. On returning from active servivce in Africa he became Permanent Adjudant of Lord Lonsdale's Yoemanry Regiment.

In 1909 he took command of B. Squadron, 30th B.C. Horse, with the rank of Major, and on the formation of the 30th B.C. Horse as a regiment, in 1911, he became the first Commanding Officer, with the rank of Lt.-Col.

In December, 1914, the 30th B. C. Horse regiment was formed into the 2nd C.M.R., C.E.F., with Colonel Bott in command. He served with this unit until October, 1916, when he was invalided to England, where he took command of the 16th Canadian Reserve Battalion until it was absorbed by the 1st Canadian Reserve, when he became permanent president of Court Martials in the southern command.

On his return to Canada the Colonel went on the Reserve of Officers of the 5th B.C. Light Horse, going to the General Reserve of Officers about two years ago. He also took an active part in the G. W.V.A., of which he was at one time president.

The Colonel was a soldier to the end, meeting the idea of leaving this world with the same courage and fortitude for which he was always distinguished.

Lt.-Col. Bott was always noted for his genial manner, and he will be sadly missed by his many friends in all walks of life. He had many friends in the interior including some who knew him well in Cranbrook and district.

The funeral of the late Lt.-Col. Bott was held in Victoria on Tuesday. Flowers were sent by the 2nd C.M.R., Vernon Branch of the Canadian Legion, and the Elks' Lodge, among others.

WOMEN OF CHURCH MAKE PRESENTATIONS TO PASTOR'S WIFE

United Church Bodies Give Tokens of Pleasant Relations to Mrs. Freeman

Previous to the departure of Rev. B. C. Freeman and family to their new field of labor, about forty members of the Ladies' Aid of the United Church gathered at the home of Mrs. F. M. MacPherson recently, to honor Mrs. Freeman. During a pleasantly spent afternoon, the secretary of this organization expressed in a few words the regret of the ladies at the loss of a valued member, and the president, Mrs. W. H. Wilson, presented the guest of honor with a beautiful silver flower basket filled with flowers, as a token of the recognition of the Ladies' Aid of the untiring and willing service Mrs. Freeman has at all times rendered while in Cranbrook. Mrs. Freeman replied in her usual pleasant manner, expressing the enjoyment of herself and family of the life in the Cranbrook parsonage.

Another gathering in honor of Mrs. Freeman took place on Thursday evening of last week at the home of Mrs. W. B. McFarlane, when about thirty-two members of the United Church W.M.S. met, and during the course of the evening Mrs. Freeman was made the recipient of a presentation from the society consisting of a silver set, comprising sugar and cream set, complete with tongs, on a silver tray. Mrs. Brock, the secretary, read an appropriate address and made the presentation to Mrs. Freeman, who made a suitable reply, expressing the pleasure she had experienced in connection with the work of the society, and the friendships she had enjoyed with the officers and members.

The good wishes of the entire congregation go with Rev. and Mrs. Freeman and family to their new home.

To Grant Reductions

Settlers in the Camp Lister soldier settlement area will be granted important reductions in the amounts which they owe the provincial government for their lands, Premier Oliver has indicated, following his recent visit to Lister. The premier is going into the question of land charges personally. He said that when the proposed new reductions are made they will be the last concession of this sort granted to the settlers. "At the price which we propose to fix for the land it would be easy to dispose of it to others," he said.

THREE LACROSSE GAMES IN LOCAL LEAGUE PAST WEEK

Lions Lose and Win

The Cubs met defeat at the hands of the Lions to the tune of 6-3 in a league fixture on Wednesday, May 26th.

On Thursday, May 27th, the Tigers came back into the limelight by defeating the Lions in a fast game by a score of 3-1.

The first period was very fast, the ball being carried from end to end many times without any scoring. Just before the whistle, S. Moffatt notched a counter.

The second period opened with both teams playing hard, the ball being on the ground most of the time. Both teams seemed unable to take a pass, no scoring being the result.

The third period was the Tigers', who made attack after attack on the Lions' goal. F. Harris took a neat pass from S. Moffatt and scored. Time after time the Lions tried to get the ball down the field, but it was soon back again. J. McFarlane made a pass to S. Moffatt, but B. Flett got in front of the ball, which glanced off his stick behind the Lions' goal. Flett and Moffatt got into a skirmish for the ball and Taylor tried to help out, but Flett tripped his own man. S. Moffatt took advantage of this mix-up, scooped up the ball and passed to F. Harris, who scored.

The last period the Lions worked hard to score. The Tigers were dangerous, shooting often, but did not score. D. Large notched the lone counter for the Lions just before time.

Line-up:

Lions—J. Dixon, D. Large, Barnes, Moore, B. Flett, R. Moffatt, Brennan, McBurney, Taylor, Weston, Benson, Martin, Dale, Henderson.

Goals—1st period, S. Moffatt; 2nd period, none; 3rd period, F. Harris (2); 4th period, D. Large.

Penalties—Barnes, 2 min.; Willis, 1 min.; Heise, 1 min.

Tigers Win Heavy Scoring Game

The Cubs and Tigers met in a lacrosse fixture last night, the Tigers coming out on the big end of the score, 7-4.

In the opening period both teams checked closely, a few shots were registered but failed to penetrate past the goalie.

The second period the Tigers worked hard. S. Moffatt took a pass, worked through the Cubs' defence, and scored. This was quickly follow*ed by F. Harris and J. Atchison, who* both scored neat goals for the Tigers. The Cubs broke away a number of times, E. Lewis making some hard trys to get through the Tigers' defence, but failed to score.

In the third period both teams were out for goals. J. Moffatt made a rush and scored on a lone shot. A few minutes later a skirmish took place around the Tigers' goal, D. Burton shooting in the rubber. The Tigers were not to be downed by this reverse, S. Moffatt making an end to end rush and scoring two goals in quick succession. F. Heise scored the final goal for the Tigers after some close checking.

The last period the Cubs worked hard, and E. Lewis made some pretty shots, scoring two goals. The Tigers came back strong, F. Harris notching the last counter. Both goalies did brilliant work.

Line-up:

Tigers—McFarlane, Spence, Brumby, S. Moffatt, Willis, Freeman, Williams, Heise, Marshall, Barber, Jimmy Dixon, Paul and Cyril Harrison.

Cubs—J. Moffatt, E. MacKinnon, Paterson, Rankins, Brain, E. Harris, Cassidy, Little, Lewis, Burton, Benson, Martin.

Goals—1st period, none; 2nd period, S. Moffatt, F. Harris, J. Atchison; 3rd period, S. Moffatt (2), J. Moffatt, Burton, F. Harris; 4th period, Lewis (2), F. Harris.

Penalties—McFarlane, 2 min. (2).

MANY ENJOY BEACH AT SMITH LAKE ON SUNDAY LAST

Though by no means a pleasant day, a number of citizens visited Smith Lake on Sunday and were surprised to see what a delightful spot Mr. Engbright has created at the lake. Mr. Engbright's enterprise deserves to be recognized by the patronage of the merchants of Cranbrook and citizens generally. Providing Cranbrook with a beach where its citizens can go and enjoy themselves was no small undertaking, and while it is a private enterprise, it is also a public benefit. With regard to its desirability, the decent pleasure-loving people of Cranbrook and district can, through their patronage, make it what the proprietor wished it to be—a clean place where all may go and enjoy themselves at the minimum of expense.

Reports of Recent Presbyterial Meetings Written by Mrs. W. B. McFarlane, Local Delegate.

The following is the first part of a report of the Presbyterial meetings held at Vancouver and Nelson, attended by Mrs. W. B. MacFarlane, on which she reported at a recent meeting of the United Church W.M.S. The report will be concluded in next week's issue.

As your delegate from this auxiliary, I beg to submit the following report of the thirty-fifth annual meeting of the W.M.S., which was held in Wesley church, Vancouver, on April 27, 28, 29 and 30th.

The branch executive took charge of the devotional exercises. After the singing of the hymn, Mrs. Lewis and Mrs. McDuffie led in prayer, their chief thought being that God would lead us in the new departure we were about to take in this step of unity. Mrs. Saunby, a most devout woman, read the lesson and dwelt on the words of "All power is given unto me in heaven and earth," also, "Go ye into all the world and teach the gospel." Then she made reference to some who had obeyed the call, some dear friends who gave themselves to go to the uttermost parts of the earth to relieve suffering humanity. Then she read a verse taken from Malachi 7, 10, "Return unto me and I will return unto you. Bring me your tithes and prove me and I will open up the store houses." We must pay our tithes to our Father just the same as we pay our taxes to keep our homes, and if we fail to pay God's taxes we must give up the joys of Christianity. May we all not only be tithers, but let us all be soul winners, and we will receive the wonderful love from our Master; let us consecrate our lives afresh to Him and may each one be willing to carry the banner. We all felt that Mrs. Saunby just touched the keynote of the success of our society.

More Expected of Union

Mrs. Sipprell, president, then took the chair and declared the branch meeting open for business. She gave a very fine talk on the union movement. In summoning up her address, I think this thought was foremost in my mind—that we must all go back to our auxiliary to do all we can to help on with the work and not feel that we are not needed because of larger numbers to work, but we each must do our share, for we are at the parting of the ways, or rather where three streams meet, three large bodies coming together; therefore, much more will be expected of us as there are more to do the work, and by keeping this in mind we will receive the blessing which comes from our Father, for in union is strength.

Roll call of delegates showed 113 present the first morning,—just the Methodist section—but others who came to the meetings numbered over 200.

We next had the reports of the district superintendents. Some gave very fine reports, showing an increase in numbers and also in givings. Others were away below the usual, with less members and a general decrease in funds.

Mrs. Bolton, superintendent of supply work, had a good report. Boxes of clothing, books and magazines (those that were valuable) amounted to $1080.10. Some of the boxes sent were not valued, so could not enter on her report. She urged that anyone sending boxes of clothing, etc., to put their own value on them, and then they would be reported at the annual meeting and each one would be given credit for the same, and she also desired them to be sent as early as possible, so that reports can be got ready in time.

Financial Reports

Mrs. A. E. Roberts reported for the circles of C.G.I.T. She reported 702 girls were active workers, a decrease of 89 over last year; seven circles disbanded; some of them died at birth, while others died for lack of leaders. She urged systematic giving, suggestions, dues for membership (ten cents a month for good health), teas, concerts, pageants, etc., for increasing their funds, and also urged that every C.G.I.T. group should affiliate with the W.M.S. Auxiliary, if there was one in the town. $529 was raised. Mrs. Sipprel spoke of the heartache it caused to hear of this decrease, and said the W.M.S. should do their best to encourage the girls, help them in all their undertakings and also help to secure new members and to hold them. We must educate the girls to take our place when we have passed out. The work must go on and who should do it but our girls.

Mrs. O. Fallis gave the strangers' section report, which showed number of calls made. 7643 calls made, 4250 sick visited at home, hospital calls 1236. She spoke of the importance of the stranger section work. It meant more members for the church, also more members for the W. M. S. A good way to run an auxiliary is to draw up a chart and have so many members responsible for each meeting, with a competent convener at the head of each group.

Mrs. Derbyshire, treasurer of the Methodist W.M.S., was called to give her report. She came to the platform and said that she had no smile for anyone. "I can't smile when there was such a decrease in the givings comparing them with last year's report, and I can't given my report now, I want a little more time to see if I can make up some of the deficiency." She took a plate and passed it around among the large crowd, and that was not enough to even things up. So the next day she took up another collection and went over the top with thirteen dollars and 58 cents over. She would not take no for an answer, but everyone must give up. She mentioned about Cranbrook being one hundred short this year and wanted to know the reason for it. I felt badly at first but when she told me that we were not the only ones that fell short $100 or over then I felt better about it. Some auxiliaries went away over their allotment and so on the whole she was just two hundred short, but this amount was made up in the collections taken. Then she got up and gave her report, stating that she had received from all the sources $21,009.78 In her remarks she said that of the W. M. S. had kept down to the work of the society they could have gone into the union well over the top. She emphasized the fact that giving to the maintenance fund was very short sighted as the work of the W.M.S. was to pay missionaries' salaries.

Other Encouraging Reports

Mrs. Wickens, corresponding secretary, reported that she found some of the reports which were sent to her were very difficult to make out, the most perfect report was from a Japanese kindergarten; anyone wishing to see it could do so. She reported 10 districts as follows: 83 auxiliaries, 1818 annual members, 850 life members, with an increase of four; these were all in the Kootenay district. 32 auxiliaries reported a decrease in funds, the popular reason given being that there were only eleven months to work in. She said that should make us more determined. She emphasized that dues should be collected early in the year and not left until the end of the year. One auxiliary reported that they found it very beneficial to interest the men in missionary work.

Chinese auxiliary reported the unrest in China and asked for the prayers of all the auxiliaries in this province that the strife would soon cease and that peace would reign there. She said there were fine girls in the mission school who were just ready to go to their own people as missionaries. They raise their funds by the members giving a cent a day, also personal and systematic giving.

Mrs. Washington reported for the mission bands. She gave a most encouraging report and paid a tribute to all the workers. She reported 61 mission bands, with an increase of six over last year, and said that every band has justified itself but were short or leaders to carry on the work. Band suggestions for raising funds—personal givings, children's quarterlies, mite boxes and little pageants. Begin the year with a banquet put on by the auxiliary to get them out. Use black boards to illustrate the bible study, insist on reverence and order, have a varied program of good singing, plan meetings beforehand, and be alert for new plans. There are 31 groups with a total membership of 707 and amount raised, $360. After this report was read Miss Elliot, deaconess of Wesley Church, was asked to come forward and was presented with the banner for this year's work, having the largest number of new members and also of funds. Miss Elliot thanked them very nicely, for it came on her as a surprise, but was quite elated to be able to carry the banner back to her mission band. Mrs. McKay, who sat next to me, said that Cranbrook should have this banner next year, and that if we don't get it we will not be doing our duty. I shall pass this on to the mission band leaders.

Mrs. Gee conducted the memorial service. This was a service in honor of our beloved members who had passed on to their reward and who had been very active in the W.M.S. This was a very beautiful service as the names of the departed were read, those knowing them paid a tribute to them and the work they had done for our W.M.S.

At this juncture a motion was made that the old officers would go into union as they stood last year. This was carried.

Old Members Honored

Then all stood in honor while Mrs. Sipprell called to the platform the oldest members of the W.M.S.; those who had a hand in starting the societies in the early days in this province. There were sixteen went up, some had been in active service for sixty-four years. Among them were a few whom I had met when I attended the W. C. I. U. convention some time ago; Mrs. Cunningham, of New Westminster; Mrs. Crosby, Mrs. Pendray, Mrs. Coverdale Walson, and others. It was very nice, indeed, to see these dear women go to the platform and clasp hands in Christian fellowship, and give a little outline of the work of the W.M.S. in early days, and how they worked together often with a great deal of discouragement, but they still hung on and now they came to see the fruits of their labor and that made more glorious by the union which was about to take place, and prayers, urgent prayers, went up to our Father to bless the union and that harmony would abount all over the world where unions existed and that a more efficient work would be accomplished. One could not help but be inspired by these prayers.

Mrs. Sipprell, president, in her closing remarks of the Methodist section, gave a very impressive address and it was with much feeling that she spoke to us. There were not many dry eyes in the house, for everyone loved Mrs. Sipprell; you had only to meet her to love. She is one of those characters whom to meet is to love. However, it became too much for her, she could not finish, but had to sit down to recover herself, and Dr. Osterhout went forward and took up the thread of her discourse and finished for her. He illustrated his point by saying it was like a person leaving their own home and going out into the larger life, larger sphere of activity, and finally mingling with the other larger streams into a fuller life of usefulness. Do not look back with remorse, but look ahead to the future and see the larger fields open to us all and press on to accomplish what God had for us to do in this union. In combining our strength a much greater work could be accomplished, for in union there is strength.

Mr. Minn, of the Congregational Church, came to the platform and gave a very interesting talk on the union. He was a very pleasing speaker and his remarks were to the point. Mr. Minn, in his address, said the W.M.S. had caught the vision of the task that determined the unity of the organization. It was a great thing to see three streams of life coming together. We are not being guided by looking back, but by the vision of the future. Christ was with us as a great leader of a great army and that we are united with the same gret captain and we must not fail our captain to make good.

MOYIE NOTES

The Edmond's bakery shop was opened to the public on Thursday. Both Mr. and Mrs. Edmonds are most favorably known and their catering is of the very best.

Mrs. Hamson is here from Saskatchewan visiting with relatives.

Mrs. Conroy and Mrs. Clarke, of Lamberton, were in town on Wednesday evening of last week.

Mrs. Webb has returned to her home in Saskatoon, after spending several weeks here with her parents.

Pete Morris motored down from Kimberley on Saturday.

Rumor has it that a road is about to be built on the opposite side of Moyie Lake, running from the Aurora mine to Aldridge. This would be good news.

Moyie was glad to hear of Paul Jensen paying a call on the occasion of his motor ride on the 24th. Mr. Jensen has been a patient in Cranbrook hospital for over twenty-two months.

Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Foote and son, Chris, were Sunday guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Smith.

Jimmie Campbell is here from Trail.

The Peterson brothers of Kimberley are now operators at the mill here.

Rev. Father MacIntyre renewed old acquaintances here on Tuesday, enroute to Rossland.

Moyie ball players lost to Lumberton on Sunday on the Lumberton diamond, score 5-8.

Rev. Father Conan bid good-bye to his parishioners this week, prior to his leaving for the Coast.

As usual, the Sunday dinner menu at the Cameron House continues to invite a goodly number from every part of this vicinity.

MOYIE CONCENTRATOR STARTS TO WORK ON TREATING TAILINGS

The wheels of the new concentrator at Moyie started to grind several days ago, thus consummating one more phase in the vast and continent-wide activities of the Consolidated company. C. T. Oughtred and H. W. Poole, officials of the Sullivan concentrator, were on hand getting things started. The operating staff of the Moyie mill was augmented by the arrival from Chapman Camp of John Ellis and Bill and Jack Patterson. The mill will handle about 500 tons of original feed per day.

YAHK NOTES

The government road crew, under road foreman Albert Barnhardt, have now moved camp from Glenlilly to the old Healey place, half way between Glenlilly and Kingsgate. During the past two weeks, this gang of workmen have done a great deal of improvement to the Glenlilly-Kingsgate road, having widened it in several places, also gravelled a considerable stretch of it. The local motorists using this particular piece of road are speaking highly of the excellent work done by road foreman Albert Barnhardt and his gang of workmen.

Mrs. John Lorenzo and family, of Yahk, were visitors to Erickson the latter part of the week.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Sawyer, old-timers of Kingsgate, returned last week from Florida, where they have been spending the winter months. They have now rented the old R. C. M. P. house at Kingsgate for one month only, as it is their intention after visiting their numerous friends in the Cranbrook district, to return South, to the land of perpetual sunshine.

A good baseball game was witnessed at Yahk last Sunday afternoon between the Yahk team and the Creston team, the final score being 12-11 in favor of Yahk. With a victory over Lumberton last week and now this victory over Creston to their credit, the Yahk residents now not only feel sure, but know, that they have a baseball team worthy of their best support, and a team that is likely to make a good name for itself before the ball season is much older.

Jimmie Dickson, of Yahk, left last Tuesday for Cranbrook, where he will make his home in the future.

Mr. E. Home, C.P.R. mill and camp superintendent, left last Tuesday on an extended visit to the Coast.

The beer parlor at the New Hotel, Yahk, is now having a new arrangement of seating accommodation made for its parlors, a number of new classy curved benches having recently been made by the local carpenter, Mr. Williams, for the above purpose.

How Kimberley Will Celebrate

Bonners Ferry Baseball Team Will Be There As One Attraction

COMMITTEES WORK HARD

Kimberley's Dominion Day celebration will be the best of its kind ever pulled off in South Eastern British Columbia if the energy of the executive is any indication.

The various committees are already planning with the determination that nothing may be overlooked which might add to the pleasure of the occasion and its financial success.

Following are some of the important items which will be on the card for the great day:

Morning parade with band and other attractions of especial interest to the children.

The executive has been fortunate enough to secure a game of baseball with the famous team of Bonner's Ferry, and, in addition, there will be football, lacrosse, foot races and numerous novelty features.

In the evening there will be a big dance. This will be held on an open air pavilion which will be erected for the occasion, and will occupy a portion of the school grounds. For those who do not dance, there will be booths and other attractions. These and other features for the day are being worked out by the numerous committees and will be further considered at a joint meeting of all committees.

Provisions are being made at the hotels, boarding houses and restaurants to handle the biggest crowd ever known at any one place in East Kootenay. The C. P. R. will be prepared to handle the eager visitors who will come in from practically all the points along the Crow's Nest, and from Trail, Rossland and other places in the boundary district. Quite a number of people from many of these places have already notified friends here that they will be at Kimberley on the 1st of July.

Motor Ambulance for Kimberley

The new C. M. & S. Co. ambulance for use in Kimberley arrived from Calgary last week. It embodies the latest features for this type of conveyance, and is built on a Dodge chassis. The ambulance was supplied through F. H. Dezall's Garage, Cranbrook, the Dodge dealers in this district. The new car was taken to Kimberley on Friday last.

CHILDREN TAKE PLEASURE FROM ANIMAL SHOW

The following testimonial given to Prof. Utell in connection with his animal show which he puts on, shows that his show is appreciated for the educational value it has, as well as the actual interest in the show itself.

STATE CUSTODIAL SCHOOL
June 7th, 1921

Professor J. Utell,
Medical Lake, Washington.

My Dear Professor:

I wish to give myself the pleasure of telling you how much we appreciate your exhibition in our auditorium last night. Five hundred of our children were literally carried away by the delightful performance What a joy it must be to you to take your dogs and other animals before the children of small communities who are usually deprived of opportunity to see what can be done by the kindly patient training you have given to your animals. Our children are better today because of what they saw last night. Do not fail to call the next time you are within reach of this institution.

Faithfully yours,
LILBURN MERRILL,
Superintendent.

Prof. Utell is to visit the schools on Friday with his wonderful trained monkey, and the children will thus be able to get acquainted with some of the accomplishments of the animals in the show which is to be given on Saturday at the Auditorium.

Not To Build Smelter

A very optimistic article published in the Nelson News a few days ago and emanating apparently from a Vancouver source, gave out that the Porcupine Goldfields Development Co owning the Stemwinder and North Star mines at Kimberley were intending to finance the erection of a smelter at Nelson for a string of Kootenay properties it was intended to acquire. While this no doubt would be welcome intelligence to the people of the lake city, E. R. Crawford, of Kimberley, and a representative of the company, has sent to the Nelson News a letter giving out that their statement has no ground of fact, and that the information upon which it was based was erroneous.

The GOLDEN COCOON by RUTH CROSS

SYNOPSIS

Molly Shannon, of a poor cotton-picking family of northern Texas, won a scholarship at the State University and is now in her sophomore year. She is boarding at the home of Mrs. Parker, a kindly soul who is helping to make her life enjoyable. One day a well-dressed stranger calls who makes a peculiar impression on the girl. She thinks him a bill collector at first, but he proves to be a prospective boarder. Molly's heart is set fluttering.

"Oh, by the way, you haven't told me your name. I dare say Mrs. Parker gave you mine . . . ?" Again that disturbing smile, which seemed to say more than he had said. "Molly . . ." he echoed after her, "Molly Shannon—um-m, that's pretty Irish, isn't it?"

"The name is. I'm not—so very much."

"I see . . ." He leaned forward, hands clasped along the table edge, the ingenuous smile still in his eyes. "Now suppose you tell me all about yourself!"

Molly gasped and started to laugh—uncertainly. The situation was saved by Mrs. Parker, who bobbed into the room at that moment with a tray of piping-hot waffles. Her glance darted from Molly's carmine cheeks to the new boarder with the alert motion of a kindly, designing little woodpecker. If all women are matchmakers, Mrs. Parker was woman to the tips of her stubby, hard-working fingers. She was an ardent and incurable believer in matrimony. No sooner had she clapped eyes on Mr. Stephen Renfro and deduced by a subtle process all her own that he was a bachelor, than she had him figuratively roped and thrown. Molly was poor, ambitious, not unattractive. Here was a handsome, prosperous-looking man right to your hand, as it were—six weeks, no competition, boredom, propinquity. What more could anybody ask?

Mr. Stephen Renfro was, it developed in the course of time, an efficiency expert for colleges. He had been engaged at a very high salary, as college salaries go, to put the university on its feet, financially and otherwise. He was to conduct a state-wide publicity campaign.

Renfro possessed an eloquent tongue, a ready pen, a more than facile wit. He had had several years' successful experience in this kind of work. He had lived in pretty much every section of the country, but he was a native of Georgia—a fact of which he, in common with the entire population of that convict-settled state, was inordinately proud. One saw at a glance too, that he came of one of those time-honored "first families" which seem to have spawned so prolifically in the old-line Southern states.

At all events, he was a new species to Molly, and she looked with respect and awe upon his incredible list of attainments. One day when he had tarried longer than usual after dinner and Mrs. Parker made some artful pretext for leaving them alone together, she confessed hesitatingly that she was trying to write. He had a trick of jarring loose one's most jealously guarded secrets like that, without trying to—or caring in the least after he had done so.

He gave her a whimsical, confusing stare, prolonged while he took the last three puffs from his cigar and squashed the glowing butt thoughtfully against the ash tray. Then, "God pity you, my child," he said slowly and distinctly. The humorous quirk to the left corner of his mouth was more than usually pronounced.

CHAPTER VI

Perfection can endure at best but for a season. Molly was not yet adept enough in life to know that this is as it should be—inevitable and beneficient. On the morning of the thirty-first day of August she came downstairs simultaneously with a loud, thrice-repeated ring at the door bell. Before she could reach the foot of the stairs, Stephen Renfro, who was just entering the hall, had taken the yellow envelope from the boy and signed for it. He advanced toward Molly, his face a little graver than was its custom.

"I hope it's nothing serious," he said, as he put it into her hand.

"For me . . .?" Molly had never received a telegram in her life, and she turned it over several times dazedly before it occurred to her to open it. She was standing on the next step to the bottom, and Renfro's handsome, concerned face was almost on a level with hers. "Oh . . . !" The monosyllable seemed pressed from her by some force outside; she was not conscious of having uttered it.

"It's my father—he's dead. They want me to come . . . ." She looked about with some vague idea that she must have her hat . . . .

The next moment Renfro had her by both elbows, was steering her toward the parlor. He was, as usual, late to breakfast, and the others had come and gone. Molly, sitting bolt upright on the sofa where he had left her, heard him go quickly to the back of the house where Mrs. Parker was. She read the telegram again. It was from her Aunt Lena. It said suddenly. Perhaps the lumbago had gotten him, after all—some complication. Her mother needed her. She must go, of course, but there was not one word about money for her fare. Mrs. Parker let her have it. She could, she insisted stoutly, if not very convincingly, spare it just as well as not, Molly was to take her own time about paying it back. Molly knew that the next day was the first and that the tradesmen were already beating at the doors, but there was no choice. She must not fail her mother now; she had stayed away far too long as it was. Such were the miserable straits and pinches to which poverty could reduce.

Molly had small tolerance for the mawkish affectation of blotting out a man's sins because he was dead, of pretending to be sorry when one was not sorry. Her father had been a lazy, self-indulgent visionary, and she despised him from the bottom of her heart. She despised him just as intensely now as she had two days ago or two years ago. She sat with dry eyes and tightly compressed lips while Elder Day read without comment the brief ceremony. It was his comfortable rule, where nothing good could be said of the deceased, to refrain from saying anything at all.

She despised her father still, and yet there was this thing—death. The new dignity and aloofness it imparted, the undeserved touch of sublimity to the meanest, the most ignoble . . .

"In my Father's house are many mansions . . . . I go to prepare a place for you . . . that where I am there ye may be also . . . ."

The familiar words fell with startling strangeness upon the hushed silence. Perhaps that was what did it—breathed majesty and splendor upon this most repulsive of human functions—the naked beauty of the words, the noble, onward speed of the rhythm.

"Let not your heart be troubled; neither let it be afraid . . . ."

There were words stretched forth like a hand of healing—an anodyne for the wretchedness of living. Marvelous that mere combinations of syllables could speak straight to the soul like that, could soothe and comfort and make of peace.

"I am the resurrection and the life." (Elder Day droned on his monotonous singsong), "he that be*lieveth in me, though he were dead*, yet shall he live. And whosoever liveth and believeth in me shall never die."

Molly realized of a sudden that tears were hot on her cheeks, and she dashed them away. They were not for her father, she clung stubbornly to that. They were a tribute to ultimate perfection in the symbol of language, to the mystic, incandescent point where words meet—and become—music . . . .

CHAPTER VII

"Molly, has Cynthias told you—about Jo?"

She turned from the sewing machine to find the shy brown eyes fixed a little doubtfully on her. She glanced at Cynthia, grown in two years amazingly pretty and, to her wistful, half-envy, exquisitely plump, and saw that she was blushing and looking very self-conscious. "What about Jo?" she asked, still unsuspecting.

The girl threw up her pretty blond head. "Jo an' me are going to get married, come October," she said. Words and gesture were not without a tinge of defiance; echo, no doubt, of honest Jo's refusal the evening before to say that he had never really loved Molly at all.

STATUS OF LABOR ORGANIZATIONS IN CANADA FOR 1926

Report Published by the Department of Labor Shows Increases

According to the fifteenth annual report on labor organization in Canada, being for the calendar year 1925, which has just been issued by the Department of Labor, the trade unions operating in the Dominion consist of the following groups: (1) local branches of international craft organizations having headquarters in the United States; (2) local branches of the Industrial Workers of the World, with headquarters in Chicago; (3) One Big Union, an international industrial body, with headquarters in Winnipeg; (4) non-in*ternational craft organizations*, with headquarters in Canada; (5) independent trade union units, and (6) national and Catholic unions. The international crafts union group, although losing 43 branches and 17,908 members, occupies first place as to numerical strength, having 1985 branches with a combined membership of 172,573. The Industrial Workers of the World maintained its six branches, with a reported membership of 10,000, a loss of 1,500. The report from the One Big Union, which is the first received direct since 1919, the year of its formation, shows the organization to have 53 local units in the Dominion with a combined membership of 17,256.

The figures indicate that there are 2,494 branches of all classes of unions operating in Canada, with a combined reported and estimated membership of 271,064, an increase of 65 in branches and a gain of 10,421 in members. The membership of all classes of organized labor bodies in Canada, as reported to the Department for the past fifteen years has been as follows:

1911	133,132
1912	160,129
1913	175,799
1914	166,163
1915	143,343
1916	160,407
1917	204,630
1918	248,887
1919	378,047
1920	373,842
1921	313,320
1922	276,621
1923	278,092
1924	260,643
1925	271,064

Union Membership by Provinces

The 2,494 local branch unions of all classes in the Dominion are divided by provinces as follows: Ontario, 1,009; Quebec, 444; British Columbia, 246; Alberta, 225; Saskatchewan, 172; Manitoba, 151; Nova Scotia, 131; New Brunswick, 105; Prince Edward Island, 11.

Trade Union Membership

Montreal, as usual, stands in first place with 186 local branch unions, 107 of which reported 36,070 members; Toronto ranks second with 132 branches, 101 of which reported 22,246 members; Vancouver occupies third place with 89 branches, 74 of which reported 20,124 members; and Winnipeg is fourth with 87 branches, 60 of which reported 7,909 members.

Other Interesting Features

In addition to the statistics published the report contains much interesting matter concerning the various labor organizations with which the Canadian organized workers are either directly or indirectly identified, and also gives much general information as to their more important activities. A chapter of the report is devoted to revolutionary organizations, in which reference is made to the opposition which the old established trade unions are offering to communist activities in North America. As a directory of labor unions the volume is very complete, giving particulars of every known local trade union in the Dominion, and also lists of central organizations and delegate bodies, together with the names and addresses of the chief executive officers for the year 1926.

A place is given in the report to organizations composed of school teachers, commercial travellers, government employees and other wage-earners, which, though not identified with the organized labor movement, are considered to be of sufficient importance to warrant reference being made to them. The associations in this group number 73, the combined reported membership of which is 90,488.

Dandruff Goes! Hair Gets Thick, Wavy, Beautiful

Save your hair! Dandruff disappears and hair stops coming out.

Within ten minutes after an application of Danderine you can not find a single trace of dandruff. One application dissolves every particle of dandruff; invigorates the scalp, stops itching and falling hair.

Furthermore Danderine is to the hair what fresh showers of rain and sunshine are to vegetation. It goes right to the roots, invigorates and strengthens them. Its exhilarating, stimulating and life-producing properties cause the hair to grow strong and beautiful.

Bobbed hair has made the girls aware of the dangerous effects of unsightly dandruff which is now more apparent than ever since the hair is short.

Danderine is a sure way to get rid of dandruff and immediately doubles the beauty of your hair. The effect is amazing—your hair will be light, fluffy and wavy, and have an appearance of abundance; an incomparable lustre, softness nd luxuriance.

Get a small bottle of Danderine from any drug store or toilet counter for a few cents and keep that dandruff out of your hair and off your shoulders.

THIS IS THE PROPER WAY TO SHEAR A SHEEP

The pictures, with printed instructions illustrate and describe briefly a system of shearing sheep that has been developed by the thousands of professional shearers of America and Australia.

While slight modifications in the directing of the strokes taken with the shear are made by different shearers, the beginner should follow the instructions as closely as possible.

INTERESTING GOLDEN WEDDING CELEBRATION IS HELD AT BRANDON

J. F. Scott Present at Family Reunion Held There On May 24th

Saturday last Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Scott and family returned from Brandon, where a pleasing two weeks' holiday had been spent.

The main purpose of the trip to Mr. Scott's old home city, was to be in attendance at the golden wedding celebration of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. D. H. Scott. The event was a happy one, at which four sons and three daughters were present, together with a number of friends. The christening of the infant son of Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Scott of this city was an interesting feature of the gathering.

The Brandon Sun of Monday, May 24th, has the following to say in regard to the event:

Today a noted family gathering took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. D. H. Scott. The re-union was in celebration of the golden wedding of that well-known citizen and his wife. Twenty-seven guests assembled, all members of the family, and including nine grand children. One grandchild, the son of J. F. Scott, of Cranbrook, B.C., was christened during the course of the happy assembly at the family residence at 808 Louise avenue. All the surviving children of the celebrants were present, and the entire procedure was a strictly family celebration in keeping with the rather unusual occasion. It was, of course, also Victoria Day.

David Hunter Scott was married to Annie J. Lipsett at Meadow Lea, Man., on the 24th of May, 1876. Mrs. Scott, who was born in 1854, was a daughter of Robert Lipsett, one of the pioneers of Meadow Lea. Mr. Scott was born in Brampton, Ont., February 9th, 1851. His father was a pioneer settler in Peel county, having gone there from Ireland in 1828 and residing there until his death at nearly 95 years of age. Mr. Scott himself came to Manitoba in 1873, and took up a homestead at Meadow Lea. He was a progressive farmer there until 1885, when he became an implement agent in Winnipeg. He continued in that business until 1892, when he came to Brandon to manage a local newspaper, the Brandon Times. In 1896 he founded the present business and built up a leading position as a real estate and insurance interest, which is still maintained under the same name of D. H. Scott & Son.

Mrs. Scott has largely confined her pleasures to the family and to church work as a member of the Methodist church. There were ten children in the family, two of whom, Josiah, A. and Reginald, J., gave their lives for the cause in the Great War. Another son, William J., is also dead. D. H. Scott has two hobbies, one is the family and the other flowers. It is doubtful if there is a greater lover and cultivator of horticulture in this garden city. Both of the golden wedding celebrants are popular and highly respected citizens of Brandon, and are now being showered with good wishes and congratulations on their activity, as well as the happy event in their life history.

The children of the happy couple assembled today for the golden wedding celebration are John Frederick Scott, of Cranbrook, B.C.; Dr. Robert Wesley Scott, of Winnipeg; Harry, associated with his father in the business here; Mrs. C. Heise and Mrs. A. Ferguson, of Brandon; Mrs. Bawtenheimer, of Niagara Falls, Ont., and Miss Lily G. Scott, of Brandon. D. H. Scott is still a keen student of political questions and, as well, has an interest in fraternal circles. Thirty years in the business have not dulled his activities in any sense or direction and age has not dimmed his local or national interest at all. Mr. and Mrs. Scott's family are proud of them and are taking every opportunity in showing it.

KIMBERLEY WILL JOIN IN DISTRICT LACROSSE LEAGUE

A meeting took place at Kimberley last Wednesday evening to discuss the advisability of forming a junior lacrosse league in the district.

Messrs. Art Wallace and G. P. Simpson of this place were present, having driven up with Mr. Paterson.

Mr. Wallace informed the meeting that the Native Sons of Cranbrook had put up a cup for competition by the junior teams of the district, and intimated that Kimberley would be welcomed as competitors; he further stated that 14 medals will be presented with the cup.

Mr. Wallace further mentioned the success attending the organization of junior lacrosse in the Key City and gave valuable hints as to the management of such teams; he also stated that Cranbrook expects to send a team there on July 1st.

Accepting Cranbrook's offer, it was decided to play a friendly game at Lindsay Park next Friday, June 4, at 7 o'clock.

A friendly spirit pervaded the gathering, which should result in the revival of Canada's national sport in our midst.

ONLY A COUPLE OF DAYS MORE

race—anybody who has exerted every effort during the period of its duration.

Finish Triumphantly

Just a few more hours in which to win or lose!

Candidates cannot stop for even a fleeting moment!

Friends should do everything to conserve the power of their favorite candidate and render them all the assistance possible.

Bear in mind that prizes worth hundreds of dollars are hinging on these vital moments.

Are you going to be the one to finish triumphantly with an overwhelming number of credits?

Everybody in the Kootenay region is watching the Herald's famous campaign, waiting and wondering who will come out the winner of winners and be proclaimed the most popular person in all the Kootenay region.

Must Work Now

There is no need to say much in these columns today, in an effort to urge candidates to action. Suffice it is to say that the race is close and that any candidate who does not do his or her utmost this week cannot hope to win big.

We feel that we know our candidates by now, and we are quite certain that the "live" ones will make every effort to make this week their very biggest week. The ambitious candidate will not lay down on the job now that the end is so near. The ones who do slacken their pace this week will, undoubtedly, be the ones to mourn next week, while the REAL workers and stickers will be enjoying their splendid prizes.

It is nothing unusual, in campaigns of this kind, for some candidates to produce more business in the last week than they have produced in the entire campaign up to the closing week.

Public interest has risen to a point where subscriptions should be very easy to get this last week. Many people who have not yet subscribed, will, if properly approached, be easy to "sell" this week. Your friends cannot refuse now, when just one or two subscriptions may mean the difference between a big prize and a cash commission.

Closing Rules

Some important regulations regarding the close of the campaign are announced in today's issue. All candidates should thoroughly familiarize themselves with the details. No subscriptions will be accepted through the campaign department this period, but the final collections of the candidates will be deposited in a sealed ballot box. This arrangement assures absolute fairness to every worker, as no one, not even the campaign manager, will know the credit strength of any candidate. Special attention is called to paragraph number five of the regulations:

1. The campaign will close promptly at 8 p.m., Saturday, June 5th. Candidates in the Herald office at that hour will be allowed time to complete their final reports.

2. Each candidate will place his or her subscriptions, with remittance to cover, in an envelope, seal it, with candidate's name on outside, and deposit it in the sealed ballot box. This ensures absolute secrecy to every worker.

3. The ballot box will not be opened until after all the candidates have completed their final report and departed from the Herald office.

4. No more subscriptions will be accepted for credits after the ballot box has been opened for the final count.

5. Put only cash, drafts, money orders, or certified cheques in the ballot box. Personal cheques will be accepted up to $10, but not more than one cheque signed by the same person. This ruling is a protection to all candidates in the campaign. The best worker wins without fear or favor.

THERE IS TIME TO WIN—BUT THERE IS NO TIME TO LOSE.

Many Cars In Kimberley

Evidence of the prosperity of Kimberley should be found in the fact that 290 automobile licenses have been issued from the local police office since January 1st.

Presbyterians At Kimberley

The Presbyterian mission board has sent Mr. Roberts to represent the Presbyterian Church of Canada at Kimberley. A place to worship in has not been definitely arranged, but the K. P. Hall there has been made available for a short time. It is hoped that interest will be shown so that more definite arrangements may be made for the future. The Presbyterian mission board wish it understood that there is at present no local obligation, the board assuming all financial responsibility. At the same time whatever local assistance can be shown will be welcome.

An announcement appeared in an issue of the Calgary Herald last week of the death which took place at Kelowna recently, of Miss Bessie Cann, daughter of a well known Fort Steele family, and a granddaughter of Chas. Mair, well known Canadian poet. The late Miss Cann was well known to the older residents of Fort Steele and vicinity, and at the time of her death was about thirty years of age.

Mr. H. McRae arrived in the city from the coast the beginning of this week to take the position on the city police force as night constable, which was offered him following a meeting of the police commissioners on Thursday evening of last week. There were a host of applications for the position. Mr. McRae was on the Winnipeg police force for several years, and has also had some experience with the C.P.R. police work. He commenced his duties here on Tuesday night, and the salary decided upon by the police commission is $125 per month. This brings the city police force up to its former strength of three.

For prompt repairs and satisfaction go to Ratcliffe & Stewart's garage. 20tf

Constable S. Saunders, recently provincial police officer stationed here, has returned to the city for a few days. He has resigned from the provincial police and expects to locate shortly at the Coast, probably on Vancouver Island, and establish himself in business there. He was recently transferred from this city to Elko and Waldo, and did not find the arrangements and accommodations in connection with the transfer to his liking. He has thirteen or fourteen years standing with the provincial police, and also served in the war, during which time he was wounded, but was able to resume his work with the police. Mrs. Saunders and family will be remaining here till after the close of the school term.

For the latest magazines and papers call at the Rex Cafe, near depot. 1tf

Miss Hasel, who last year conducted a Sunday-School-by-post van to interior points in British Columbia, returned recently from a visit to England, where she has been lecturing and by other means raising funds to continue the work. For this season a new van is being built, and in the interval Miss Hasel will visit various Womens' Auxiliaries of the Church of England, explaining the nature of her work. She expects a little later to pay a visit to the Kootenay districts.

Tuesday evening a number of the members of the official board of the United Church met at the church, where the retiring pastor, Rev. B. C. Freeman, previous to his departure for the Coast, was presented with a purse containing a hundred dollars. During the past week Mr. and Mrs. Freeman and family have been the guests of honor at many functions throughout the city, through which they will carry away with them not only the memory of many expressions of regret occasioned by their going, but as well many tangible tokens thereof.

J. Whittaker, of the C.P.R. staff here, left on Wednesday for Vancouver and other Coast points to enjoy a three weeks' leave of absence.

Delegates from the Odd Fellows' lodges of this city and Kimberley will be leaving this week to attend the sessions of the grand lodge, which takes place in Vernon commencing on Tuesday of next week. Key City Lodge is sending two delegates, Bros. W. S. Johnston and R. W. Leonard, and the former has also been appointed the delegate from Durham Encampment to the Grand Encampment meeting. He left on Wednesday, expecting to spend a few day en route, at Edgewood and Lumby. Fred Willis has been appointed a delegate from Sullivan Lodge, Kimberley, and will be motoring over, taking with him Bro. Leonard from this city. Sister Mary West has been appointed the delegate from Maple Leaf Rebekah lodge, and Sister E. G. Dingley will also accompany her to Vernon. They expect to leave the end of this week.

Owing to the departure of Major and Mrs. Hicks from the city we have been instructed to dispose of their fine residential property on Martin Avenue, consisting of a two-storied, fully modern House and three Lots. Beautiful garden — splendidly located.

Price and terms on application.
