Telephone System Being Rebuilt

When Work Completed Former Plant Will be Unrecognizable —New Switchboard is Newest Design Now Obtainable.

A crew of about a dozen men, under the supervision of Roy Harris of Cranbrook, are at work rebuilding and re-equipping the lines of the Kootenay Telephone Company, which company at midsummer purchased the local telephone system from Creston Power Light & Telephone Company, which company had erected it about twenty years ago.

Just at present work is being devoted entirely to the lines within the village. The new pole line is being anchored down and put in permanent shape and a start has been made at putting all the village wires into cables. In ddition to this the former Reg. Watson residence on Victoria Avenue, which the new company rocently purchased, is being fitted up for a new central, and in which construction is under way on a new switchboard of the latest design.

In the 1½ inch cable coming out of central are 200 pairs of wires. 100 of these are carried through to the Bank of Commerce corner from which point 50 pairs run east to serve that section of the village. Another 25 of these are carried accross the track to serve the lower side of Creston, and 25 palrs are held for new installations.

50 pairs are carried up Victoria Avenue and of these 25 serve places on the west side of the village and the other 25 take care of residences in the territory adjacent to Holy Cross Church, leaving out of the total of 200 another 50 for expansion in this part of the village. The new system is metallic throughout, and when fully installed all the former trouble from interrupted conversation due to cross talk will be gone forever. When these improvements in town are finished it is proposed to thoroughly re-condition the lines at Wynndel and Erickson starting from Creston.

Boyd & Craig have the contract for remodelling the Watson house which has quite a good central location. The new switchboard is the latest in Northern Electric build, and has a capacity of 105 lines, of which 75 are now in use. In addition to the switchboard room the house will be enlarged to include living quarters and in due course an emergency night service may be looked for.

A. W. Millen of Cranbrook will be trouble shooter for the village lines, as well as east to Yahk, and west to Wynndel, while Harry Crosby will devote his time to the company long distance line from Sirdar to Proctor. Miss Nora Payne is, of course, supervisor of all local lines.

With the installation of the new switchboard and the betterments that are being made on pole lines and general equipment, Creston and district will very shortly be enjoying the same high class telephone service the B.C. Telephone Compuny have a well deserved reputation for supplying on their network of lines all accross the province.

Alice Siding

Roy Dickson, who has been helping with the prairie harvest and threshing at Coronation, Alberta, arrived home at the first of the week.

Miss Helen Moore, who is teaching at Flagstone spent the weekend with her mother, Mrs. Hugh Taylor.

Miss Gladys Webster, who is teaching at Michel, spent the Thanksgiving vacation with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Webster.

Hector Stewart returned this week from a holiday visit at Wasa, and reports considerable snow in evidence in that section.

Miss Ruth Compton was home from Nelson for a weekend visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Compton.

Tom Argyle, whom older residents will recall as being in partnership with Mr. Bohlee in what is now known as the Beazer place, in 1915, arrived by motor on Sunday, accompanied by his wife and family, and are at present occupying one of the Dick Smith's houses. Mr. Argyle comes from Winnipeg, Man., and expects to reside here permanently.

While helping with the unloading of a dragline from a barge at the ferry on Saturday last Everard Constable sustained injuries to his hip and leg that have him under the doctor's care.

Wynndel

Mr. and Mrs. W. Pederson of Norida, Sask., are visitors here with the former's parents.

Due to counter attractions the Community Society bridge on Saturday night did not attract the usual large attendance, only four tables of players showing up. The high score prizes were made by Miss Curtis and E. J. Malthouse.

Still another sale of improved farm property is reported this week, Otto Kochott purchasing the former Albert Jorgenson place, next to A. W. Sinclair, containing 20 acres, along with which he has also purchased two other 20-acre tracts of unimproved land in the same locality.

Word reached Lister this week of the death of John Hewitson, which took place at the Central Alberta Sanitarium, Calgary, earlier in the month. Deceased was a resident of Lister, arriving from Rosedale, Alberta, in March, 1928, and leaving in May of this year. He was a 100 per cent. disability case, but though his death does not come as a surprise, his passing is regretted by many friends here.

Two shifts are now employed operating the ditcher on the new water system. The machine has been changed over and instead of lifting the earth on the upward scoop of the shovel it is now excavated by the forward drag plan. This week it is at work on the line between the Malthouse ranch and the school. The pipe laying gang is working quite close up to ditching and no time will be lost turning on the water once the ditch is completed.

Come and hear Evangelists Constance Littley and Patsy Richards at the Full Gospel Mission, Tuesdays and Fridays at 7.30 p.m. Sundays at 11 a.m. and 7.30 p.m.

Armistice Given Due Observance

Sunday Community Thanksgiving Service Largely Attended —Impressive Commemoration —Exercises at Monument.

Armistice was fittingly observed by the people of Creston and district with an Armistice thanksgiving service in the Grand theatre on Sunday evening and the usual commemoration exercises at the monument on Monday, both of which were well attended.

On Sunday evening all services in town churches were withdrawn and the gathering was a community affair, attracting an audience that filled the Grand to capacity. Proceedings were in charge of Rev. R. E. Cribb, pastor of Trinity United Church. Rev. P. McNabb, Presbyterian minister, took the scripture readings and devotional exercises, and from the text, "Of whom the world was not worthy," Rev. A. Garlick, Anglican rector, delivered an address well befitting the occasion. Harold Langston of Lister contributed a solo number "There is no Death," and the singing was led by the choir of Trinity United Church, with an orchestra accompaniment, T. Goodwin wielding the baton. The collection was quite generous and goes to the blind veterans fund. At the close the presiding clergyman took occasion to thank the orchestra, the choir, as we l as C. O. Rodgers who gave the Grand free of charge for the service.

There was a representative turnout from all points in the Valley at the Monday morning exercises at which Rev. R. E. Cribb was in full charge. There were the customary prayers, the hymn, "O God our Help in Ages Past," a ten-minute talk in which the speaker urged his hearers to keep alive the splendid ideals for which the men faught in the great war. Reveille and Last Post by bugler Geo. H. Kelly, and the presentation of wreaths by organizations and citizens. About 40 ex-service men were in the parade to the centotaph, which was in charge of Sergt. S. M. Watson, and headed by Piper Ross.

In the evening the Legion had their third annual ball in the Grand theatre ballroom which attracted a very large attendance, and the proceeds go to the building fund, the veterans now owning property on Barton Avenue on which it is intended to erect a Legion building.

According to the lattest B.C. Telephone Company bulletin there are now 116 telephones attached to Creston central. The company has 90 at Kimberley and 128 at Kaslo.

Favored with frosty but sunny weather on Monday there was a splendid turnout at the exercises at the monument at 11 o'clock. The parade of ex-service men was about the best ever.

FOR SALE—Toggenburg goats, good milking strain. One 6-year old, gave 4 quarts milk at freshening, $20. One 2½ years old, $10. One 1½ years old, $10. Appiy John Blinco, Creston.

The Problem of Narcotics

The evil of narcotics is one that strikes both directly and indirectly at the home.

There are about 8,000 drug addicts, or dope fiends, as they are more commonly called, in Canada. They consume, and here is an even more startling figure, about $80,000 worth of drugs every day.

The danger from the widespread use of narcotics in Canada, is that drug addicts breed drug addicts; each one is an agency of evil who will try to pull other victims into the mire in which he finds himself.

The four main drugs that have assailed Canada are opium, morphine, cocaine and heroin. Opium is the juice of the white poppy, cultivated mainly in Hindustan and Asiatic Turkey, and thickened by evaporation.

Opium would not be so important to us, but for the fact that other drugs that are used most extensively in Canada, come from opium.

About one hundred and twenty-five years ago, a French chemist found that he could produce another drug, morphine, which was named after the god of sleep, Morpheus, from opium.

Sixty-five years later another chemist, this one an Austrian, found by experimenting with cocoa leaves that he could produce cocaine.

Just thirty years ago, a German chemist found he could take from opium still another drug, which was called heroin. It is three or four times stronger than morphine, and is blamed largely for the increase in drug usage on this continent since the war. At first heroin was not believed to be habit-forming, and was used on that assumption. But two years after its discovery, it was found to be as bad, if not worse, in getting a grip on its victim. It has been renounced by the medical profession as not at all necessary for their purpose. But it continues in use throughout the world, a dangerous drug, without any redeeming feature or excuse for its existence.

All these three drugs, morphine, cocaine and heroin, are white powders, bitter to the taste and soluble in water. All are deleterious, both mentally and physically. The habitual use of any of them will bring death with inexorable certainty. Opium is the slowest to kill, morphine, the next, while heroin is the most rapid of all.

For example, to compare the drug habit with the liquor habit; five ounces of alcohol is considered a fatal dose. Five ounces of morphine taken at one time will kill fifteen hundred men.

Chemistry has given us these drugs, and passed them on to the medical profession. The doctors used them, with the exception of heroin, to assuage pain. But mankind was not satisfied with that, and the use of these drugs spread to people who did not need them. Now the combined wisdom of chemistry, medicine, and governments, is not sufficient to strike down the peril.

There are fantastic stories at times of people who have become drug addicts because they were given one of these drugs in a time of need, and that one administration made them addicts. Those are very rare cases, and hardly need to be taken into consideration. The use of drugs is spread about almost entirely by people who profit greatly by creating other addicts.

Thousands of tons of poisonous drugs are consumed every year by the human race. Less than one per cent. of the total consumption is necessary for medicinal purposes.

Before heroin came into such general use, adults were, in the main, the only addicts. The dealers in heroin, however, recruit among their customers young children. The average age of the heroin addict is about 22 years of age, which means that he must have become addicted some years before he was twenty.

Again to compare the drug habit with the liquor habit: It takes some time of regular drinking before a youth becomes a regular drunkard. Not so with heroin. An ounce of heroin can make two thousand addicts within a week. As well as that, a drunkard sometimes serves as a useful example with which to point the warning finger. In fact a drunkard as a general rule, will advise others to keep away from the stimulant that caused his downfall. Not so the heroin addicts. He begins right away to drag others into the net. He is used as a recruiting agent for the operators who are making the money. The more heroin he gets, the more he craves. He is told that in order to get more of it, he must introduce more customers. And so the peril spreads.

Preserving Old Windmills

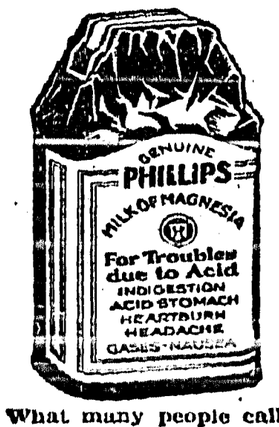
Germany is preserving its old windmills because of their historic value and their picturesque touch to the scenery. To raise funds for their preservation many of the windmills have been fitted up as rest houses, where young people on walking tours can get a night's lodging at a low rate.

Didn't Interest Him

An actor, who, because of his wandering profession had seldom paid his income tax, was at last discovered by the authorities, who promptly sent him a return to complete.

The actor kept it for a few days and sent it back with a little note:

"Thank you very much, but I don't wish to join this affa'r."



When Pain Comes

What many people call indigestion very often means excess acid in the stomach. The stomach nerves have been over-stimulated, and food sours. The corrective is an alkali, which neutralizes acids instantly. And the best alkali known to medical science is Phillips' Milk of Magnesia. It has remained the standard with physicians in the 50 years since its invention.

One spoonful of this harmless, tasteless alkali in water will neutralize instantly many times as much acid, and the symptoms disappear at once. You will never use crude methods when once you learn the efficiency of this. Go get a small bottle to try.

Be sure to get the genuine Phillips' Milk of Magnesia prescribed by physicians for 50 years in correcting excess acids. Each bottle contains full directions—any drugstore.

Fighting Forest Fires At Night

Miner's Carbide Lamp Used By Rangers In Work Of Extinguishing Fires

Equipment is now in use by the Forest Service, Department of the Interior, which enables rangers to fight forest fires at night, when such work is most valuable, owing to the fires dying down at dark. The chief item of special equipment is the miners' carbide lamp, which is attached to the fire-fighter's cap and so is located just above his forehead. This leaves his hands free to work, and gives the light just where desired, both for travel in reaching the fire and for the work of extinguishing the fire.

WOMEN WHO SUFFER

Anaemia Responsible For Most Of the Ills Of Girls and Women

Medical science shows that most of the ills that afflict growing girls and women are due to the fact that the blood is either poor in quality or deficient in quantity. This anaemia is the cause of low spirits, languidness, the poor appetite, breathlessness, and the aching backs that make life a burden for so many women. There is no need for any woman to suffer in this way, for all the miseries of anaemia can be quickly banished by taking Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. It is an established fact that these pills create an abundance of new rich blood—their wonderful reputation is based on that.

Thousands of formerly weak and ailing women have cheerfully testified to the fact that they owe their restoration to good health to Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. One of these is Mrs. Napoleon Gallant, Tignish, P.E.I., who says: "I am among those who can strongly recommend Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Before I began using them I was in an extremely nervous condition. I could not sleep, neither could I eat, and was constantly growing weaker. I got medicine from a doctor, but it did not seem to meet my condition, and then, on the recommendation of a friend, I began to take Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. By the time I had taken a couple of boxes there was no doubt they were helping me. I continued their use until I had taken six or seven boxes when I was again in the best of health. I always keep Dr. Williams' Pink Pills in the house, and if any member of the family feels rundown the pills soon put them in good condition."

The best time to begin taking Dr. Williams' Pink Pills is the moment you feel the least bit out of sorts. The sooner you do so the sooner you will regain your old-time energy. You can get these pills through any medicine dealer or by mail, postpaid, at 50 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Power Of Sound Waves

If Highly Pitched They Will Do Much Damage

Living creatures can be struck dead by sound waves too highly pitched for the human ear to hear them, writes T. C. Bridges. These high frequency waves—called super - sonics—have been tried on animals and produced instant death. The sound appears to shatter the blood corpuscles, and death is as sure and sudden as if the creatures had been struck by lightning. Sound can do many things which seem mysterious and almost miraculous. For instance, fire can be extinguished by sound. Some little time ago Mr. Charles Kellogg, of California, gave a demonstration of the power of sound over flame, and by drawing a violin bow across a piece of aluminium extinguished a burning gas jet at fifty feet. Sound vibrations can not only break a wineglass but can damage a building. It is suspected that the deep, vibrating notes of organs can cause vibrations which may actually weaken the structure of a church or cathedral. The very latest wonder of sound is to make an aeroplane light up the aerodrome at which it is arriving merely by a note of its siren. This was done recently at Newark, New Jersey.

Exporting Electricity

Electricity is exported from Canada only by license granted by the Electricity and Gas Inspection Service of the Department of Trade and Commerce, and the same branch of the department has jurisdiction over the export duty which has been imposed since April 1, 1925.

It is estimated that 15,000 public speeches are made every day of the week throughout the year.

Joint Branch Line Programme Announced

Thornton and Beatty Publish Plans For Alberta Railways

Announcement has been made jointly by Sir Henry Thornton and E. W. Beatty, of the branch line programme to be commenced in 1930 by the Northern Alberta railways. The presidents of the two transcontinental systems, which jointly own the Alberta railways, point out that under the agreement for acquisition the purchasers undertook to build within five years sixty miles of branch lines, in addition to the branches under construction by the government of Alberta at the time the purchase was made.

To meet the traffic needs of the district, and in fulfilment of statements previously made, the directors of the Northern Alberta railways have, therefore, decided to recommend to the government and to the directors of the Canadian Pacific, the commencement in 1930 of a line from Hythe to Rolla, a distance of fifty miles, and from Fairview westerly, a distance of 15 miles. In addition, the Northern Alberta railways will, during the coming year, undertake to investigate the traffic possibilities of an extension west from Spirit River and from a point at or near Grimshaw, to serve the Battle River district in which considerable settlement has taken place.

The programme announced is of considerable magnitude and confirms the statement already issued that in the opinion of the Canadian National and Canadian Pacific companies, the most important and immediate work in the development of the Peace River area is the construction of branch line mileage.

To Honor Pioneer

Premier Tolmie, Of British Columbia, To Be Present At Celebration Of Mount Rainier's Discovery

Nearly 100 years ago Dr. William Fraser Tolmie, physician of the Hudson's Bay Company, at Fort Vancouver, Washington, trudged up the Puyallup River to Mount Rainier, the first white man to reach a peak now known as a scenic resort.

In 1933, the centenary of this expedition, Dr. Tolmie's son, premier of British Columbia, will be the guest of honor at a celebration of Mount Rainier's discovery.

The premier has accepted the invitation of the Rainier National Park advisory board to take the leading part in the ceremony a little over three years hence.

Canadian Fliers Organize

First Convention Of Its Kind Held At Fort William

With nearly 20 delegates from coast to coast in attendance, the first all-Canada aviation convention was held recently at Fort William. J. A. Sully, president of the Winnipeg Flying Club, was chosen chairman of the initial meeting.

The first business of the convention was the organization of a central body of the flying clubs throughout the Dominion, to be known officially as the "Canadian Flying Club Association." This association will be official spokesman of the various clubs throughout the Dominion, and will attempt to solve many of the problems which today face aviators from the Atlantic to the Pacific.

Delegates from the several clubs will be known as the board of governors and this body annually will choose a president, five vice-presidents, one honorary secretary and an honorary treasurer. The vice-presidents will be regional officers, from the following districts:

British Columbia, Alberta and Saskatchewan, Manitoba and Thunder Bay district, Ontario east of Thunder Bay and Quebec and the Maritimes.

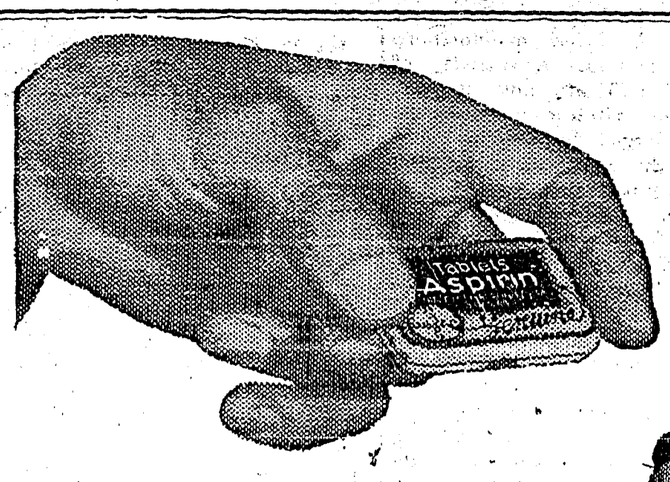
Reason Prince Sold Hunters

When the Prince of Wales abandoned fox hunting and sold his horses this year, he did so not for his own personal safety, as was generally believed, but because the prohibition of fox hunting was about to come before Parliament and the heir to the throne must not become involved in any political issue.



Needless Pain!

The man who wouldn't drive his motorcar half a mile when it's out of order, will often drive his brain all day with a head that's throbbing.

Such punishment isn't very good for one's nerves! It's unwise, and it's unnecessary. For a tablet or two of Aspirin will relieve a headache every time. So, remember this accepted antidote for pain, and spare yourself a lot of needless suffering. Read the proven directions and you'll discover many valuable uses for these tablets. For headaches; to check colds. To ease a sore throat and reduce the infection. For relieving neuralgic, neuritic, rheumatic pain.

People used to wonder if Aspirin might be harmful. The doctors answered that question years ago. It is not. Some folks still wonder if it really does relieve pain. That's settled! For millions of men and women have found it does. To cure the cause of any pain you must consult your doctor; but you may always turn to Aspirin for immediate relief.

RELATIONS WITH RUSSIA RESTORED BY LABOR PARTY

London, Eng.—Full diplomatic relations are to be restored between Great Britain and Russia.

By a vote of 324 to 199 the House of Commons have approved the government's motion for resumption of such relations and at the same time rejected a Conservative amendment which had condemned any resumption until the preliminary conditions have been satisfied. There were stipulations in regard to Soviet propaganda.

The decision regarding Russia capped a full day in both the House of Commons and the House of Lords, for the upper chamber was occupied with the latest development in the Indian constitutional problem. Such a day is not often experienced, even at Westminster.

The Commons began eagerly, expecting Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald's report of his mission to the United States, and his subsequent visit to Canada. Scarcely had Mr. MacDonald concluded, when the House of Lords began a debate on the "mystery of the proclamation by Lord Irwin, viceroy of India, which affirmed the British Government's desire to accord full dominion status to India in the fullness of time."

The doom of the Conservative amendment regarding relations with Russia was speedily sounded in the House of Commons by Right Hon. David Lloyd George, Liberal leader, who yields the balance of power. Right Hon. Stanley Baldwin had charged Right Hon. Arthur Henderson, foreign secretary, with "surrendering" to the Soviet representative in the negotiations leading to resumption of relations. Mr. Henderson denied there had been any surrender.

The foreign secretary stressed that under the new protocol, the governments of Great Britain and Russia would reciprocally confirm the pledge in regard to propaganda immediately the actual exchange of ambassadors took place.

Mr. Lloyd George then indicated the Liberal attitude by describing the break in relations with Russia initiated by the former Conservative Government, when Arcos House, in London, was raided "as an act of supreme silliness." He concluded "I say God speed the foreign secretary."

Several Conservatives supported the Labor Government in the division. These included Lady Astor, John Buchan (noted novelist), and Robert Boothby, member for Eastern Aberdeen and Kincardine.

The vote approving the government's motion for restoration of relations, marked the first definite accomplishment of Mr. MacDonald's government since other negotiations in the foreign fields, as well as schemes for relief of domestic unemployment, have yet to be submitted for parliamentary approval.

Not a single dominion had expressed opposition to the policy which had been pursued, declared Mr. Henderson. Replies received by the government indicated it was generally recognized that the renewal of relations sooner or later was inevitable.

Coming To Canada

Thousands Of Mennonites Would Leave Russia For This Dominion

Moscow.—Three thousand Siberian peasants of German descent, mostly Mennonites, have received passports to migrate to Canada. Before granting the passports the Soviet authorities exacted full payment of taxes and specified that the emigrants deposit all their possessions in Soviet banks, since exportation of rubles is forbidden.

Seven thousand of the would-be emigrants are concentrated in camps around Moscow obtaining passports at the rate of 100 per day.

Walker Again Mayor Of N.Y.

New York.—Mayor James Walker, more familiarly known as "Jimmy" to the millions of the metropolis, was swept into office again for another four years on the crest of a Democratic tidal wave of great proportions. He defeated Congressman Florello H. LaGuardia, candidate of the Republicans and Fusionists, by a plurality of 497,165.

India Favors Idea Of Dominion Status

British Viceroy's Declaration Has Removed Tension From Politics

New Delhi, India.—Opinion in India has now crystallized into definite comment on the Viceroy's historic declaration of November 1, making it clear that the favorable response is wider than might have been expected. The Viceroy's affirmation of the British government's desire that India should attain dominion status in the fullness of time, and pointing out a conference should be held in London to clear up relations between British India and the native states of India, is described as removing with one bold stroke all the electric tension from Indian politics.

Anglo-Indian newspapers not only were the first to describe the announcement as wise, but they also resented the opposition voiced in the British press. Both progressive and press opinion is being modelled on the lines of the statement issued by 30 members of the Indian Nationalist Congress and other leaders, including M. Ghandi, great upholder of Indian nationalism. This statement gives conditional acceptance, suggesting a livelier spirit should be be infused into the government of the country until a new constitution for India actually comes into existence.

The depressed masses and Indian Christians welcome the Viceroy's announcement and ask that their interests be protected at the conference.

Dog Rescues Wounded Trapper

Carried Note To Nearest Camp and Returned With Help

Nakina, Ont.—Once again man owes his life to the intelligence and faithfulness of a dog. Andrew Syvitski, 22, accidentally shot himself when he drew a revolver from his holster while hunting at an isolated camp at Pine Lake.

Realizing his predicament and knowing that he could not reach the nearest trapper's cabin himself, Syvitski scribbled a note and fastening it to his dog's collar, ordered the animal to proceed to the nearest camp, owned by Thomas Hughes.

The dog ran through three miles of bush and swam a river to reach Hughes' cabin.

Hughes, with the animal leading the way, reached Syvitski's camp and after rendering first aid, brought the man to his own camp. A railway speeder brought the wounded man to Nakina, and he was later rushed to Port Arthur by train.

Cheers Greet Premier

MacDonald Receives Hearty Welcome From Members Of House

London, Eng.—Taking his place on the front bench of the House of Commons for the first time since his return from his notable visit to America, Premier MacDonald was greeted with loud cheers from the members. Many of them rose to their feet and waved their order papers in salute.

Mr. MacDonald, resuming the leadership of the government in the Commons found a packed a house awaiting what promises to be a highly important utterance on unemployment from Rt. Hon. J. H. Thomas, Lord Privy Seal and Minister of Employment.

This is an issue that friends and foes of labor are watching with the keenest attention and the government's handling of it has vital bearing on its fate.

Would Fly Across Atlantic

Russian Airmen Ask Permission To Resume Return Journey

New York.—The four Russian aviators, members of the crew of the "Land of the Soviets," which flew from Moscow to New York, have wired Soviet officials for permission to fly across the Atlantic ocean to England. They hope to leave in two weeks from Harbor Grace, Newfoundland.

Semyon Ashestanov is chief pilot and commander of the Soviet 'plane, and P. E. Bolotov, B. V. Sterligov, and D. V. Fufayev, are members of the crew.

MENTIONED FOR IMPORTANT POST

Lord Arnold, British paymaster-general, who accompanied Ramsay MacDonald on his visit to this country, is being prominently mentioned in British Labor party circles as possible successor to Sir Esme Howard, British ambassador to the United States, soon to return from Washington.

Americans Settling In Saskatchewan

Many Farmers Coming To Make Homes In Canada

North Portal, Sask.—Despite the wintry weather settlers from the United States are coming to Western Canada. During the past few days six carloads of stock and effects have cleared customs at this port. Alfred Hakenson shipped two cars from Wendell, Minn., to Aneroid, Sask., where had farmed for some years, but a year ago returned to Minnesota and started in poultry and dairy farming. The call of the broad prairies was too strong.

Frank McKnight, also a Canadian many years ago, shipped two cars from Noley, Mont., to Leslie, Sask., where he is renting land from a brother. While in the Soo yards at Portal, N.D., Mr. McKnight was struck by a freight engine, his leg being injured so that he had to be taken to a hospital for treatment. His stock and effects were looked after by Clarence Reed, who was a neighbor in Montana and who also is immigrating to Leslie, Sask., with a car of stock. Mr. McKnight was able to leave the hospital later and left for Leslie on a passenger train.

L. Matzdorf, from Burlington, N. D., shipped a car to Hythe, Alta., where he has taken a homestead.

Postpone Pool Convention

Brandon, Man.—The Manitoba Wheat Pool has postponed its annual convention. Instead of meeting in the city, November 5, as originally planned, the convention will gather here on November 19, 20 and 21.

Aviators Killed In Montreal

Seaplane Of Canadian Government Crashed While Being Tested

Montreal.—Pilot Officer Paul Garton Stanley, 23, of Toronto, and flying Officer John L. McLaughlin, 35, of Montreal, were almost instantly killed when a Canadian Vickers "Vedette" seaplane which they were testing for the Canadian government crashed in a field near Sault Aux Recollets. The plane buried its nose in the soft surface of the field and by the time the two airmen were released they were dead, crushed in the wreckage.

McLaughlin was a test inspector and Stanley was flying the seaplane. They had made a previous test flight early in the day but the weather conditions were not suitable for flying and a second flight was attempted in the afternoon. It was believed that the machine had gone into a spin at a time when, owing to the low "ceiling" the pilot was unable to recover before reaching the ground.

Take Money and Food From Peasants

Families Migrating From Germany Deprived Of Everything Is Report

New York.—The following wireless from Kiel, Germany, was published in the New York Times:

"Fifty-three peasant families comprising 323 persons, whose ancestors migrated from Germany to Russia under Catherine the Great, and who, together with about 5,000 other peasants desire to migrate to Canada, arrived here aboard the Soviet steamer "Felix Dsershinski," without money or food.

"According to their own statement they were searched bodily before sailing and deprived of all money and food.

"It is rumored the Canadian government has already agreed to pay for their transportation to Canada and to provide the peasants with agricultural tools and other necessities."

Predicts Era Of Disease

New York Physician Says Slum Conditions In Europe Unbelievable

New York. — Senator Royal S. Copeland, of New York, on his return from a twelve weeks' visit to Europe, said he never saw such abject poverty as in the slums of European cities. He said conditions in the poorer sections were almost unbelievable and predicted they would result in an era of disease. "This country," he said, "must guard itself against that by strict immigration regulations. The examination of aliens must be more thorough and there must be more men to do it."

Senator Copeland is a physician and a former commissioner of health in New York City.

TWO GREAT PREMIERS MEET

PROBLEMS AWAIT NAVAL PARLEY IN JANUARY

Washington.—In the swing of time toward January and the five-power disarmament conference in London, the government here and officials of the state and navy departments are hard at work upon the case for the United States. While in the main Great Britain and the United States are agreed upon what status it is necessary for each to maintain in the much-discussed cruiser class, it has been emphasized here again and again that no satisfactory agreement may be arrived at without the assent of all the powers concerned, and this opens a wide field for research containing both technical and political elements.

Secretary of State Henry L. Stimson has been for some weeks past continually in touch with the general board of the navy and he and Under-Secretary of State Joseph P. Cotton, have also consulted frequently with President Hoover.

Ambassador Charles G. Dawes, a fourth member of the delegation, is expected to stay for some time at the White House during his present visit here from London, an opportunity will be afforded them for complete canvassing of the whole position. President Hoover places large hope upon the London conference.

The chief problem as the situation is viewed from Washington, concerns the powers of France and Italy and Great Britain and geographically as situated in the Mediterranean.

First, France and Italy must arrive at an agreement upon parity, which they may do between themselves. But both France and Italy are opposed to the abolition of the submarine, favored by both Great Britain and the United States.

"The poor man's battleship" has an interesting significance in the Mediterranean wherein is one of the great trade routes of the British Empire.

Another matter which receives attention here is the proposal of France that London results should be validated at Geneva—a suggestion which finds no favor in the United States.

Japan, it is indicated, would like to have her cruiser strength proportionately to the British and American fleets, making her seven to ten instead of as at present.

Gives Report On Settlement

Canadian Congress Of Labor Has Idea To Absorb Immigration

Winnipeg.—Large scale development of unoccupied areas in Canada through agricultural and industrial development is recommended by the executive board of the all-Canadian Congress of Labor, in the board report submitted to the third annual convention. Such a plan, it is advanced, would absorb immigration to this country without detriment to the Dominion. The co-operative settlement idea advanced by the Labor Congress executive is stated to be based on a plan advanced by Rt. Hon. George Lansbury, M.P., first commissioner of works in the Labor government of Great Britain. Attention was directed to an interview with Mr. Lansbury published in a current edition of the Canadian Unionist, organ of the All-Canadian Congress of Labor.

Sir Robert Balfour Dead

Was Well Known In Canada and the United States

London, Eng.—Death has claimed Sir Robert Badfour, a prominent figure in shipbuilding circles and former member of parliament for the Patrick division of New Glasgow. He was in his 88th year.

Sir Robert was a partner in the firm of Balfour, Williamson and Company. He was well known in Canada and the United States, having lived for 25 years in the States, chiefly in San Francisco.

HOME BREW

Although Kaslo ratepayers by a vote of three to one a few weeks ago refused to sanction the expenditure of about $15,000 to give the town a new and purer water supply, there is now no doubt that the water is very far from good. In fact it is so bad that even the dairymen do not like to use it to help lengthen out the milk supply. Last week the price of milk in that town was advanced to 17½ cents a quart.

The last week in October was a sorry one for the "dry" forces of the Dominion. Three years ago the Conservative Ferguson government in Ontario was swept into office on its policy whereby the administration went into the liquor business direct. At that time it carried 78 seats in a legislature of 112. On October 30th it was given another lease of office with 92 members out of 112. And on October 31st by a popular majority of 24,000 the people of Nova Scotia authorized the Rhodes government in that province to establish government control of liquor on similar lines to those effective in British Columbia. Ontario's liquor sales for the current year are estimated at $55,000,000—the profit on which was altogether too tempting for even the people of supposedly Ontario-the-good to pass up.

Those who can recall provincial politics in Ontario in the early nineties must be struck with the fact that history is repeating itself in that province. At that time the late premiers Sir Oliver Mowat and Hon. Geo. W. Ross were accused of holding office by talking prohibition and thus securing the support of the "dry" Tories and both the "dry" and "wet" Liberals. Now the shoe is on the other foot and Premier Ferguson sweeps the province with the combined support of the "wet" Liberals and the "wet" and "dry" Conservatives.

Now that the Lister area is beginning to fill up with what it is hoped will be permanent settlers, it will not be long before the district will be trying to figure out what to specialize in, as it were, in order to make the agricultural effort yield the maximum of profit. Ashcroft gained considerable fame on potatoes, and in this section Wynndel is fast coming into its own with strawberries. Just at present John Huscroft is filling a contract to supply the Consolidated Mining & Smelting Company's big dairy farm at Kimberley with forty tons of alfalfa. As the Huscroft product was selected after looking over several other alfalfa crops in East Kootenay, it can be safely assumed that the alfalfa grown in the Huscroft-Lister area is first-class, and certainly there is no doubt about that section growing alfalfa in quantity. Here is a matter that might well engage the attention of the farmers' institute in that district.

Should one of the junior divisions of Creston public school happen to win the year's honors for best percentage of attendance and thus be entitled to the picture the Women's Institute proposes to give in such a cause, it is quite safe to say that it will not be an enlargement of Col. Fred Lister's photo that will figure in the presentation. The ladies have not forgotten the way the local member let them down at the annual conference about a year ago, at which he unexpectedly failed to appear to discuss old age pensions or some such topic. Even that staunch supporter, Mrs. Chalmers of Thrums, appeared quite indignant. But the Colonel isn't worrying about Mrs. Chalmers. She is Conservative first, and instituter second.

In an interview given out a few days ago Hon. W. C. Shelley, minister of finance, effects to see better days for the federal Conservatives due to the recent Conservative provincial government's sweep of British Columbia, Saskatchewan and Ontario. So far as this province is concerned there is but one Liberal member at Ottawa. In Ontario in the general election of 1925 Premier King elected hardly more than a dozen supporters. In the summer of 1926 the Ferguson Conservative government carried the province by electing 78 members in a legislature of 112 members. In September, 1926, in the federal election Premier King increased his Ontario following to at least 25. In 1929 Premier Ferguson again carries Ontario with 92 members out of 112. So that if Ontario runs true to form in the federal election next year and gives the Ottawa Liberals another 10 per cent. gain in membership in that province such a gain would offset any loss that may be encountered in Saskatchewan, provided Hon. Mr. Shelly's guess is right. And then one must not overlook the provincial election in Prince Edward Island about a year ago when that province retired its previous Conservative administration in favor of the Liberals. And equally important is the provincial election in Nova Scotia about two years ago when the Rhodes Conservative government had its majority of about two dozen cut down to two. If these provincial contests are to be taken as indicating how the Dominion will go in 1930 certainly the Liberals have little to worry about.

Local and Personal

Trinity United Church Sunday School is having a Mother Goose bazaar in the church basement on Saturday afternoon, November 16th, from 3 to 6 o'clock, to which all are invited. Tea and refreshments served.

The Grand theatre was packed to capacity for the community Armistice thanksgiving service on Sunday night, at which all the ministers in town took part. The collection for the blind veterans was close to $40.

Mrs. Lister, Mrs. Kelly, Mrs. Kernaghan, Miss Jeanne Hall and Mrs. Payne have been suitably remembered by the Players' orchestra for services rendered in connection with the Players concert late last month.

R. B. Staples was in from Kelowna for a couple of days at the end of the week. He reports bulk shipments of Wealthy and McIntosh Red apples from Okanagan points to be double that of 1928, although less Jonathans have been shipped in bulk this year.

The Legion's Armistice night dance attracted the largest crowd seen at a dance here this year. Close to 100 couples were in attendance. The proceeds go toward the Legion's building fund, they having recently acquired lots on Barton Avenue on which to erect a hall.

The work of the Full Gospel Mission has just been reorganized and is now in charge of Misses Littley and Richards, who arrived at the end of the week from the coast. Meetings are held Tuesday and Friday evenings and the usual hours on Sunday in the former Legion hall opposite Trinity United Church.

FOR SALE—Light dray. Enquire at Review Office.

Hon. Nels. Lougheed, minister of public works, was here on an official visit on Tuesday, when he had conferences with the local Conservative association executive as well as the directors of Creston Reclamation Company, Limited. With him was F. Philip, deputy minister, and Thos. Taylor, a former works minister in the Bowser cabinet.

There was quite a good turnout at the public meeting on Friday night at the Grand in the interests of D. D. McLean of Nelson, Liberal candidate in West Kootenay, at which the speakers were Hon. J. H. King, minister of health and S.C.R.; Gordon Ross, M.P., Moosejaw, Sask., and Mr. McLean. The chair was taken by Frank Putnam.

W. Sanford Evans of Winnipeg, Man., who is making a special investigation of the fruit industry for the provincial government, was here on Thursday and Friday last, and was favored with calls from a large number of growers who discussed this problem with him. With Mr. Evans was Mr. Duncan, who was this summer appointed by the Tolmie government to find new markets for B. C. fruit.

Mr. and Mrs. Jas. F. Warren and daughter, Marylyn, of Rossland; Mr. and Mrs J. J. Warren of Toronto, Ontario; Mr. and Mrs. Jas. W. Hunter and W. A. Elletson, jr., of Rossland, were house guests of Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Archibald at the weekend. Mrs. Jas. F. Warren is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Archibald. J. J. Warren is president of the Consolidated Mining & Smelting Company.

NEWS OF KOOTENAYS

The concentrator at Moyie is handling 800 tons of ore daily.

Chess clubs have been organized at Cranbrook and Kimberley.

At Kaslo the price of milk has been raised to 17½ cents per quart.

Of a total tax levy of $118,067 of 1929 taxes at Kelowna, $110,590 has already been paid.

A quarter-mile track has been added to the athletic equipment of Grand Forks public school.

George Smith has just completed 26 years continuous service as clerk at the Cranbrook Hotel, Cranbrook.

The outlook is very poor for senior hockey at Nelson this winter. Last season the club lost about $850.

At Golden the Anglicans and the United Church are combining to give the town a worth while boys' club.

In the recent house to house canvass $1200 was collected for the Vernon hospital. 200 members were secured.

Although Cranbrook fall fair paid a business manager $250 the 1929 exhibition was a money loser to the tune of $662.

Now that talking and singing movies are available at Cranbrook the theatre is attracting a large out-of-town attendance.

1132 autos, carrying almost 5000 passengers, registered at the auto tourist camp at Fernie during the past season.

On a recent fire drill test at Kimberley public school all the pupils in twelve rooms were out 30 seconds after the alarm was sounded.

Although Greenwood is too dead for a newspaper the ladies of the Roman Catholic Church gathered in close to $40 at the annual bazaar last week.

At Summerland A. C. Walters has averaged 50 boxes of Northern Spy apples from a block of 45 trees. The only fertilizers used was sweet clover.

At Golden smoking amongst the juvenile population is so prevalent that the provincial police has been asked to take a hand in remedying the evil.

D. M. Macdonald, for many years accountant at the Bank of Commerce, Cranbrook, has been promoted to the post of manager of the Greenwood branch.

At the year egg laying contest at Grand Forks which has just ended, 232 eggs by a White Leghorn was the best single bird showing for the twelve months.

At the annual hospital bazaar at Invermere last week close to $400 was netted for the hospital.

For four successive years tax collections at Kelowna at the end of October have been 90 per cent. or over of the total levy. This year the showing is 93 per cent.

At the annual meeting of Golden District Conservative Association feeling was so intense that it was found necessary to elect ladies as both president and vice-president.

Even with the Kimberley concentrator handling 6000 tons a day there is said to be enough ore in the Sullivan mine to keep the plant running steady for another 30 or 50 years.

At Rossland the council is quite convinced the fall rains will not bring the reservoir water supply up to the required winter standard and are arranging to tap a couple of small streams near the town.

The B. C. Municipalities Association and Good Roads League are to meet simultaneously at Kelowna next year, and already the authorities are wondering if the town can handle the 200 delegates expected.

BABY'S OWN TABLETS WIN GREAT PRAISE

Many Mothers Always Keep Them In the House

Thousands of mothers state that they know of no other medicine for little ones to equal Baby's Own Tablets—that they always keep the Tablets in the home as a preventive of childhood ailments, or if sickness does suddenly grip their little ones they feel safe with such a remedy at hand.

Concerning the use of the Tablets Mrs. Donat Ploudre, Tingwick, Que., writes:—"I have nothing but praise for Baby's Own Tablets. They are the only medicine I have ever given my two little ones and I am glad to state that the Tablets have always kept them in perfect health. I feel so safe with the Tablets that I always keep a box in the house."

Baby's Own Tablets are a mild but thorough laxative. They regulate the bowels, sweeten the stomach and thus banish constipation and indigestion; break up colds and simple fever and make the cutting of teeth painless. The Tablets are absolutely safe, being guaranteed free from all injurious drugs. They are sold by all medicine dealers or by mail at 25c. a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Crossed River On Skiis

Vienna Men Claim Speed Of Twelve Miles An Hour

A most amusing spectacle recently greeted the spectators on the London Embankment, when, without any warning, they suddenly came across two men, clad in bathing suits, attempting to cross the Thames by means of water skiis. It did not take many minutes for a wondering crowd to collect, and then, urged on by cheers and laughter, the two men, Student Franz Hirsch and Professor Michael Mitter, both from Vienna, set off on their journey across the river and back.

The skiis were made of basket-work frames, and covered with waterproof. The wearer carries a small paddle with which he propels himself along. Apparently they answer their purpose well, and the two wearers claimed that they had achieved up to twelve miles per hour on the river Danube.

Precision In Levelling

Only Slight Error Made In Running Line Of Levels 3,647 Miles

In a line of precise levels run across the continent from mean sea level on the Atlantic to mean sea level on the Pacific, the engineers of the Geodetic Survey of Canada obtained an apparent difference of elevation of only about six inches. On the assumption that the mean sea levels of the two oceans are about the same, this indicates that only the above slight error was made in running a line of levels 3,647 miles in length.

Explanations and Comments

Racial Prejudices Must Be Overcome, Acts 10.1-15.—There was a Roman centurion at Caesarea, Cornelius by name, a very devout man who feared God, and was generous with the poor. One day in a vision he seemed to hear an angel saying to him, "Thy prayers and thine alms have gone up for a memorial before God," and bidding him send to Joppa for a man named Peter. At once Cornelius sent two of his servants in serch of Peter. Joppa was on the seacoast thirty miles west of Jerusalem.

On the morrow as the servants were approaching Joppa, Peter went up on the housetop to pray. He was hungry and while waiting for food to be prepared, he fell into a trance. In his trance Peter beheld a receptacle resembling a great sheet let down from heaven by its four corners, and in it all manner of four-footed beasts and creeping things and birds, and he heard a voice bidding him kill and eat. "Not so, Lord, I have never eaten anything that is common or unclean," Peter exclaimed, horrified. Peter had strictly observed the Levitical law which prescribed what animals could be eaten and how they should be slaughtered.

God Is No Respecter Of Persons, Acts 10.17-35.—While Peter was pondering the meaning of the vision, the messengers sent by Cornelius arrived. Peter called them in and lodged them over night, putting at once into practice his understanding of the vision, for they were men of another race, whom once he would have called unclean. The day following Peter went with the messengers to the home of Cornelius. He took the precaution to take with him six brethren, for he felt he was doing a venturesome thing and he wanted witnesses. Caesarea was on the seacoast thirty miles from Joppa. On reaching there, he found Cornelius and many Gentile kinsmen and friends of the latter awaiting him. Cornelius told about the vision which had led him to send for the apostle, and added, "Now therefore we are all here present in the sight of God, to hear all things that have been commanded thee of the Lord."

"And Peter opened his mouth and said" (these words indicate the solemnity of the occasion and the weightiness of Peter's message): "God has no favorites, and he who reverences Him and lives a good life in any nation is welcomed by Him."—Moffatt's Translation.

For Detecting Icebergs

Method Perfected By Dr. Barnes Of McGill University

A method of detecting in fog or at night the proximity of icebergs at sea by recording their explosions as they disintegrate has been perfected by Dr. Howard T. Barnes, of McGill University, who has returned from a voyage of experiment off Newfoundland.

Attempts were made with a marine microphone to pick up the sounds of the explosions of the icebergs as they broke in the warmer water, but nothing was heard.

Then an improvized microphone, consisting of a rubber hose with a funnel attached to one end and a sheet rubber placed over it to make it waterproof, was used. It was ascertained that the explosions could be recorded up to a distance of six miles.

The Singing Fool

By HUBERT DAIL

SYNOPSIS

Al Stone, singing waiter at Blackie Joe's New York night club, is loved by Grace Farrel, the cigarette girl, but he does not know that. He marries Molly Winton, a ballad singer, and wins fame as a composer of popular songs. When their baby, Junior, is about two years old, Molly elopes with John Perry, Al's best friend, taking the child. Molly consents to a last farewell between Al and Junior before she sails for France. After this takes place at a park entrance Al walks towards the center of the city, completely broken by his tragic loss. He plans to leave the Broadway night life and disappear. The lights of evening fleck the sky.

CHAPTER XXI.

But, in order to live, Al knew he must create a new life for himself. The old life was closed. He felt himself entirely alien to night clubs and the whole Broadway life; if he wrote a song it would be so tragic and filled with pain that no song-publisher or revue producer would want it. No, there was nothing for him to do but disappear from the old haunts.

In a few days, when he had pulled himself together, he would see Cline and collect on his share of the ownership of the Club Bombo. Then—goodby!

He had reached the end of the park, at 59th Street. How the city roared; the night life was beginning, the life of which he had been a living part only a short time ago. He glanced at his watch—almost six o'clock. They were ordering all the visitors ashore from the Ile de France; in a few moments the gangplank would be lifted and the big floating hotel of a liner would pull slowly from the dock.

. . . . . Days passed; and Broadway saw no more of Al Stone. Where had he gone? His friends asked Billy Cline, his former business partner, but Billy could only shake his head sadly and say he didn't know. Marcus wanted Al to write some new numbers for a revue he had in rehearsal, but there was no Al to be found.

"What do you think's become of him?" asked Marcus of another songwriter.

"The river?" suggested the composer.

"No." Marcus shook his head vigorously. "I don't think Al would take his own life. He loves his boy too much. He'll live for that boy— you'll see. He may slip terribly, but hope for his boy will keep him going somewhere, somehow. We can't tell—he may be perfectly all right; he may have gone on a world cruise to forget, or he may have gone to the western country for a while.

So the conjectures passed from mouth to mouth, up and down the White Way. But Al was still in New York, living in a cheap hotel, wearing shabby clothes, his money in the bank, forgotten. He was a shadow of his former self. He walked the streets by day and night, occasionally turning in to sleep. But always he stayed away from the fashionable streets and the Broadway section. He developed a terrible dread that he might meet some of his friends and he kept a constant, furtive lookout for familiar figures. If he saw one he quickly crossed the street, turned the corner and disappeared.

He was still searching desperately for a plan whereby he could rebuild his life on some new basis. But that could not be done, because he was definitely of the night club life. He had become a singing waiter while still in his teens—the cabaret life was the only one he understood. He could only wander—through the Ghetto, along the waterfront, through Little Italy. He made friends with odd characters—fish peddlers, park bums, old Irish cabbies. But always he was drifting downward.

Then came the day when he happened to glance across the street and saw a face he knew. Surely that was Grace, who used to be a cigarette girl at Blackie Joe's place near the Village. As she stared intently at him Al dodged rapidly round the nearest corner.

Grace's eyes followed Al in astonishment as he hurried around the corner and disappeared. At her first glimpse of him she had not been sure of his identity; it was a year since she had seen him and during that year he had almost become a different person in appearance. His lithe, self-confident walk was gone, his clothes were old and nondescript, his face was thinner and the cheerful kindly glow in his eyes had vanished.

Nevertheless the man who stared at her in sudden recognition for a moment was Al—she was sure of it. She walked back to the corner and followed the direction he had taken. But either Al moved faster than she or he had darted up an alley, for she saw no sign of him. Thoughtfully she retraced her steps, her mood and expression sobered by the tragic implications of the sight she had just witnessed. So that was Al, breezy, wise-cracking, generous Al—the man who had been the hero of her girlhood three years ago, the man she had loved so devotedly! That was the youthful singing waiter whose rapid rise to fame had been one of the romances of Broadway and whose disappearance into obscurity had been one of the mysteries of the Street of Lights.

Grace had followed Al's career with the keenest attention from the fateful time when he left Blackie's night club until recently. She knew every story of his triumphs, every version of his disastrous marriage, as they were gossiped about in cabaret circles, uptown and down, and as they appeared in newspapers and theatrical weeklies. For a year after Al left Blackie's her love for him had remained, first a throbbing recollection within her, then a faint murmur from the past.

But after he ceased to visit Blackie's and became so definitely a figure belonging to Broadway, this spirit of love became like the last note of an echo—it seemed to pass away lightly. Before that he had been a part of her life, afterward he was just a graceful and vague figure who had once stirred her as no man had been able to do since that time.

Grace had stayed on at Blackie Joe's. She had no scintillating talent to carry her to the peaks of Broadway success; she could not sing and dance professionally. She possessed a lovely and delicate beauty, unswerving loyalty, keen intuition, plain common-sense and a frank, unspoiled nature. These qualities, while they may be among the most important in life, may not win fame for the persons who possess them.

Grace was obscure, but still she had scored her little successes. After Al was swallowed up by Broadway, Blackie Joe, himself, had kept a kindly eye on her and saw she was protected fro mthe riff-raff among his customers. Soon he had promoted her from the job of cigarette girl and raised her salary. Now she was his assistant manager; she kept track of his accounts and checked the waiters when they carried food and drink to the customers.

Blackie had felt terribly sorry for Grace after Al went off to marry Molly—he was the only living person, with the exception of Grace, herself, who had any conception of the deep love the former cigarette girl had for Al. Blackie often asked himself — Why on earth wasn't Al able to see that? When Blackie read of Molly's desertion he nodded sadly.

Now, as Grace pursued her way, a flood of memories swept across her mind—Al as he used to look in his waiter clothes, Al as he had sung his first love ballad—"Always"—to Molly on the floor of Blackie's club, Al as she had once seen him at an uptown night club, resplendent in fine clothes, Al as she had seen his picture in the papers with Molly and his baby Junior.

Grace still recalled how the news of Junior's arrival had sent a stabbing throb through her heart that she did not understand. Then came an intense longing to see the baby that Al fathered. But that too was a faint memory—now.

It was afternoon and Grace was not due at Blackie's until evening. However, she wanted to tell the night club owner her news, so she changed her course and mounted the familiar, shabby steps. The main room was dark and deserted, but Blackie was in his office. He glanced up as Grace entered.

Send Mail By Rockets

Claimed That In Short Time Mail Will Be Carried By Rocket From Berlin To New York

It is confidently asserted by the German Professor Oberth, that in a short time mail will be sent by rocket from Berlin to New York by a single propulsion. This means that letters thus sent will arrive in New York about a half hour later. The matter is taken so seriously that the American ambassador to Germany was prompted to say: "I must call attention to the fact that our government will insist that life and property be not endangered by the rockets landing. I cannot say what guarantees would be required, but if Professor Oberth asks permission to shoot a rocket to America the state department must be informed." As the American ambassador, Mr. Schurman, is a man of broad intelligence, it may be assumed that his acceptance of the possibility of such a feat is not ridiculous.

Rockets are, seemingly, the newest toys and instruments of a scientific age which prefers to leave nothing to the imagination. Rocketeers will soon be joining racketeers to disturb our peace and to turn the incredible into the commonplace.

John Bull a Poor Advertiser

Discovered That Great German Flying Boat Fitted With Engines Of British Design

When the great German flying boat sailed over Lake Constance the other day with the record human load of 169 persons, the world of aviation properly hailed it for what it appeared to be,—a new triumph in the air for Germany. But all the story was not told at once. Germany may not claim all the triumph. The great craft is fitted with twelve engines, 523 horsepower each, of the British Jupiter design, made in German workshops under British license.

Little, if anything, appears to have been said about these engines until an aviation critic in Great Britain came out with the warning that the flight in question "throws Britain further behind in civil aviation and makes Germany the leader of commercial flight throughout Europe." Then the truth was told. As one Canadian correspondent in London says: "The curious British mentality which finds Britain backward in thousands of ways and foreign countries much more go-ahead has received a rude shock from the discovery about these engines." Once again John Bull has shown himself to be a poor advertiser.—Victoria Daily Times.
