Good Show by Local Ladies

Rebekah Lodge Makes Big Hit With Performance at Auditorium

One of the brightest local talent performances, and unique in that it was very largely put on by ladies, was the concert in the Auditorium Tuesday evening. It was staged by the members of the Maple Leaf Rebekah Lodge, and not being exactly in the nature of a public function, the big crowd present proved the popularity of the performance and its auspices.

Much of the detail in connectoin with the stage arrangements had been in the capable hands of W. S. Johnston, to whom a good deal of credit for the success of the performance is due, and he was ably backed up by other members of the lodge, including Mrs. W. Wolfer, Mrs. W. M. Patton and others, whose original work showed up in the verses made up for some of the choruses. The natty costumes had just the right degree of the bizarre to them to enhance the singing, and the result was an encore to almost every number, and requests to repeat the performance in the future. Mr. Frank Woods, at the piano, did good work as the accompanist, adding not a little to the success of the evening.

The chorus opened the program with a song containing some amusing allusions to some of its members, and closed with a clever adaptation, "The Maple Leaf Rebekahs," in which a large maple leaf emblem was surmounted by arms forming the well-known three links. They also supplied the chorus for the darky trio, Mrs. Pantling, Mrs. Dalziel and Miss Lewis, who sang "Gin, Gin, Ginny Shore," and had to respond with some more. The soloists of the evening were Mrs. McCallum, Miss E. Miller, Miss Grace Higgins and Miss Ethel Clapp, who all did well, Miss Higgins adding a happy touch to her solo by some clever dancing. Mrs. A. Pantling gave an impersonation of Vesta Tilley with a comic song, which proved one of the cleverest on the program. A little matter of "Eleven Dollars" was the cause of an amusing dialogue between Messrs. Johnston and Doodson, which was also very well put on.

The second part of the program consisted of a farce in one act, "A Pretty Kettle of Fish," in which many ludicrous situations were caused by trying to conceal past marriages and relationships, and mistaking identities. There was endless fun in the entanglements of Mike Dooley and his grown-up daughter, and Mrs. Dooley and her grown up son. Mary and Thomas, of the household; and in the predicaments of Ikey Levi, the obliging friend who kindly undertakes to untangle things, but gets very badly entangled himself. The acting was very good, and there was no more doubt as to the success of this part of the program than of the first part.

Those participating in the farce were: Ikey Levi (an obliging man) G. Sinclair; Mike Dooley, R. Leonard; Mrs. Dooley, Mrs. W. Wolfer; Thomas (the butler) W. S. Johnston; Mary (a maid) Mrs. H. Brown; Honora, (Mike's daughter) Miss Clapp; Pat Mason (Mrs. Dooley's son) F. Doodson; Tim Donovan, (Mary's guardian), A. Burch; Officer McManus (a policeman) R. Burch.

Following the entertainment a very successful dance was held, at which the floor was so well occupied that there was no room for any more, and there were as many more spectators. Robinson's Orchestra provided the music, and introduced some new numbers to good effect. Refreshments were served about midnight, which was no light undertaking in view of the crowd in attendance.

It has not yet been announced what arrangements have been made for a repeat performance, if this is to be given.

M. A. Beale and R. J. Huffman took in the hockey games at Nelson this week. Mr. Beale states that the boys are deserving of great credit for the game they put up.

DEATH OF KINGSGATE LADY AT HOSPITAL ON MONDAY LAST

Mrs. Thos. Bates Succumbs Following Effects of Stroke Two Months Ago

A losing battle to regain health and strength came to an end on Monday of this week, when Mrs. Esther Bates, wife of Thomas Bates, customs collector of Kingsgate, passed away at the St. Eugene Hospital. She suffered a stroke on the 14th of December, and was never able to rally from its effects. On the 10th of January she was brought to the hospital, and in spite of every ministration that could be done for her, she gradually sank, till the end came on Monday. The cause of death was heart trouble, arising as a complication from the effects of the stroke she suffered. It had been seen that her condition was becoming critical last week-end, and Mr. Bates was summoned to return to the city at that time, and also Mr. and Mrs. R. P. Johnson, the latter a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bates.

Born in England, the late Mrs. Bates was in her 48th year. She had resided in the district since 1907, when the family came from Burnley, England. They lived first at Moyie for a time, later removing to Kingsgate. In addition to the bereaved husband and daughter here, there is another son still at Burnley, England, and her mother, brother and sister, and other relatives also survive in the Old Land. She had a number of warm friends in this city and district, who held her in real esteem, and who speak of her passing in terms of sincere regret.

The funeral took place on Thursday afternoon, Rev. F. V. Herrison, rector of Christ Church, conducting the services. Soon after two o'clock the cortege left the church for the Anglican cemetery, where interment was made. The pall bearers were Messrs. Wm. Neil, L. P. Jecks, Ed. Ratcliffe, J. Fennessey, O'Hearn and R. Griffin. There were many flowers in evidence of sympathy and esteem, from the following: Family, pillow; Mr. and Mrs. Reg. Johnson, wreath; Friends from Kingsgate, heart; Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Smith, wreath; Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Fink and family, spray; Friends from Eastport, star; Mr. and Mrs. Wells, spray; Mr. and Mrs. Linnell, spray; Mr. and Mrs. D. Wilson, spray; Mr. and Mrs. A. Mueller and family, wreath; Mrs. Ben Bartholomew and Mrs. J. Reekie, spray; Mr. and Mrs. W. Steward, spray; Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Selby, spray; Mr. and Mrs. G. Warren, Yahk, wreath; Mr. and Mrs. Flewelling, spray; Mr. and Mrs. J. Fennessey, spray; Anna, Irving, Emil, Elwood, Katherine and Myrtle Sims, spray; Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Jecks and family, spray; Mr. and Mrs. D. A. Burton, spray.

CARD OF THANKS

Mr. Thomas Bates and family wish to thank the sisters and nurses of the St. Eugene Hospital, and all friends in Cranbrook and Kingsgate for their kindness and sympathy during the illness annd death of Mrs. Bates.

WOMEN'S INSTITUTE

The monthly meeting will be held in the G.W.V.A. Hall as usual, on Tuesday next, March 6th.

Members are again reminded that this is the date Mrs. (Dr.) Miles has kindly consented to be present. Each one, therefore, is requested to attend and bring a friend to share in the interest and enjoyment of the afternoon's proceedings.

The programme will also contain musical selections. No definite steps were taken at the last session re the continuing of millinery classes, the number of would-be entrants not being sufficient to warrant the average attendance necessary.

To give any absentees a chance of joining it is purposed to deal with this again at above date in the hope that the number may be raised, so as to resume business at once, as an efficient instructress can be secured as heretofore.

FOREIGN MISSIONARY SECRETARY SPEAKS AT KNOX CHURCH SUNDAY

On Sunday evening the congregation of Knox Presbyterian Church listened to a most interesting address from Miss E. Mitchell, field secretary for the Women's Foreign Missionary Society of the Presbyterian Church. Miss Mitchell stated she felt that the work was one of the whole church, and while the work of the women was meeting with wonderful success still there was much to be done, and they were eager to get women to help.

The Society needed more support. There were girls who had graduated and were willing to take up foreign work, but there were no funds to send them.

Miss Mitchell cited some very interesting incidents in connection with the work of the missionaries in various parts of the home and foreign field. Mention was made of the good being done by the teaching of the Bible to new settlers. There the Bible was taught while, in the public schools of to-day no Bible instruction was given. It was also a pitiable thing that so little instruction was given in the homes, Miss Mitchell thought.

NEW MUSICAL ORGANIZATION IS FORMED IN CITY SUNDAY LAST

Under the title of "The Clef Club" a new musical organization has been formed in the city. The membership is limited to twelve, and they will present concert programs to the public from time to time, along the lines of the two which have been given on recent Sunday evenings at the Star Theatre. W. A. Burton is the president of the club, F. G. Novak the musical director and J. K. Chorlton secretary-treasurer. Rehearsals are taking place now for the next concert to be given at the Star Theatre on a week night later on in the month.

INTERNAL AFFAIRS CONSIDERED BY THE CITY COUNCIL

Discuss Salaries Paid and Duties Covered by Civic Employees

A special meeting of the council as a committee to consider the matter of the salaries paid to city employees and the scope of the various offices was held on Thursday evening in the council chamber.

The councilors were all furnished with a report on each civic employee, giving his salary and duties. The case of each employee was taken up, and every one thoroughly considered. One noticeable feature of the investigation was the fact that the efficiency of none of the employees was ever in question. The only debateable point was whether a reduction in the remuneration paid for the service rendered should be made. All of course were not of the same opinion on the cases considered, several lively tilts between the aldermen adding spice to the proceedings. On the whole the meeting was worth while, as it gave the aldermen an opportunity of knowing something of the cost of carrying on the city affairs.

The list of salaries is given below. In regard to the number of men in the Electrical Department, it was pointed out that they did other work, and were kept constantly employed, the idea being that the city would be in a position to avail themselves of their services in the event of the necessity of starting up the old steam plant again. After the completion of the Power Company's auxiliary plant at Elko the danger of a shut down would be removed, when the matter of the reduction of the staff could be considered. In the discussion the wages paid by the city of Fernie were cited by Alderman Bronsdon, who had personal letters from the mayors of Fernie and Nelson on the subject.

In regard to the city clerk's duties it was decided to add to them the duties of secretary to the School Board, but for the same salary.

In regard to the city office it was suggested that arrangements might be made whereby the office could be open during the noon hour to accommodate those who only had that time to transact business there. Mr. Roberts thought that this could be easily arranged.

The report submitted to the aldermen showed the following salaries paid:

City Clerk: T. M. Roberts; $200 per month. City clerk, treasurer, pay master, assessor and collector.

Assistant to City Clerk: $100 per month. In charge of water, light, and tax rolls.

Superintendent of Electric Light and Power, also Water Works Superintendent: R. C. Eakin. Mr. Eakin's salary for the combined positions is

BOARD OF TRADE ANNUAL MEETING IS HELD

Commissioner Spaulding Gives Address on Tourist Prospects For The Year

OFFICERS RE-ELECTED

Speakers Optimistic As To Outlook For The Coming Year In This District

With an attendance approximately double that of last year the twelfth annual meeting of the Cranbrook Board of Trade held at the City Hall on Monday night was a marked success. Not alone on account of the number present was the attendance satisfactory, but also on account of the varied interests represented.

After the reading of the minutes of the last annual meeting, which were duly confirmed, the president, Mr. J. P. Fink, in a few well chosen words expressed pleasure in seeing such a representative attendance, including the Mayor and representatives of the City Council, annd particularly Mr. J. F. Spaulding, Commissioner for the Southern Alberta and B.C. Tourist Association, the activities of which had meant a good deal for the welfare of Cranbrook and vicinity.

The president in his report, which is published herewith, expressed his appreciation of the co-operation of the various members of the executive, also of the good work and assistance of Mr. W. M. Harris, the former secretary, and of Mr. F. A. Small, the present secretary of the Board.

After reviewing the activities of the Board and the various results for the year, he said he thought they could look forward to the future with much confidence, having passed through the periods of adjustment and readjustment, and being now on the climb to better and more settled conditions.

Mr. F. Small then read his report as secretary-treasurer, which was adopted as read.

NEW TOURIST CAMP SITE

Mr. Beale, as chairman of the special committee that had been appointed to go into the matter of a new camp site, reported that several proposed locations had been inspected. 1.—The location across Fenwick Avenue from the new park site was considered unfavorable on account of dampness. 2.—The location at the head of Lumsden Avenue, which had been acquired by the School Board. 3.—The block owned by the C. P. R. across from the Mounted Police barracks, practically the only desirable location in many respects, was close to electric light annd water, was fairly level, and with a little improving could be made an excellent natural camping site.

In connection with the amount of land that would be required, it was considered that four lots with the street at the front and the lane at the rear would be a greater area than the old camp site. An estimated value of $400 was placed on these lots, but it was considered that a lease might be obtainable. Mr. W. R. Grubbe asked about the road leading to the site, and it was thought that the place would be easily found by the use of signs. On motion of Messrs. Grubbe and MacPherson the matter was left in the hands of the incoming executive.

The matter of the election of officers was deferred in order that all present might have an opportunity of hearing Mr. J. F. Spaulding, who had come down from Fernie to be present, reporting on the activities of the Tourist Association, and to offer suggestions and advice if desirable.

COMMISSIONER SPAULDING SPEAKS ON TOURISTS

Mr. Spaulding thanked the chairman for the courtesy extended to him and claimed that it was a privilege to address the Board of Trade of Cranbrook.

Mr. Spaulding then gave a brief outline of the Tourist Association since its inception, and the results achieved. The parents of the Association were the Boards of Trade of Cranbrook and Fernie. In 1918 and 1919 a few hundred pamphlets were issued. In 1920 through a co-operative campaign of the Associated Boards of Trade of South Eastern B.C. a thirty page descriptive and beautifully illustrated booklet was prepared and 10,000 distributed in the United States and Canada. In 1921 the Tourists Association of South Eastern B.C. and Southern Alberta was formed, comprising Lethbridge, Cardston, Fernie, Cranbrook, Windermere, Nelson, Trail, Grand Forks, Pincher Creek, MacLeod and Banff. This allowed of the issue of a forty page booklet, 15,000 of these being distributed all over the American continent in 1922.

The result of this advertising has been an ever increasing tourist travel from all parts of the continent. In 1922 Nelson withdrew from the Association, joining in with an association of cities in West Kootenay and the State of Washington, believing this move to be in their interests. To offset the loss of Nelson, Blairmore, Calgary and other places have come in. Recognizing the great value of the work of the Association, the C.P.R., the Provincial and Federal Governments have all assisted financially.

Mr. Spaulding laid special stress on the fact that sums of money collected from sources outside the Association last year paid all the overhead expenses, including the Commissioner's salary with the exception of $150, and that this year the money obtained from outside sources will more than cover all overhead expenses and leave a balance. In other words every cent of the subscriptions from the different members of the Association this year

GIRLS ORGANIZE FOR BIG HOSPITAL BALL ON EASTER MONDAY

A meeting was held on Monday eveningof this week at the home of the Misses Drummond, when preliminary arrangements were made to hold the annual hospital benefit dance in aid of the hospital, on Easter Monday. This is an annual event which has always been known as one of the big dances of the year, and now that an energetic crew of young ladies are again at work on it, it is safe to predict that success will crown their efforts.

LOCALS PUT UP A BIG FIGHT FOR McBRIDE HOCKEY TROPHY

The hockey boys returned from Nelson today, and while they did not bring back the McBride cup, they have done credit to Cranbrook in putting up two good clean games, only being beaten by Nelson's wonderful defence. The Nelson News says: "Cranbrook put up a wonderful exhibition, and up to the last nine minutes it was anybody's game. The entire second period was the visitors', their combination work and rushes sweeping the entire Nelson team off their feet."

"Dr. Huffman, the Cranbrook manager, stated that he considered that the best team had won, and that Nelson's defence was the best in amateur hockey to-day."

Nelson won both games, the first by a score of 4 to 1, the second by 4 to 2. The team representing Cranbrook were T. Hogarth, A. Batchelor, T. and H. Blumenauer, Dr. Huffman, B. Huffman, E. Hogarth and H. Bridges.

During this month the 1st and 2nd year Commercial Classes wrote off the final examinations in filing under a course supplied by the Office Specialty Company. The following students making over 75 per cent. qualified for certificates:—

Amy Stigant, 1st year	95%
Annie Johnson, 2nd year ...	94%
Reg. Parrett, 2nd year	81%
Mack Kirkland, 2nd year ...	79%
Gordon Armstrong, 2nd year	76%
Florence Bradley, 1st year..	75%

The names of those who were successful in passing in all subjects in the February examinations are announced.

The first year classes again show a very satisfactory record, while the number of passes in the second year is also encouraging. In both the first and second years, the number of successful pupils would undoubtedly have been greater if the epidemic of bad colds had not caused so many to be absent during examination time.

The Third Year and Commercial results are still most unsatisfactory. In the Matriculation Division seven only out of twenty-four who wrote the examinations have made a complete pass. With the end of the term less than four months away, the maximum of effort is required from all pupils. In order to obtain the desired results the parents, pupils and teachers must all work in close harmony. Each has a duty to perform, and one must help the other.

Parents, if you wish your children to accomplish a profitable year's work, it is your duty to see that your boy or girl studies at least one and a half hours a night. Some need more, but none can do with less. This is necessary in order that the work taught in the class room may be properly assimilated. Do it now—not a month or two weeks before the final examinations. W. C. WILSON, Principal.

President and Secretary of the Board of Trade Present Annual Reports

PRESIDENT'S REPORT

During the past year fourteen executive meetings have been held, and I wish to express my appreciation of the excellent attendance of the members of the executive and the cheerful manner they carried out the work allotted to them.

I also wish to thank Mr. Small for the good work and assistance rendered during the year, and I would like to include Mr. Harris who carried on until the appointment of Mr. Small.

During the year's routine many questions were dealt with, and I regret that we have not more evidence of the work done. We did obtain some results, and much more can be accomplished this year by closely following up the start already made. I think we did accomplish some good and we can justly claim some credit for the improvements made throughout the district.

At the beginning of the year we were very much handicapped by the resignation of Mr. Harris, whose services were invaluable, and it was some time before we were fortunate in securing the services of Mr. Small, and now he is resigning to accept the position of Government Agent.

Right here I wish to congratulate the Government of the Province on its selection of Mr. Small, because I am sure that if courtesy, efficiency and hard work count for anything, Cranbrook will have the best office in the Province.

The question of irrigation has been before the Board for a long time, with no result excepting a partial survey of St. Mary's Prairie. One reason for this is, I fear, too many people view this as an expenditure that will serve to increase taxes rather than an investment or loan that will be very profitable and will be repaid. I think the Board should give this special attention this year and try to get a good substantial start made, because in time we will have to depend more upon the land than we have in the past.

This Board endorsed a resolution presented by the Rod and Gun Club, asking that a fish hatchery be located in the Cranbrook district. I trust the Rod and Gun Club will not let this die, as it is an important thing for the district. I am sure they can count on the assistance of this Board.

We had a half page advertisement in a special edition of the Lethbridge Herald, in which we featured our lakes, streams and scenery, and believe we had some good results from this.

Mr. R. E. Beattie acted as our representative at the Canadian Good Roads Convention held at the Coast last June. Arrangements had been made to entertain a number of the delegates here on their return trip, but at the last minute decided not to return this way.

On June 28th this Board had the pleasure of entertaining quite a number of the members of the B. C. Dairymen's Association, who were returning from the Windermere, where their annual meeting was held. There were a number of excellent speakers, some of whom were well posted on irrigation problems, so that much good information was obtained.

On the evening of September 5th we had the pleasure of entertaining our old friend and townsman Hon. Dr. King, Dominion Minister of Public Works. We very much enjoyed the visit and am quite sure he did.

Mr. F. Guimont acted as our representative on a special delegation appointed by the Tourist Association to wait on the Provincial Government to urge the necessity of early attention and completion of the new main road from Wasa to Sheep Creek. Much good resulted from Mr. Guimont's trip and we appreciate his work and willingness to help us out.

The question of an ore testing plant for B.C. was discussed, and a resolution was forwarded to Hon. Dr. King urging the consideration of Cranbrook's claims. In his reply Dr. King promised his support to the interior, preferably Cranbrook. This should be followed up.

This Board has been much concerned with better passenger service for Kimberley. We have made some en-

THE GROWN-UP PROBLEM

A local boys' worker, speaking of conditions affecting the young people of the community, made a terse statement of the truth when he bluntly said that there was no such thing as a boy or girl problem—it's all a grown-up problem.

A remark of this kind is a scathing arraignment of the parents of to-day, but it is all too true. The boys and girls are sound and true at heart, but they drift—and whose fault is it? One day in the past week one of the boy organizations carrying on met with one man to lead the activities of fifty or sixty live wire boys, and that is beyond the power of any man to carry through properly.

Where there is little or no interest shown in what the boys and girls are doing, or what road they are travelling, they cannot be blamed for following their own devices, nor for the fact that they sometimes end up lamentably. But the pity of it is that while they are not to blame, they get the stigma in after years, while their parents wash their hands of it all.

That's the grown-up problem of to-day.

NOTES

If the 1922 city council want to make a name for themselves, one thing that would start them along the road to fame would be to have some of the roads graded down so that in the spring when the thaw comes all the water did not drain onto the sidewalks which are thereby made impassible, with the alternate freezing and thawing. In a city already provided with a sewerage system, it should not be an expensive matter to provide more surface drainage, making vastly improved conditions under foot on many of the streets.

The strictures of Kirkham of Lethbridge upon the deliberative methods of some Cranbrook rinks at the bonspiel, find some support from the Fernie Free Press. In quoting The Herald comments on Skip Kirkham's outburst, The Free Press adds:

"All fair minded curlers who attended the bonspiel will agree with Stanley Kirkham in his criticism of some of the Cranbrook curlers for the length of time they took to study out an end. When it takes three hours and a half to study out a game which should be played in two and a half hours, there is certainly some kick coming."

A patriotic organization in the town of Cardston has had placed in each of the fifteen rooms in the public school there a framed copy of the "Canadian Creed." This is a dignified and simple statement of national ideals and aspirations drawn up recently by the Knights of Pythias of Alberta. This is a practical patriotic move, and the framed creed will be constantly before the young citizens, as a reminder in season and out what it means to be a Canadian.

Farmer members of the Alberta legislature are out for a reduction in salaries, to include their own as legislators, ministers and deputies and the civil service in that province generally. Only last session the same legislature leaped into fame by sanctioning an indemnity of $250 for a special session which lasted exactly a week. Now the province of Alberta finds itself faced with a big deficit, and is trying to stop the leaks.

FROM THE VIEW-POINT OF OUR CONTEMPORARIES

IF GERMANY HAD WON

French methods of collecting indemnities may not appeal to certain interested people who appear to think that as France bore the brunt of the fighting during the war, France should also bear most of the burden that follows the war. But if Germany had won, would the Kaiser have been content with a peaceable collection of the reparations agreed to? Would Germany have left France saddled with only a financial defeat? France knows Germany better even than the pacifists who spend most of their time spreading German propaganda. And France, having once been dealt with by a German conqueror, knows best how to deal with a defeated Germany.

AN OPPORTUNITY FOR ECONOMY

A general transfer of energies in the Provincial Department of Railways has created another job and made a vacancy that is to be filled by A. L. Carruthers, who has been district engineer for the Department of Public Works in the north. Surely this would be an appropriate time to bring about welcome retrenchment. Inspection has been running riot. We have had Mr. Carruthers inspecting other engineers who have established their individual competency by the tribunal set up by the Government. Mr. Phillips inspects Mr. Carruthers, Doc. Sutherland keeps an eye on Phillips, and Honest John is keeping tab on the Minister of Public Works. But who is looking after Honest John?

The whole service is conducted on intensive suspicion by the higher-ups and the tax bills soar.

ALL-CANADIAN PICTURE TO BE SEEN ON SCREEN AT STAR THEATRE

"Man From Glengarry" Shows Canadian Life From True Canadian Viewpoint

It has been customary to connect the production of all moving pictures likely to be seen in this part of the country with Hollywood, California. Round that suburb of Los Angeles has grown the idea that if it's a moving picture — that's where it comes from. There is no mistaking that most of the big ones have come from there—but not all of them. So thoroughly American has the production of the moving pictures seemed to become, that the American atmosphere is to be seen stamped on them all too vividly to please Canadian audiences. In depicting scenes of Canada, for instance, the majority of pictures show barren snow wastes, wild dogs and wolves, lawless loggers and rough country — that is Canada as the American screen-going public sees it most often.

For this very reason the production of "The Man from Glengarry," announced for the Star Theatre on Monday and Tuesday is a special attraction. It is an honest-to-goodness Canadian moving picture, by a Canadian author and produced in Canada. This represents a step in national development that ought not to be overlooked, and if proper encouragement is given to a production, it is only reasonable to suppose that there will be encouragement towards further development along this line of industry.

The Premier Mine paid another dividend to the United Church this week when W. R. Wood generously handed the Church treasurer a check for $2,000, cleaning up the balance of the debt on the church buildings. W. R. Wilson and A. B. Trites had each previously given handsome donations toward the debt, reducing it to $2,000. Rev. Wm. Burns will now be able to walk down Front Street with his head up, instead of taking to the alleys to dodge the sheriff.—Fernie Free Press.

ANNUAL MEETING OF BOARD OF TRADE

will be spent in advertising.

The effect of this publicity is shown by the enormous increase in the number of cars entering the district, as shown below:

In 1919	500 cars
In 1920	1200 cars
In 1921	2000 cars
In 1922	3500 cars

The effect of this travel has forced the Government to improve the roads, so that to-day it can be said that the East Kootenay roads are the best of their kind, while the camp grounds are the equal, if not superior to most in the United States.

CAPITALIZING THE SCENERY

The scenery in the Canadian Rockies is unsurpassed, and is an asset worth many millions of dollars. It only remained to see that full advantage was taken of what nature has so fully endowed the district with. Mr. Spaulding was very optimistic with regard to the number of tourists that will visit B.C. this year, estimating that at least 10,000 cars will be here. Four years ago he made the prophesy that within five years this district would become the motoring playground of America, and he was glad to see there seemed to be every evidence of its fulfillment.

What the tourist traffic meant to the towns along the route of the big circle tour, and the businesses it benefitted was then dealt with by the speaker. He claimed that it would bring the farmer, the merchant, the manufacturer and the capitalist, who with their eyes ever open for new opportunities, might become future residents. Besides the hotels and garages, practically every line of business benefits either directly or indirectly. He pointed out particularly the value of camp sites and how they had a tendency to keep the tourist a day or so longer in the city.

OPENING OF NEW ROAD

In regard to the opening of the Banff-Windermere Road, Mr. Spaulding said that by those who are in a position to know, it is conservatively estimated that there will be over one thousand automobiles present at the opening ceremonies, which are to be international events, on June 30th next, and from then on to the end of the motoring season at a still more conservative estimate, over 10,000 cars will pass over it. These are expected to come from the United States alone. Each successive year these numbers will increase.

Mr. Spaulding also drew the attention of the meeting to the importance of keeping up the advertising, as it was absolutely certain that the sections in the Western States that had been attracting the tourist that we are expecting to draw here, would increase their efforts to retain their patronage. The people of the States were spending millions to attract tourists. It was also pointed out that there would have to be concerted effort here in order to obtain the support of the C. P. R. or the Federal or Provincial Governments. Local appeals would be of no avail.

At the conclusion of his address Mr. Spaulding was thanked by the chairman for his very able address, who said that the Boards of Trade were fortunate in having a man who was taking as much interest in the work as Mr. Spaulding.

Mr. W. H. Wilson stated that he had listened with much pleasure to the remarks of Mr. Spaulding, whom he thought was the best booster the district had. He concluded by moving on behalf of the Board of Trade a very hearty vote of thanks to Mr. Spaulding, and this was done with much applause.

Mr. Spaulding, in response, thanked the members of the Board for this kindly expression of their feeling, and said it was a pleasure for him to be a booster. He had travelled thousands of miles all over the continent, and there was nothing to compare with this district. To him the Yosemite was a joke in comparison with the Crow's Nest Pass. Ten miles of the scenery between Fernie and Cranbrook was equal to the entire attractions of California.

He drew attention to the pleasure that could be derived by visiting the camp site and getting acquainted with the tourists. It would also tend to show the visitors that there is some other interest in them besides their money. The personal interest that the C. P. R. were taking in the matter was evidenced by a wire that Mr. Spaulding read from the C. P. R. Publicity Bureau, asking him to notify the Association that they were erecting bungalow camps at Storm Mountain, Vermillion Crossing, and Radium Hot Springs.

OUTLOOK GOOD FOR YEAR

At the request of the chairman, Mr. T. R. Flett, superintendent of the Crow's Nest division of the C. P. R., gave some interesting figures taken from personal records of the business done in the Cranbrook division. These showed that a successful year had been passed, and encouraging reports for the beginning of this year which he gave lent support to the view held by many that 1923 would be a prosperous one for Cranbrook and vicinity. The volume of outward business had increased 2.1% during 1922, while the inward was 13.1% better. The outlook for the year may be gauged from the fact that for January the outward had increased 100% and the inward 12.2%.

Comparative figures were also given showing the relative amount of business done by the fruit, lumber and mining industries. There had been an increase of 27% in the ore shipments. Fruit shipments, due to the lack of moisture, and the poor marketing condition, showed a slight falling off.

Mr. Flett thought it important that the Duck Creek strawberry industry should be given hearty support. He thought this district was in a position to compete favorably with the famous Hood River berry, and efforts should be made to get the B. C. berry on the Spokane market.

In regard to the matter of the accommodation of the tourist, Mr. Flett suggested that the merchants by arrangement keep one place of each kind of business open on Wednesday afternoons.

The remarks of Mr. Flett were listened to with interest, the chairman thanking him for making available to them these facts. All were pleased to hear the statement that the estimates of the Company for the present year included one quarter million dollars for the Cranbrook division.

Alderman Bronsdon expressed his warm appreciation of the invitation to address the meeting. In regard to the matter of the support of the Council to the plans of the Board of Trade, Mr. Bronsdon said that personally he was very much in sympathy with the work of the Board, and that the objects they were endeavouring to obtain were most commendable. He considered that any reasonable request should be complied with. The work of the Board should receive more general support, and an endeavour made to enlist the sympathy of the citizens generally. He commended the spirit of optimism shown by the merchants, even in times of depression.

The matter of his recommendation for proposed by-law offering inducements to possible new industries, he felt, was one which should commend itself to their support.

Mr. Fink thanked Ald. Bronsdon for his offer of support to the work of the Board, and assured him that they would be only too willing to lend their assistance to any proposal that he might have to advance the interests of the city.

Mr. W. C. Wilson, principal of the High School, solicited the endorsement and support of the Board to a proposed lecture to be given by Prof. Sage under the University of B.C. Extension Lecture Program. Mr. Wilson pointed out the value of lectures that were made available by this scheme. Many local pupils were at the University and it was desirable to get into closer touch with the work of the institution. While all the expenses of the lecturer were met by the University it was incumbent upon the party inviting the lecturer to make all necessary arrangements for hall, etc. It was also stipulated that no admission should be charged.

In reference to the question of certain work necessary on roads in the vicinity, Mr. John Taylor stated that with the appropriation that they expected for this year the roads would all be in good shape for the expected traffic over th ew hghway.

The election of officers then followed. For the office of president Mr. W. R. Grubbe again proposed Mr. J. P. Fink. In doing so he stated that Mr. Fink was working for the good of Cranbrook all the time, and that they could not do better than to appoint him to the office that he had filled with so much credit to himself and the community. On being unanimously elected, Mr. Fink thanked Mr. Grubbe for the words of appreciation of his efforts, but he felt that it should be the business of all the business men to take an interest in the affairs of the city. The time spent in so doing should be allowed for just as one would provide time for the taking care of any other phase of their business. Mr. Fink stated that while he had taken a great interest in the Banff-Windermere Road project, it should not be forgotten that the real credit belongs to Mr. Randolph Bruce, but for whose efforts it would never have been brought to such a successful completion.

Mr. W. S. Santo proposed the name of Mr. W. R. Grubbe as vice-president, whom he considered a valuable member of the Board.

Mr. Grubbe on being duly elected as vice-president by acclamation, thanked the meeting for the honor conferred upon him. He had taken pleasure in the work of the Board, and had only done what he considered was his share as an interested citizen, and would have been prepared to carry on in any capacity. He considered that the matter of taking steps towards the securing of an adequate irrigation system for the district was one that should be energetically pursued. The efforts of the 1922 Board had been successful in securing a small amount of money for a small scheme, and more would be done this year. It was their duty to look more to the future and provide some source of revenue to take the place of that existing in the lumber industry at the present time. Something must take the place of lumber.

The following executive was then elected: W. E. Worden, M. A. Beale, F. M. MacPherson, A. Graham, G. J. Spreull, C. J. Little, J. H. McQuaid, A. Raworth.

The appointment of a secretary was left to the executive.

RESPONDENCE

Presbyterian Record Trenchant Letter Church Union

l has been asked to give following strong letter Dr. Scott, editor of the Record," on the subject nion, representing as it presentation of one side uestion.

URCH UNION" BILL

atest in church coercion by a legal committee, of . W. Rowell, a prominit, is chairman, which Act of Parliament to resbyterian Church into union."

is been approved by the nference. It may come General Assembly, and may seek the sanction of Parliament a year hence.

No wise legislature will create a great religious corporation to dominate in politics, to win "the battle—in the religio-political realm"—as has been so frankly avowed by Dr. Chown, the head of the Methodist Church.

Further, no just legislature will do a thing so unrighteous as to disband the Presbyterian Church on the demand of one-third of its membership, and hand over to a new organization, on a different basis, its property and persons, its very name and right to exist. But Presbyterians should see and know what some are planning for them.

The bill is long, but its four main provisions are simple and plain.

1. It creates and incorporates the O.B.U., with all the powers which incorporation gives.

2. It hands over to that corporation the Presbyterian Church.

3. It provides that within six months any congregation may vote itself out of that corporation.

4. It provides for a commission of nine, three from either side and three chosen by these six, to decide how much of their own property shall be given to those voting themselves out.

These four points would work out as follows: The moment this bill became law, the Presbyterian Church, all its property and persons, its colleges and churches, its endowment funds of all kinds, no matter how bequeathed; its great women's societies, east and west, with all their funds and work, would at once become a part of this one big corporation, subject to its control.

"The Presbyterian Church in Canada" would be no more, ministers and members would be subject to the direction and discipline of a church they had never accepted and, to escape that yoke would have to ask and receive certificates declaring that they were members of a church they had never joined.

For six months, until it could be known how many congregations would vote themselves out and a commission could be appointed, all these persons and things, every dollar of every fund, all the colleges, professors, ministers, missionaries, home and foreign; retired ministers, widows and orphans, every one supported wholly or in part from any funds of the church, would be under the absolute control of the O.B.U., to be disposed or dismissed at its will.

But what of liberty to vote themselves out? This liberty (?) is not for individuals, but for congregations, and its workings would be on this wise:

Every church would belong to the O.B.U. If a meeting were called, and if that meeting, however small, should vote to remain in, it would remain in permanently.

If it should vote itself out, the bill provides for a change of mind, and those in the congregation in favor of union could call meetings, week after week, until the majority present at some meeting should vote in.

At the end of six months, any congregation which had survived this ordeal, and were now out, would be without organization or funds. If they could get together they might appoint three commissioners, the O.B.U. would appoint three, and the dole to those outside would be considered.

Five of these commissioners would be a quorum. Three would be a majority and would decide. From their decision there would be no appeal. On the one side would be scattered congregations, with no legal standing, no organization, no treasury, yet having to share the expense of the commission. On the other side would be a great legal corporation having everything under its control, at its command a great church treasury, and officials ever ready to attend as commissioners. What the dole would be may be left to fancy.

If, at the end of six months, there should be no congregations remaining out, there would be no commission appointed and no division of the property. If half the Presbyterian people in Canada should gather and claim some share of the churches and funds they and their fathers helped to build up, it would be in vain. The bill does not know them. They would have no right to a stick, or a stone or a dollar of property or funds.

But the end is not yet. If Presbyterians—like the returned exiles from Babylon—should gather and begin to build up once more the ruins of their Zion, a spiritual church and not a legal corporation, and should fondly call it "The Presbyterian Church in Canada," as a branch of the world-wide Presbyterian family, they would find that this name now belongs to the O.B.U., which cannot use it, but will not permit its use to others.

But surely this could not be? Could it not? This bill disbands the Presbyterian Church, takes its property and rights, takes away its very name. And as the O.B.U. would be dominated by those opposed to any Presbyterian Church continuing in the field, if they could prevent the name, Canada would have the sinister distinction of being the only country in the world where a Presbyterian Church of that country was forbidden by law.

The passing of this bill would be one of the most iniquitous chapters in all church history.

COMPLETION OF NEW SULLIVAN MILL WILL INFLUENCE ROSSLAND

President James J. Warren of the Consolidated Mining and Smelting Co. of Canada, Ltd., was a speaker at the Boards of Trade Convention for Eastern B.C. last week at Trail, dealing with the future outlook for that section. His address was particularly interesting as regards the Company's intentions in Rossland.

Mr. Warren reiterated his statements made recently wherein he said that operations here on a large scale depended upon the completion of the concentrator at Kimberley, which would release for the treatment of Rossland ores the present Rossland concentrator at Trail now being employed in handling ores from the Sullivan zinc-lead mine of the Company.

Mr. Warren also called to the attention of his auditors the great handicap under which his Company was operating with coke around $14.00 per ton and coal prices unusually high.

Of Interest to Poultry Keepers

THE POSSIBILITIES OF 100 HENS

What They Will Do For You If Properly Housed and Cared For

They will lay 150 eggs each or 15,000 eggs in the year. That is 1,250 dozen eggs. The average price should be 49c. per doz., which equals	$625.00
At the end of the year 100 hens of all purpose fowls weighing 5 lbs. each, should sell for 25c. per lb., or for	125.00
In producing these 100 hens it is necessary to raise a like number of males or 100 broilers; these at 10 weeks of age should sell for 67c. each, bringing	67.00
There should be 10 lbs. of feathers from the broilers and hens, at a value of 60c. a lb.	6.00
Total Income	$823.00

It will cost $120 to raise the 100 pullets from the baby chick to the laying room, and to bring the broilers to ten weeks of age. This includes the purchase price of the baby chicks, and it is assumed that they are raised on free range with all modern equipment, or divided among mother hens housed in safe and convenient coops.

This leaves you a net income of $703, and with $203 outlay for the year for the pullets in the laying house, leaves a net profit of $500.

Now this is theory; sounds reasonable and can be brought to practice if the stock is handled under absolutely perfect conditions. The nearest we know that actual practice has ever reached these figures in B.C. was two years ago at one of the experimental farms, where $4 per head was shown as a net profit from 50 Barred Plymouth Rock hens.

Practice on the average farm, if consistent effort is made should at least reach one-half this net profit. Also there are few farms properly handled where there is not a quantity of feed for the poultry that would otherwise be wasted.

Remember though, the larger your flock the less net profit per capita. Labor and overhead expenses figure largely in flocks of 1,000 and upwards. It costs you practically nothing to market the eggs from 100 hens, but when one seeks a ready market for the eggs from 3,000 a heavy marketing expense immediately enters into your operations. Labor costs mount higher, insurance and buildings as well as taxes eat up their share of the profits.

It can be readily understood that one hundred hens will bring a greater net return than four or five cows. The writer has before him the Dominion Government report of their experimental test at the central farm of a number of cows. It is assumed that the cows under test were selected high milkers and of a pure bred stock. The average net returns per cow is shown around close to $60 for the year. This is from the standpoint of butter making and not selling the milk, for few farmers are able to sell their milk direct to consumers.

The whole matter sums up about like this. The one hundred hens sell for more than the cows. The eggs they lay sell for more than the milk. The broilers sell for more than the calves, and the hens eat less than the cows and take less housing room.

On our ranch we would keep no cows if it were not for the milk required in raising our baby chicks. In raising six to seven thousand baby chicks it is essential they have plenty of milk for at least the first four weeks of their lives.

* * * *

Poultry means work; light work and pleasant work, but one must keep eternally at it.

A man that won't work need never to pray. You've got to DIG in this old world if you get religion more than skin deep.

* * * *

The world may owe us a living, but no free delivery service is mentioned. So go after it.

* * * *

A hen than never lays is as mean as the fellow that comes or leaves the church after or before the contribution basket is passed. There is only one place for her and that's the roasting furnace.

WINDERMERE DISTRICT NOTES

(Special to The Herald)

Invermere, B.C., Feb. 26.—R. Gladwyn Newton, B.S.A., Superintendent for the Dominion Government of their Experimental Station for the Columbia-Kootenay Rivers Valley, returned this week from a convention of the Superintendents of Dominion Experimental Farms and the Live Stock Shows as held throughout the Province of Ontario. Mr. Newton is most enthusiastic over the results of his visit to the East.

At the local farm during the past year a first class Clydesdale stallion for public service, and a registered shorthorn bull for the same purpose have been added. Another acquisition is a splendidly matched team of young Clydesdale mares. Other improvements are contemplated during the coming season, such as the foundation of an Ayrshire herd of cattle.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis J. Diehl have returned after an extended visit to points in Alberta.

DISTRICT AGRICULTURIST LECTURES AT BAYNES LAKE TO FARMERS

(Special to The Herald)

On Tuesday, February 20th, a meeting under the auspices of the Baynes District Farmers' Institute was held at 7.30 p.m. in the Adolph Hall, when Mr. A. L. Hay, District Agriculturist, gave an interesting lecture on cattle feeding.

It had been understood that Mr. C. E. Traves, Provincial Poultry Instructor, would also lecture on poultry raising, but owing to his impending retirement from the Department of Agriculture, he was unable to be present. Capt. Barnard, the secretary and treasurer of the Institute, took the chair. There was rather a poor attendance, partly due to conditions underfoot, but possibly also to the fact that the district boasts a certain number of farmers who may think they know all that there is to be known about their business and cannot be taught anything further.

The lecturer started by showing that a ration containing certain proportions of protein, fats and carbohydrates was necessary just to keep a cow in condition, without obtaining any milk from her, and that this ration was practically the same for all cows of equal weight. He then gave the extra rations necessary to obtain 20 lbs., 40 lbs. and 60 lbs. of milk per day respectively, and demonstrated that it was much cheaper to feed one 40 lb. cow than two 20 lb. animals; and he impressed on his audience that the aim of the farmer should be to obtain the highest possible amount of milk from the lowest possible number of cows.

He insisted that, roughage being the cheapest feed, a farmer should grow as much as possible of the right sort, so that the bought portion of the ration could be a minimum, but added a warning on the danger of over feeding cattle. He went on to show the importance of balancing the ration; of not turning cattle out too much in bitter weather, but rather feeding and watering them in the barn at such times; and of regularity in feeding and milking. He also gave some useful hints on the raising of calves, showing how necessary it was to feed a calf rightly in order that, when it came to maturity it might have a frame capable of giving the larger output of milk; and he concluded by expressing his opinion that, contrary to the general practice in East Kootenay, it would be good policy to breed some cows to freshen in the fall, as they themselves would produce more milk, and their calves would have a better chance.

Mr. Hay then answered various questions put to him by his audience.

In moving the hearty vote of thanks which was unanimously accorded to Mr. Hay, the chairman mentioned that in a somewhat varied career he had listened to lectures on very many different subjects, but he could not remember one in which so much practical information had been compressed into such a brief space as in the lecture they had just heard, and he thought East Kootenay was much to be congratulated on its District Agriculturist.

SUPPORT THE PAYROLL INDUSTRIES OF YOUR HOME TOWN OR CITY

They Are The Backbone of Any Community, Big or Little

Every town or city, whether large or small, encourages the establishment within its limits of pay-roll industries. Their value to any community is a recognized fact, and they are welcomed with open arms. It is well known that such establishments distribute from week to week or month to month a considerable amount of money, all of which is thus released for distribution throughout the community. For this reason "pay-roll" towns are always looked on as being rather more prosperous than those in which all wealth is dependent on more or less spasmodic or uncertain returns.

Thus pay-roll industries should be induced to the cities of East Kootenay and after they have come THEY SHOULD BE SUPPORTED.

There is scant satisfaction in local industries trying to work up business, increase the number of their employees, and cause more money to be circulated locally, unless those who live in and do business in such localities see fit to deal with and support such established industries. Every additional employee means just that much more money per week to be distributed amonk local merchants. Every dollar spent for out-of-the-city work, no matter what kind it may be, is gone for over and serves no further purpose in the East Kootenay. Every dollar spent in Cranbrook remains in the home town to be passed on from one to the other, doing good to all as it circulates.

Business men and residents generally should bear this in mind at all times. Buy at home on all possible occasions. Encourage the establishment of pay-roll industries, and having secured them, let all support them.

Makes Cakes of Finer "Grain"

Mrs. Mary Baldwin says that she finds Pacific Milk gives cakes a finer texture, or "grain" as she calls it, than either fresh milk or cream.

Another point she mentions is that each can of milk can be depended upon to act like the one before it, so she knows exactly what result to expect. We are gratified to Mrs. B. for her letter.

THAT was years ago when he packed a terrible grouch, a mighty irritable stomach and a liver that refused to do the things that all good livers should. No wonder his friends called him an "old pill" and stayed away.

But that was years ago—long before he discovered Beecham's Pills and learned that two at bedtime can bring sunshine into a man's life. Today, he's an optimist, a hero to his wife, and a staunch believer in Beecham's Pills.

ANNUAL MEETING OF WINDERMERE FARMERS' JOINT ORGANIZATIONS

President's Report Shows Varied Nature of Societies' Operations

(Special to The Herald)

Invermere, B.C., Feb. 24.—The annual meeting of the combined Windermere District Agricultural Association and Farmers' Institute was held last week in the schoolhouse here. The attendance was a large one. After the reading of the reports and the election of officers the affair was brought to a happy conclusion by the serving of light refreshments by the ladies of the Association.

The report of the retiring president Mr. A. G. Cuthbert was splendid, in that it reviewed the work which had been accomplished in 1922, and set out that affairs were now back to the pre-war standard with the organization.

The secretary's report showed that there had been an increase of over fifty per cent. in the exhibits at the fair as compared with the year before.

A motion was passed to hold the next annual fair about the end of August at a date to be set later on.

Finances are on an even keel according to the report of the treasurer, many of the deficits of the previous year having been taken up.

The officers elected for 1923 were Hon. Presidents—Hon. W. R. Motherwell, Minister of Agriculture for Canada; Hon. E. D. Barrow, Minister of Public Works for Canada, and Federal member for the riding; John A. Buckham, M.P.P. for Columbia riding.

Vice Pres. R. Gladwyn Newton, B.S.A.

The report of the president for last year was as follows:

REPORT OF PRESIDENT

Ladies and Gentlemen:

You are called together to-day for the Twelfth Annual Meeting of the Windermere District Agricultural Association and Farmers' Institute.

In reviewing the year which is passed I think you will agree that we are advancing. For the first time in our existence we have held our fair on our own grounds and in our own building.

The fair itself is back to pre-war times. The secretary will tell you the exact number of entries which were made last year. I understand these are something like two hundred more than in the previous year. Although our building is 64 feet by 32 feet, we had not enough room in it and had to fit up extra tables at the last moment to carry all the exhibits.

With regard to the finances of our institutions instead of at the commencement of the year having a balance on hand to go on with, we were over $200 in debt. Fortunately we have been able to clear that off and our financial statement will show you that we just about break even this year.

There is one thing we must decide to-day, and that is how to finance the purchase of the grounds and our building. In order to get the money for the building your directors took the responsibility of borrowing money from the bank on their own arrangement and endorsed a note for $600. This put us through up to the moment. The amount required would have been much larger if we had been obliged to pay wages for all the work performed; but a number came to our help by giving voluntary work. We ran the building up in eight working days. I would say right here that the merchants and tradesmen turned out better to work than did the farmers.

Very large and extensive improvements were done to the grounds in the way of a race track, the fencing and the building of a grand stand, this being done by members of the Association under the direction of Mr. Frank Richardson. A successful race meet was held and this year it is hoped that some arrangement can be made to carry on this form of entertainment.

In the matter of the financing our capital account we have been making enquiries to see if the money can be borrowed under the Land Settlement Board from the Government. The sum of about $1,200 will require to be financed in some way, to take care of the directors' note in favor of the bank and for the payment of the amount due and to fall due on the purchase of the land. I do not think we could figure on paying off much more than $100 per annum and cover current expenses. If we negotiate a loan as suggested this could be cleared up on a twenty year mortgage. Other suggestions have been offered and it will be up to this meeting to take action. Our present expenditure on interest comes to about $80 per year.

Early in the summer we had a brief visit from the British Columbia Dairymen's Association, who held their convention in Golden. We showed our hospitality by inviting them to supper. This cost our organizations some $60 odd dollars.

Turning to the purely Farmers' Institute side of our work, our secretary sold some $600 worth of stumping powder to the members on which there was a slight profit. This shows that there must have been some extensive land clearing done, which is a good sign.

The Advisory Board of the Farmers Institute of British Columbia are going to hold their annual convention for the district of East Kootenay here next month, and it behooves us to be prepared to show the members hospitality.

Quite an improvement has been made in the Live Stock Branch of the Dominion Experimental Station for the Columbia Valley and further improvements are contemplated.

The first carload of milk cows as supplied through the Government of British Columbia, was brought in and disposed of this year.

In conclusion, as you all know, our local creamery is going ahead, the feed warehouse, and ice house are practically completed. The plans and specifications of the creamery proper are complete and tenders are being called for, the work to commence immediately the frost is out of the ground. Perhaps we may have more information with regard to the creamery proposition later on.

We have been advised that the extension of the telephone system along the western side of Lake Windermere has been put in the estimates which are to be brought before the Dominion House, also there is a probability that the system may be extended along the back road to take in the ranch of Mr. J. W. Morland.

Yours faithfully,
A. G. CUTHBERT,
President.

STORY BY LOCAL AUTHOR FEATURED IN "ROD AND GUN"

The March issue of Rod and Gun in Canada, the well known Canadian sportsmen's magazine of the out of doors, contains many attractive features and abounds in stories and articles that are sure to please. "In the Canadian Alps" by Campbell J. Lewis, is a breezy, interesting article, while Bonnycastle Dale's article, "Spudging the Lumpsucker" is worthy of special mention. Harry M. Moore, whose work is popular with Rod and Gun readers, is among the writers who contribute red-blooded stories. H. Mortimer Batten is another. C. S. Landis and Robert Page Lincoln are at their best in their departments, Guns and Ammunition and Fishing Notes, respectively, while the other departments and features contain splendid features of outstanding quality. The magazine is profusely illustrated throughout, and in every way the March issue is one that not one will want to miss.

Rod and Gun in Canada is published monthly at Woodstock, Ontario, by W. J. Taylor, Limited.

The most powerful radio receiving set in Canada, equipped with eighteen tubes, has been installed by the Marconi Company on the Forest Exhibits Car of the Canadian Forestry Association which started this week on its 1923 tour of fifteen thousand miles. The radio set will not only serve to entertain the evening audiences gathered to listen to the forest protection lectures, but during the day radio talks on forest fire prevention and allied topics will be broadcasted from Montreal and other points every few hours, so that the crowds visiting the car will be reached no matter where the itinerary may lead. The Forestry Car radio set will catch any station in North America.

URGES KOOTENAY SITE FOR LOCATION OF NEW ORE TESTING PLANT

(From North-West Mining Truth)

Nelson and Vancouver, B.C. are both laying claims to being the proper place for the location of a projected Dominion Government ore testing plant. Cranbrook, in East Kootenay, has also put in a bid lately.

That some point in the Kootenays is the right place to establish the plant is the contention of the Associated Boards of Trade of Eastern British Columbia, such contention being put concretely by that organization in a resolution adopted recently, and which states:

"Whereas an appropriation was made some years ago by the Dominion Gobernment for ore testing plants in British Columbia for refractory ores of the Province; and,

"Whereas, such appropriation was not revoted by Parliament and the same lapsed; and,

"Whereas, a greater proportion of development of mines producing refractory ores has been done in the Kootenays than elsewhere in the Province; and,

"Whereas, the interior of the Province, and more especially the Kootenays, produce most of these refractory ores; and,

"Whereas, a great many mines are now lying idle because of the want of facilities to have their ores tested and treated; and,

"Whereas, many of the mine owners and prospectors are not in a position financially to undertake the expenditure needed to cover the experiments necessary for testing the process which may be needed for the treatment of their ores; therefore be it

"Resolved, that the Associated Boards of Trade of Eastern British Columbia strongly urge:

"1. That the appropriation for such testing plants be revoted at the next session of the Dominion Parliament.

"2. That immediate steps be taken for the erection of a testing plant at the most convenient point in the Kootenays; and that priority be given to the Kootenays for the erection of the first treatment plant under such appropriation aforesaid, and in particular that the Kootenays, where the main bodies of refractory ores are located, shall be given preference over the coast district, where there are no such ores."

BAPTIST PASTOR ADDRESSES SUNDAY AFTERNOON SERVICE AT THE Y.M.C.A.

The first of what is proposed to be a series of Sunday afternoon meetings was held on Sunday last at the Y. M. C. A. The speaker, Rev. W. T. Tapscott, of the Baptist Church, took for the subject of his remarks, "In the Clutches of the Law." After reading the story of Daniel's steadfastness to his faith despite the decree of the King Darius, and of punishment meted out to him for disobeying, the speaker drew many lessons therefrom, and showed how all might profit by the example of Daniel.

In referring to the honor he considered it was to speak to the young men, and to what extent many statesmen and other prominent men esteemed the importance of speaking to boys, he claimed that the tremendous possibilities wrapped up in the boys is a challenge to every parent and teacher, and that the greatest benefit to be conferred on any mortal is to give them an impetus in the right direction, the time for such impetus being when it will count for the most.

In the attainment of heroic character nothing inspires like heroic example. As James says, "Principles instruct us, precepts guide us, but examples move us." It is this "moving" that is our greatest need. We want some master motive to lift us out of our lowness, and laziness, and low ideals, and fire us with an ambition to excel.

It has been said that there is in biography an antidote for every mood. For discouragement read the life of Abraham Lincoln; if afraid, read Stonewall Jackson; if tempted to temporize and imagine that success can come by playing fast and loose with principle, study the life of the noble Hebrew captive Daniel. Here is a story of unswerving fidelity to principle, in spite of the plots of the envious nobles and royal decrees.

As a rule men do not wrong from the love of wrong doing, but rather because they see something of profit or pleasure in the result of wrong doing. It should be re-assuring to those who are making sacrifice for righteousness, to find that it is expedient to do right.

While sometimes the path of virtue seems difficult, fidelity apparently fails of immediate reward, and seemingly "Right is forever on the scaffold and wrong forever on the throne." God assures us with regard to the ultimate issue. "He always wins who sides with God."

The story of Daniel is profitable as illustrating the trial as well as the triumph of faith. The envious nobles decided that since they could not find badness in him, they would by passing a law against worshipping anyone save the king, make his very goodness badness.

Daniel was not to be deterred and worshipped as he was accustomed to do. Daniel was loyal to God and could not be influenced by the intrigues of men. Good men keep right on doing what is right under all circumstances. We should be grateful for the example of heroic men whose heads are clear in great crises, whose hearts are pure in the midst of impurity, and whose feet are straight in the path of right. While Daniel was the busiest man in the kingdom, still he found time to pray. Daniel thanked God that he was in His hands and that no harm could befall him, and for the honor of serving in God's righteous cause whether in life or death. Daniel was not afraid—no good man should be—*as death to him only means the be*ginning of the life for which he has been preparing, just as the launching of a ship places it in the environment for which it was prepared on land.

The chairman of the meeting, Mr. G. T. Moir, thanked the speaker for his straightforward talk and hoped that the meeting would be but the commencement of a series of interesting and profitable meetings.

The singing of the hymns was accompanied by an orchestra composed of Mr. G. E. Bower and Mr. A. Ashworth, violins, Master Frank Roy, piano, Mr. E. T. Cooper, saxophone. A quartette composed of Messrs. J. M. Clark, H. Hinton, J. L. Palmer and F. A. Williams rendered two very acceptable quartettes.

LECTURE ON GREAT NAVAL EXPLOIT OF ZEEBRUGGE IN WAR

A lecture of more than ordinary interest was given by Mr. H. F. Helmsing at a meeting of the Anglican Young People's Society on Wednesday of this week. Mr. Helmsing's subject was "The Battle of Zeebrugge and the Blocking of the Harbour," and those who had the pleasure of hearing could not help but be impressed with the intimate knowledge the speaker had of the operations connected with this memorable strategic action of the British navy.

It was unfortunatte that a lecture of this nature, so admirably given, should have been not better attended. The lecture was illustrated with slides, most of which were actual photos.

The lecturer first showed views of that part of the Belgian coast from Zeebrugge to Ostend, also Bruges and its connecting canals with these two points, the one to Ostend being eleven miles and the other eight. A bird's eye view of the Mole at Zeebrugge, also detailed sectional drawing and actual photos of the Mole and the viaduct which connected the Mole proper with the land.

In an unique manner the speaker showed his hearers the plan for carrying *out the proposed project of bot*tling up of the German fleet in the canals. At first sight the idea of successfully carrying out the plans seemed preposterous, and it was only on account of the dependence placed in the men and officers of the Navy that even a consideration of the plan was entertained. The keynote to success was secrecy. Knowing that the adventure was most hazardous, with the chances of failure as great, if not greater, than success, the Admirality decided to make a call for 1,600 men from the service for "hazardous work" to which 3,500 men responded, and from whom the desired number were chosen.

Due to the impossibility of conducting the operation by signal, as the work all had to be done under cover of darkness, a system of timing the operation was decided upon. To show how perfectly the scheme worked, the speaker said that the "Vindictive," which with the "Daffodil" and the "Iris" were to land their men on the Mole at midnight, actually landed the first man at one minute after twelve.

The plan of campaign was to so attract the garrison on the Mole that the three ships that it was proposed to sink in the canal at Zeebrugge could slip in behind the fortification unnoticed. To accomplish this simultaneous attacks were to be made by the ships and the air men. The vessels approached under cover of a smoke screen, but when within three hundred yards of the Mole the wind shifted, exposing the ships. On account of the running tide great difficulty was experienced in making a landing on the Mole, but this was done in about fifteen minutes, and the landing party had the three large guns on the end of the Mole silenced, thereby allowing the three ships to pass unmolested.

When it is considered that to do this it was necessary for the landing party to scale twenty feet from the deck of the ship to the top of the wall, down four feet to one ledge, then over a wire railing a drop of sixteen feet to the Mole proper, the difficulty of the performance is apparent.

Two of the ships were successful in reaching their objective point in the canal. One got tangled up in a submerged screen, but got to the mouth of the canal, where her crew blew the bottom out of her, and while not in the canal the location proved equally good, as the silt, collecting around her, obstructed the whole passage.

A great deal could also be said regarding the heroic action of the officers and men of the various parties connected with the blockade.

After considering the matter almost three months Judge Thompson has at last handed out a decision in the appeal taken by Monrad Wigen against the fine imposed on him for setting out fires without a permit last July. The Judge upholds the decision of Magistrate Mallandaine who tried the case early last fall, when a fine of $10 and costs was imposed.

SHOWS FIRM FOOTING OF ORGANIZATION

quiries regarding a gasoline driven car, seating about forty persons, with compartment for mail and express and the motorman, and from the reports received are sure that it will give perfect service. If this is followed up closely, I think it can be installed.

The question of shipping grain for export via the Crow's Nest and the Coast has been considered. While we have no data to place before you I am sure you will agree that it is of such importance to warrant a special committee's attention.

During the year 1920 our tourist park was used by sixty-one cars. In 1921 this was increased to two hundred and eighty-three; and last year four hundred and seventy-one cars were parked there. With the opening of the Banff-Windermere Road on June 30th, will come a mighty wave of cars which will require a larger park, and on account of the present park being included in the new city parking scheme, another location will have to be found. Mr. Beale, chairman of a special committee, will re*port on this with recommendations*.

The diversion on the north road from Wasa to Sheep Creek has caused the Board considerable worry because of the fear that it will not be complete in time for the opening of the Banff-Windermere Road. Mr. Brady, district engineer, assures us the road and new bridge over the Kootenay river at the mouth of Sheep Creek, will be completed in plenty of time to take care of the heavy traffic that will come this way this year. This diversion will cross the river at Wasa and follow the west bank of the Kootenay north to Sheep Creek, where it will cross back to the east side and connect with the present road at Sheep Creek. It will eliminate all of the hills and bad crooked road between Wasa and Sheep Creek on the present route, andwill pass through some of the finest scenery in the country.

The main road west between Moyie and Yahk was in almost impassable condition last year when the Board interested itself in the matter, and assisted in securing a special grant, which enabled Mr. Brady to put it into fairly good condition. But it is hoped that another special grant will be made this year to complete the work properly. The new road around Moyie Lake is completed and is wonderful.

The road east is in excellent shape excepting that piece between Rampart and Arnolds. It is desirable to have this piece changed over to the east side of the C. P. R., which will give a much better grade and cut out two very bad crossings. It is hoped that this may be accomplished this year.

Mr. Brady assures us that he always is glad to have our recommendations and assistance at all times. We appreciate this expression and can assure him that we are ready at all times to render such aid as we can.

Mining has shown some improvement. The location of 67 mineral and 10 placer claims have been recorded, and assessment work amounting to $28,350.00 has also been recorded at the local office.

*The great Sullivan Mine at Kimber*ley is continuing its big output. It shipped 8,926 tons of lead, 349,830 tons of zinc and 2,089 tons of iron ore, making a total of 360,845 tons, or 7,217 cars, equal to 361 trains of twenty cars each. Wages paid for mining amounted to $474,740.00. For supplies and expenses for mining $590,100.00; and for labor and supplies for the big concentrator, crusher building and ore bins at the tunnel $750,000.00, making the huge total of $1,814,840.00. They have employed over 800 men, but now, on account of the weather, this number has been reduced.

Quite an improvement in the lum*ber market was shown during 1922*. In the district there were 16 mills in operation producing over 1,000,000 ft. per day, and employing about 2,500 men. The monthly pay roll was about $195,000.00. In addition to the lumber large quantities of ties, props, piles, poles, posts, cord wood, pulp wood and grain doors were shipped out. The value of the total production was $4,092,548.00. Estimating the value of a car load at $500, which is high, it would make 8,185 cars, or 409 trains of 20 cars each.

Much credit is due the local officials of the C. P. R. for the excellent freight service rendered, there being no shortage of cars at any time during the year.

The railway business in a big factor in the commercial life of this city and district, the average number of employees on the Cranbrook Division of the C. P. R. being 566 with a monthly pay roll of $85,000. I am informed the Company anticipate expending $265,000 this year on improvements in the Cranbrook Division.

I regret that I was unable to pro*cure any data on* the agricultural production of the district, but believe that all of the vegetables and a large quantity of grains and hay used were produced here. With irrigation we should be able to supply our own requirements and have a surplus for sale.

A large portion of the meat used was produced in the district. I was unable to get this data in time for to-night, but will have them later.

Our city and district are well supplied with schools. In the city we have one excellent high school with 5 teachers and 107 pupils, three public schools with 17 teachers and 565 pupils. During the year the teaching staff was increased by 6 public and one high school teacher. I think that we are second to none in the province.

I think that we can look forward to the future with much confidence, as no doubt we have passed through all of the periods of adjustments and readjustments, and are now on the climb to better and more settled conditions. I was pleased to note the very optimistic view of President Warren, of the Consolidated Mining, in a speech at the Associated Board of Trade meeting at Trail last week. He stated that the metal market was good.

The Canadian dollar and the British pound sterling having returned to par or almost, is one of the best indications of business assuming its normal trend, and speaks volumes for the future.

The mill men report orders coming in at a very satisfactory rate, and they look forward to a good year.

Cranbrook and district has reason to be proud of the fact that no unemployment has prevailed during the past year.

In conclusion I wish to thank Messrs. Montgomery and Burdette of the Sullivan Mine, Norman Moore, chief forester, T. R. Flett, superintendent and J. A. Innes, chief accountant of the C. P. R., V. Z. Manning, school in*spector, J. C. Brady, district engineer*, and J. S. Alexander, acting Government Agent for information supplied and used in this report.

I also wish to thank the Mayor and Council for their support during the past year, and feel sure the new Council will assist us in every way they possibly can.

A defect which developed in the wiring system was responsible for the fire alarm last Saturday morning, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Caven. The place was filled with smoke and a ceiling blackened up, but the damage was slight. On Thursday evening there was another call, to 115 Clark Avenue, the residence of Mrs. Barnhardt, where a chimney fire was the cause of the excitement. There was no damage in this instance either. People are reminded that this is the time when the chimneys should be given attention. After the heavy winter fires this is the time when a little time spent in prevention would be worth a lot.

G.W.V.A. CAN PROVIDE HELP FOR THE ANNUAL SPRING CLEANING UP

Always Men Available For Odd Jobs Around the House Or Garden

With the splendid weather of the past week and the rapidly disappearing snow, spring is nearly here again.

This is the season of the year when all prudent housewives are making plans for the annual clean-up, not only from cellar to attic, but in the back yard and around the garden plot there are a hundred and one things to be done. Trimming the trees and shrubs, and preparing the flower beds for the seed, tidying up the lawn and around the outside of the house generally.

The importance of securing good help for this work should not be overlooked. This problem can be easily and satisfactorily solved by calling up the steward at the G.W.V.A., who can send you men who may be employed by the hour, day, or week. No job too small, nor too large. No matter what it is in the shape of work, just phone the steward at the G.W.V.A.

BASKETBALL TEAM TURNS TABLES ON WYCLIFFE, 34 TO 20

A return basketball game was played at the Recreation Club gymnasium Wednesday evening between the Cranbrook and Wycliffe basketball men's teams, Cranbrook winning 34 to 20.

The game was fast throughout, although somewhat rough in spots the players of both teams showing a tendency to body check too much.

Cranbrook took the lead early in the first half and never lost it, the score at half time being 22 to 10 in their favor.

The play in the second half was more even, but the Cranbrook defense held out, the Wycliffe players scoring chiefly on free penalty throws.

A. Gill and V. Woodman starred for the winners, the former especially with his shooting, while Beaton checked Steve Clarke, Wycliffe redoubtable forward, to a standstill. Young and Jones showed up well for the losers. Throughout the Cranbrook boys had the superior combination.

W. C. Wilson and J. M. Clark as referee and judge of play conducted the game in a very efficient manner.

PECULIAR RITUAL AT CHINESE FUNERAL ON SUNDAY AFTERNOON

Followed by about one hundred of his countrymen the remains of Lee Him, the Chinaman whose death was announced last week, were laid to rest on Sunday last in the local cemetery, following a service in the Chinese Masonic Hall, of which the deceased was a member.

The funeral procession, consisting of about twenty cars, made its way to the cemetery by a circuitous route to the burial grounds, and along the route a party from one of the cars scattered paper along the way, the design being to misguide any evil spirit that might be following in pursuit. At the graveside the ceremony was performed by the Masonic chaplain. Here a feature was the burning of a heap of money. According to the wealth of the friends of the deceased, and the esteem in which he is held, the greater is the heap. The currency is purchaseable at the local Chinese merchants, and consists of pieces of brown paper about 15 inches by 9, covered by a thin piece of yellow tissue, in the centre of which is deposited a two inch square of silver leaf, which denotes a certain value in China. They are sold at three for 25 cents, the number burnt on Sunday costing the friends of the deceased about $50.00. The burning of the money is supposed to appease the anger of the evil demon and secures peaceful repose for the spirit of the departed.

Mr. Sam Yick, a cousin of the deceased, says his estate amounted to about $1,000, which will be sent to his wife and two children.

A concert to be given as a Boy Scout Benefit is being arranged, and is to be presented at the Star Theatre on Monday and Tuesday, March 19 and 20. Some very promising local juvenile talent is being worked into shape, and full particulars as to the program will probably be available next week. The Boy Scout executive committee are meeting Friday evening to complete the arrangements.
