VOL. XXI. CRESTON, B. C., FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 22, 1929 No. 38

Council Delivers Light Ultimatum

"Juice" by December 1st or 20-Year Franchise Cancelled —Plebiscite in January as to Village Taking Over Library.

The November session of the village commissioners had two outstanding features: 1. Howard S. Amon has been notified to deliver light and power, including street lights, by December 1st, or no further extensions will be given him in connection with the village light and power agreement that he now holds. 2. Mrs. J. W. Hamilton and Mrs. Wm. Truscott, who waited on the council asking that the village assume charge of the public library, were informed that the matter will be submitted the ratepayers in the form of a plebiscite at the election of commisioners in January.

In connection with the library, which was originally launched by the Women's Institute, but lately has been conducted by a regu ation board, it was pointed out that under village control books could be free to all residents within the village, and fees charged those living outside the corporation.

In connection with the light it was explained that delay until the end of the month was desired by the Kootenay Telephone Company, whose wires are on the same poles as the light, and the telephone officials wanted to get ali their wires into cables before the "juice" started travelling over the other lines.

J. C. Hamilton, who has secured a lease on the fall fair main building, has guaranteed good conduct of the rink, and will provide skating for children two or three days a week from 7 to 8 p.m. For the building he pays $30 rent.

In reply to a letter from the council asking him to put the terrace in front of his residence on Fourth Street in better shape G. J. Bayle, now living at Northport, Wash., wrote stating that as the terrace was on village property he would respectfully decline to make the suggested improvements. Mr. Lantz, who owns the former Trotter place on Hillside Road will be written to asking that the fence receive some badly needed repairs.

Chairman F. H. Jackson reported that he had inspected all the hydrants and had ha them put in shape for winter. Accounts ordered paid totalled $812, of which $183 was for betterments on Park Road and Fifth Street, and $208 went to Victoria to pay the village 25 per cent. of the cost of recent repairs to the hard surface road on Main Street from the Mercantile corner to Vancouver street.

A general meeting will be held in the town hall, Creston, on Monday, Nov. 25, to arrange plans for the completion of a competition between schools. Music is taught in the schools but there has never been an opportunity given the public to find out just how successful the youngsters are in their performance.

Sirdar school children have given concerts at Sirdar, Canyon children have performed at Canyon, and with Mrs. Baker instructing at Lister there should be quite a bit of talent unearthed, which should go a long way to make an enjoyable evening.

The boards of each school have been notified of the above meeting and the idea generally has met with approval. Those interested should accept the invitation to the meeting so that an early start can be made to put these programs over.

Institute Plans Charity Bridge

Another Grandmothers' Tea is Being Arranged—Bridge Drive is to Secure Christmas Hamper Revenues—Hear Report.

Creston and District Women's Institute had a turnout of 22 members for the November meeting on Friday afternoon, which was in charge of the pr sident, Mrs. R. Stevens, and the feature of the session was a comprehensive report by the secretary, Mrs. W. R. Long, of the proceedings of the recent district conference at Nelson of the institutes within the Kootenay-Boundty institutes' district.

Mrs. Long reported that since the original district has been subdivided in order to constitute a Slocan-Arrow Lakes section, but 17 institutes were represented at Nelson, of which Creston, with 98 members, is the second largest. Along commercial lines the conference had encouraging reports of practical effort to develope the crystallized fruit trade and the work will be followed up with a view to making the industry commercially feasible.

The big feature of the get together, however, was the giving over of one whole day to discussing public health problems and how best the institutes could help along with such a good work. Dr. Young, deputy minister of health, took a prominent part in these discussion, and among other things strongly favored establishing a dental clinic.

Representations being made the loca institute executive indicate that there are some needy families in the locality and donations of old clothing will be cheerfully received. These should be sent to the president.

Coming events include another grandmothers' tea early next month, and the committee to handle this was named as follows: Mrs. W. Hendy, Mrs. D. O'Neil and Mrs, Stevens. In order to secure funds to buy the contents of the Christmas hampers a bridge whist will be held, most likely in December, and Mrs. J. E. Hayden, Mrs. W. R. Long and Mrs. C. W. Young and Mrs. W Morrow were hostesses, and the collection for the crippled children amounted to $2.10.

This Better Age

The work of a clever cartoonist has for some time past been syndicated to newspapers in America, under the general title "So This Is Progress," wherein he depicts by way of contrast conditions of fifty or more years ago with those of today, as, for example, a party of present-day tourists in a high powered motor car speeding at sixty miles an hour along a highway on which at every vantage point unsightly billboards invite you to chew this gum, smoke that cigar, or use such and such a soap. In contrast he presents the restfulness and beauty of a tramp through the woods, and by brooks, and rivers rambling through the countryside. The work of this cartoonist leads one to wonder sometimes whether the vaunted progress of this age of frenzied speed, amazing machinery, industrialized mass production, insane speculation is, after all, an advance upon the more leisurely life and enjoyments of the last century.

Such a picture is, however, one-sided, inasmuch as while it points out drawbacks of today, it fails to visualize the great acheivements and gains to humanity as a whole, and already there is an awakening public opinion to the need for the preservation of beauty and leisure, and emphasis is laid on the fact that these need not necessarily be lost in order to make advancement in other directions.

Recently another artist presented two companion pictures in a single drawing which he labelled "This IS Progress." One picture was a reproduction of the famous painting "The Doctor," presenting the family physician by the bedside of a dying child in a workman's humble cottage, intently watching the child but apparently powerless to stay the ravages of the disease which was slowly taking the life of the child before the eyes of the agonized parents. The companion picture revealed the medical scientist of today at work in his laboratory with his scientific instruments locating and studying those deadly germs and bacilli which, it is now recognized, are the cause of disease. Thus is war being waged not on disease after it claims its victim, but on the causes of disease. This is progress, and a truer, because a more lasting picture of the achievements of the twentieth century.

Despite all the noise, the killing pace, even the ugliness of this mechanized age, with its drawbacks in the merging of the individual artizan into the cogs of a huge industrial machine, and the increasing worship of the almighty dollar, the standard of living is rising higher and higher, and beauty lost in one way is found and multiplied in countless other ways. The average workman in our cities and manufacturing towns is now better paid, better dressed, better housed, better fed, and, working shorter hours under more sanitary conditions, has more time for leisure and recreation than in any previous period in the world's history. His children are enjoying advantages in education and opportunities in life he never had in his youth.

The riches of the world's best literature, formerly reserved for the favored few, are available at low cost through the modern printing press for every home. The beauties of the world's finest music are no longer reserved for the rich and the gifted, but are broadcast by radio to be captured in millions of homes, no matter how isolated they may be. In the last century the man with a horse and buggy for pleasure or business belonged to the select; today the man without a motor car is the exception, not the rule. The telephone is on instant call in the humblest home, even the pioneer settler's sod shack, and the radio is in the mining prospector's cabin.

Even the toil and drudgery of the farm are disappearing with the advent of power machinery and electricity. Soon, even in this last Great West, high power transmission lines will carry electricity into the farm home to bake and cook, chop feed, operate the churn, pump water, and perform numerous other tasks. Even in advance of this, small gasoline engines now do the work on many farms. The telephone, the radio, the motor car and better roads, have already well-nigh annihilated the loneliness of farm life, while educational facilities and medical services are no longer remote.

So, notwithstanding certain drawbacks and losses, the world advances, progress is real and altogether worthwhile, life becomes richer and fuller, mankind rises higher and higher as God and nature designed that he should.

Too Much ACID

Many people, two hours after eating, suffer indigestion as they call it. It is usually excess acid. Correct it with an alkali. The best way, the quick, harmless and efficient way, is Phillips' Milk of Magnesia. It has remained for 50 years the standard with physicians. One spoonful in water neutralizes many times its volume in stomach acids, and at once. The symptoms disappear in five minutes.

You will never use crude methods when you know this better method. And you will never suffer from excess acid when you prove out this easy relief. Please do that—for your own sake—now.

Be sure to get the genuine Phillips' Milk of Magnesia prescribed by physicians for 50 years in correcting excess acids. Each bottle contains full directions—any drugstore.

Englishman Invents New Dance Floor

Savoy Hotel, London, England, Has Only One Of Its Kind In World

A dance floor that rises up to the level of the tops of the tables—at the touch of a button—was "opened" during the dinner and supper entertainments at the Savoy Hotel, London, England. It is said to be the only floor of its kind in the world. Measuring 44 feet by 25 feet, it rises without a creak in 30 seconds by means of hydraulic power. Thousands of gallons of water from the four artesian wells below the Savoy are used.

An official of the hotel said: "The inventor is an Englishman, W. J. Huggett, and he and our chief engineer, F. C. Pay, have been working on it for six months. It has cost over $50,000, and has been constructed between 2 a.m. and 10 a.m. so as not to interfere with our guests' comfort.

This enables all guests to see the cabaret without standing.

HOUSEHOLD CARES

Fall Heavily On the Woman Who Is Run Down—Thin Blood the Trouble

To the woman who has her housework to do and her family to attend to, illness is almost a calamity. Many a woman keeps on with her household duties when she is feeling ready to drop. Her head aches, she may be breathless at the least exertion she has little relish for food, and always feels tired and nervous. The trouble is poor blood — thin, watery blood, and she badly needs the health help that only Dr. Williams' Pink Pills can give her. The rich, red blood which comes through the use of these pills promptly restores anaemic sufferers to good health. Among the thousands who have found new health through the use of this medicine is Mrs. John W. Macdonald, Cardigan, P.E.I., who says:—"I can most strongly recommend Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. I was so run down in health that I was unable to do my housework alone. My husband thought I would never get better, as I had tried different kinds of medicine, with no benefit whatever. I was advised to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, which I did, and to my joy I found they were just the thing I needed. I took six boxes of the pills and found myself restored to my old-time good health."

Try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for anaemia, rheumatism, neuralgia, nervousness. Take them as a tonic if you are not in the best physical condition and cultivate resistance that will keep you well and strong. ## Will Preserve Old Fort

Changes At Churchill May Necessitate Guard On Fort Prince Of Wales

That it might prove necessary to place a guard over the ruins of the two-century-old Fort Prince of Wales at Churchill, was the statement made by Hon. Charles Dunning, Canadian Minister of Railways, on his return from a trip of inspection over the lines of the recently constructed Hudson Bay Railway to Canada's Arctic port.

Two hundred years ago, occupants of this center of the Hudson's Bay Company's activities carved their names on the rock walls. Now with the steady increase of visitors to Fort Churchill, the walls at the old Fort are being marked up by new names despite the desire of the Department of the Interior to preserve the ruins as the pioneers of the north left them.

"I imagine the department will put guards over the fort," Mr. Dunning said. "It is perhaps the most interesting relic left to us of early Canadian history, a history that pre-dated that of any city on the prairies or the middle United States. Churchill was Churchill and the capital of the western half of the continent from the Arctic Sea to Oregon before there was any Selkirk, or Fort Garry, or Regina. The Fort stands as a monument to the men who built it as a link with the 18th century in this country and must be preserved."

Ambassador Bridge Now In Operation

Longest Suspension Bridge In World Between Canada and United States

A great new link between Canada and the United States, the Ambassador Bridge, has come into operation.

The ever-growing traffic between the two countries brings into being the longest suspension bridge in the world—the Ambassador is 1,850 feet long between the main towers. The centre span looms 152 feet above the waters of the Detroit River and at the piers is 135 feet above the water. The total length of the bridge from the terminal in Sandwich, Ontario to the terminal in Detroit is nearly two miles.

The roadway of the bridge is 47 feet wide, providing five lanes of traffic, flanked by an eight-foot sidewalk. These lanes for traffic will be used in either direction as circumstances demand. Main towers of the bridge are 365 feet in height and of steel construction.

The magnitude of the structure is indicated by the quantities of different kinds of material used. Structural steel and cable wire weight approximately 24,000 tons; concrete masonry measures 25,000 cubic feet, cement used totalled 40,000 barrels; the roadway pavement is 60,000 square yards, sidewalk 8,000 square yards. Two million rivets were driven during the progress of construction of the steel portions of the bridge.

Proposals for some direct connection across the Detroit River have been made for nearly fifty years. Work was started on the Canadian end in June, 1927, and the American end a month previous.

Those who enjoy hearing their voices, may do so by dropping a coin in a slot machine, which is to appear in London streets. It is operated on the phonograph principle. It can be used on a phonograph, and with any fibre needle. The record is guaranteed to be permanent.

A SHORT LINE FROM WINNIPEG TO HUDSON BAY

Ottawa, Ont.—The report of the engineers of the Canadian National Railways who have been surveying a short line from Winnipeg to Hudson Bay will be strongly in favor of the extension of the line now running north between Lakes Winnipeg and Manitoba to contact with the Hudson Bay Railway.

This information was received from Montreal recently. The report is not yet completed and will not reach the hands of Hon. C. A. Dunning, Minister of Railways and Canals, for several weeks.

The engineers, it is understood, will not only favor this central line to the north because it would clip hundreds of miles off the present rail distance between Winnipeg and Churchill, but they will point out another vital factor in Winnipeg's northern railway facilities. This factor will be the desirability of providing an air line from Winnipeg to the mining fields of Northern Manitoba.

The central line could be run northward in two ways. It could proceed along the shortest possible line to connect with the Hudson Bay road, which would carry it almost due north, or it could proceed north along the narrow strip of land between Lake Winnipegosis and Cedar Lake, finally to make contact with the Hudson Bay Railway about opposite the present branch lines running to Flin Flon and Sherritt-Gordon. This would give a short line to the bay and also an air line to the mineral developments.

The cost of extending the central road in either direction would be approximately $8,000,000. It must be understood in regard to this report, that the Federal Government is not committed to build such a line of railway. This inquiry was made because the Manitoba members of parliament requested Mr. Dunning to assist them in this matter. Mr. Dunning agreed, on the express condition that it be understood that the government would not be committed to make any expenditures on construction.

Message From King George

Conveyed Sympathy To Widow Of Hon. J. A. Robb

Valley Field, Que.—The sympathy of His Majesty King George, was conveyed to the widow of Hon. J. A. Robb in a message received by Lord Willingdon, Governor-General of Canada and conveyed to Mrs. Robb.

"The King much regrets to hear of the death of the finance minister of the Dominion Government and asks that you will convey the expression of His Majesty's sympathy to Mrs. Robb."

Russia's New Budget

Moscow.—Soviet Russia's budget for the coming year, details of which have been announced, shows the huge total of 11,390,000,000 roubles (about $5,695,000,000) which is 45 per cent. more than last year, and the greatest in the history of the Soviet states. Large part of the state's revenue is expected to come from direct and indirect taxation. The sum of 345,000,000 roubles will be devoted to education, this being more than 60 per cent. above last year.

Gives Up Long Search

Seattle.—Refusing to believe that his wife, two little girls and his baby son from whom he was separated in the San Francisco earthquake, were dead, a Vancouver man has just ended his 23-year search here in despair. The story was unfolded when the modern Enoch Arden said that he had remarried after searching vainly for his wife and children along the Pacific coast.

Keeping Highways Open

Brandon, Man.—The first start for the season to keep the highways in this district open for travelling was made by the provincial authorities last week when a new snowplow was sent to clean up the road between Souris and Boissevain.

Proposed Alaskan Highway

Representatives Of United States Confer With Premier King At Victoria

Victoria, B.C.—Appointment of a joint committee consisting of two United States and two Canadian representatives to thoroughly inquire into the proposed highway through British Columbia and the Yukon territory to Alaska, was mooted at a conference held here between Premier Mackenzie King, Premier S. F. Tolmie, and United States representatives, including Major Malcolm Elliott, president of the Alaska roads commission, and members of the Seattle Chamber of Commerce.

The need for a thorough investigation of all angles of the project was stressed, and it was felt that owing to the size of the undertaking, an international conference was necessary.

The proposal is for British Columbia to improve the present highway between Vancouver and Hazelton, carrying it on to the Yukon Territory; for the Dominion Government to build it to the Alaskan boundary and the United States to take it from there to Fairbanks and thence to Valdez at sea level. Following the conference, Premier King intimated he would need further information before committing himself on the matter, but said he would give it his fullest consideration.

Protests Against Exclusion

Chinese Consul Would Like Discrimination Against Nationals Removed

Brockville, Ont.—A suggestion, that the present exclusion of Chinese immigration to Canada, was humiliating to Chinese national honor and that the act of 1923 should be amended to permit a small quota of Chinese immigrants to enter Canada annually or else to contract a gentleman's agreement with China, similar to that now in force in the case of Japan, was made before the Rotary Club, by Li Tchuin, Chinese consul-general at Ottawa. He expressed a hope that the Dominion government would soon see its way clear to remove the present discrimination against Chinese nationals and predicted that with such restrictions removed, a tremendous impetus would be given the already increasing Canadian export trade with China.

Leaving Diplomatic Service

U.S. Minister To Canada Has Tendered His Resignation

Washington.—William Phillips has resigned as minister to Canada. Mr. Phillips, who is one of the leading United States diplomats, plans to quit the diplomatic service probably late next month and settle with his family in New England.

The appointment of Sir Esmond Hovey as British ambassador to Russia has been announced. A Russian minister will simultaneously come to London.

Compared with that of last year, it is off 23 per cent. and 45,000,000 bushels below the average. Scab damage in the east and worm injury in the west have resulted in an inferior quality. Prices have already advanced and promise to be 25 per cent. above a year ago.

Advocates Free Trade With Great Britain

Proposed Resolution To Be Discussed At Coming Session Of Parliament

Ottawa.—Free trade with Great Britain within five years' time is aimed at in a proposed resolution placed on the order paper of the House of Commons by W. R. Fansher, Progressive, Last Mountain. The proposal, which will be discussed at the coming session of parliament, reads:

"Whereas, Great Britain has for many years been Canada's best customer for agricultural products, particularly wheat and wheat products; and,

"Whereas, the tariffs of other countries are fervently manipulated detrimentally to the exporting of Canadian products, particularly those of agriculture; and,

"Whereas, in international trade it is imperative for any country to buy as much as possible from the country to which she sells, thereby reducing transportation costs to the minimum; and,

"Whereas, for the general good of Canada, we deem it advisable to foster trade with the Mother Country to the fullest extent, thus keeping trade within the Empire;

"Therefore, be it resolved, that in the opinion of this House that every handicap placed on the free operation of the British preference as contained in our draft schedule, be removed, and, further, that the time has come when the British preference should be progressively increased so as to have free trade with the Mother Country within a period of seven years.

The drums were made in London, England, and were shipped to this country by the Canadian Pacific Express Company on S.S. Duchess of York.

BANKS TO TAKE ACTION TO EASE CREDIT SITUATION

Montreal. — Reassuring indication that in the opinion of the banks of Canada, deflation of stock values on the Canadian markets has reached its logical bottom and that the banks are prepared to step in to the breach in the interests of stabilization was forthcoming when the leading banks, acting together, announced here that they would accept 15 per cent. on call loans to brokers on stocks selling over $30, and 10 per share on issues below that price.

In taking this action to ease the credit position for the brokers the banks will be benefitting a large number of marginal clients, for brokers generally feel that this will enable them to reduce their marginal requirements and preclude the necessity in many cases of sending out further calls.

The moral effect of this construction action it is anticipated will be even greater in restoring confidence than the actual aid rendered, great as this will be.

Toronto. — Action of Canadian banks in reducing the required margin of safety for loans on stocks was interpreted here by leading brokers and stock exchange officials as a step to stem the present tide of pessimistic dump selling and to place the reassuring hand of high finance on the shoulders of the stock investing public.

C. E. Abbs, president of Toronto Stock Exchange, thought it "a helpful gesture by the bankers, likely to fulfill its apparent intention of inspiring confidence among the public and of having a general reassuring effect."

It will have no effect, however, local opinion felt, toward possible reduction of margin requirements asked of customers by brokers, and brokers will continue to ask the same margin percentage of clients as before.

Fire Damages Seminary

The damage was estimated at half a million dollars and the fire was the most destructive to strike this city in the last 20 years. Numerous valuable documents and books were destroyed.

The Orchard Census

The local assistant provincial horticulturists has just been instructed to make the usual five-year orchard survey, which in addition to being a tree census will also iuclude precise information as to ranch equipment, valuation of orchards, and other general facts and figures.

This work will be undertaken most likely during the winter and can be expedited considerably if the individual orchardists in the meantime check over their ranches and prepare a statement as to the number of trees and varieties. Where it has been planned to take out fillers this work might also be completed so that the tree census may be accurate in every detail.

Now that production of apples has reached a point where there appears to be too many of them for profitable sale under existing marketing methods, this matter of taking out the fillers would seem to deserve very serious consideration. Their removal undoubtedly assures a better grade of fruit, which the selling agencies and the committee of direction are seriously concerned about.

A Library Plebiscite

The plebecite it is proposed to take at the municipal elections in January as to whether the village shall become responsible for the good conduct of the public library is one that should have careful consideration.

Unquestionably the library is something the village needs, but the Review is not quite sure that it should become the property of the village. Non-revenue producing utilities have generally proven poor undertakings for any municipality to sponser, and the suggestion that under municipal control books would be free to all village residents does not help at all, especially with a library

The Review, however, does believe that the commissioners would be well advised in making a sufficiently large grant from year to year to keep the library open, and make it more attractive than is possible under present conditions. And in appreciation of such consideration the membership might be cut in half to village residents, and the commissioners allowed to appoint one or two members of the library board of management.

Speed Up Bridge Drives

The Review again, with deference, of course, arises to remark that if the aim of those promoting bridge drives is to provide the maximum of sociability and to more evenly distribute the inevitable supply of poor partners as well as the less scientific manipulators of the pasteboards, it is desirable that the play at any table be limited to two hands, and a time limit of not more than fifteen minntes be fixed for the play at any one table—that is, for winners, of course.

The enforcing of a time limit would do much to eliminate the post mortems, alibis, and explanations that never quite explain, that are all to frequent between hands under the present free and easy style of play.

If some system could be evolvwhereby all this advice could be handed out before or during play, instead of afterwards, slower going might be countenanced—and be ever so much more appreciated.

Bulk Apple Shipments

According to figures supplied by the Commiutee of Direction sales of apples shipped in bulk car lots is very much on the increase. In the big crop year of 1928 some 3,623,536 pounds of bulk apples were moved from British Columbia. In 1929, with about a 15 per cent. lighter crop, the movement of bulk apples is already 6,294,778 pounds.

Naturally, the greatly increased demand for bulk apples has not been overlooked by interested parties and opinion is very much divided as to whether this plan of marketing should be seriously encouraged.

Undoubtedly this system has expedited the sale of apples in the consuming centres, the chain stores being heavy buyers and this year all over Winnipeg, even McIntosh have been retailing at five pounds for 25 cents.

The other side of the story is well stated by the Penticton Herald, which observes that apples shipped in bulk carloads and by bulk buyers in their own warehouses, takes away to a considerable extent, money which might be spent for packing. box making and mill work in the Okanagan. Too often these apples, after bewrapped and boxed in the consuming centres, are in open competition with the graded and boxed apples shipped as such from here.

Kootenay Valley Wheat

Due to being produced in a district with a moderate climate the impression has all along prevailed that wheat grown on Kootenay Flats would not prove as attractive as the old familiar "Manitoba hard," for instance, or some of the other higher grades of prairie wheat.

According to direct information reaching the Bonners Ferry Herald the grain from the Kootenay valley is of superior quality for baking purposes. This has been demonstrated, the Herald says, at the plant of the big Pillsbury milling firm at Astoria, Oregon, which operates a modern bakery and experiments in bread making are conducted daily.

Recently a sack of flour made from wheat grown at Bonners Ferry reached the Astoria plant for experimental purposes, "and made the best bread of any wheat received at the Astoria mill." Along with its superiority as demonstrated at Astoria, Kootenay valley wheat usually sells at a premium because of its high protein content.

Benefits of Dyking

About three years ago when the big sawmill plant at Bonners Ferry, which employed two shifts and cut a quarter million feet of lumber per day, shut down for keeps, it was thought that town would suffer at least a 40 per cent. decline in population and general business. However, that was about the time dyking the lands of Kootenay valley was getting nicely under way and just how well these dyked lands cultivation has saved the day is shown in the annual statement submitted by the First National Bank in that town. In 1927 the total assets of the bank were $510,000. In 1929 they had risen to $742,644. In 1927 total deposits were $372,600, and these touch $633,520 this year. In the same two year period savings accounts grew from $104,791 to $189,103. And there has been no decline in town population. Today there is not a vacant house in Bonners Ferry. This very satisfactory state of affairs is in great measure due to bringing some 20,000 acres of bottom lands into cultivation. From these figures some idea may be had of how Creston would have progressed had Creston Reclamation Company, Limited, been allowed to proceed with the dyking of the 10,000 acres conceded it by the former provincial government, but which the present administration has now practically confiscated.

The Armistice sale of poppies at Cranbrook amounted to $208.

Gas Supply For Saskatchewan

Eagle Butte Oil Company, At Cypress Hills, May Solve Problem

The prospect of a natural gas supply for the cities of Regina and Moose Jaw and for towns and villages extending westward as far as Maple Creek, has been brought measurably closer with the announced intention of the Eagle Butte Oil Company to spud in a second well in the centre of the Cypress Hills gas field, about 290 miles west of Regina and close to the Alberta boundary line.

The development of the Cypress Hills gas field is being proceeded with in anticipation of market'ng gas in Saskatchewan. According to the findings of government engineers it is believed that the Cypress Hills field offers the closest supply of gas which can be transported to this market. A pipe line from the Cypress Hills would reach the town of Maple Creek first, and then proceed to Moose Jaw and Regina, supplying all towns and cities along intervening route.

The whole problem has been carefully examined by competent engineers and has been pronounced feasible. Independent engineers who have been retained by the City of Regina, after an exhaustive exam'nation of all possible sources of supply, pronounce the operations of the Eagle Butte Oil Company, Limited, as the most likely to result in the development of an adequate supply of gas for the Saskatchewan market.—Free Press.

For Automobile Protection

Ohio Penitentiary Inmate Patents New Safety Device

An invention by an Ohio penitentiary prisoner may make automobile theft more difficult than it is at present.

Lawton Hilemann, 22, of Akron, serving a sentence of from seven to 15 years for burglary, has filed with a patent attorney an application for a patent on his dual auto control ignition.

When the motor is stopped, it automat'cally locks the ignition, steering wheel and starting switch. The mechanism can be enclosed in a box six inches square and four inches high and mounted beneath the dash board.

Acids in Stomach Cause Indigestion

Medical authorities state that nearly nine-tenths of the cases of stomach trouble, indigestion, sourness, burning, gas, bloating, nausea, etc., are due to an excess of hydrochloric acid in the stomach. The delicate stomach lining is irritated, digestion is delayed and food sours, causing the disagreeable symptoms which every stomach sufferer knows so well.

Artificial digestants are not needed in such cases and may do real harm. Try laying aside all digestive aids and instead get from any druggist some Bisurated Magnesia and take a little in water right after eating. This sweetens the stomach, prevents the formation of excess acid and there is no sourness, gas or pain. Bisurated Magnesia (in powder or tablet form—never liquid or milk), is harmless to the stomach, inexpensive to take and is the most efficient form of magnesia for stomach purposes. It is used by thousands of people who enjoy their meals with no more fear of indigestion.

Flew 11,500 Hours

Excellent Work Accomplished By Ontario Protective Air Patrol

To protect the forests of Ontario, one of the province's most valuable assets, the Ontario Government protective air patrol has this year flown 850,000 air miles or a total of 11,500 flying hours. This is 5,400 more hours than the total in 1928, and was done without injury to a single member of the personnel engaged or to any of the passengers carried in the 'planes.

The forest patrol service covered the vast area of Northern Ontario, from Lake Superior to James Bay, and has many notable exploits to its credit in carrying relief to stranded expeditions and conveying injured or sick persons from outlying posts to hospitals.

The Canadian National Exhibition held at Toronto, Ontario, is now in its 51st year. The value of land and buildings connected with the exhibition is $25,000,000.

THE HIGHER PATRIOTISM

Golden Text: "He made of one every nation of men to dwell on all the face of the earth."—Acts 17.26.

Lesson: The Book of Jonah.

Devotional Reading: Isaiah 55.1-7.

Explanations and Comments

A Great Command Disobeyed and Punished, 1.1 to 2. 10.—The word of Jehovah came unto Jonah, the son of Amittai, telling him that he ought to go to Nineveh, that great city, and cry against it. Nineveh, the capital of Assyria, was on the Tigris River, 600 miles from the Gulf of Persia.

"The word of Jehovah came unto Jonah. How was there a message out of the sky? As he walked, or slept, or prayed, did these words shape themselves from silence into speech? Augustine heard a voice under the fig-tree, at Milan; Joan of Arc heard voices in the forest of Domremy. We, indeed, have heard no voices. But all of us together have not compassed the boundaries of human experience. It is not wise, especially in these days of wonder in which it is our privilege to live, to deny the possibility of anything. What is impossible!

"This, however, is true, that the word of the Lord which came to Jonah has come also to a great many other people besides Jonah. God is all the time speaking to men. Messages from on high have in all ages and in all places been received by men. Whenever we are conscious of an urgent voice which says to us, over and over, 'You ought! You ought!' it is likely that we are listening to the word of God."—George Hodges.

Jonah disobeyed the voice. "Jonah says to himsel' the first time, 'I ken how it'll be. After I've cried mysel' hoase that Nineveh's to be destroyed, they'll begin to weep, and the Almighty'll change His mind and no destroy them a'. It's aye His way gin folk repent. He's of great kindness and slow to anger, but He should keep His word. He takes no thought upon me, and what a fool like I make o' mysel', crying that folk'll be destroyed when they winna be. It seems as though the Almighty didna ken His ain position to gang back on His word because folk commence to weep. But I'm His servant, and I ken my ain place; I'll no see Him place Himsel' in a wrong position, and I'll no see him place me in ane nether'." —Sandy Scott's Bible Class.

Instead of obeying the voice, Jonah went in the opposite direction, the story tells us. At Joppa he found a ship bound for Tarshish (the Phoenician colony on the southwest coast of Spain, then regarded as the very end of the earth), and went aboard.

God sent a violent storm; the sailors concluded that someone had offended his god, and they cast lots to discover the culprit. The lot fell upon Jonah, who acknowledged his guilt and advised them to throw him into the sea. Finding the effort to row back to land unavailing, the sailors prayed to Jehovah and then reluctantly cast Jonah overboard. The sea ceased from its raging and the sailors offered sacrifice to Jehovah. A great fish swallowed Jonah, and after three days cast him upon dry land.

Farmers tell WHY they Clip Cows

A CERTAIN farmer wanted the facts about clipping cows, so he wrote us for names of those owning clipping machines.

He wrote them.

Now he himself is so pleased with the Stewart Clipping Machine he sent us the letters which made him decide the clipping machine is a good investment.

Here are some of them:

Maxville.

"I have been shipping to Borden's Milk Plant regularly for 7 years and during that time I have never had a can of milk returned. I get cleaner milk and find my cows easier to keep clean so if for that alone I would say a clipping machine is a good investment."

Billings Bridge

"I always clip mine in the fall. Some half up and others that are inclined to be woolly I clip them all over; as I find they do better and much easier to keep clean, and it sure does reduce the bacteria count and I am sure we get more milk as well. I always get Score 1. I would not be without a clipping machine under any consideration."

Desboro.

"We have had a power clipper for years and would not do without one. It is a great help. The milk is easier to keep clean and pure. Keeping down lice sure will produce more milk."

HOW TO CLIP COWS

Manure, the principal source of bacteria, cannot collect and at milking time rub off into the pail if hair on udders, underline, flanks and tail is kept clipped short all winter.

Lice seem to congregate along the spine, which explains why some farmers clip a six-inch width from tail to ears.

Farmers who have warm stables and drinking water inside, usually clip their cows all over.

Buy a clipping machine and make more money from your cows—with less work. Stewart No. 1 Clipping Machine is easy to use and anyone can do a nice job of clipping with it. Strong, sturdy, easy-running and will last for years.

At your dealer, $15.00.

The Singing Fool

By HUBERT DAIL

Copyright, 1928, Warner Bros. Pictures, Inc.

SYNOPSIS

Al Stone, singing waiter at Blackie Joe's New York night club, is loved by Grace Farrel, the cigarette girl, but he doesn't know it. He marries Molly Winton, a ballad singer, and wins fame as a composer of popular songs. When their baby, Junior, is about two years old, Molly elopes with John Perry, Al's best friend. She and Perry take the child which Al adores and sail for France. Al, completely broken by his tragic loss, disappears from Broadway and becomes a derelict. One day, as he wanders down a back street, he sees Grace Farrel on the opposite corner. He runs away and Grace hastens to Blackie Joe's club to tell him the news.

CHAPTER XXII.

"I just saw someone we both know," Grace began, with a tired, rather set little smile. "Al Stone."

"No?" Blackie put down his cigar. "Where?"

Briefly Grace related the circumstances of their encounter.

"So he ran away from you, did he?" said Blackie, nodding thoughtfully. "I can understand that — ashamed to meet his old friends. That always happens when a man begins to slip. And his clothes looked old, did they? Well, well."

Suddenly Blackie's expression changed.

"Grace, are you still fond of him?"

"I don't know," she answered frankly. "I was asking myself that as I walked along. Of course I like him if you mean only that. But if you mean love, well, you know, Blackie, love dies after a time. Or at least we pretend it dies, to protect ourselves. . . . . I shall always consider Al one of my best and truest friends — I know that."

Grace's eyes were half-closed as she spoke, as if she feared the look that memory might bring them. And a controlled little smile set her lips.

"You told me once, Grace, that you'd never fall in love with anyone else."

"That's true—I haven't."

Blackie nodded. He knew that other men, some of them quite personable, had been attentive to Grace since Al left. She had gone to dinner with them, laughed and talked with them, but—they seemed unable to make a serious impression on her. The reason was obvious—she had the dream of Al in between her and these later comers.

During the three years Grace had developed from a child into a woman. She was still slender and lovely, but there was a quiet dignity about her and a feeling of poise that she had acquired only recently. Blackie wondered what Al would think of her if he saw her closely now.

Then he returned to the subject of their missing friend. "You don't know any way we can find him?"

"How can we?" Grace made a gesture of despair. "Everyone has tried to find him and failed. But at least we do know he's in New York. That's something. I should imagine, from his clothes, that he's living in some poor quarter of the city."

Grace, following Blackie's idea, was filled with a sudden determination. Why not try to find Al? She just might be successful and, whether she loved him or not, he was her good friend. He was worth saving!

Grace set out on her journey to find Al the very next afternoon, when she was free from work. Her plan was simple—she smply walked the streets where she had seen him the day before, combing the neghborhood thoroughly. But at the end of the first day's search she hadn't caught a glimpse of him nor found a single clue. It was as if he knew she might try this very thing and so had made himself scarce in that particular neighborhood. Grace appeared at Blackie's in the evening tired out and disappointed, but not entirely discouraged.

The next day she tried again; for a week she pursued her quest with an indomitable spirit. But each day there was the same story to tell—no trace of Al. Finally Blackie said to her:

"You'd better give up that hunt. This town is too big—you simply can't comb it properly. Al would be able to dodge and keep out of sight if one hundred detectives were after him."

Grace nodded. "I guess you're right. Blackie—I'm just wasting my time. Still, I'm glad I tried; I never would have felt satisfied until I made the effort—after seeing him that one time."

Meanwhile, Al continued his wandering life, never dreaming that Grace was trying to find him. If he had known it, he would have stayed in his room all day to avoid being found. But instead he pursued his casual way, lolling on the docks, eating at the cheapest lunch counters.

After his disappearance he had read the papers carefully for news of Molly and Junior. One day a news dispatch from Paris caught his eye:

"Mrs. Al Stone, known to the Broadway stage as Molly Winton, is one of a number of American women who have filed suit for divorce in the French courts recently. Mrs. Stone alleges extreme cruelty and desertion. It is understood that Mr. Stone, whose whereabouts are unknown, will not fight the case.

"Among the gossips of the boulevards it is said that as soon as Mrs. Stone's divorce is granted, she will marry John Perry, well known bon vivant of Broadway. The couple are seen together a great deal at the Riviera resorts, where Mrs. Stone's beauty and chic attire have attracted a great deal of favorable attention. On the beach she is frequently accompanied by her baby son, Junior Stone.

"Meanwhile Al Stone's old friends from Broadway are wondering what has become of the former successful song writer. At one time it was said that he, too, had come to France, but this was denied by those in the know."

Al had dropped the paper with a bitter smile. So Molly was charging him with cruelty and desertion! The terrible irony of the accusations dazed him for a moment. And Molly was preparing to marry Perry!

Oh, well, it didn't matter; nothing mattered any more! Let her make any charges she wished to get her freedom. Yet the picture of Junior, on the Riviera beach with his mother, remained with Al for a few days. He wondered if Junior still chattered and laughed as he had in the old days and whether he remembered his daddy?

Al looked down at his shabby clothes. He certainly wouldn't want Junior to see him as he appeared now—the personification of failure. No, Junior must never know what had become of his daddy. Al's pride was strong enough for him to make that decision.

After that Al still studied the newspapers for other items concerning his family, but nothing else appeared. Nor did Molly send any letters. Al had left word that his mail was to be forwarded care of an obscure East Side bank, where he had placed his money. But every time he called at the bank for additional money, and asked for letters, he found none from Molly. Letters from Marcus and all his old Broadway friends drifted in, but these he quickly tore up without opening them.

Recently he had ceased to read the papers or to ask for letters. His interest in life was dwindling, narrowing down to the smallest circle. Even this interest was passive rather than active—he did not really care about sleeping, dressing, eating, wandering through the streets. It was done simply through habit—his last hold on life. If that passed from him one of these days it meant dark oblivion for the man who had once been lighthearted Al Stone.

Seeing Grace on the street had proved a terribly disturbing shock to him. In running away he had followed his first impulse—but afterward his conscience had bothered him. He knew Grace's feelings would be hurt. After all, Grace had been one of his best pals back in the old days at Blackie Joe's. He remembered her as she had looked then—a startled fawn of a child. She had certainly developed into a stunning girl.

Has Interesting History

Small Cinema Was Built For Use Of Royal Family

Across the way from the Royal riding school in the labyrinth of streets between Buckingham Palace-Road and Victoria Station is a small and comparatively new cinema with an interesting history. It was built by Mr. E. C. Lascelles, a cousin of Lord Lascelles, for the use of members of the Royal Family. The cinema is on the site of an old ecclesiastical building, and construction of a subterranean passage was commenced so that the cinema would be directly accessible from Buckingham Palace, but that idea was abandoned.

Traced Blackmailer By Following Carrier Pigeon He Sent Out

Aerial photography recently thwarted an attempt at blackmail, in Germany. A wealthy man received a package containing a carrier pigeon and a letter, which stated that if he did not forward a large sum of money by the pigeon within a given time, he would meet violent death. The pigeon was released and followed by an airplane, and an aerial photograph taken of the place where the bird landed. The house of the offender was easily identified. He was an unemployed miner, from one of the intended victim's mines.

WHEN YOUR BABY CATCHES A COLD

In spite of all precautions little ones will take colds—especially during the changeable days of our Fall season. When the first symptoms appear — sneezing, redness of the eyes, running nose—Baby's Own Tablets should be given at once. They will rapidly break up the cold and prevent more serious complications.

Mothers who keep a box of Baby's Own Tablets in the house always feel safe. In fact they are like having a doctor in the house. They are a gentle but thorough laxative that sweeten the stomach and regulate the bowels, thus driving out constipation and indigestion and relieving the baby of the many childhood ailments which are the direct result of a clogged condition of the bowels or sour stomach. They are absolutely safe—being guaranteed to contain no drug at all harmful to even the youngest babe. They cannot possibly do harm—they always do good.

Baby's Own Tablets are sold by all medicine dealers or will be sent by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Manitoba Fisheries

The Manitoba Co-operative Fisheries, Ltd., an organization of 400 fishermen, on Lake Winnipeg, began operation on September 1, 1928. In the first season's operations which ended on April 30, 1929, this new co-operative organization handled 6,100,000 pounds of fish, out of a total catch of 14,500,000 pounds in Lake Winnipeg.

A Chicken Cleaning Machine

A new machine has been developed which draws the entrails out of a chicken, cuts off the head and the feet and releases the cleaned carcass to an attendant. At a demonstration of this machine before the poultry trades in New York, only six seconds were required for the complete operation. The machine is adjustable for chickens weighing from two to seven pounds; special machines will have to be built for smaller birds as well as for turkeys and geese.

Little Helps For This Week

"Blessed is the man whom Thou chastenest, O Lord, and teachest him out of Thy law."—Psalm xciv. 12.

Do not cheat thy heart, and tell her,
"Grief will pass away;
Hope for fairer things tomorrow,
And forget today."
Tell her, if you will, that sorrow,
Need not come in vain;
Tell her that the lesson taught her
Far outweighs the pain.
—Adelaide Anne Proctor.

It would be a poor result of all our anguish and our wrestling, if we won nothing but our old selves at the end of it; if we could return to the same blind loves, the same self-confident blame, the same light thoughts of human suffering, the same frivolous gossip over blighted human lives, the same feeble sense of the Unknown toward which we have sent forth irrepressible cries in our loneliness. Let us rather be thankful that our sorrow lives in us as an indestructible force, only changing its form as forces do, and passing from pain into sympathy.—George Eliot.

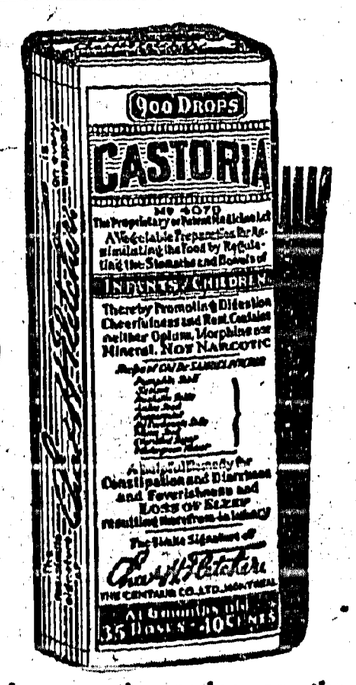
An Ailing CHILD



Are you prepared to render first aid and quick comfort the moment your youngster has an upset of any sort? Could you do the right thing—immediately—though the emergency came without warning—perhaps tonight? Castoria is a mother's standby at such times. There is nothing like it in emergencies, and nothing better for everyday use. For a sudden attack of colic, or the gentle relief of constipation; to allay a feverish condition, or to soothe a fretful baby that can't sleep. This pure vegetable preparation is always ready to ease an ailing youngster. It is just as harmless as the recipe on the wrapper reads. If you see Chas. H. Fletcher's signature, it is genuine Castoria. It is harmless to the smallest infant; doctors will tell you so.

You can tell from the recipe on the wrapper how mild it is, and how good for little systems. But continue with Castoria until a child is grown.
