MORE OF THE BOYS BACK

Another Bunch of Six Arrive During the Past Week.

THEY ALL SEEM TO BE SATISFIED

Had a Great Experience But None of Them Care to Try It Again.

SOME INCIDENTS OF THE TRIP

Another bunch of the Strathcona Horse boys returned during the week. They were W. T. Haines, W. O'Hearn, Charles Hart, H. Melton, J Nesbit and J. McDuff. All of them were looking well, and they all say that they have enjoyed excellent health since leaving the battlefields, and are tickled to death to return to Canada and South East Kootenay. None of them regret having enlisted as it gave them a wonderful experience, but not one of them would care to repeat the experiment. They all agree that they had a royal good time while in London. The people of that city left nothing undone to insure every member of the company all the fun to be found in a city like London, and as one of the boys expressed it, "We drank champagne out of beer mugs, and everything else was done on the same liberal plan." O'Hearn says he would not have missed the trip for anything, but in the future if any Boers wanted to fight him, they must come into his backyard.

The boys are all of one voice in their praise of Col. Steele. They say he is a model officer, and just the kind of a man to have charge of a crowd of westerners who knew or cared little for discipline, but who could fight like demons when the necessity arose. It was on the point of discipline that many of the members of Strathcona Horse shocked the old-time English officers, as it was seldom that they thought to salute when a superior rode by them. When it came to foraging the boys from Canada's western plains and mountains were in their element, and many a Boer farmyard was depleted of poultry after the boys had ridden by. One one occasion, one of the South East Kootenay boys was riding into camp with a dozen or more chickens strung across his saddle. It was just about dusk, and unfortunately the trooper met Col. Steele riding at the outskirts of the camp. Putting on a brave front the culprit saluted, and said: "I was presented these fowls at a farm house, and was on my way to your headquarters to leave a few." The doughty colonel frowned a second, and then replied: "All right, my man, but no stealing, you know," and then rode rapidly away to hide the smile that he could not repress.

A Few Notes.

W. T. Haines brought his bride back with him, and is now back in the employ of the railway company.

W. O'Hearn expects to return to railroading.

Charles Hart says he don't know yet what he will do.

Harry Melton says he has an interest in a large gold property and that he will return to South Africa in a few months to take the preliminary steps to become a millionaire.

Jack Nesbitt and Jack McDuff left Tuesday morning for Nelson, and expect to spend the summer in the Lardeau country.

Jack McDuff was presented a fine locket by admiring friends on his return to his old home in Ontario.

The last seen of Harry Morgan was at Toronto when he bade the boys good bye and walked away leading the mascot goat of the troop.

W. O'Hearn wears a bracelet on his left wrist, and some of the boys say it was given to him by an African belle who was captivated by "Fish's" winning ways.

Jack Kennedy, who was left in the hospital at London, arrived at Halifax on the 29 ult, on the steamship Lake Superior.

"Curly" Hamby expects to return to Cranbrook in a few weeks.

Harry Melton brought a piece of rock back with him, of course.

Robert Shaw returned this morning looking like the same old Bob of old. He was kept busy all the morning shaking hands with his host of friends.

George Hazell joined "Buffalo Bill's" wild west show in the east, together with several other members of the Strathcona Horse.

Nicholas Flood Davin, former member of the commons for Western Assiniboia, is in the press gallery at Ottawa, special correspondent for the Toronto Evening News. His daily letters are interesting and readable and show Mr. Davin's cleverness with the pen.

THE HERALD'S PRIZE ESSAY.

The Competition Will Close On Friday of Next Week.

Three weeks ago The Herald announced that it would give two prizes of $3 and $2 each for the best essay on Cranbrook and South East Kootenay by the school children. The announcement stirred up a great deal of interest among the pupils, and as a result there are a number of contestants working with great zeal. The Herald believes such diversions are a good thing for the pupils since they prove incentives for labor outside of the regular routine work. There is much to learn in school outside from that which is to be found in the text books. The Herald believes in broad-minded teaching, which means practical and beneficial teaching, and it may have other suggestions to make in the future. There is no work more important in a town than school work, and parents should make every effort to encourage their children. The school life of a child means much or little. A great deal depends upon the child and a great deal upon the policy pursued by the teacher.

TALK ON JOB PRINTING.

The Herald has ordered another lot o type, aggregating over $100. A friend of the Herald remarked the day the order was sent in: "Why are you sending for more type, Simpson? You have now twice as much material as any office in towns of this size in British Columbia." That is true. But the world moves, and nothing changes move rapidly than style and custom in typography. To give satisfaction to your patrons, the job printer must not only keep up with the procession but a little ahead of it. Some say: "Oh, that is not necessary in a small town." That is a mistake. South East Kootenay and Cranbrook have their up-to-date business men. They read and they observe. A job of printing printed with type ten years out of date don't go with them. They want modern printing. The Herald has type in its office that has not been designed over six months, and the last order includes new faces that have met with such a degree of popularity in the business circles of Eastern Canada and the States. The Herald believes in being up-to date. And, yet, the best of type, the latest designs, in the hands of typographical blacksmiths, produces a most pitiful effect. The Herald pays the highest of union wages and has men who have been taught their trade in large cities, where typographical excellence is an art. Men cannot "pick up" the printing trade They must be trained by artists to be artists. The Herald job printing gives satisfaction. The best of material is used, the latest in type faces, and the knowledge of modern typographical combination. Naturally there is a moral to this little talk. If you want job work, want it right, want it artistic, want it modern and want to keep your money in the district, have the work done at the Herald office. We are printers of modern printing.

Easter Services.

In the Presbyterian church next Sabbath, Easter Sunday, services suitable to the occasion will be conducted. In the morning the topic of the pastor will be "Who will roll away the stone?" In the evening, "Proofs of the resurrection of Christ." Appropriate music will be rendered.

Father Coccola will hold mass next Sunday at St. Mary's church in this city at 10 o'clock. There will be special song service at the regular services. Father Coccolo will remain until Monday morning and will attend the Monday morning service also.

Rev. Reid will occupy the pulpit at the Methodist church next Sunday evening. There will be special Easter music prepared for the occasion.

Mr. Armstrong will have charge of the services at the English church Sunday morning. The choir has prepared a special musical program for the occasion.

Baptist church service in Leask's hall on Sunday evening April 7 at the hour of 7:30. Subject, "The Devil in His Glory."

Keep Cleaning Up.

The good work of cleaning up has been inaugurated, and will be kept up until Cranbrook is as neat as a newly scrubbed kitchen floor. Orders have been given that all closets must be closed that are in an unsanitary condition. The law will be enforced this year, and it would be well for all to observe the sanitary regulations.

Cranbrook Telephone Company.

The new telephone company that has been organized in Cranbrook feels very much encouraged over the patronage guaranteed them by the citizens, and are moving as fast as the law will permit, to arrange for the establishment of their plant. The need of a telephone has been a pressing one for some time, and it is due to the enterprising spirit of a few of the citizens who were willing to put their money into it, that Cranbrook is to have this want supplied. The local company expect to have their plant in operation in a few weeks.

Attend the After Easter Ball Monday night. Tickets only $1.50.

MOYIE

News Notes From the Mineral City

[From The Herald Correspondent]

MOYIE AS A SUMMER RESORT

A person would have to travel a good many miles, especially in the province of British Columbia, before he would find a better place to spend a summer than in the neighborhood of Moyie Situated on the shore of Moyie lake, the town has surrounding it some of the most picturesque scenery to be found anywhere. Across the lake from the town are to be found ideal camping grounds. Then, too, the lake affords the best of sport in the way of fishing, while a trip down through the narrows and up one of the creeks which run into the lower lake would be a pleasant excursion for an afternoon and would result in a splendid string of mountain trout. In the town are several first class hotels where the best of accommodations can be had, and one or more boat houses where row boats may be obtained. The lake has some ideal bathings spots and good shooting is to be found almost anywhere in the neighborhood, both duck and grouse being plentiful. Last summer a number of campers spent their holidays near Moyie, and this season there are sure to be many more. If you wish good boating, bathing, fishing and shooting come to Moyie, and go home satisfied it is the best summer you ever spent.

QUARANTINE LIFTED

The smallpox, which necessitated Moyie flying the yellow flag for the past few weeks, is now a thing of the past, Last Friday the quarantine was lifted and now the people of Moyie are at liberty to wander at their own sweet will without being called upon to show a doctor's certificate of vaccination. John Allen, the only person afflicted, is doing as well as could be expected in the pest house above Muir's sawmill. He has now nearly recovered and in a week or ten days will be at liberty. The word smallpox is seldom, if ever heard, and the only thing to show that it has visited us is the photograph of Allen which was taken a few days ago and is to be seen in several of the store windows. No one need fear to visit Moyie, and those coming are sure of a warm welcome.

THE ST. EUGENE DRILL

For the purpose of prospecting in the St. Eugene mine a diamond drill was shipped here from Spokane last week. N. H. Wright, one of the shareholders of the company, is here in charge of the machine. The drill, which will be worked double shift, has a capacity of 12 feet per shift and requires five men to operate it.

MOYIE SHOULD HAVE A CLUB

One of the advantages which Cranbrook has over Moyie is the possession of a social club. There are a number of young gentlemen in Moyie and club rooms where an enjoyable evening could be spent would be a decided improvement. Rooms could be easily obtained nicely furnished and provided with the leading magazines, then we would have a place in which a very pleasant evening could be passed.

GENERAL NOTES

Park, Mitchell & Co.'s sawmill is getting a thorough overhauling so as to be ready to start work as soon as the lake opens up.

Tenders for the construction of a dam on Campbell creek were opened by the Moyie Water Works company on Monday last, April 1.

The drop in the price of lead has not in any way affected the mines here as the St Eugene is running with full force.

Last Saturday work was suspended on the Aurora mine where the strike was made a short time ago. The weakness of the ice was the cause of suspension and work will be resumed as soon as the lake is clear. Mr. Johnson, one of the owners of the mine, is now at work on this side of the lake where he has some properties which are well worth looking after.

J. W. Livers, the druggist, is this week moving into the store formerly occupied by P. J. Cahill.

Hill & Co.'s store has been much improved of late, and is only surpassed by their display in Cranbrook where they have one of the finest gents' furnishing stores in British Columbia.

H. H. Dimmock, the president of the Moyie Miners' Union, left last Monday for Nelson to attend a meeting of the Western Federation of Miners.

P. D. Hope has had his drug and stationery store renovated and now has one of the neatest stores in town.

Tom Rader, one of the owners of the Aurora mine, left last Monday on a trip to Spokane and other American cities.

E. J. Pollard returned to Moyie last Saturday. He has been doing assessment work on his claims at Palmer Bar.

E. J. Peltier, the Cranbrook wholesale liquor man, was in Moyie last Friday.

P. J. Cahill, who sold out his business to Hill & Co., will leave in a few days for Edmonton.

Thomas Downs, who was at Lethbridge on account of a broken arm, returned to Moyie last Saturday and is again at work.

Friday being Good Friday and Monday being Easter Monday the Moyie school will be closed.

FOOTBALL ON FRIDAY.

Arrangements for a Game Between Cranbrook and Nelson.

Arrangements are now completed by the Cranbrook Football Club for a game of Rugby football, against Nelson, and unless the unexpected happens, the Nelson players will be in town next Friday and the game will be played at the Turf and Athletic Association's grounds, at 5 p.m. percisely. The football club has worked hard to get a team together and are much indebted for support to players from Moyie and Fort Steele who have promised help. The last two seasons Nelson has had a strong team, and although it is hard to predict what this season's team can do, they have many of their old players left and rumor says some good new material. The game of Rugby, to the majority here, is entirely new, and it is hardly to be hoped therefore that Cranbrook can get a sufficiently strong team together to lower Nelson's colors, but from progress made in learning the game, and hard training, Cranbrook boys are confident of being able to put up a hard fight.

The price of admission, 25 cents only. The expenses of the game are considerable, and the club's committee hope that the attendance and number of spectators will be large. Football under the Rugby rules, is a most exciting game, and everyone should make a point of going. If the game is well patronized it will mean a great deal to the club. It will show that their efforts to bring visitors to our town for friendly contests and to provide entertainment for the townspeople are appreciated and will encourage future attempts in this line.

The Value of Advertising.

One of the best allround advertisers the editor of The Herald has ever known is John Hutchison, better know as "Hutch" He makes a study of the art, for it is an art, and as a result "Hutch" is known from Vancouver to Toronto, and New York to Denver. The people of Cranbrook remember that a meeting was held last week by the board of trade, and among other features incorporation was discussed. Mr. Hutchison was there, but did not have any more to say than many others, yet the Nelson Tribune, speaking of the movement, says:

"Hutch" the real estate and insurance man of Cranbrook has started a movement looking to the incorporation of the town, and the local board of trade has appointed a committee to help the matter along.

The name "Hutch" was familiar to them It was made so by persistent and intelligent advertising.

A Pastor for Christ Church.

The church committee of Christ Church take this means of notifying all Episcopalians in Cranbrook that the Rev. Havelock Beacham, of Trail, B. C., has been appointed by the Lord Bishop to take charge of this parish, and the reverend gentleman will arrive here and hold services on the first Sunday after Easter. All intending supporters of this church will materially assist the committee if they will give in their names to either of the acting church wardens, Messrs. S. F. Morley and F. R. Morris.

A Beattie Story.

R. E. Beattie says that during the winter a cow got into the lot back of his store, ate two packages of Beattie's yeast and an old umbrella. The yeast fermented in the cow's stomach, raised the umbrella and the poor animal died in great agony.

The Ottawa Delegation.

A telegram from P. Carter, district passenger agent for the C. P. R., to The Herald announces that the delegation to Ottawa from the Kootenays and Boundry country, will leave Kootenay Landing on Saturday next, passing through Cranbrook that afternoon.

Favors the Charter.

Late advices from Ottawa are to the effect that the charter of the Crow's Nest Southern will receive favorable consideration at the hands of parliament. The bill will be presented to the house after the Easter holidays.

The Census.

The work of taking the census of this district will be inaugurated tomorrow. T. W. Furley has been appointed for Kimberley and Ross Palmer for Moyie.

After Easter Ball.

Don't forget the after Easter ball to be given by the baseball boys next Monday night. The proceeds are to be used in purchasing uniforms for this season.

SULLIVAN SHUTS DOWN

Will Wait Until They Have a Spur or Tram.

SMELTER FOR SOUTH EAST KOOTENAY

It Is Reported That a Capitalist Considers This District a Good Field.

GENERAL MINING NEWS OF THE WEEK

Manager Wolfe, of the Sullivan Mine, returned last Sunday from Spokane and proceeded at once to Kimberley. His company has concluded to close down the Sullivan for the present, owing to the drop in lead and poor facilities for transporting ore from the mine to the railway. It is understood that a survey will be made within a very short time for the building of a spur from the mine. It is necessary for the company to have either a spur or a tramway, and it is simply a question as to which can be done the cheapest.

A Smelter for East Kootenay.

The Nelson Miner has the following which is reprinted for what it is worth. It is bound to come soon, and this looks as if there was something in it.

"J. C. Drewry, general manager of the Canadian Gold Fields, Limited, announced yesterday that a New York captalist had gone thoroughly into the conditions prevailing in East Kootenay, and had undertaken to erect a smelter of 1,000 tons daily capacity at a point east of Kootenay Landing, on the completion of the Crow's Nest Southern road.

Intimations to this effect have already leaked out but definite information has not hitherto been forthcoming. The capitalist in question is Mr. Hyams, who was largely interested in the American Smelting and Refining trust. When the trust bought out the Guggenheim interests in South America, Mr. Hyams disagreed with his colleagues and pulled out of the trust, receiving for his interest a sum stated to be six millions cash. He is looking for an investment, and satisfied himself on a recent tour through the East Kootenay country that the opening for a smelter there was very promising if the railroad competition necessary to render it a success was forthcoming. The Crow's Nest Southern will fill this want, and the claim is made by the interests which are backing the granting of the charter that one of the first good effects to be felt as the result of the advent of the competitive road will be the establishment of this large and important industry. It is understood that the location of the new smelter is practically determined, but no announcement has been made to this effect as yet.

Mining Notes.

A large number of prospectors are arranging to outfit at Cranbrook this year. They find it more convenient.

Robert McKeeman, one of the best known prospectors in the district was in town Monday. Speaking of the charge that he had jumped the Old Abe property on Bull river, he said: "I am not a claim jumper. I work any property I get. I did relocate the Old Abe, and I had a right to do so under my license, as the limit on the property had expired. There would have been no fuss made about it were it not for the fact that there were several other parties arranging to get hold of the property in the same way, and I simply got in first. That is all there is to it."

Mr. Pollard, of Moyie, was in town Friday evening, having come from his claims southwest of town, on Palmer mountain. He has been steadily at work all winter and has run a 50-foot tunnel and got into a 10-inch vein of fine looking ore. Mr. Pollard has some other work to look after at present but as soon as possible he will resume development on these claims, as he is confident now that the property has a good body of rich ore.

Pieper & Currie are having more work done on their Paymaster property on Palmer mountain. The Hamilton boys are extending the tunnel another fifty feet.

Phoenix Pioneer: This year promises to be one of advancement and prosperity, not only in Phoenix but in the entire Boundry. The total of ore shipments is one sign, and it will exceed last year's record by more than 100 per cent.

JAMES GILL, Observer

EDITORIAL NOTES.

Aguinaldo has been caught. Now if some one would catch De Wet and exhibit the pair through America, England and the Provinces, there would be millions in it.

The provincial government killed the V. V. & E proposition when it demanded four per cent on the gross receipts.

The warfare between the Nelson papers has broken out again and is more bitter than ever before. The citizens of Nelson have our sympathy.

The idea still prevails in Victoria that the province of British Columbia consists of Vancouver Island and a few large cities along the coast on the mainland.

Next Sunday is Easter, and the dawn of the day marks the close of lent. We are glad. During lent this year, we have felt it our duty to make some personal sacrifices, and during that period we have given up champagne and strawberries, and taken in only enough money in subscriptions to buy cornmeal and water. After lent we will feel free to start out on a career of collection and gastronomic indulgence. It will seem like life once more.

It is time that the provincial government did something besides making promises and looking wise.

Cranbrook as the railway, commercial, mining and geographical center of South East Kootenay, is a growing town, a prosperous town and a town with a brilliant future.

There has been need of a bridge on the flat near Cranbrook for the past three years, yet, there is nothing done. What is the matter?

It is claimed that the present government at Victoria is a "business" administration. It looks like it.

It is evident that John Houston aspires to be the Poobah of the province, as well as of Nelson.

The best "blow out" the people can give the Strathcona Horse boys is to assist them to permanent employment. That is what they need, and surely they deserve such recognition from the people of the country for which they risked their lives.

When will action be taken to give the people of this district some convenience in court sittings. The sessions should be held at Moyie, Fernie and Cranbrook, instead of at a point twelve miles from the railway.

"Old man Simpson," of the Cranbrook Herald might as well know that we are watching him. Last week he copied an item from this paper and credited it to the opposition sheet. If the mistake occurs again, Brother Simpson your age won't save you.—Macleod Advance.

We offer a most abject apology, Brother Clark. But, we would add that we are glad he is keeping his eye on the Herald. He will keep posted on all the news of South East Kootenay in this way and get pointers on a live newspaper.

The mine said to have been found under the palace of the Russian Czar has not yet declared a dividend.

The contemplated increase in the poll tax from three to five dollars is meeting with persistent opposition.

Before any charter is granted to the Jim Hill people, the government should see that the coal supply of this province is assured, so far as it is within the capacity of the coal company so to do. It is all right to talk about the C. P. R octopus, but Jim Hill is no railroad saint, and if he gets a cinch he works it to a finish.

The drop in lead is not going to kill mining in the Kootenays. If it does not recover the railroads, smelters and refineries will have to bear their portion of the loss. The production of lead will continue but the price is bound to come up within a short time. Combinations may influence but cannot kill the law of supply and demand.

The Two Per Cent Royalty.

Revelstoke Herald: The Herald is informed on good authority that the effects of the two per cent royalty on ore are likely to be of a most disastrous character in the near future. If the government refuses to accede to the demands of the mine owners for a modification of this tax, they intend, it is stated, to cut wages down to three dollars a day, a step which would lead to a strike of miners all over Kootenay, which would effect the Lardeau and other camps not included in the strike of a year ago.

A WAIL FROM MONTANA.

Cowboys Not True to Traditions of the "Woolly West."

Northern Montana is bewailing the decadence of the cowboy—justly, it would seem, if there be truth in the report that two border outlaws chased a dozen members of the Diamond R round up outfit for 20 miles in terror stricken search for refuge to the town of Culbertson. Think of it! Twelve doughty knights of the plain, blue of lip and wild of eye, spurring their horses to incontinent flight over sagebrush and bunch grass and ever and anon turning their wan faces backward over shivering shoulders for a look at their relentless pursuers! Picture in your mind's eye the scudding of a dozen jack rabbits close pressed by a pair of ravenous wolves! Oh, the horror of it!

The report from Culbertson says the cowboys were unarmed, excepting one or two guns in the whole outfit. It is a hard allegation, and public judgment should be suspended pending the receipt of further particulars. If it be proved true—ah, well, we of Montana must blush for the shame of it! The traditions of the gun are dear to the western heart. It has barked defiance to law and order, it has been the chief property of the cowboy comedy of "shooting up the town," and it has furnished ragtime music for many a tenderfoot to dance by. Has the westward course of empire relegated the "shooting iron" to the scrap pile? Has it gone the way of the brown buffalo and the preserved Indian? Will it no longer dangle in menace from the belt of the bold vaquero? It would seem so, for the report has it that the Diamond R outfit was unarmed.

All the world will join in the northern Montana wail. The iconoclast Time has shattered the idol of the "wild and woolly west." The long locks of the cowboy have been shorn; his goatee is preserved only as a memory of the aging face of "Buffalo Bill" Cody; his buckskin habiliments have given way to overalls and jumpers, and his bravery is bound between the yellow covers of a nickel novel.

Twelve cowboys chased by two bandits! They will not believe it in the east, where the popular idea of the cowboy is still somewhat awesome and picturesque. Here in Montana, swallowing our pride, we will henceforth look upon him as a herder of cattle and brander of calves—our calf boy.

THE HOLLOW SQUARE.

Ladies of Canada:

The hollow square, a purely British military tactic, was never broken but once. Why? Because Tommy Atkins from Canada and Tommy Atkins from all other British possessions stand solidly together. The lesson is, that in a commercial way also, the colonies should stand firmly together; and the ladies of Canada—the purchasing power—can do much toward accomplishing that end. Ceylon and India produce the finest teas. By using the teas grown in sister colonies, ladies act patriotically. These teas appeal to you from sentiment, from purity, from economy—in every way they are superior to Japan or Chinas. Drinkers of Green Tea should try Monsoon, Salada or Blue Ribbon packets.

Why He Couldn't.

One of the twins was in the habit of bulldozing the other, and the latter complained with such frequency that their father finally said to him:

"Why do you come to me? Why don't you do to him just what he does to you? If he hits you, why, hit back."

But the next day there was the same complaint.

"He hit me with a tack hammer," wailed the boy.

"Well, why didn't you hit him back?" demanded the father.

"I couldn't find another hammer."—Chicago Post.

AN ISLE OF GOLD.

But It Was Believed That a Curse Rested Upon It.

One day in 1877 a carpenter stopped at Panama on his way home from California, where he had earned a fair measure of success in the goldfields.

In such places men are not discriminating as regards the acquaintances they make, and he fell in with a couple of rough looking sailors who had deserted from a whaler that put into port for provisions.

One evening, upon learning that he was a miner and therefore familiar with metals, they showed him a strong bag filled with some hard substance, which they asked him to examine and pronounce judgment upon.

He examined the contents, which he found to be gold of the finest quality, whereupon, after first imposing an oath of strict secrecy, they told him that shortly before arriving at Panama their ship had touched at an island to take in water. The casks were rafted ashore and quickly filled, the ship meanwhile standing off and on.

While waiting for the ship to stand in these two sailors strolled along the beach for about two miles until they came to a place where a ravine or water course came down from a high mountain, passed under a natural stone arch and emptied into the sea. Here they noticed that the sand of the beach was filled with a number of shining particles resembling gold and that the crevices or seams of the water course also seemed full of it. Not sure whether it was gold, they gathered a small package and retraced their steps to the boat, saying nothing, however, to their companions of the discovery.

Being assured by the carpenter that they had discovered genuine gold, the sailors proposed that the three of them should fit out a small vessel and return to the island. The plan was agreed to at once. A vessel was purchased, and six or eight more men were induced to join the expedition.

There were so few men available that they had to take such as they could get, and they got as precious a lot of rascals as ever went unhanged. There were two big negroes, two villainous looking Spaniards who could not be trusted out of sight, a hunch backed, snaky looking fellow who, it was afterward learned, was an escaped convict from the penal colony in French Guiana and a surly, scarred old fellow who had been warned out of California by a vigilance committee.

He was feared by every member of the crew, and even before the coast lines had sunk below the horizon he had let out little suggestions that filled the carpenter with premonitions that he was going to make serious trouble. Surly and morose, he slouched about the deck without a word to anybody. The other members of the crew were indifferent.

The vessel was fitted out, ostensibly for coasting purposes, with mining tools, provisions for two or three months and a couple of barrels of rum. A man and woman were taken along as cook and stewardess. Toward evening of the second day out they sighted the island.

It was a lonesome, cheerless looking spot, with a rough, irregular beach, along which the surf was tumbling in long curls of creamy foam, and a little farther in upon the rocks were groups of slimy, black creatures which gave voice to the desolation with their hoarse barking. There was a sporadic growth of palms on the island which dwindled away into a scraggy growth of underbrush upon the slopes of two mountains which rose symmetrically from the two extremities.

A small cove, bordered by a sandy beach, offered a safe anchorage, and into this the vessel was cautiously steered, and the crew was set to work at once at landing the stores.

That night there was a grand carousal aboard the vessel in celebration of the successful termination of the voyage, during which rum flowed freely and quarrels were frequent. The carpenter and one of the sailors, however, held aloof from these orgies, remaining on deck, prepared to leave the vessel should matters come to a crisis. Matters did come to a crisis with a crash when one of the Spaniards dragged the poor, frightened stewardess into the cabin and insisted that she should sing a Spanish song for the company.

The big ruffian with a livid scar, who claimed to be an American, declared that she should sing nothing but "Yankee Doodle." The Spaniard attempted to force matters by drawing a knife, but the American anticipated him with his "gun," which he began to discharge right and left.

In a moment the fight became general. Out of the cabin and up on the deck they tumbled, shooting and cutting and cursing in a manner that was frightful to hear. Half of them would have been killed or wounded had it not been for an accident that drew their attention from the fighting to a danger that threatened them all in common. In the scuffle in the cabin a large lamp was overturned, and before any one attempted to put out the flames the whole cabin was in a blaze. Without trying to save the vessel they rushed to the single boat remaining, leaving one man dead in the companionway and another severely wounded on deck. Thus all the stores and tools were burned, together with the poor wounded wretch on deck.

The next morning a party set out to explore the island and soon found a simple minded old German on the opposite side who lived all by himself—a sort of Robinson Crusoe life—tilled a little soil and kept a couple of fishing boats. That night some of the more desperate spirits of the party proposed that they should steal one of the old German's boats, sail to the mainland seize a small vessel and bring it back to the island with more provisions and tools.

The carpenter and the sailor who had joined him the night before tried to dissuade them from putting the plan into execution, but they persisted and sailed away the next day.

In about two weeks the sailboat hove in sight, and when she was beached an emaciated, wounded wretch crawled out, the sole survivor of the crew that had sailed away so confidently two weeks before.

Before he died he told how the rascals had succeeded in reaching the coast safely and with little difficulty had found a small vessel suited to their purpose.

They tried to get away with it in the night, but the owner discovered them and attempted to interfere, with the result that he paid for his vigilance with a knife slash which settled him in a minute. But the pirates did not get far away before they were overhauled, taken back to port, and every one of them was hanged, except the teller of the tale, who had escaped, but had been mortally wounded in doing so.

The carpenter and the sailor prospected daily about the ravine and the beach; but, having nothing except their knives with which to work, they made little progress. Still they picked out of the crevices a considerable amount of gold.

One day they borrowed a hatchet from the old German and penetrated the ravine which ran up the side of one of the mountains. Some distance up the slope they cleared the underbrush and found the ledge to be composed of soft, rotten stone impregnated with gold in large quantities. In fact, the entire mountain seemed to be streaked with the precious metal.

As they worked, however, their lives were in constant danger, for the mountain side seemed to be alive with poisonous reptiles, scorpions, tarantulas—in fact, owing to these pests they were fain to give up all attempts to penetrate farther and contented themselves with working about the foot of the mountain. They remained on this island nearly two months before they were taken off by a passing vessel which stopped to fill her water casks.

Shortly after their return to the isthmus the sailor was taken down with isthmus fever and died. The carpenter then took the gold and, keeping his secret, set sail for his home, where he bought a hotel. He intended some time to return to the island, but one winter day he fell on the ice, receiving an injury that resulted in paralysis, and a year later he also died. But before he did so he told to a friend who had nursed him all the details of his strange adventures in the southern Pacific, drew a plan of the island, described its location and topography and gave such an accurate description that any one familiar with the coast could have no difficulty in verifying the statement.

The carpenter's friend did not survive him long, but before he died he likewise related the carpenter's story to a captain who was familiar with the waters of the southern Pacific. And now another expedition has been fitted out for the mysterious isle of gold.

But wiseacres shook their heads, and already a belief has grown among the timid that a curse is associated with the isle and the treasure and that death and doom inevitably follow the pursuit of the secret.—Chicago Times-Herald.

THE ABILITY OF DR. CHASE

Is Measured by the Cures He Makes—Each Remedy Specific for Certain Diseases—A Remarkable Cure of Bright's Disease.

In this practical age a physician's ability is measured by the actual cures he makes. Judged by this high standard, Dr. Chase stands pre-eminent as a giant among physicians. Take kidney and liver derangements, for example. Dr. Chase, by means of his Kidney-Liver pills, has brought about some of the most surprising cures ever effected. This is due to the direct and specific action of this great home treatment on the liver and kidneys. Here is the experience of a highly respected resident of Consecon, Ont.:—

Mr. James Dellihunt, Consecon, Prince Edward County, Ont., writes: "For several years I suffered great tortures of mind and body from Bright's disease of the kidneys. The pains were sometimes almost beyond endurance and extended from my head and between the shoulders down the whole spinal column and seemed to concentrate across my kidneys. My back was never entirely free from pain. When I got up in the morning I could not straighten myself at all, but would go bent nearly double most all day. My water was scanty and at other times profuse, and it gave me great pain to urinate.

"I could do no work, and, though I tried many kinds of kidney pills, could get no relief. As a last resort I was induced by a friend to give Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills a trial. I felt a change after the first dose. I used in all about five boxes, and they have entirely cured me. I have no pains now and can do as good a day's work as I ever could. It is a pleasure for me to recommend Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, as they have done so much for me."

Mr. J. J. Ward, J.P., Consecon, certifies that he has known Mr. Dellihunt for years as a truthful man and respected citizen, and vouches for the truth of the above statement.

You cannot possibly obtain a more beneficial treatment for the kidneys and liver than Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. It has stood the test of time and has proven beyond dispute its right to the title of "the world's greatest kidney medicine." SCHOOLS AND EPIDEMICS.

Pupils as a Factor in Spreading Infectious Diseases.

The reassertion of the theory of school influence as an active factor in the spread of infectious disease which has lately been made makes it desirable to inquire under what circumstances "closure" should be employed. All seems to depend upon whether the assembly of the children in the school in question is the main cause by which the disease is being disseminated. In a country district, for example, with a sparsely scattered population, where children rarely meet except in school, closing the schools at the commencement of an epidemic may effectually check its course, each infected center working out its own salvation independently, and the one link between the different parts of the district being for the time broken.

Again, it may be discovered that in consequence of defective drains or other insanitary arrangements the school is itself actually a cause of disease, or at least that its condition favors the spread of infection among those who attend its classes, and in such a case the school should certainly be closed while the necessary repairs and reconstructions are being carried out.

But apart from these two circumstances it must very rarely happen that it is justifiable to close a school and thus break into the educational progress of the scholars merely because a large number of them happen to be attacked by an epidemic, for when an epidemic has obtained complete hold in a populous district the school is but one of a dozen ways in which infection is being spread, and it may be far better to keep the school open and thus insure the continuance of that regularity and orderliness of life which attendance at school involves than by closure to throw all the children to play together in the streets or to huddle together in their homes.

It must always be remembered that the part played by schools in spreading infection is proportionately greater in the country than in towns, since in the country it is practically in the schools alone that children from different homes come in contact with each other, while in towns the schools are only one out of many centers from which infection may radiate.—Hospital.

The Experience of Mr. William Smith, of Hawkesbury, Who Suffered for Many Years from Kidney Trouble.

From the Post, Hawkesbury, Ont.

Everybody in Hawkesbury knows Mr. William Smith. He came here when the town was yet in its village days, as one of the lumber company's staff of mechanics. In 1881 Mr. Smith was appointed town constable, and filled that position until very recently. As is well known to many of Mr. Smith's friends, he has suffered much from kidney trouble for quite a number of years past, and at times the pain in his back was so great that he was almost physically incapable of exertion. He doctored a great deal, sometimes getting temporary relief, but the cause of the trouble was not removed, and soon the pains, accompanied alternately by chills and fever, returned. At last he came to look upon his condition as one which no medicine could permanently cure. Indeed his condition might still have been one of much suffering had not Mrs. Smith ultimately prevailed upon her husband to give Dr. Williams' Pink Pills a trial. "It seemed," said Mr. Smith to a reporter of the Post, "that it was a useless experiment, and yet I was willing to do almost anything that would bring relief. I had not used the pills long before there was undoubted relief, more in fact than I had obtained from any other medicine. I continued their use and soon all symptoms of the trouble that had made my life one of much misery for many years was gone. I feel that I am cured, and have no hesitation in saying that the cure is due to Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and I never lose an opportunity of recommending the pills to neighbors who may be ailing."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills cure by going to the root of the disease. They renew and build up the blood, and strengthen the nerves, thus driving disease from the system. If your dealer does not keep them, they will be sent postpaid at 50 cents a box, or six boxes for $2.50 by addressing the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Her Challenge.

A woman in Cape Colony on trial for some offense was told that she might "challenge" any one on the jury to whom she objected. She immediately took advantage of the permission by challenging a highly respectable farmer. On being asked afterward what her reason had been for doing so she explained that she had supposed she was obliged to object to some one, so she had picked out the ugliest.

There never was, and never will be, a universal panacea, in one remedy, for all ills to which flesh is heir—the very nature of many curatives being such that were the germs of other and differently seated diseases rooted in the system of the patient—what would relieve one ill in turn would aggravate the other. We have, however, in Quinine Wine, when obtainable in a sound, unadulterated state, a remedy for many and grievous ills. By its gradual and judicious use the frailest systems are led into convalescence and strength by the influence which Quinine exerts on nature's own restoratives. It relieves the drooping spirits of those with whom a chronic state of morbid despondency and lack of interest in life is a disease, and, by tranquilizing the nerves, disposes to sound and refreshing sleep—imparts vigor to the action of the blood, which, being stimulated, courses throughout the veins, strengthening the healthy animal functions of the system, thereby making activity a necessary result, strengthening the frame, and giving life to the digestive organs, which naturally demand increased substance—result, improved appetite. Northrop & Lyman, of Toronto have given to the public their superior Quinine Wine at the usual rate, and, gauged by the opinion of scientists, this wine approaches nearest perfection of any in the market. All druggists sell it.

Lost in Self Admiration.

It happened in an "L" car. He was tall, handsome and just a little too well dressed and was reading a pamphlet on which stood out in letters large enough to be plainly legible to the opposite row of passengers the title, "Correct Dress." They all noticed him, for he was really beautiful.

There was no doubt as to what he was reading. The passengers followed it almost line by line and knew just what part of the essay he had reached. It began when his eyes left the book and glanced dubiously at his cloth topped patent leathers. He shook his head slightly as he saw that the upper was of a trifle too pronounced a pattern. Next he took in his trousers, and a bland smile of satisfaction wreathed his face. There was a slight frown when he compared his waistcoat with the haberdasher's manual, but his coat and hat were evidently irreproachable.

The end of the inventory and of the spectators' self control came when the beautiful one began to admire in the back of his watch case his neckwear, his shirt and the faultless curves of his collar. A titter from the two girls in the corner, and the whole benchful exploded. The model of pulchritude looked up, shut his book with a snap, blushed furiously and left the car at the next station.

Several colds are easily cured by the use of Bickle's Anti-Consumptive Syrup, a medicine of extraordinary penetrating and healing properties. It is acknowledged by those who have used it as being the best medicine sold for coughs, colds, inflammation of the lungs, and all affections of the throat and chest. Its agreeableness to the taste makes it a favorite with ladies and children.

COUNTY FAIR NEWS.

Two Conversations Overheard by Your Dear Old Uncle Ed.

As he reached home and stood before his wife there was a look on his face she had never seen before. He seemed to be a foot taller and a ton heavier, and his general air was that of a man who had a million dollars in the bank.

"Jo—Joel, what is it? What has happened?" exclaimed the wife in tones of fear and anxiety.

"I've struck it at last," he replied as he swelled with importance.

"Found a gas well?"

"Noap."

"A gold mine?"

"Noap."

"Any one died and left you a fortune?"

"Noap. It's sunthin a heap better. I've taken fust prize at the county fair fur the best bushel of carrots growed in all this county!"

"Waal, Jim, I heard you was over to Charlotte, and I thought I'd stop and inquire how things went."

"Who you callin Jim?"

"Why, you, of course."

"Then, sir, I'd have you know that my name is James Johnson Jones."

"But we've bin mayburs and friends fur the last 15 years, and I've allus called you Jim."

"Yes, I know, but things are different now. Sunthin's happened."

"Good Lord, but what kin it be?"

"You know that red calf of mine—the one you said was a whoosher? Waal, I entered him at the county fair, and he took the blue ribbon."

"Jim Johnson, you don't mean it?"

"It's a cold fact."

"Then, by gum, if you'll run fur president of the United States, I'll vote fur you all day long!"

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

Hall's Family Pills are the best.

A small stingless bee is found in some parts of Mexico. Their honey is slightly tart, and is more esteemed than the sweet honey of other bees.

No family living in a bilious country should be without Parmelee's Vegetable pills. A few doses taken now and then will keep the liver active, cleanse the stomach from all bilious matter and prevent ague. Mr. L. Price, Shoals, Martin Co., Ind., writes: "I have tried a box of Parmelee's Pills and find them the best medicine for Fever and Ague I have ever used."

The Russians.

An Englishman in Russia says that "we may dislike Russia as we will and perhaps must, but there is no denying that the men and women of Russia are good lookers." The men are "tall and well built." The "women, especially those of the upper classes, have a grace and fascination that is all their own." The writer adds: "I am tired of hearing English people say that this is all show and that if I knew them better I should be greatly disappointed. Behind good looks and refined manners I have found the depth and sincerity of the Scotch combined with the wit and humor of the Irish."

If money talks it is probably a paying teller.

Rev. R. J Reid will deliver his lecture on Abraham Lincoln next Friday evening at the Methodist church at the request of the Epworth league. Mr. Reid is a good talker, and he has a subject that is worthy the best efforts of any speaker in any land. No admission will be charged.

T. T. McVittie, of Fort Steele, has a card in this issue of The Herald. Mr. McVittie is the pioneer surveyor of South East Kootenay, and he probably has a better knowledge of lands and locations in this district than any other man, and this season intends to devote his entire time to the work of surveying.

Rev. Robert Reid has found the climate here so beneficial to him that he has concluded to remain in this portion of British Columbia, and will engage in work outside of the ministry. Both Mr. and Mrs. Reid have made many friends during their sojourn here who will be pleased to learn that they contemplate becoming permanent residents.

A Cranbrook young lady expected company one evening last week, and prepared a nice float to be served on that occasion. She put it on a box back of the house to cool, late in the afternoon. Unfortunately a bovne wandered by and catching the sweet scented odor, showed its appreciation of the young lady's cooking talent by eating the entire preparation. Float was not on the bill of fare that evening.

C. D. McNabb, mayor of Jaffray, was in town Sunday. He says the city council of his place has appropriated $10,000 to entertain the Duke of York when he visits British Columbia. An invitation engrossed on tamarac bark with bear's blood was prepared and forwarded to the Duke. The mayor reports everything on the boom, but says their community is being pestered with confidence men who come in to work the crowds. Mr. James Ryan, of the Cranbrook Hotel, was given a banquet at their leading hotel one night last week. The event proved a great social success.

Time for a Change.

Revelstoke Mail: A change should be made in the system of public administration. As matters stand the estates of persons deceased in this district have to be administered from Fort Steele. Mr. J. F. Armstrong, the government agent there being the administrator for the whole of the Kootenays. It would make administration much more effective and convenient if a public administrator were appointed for each electoral riding The absurdity of having Revelstoke business conducted at Fort Steele is glaringly apparent.

The stores will be closed tomorrow, it being Good Friday.
