ELEVEN PERISH IN FOREST FIRE

Fernie, B. C., July 29.—Eleven men are known to have perished and a number are missing in a fire that swept the Spruce river valley, 15 miles northeast of here Saturday afternoon. Sixty odd men and about 20 teams were trapped in camp 14 of the Elk Lumber Company, which is situated in a blind valley and their flight over the mountains was most difficult.

Eleven bodies have been picked up in the rear of the fire and the terrible agony the men endured is shown by their contorted features. Nick Muscovich, a Russian, was found alive, his eyes burned sightless and almost demented. His body was severely burned and all his clothing was gone, except his boots, but after being given first aid he recovered and urged the rescuers to leave him and help men he knew to be beyond him. With assistance he walked to the emergency hospital and was later brought to Fernie, where his death is hourly expected.

Many of those on reaching points of safety were found to be temporarily demented from shock.

Millions of feet of logs, the logging railroad and the bush camp buildings together with equipment, horses and supplies are a total loss.

Ten Fatalities Lowest Estimate.

Ten fatalities is the lowest estimate. The fire is now considered checked by the heavy showers that fell last night, but if the wind rises the blaze will be revived.

The fire had been burning since Wednesday in the vicinity of the Elk Lumber Company's camps and after destroying two of the lower camps was Saturday morning, after a two-day fight, well in hand and no further damage was thought probable. Within an hour after relaxing their efforts, the almost exhausted fire fighters were required to respond to another alarm, but they were powerless to even approach the fire into which the dying embers of the former fire had been fanned by a hurricane which arose.

Doctors and relief parties were dispatched at once to the scene but their efforts were practically unavailing as they were unable to approach to an effective distance the fire zone. The escape of the majority of the men was miraculous.

THIRD ANNUAL FLOWER SHOW PRIZE LIST

The third annual Flower Show and Exhibition of Women's Work, under the auspices of the Cranbrook Women's Institute will take place on Tuesday, August 21st, at the Parish Hall. The object of the show is to encourage the cultivation of the soil, and to foster every branch of household arts calculated to increase the happiness of home life. The Directorate of the Institute are sparing no pains to make the event an unqualified success and a record number of entries for exhibition is looked for. No lady may compete without being a member of the Institute but by paying a fee of 50 cents she may be enrolled as a regular member and at once be privileged to enter any exhibit in the various classes. The show will be formally opened at 3 p.m. and there will be vocal and instrumental items of music and tea, coffee, cake, candy and ice cream will be on sale in the assembly room. As the entire proceeds over expenses are being devoted to Patriotic needs it is hoped the citizens generally will respond to the efforts of the ladies and boost the W. I. Full particulars of entries of exhibits may be obtained from the Secretary, Mrs. J. W. Burton. All entries must be the work of the exhibitors and any article having taken a prize at any former time will not be allowed to compete. Two special "war time" entries are being arranged for where: (1) a 1st and 2nd prize of $1 and 50c will be given for the best pair of hand knitted socks suitable for the soldiers and (2) a 1st and 2nd prize of 50c and 25c for the best economical "war time" cake cost and recipe of same to be given at time of entry. The condition govern-

Fernie, B. C., July 29.—Two more bodies so charred that recognition is impossible were taken down from the scene of the Elk Lumber Company fire of Saturday and Nick Muscovitch, who displayed unusual bravery following the fire, dying today, has now fixed the known dead at 11. The various directions taken by the fugitives from the fire has made it difficult to check up the survivors. It is known that 56 men were trapped and 30 are accounted for, but it will be some time before the final result is known.

Famous Soprano at Chautauqua

Olive McCormick Soloist With Chautauqua Orchestra

ONE of the rarest treats among the musical attractions at our Chautauqua will be Olive McCormick, noted coloratura soprano, who sings with the Chautauqua Orchestra. Miss McCormick sings the most difficult soprano roles with surprising ease. Her fame in the musical world first became widespread with her first three triumphant engagements as soloist with the Pittsburgh Symphony Orchestra.

Such artists as Olive McCormick upon the Chautauqua platform possess musical and educational values impossible to estimate.

Vancouver, B. C., July 27.—Following the appointment Thursday of William Maxwell as chairman of the land settlement board, the executive council this morning named the remaining four members: Duncan Monro, Terrace, B. Macdonald, insurance agent, Nanaimo, Vancouver Island. With the exception of Mr. Ward all members of the board have been formerly engaged in the agricultural industry.—Daily News.

SETH W. RYCKMAN DIES AT VICTORIA

It is with very sincere regret that we have to announce the death of so prominent and valued a citizen as Seth W. Ryckman, which took place in Victoria on Wednesday evening according to advices received here yesterday.

Mr. Ryckman has been ailing since the early part of the winter when his life was seriously threatened by a severe attack upon the heart.

Rallying somewhat with the warmer weather he and his wife left about one month ago on a trip to the coast where it was hoped that he would regain some of his former strength. At first it was thought that this end was to be gained as on arrival at Victoria he immediately found his breathing much improved. The respite has been very short lived, however, and on Wednesday evening last he passed away having almost reached the allotted space of a man's life on earth.

In the passing of Mr. Ryckman, this community suffers a severe loss, and loses one of those men in whose hearts the history and welfare of the city was enshrined as a very precious thing.

Having spent the most of his life in the city of Waterdown, Ontario, where he followed the business of painter and decorator he heard the call of the west some sixteen years ago and came to Cranbrook and immediately started work with the C. P. R. at his own line of business.

He thus becomes one of the pioneer citizens of this district and any who have been associated with him in either early or latter days will only remember him as a man of honor and integrity; a man who loved his home, who revered his God, who worked for the church and the community and who could always be relied upon to give his support to anything that was calculated to advance the interests of his fellow men.

He was one of the few men in life whose strength of character and attractiveness of disposition enabled him to return to the home from whence he had taken his wife, in order to find another companion when the first had been taken from his side.

Mr. Ryckman was first married to Miss Crosby of Burlington, Ontario, to whom there was born two sons, Warren, who is now a medical practitioner in Hamilton, and Fred, who is a successful farmer in Saskatchewan. As intimated at the decease of his first wife her sister took her place and she has been through the years they have been spared to each other a faithful and devoted wife and a very efficient helpmate.

The sincere sympathy of The Herald is extended to the bereaved wife and the sorrowing relatives.

PUBLIC MEETING CALLED FOR AUGUST 4th

The following letter has been received by Mayor Clapp and in accordance with the request in the same a Public Meeting is called for Saturday afternoon, August 4th in the City Hall.

Sir,—I have the honor, by direction, to acquaint you that the Honorable the Premier is in receipt of a letter from Right Honorable the Prime Minister, in which Sir Robert Borden refers to meetings being held on the 4th of August last year in various parts of the country to commemorate the anniversary of the Declaration of War, and remarks that this was in accordance with a similar movement n the United Kingdom and elsewhere throughout the Empire, and that it is proposed to repeat this celebration on the 4th of August next.

The Central Committee for National Patriotic Organizations in London has issued a notice on the subject containing the text of a resoluton which it is suggested should be moved at all meetings, namely:—

"That on this anniversary of the declaration of a righteous war this meeting of the citizens of Cranbrook records its inflexible determination to continue to a victorious end the struggle in maintenance of those ideals of Liberty and Justice which are the common and sacred cause of the Allies."

A. Campbell Reddie,
Deputy Provincial Secretary.

IF YOU CAN'T BOOST DON'T KNOCK

The Editor, Cranbrook Herald:

Dear Sir—In the Nelson News of the 30th there appeared an item stating the crops on St. Marys Prairie are in bad condition and "a good deal of it has already been so badly dried up that the cattle have been turned in."

This statement, like many more which appear in the Cranbrook items published in the News is, to say the least of it, not founded on fact.

The crops have suffered from hot winds and gophers but taking them on an average they will be vastly better than those in Alberta and Saskatchewan.

Yours truly,
R. E. Beattie.

A SUGGESTION FOR A RETURNED SOLDIERS HOME

The Editor, Cranbrook Herald.,

Dear Sir.—At the public meeting called some time ago for the purpose of discussing conscription the time when our men come home was frequently alluded to. The question crossed my mind as to what "coming home" really meant to many of these men. The canopy of heaven and the earth beneath with even an overpowering welcome at the station do not make "home."

Cranbrook and the surrounding country has sent a large number in proportion to population. And from where do these men come? The mining and lumber camps, the isolated claim in the hills, and the lonely bachelor homestead have contributed not a few.

Many of these men, born with the wandering foot, have lost all connection with their own kin in the east or the old country or at least have lost all sympathy with the more conventional life. Right or wrong they will come back to the mountain province. What to do with these men when they return confronts British Columbia to a greater extent than any other province unless it be New Ontario.

For the very ill there will be hospital service a plenty, and for the semi-invalid the sanitarium; but the man with little education and less money, who has made his living with his hands, where is he to find a home?

Would it not be wise to think and prepare for these men in some way that they may keep their sense of independence and as far as possible a wholesome view of life.

Could not Cranbrook have something of a home ready for these men when they come. I do not mean a barracks or an "institution," but a headquarters as near a home as it can be made with living well within the veterans income. One of my earliest recollections is of two old men sitting by the fire "awapping" stories of 1837. One was my grandfather.

Let this home have a large assembly room, with a big open fire, substantial homelike furniture, plenty of books and papers and a gramaphone. Though the bedrooms may necessarily be small, but so that any man who needs it may find a place of his very own, at a price well within his means. Let the cuisine be good and homelike and above all provide a tasteful cheerful woman with a knowledge of nursing as Matron. Let these men go out and get a week's work or a month's work and be encouraged to do so; but there will be times when all of these men will have nerves that will rebel at the outrages they received "somewhere in France." It is then these must feel that they have some place to go.

And in a quiet corner of this home let there be a tablet in memory of those, who directly from France have gone to the "Better Home."

"A Canadian Woman."

WHAT A FOX HUNT IS LIKE

Those people who have never had the pleasure of participating in a fox hunt as it is staged by the society folk, will have a splendid opportunity of seeing just what such a hunt is like when they see "The Whip" at the Auditorium, August 6 and 7th.

In this production one of the big scenes shows a fox hunt in full cry. The manner in which the horses take the fences and streams, the way in which the dogs dash after their quarry and the beauty of the hunting costumes worn by the hunters, add much to the intense interest of the picture.

This hunt, by the way, is an actual one. Mourice Tourneur, who directed "The Whip" decided that the only way to secure the desired realism in this part of the production was by taking the real thing, instead of staging a special hunt for the occasion. So permission was secured to film the annual event of one of the most famous hunt clubs in the country and the result is a vivid and vital part of this tremendously entertaining feature.

NEWS OF THE BOYS AT THE FRONT

Received by Mrs. J. W. Burton, Secretary of Women's Institute—Acknowledgement of parcels.

Eastbourne, Sussex, July 8.

Dear Mrs. Burton,—Will you be so good as to convey to the Women's Institute at Cranbrook, my very grateful thanks for their kindness in sending me the parcel which arrived here yesterday in excellent order.

I may say that the articles contained were shared among a ward-full of patients and were greatly appreciated by them, especially the Canadian tobacco which is unobtainable on this side.

Yours faithfully,
Donald Leslie, (Sergt. Can. Engineers)

France, June 21, 1917.

Dear Madam.—Many thanks for your parcel which I received today. It is real good and kind of you folks at home to think about us fellows out here. As you all know a fellow is tickled to death to get a parcel out here and then when he has enjoyed the contents of it he blesses them for sending it as it reminds him of the good old town and the happy days he spent there, but never mind we're winning and the end is in sight, at least, so they tell me, but I think it's like one of those eclipses we read about, "not visible to the naked eye." Of course "Fritz" will grab a few more of us before they speak the glad word "peace" as there are sure to be some hard feelings between the Hun and ourslves before that happy day and a few more trenches to be taken from him. However, as we say in good old Canada, "we should worry." But say it's pretty grim work at times but there's that old silver lining and if my luck holds and the silver lining lasts long enough for me to get one of my feet on the platform in Cranbrook, well, they can start another war, but —nuff said; I don't see many of the boys out here as there are very few of 'em with the 7th. Well, I must close, again thanking you all for your nice parcel which you know was enjoyed and hoping to see all my Cranbrook friends ere this year dies. With every good wish to you all and the good old town.

Sincerely yours,
G. J. Jeffrey.

THE NECESSITY FOR THRIFT

Food conditions in Canada are becoming serious. The need of the hour is well expressed by Stephen Leacock, Professor of Economics, McGill University, who writes that: "The key to the situation, as far as we can unlock it, lies in individual thrift, and individual sacrifice. Every man, today, was consumes any article or employs any service not absolutely necessary, aims a blow at his country. Save every cent. Live plainly. Give up every non-essential. Rise early, work hard, and content yourself with a bare living. The man who does this, if he uses the saved money properly, is doing war work for his country. But he must use his savings properly. That is the whole essence of the matter."

COMPETITIONS FOR BOYS AND GIRLS

Through the action of the Minister of Agriculture, The Honorable Martin Burrell, arrangements have been made to have the Canadian Bankers' Association co-operate with the Department of Agriculture in providing a liberal sum of money to be offered in prizes for calves and pigs exhibited by boys or girls under 17 years of age, at county or township fairs.

These competitions are known as the "Canadian Bankers' Competitions," and are linked up with the activities of the Live Stock Branch of the Dominion Department of Agriculture. They represent an effort to increase interest in live stock and constitute a part of the active campaign for more and better stock inaugurated and carried on by The Honorable Mr. Burrell through his Department. The generous support accorded to the movement by the Canadian Bankers' Association, affords a practical demonstration of the attitude of the banks towards the live stock industry, and the active participation of the Association in this campaign is bound to strengthen and create general interest in farm live stock.

Canadian Bankers' Competitions will be held at a large number of shows this year, and boys and girls should lose no time in finding out all about them. The calves and pigs must be fed at least six weeks by the boys and girls who exhibit them, so that it is very important to act promptly in securing a copy of the rules and other information.

Full information regarding the competitions can be obtained from the manager of any branch bank in the locality where a fall fair is held.

THE CAUSE OF FOREST FIRES

The forest fire situation is one which every good citizen should thoughtfully consider. At this time when fires are raging in all directions a passing thought is given to the immense damage that is being wrought, and the lives that are being lost, but consideration is seldom given to tae fact that the greater number of these devastating fires are preventable. Statistics show that few fires start from unnatural causes, practically all being traced to negligence on the part of some careless individual. Fishermen, smokers, campers, travellers, and berry pickers, etc., are responsible for a high percentage of our fires. Many more are traceable to this source than are set by our combined railway systems.

All burning permits have been cancelled and no further permits will be issued until further notice, and now that the fire danger from this source has been removed it remains with those persons who have cause to use fire in any form for domestic reasons to exercise the utmost care in controlling same and to carefully extinguish their fire before they leave it. Smokers particularly should never consider throwing away a burning match, cigar, or cigarette stub in the bush, along country roads, or any place where combustible matter can be found until all resemblance of fire is carefully put out.

Forest fire loss is absolute loss both to the community and to the individual and should be regarded in that light. If you should notice an outbreak at any time, notify the nearest Fire Warden at once and get in touch with the District Forester at Cranbrook, when the fire at once will be looked after.

LORD NORTHCLIFFE ON THE CONDITION OF VICTORY

No one understands the general war situation better than Lord Northcliffe. The following is taken from a speech he made in New York recently. The conditions he defines apply as well to this country as to the States:

"Every man with a pen in his hand and a printing press near by can do patriotic service to his country by awakening his people to the fact that this war is just beginning and that every ounce of energy, every revolution of America's vast industrial machine, and, what is equally important, every gallon of gasolene, will be needed in order to bring the war to a successful end. It is only by the absolute mobilization of man-power and machine-power that the war can be won. Industries that at this moment seem remote from mobilization for war will sooner or later be called upon to do their part. In Europe, for example, one of the largest corset factories is now turning out very delicate pieces of machinery needed in the construction of aeroplanes.

The war, which has proved the efficacy of motor transport to an almost incredible degree, will make a tremendous drain upon the automobile industry of your country. The great bulk of the automobile output will have to be concentrated on trucks. Automobile factories will inevitably be commandeered for the manufacture of aeroplane construction generally.

In the aeroplane lies one great hope of Allied victory. The war has taught that the aeroplane engine of the spring may be almost useful for actual fighting next autumn, so rapidly are developments produced by the fierce competition of war.

When America has got her full stride in the war, as surely she will get it, it will be found that there will be a tremendous demand for chauffeurs. England today has nearly 100,000 motor trucks in France, and is constantly sending more. Every one of these trucks must be manned by a skilled driver. If skilled chauffeurs can be sent to operate your trucks, it will be possible to release an equal number of men for the fighting lines. It will mean the end of joy-riding. England stopped this favorite outdoor sport a good while ago, and I am sure that when America wakes up to the tremendous realization of what this war means she will do likewise.

I have a strong conviction that with peace will come a close federation of the nations who are now fighting the great fight for freedom. It will be the only insurance against the autocracy that made this war possible and against the horrors that the armies of the autocrat have perpetrated on innocent noncombatants. The world must be made free for democracy.

WOMAN IN THE NEW AGE

(By W. H. Bridge)

(This is the first of a series of articles dealing with the influence of enfranchised women in other countries.)

Evil conditions, economic and moral, are in the nature of things transient; nature is always finding a solution. Thank heaven the forces of nature are all on the side of the clean and decent, all the misery under the sun results from mans purblind neglect of his obligations to nature.

Woman in the New Age is going to be one of nature's great remedial forces; she is going to bring to the fore, and boost, certain qualities of human nature, certain principles of action, which the masculine tendency is to belittle.

We have all the ingredients we need for a tiptop decent and permanent civilization, but the mixture is wrong. Our new cook will bring her own recipes and we may hope for a little less sour dough in politics.

An examination of what women have done in other countries will convince the sceptical of what is possible here; and incidentally give a lead to the women of Cranbrook who are already in arms.

Let us commence with New Zealand.

The enfranchisement was granted to women in New Zealand in 1893. We give a brief summary of the legislation initiated under the women's influence up to 1910:

In 1894.—A Legitimation Act, protecting the rights of illigitimate children, and legitimizing them on the marriage of their parents.

In 1895.—The Family Homes Protection Act, secures homes and prevents their sale for mortgage or debt.

In 1898.—The Testator's Family Maintenance Act, empowers the Supreme Court to cancel a will leaving the Testator's wife, husband or family unprovided for.

In 1898.—The Divorce Laws made equal between the sexes.

In 1905.—Adoption of Children legally regulated.

In 1905.—Maternity Homes Act.

In 1908.—Maintenance Act for wives and families.

We do not necessarily advocate all the foregoing measures. In some cases our present legislation covers the situation and in others the New Zealand laws would be inapplicable. We name them to illustrate the type of legislation resulting from the woman's influence.

We have named only 11 legislative Acts; if space permitted we could expand it to 51 (up till 1912). Of that number 26 directly concern the welfare of infant and child life. If health and education of the child is the basis of the nation's future, which obviously it is, have not the women been working at the true foundation?

The male politicians think instinctively of mines, lands and forests, of railroad contracts (and graft). Good for him; these matters demand attention. But the woman thinks of the child and her problem is how to produce the best child. From the child her interest is led to the home and the school; and thence to problems of industry and labor. The circle of her interests expands; it embraces mines, lands and forests and railroads ultimately. But the child is the centre and other things fall into place. All through, she puts first the things that the man puts last.

It is the fact of this antipodal difference of interest between the male and female politician that will make it impossible for women to fall into existing partizan groups. None of the Acts we have named can be labelled as peculiarly Liberal, Conservative or Socialist. Our subsequent study of the effects of womens work in other countries will emphasize this same fact. The waman's point of view when it is developed and emancipated will be essentially non-partizan.

We do not believe that the new vote will be a sex vote; nor will it be a new party vote. It will be a penetration into existing parties of a new spirit and outlook. The influence of the women in the party associations will be that of a leaven leavening the lump. The trouble is these 'lumps' don't wish to be leavened!

The influence of our women in politics will depend entirely upon their independence, whether they are partizan or non-partizan, and upon their vision of the things that may be.

Mr. Joseph Martin wants to return to Canada. Joe is evidently looking for a scrap and wants to be in it.

To waste food is a habit. To waste food in the face of a severe food shortage is a crime. Cultivate the habit of economy as the supply of food may win or lose the war.

To postpone the enforcement of conscription until the general election would mean the postponement of necessary re-inforcements for at least six months longer.

The Provincial Government on July 14th paid $423,000 on account of interest on Bonds of the Pacific Great Eastern Railway Company guaranteed by the Province.

Referring to conscription, Senator Bostock says: "It would be desirable to adhere to the Spirit of Democracy". Does the Senator imply that the United States are not adhering to the Spirit of Democracy?

British Columbia's manufacturing interests are growing as witness the contract for machinery to be installed in boats building in the Province, let to British Columbia Manufacturers by the Imperial Munitions Board. We hope to see the day when shipbuilding is one of the great industries of the Province.

The re-election of Winston Spencer Churchill as a member of the British House of Commons by a majority of over 5,000 votes shows that the old country people want every ounce of energy directed towards winning the war and the energy of W. S. C. is proverbial and will soon be felt as Minister of Munitions.

The majority of forest fires are from preventative causes and the majority of preventative causes are the thoughtlessness of campers and travellers. A little bit of carelessness; a little bit of laziness; resulting in inconceivable suffering and loss of valuable lives and property. Many a man is serving penal servitude for a lesser crime.

Life Insurance is growing in prosperity, as the companies all report more business than ever before—this when so many men are out of the country at the War. The War is bringing home the uncertainty of earthly life, and the necessity for thinking ahead in providing for dependents, and just to this extent it is proving a blessing.

TIME UP, BOYS; OVER WITH YOU!

(The 'Pall Mall Gazette,' London.)

There is a moment when dreams come into the faces of men; when self-communion is something more than a phrase; and when, for once, the ideal seems nearer than the real. That is before the most momentous order that can be given: 'Time's up, boys! Over with you!'

I am a platoon commander; I have just left company headquarters' dugout after a pow wow, and my watch has been synchronized by brigade time.

First, there are the sergeant and junior N. C. O.'s to be told. Even now the shell fire is warmish. The orders are concise enough. At 12.30 noon we are to mount the parapet simultaneously with the first wave, who are occupying the line thirty yards ahead of us. That indistinct ridge of mud is our objective; there is to be no hesitation; no taking cover or halting in friendly shell craters, and no failure. The regiment has never failed in anything it has set out to achieve, and it must not fail now. The N. C. O.'s listen quietly and without demonstration. Each returns to his unit, and one and all of us settle down on the floor of the trench to wait for the passing of the odd two hours which must elapse before we learn what 'going over the top' means.

It is the longest two hours I have ever known. At last I get stiffly to my feet and realize a little of my tiredness. We have spent the previous four days and nights strengthening our position, digging, digging, digging, for no attack is ever made from a weak position.

Our clothes are muddy, and torn. Our beards have grown their own sweet way for a week. Our eyes are the eyes of men who have slept little and seen much. . .

Five minutes more.

'Pass the word down to fix bayonets.' The man next to me is looking at something in a silver locket. There is a curious lull in the firing.

Four minutes—three minutes.

I catch sight of my sergeant, and our eyes meet. There is a good deal in our exchange of glances. He is a grizzled Mons veteran, and I am only a young subaltern in my first attack. His gaze is very full of meaning. I am to prove myself. Every man in the platoon looks at me. My heart thumps.

One minute more.

Time.

The world breaks into hideous clamour. Behind us something like 200 guns roar in one mighty chorus for our protection. I clamber on the parapet, and, miles down the line, other officers, junior and senior, stand as I stand, for one second, nakedly conspicuous.

'Up with you, boys! At 'em!'

The advance begins.

We go in long, straight lines at a curiously steady little dog-trot. In the air is hell and confusion. Shrill screaming and ear-splitting explosions of our shrapnel barrage, sickening, ponderous crunch of German H. E. flying splinters, smoke, and everything that beggars description. I find myself getting peculiarly annoyed because two of my men are in advance of their fellows.

I shout at them.

As well shout to the moon.

One of them falls—queerly.

We are nearly there; perhaps another fifty yards. The din increases. It is unimaginable; it is staggering. One feels at the same time helplessly dwarfed, hopelessly subdued . . . and the next moment supremely exalted Men are now falling faster. The wave of men preceding us is getting thin, and we are quickly gaining on them. Soon we are amongst them, and as one mass we charge into the German first line trench. For a moment pandemonium. Then things clear up. These Boches are out-classed— conquered by sheer superiority and unbeatable pluck. Rifles are flung down and grimy palms uplifted. The position is captured

We pause to take breath. My sergeant, minus his steel hat and with a deep scratch across his cheek, runs up, and in his blazing eyes I read approval. He explains what has been happening on our right. 'And, sir,' he gasps, 'I wouldn't ha' missed this for summat.'

Digging, digging, digging. Trenches reversed, deepened, strengthened. It is getting dark. Surely no order was more gratefully obeyed than that order to stop work. I post sentries along my little bit of front, and sink down on the soft earth, perfectly weary. Near me is a little group of wounded Germans. One is groaning miserably. The shell fire has dropped again, and the calm seems wonderful. All the rapid events of the past few hours must be impossibilities.

And then my sergeant brings me the roll of missing.

'Make way for the stretcher bearers.'

'Who is that?

'Corporal J——, sir. Left lung and shoulder.'

And so on, far into the night.

It is the price we pay.

Mr. Wm. Hamilton, our pioneer fruit rancher had a narrow escape from death last week when he got tangled up in the horns of his prize bull. It appears from information received that the bull charged Mr. Hamilton so suddenly that there was no alternative but to grab the bull by the horns, but unfortunately Mr. Hamilton's hand slipped on one of the horns and he fell prostrate on the bull's head. The enraged animal, who probably thought he was being made the dupe of a toreador's prank lost no time in tossing his victim high in the air and landing him about twenty feet away. Mr. Hamilton came down on the side of his head and right shoulder and was so seriously injured that he could not move and were it not for the timely arrival of his faithful dog he probably would have been gored to death. As it was the dog, by barking and snapping at the enraged beast, kept him away from his master until he had sufficiently escaped to reach a place of safety. We are pleased to note that Mr. Hamilton is able to be around in spite of his thrilling experience.

CHAUTAUQUA FESTIVAL

13th to the 18th August—Six Days of Real Enjoyment

The press of the different cities on the Chautauqua circuit speak emphatically in praise of the excellence of the programs offered by this wonderful organization. Attention is directed to the offerings appearing in this issue. A moment's consideration will convince anyone that something entirely out of the ordinary is offered. Even the "get-up" of the advertising matter is an evidence of the thoroughness which seems to be the motto of Chautauqua. There is snap, bite, punch in the stuff, and though people may say that good wine needs no advertising, still, one can put more drive into something which really justifies his praises, even in an advertisement, than he can into the notice for some humbug or sham.

It is a good sign when people come around and ask on what syllable does the accent fall in the word Chautauqua. For information's sake, it may be said to be on the second. The origin of the word is in doubt. It is from the Indian, and there is a Chautauqua Lake somewhere in the eastern states.

The Hawaiian Quartet is proving such a hit with the public that Cranbrook has to look out for an epidemic of ukeleles. This four syllable affair is supposed to be the national instrument of Hawaii and was only recently discovered. In the hands of an ameteur it has no equal as an apparatus of torture. It looks like a baby guitar and appears to be innocent enough. It has four strings—mostly out of tune. The proper costume to assume when playing the uke is a shredded wheat kilt. The performer must be of the female sex to make a proper sensation. She then sings—mostly out of tune like the uke—the famous dirge of the old-time female cannibals of Hawaii, "Uke-puke-dolliballi-foola." Some ameteurs learn the whole of one chord on the uke. A few learn two. None learn more before they die—and they die young, but not too young for the peace of the community.

It may be well to point out that the demand for season tickets for Chautauqua is likely to be far in excess of the supply. It was stated last week that these tickets would be available on the 8th instant, but as that date falls on Wednesday, a half-holiday, it was decided that they be offered on Thursday the 9th instant. They can be obtained from W. D. Gilroy at the Telephone Office.

Season tickets for the High School pupils will cost but $1.50 and like those made available for the Junior Chautauqua will be good for each of the programs, morning afternoon and evening.

YOUR CHILD

The Superintendent of S.A. Fresh Air Camp at Clarkson's, Ont., says: "We always keep a supply of Zam-Buk at our Children's Camp. We use it constantly for sunburn, insect stings and bites, as well as for cuts, bruises and sores, and believe there is nothing to equal it."

Zam-Buk is especially suitable for a child's tender skin, owing to its purity of composition. It contains absolutely none of the coarse animal fat or harsh mineral drugs found in ordinary ointments.

A most charming and delightful fete was given on the afternoon of Friday by Miss Dora K. Boedecker on the lawn of her cottage home, the occasion being the presentation of the certificates of the Royal Academy of Music and the Royal College of Music, both of London, England, to the successful pupils in the late specially conducted local examinations. Fully fifty persons were present and enjoyed the hospitality of the hostess. In addition to enjoying the light refreshments which were served many of those present engaged in tennis. In a few quiet well chosen words Mr. R. Randolph Bruce, C. E., F. R. G. S., complimented the scholars and the teachers on their success in winning the coveted rewards and followed by presenting to those who were present the certificates which they had earned. FORT STEELE

The logging train running between Wardner and Mile 42 K. C. R. was derailed two and a half miles north of Wasa last Thursday. The auxiliary train from Cranbrook was called out and section men from Bull River, Fort Steele, and Wasa were soon on the scene of activities and after great labor the logger was raised on to the track and switched to a side track to allow the passenger train, which had been held up for fifteen hours, to pass. No passengers were injured.

Mrs. Handley, Miss Handley, Miss E. Ryckman, Mrs. Mellor, Mrs. James, Messrs. E. and H. Bidder, spent the week end at St. Marys Lake.

We regret the Consolidated Mining Company saw fit to remove the office staff to the Sullivan Mine, as we lose in Mr. Burdett, the Company's accountant, a very prominent citizen. Mr Burdett took an active part in all political and social functions; was president of the Conservative Association since 1913; was organizer and president of the Farmers' Institute; was secy-treas. of the School Board, and was always just in his official capacity as J. P. We wish Mr. and Mrs. Burdett every success.

Mr. Conover of Meadow Brook has been appointed Fire Warden for the St. Marys district. Those requiring permits to burn should apply to Mr. Conover at Kimberley.

ELKO NOTES BY FRED ROO

You can talk until your tongue makes a noise in your mouth like a tin whistle, but you can't beat Elko for scenery. It's not paradise, but the very next door to it.

Mr. and Mrs. Jock MacKenzie and family of Fernie are visiting with Mr. and Mrs. Harry Edmunds, Truro Cottage, this week.

If these notes are brighter than usual the reason can be traced to the fact that the regular editor of these notes is away fishing, but wait until he returns, the old fried egg will have something you can tell your friends about. At present he is a sour dough disturber and flap jack manufacturer.

Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Traherne, Druggist, Fernie, are registered at the Populars, Riverside Ave., this week.

Dr. and Mrs. Campbell, foremost Alberta, are camping in Canyon Park, above the Falls.

The forest fires have been very bad south of the town and some started by the Great Northern Trains got very close to town. It is the longest spell ever known around here without rain, and the sheepmen west of the town were getting very anxious with fires all around them, but the monotony broke Saturday night when the rain came down in nice big chunks, and the green grass is once more growing all round.

He was President in 1912-13, the two best years in the history of the institution. Mr. Kent is head of the Boy Scouts in Toronto and is identified with many philanthropic enterprises. Long and continued illness has compelled Dr. Orr, Manager since 1903, to seek a long rest.

BREAD CARD LONG USED

Dates Back Nearly Two Thousand Years

Alkmar, Netherlands, July 16.—The bread card, that familiar European product of the present great clash of nations, is nearly 2,000 years old. That is the discovery of a Dutch professor, Dr. M. Moltzer, who asserts that it was in use in Rome under the Emperor Augustus, in whose reign Christ was born.

Moreover, not only did Romans have *their bread cards and their Govern*ment grain, a term that has become so familiar in Holland, but Government intervention in ancient Rome evoked as much discontent and friction between public and bread purveyors as has been the case in these modern days.
