Drowning Claims Three Young Men

The most tragic drowning fatality ever recorded in local history was that of early Sunday morning when Jesse Leach, Ford Osborn and "Cap" Collins, three young men from Bonners Ferry, Idaho, were drowned in Goat River, when the Ford coupe, in which they were returning to that town, went over a twelve-foot bank and plunged into about six feet of water, at a point near what is known as "the crooked bridge," on the North and South highway, about half a mile south of Creston.

The tragedy was discovered by Matt. York about noon on Sunday. Driving along the highway he noticed the auto upside down in the stream, and immediately notified provincial police H. McLaren, as well as coroner Col. Mallandaine, who secured needed help and with the assistance of a tractor from the Winlaw logging operations in that vicinity, hauled the upturned car onto the road, and were horrified to discover it contained the lifeless bodies of the three men, ranging from 19 to 23 years of age.

The time of the mishap is placed at about 3 a.m. Creston time, as the watch on one of the men had stopped at 1.45, presumably Bonners Ferry time, which is an hour slower than Creston.

When the discovery was made that it was an Idaho car both Porthill and Bonners Ferry were communicated with and early in the afternoon a party of Bonners Ferry citizens arrived, identified the young men and in order that the bodies might be taken back Coronor Mallandaine arranged for an inquest, which was held about 3.30 with a jury composed of R. S. Bevan, foreman, Stanley Hendren, W. K. Brown, Fred Hale, Al Hendren and Chas. Botterill, who visited the scene of the tragedy and viewed the remains, and then rdjourned until Monday morning. Release of the bodies was at once given and they were taken back to Bonners early Sunday evening.

Investigation proved that the unfortunates had been at a dance at Kitchener on Saturday night. They were on their way home, and instead of following the main road onto the bridge it is evident they drove onto an unbarricaded dead-end road that goes for about fifty feet and ends up at the bank of Goat River, over which the car plunged into about six feet of water. With the hood extended down and fastened to windshield the car was a veritable prison from which there was no escape in that depth of water and the car turned upside down.

The verdict of the jury was accidental death by drowping, with which went a recommendation that barricades be erected at both ends and danger signals placed at least 500 feet from the barricades.

All join hands and circle to the west!

On Saturday the area had an inspec visit from Hon. W. Atkinson, minister of agriculture; Hon. E. P. Burden, minister of lands; Dr. Gaddes, colonization commissioner of the B.C. government; and Mr. McConnell, C.P.R. colonization department representative. The party was shown over the district by Col. Fred Lister, M.P.P., and were here to look into the domestic water supply question as well as settlement matters generally.

Idaho Members Visit K.P. Lodge

Wild Rose Lodge Knights of Pythias, was visited Thursday evening last by about forty knights. This, along with about thirty home members, filled the Castle Hall to its full capacity. The visitors were comprised of delegations from Spokane, Wash., Bonners Ferry, Idaho, Copeland, Idaho, Eastport, Idaho, and Innisfail, Alberta.

Just before opening the lodge Chancellor Commander Col. Mallandaine welcomed the visitors with a few well chosen words and then asked Bro. Harry Lucas of Spokane to take the chair. Bro. Lucas did so, and then appointed his officers, using knights from Spokane, Bonners Ferry and Creston, to fill the chairs.

The second and third ranks were conferred upon Chas. E. Spoor of Bonners Ferry and the officers taking part were well chosen and put on their work in a very expressive manner.

After the closing of the lodge the boys all gathered around the tables for the fourth degree, in which the eats and smokes were of the highest standard and the speeches and jokes above par.

Wild Rose Lodge is having another big night, May 9th, on which date they expect to have Bro. J. A. MacKinnon, Grand Chancellor of the domain of British Columbia, also visitors from Washington, Idaho, Montana and the local towns of Cranbrook and Kimberley.

These meetings are to work up international interest in the Lodge work, and the Lodge expects to return these visits as soon as the oportunity is available.

Mr. and Mrs. Aberson, who have been in Kitchener for a couple of years have left for Kimberley, where Mr. Aberson has secured a good position.

Auto Goes Over Bridge; 3 Injured

Rev. A. Garlick, Mrs. Garlick, and Mrs. Fred Powers of Lister were victims of a serious auto mishap on Tuesday morning just as they got started on a trip to Spokane, and as result of which Mrs. Garlick is now in the Cranbrook hospital suffering from a fractured hip, cuts and suffering from the shock. Mrs. Powers is also in the hospital badly cut about the head and face, as well as suffering from shock. Rev. A. Garlick is being taken care of in Creston and is very badly bruised about the shoulders and head as well as suffering from a gash in his head and shock.

The mishap occurred about 10 o'clock at the bridge near the Huscroft school. It would appear that the car travelling at a speed above normal—because Mr. Garlick is noted for careful driving at all times—in order to make the grade at the opposite end, skidded on the bridge about half way across, ploughed through the railing and took a drop of a little over twenty feet landing upside down.

It was particularly fortunate that Mrs. Chas. Huscroft had observed the car travelling the highway, anb when the crash of the car was heard both Mr. and Mrs. Huscroft were cognizant of what had probably taken place, and while the latter rushed to the secure help, Mr. Huscroft hureied to the scene of the wreck, and with assistance that was quickly available the injured were removed from the car, carried up to the highway and there transportation back to Creston carried out. In the meantime a mesenger was despatched to she customs office at Porthill to telephone Dr. Henderson of the accident.

Every possible medical care was given and on the noon train Mrs. Garlick and Mrs. Powers were taken to St. Eugene Hospital; Miss Evelyn Bevan, a trained nurse home on vacation, travelling with them, and Dr. Henderson accompanying them as far as Yahk. Reports on Wednesday morning are to the effect that their condition is satisfactory, while Mr. Garlick passed quite a restlul night and is much brighter this (Wednesday) morning.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Hamilton and their daughter, Marjorie, were in another car making the journey with the Garlick's but had taken the North and Sonth highway, and were at the customs at Rykerts awaiting the ill-fated car when news of the mishap reached them. The Garlick's, of course, had travelled the high road via Canyon, in order to pick up Mrs. Powers at her home in Lister. On every hand the utmost symyathy is expressed for the unfortunate travelers.

Canada At War!

Canada is at war, and with the passing of winter, operations are being renewed and extended on all fronts against the common enemy. Happily, it is not warfare directed against any other people or nation, nor, in the final analysis, is it a destructive, life-taking, money-losing campaign in which the Canadian people are engaged. Rather, it is constructive, life-giving, money-making battle that is being waged.

The war to which reference is made is an unceasing one. It can never end, and victory can never be wholly complete. On the other hand, unless the battle is fought, and renewed from year to year, defeat for mankind is sure and inescapable. It is a case where eternal vigilance is the price that must be paid for life, liberty and happiness.

It is a war against dirt, disease, insects, bacteria.

In the spring of the year, as snow disaappears and the frost leaves the ground, exposing the accumulations of winter, it is imperative that every householder, every community, "clean up." Failure to do so may, and in all probability will, result in an epidemic of sickness, not to speak of the unwholesome effect upon the mentality and habits of people living amidst unsightly, disagreeable surroundings. The necessity of an annual spring "clean up," and the maintenance of clean surroundings, and sanitary conditions throughout the warm summer months, is applicable alike to the farm and farm home, and the urban community and home.

The danger of the common house fly is now too well known to require emphasis. It is the greatest distributor of the filth and disease breeding germs upon which it thrives and breeds its countless millions. Destroy its breeding grounds and the battle is more than half won. When the first fly puts in an appearance, kill it, and you will be saved the trouble of swatting hundreds later on.

Then there is that most unpopular little humming bird, the mosquito, which turns so many of our long and lovely summer evenings and our beautiful summer resorts and sports grounds into places of torture. By taking early action this almost universal pest can be largely controlled. For years the citizens of Winnipeg have had life made miserable for them by mosquitoes, and each season witnesses more energetic and concerted effort to destroy them. Regina, no worse sufferer than other places, is this year, under the direction of the Kinsmen Club, assisted by other service clubs, the health authorities, Boy Scouts, and other organizations, taking part in the battle.

The mosquito breeds by tens of millions in stagnant water. Pools of stagnant water, slowly drying up sloughs, partially filled ditches, cannot all be drained, nor can their existence be wholly prevented, but through the simple expedient of scattering coal oil, and other oils, in these stagnant waters, these millions of potential mosquitoes will be destroyed. Regina is surveying the city and its surroundings from the air, thus detecting every spot of stagnant water, and these are to be impregnated with oil. If all our towns and villages locate these pools of stagnant water in and about them and take like action, life will be made more comfortable and enjoyable.

When cleaning old oil out of your motor car, tractor engine, or other machinery, do not throw it away. Save it, and spread it about in any stagnant water in your vicinity, and sink your old oil-soaked rags with a stone in such pools. By so doing you will prevent the breeding of mosquitoes.

This great and holy war is being waged in other directions and in even intensive fashion. Departments of agriculture, and the research departments of our Universities and the National Research Bureau in laboratories and in the fields, have for some years been engaged in the task of finding a means of eradicating rust from wheat, which takes its toll of tens of millions of dollars from the farmers of the prairies. According to latest authentic reports gratifying progress has been made, and the experts engaged in this work are now fairly confident they are on the right track, and that before long a rust resistant wheat will be developed, fully equal to other wheats in its early ripening ability, in yield per acre, and in its bread making qualities. Such a victory will bring huge rewards for the time and money expended. It is a form of constructive warfare which will reimburse Canada for many of its losses occasioned by destructive human war.

Agricultural and health departments of governments are in the van of this great, never-ending battle. The larger municipalities and many other communities are awakening to their responsibility. Semi-public organizations of many kinds are joining in the fray. As was the case in the Great War, scientists are doing their part, and doing it well. But as the Great War developed into a struggle between peoples, rather than armies and navies, in which every man and woman had a duty to perform, so in this other war in which Canada is engaged, everybody must be enrolled if the largest measure of success and victory is to be achieved. This is a war which recognizes no defined boundary lines; it must be waged everywhere; if the enemy remains unmolested in any one place or district, or even on any individual homestead, victories elsewhere will be of little avail. It is a universal war, demanding the active co-operation and alert vigilance of all.

To Check "FLU," Grippe

Fights the Germs in the Throat Before They Invade Other Parts of the Body.

EFFECTIVE PREVENTIVE MEASURES EXPLAINED

Simple precautions taken now will enable you to fight dreaded "Flu" which is sweeping rapidly through the whole country. The germs of Influenza gain access to the body through the mouth and throat. Keep the throat healthy and you go a long way towards stopping the trouble. An effective means of prevention is to garble the throat three or four times daily with Nerviline. Half a teaspoonful of Nerviline in water makes a most efficient gargle. The germ-killing properties of Nerviline quickly destroy any bacteria in the mouth or throat. If the chest is sore, if the throat is hoarse, if you have a cough—be sure, to rub the neck and chest with Nerviline. Every drop of it will rub in, and out will come the congestion.

Of course it is absolutely necessary to house-clean the system with Dr. Hamilton's Pills which stimulate the eliminating organs, and rid the system of disease-breeding wastes. This combination treatment of Nerviline and Dr. Hamilton's Pills will give prompt and entirely satisfactory results.

First India-England Air Plane Made Trip In Seven Days

The first India-England aeroplane arrived at Croydon two minutes ahead of schedule. The air liner carried five passengers, 500 pounds of mail and negotiated the 5,000-mile trip from Karachi in seven days.

One of the passengers was Vice-Marshal Sir V. Vivian, who left Croydon on March 30 on the inaugural mail liner to India, arriving at Karachi April 6. He departed on the return flight within 24 hours, having thus covered 10,000 miles in fourteen and a half days.

RADIANT GIRLHOOD

Comes Through Rich, Red Health-Giving Blood

A girl with a full-blooded body and vital nerves has the foundation of an active, healthy life. Allow her to grow wan and delicate and prolonged ill-health and general weakness may be the result. Many women who ought to be in the very prime of life are too frequently sufferers of headaches, back and side aches, easily tired and breathless, because of anaemia which stealthily attacked them in girlhood.

But fortunately there is a remedy within easy reach. Thousands of tired, worn-out women and delicate girls who have sought the self-help of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are grateful for the way in which these pills have restored them to robust fitness. This effective tonic and nerve restorer always helps to make plenty of rich, red blood that speedily puts an end to anaemia. A wan, delicate girl, or tired, weary woman soon becomes brighter when this new blood courses through the system. Color comes to her cheeks and lips; her appetite increases; her nerves are steadied, and she becomes vital and active again. The following is an example, from among thousands, of what these pills have done and can do: Miss C. J. Martin, Kitchener, Ont., says: "For several years I was greatly distressed with pains in the back and sick headaches. I felt tired all the time, did not sleep well and had a poor appetite. I had been doctoring, but did not get much relief. My sister advised me to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and after taking six boxes I felt like a new person, and will not be without the pills again."

You can get the pills from your druggist, or by mail at 50 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Train Of Tractors

A special train of tractors, valued at $400,000, recently reached Regina. There were 280 machines in all, occupying 70 railway cars. The tractors were distributed to farmer buyers in Saskatchewan and Alberta.

Miller's Worm Powders do not need the after-help of castor oil or any purgative to complete their thoroughness, because they are thorough in themselves. One dose of them, and they will be found palatable by all children, will end the worm trouble by making the stomach and bowels untenable to the parasites. And not only this, but the powders will be certain to exert most beneficial influences in the digestive organs.

Scientists in Russia are working on a device to keep the blood of a person in circulation and thus prolong life after the heart and lungs have ceased to function.

Canada Wins the Banana Trade

Has Largest Banana Carriers Afloat Under Any Flag

The largest banana carriers afloat under any flag is the record claimed by the "Lady Somers" and the "Lady Rodney," the two new vessels of the Canadian National Steamships which went into commission recently. These steamers are equipped with the most modern cooling and refrigeration equipment, and are capable of carrying over 100,000 stems of bananas.

The "Lady Somers" sailed for Bermuda, the Bahamas and Jamaica, inaugurating the western service of the Canadian National Steamships between Canadian ports and the islands.

The ships are elaborately decorated, and the passenger accommodation is complete in every detail. Particular care has been paid to all details of the cargo space and the ship is completely insulated. The "Lady Somers" can carry fruits and vegetables requiring different temperatures. For cool climate the ship is equipped with devices to raise the interior temperature when necessary.

A Real Asthma Relief. Dr. J. D. Kellogg's Asthma Remedy has never been advertised by extravagant statements. Its claims are conservative indeed, when judged by the benefits which it performs. Expect real relief and permanent benefits when you buy this remedy and you will not have cause for disappointment. Exports Tea In Lumps

China exports tea in solid lumps, like bricks, for consumption in Tibet and Siberia. The tea-leaves are pulverized, mixed with water, and moulded into hard cakes. The bricks weigh about 5 lb. each. In this form tea can be carried overland more easily, as it occupies less space.

ITALY DEMANDS EQUALITY AS TO NAVAL POWER

Geneva.—The problem of navy parity between France and Italy loomed out as a reef which might imperil the success of any five-power naval conference to reduce armaments.

Premier Mussolini is reported here as firm as a rock in demanding parity for Italy with France, both on land and sea, while France apparently fails to see the justice of such demands.

France thinks her communications with her extensive colonial possessions and her mainland open to two oceans are sufficient reasons for her having naval forces superior to Italy's.

This problem of satisfying Italy at least on paper is worrying delegates to the preparatory disarmament commission. Some are beginning to worry whether a real advance on the naval problem could not best be made by establishing first of all an understanding between the United States and Great Britain.

The Associated Press correspondent has received the impression that France would place no obstacle in the way of such a preliminary understanding if it did not affect her position in relation to other continental powers. A high French authority voiced recently enthusiastic approval of the speech of Hugh S. Gibson recently, because it gave a magnificent impetus to reduction in aramaments as a whole.

This personality explained that France desired to hasten general reduction in armaments and hoped that delegates would even be able to submit a draft treaty to the September assembly of the League of Nations, thus permitting an international conference by 1930. This would involve a second session of the preparatory disarmament commission during the present summer, until which time he thought the naval question had better be adjourned.

Agrees With Gibson's Speech

British Government Shares Wishes Of U.S. On Disarmament

London, England. — Sir Austen Chamberlain, British foreign secretary, told the House of Commons that the British government shares fully the hope and wishes of the United States government on disarmament as set forth in Ambassador Gibson's speech at Geneva.

"The government desired me to take this opportunity to express its warm appreciation of the cordial conciliatory spirit shown by the American delegates and give assurances on its behalf that in the same spirit and with the most earnest wish to reach a complete understanding it will consider the American suggestions," declared Sir Austen.

Sir Austen made his statement in answer to a question by Commander Joseph Kenworthy, Labor, whether Ambassador Gibson's speech had been called to his attention and what response his majesty's government proposed.

Airmen Killed At Toronto

Machine Went Out Of Control and Crashed Near Flying Field

Toronto.—Noel Marshal and William MacKenzie, residents of Toronto, were killed when their aeroplane went out of control and crashed near the Leaside flying field.

It was reported that MacKenzie who had but recently been granted a pilot's certificate, was in charge of the Gypsy Moth plane, with Marshal, a qualified pilot, as a passenger.

The plane was said to have been but 150 feet from the ground when it went out of control and crashed with such force the engine buried itself.

Win Empire Competition

King's Trophy In Rifle Match Goes To South African Cadet

Ottawa, Ont.—Cadets from South Africa won the King's trophy in the rifle match in 1928, which was participated in by 33,000 boys from all parts of the Empire. Canadian cadets won this trophy in 1927, and finished second in 1928. The results have just been made public by the National Rifle Association.

Commenting on Canada's performance the National Rifle Association report says; "Not only does Canada possess many more brilliant individual shots than any other country but she has a limited number of units capable of achieving very special distinction. When mass efficiency becomes the principal object of the many and fewer low scores have to be included in her national team, the premier prize, the King's trophy will return to the Dominion."

While Canadian boys have lost the King's trophy they have had other remarkable successes in the match. They won 82 silver medals which are awarded for scores of 99 and 100 points, and 152 bronze medals for scores of 97 and 98. The rest of the empire combined won a total of only 124 of these medals.

WHAT HILKIAH FOUND IN THE TEMPLE

Golden Text: "Thy word is a lamp unto my feet, and light unto my path."—Psalm 119.105.

Lesson: 2 Chronicles 34.1-33.

Devotional Reading: Psalm 19.7-14.

Explanations and Comments

The Temple Repairs Which Led To the Finding Of the Book Of the Law, verses 8-13.—When twenty-six years of age, Josiah turned his attention to the ruined temple and had it repaired. He placed in charge of the work the governor of Jerusalem, the official secretary and the offical historian. They handed over to Hilkiah, the high priest, the money which the people brought to the temple and gave to the Levites who were appointed to receive it. The overseers were Levites; other Levites encouraged the workmen with music; yet other Levites were scribes and officers and porters. The work was done faithfully and progressed rapidly.

The Finding Of the Book Of the Law, verses 14-16.—During the work upon the temple, Hilkiah, the priest, found the book of the law of Jehovah given by Moses. This is believed to have been the legal portions (chapters twelve to twenty-six, and chapter twenty-eight) of our Book of Deuteronomy, which calls itself "The Book of the Law" and also "The Book of the Covenant." Some scholars believe that this had been long known, but had been forgotten during the idolatrous reigns of Manasseh and Amon, and Hilkiah found the copy in the temple and read it to Josiah for the first time. Others hold that it was "a new and enlarged edition of the Book of the Covenant prepared for the needs of the times, and brought forth now because Josiah was a righteous king and would enforce its decrees." Dr. George Adam Smith points out that it is precisely from this time onward that the style and phraseology which are characteristic of Deuteronomy begin to affect the literature of Israel.

The Effect Upon Josiah Of the Reading Of the Book Of the Law, verses 17-21.—After telling the king that the work upon the temple was progressing well, the money having been given to the overseers and the workmen put at work, Shaphan spoke about the newly discovered book and read it aloud (the entire roll, according to 2 Kings 22.10). On hearing the words the king rent his robes in token of his troubled mind, "For," he said, "great is God's wrath against us, because our fathers have not done as this book commands." If we would see the effect the book must have had upon the susceptible soul of Josiah, we are advised to read chapters 22-26 of Deuteronomy ourselves with Josiah and his times in mind. The book contains explicit directions as to worship and conduct, and the penalty of national disobedience decreed was the loss of home and country. "For many generations warnings and precepts alike had been neglected, and when the day of doom should come, the sins of the fathers also would be visited upon the children. Could the doom be averted by speedy and complete obedience and penitence?"

"It is not enough to read our Bible. Its messages must be heeded. Learn and observe these words found in an old Bible:

When thou readest what here is writ,
Let thy best practice second it;
So twice each precept read shall be—
First in your booke and nexte in thee.

A CHARMING PRINCESS

Princess Ingrid, only daughter of the Crown Prince Gustaf Adolf, of Sweden, whose engagement to the Crown Prince Frederick, of Denmark, has been reported from Stockholm.

Will Perform Election Duties

King George Desires To Carry Out Usual Royal Functions

Bognor, Sussex, England. — The steady progress being made by the King is permitting the drafting of tentative plans for future functions, and there is every prospect these will be carried out. Transfer of the court from Bognor to Windsor Castle before Whit Sunday, May 10, is contemplated in view of His Majesty's expressed desire to carry out the usual royal functions connected with a general election. The King will remain at Windsor Castle until the political situation permits him to go to Sandringham in Norfolk, where the east cast sea air has always agreed with His Majesty.

It is being suggested that a thanksgiving service for the King's recovery should be held in Westminster Abbey at the end of July, with similar services in other large cities.

Calendar Expert At Ottawa

M. B. Cotsworth Discussed Matter With Government Members

Ottawa.—To aid in the suggested establishment of a national committee in Canada to consider proposed calender reform and its effect on the Dominion, M. B. Cotsworth, of Rochester, N.Y., originator of the 13-month calendar idea, has paid a special visit to Ottawa. Mr. Cotsworth conferred with Dr. O. D. Skelton, under-secretary of state for external affairs, and H. H. Coats, Dominion statistician, respecting his proposition.

Organize Wheat Pool

Lincoln, Neb.—Wheat-raisers of Nebraska and Wyoming to the number of 200 have effected organization of a wheat pool, giving it the name of the Middle West Market Association non-stock co-operative. The Pool was said to represent 13,000 grain raisers in the two states and was declared to be the largest in the middle west.

Germany Wants Aerial Bombs Abolished

But Objections Were Raised By Several Countries

Geneva.—The German proposal to abolish the use of aerial bombs in warfare was defeated before the League's preparatory commission on disarmament. Only five countries were in its favor—Germany, Sweden, Holland, China and Russia. Those against it, including Canada, the U.S. and Great Britain, registered their objections with a rider that a negative vote was not to be interpreted as in any way authorizing the use of aerial bombs against civil populations.

Count Von Bernstoff, of Germany, pointed out the toll that could be exacted by bombing planes over Paris, Berlin and London, and said that this method of warfare was horrible and cowardly, because the combatants were protected by defensive appliances.

F. Sokal, of Poland, said no one would deny the horror of such methods but the conference had not reached that point and under the Kellogg anti-war past was not likely to reach it. When war had been outlawed, it was ilogical to begin codifying rules of war, he remarked.

M. Litvinoff, of the Soviet, here interpolated that Poland was among those who last year rejected the Russian proposals for complete abolition of armaments.

Answers King's Message

Viscount Willingdon Sends Reply On Behalf Of Dominion

Ottawa.—On behalf of the Canadian people. His Excellency Viscount Willingdon, governor-general of Canada, despatched a message to His Majesty King George, expressing joy over the "glad tidings" contained in the affectionate cable sent by His Majesty to his subjects throughout the Empire.

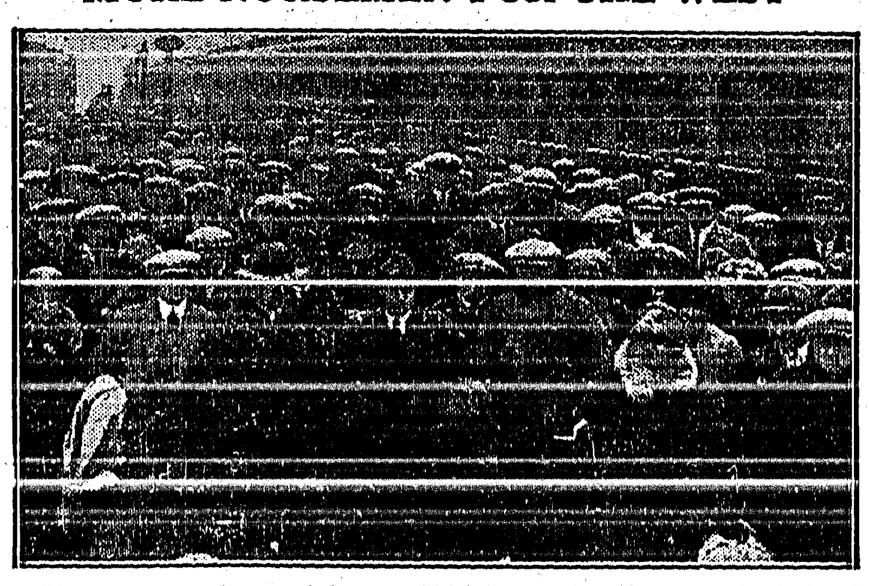
The messaage follows:

"Your Majesty's word will be received with the greatest joy and gladness by your loyal people of Canada on whose behalf I beg very respectfully to thank you for the glad tidings contained in your beautiful message. During the past months we have been filled with anxiety and sympathy over your majesty's serious illness. We can now rejoice that your majesty is well on the way to recovery and that her majesty has been relieved from the strain of anxiety which has enlisted our deepest sympathy. We trust before long to have the opportunity of joining with all your majesty's subjects throughout the Empire in a prayer of thanksgiving for your safe recovery and in a profound hope your majesty may long be spared to reign over your loyal and devoted subjects."

Receives Fellowship

Saskatoon, Sask. — Dr. William Allen, professor of agricultural economics at the University of Saskatchewan, has had a fellowship conferred on him which will meet the expenses of attending a conference of agricultural economists to be held during August in Devonshire, England.

MORE NORSEMEN FOR THE WEST



This photograph was taken at Winnipeg after the arrival of the first immigrant special train this season, over the Canadian National Railways, March 20. There were 205 broad-shouldered Scandinavians in a total of 369 arrivals, which included 22 British settlers. Two trains, which followed the first special a day later, brought the total of new comers up to nearly one thousand. At least half were Scandinavians. All the immigrants have been placed by the Canadian National Railways' Colonization Department.

ANTI-SMUGGLING TREATY MAY GO TO ARBITRATION

Washington.—Terminating the diplomatic correspondence on the "I'm Alone" sinking, Canada replied to the United States rejoinder to the protest against the sinking by coast guards' gun fire on the high seas, of the Canadian schooner suspected of conspiracy against American liquor laws.

Hon. Vincent Massey, the Canadian minister, delivered to Secretary Henry L. Stimson, a note which is expected to reveal the Dominion's attitude to the "I'm Alone" case in particular, and the scope of the anti-smuggling treaty of 1924 in general.

It is generally accepted here that the United States wants the case to go to arbitration. It is expected Canada will accept. Arbitration probably will proceed under the provision of the 1924 treaty itself, which leaves any dispute over the seizure of a ship to a tribunal composed of representatives of both countries.

Because of the whole question of the right of "hot and continuous pursuit," under the treaty will be involved, the importance of the negotiations will transcend the single case of the "I'm Alone."

The British government is sitting back and letting Canada fight the case because the ship is of Canadian registry. But the decision will affect some far-reaching questions of territorial waters, and United States rights under the special treaty to claim the 12-mile limit specified in its own tariff act.

The treaty was signed by Great Britain, and technically London would have the right to say who would represent the British Empire on the arbitration board. It is likely that some prominent Canadian will be appointed, however, and he will serve for the Empire.

It is suggested here that the former secretary of state, Frank B. Kellogg, may represent the United States.

Convict Train Travels West

Seventy Prisoners Are Sent To Stony Mountain Penitentiary

Winnipeg. — The convict train, bearing 170 prisoners from Kingston, Ont., to western penitentiaries, reached here recently. Seventy prisoners were immediately transferred to Stony Mountain penitentiary, a few miles north of Winnipeg, while the remaining hundred continued the westward journey to Prince Albert penitentiary.

The convict train consisted of four steel coaches, the windows of which were heavily barred. Guards armed with rifles, were aboard the train, while during the stop here forty provincial policemen, also armed with carbines, stood guard.

The journey from the penitentiary at Kingston was uneventful, according to the prison guards.

Succeeds Lord Revelstoke

Paris.—Sir Charles Addis, director of the Bank of England, and noted English financial expert, has been appointed to succeed Lord Revelstoke as head of the British delegation at the conference on reparations. Lord Revelstoke died suddenly on April 19, wearied by the commission's abortive attempts to reach some settlement of the tangled problem of German payments.

Message For American People

San Francisco, Calif.—Sir Rabindranath Tagore, Indian poet and philosopher, sailed aboard the liner "Tayio Maru" for India, via Hong Kong. His final words to the Americaan public were the expression of a wish that his people "would rise above indignities and insults to impart some beauty to the utter ugliness of the industrialization of the West."

HOME BREW

An amendment to the Highway Act, British Columbia, prescribes that in respect of any highway where there is a railway intersecting that the driver of every motor vehicle shall, before proceeding to cross such railway and while at a distance of not more than 20 feet therefrom bring the motor vehicle to a full stop.

If for any good and sufficent reason householders were unable to effectively observe clean up day last Wednesday it is to be hoped that they will not fail to get on with the good work of beautification at the earliest possible moment. Now that it is all but assured that Creston is to have a government liquor vendor and with that institution a greatly increased tourist traffic (if you fall for that kind of argument) surely this clean up effort is more important than ever. A tidy town is the best possible advertising any community can have.

When it comes to loafing on work for community betterment members of Kimberley board of trade appear to be making a pretty good job of it in connection with village incorporation, according to the Press. The matter was delegated to a select committee of the board about a year ago, but to date no report has been turned in on the undertaking. The reason for inaction would appear to be due the fact that many of the so called business men are afraid their taxes will be increased if incorporation is inaugurated. For th benefit of these timid souls let us point that in Creston municipilization has boought reduced taxation. In the old days village property was taxed at a 10 mill rate on both land and inprovements. Under village government while land tax has gone to 12 mills, improvements are only assessed at half of their former value, working out at a tax rate on improvements of but six mills—a net saving of one fifth of one per cent. to say nadhing of the many other benefits home government has conferred.

With the local dyking situation so hopelessly up in the air the time is not exactly opportune to introdnce such a subject, but remembering that most everyone is optimistic enough to believe the flats will be reclaimed some day it may not be out of place to refer to the financial success of such undertakings on the Idaho side. According to official figures, presented by the Bonners Ferry Herald, since 1922 nine fully organized drainage districts have been formed in Idaho on which to date, total payments of principal and interest amounting to roughly speaking $195.000 have become due and of which amount but $20,287 remains unpaid. In the first-ever dyked district in Idaho, where the cost was about $60 an acre, and the work completed in January, 1922, $86,006 has peen paid and but $1,575 is in arears over a period of seven years.

About the time the Review appears, or shortly thereafter, public sentiment toward a 1929 fall fair at Creston is to be tested by way of a sale of membership tickets in the agricultural association, at the old reliable price of one dollar. President Murrell and the other directors are quite willing to do their best to give Creston a bigger and better fair, provided of course, that the district really wants the fall exhibion. By way of gauging public feeling no better plan could have been devised than he drive for membership. What is worth having is worth paying for, and if the fall fair cannot get an advance payment of one dollar from a reasonable number of residents, no one can honestly blame the executive if the fall fair is allowed to go by the boards for 1929.

The truth of the old saying that is you don't take yourself seriously no one else will, is coming home somewhat forcibly to Premier Tolmie just at present. Recently the premier was reported to have gone into "retreat" to recover his health, but this press announcement was quickly followed by an Ottawa despatch stating the B.C. premier was renewing old acquaintances at the dominion capital. Since that there has been no news as to his whereabouts whereat a Victoria paper deepens the mystery by publishing the following despatches:

"Atlantic City, April 15.—A man thought to be Dr. Tolmie of Saanich, a suburb of Vancouver, B.C., was seen taking the air on the boardwalk here today."

"Palm Beach, Fla., April 15.—Among those golfing here today with John D. Rockefeller was a gentleman said to be Dr. Tolmie of some place in Saanich, Alberta."

"Brown's Corner, Ont., April 15.—There was quite a few visitors out to see Ed. Swart's champion Jersey bull yesterday. One man who spent the day looking at it claimed to be Dr. Tolmey of Saanich, somewhere out West. He allowed as it was the best bull he had seen for some time."

Verily, a prophet is of some account save in his home town.

Rossland has $13,407 of overdue taxes to the end of 1928.

Local and Personal

The famous racing story "The Whip," is this week's attraction at the Grand and is running both Friday and Saturday nights at regular prices.

C. F. Hayes is a Spokane visitor this week, leaving on Wednesday. The Review makes its appearance a day ahead of schedule in consequence.

Members Creston Post Canadian Legion are reminded of the May meeting on the 7th. There is important business to transact and every member is urged to attend.

There was considerable rush for auto licenses at the Creston office of the provincial police, the intake from that source running close to $1600 of total cash receipts of $1700 for the whole of April.

The Rod and Gun Club has just been advised that the trout fishing season in local streams opens May 1st. This does not include Summit Creek, in which fishing is not permitted until Dominion Day.

The K.P. hall was packed to capacity on Thursday night when a host of visitors from points south paid a fraternal visit and a select degree team conferred two ranks on a candidate from Bonners Ferry.

The report is current that when the new ferry at the Reclamation Farm is placed in commission it will be at a new location—at a point where the Kootenay and Goat Rivers flow within 100 yards of each other.

A small crew started work this week at Crestwood putting in a new forestry fire protection trail leading from the road at the C. C. French ranch on through to the Idaho boundary. About $600 will be spent.

Misses Irene Huscroft and Marjory Brown, and Messrs. Elmer Huscroft, and H. Purchase and R. Crawford were Bonners Ferry visitors on Thursday, to which town they motored to see the movie picture "Wings."

Mr. and Mrs. O. Brown, who have spent the winter in the Valley and recently purchased the Percy Watson property on Grandview Heights, left on Tuesday for Calgary, Alberta, where they will spend the summer.

Messrs. A. Mackie, S. S. Franks and T. Kuhst of Boswell were business visitors to Creston on Saturday They were a power spray purchasine committea from Boswell Farmer's Institute and bought a new machine from Chas. Murrell.

It is definitely stated that the Shell Oil Company have leased a site on C.P.R. trackage, west of Creston Growers warehouse and will at once start in erecting storage warehouse and tank The firm has recently opened for business at Cranbrook.

The Girls' Go Getter Club of Trinity United Church, in charge of Mrs. Truscott, were on the hike again last Saturday. This time the tramp was was to Porthill, where an early supper was had at Mrs. Bliss. The 14 mile constitutional completed early in the evening.

At the annual meeting of Creston Co Operative Fruit Exchang on Saturday announcement was made that W. H. Whimster of Penticton will be in charge of the Creston office this season He replaces C. S. Snuires, who is tranferred to Nelson. W. Vance is transferred from Nelson for work on the prairie.

Saturday afternoon, May 11, is the date of the Women's Institute bulb show, to be held in Trinity United hall from 3 to 5 o'clock. There will be a show of all spring flowers available, and afternoon tea will be served, with home cooking and cut flowers on sale. There is no admission fee and all are welcome.

Teachers at Trinity United Church Sunday school who wrote on the examination on the subject of, "What Jesus Taught," were all successful in passing with creditable scandings. Ten lessons on the topic were given by the pastor, Rev. R. E. Cribb. Those passing were Misses Muriel Knott, Edith Cook, Emma Samuelson, Mrs. Frank Bunt, Mrs. J. W. Truscott and Rev. R. E. Cribb.

The warmer weather prevailing last week started the fishermen operating and already some nice catches of bass are reported. Melt Beam is the first to enter a bass in Vic. Mawson's contest, with a two pound nine-ounce sample. It was 16½ inches long with a 12 inch girth. J. Handley has captured one 3 pounds 8 ounces; 19 inches long and 12½ inch girth. O. D. Bliss, however, beats them all with a beauty weighing 4 lbs. 8 oz.; 19¾ inches long, and 14¼ inch girth.

The committee in charge of the dance programme for the Old Timers' dance on Wednesday, May 8th, are working in harmony with those responsible for the music and it can now be assured that practically every one of the oldtime dances will be on the list and that the music will be in keeping with each number. This will assuredly be the dance of the season, and none should miss it. Plenty of room in the Grand theatre ballroom. Gentlemen $1. Ladies please bring refreshments.

There was a large turnout of shippers through Creston Co-Operative Fruit Exchange for the annual meeting on Saturday afternoon, which was in charge of the president, R. J. Long. The balance sheet submitted by J. W. Hamilton was most satisfactory and the announcement was made that a rebate of 1½ rents a box on all commodities handled will be paid Exchange shippers. This will go out along with a rebate that is coming from the Associated. Jas. Compton and Hilton Young were re-elected to succeed themselves in the two vacancies on the directorate and with R.J. Long, J. M. Craigie, E. W. Klingensmith, L. T. Leveque and John Hall constitute the board of directors for 1929.

On Saturday the district was favored with a visit from Hon. E. P Burden minister of lands, and Hon. W. Atkinson, minister of agriculture. The former had quite a busy time of it. He had an irrigation situation at Wynndel to look into, as well as the newly incorporated Arrow Creek Irrigation District, and on Saturday evening he was in conference with the directors of Creston Reclamation Company, Limited. The minister of agriculture was having his first inspection of the Lister area where there is a strong demand for at least a domestic water supply. Dr. Gaddes, who has recently been named director of colonization was with the party, as well as Mr. McConnell, representing the coloization department of the C.P.R. The party was taken in charge by Col. Fred Lister, M.P.P.

Foter—Miller Marriage

A marriage of interest to many of our readers was solemnized at Christ Church, Creston, on Monday morning when the rector, Rev. A. Garlick united in holy wedlock Mrs. Martha Foster, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Stewart, with Herbert Alexander Miller of Wasa. The bride entered the church on the arm of her father to the strains of the wedding march played by Mrs. Garlick, and was gowned in blue crepe de chine with an overdress of silver lace, and carried a bouquet of lillies and pink carnations. There were four bridesmaids, Misses Louise and Helen Daisy Knowles of Wasa, and neices of the groom; and Misses Gladys Stewart and Elsie Foster, sister and daughter of the bride respectively. All wore white satin and carried bouquets of lillies and pink carnations. Assisting were two little flower girls, Thelma and Rosie Stewart, neices of the bride, who were attired in white silk and carrying baskets of tulips. The best man was Hector Stewart, a broteer of the bride.

Mrs. Miller, who recently arrived arrived from England to make her home in Canada, was the recipient of many useful presents, and the groom remembered each of the bride's attendants with brooches, and to the flower girls he gave lockets.

Following the ceremony there was a wedding breakfast at the home of the bride's parents, to which some sixty guests sat down. In the evening the happy event was royally celebrated with a dance with music by a five-piece orchestra made up of Charlie Botterill, banjo; G. H. Kelly, saxaphone; Ron. Smith, violin; Hector Stewart, accordeon; and Bob Marshall, drums. At midnight an excellent lunch was enjoyed by almost 130 guests present. Mr. and Mrs. Miller left on Tuesday for Wasa, where they will make their home, and take with them the best wishes of many friends for a happy wedded life.

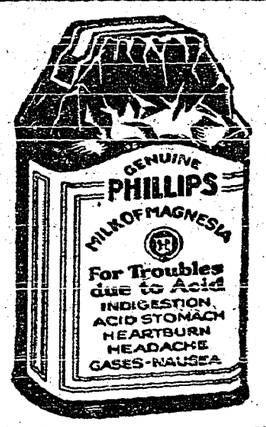
BEAUTIFY CANADA

Clean Up, Paint Up, Keep It Up.--- Increases the Value of Your Property



When Pain Comes

What many people call indigestion very often means excess acid in the stomach. The stomach nerves have been over-stimulated, and food sours. The corrective is an alkali, which neutralizes acids instantly. And the best alkali known to medical science is Phillips' Milk of Magnesia. It has remained the standard with physicians in the 50 years since its invention.

One spoonful of this harmless, tasteless alkali in water will neutralize instantly many times as much acid, and the symptoms disappear at once. You will never use crude methods when once you learn the efficiency of this. Go get a small bottle to try.

Be sure to get the genuine Phillips' Milk of Magnesia prescribed by physicians for 50 years in correcting excess acids. Each bottle contains full directions—any drugstore.

Increase In Gold Supply

Was Greater By Sixty-One Million Than Amount Minted In 1928

Gold holdings in the United States at the end of 1928 were reported by the federal reserve board in the April issue of its bulletin to have been 37.6 per cent. of the world's total, which amounted to $9,981,000,000.

The total gold supply was compiled from reports transmitted to the board from 40 countries and shows that the increase in gold of $466,000,000 in a year was greater than the amount of gold minted during the year by about $61,000,000. The increase was made, the report said, even though about $80,000,000 was absorbed by Great Britain and an unknown amount taken away for industrial consumption.

Draws Attention To Peace River District

Has Room For 2,000,000 People Says Major-General McRae

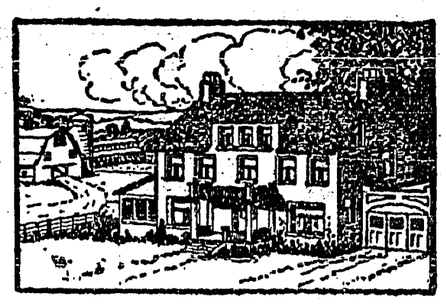
Major-General A. D. McRae will aagin draw the attention of parliament to the colonizing possibilities of the Peace River country. His visit to that area last year has more than confirmed his previously expressed opinion that 2,000,000 people can find homes for 400,000 farms of 240 acres each. General McRae will urge greater railway facilities, modern methods of preparation of scrub land and a national colonization and settlement policy extending over ten years.

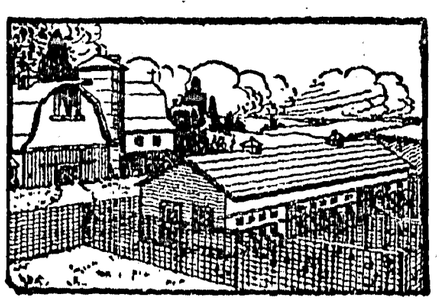
"Have faith in your fellow man," says a paragraphist. But be sure you get his signature on the dotted line.

Keep Your Farm Up-to-Date This Inexpensive Way

For Farm Homes

Faded or cracked walls and ceilings detract from the pleasure of farm life. Hundreds of farm owners, realizing this, have transformed their rooms into bright, colorful interiors by applying Gyproc over all the old, ugly surfaces—then decorating. Remarkably attractive results are thus achieved at small cost. Every room becomes much more beautiful, livable and up-to-date.





Barns and Poultry Houses

Gyproc lined barns and poultry houses provide the best protection against fire, cold, heat and vermin that your stock can have. You can erect strong, rigid Gyproc sheets yourself in short time and at little expense. After a few months you will be delighted with the improved health of your cattle and the increased laying capacity of your flock.

Utilizing Waste Space

Those musty, inaccessible waste spaces in your attic and basement! Why not convert them into extra rooms by erecting Gyproc walls and ceilings? You can have a playroom, a laundry room, a workshop, a special preserving closet or any other kind of room you wish.

For fast, economical, fire-proof construction on the farm there is nothing to equal Gyproc. Write us for information or see your nearest Gyproc dealer.

Airplane On Submarine

Big Innovation Has Been Added To Italy's Newest Craft

Italy's largest and best equipped submarine, the Franco Tosi, has been lauched at the dockyards at Taranto, Italy. The submarine has two 3,000 horsepower Diesel engines of special designs which can be used separately or together, and which give a surface speed of 19 miles an hour. Two electric motors of 1,000 horsepower each propel the submarine at a speed of ten miles an hour under water.

The submarine's artillery is one anti-aircraft gun and several machine guns. The submarine is to carry a seaplane in a large tube adjoining the turret, a big innovation in submarine technique. The tube is able to resist over 300-foot depth water pressure.

THESE SIMPLE RULES MAKE TEETHING EASY

Be careful of Baby's diet during teething. Do not overfeed him. Watch his stomach and bowels and at the first sign of indigestion, gas or constipation, give him a few drops of harmless, pleasant-tasting Fletcher's Castoria. These simple rules are making teething easy on million's of babies—and mothers, too. For over thirty years Castoria has been the trusted standby of mothers everywhere. It soothes wakeful, cross babies to sleep quickly and easily—and it's purely-vegetable so you can give it as often as needed. It does the work of castor oil better and more gently. For your protection, the bottle of genuine Castoria always bears the Fletcher signature.

Minerals In Alberta

Alberta is famous for its vast resources of coal, for the rapid development of its oil and gas resources, and for the extent of its unique deposits of bituminous sands.

A GREAT PUZZLE TO CAREFUL PARENTS

One of the greatest puzzles to the careful parent is to know just what medicine to give the little ones. When the child falls ill with griping pains; is seized with cold or fever, refuses food or vomits what he has taken, when he cries a great deal and cannot get the sleep so necessary to the growing child, the parent is in a quandary. What is to be done on such occasions? As often as not there is not a suitable medicine in the house. The puzzle is what to give him to set him right quickly.

It is to meet such emergencies that Baby's Own Tablets were designed. These pleasant little Tablets quickly reduce fever, break up colds, relieve constipation and indigestion and allay teething pains. They quiet the nerves and promote restful health-restoring sleep. They are guaranteed absolutely harmless and safe for even the youngest and most delicate baby.

Baby's Own Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

An Oil For All Men.—The sailor, the soldier, the fisherman, the lumberman, the out-door laborer and all who are exposed to injury and the elements will find in Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil a true and faithful friend. To ease pain, relieve colds, dress wounds, subdue lumbago and overcome rheumatism, it is excellent. Therefore, it should have a place in all home medicines and be amongst those taken on a journey.

Make Your Priming Coat

By a primary coat is meant the first, or primary, coat of paint or varnish on any surface of wood, metal or plaster. The first object of the priming coat is to stop most of the suction, present to a great extent in wood and plaster, so that the finishing coats will stand out with a uniform degree of gloss, or, in the case of flat-wall paint, with a uniform degree of flatness.

In this connection, please note that no such uniformity can be obtained until the porous nature of the surface, or suction, has been satisfied. In the case of metal surfaces the degree of suction, or porosity, is far less noticeable; therefore, such surfaces will naturally call for a different priming treatment.

The second object to be aimed at in the first class priming coat is a proper degree of penetration of the face, so that the paint will to the greatest possible extent become a part of the surface—not merely so much pigment and oil spread out on top of, and insecurely bound to, the surface.

Bearing these objects in mind, the salesman will readily understand that a thick priming coat cannot possibly be a good priming coat. Why? Take the first object outlined above. If a thick priming coat is applied on wood or plaster the porous nature of the surface will suck away most of the oil from the paint, which, mind you, needs just this quotaa of oil to bind it and form a good film. The result is, that instead of having stopped the suction, you have merely superimposed another surface, porous in nature because it has been deprived of too much oil and insecurely bound to the surface for the same reason—and that also kicks the props from under our second support—the second object.

So we arrive at the natural and logical conclusion that priming coats on wood and plaster must be thin coats—it is almost impossible to get them too thin. If a priming coat can be said to be too thin, such a claim can only be advanced from the covering or hiding viewpoint,—a defect which can be easily remedied by an additional coat. But if too thick a priming coat is applied, a dozen coats will not cover up the blunder, because it will be exposed by the almost inevitable result—peeling of the paint from the surface.

When in doubt — thin priming coats.

Soldiers' Settlement

31,360 Veterans Have Been Settled On Farm Lands

Veterans to the number of 31,360 have been settled on farm lands, with and without loans, under the Soldiers' Settlement Act, according to a report tabled in the House of Commons. No fewer than 6,652 of these men established themselves without financial assistance from the Government. More than 6,000,000 acres in all, at an average price of $10 per acre, have been bought or homesteaded by the Vets.

Donald's heart ached for this man, whose great love for his wife was as passionate at this moment as when she was living. "How he loved her!" he thought.

When Wainwright spoke again his voice was spiritless. "You are the first person to whom I have spoken of my past; even Constance does not know." As he turned to leave Donald gripped his hand in silence, but with a pressure eloquent of heart-felt sympathy.

Andy had noticed Donald's increasing interest in Connie and had wisely refrained from accompanying him on his nightly visits. On this particular night Donald came into the kitchen whistling a lively air, his face wreathed in smiles. He slapped Andy heartily on the back as he asked him for a lunch. His gaiety was so pronounced that Andy studied him closely.

"You look 'appy, Donnie," he remarked.

"I am, Andy; I'm the happiest man in the world."

He finished eating, then sat staring dreamily at the smoke of his cigarette as it circled about his head. Andy discoursed lightly on various subjects, but Donald did not seem to hear him. After he left Andy heard him singing merrily in his cabin.

"Strike me pink, but I do 'ope Donnie has waked up! What a pair, what a pair!" he said to himself.

In the morning Donald rode north on the gas-car to the scene of logging opeerations near the upper lake. He left orders with the men to bring Wainwright's baggage to the station. What Connie's absence would mean was brought forcibly to him as he met the trapper leading Pegasus and her pet deer down the trail to his cabin.

Two hours later Connie and her father stood on the station platform. Connie was dressed in an inexpensive blue suit, and wore a neat blue hat with a jaunty feather. Her golden hair was piled high in loops and coils that held a sheen of brightness like the shine of metal where the sun touched it. She appeared mystified and confused as the time for the train to pull out drew near. Andy, standing by her side, cursed softly as he saw her looking toward the mill, a look of poignant disappointment in her eyes.

"Donald 'ad to go up the line, Connie; guess somthing 'as 'appened," he mumbled.

At that moment Donald was heaping opprobrium on a recalcitrant gas-car that had died on his hands.

The conductor called "All aboard!" Connie turned to Andy. "Good-bye, Andy," she said sweetly, her eyes swimming with tears.

Andy took her gloved hand. "Good-bye, Connie," he returned, attempting a brave smile. "When are you coming back?"

"Maybe never." She choked as she stumbled up the car steps.

As the train started to move Connie came to the rear platform. A small, pathetic figure she seemed to Andy as she strained her eyes toward the north in a vain hope that she would see Donald. Andy stood in the centre of the track waving his hat until the flutter of Connie's little handkerchief vanished around a curve.

As the train roared through the cut, the last view of her loved valley flashed before her eyes. Her face strangely white, she clung to the brass rail and gazed with tearful eyes at the only home she had ever known.

As they passed the trapper's cabin, the noise of the rushing train sent Pegasus galloping madly about the pasture. With flying hoofs that tore up the sod he circled around the field, then came to the fence and with his beautiful head held high on the arched neck he looked with startled eyes at the speeding train.

With a gesture intensely eloquent, Connie flung out her arms. "Good-bye, Peggy! Good-bye!" She found her way to a seat and covered her face with her hands.

Donald flung himself from the gas-car before it had ceased moving. "Train gone, Andy?" he shouted.

Andy stood with arms folded. "Gone?" he yelled, "of course it's gone. Why in 'ell wasn't you 'ere?"

"I had to go up the line to look over some logs, and the car broke down," replied Donald bitterly.

"Of course," Andy with withering sarcasm, "the timber couldn't 'ave waited another day."

"Andy," asked Donald excitedly, ignoring the remark, "did Connie leave you her address?"

"Why the 'ell should she give me 'er address? 'Aven't you 'er address?" was Andy's unaccommodating reply.

"No, I haven't, I know that they are going to England, and that is all."

Donald sat down dejectedly.

Andy's face softened. "Do you like Connie?" he queried.

"Like her? I love her!"

"In that case I don't see 'ow she didn't let you know where to find 'er," puzzled Andy.

"She doesn't know that I care for her," said Donald gloomily.

Andy's mouth opened. He seized Donald by the shoulder. "Do you mean to tell me that you let that girl get away from you without letting 'er know hat you wanted 'er?" he demanded incredulously. "Strike me 'andsome," blazed Andy, "of all the blinkin' mutts in this 'ere world —you—you——" Speech failed him for a moment. "You let that dear little girl go away broken-'earted."

"Andy," interrupted Donald eagerly, "do you think Connie cares for me?"

For a moment, as he looked into his friend's face, Andy was tempted to tell him of the scene after his fight with Hand. But the promise to Connie sealed his lips.

"'Ow the 'ell should I know?" he mumbled. "But," he added with fine sarcasm, "if bone was ten cents a cubic foot you'd be a multi-millionaire, you blinkin' pie-eyed nincompoop—you—you——" He clapped a tragic hand to his brow. "You give me a 'eadache," and muttering to himself, he trudged up the hill.

The next day Donald went to Vancouver. He scanned the registers in hotels, inquired at docks and depots, but no tracee of the Wainwrights could he find. He walked the streets with a forlorn hope that he might meet them. The hearts of many slender golden-haired girls were set fluttering that day as a tall, handsome young man subjected them to a close scrutiny.

Two days later he returned to the lake. That night he switched off the light and sat by the open window looking out on a night of stars, with a new moon making a ghostly light on the lake. An owl's mournful hoot was answered by the uncanny cry of a heron. The faint sighing sound of streams in distant gorges became a haunting chorus to this duet. He thought of Connie's cabin up the mountain, now cold and dark. How he would miss her! What an idiot he had been not to have known long ago that he loved her. He knew now that he had loved her from the first. Dear little Connie!

Donald walked the floor until midnight. Once in bed, he tossed restlessly until the early morning, then fell into fitful sleep in which he dreamed of a small, winsome face and big blue eyes surrounded by a wealth of golden hair.

September with its days of mellow sunshine passed. October brought heavy hoar frosts that covered the earth with a robe of diamonds, and formed ice in the small pools and marshes. Winter comes early in the mountains. In mid-winter the valleys between the peaks of the Coast Range will have five feet of snow when, a few hundred feet below, where the warm waters of the Pacific lap the gentle slopes, the grass is green and there is none of the chilly whiteness that mantles the towering hills above.

There came a day in November when the air held a solmen stillness. The firs and pines pointed straight to the sky without a quiver in their branches. The brown earth seemed to say, "I am ready." The cry of the loon in it had a dreary sound, a note which seemed to say that winter was coming. Squirrels working in the tops of big pines increased their efforts. The cones, nipped off by their sharp teeth fell pattering to the ground, to be garnered by these busy little workers and secreted in their nests in hollow trees. The bear of the hillsides ate the frozen berry or the pulp of rotten log to cleanse its stomach before starting its long winter sleep in windfall or cave. Thus does Nature give to the wild things of the forest an instinct unknown to man.

An Oil That Is Prized Everywhere.—Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil was put upon the market without any flourish over fifty years ago. It was put up to meet the wants of a small section, but as soon as its merits became known it had a whole continent for a field, and it is now known and prized throughout this continent. There is nothing equal to it.

In the sky and on the highways modern motors, developing greater power and operating at higher speeds, demand better lubricants. Marvelube was developed to meet this demand. It is a better motor oil because it is made by better methods from a better crude petroleum.

Produced by the Special Marvelube distillation process, it is free from injurious sulphur and costly carbon. It has remarkable body, and because it is manufactured under the constant supervision of Canada's most expert refining technicians you are sure of unvarying quality and unending satisfaction.

Aircraft operators, the most exacting buyers of oil, prefer Marvelube because it has been proved in actual service that it affords longer intervals between engine overhauls.

Marvelube insures smoother performance, longer engine life and lower operating costs for any car, old or new. There is a grade of Marvelube refined to meet the exact requirements of your car. Consult the Marvelube recommendation chart at good dealers or at Imperial Oil Service Stations.
