VICTORIA—Addressing the provincial Baptist convention here, Rev. J. A. McIntyre, organizing secretary of the prohibition party of B. Announcement was made that the Provincial Prohibition Association is to hold organization meetings in Victoria Tuesday, June 29, at 2:30 and 8:00 p.m., in the First Baptist Church. A city organization will be formed, and addresses will be given by Wm. Savage of Vancouver, president of the association, and Rev. Mr. McIntyre.

INTERMEDIATES PLAY AGAIN NEXT SUNDAY

One game each week-end seems to be the motto of the Cumberland Intermediate football team—a motto that they are trying hard to live up to. This coming Sunday the team has another home game, Courtenay furnishing the opposition and it is expected to be quite an interesting tussle.

The kick-off is scheduled for 6:00 p.m. with Tom Carney handling the whistle. Boost the Intermediates!

During 1925, Canada produced 13,134,968 tons of coal, valued at $49,261,951, a decrease of 3.5 per cent. in quantity and 8 per cent. in value, according to a report issued by the Dominion Bureau of Sataistics.

Alberta held the premier position, with an output of 5,869,031 tons, which was 679,302 tons above the 1924 production. British Columbia showed a slight advance to 2,742,252 tons in 1925.

There were 25,032 persons, including 1,542 salaried employees, engaged in or about the mines in 1925, to whom $33,200,309 was paid in salaries and wages.

Large Attendance At Eagles' Picnic

Comox Aerie No. 1953, Fraternal Order of Eagles, held their annual picnic at Royston Beach on Thursday last, July 1st, an unusually large number of members, their families and friends being in attendance. The weather was glorious, just right for a picnic at the popular beach resort.

The large number of kiddies present were well looked after, sports of all kinds being indulged in. Ice cream in abundance was served during the day, the kiddies thoroughly enjoying the hospitality of the Eagles. after, in fact, it was freely said that The grown-ups were also well looked Thursday's affair was the best ever attempted by the local Eagles.

Roy Cliffe Given Decision Over Ole Anderson

Roy Cliffe won the decision over Ole Anderson in an eight round bout last night in the Courtenay stadium, being the main event of an excellent boxing card. Although not staged by the Native Sons of Canada, it was an excellent finish to their Dominion Day sports in Courtenay.

The first preliminaries between Howard McQuinn and Jack McQuinn, 60 pounds and 55 pounds respectively, both of Camp 3, resulted in a draw. These hardy little scrappers battled one another in true boxing style and drew a big hand from the crowd.

The other preliminaries were as follows: Sid Williams, Courtenay, vs. Len Woodley, Victoria, both 115 lbs., resulted in a draw. Wing Hay, Port Alberni was knocked out in the third round by Willie Townsend, of Vancouver. Although the Chinese fighter put up a plucky battle he proved no match for Townsend. Harold Jones, of Cumberland, and Kid Sullivan, of the I. T. Camp, fought a draw. Sullivan was sure a tough nut and "Jinty" couldn't crack him. The semi-final, between Ernie Woodley, of Victoria, and Eddie Gross, of Seattle, was as good as any on the card. It was a fine exhibition and a draw was a popular decision.

Anderson, though some 20 pounds heavier than Cliffe, proved no match for the local boy, merely proving a target for Roy's flying gloves. The blows Anderson took would have put any ordinary boxer to sleep but Ole is no ordinary boxer. The blows did not bother him in the least and at the finish of the eight rounds he appeared none the worse for the punishment inflicted on him.

The promoters of this splendid boxing card were well pleased with the attendance, which proved to be one of the largest ever gathered on Vancouver Island to witness a show of this nature.

Miss C. Bannerman, of the teaching staff of the Cranbrook Public School, arrived in Cumberland last Monday on a visit to her father, Mr. Thomas Bannerman, before leaving for Vancouver where she will attend summer school.

AFTERNOON TEA IN AID OF TENNIS CLUB MET WITH SUCCESS

Many members of the Cumberland Tennis Club, their friends and others interested in the welfare of the Club, attended the afternoon tea last Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Edward W. Bickle, Dunsmuir Avenue. Tea and ice cream were served on the east side of the lawn, a cool and shady spot where the hot sun could not penetrate. The visitors began to arrive at 3:30 and until 6:00 p.m. the hostesses, Mrs. Bickle and Miss B. Bickle were kept very busy.

The monetary return from the tea was indeed gratifying.

Howard Finch were successful in passing examinations of the Associated Board of the Royal Academy and Royal College of Music: Miss Phyllis Partridge, Intermediate grade, local centre, Pianoforte and Theory; Higher Division, School centre, Miss Helen Parnham, Pianoforte and Theory; Primary Division, School centre, Miss Madge Bryan.

Semi-Final Of Connaught Cup Tomorrow At 3

The Canadian Collieries team and Nanaimo clash tomorrow, Saturday, in the semi-final of the Connaught Cup, British Columbia division, at Con Jones' Park, Vancouver. The kick-off has been set for three o'clock and it is a safe bet that a large crowd will be on hand to see the two premier teams of British Columbia fight it out. The Cumberland members of the team will leave tonight, going over the road to Nanaimo and travelling by the early morning boat from the Hub City. The players making the journey from here will be Stewart, Monaghan, Brake, Fowler, Plump and Hitchens. Mortimer, owing to sickness, will be unable to travel and the actual team to take the field will not be known until just prior to the game.

We are not making any rash statements but we firmly believe that the team will just be able to take the measure of the Nanaimo eleven. The result of the game should be known in Cumberland about 5:00 p.m.

THIRD SUCCESSIVE WIN FOR LOCAL TEAM

For the first time since the team was re-organized, the Cumberland Intermediates last Sunday burst forth with a flare of really good football and trimmed the Port Alberni squad to the tune of 5 goals to 1. True, it was not the first game the team has won, but their previous performances have been mediocre. Sunday, however, told a different tale, and in future the fans can be reasonably assured of seeing a game of real football—not just wild kicking or one-man efforts.

The Alberni boys fought stubbornly all the way but for a long time it looked as though they were going to be whitewashed. A concerted effort brought results and their lone tally on the part of the forwards, however, was registered in the dying moments of the game. It was a hot shot and Boffey, in goal for the locals, could not get anywhere near it. Altogether Cumberland scored eight goals, but referee Carney was quite justified in ruling three of them off-side. The splendid work of Perry, the visiting team's goalie, saved the final result from being actually about 10-1, however.

The Cumberland boys worked with precision, using the short passing game and combining well together. A mistake was made, though, in putting Little center-half and Farmer right half. Farmer's logical place is center of the intermediate line and Sunday's performance proved that he is like a duck out of water when playing any other position.

M. Stewart registered twice for the locals, while Stevenson, Walker and Hunden copped one apiece. Hunden scored his from a penalty kick.

When these two teams met before at Port Alberni the Port boys won 3-1.

Sloan vs. McRae Libel Case Will Be Heard In Nanaimo

VICTORIA, June 29.—The appeal on behalf of the Hon. Wm. Sloan against the order of the lower court transferring the hearing of his $50,000 libel suit against General A. D. McRae from Nanaimo to Victoria was unanimously allowed by the judges of the B. C. Appeal Court today. Under the judgment the trial will take place in Nanaimo, where suit was first instituted by the Provincial Secretary.

Chief Justice Macdonald said that with all due respect to the judge of the lower court no arguments had been offered to show why Mr. Sloan should lose his right of trial in his own county. The only argument advanced was that his popularity would prevent a fair trial. This was only an inference and there were no facts submitted in this regard.

The question of what constitutes a fair trial was argued before the B. C. Court of Appeal on the resumption of the hearing of Sloan vs. McRae, in which Hon. William Sloan appeals from an order of the lower courts granting General A. D. McRae's application to hold the trial in Victoria instead of Nanaimo.

As plaintiff in the libel action, arising out of statements said to have been made by defendant in the last campaign, Hon. William Sloan filed suit in Nanaimo county. Defendant obtained an order of the courts changing the scene of the trial for Nanaimo to Victoria on the ground that Nanaimo was the constituency of the plaintiff, who was the sole cabinet minister for a large area.

On Popularity

At proceedings today where Hon. William Sloan seeks to upset the order for the change of venue and have Nanaimo restored as the scene of the forthcoming trial, C. W. Craig K. C., for J. W. de B. Farris, K. C., argued on behalf of the appellant that an impartial jury could be chosen in Nanaimo as well as at any other centre.

The order for the change of venue took away a right of the plaintiff, on the ground that he was popular in his constituency. It had not been shown, continued Mr. Craig, that hte plaintiff had an influence in his constituency, or that he had ever attepted to use it unfairly.

A. H. MacNeill, K. C., for defendant-respondent, argued that the order for the change of venue had been made by the lower courts on evidence satisfactory to the presiding judge. Authorities all were to the effect that the discretion of the trial judge should not be interfered with in a matter of this kind, he submitted.

Not Discretionary

It was not a discretionary matter but a question of plaintiff's right, affirmed Chief Justice Macdonald. To deprive the plaintiff of trial of his cause at the scene of the alleged offence merely on the ground that he was popular there, was to deprive him of a right.

Mr. Justice McPhillips asked Mr. MacNeil to consider a suppositionary case where such an issue would go before a jury composed of Progressives, partial to the defendant and his political views.

With deference to the court, said Mr. MacNeil, there was no merit in the supposition as the 200 residents of Nanaimo who had shown Progressive sympathies had become "marked men" and would be challenged on any jury summoned, he said.

Mr. Justice McPhillips expressed himself as of the opinion that the order for the change of venue had been made in absence of any evidence to warrant such a course.

It would have to be shown that the plaintiff exercised and made use of an unfair influence in the constituency to make that a valid ground for a change of venue, said the Chief Justice. Poularity alone was not sufficient cause to deprive the plaintiff of his right to trial in Nanaimo.

SPORTS WERE BIG SUCCESS AT COURTENAY JULY 1ST.

Sending his best wishes in the shape of a day of wonderful sunshine, the weather man contributed much to the success of the Dominion Day Sports at Courtenay yesterday. The whole program for the day was in the hands of the Native Sons of Canada, Assembly No. 3, and was carried off in fine style. Everybody voted the sports a huge success.

The program opened with an excellent parade of school children and a number of floats from all over the district. This left the school at 10.30 and proceeded to the baseball field where the crowning of the Dominion Queen, Miss Muriel Leighton, took place. The Cumberland May Queen, Miss Beryl Hudson, and her retinue, attended in a float decorated for the occasion by the Rebekah Lodge of Cumberland and was a great credit to that organization.

In the afternoon childrens' sports took up the early part of the time, while horse racing and an excellent baseball game terminated the day.

OLD TIMER PASSES AWAY

P. Iorio, a resident of Cumberland for twenty years, passed to his reward on Tuesday, June 29th, at the age of 40 years, interment taking place in the Roman Catholic Cemetery, Cumberland, on Wednesday, the 30th, a large number of friends of the deceased attending. The pallbearers, all intimate friends of the deceased, were J. Damonte Sr., C. Polletto, J. Raga, A. Merletti, A. Bogo, Louis Frelone.

The late Mr. Iorio was an employee of the Canadian Collieries of many years, his quiet, unassuming nature endearing him to his fellow workers. During the year 1918 he left Cumberland for his native Italy, returning about one year ago. He was a married man and leaves, besides his widow and two children residing in Italy, an aged mother and sister, also two sisters in North America, Mrs. J. Motto, Vancouver, and Mrs. J. Perretto, of Alameda, California.

FRIDAY, JULY 2, 1926.

LEARN THESE FOUR WORDS This old path of life, which we all must travel, is filled with bumps and the older we grow the more we stumble and fall Youth, too, stubs its toe on these bumps and sometimes falls into pitfalls that hold them fast all the rest of their days. Life should be taken seriously, for we all come to the time when we realize that existence is not always circus day. It is well to be an optimist but there are places in life's journey when we all get up against it.

The heavy burden of responsibility caused Abraham Lincoln to say to one of his intimate advisors: "I wish you would give me a maxim that would help in every emergency." Some days later the friend returned and laid upon the president's desk a slip of paper bearing these four words: "This, too, will pass."

Can you think of anything more helpful in a time of distress? "This, too, will pass." Don't nurse your sorrows, your griefs, your misfortunes for they, too, will pass. Sunshine follows the rain, then why be downcast upon a rainy day? Bemoaning blighted hopes never got you anything. Cherishing the ashes of shattered dreams will not help you on the way. When you stumble and fall over the bumps in life's pathway, get up and go on with renewed courage and renewed hope.

No matter how big and how dark the cloud may seem remember that "this, too, will pass."

A NEW DAY The folly of Father's Day was clearly demonstrated by the flop which marked the effort of the necktie manufacturers to profit by another useless celebration. Father doesn't want any special day set aside for him. Every day is father's day and he knows it. He gets his, 365 days in the year and a red necktie means nothing in his busy life. But if these special days must be celebrated in the interest of trade, why not have a Radio Fan's Day and a Permanent Wave Day. We would also suggest an Old Maid's Day and Bachelor Uncle's Day. Ah, there's the big chance for a real holiday. The Bachelor's Day! By all means. If the pipe makers and the cane manufacturers get behind this Day, they can make it a pollywoppus. Think how the family would just love to provide gifts for that dear old bachelor uncle. Just think!

HERO WORSHIP No young lady ever lost her hero because her hands happened to be a little calloused from weilding the broom or stained from dipping them in dishwater. No girl ever fell down a lot in the estimation of her hero because she stayed at home all the afternoon and helped mother with the work, instead of coming down town and putting on a parade. No girl ever lost her hero because she made life more pleasant for dad and smoothed the wrinkles from his brow and caused him to look forward to the evening at home with pleasure. Na girl ever lost her hero because she wasn't an adept at using all the latest and most popular slang of the day. There is nothing in slang for a man to admire, and much less a lady. If the young lady wishes the company of a true gentleman she will avoid current slang as she would poison. No girl regrets losing a hero who in reality was a common, cheap tin-horn sport, and she had better be a kitchen queen for dad and mother all her life than a broken-hearted drudge of a slave for such a brainless brat a single day. Just because a girl arrives at gray hairs and faded cheeks in single blessedness is no sign she didn't have a chance. More likely it is because she kept posted in market values and refused to sell her heart and happiness for a mess of pottage.

NOTHING LIKE IT USED TO BE Perhaps the most regrettable feature of the present day highly organized professional baseball leagues is the passing of those roaring home-town ball games of twenty years ago. Those were great old days when men and boys played the game for the fun they got out of it, or pride in the village team. Once in a while we paid a player for the time he lost at his regular job, but as for salaries, there was nothing doing. Today, if you want a pitcher to pitch a game of ball he must be paid at least $25 for the job and all the rest of the team must have at least day's wages for helping to beat the nine from another town. Do they play as loyally or as earnestly as they did in the days of the sizzlin' hot old ball game? They do not. But baseball, like everything else today, is commercialized. And it is not how much fun we can get out of it, but how much money can the players make.

CANINE STAR KILLED IN OWNER'S SQUABBLE

Rin-Tin-Tin's Only Film Rival, Valued at $100,000, Falls Victim of Wrangle

There's probably a real study in irony in the death of Peter the Great, the dog star, only real competitor to Rin-Tin-Tin. For here was a lovable animal, worth in the neighborhood of $100,000, which because of a wrangle between his trainer and the keeper of a California kennel was forced into the position of the innocent bystander and went to his death as a result.

The wrangle is said to have been caused over a discussion as to Peter the Great's pedigree. And now what boots it whether the dog star's antecedents went back centuries or whether he didn't have any more thoroughbred forebears than has Rin-Tin-Tin? Rinty was discovered in a German shell-hole, and his pedigree goes back just that far, but here is the undisputed leader in canine screen stars, for Strongheart long ago gave up his pre-eminence.

As the story goes, the trainer and the kennel keeper shot at each other, each firing one shot. And the second one struck Peter the Great and sent him to the Hollywood Cat and Dog Hospital, where he died. And so far nothing has been done about it.

THE PUZZLE CORNER

Puzzle No. 145

My first is a substance both pleasing and good
And its use by the ladies is well understood;
My next, ever moving, so light and so trim
Of delicate structure, both body and limb;
My whole shall I tell you how brilliant and gay,
How faintly it flutters, how short is its day,
How just is the emblem, frail man has his prime,
How soon metamorphosed and changed by time.

Puzzle No. 146

Carrie and Tommy offered to take charge of a stand at the children's fair if their mamma would give them enough money to start business, so that they could make the necessary change for any purchase from one cent up to a dollar. What is the smallest amount of money represented by the fewest number of coins which the children might have started with?

Puzzle No. 147

Insert a word in the first blank space, which, with the first letter omitted, must be placed in the second space:

The ..... way of doing business is to ..... strictly cash.
When a ..... bursts it is very important to restrain your .....
We ate 6 ..... and fed 6 ..... to our horses.
He hurled a heavy ..... stone at the ..... and demolished the lock.

It may be well said that to ..... for a thing is not so good as to resolve to ..... it.

Puzzle No. 148

Find a word to fit the first blank, behead it for the second blank and behead it again to fill the third one:

Answers to Last Week's Puzzles

140—In that corner grocery problem where it was told that one customer got eight pounds of sugar and three pounds of flour for 61 cents, while little Maggie got five pounds of each for 50 cents, we can readily see that sugar is worth 6 1-5 cents a pound and flour costs only 3 4-5 cents.

141—Wheat, There, Shallow, Goat, Frail, Fox, Dwell.

142—Dread, Dray, Dream, Droll, Drug, Easter.

143—If the odds are 7 to 3 against Apple Pie, then we receive back $10 for an outlay of $3; or we would get back $11 for an outlay of $5 on the Bumble Bee. Therefore to balance the book we must place $27 to $83 on Cucumber, as proven by the following $33 on A would bring $110, or $50 on B would bring $110, and $27 to $83 on C would bring $110. So if you place $33, $50 and $27, which amounts to $110, no matter which horse wins you just get your $110 back.

SYNOPSIS OF LAND ACT AMENDMENTS

PRE-EMPTIONS

Vacant, unreserved, surveyed Crown lands may be pre-empted by British subjects over 18 years of age, and by aliens on declaring intention to become British subjects, conditional upon residence, occupation, and improvement for agricultural purposes.

Full information concerning regulations regarding Pre-emptions is given in Bulletin No. 1, Land Series, "How to Pre-empt Land," copies of which can be obtained free of charge by addressing the Department of Lands, Victoria, B.C., or to any Government Agent.

Records will be granted covering only land suitable for agricultural purposes, and which is not timberland, i.e., carrying over 5,000 board feet per acre west of the Coast Range and 8,000 feet per acre east of that Range.

Applications for pre-emptions are to be addressed to the Land Commissioner of the Land Recording Division, in which the land applied for is situated, and are made on printed forms, copies of which can be obtained from the Land Commissioner.

Pre-emptions must be occupied for five years and improvements made to value of $10 per acre, including clearing and cultivating at least five acres, before a Crown Grant can be received.

For more detailed information see the Bulletin "How to Pre-empt Land."

PURCHASE

Applications are received for purchase of vacant and unreserved Crown lands, not being timberland, for agricultural purposes; minimum price of first-class (arable) land is $5 per acre, and second-class (grazing) land $2.50 per acre. Further information regarding purchase or lease of Crown lands in given in Bulletin No. 10, Land Series, "Purchase and Lease of Crown Lands."

Mill, factory, or industrial sites on timber land, not exceeding 40 acres, may be purchased or leased, the conditions including payment of stumpage.

HOMESTEAD LEASES

Unsurveyed areas, not exceeding 20 acres, may be leased as homesites, conditional upon a dwelling being erected in the first year, title being obtained after residence and improvement conditions are fulfilled and land has been surveyed.

LEASES

For grazing and industrial purposes areas not exceeding 640 acres may be leased by one person or a company.

GRAZING

Under the Grazing Act the Province is divided into grazing districts and the range administered under a Grazing Commissioner. Annual grazing permits are issued based on numbers ranged, priority being given to established owners. Stock-owners may form associations for range management. Free, or partially free, permits are available for settlers, campers and travellers, up to ten head.

"The Radio Detective"

CHAPTER XIX

VAMPING

BRUISED and blackened by the coal, Ken and Ruth called for help. But no one heard.

However, it was one of their enemies who saw. He had climbed a trestle to get a better view to locate the hiding boy and girl. He waved his arms to the other two thugs and soon all were swooping down.

Just as the three thugs scrambled over to capture Ken and Ruth the engineer and the workmen waked up to what was going on under their noses. They were rough and dirty but they were good honest fellows with families at home. It was only an instant when the workmen dropped their tasks and ran to the help of Ruth and Ken.

The fight as the workmen converged was short and sharp. "Take that, you big bruiser!" One of the workmen hauled off with a sock on the jaw to the thug nearest him and sent him sprawling. The thugs ran for their lives, falling into the motorboat.

Ken and Ruth started away safely in the car, sadder and wiser.

There was something on Ken's mind now and it was the first time he had been alone with Ruth to ask it.

"Ruth," he began, "what about those racing debts that I heard from Hank? Are you gambling, Ruth?"

"Of course not, Ken. I don't gamble."

He must believe Ruth. Yet he knew it was not the whole truth. "But, Ruth, do any of the others?"

"Ken," she returned to him, "do you think it is fair for me to tell what others are doing?"

"Well, yes," agreed Ken reluctantly. "But it all seems so strange. Someone loses a lot of money gambling. Then comes that robbery and mother loses her emeralds and you lose your pearls. There must be a connection. I can't figure it out."

"I can't either, Ken. But you will never get anywhere by asking me to tell on other people. Nobody loves a squealer."

It was Ken's own philosophy, and he had to admit it and stop. But his mind was working on other ways of getting the information. Ruth had sworn that she had no gambling debts and knew nothing of the robbery. That eliminated Ruth as a suspect. It left it up to Vira and Glenn Buckley on one side and Rae and Jack Curtis on the other. Ken was alone. We were on another mission. Might it not be a good plan, he reasoned, for him to take up this side of the matter and run down whatever there was to be learned?

Far to the east now on the Island Craig, Easton and myself were very busy endeavoring to locate the hangout of the gray racer. Every hour, a quarter after the hour, messages were being broadcast between this point we were seeking and the Scooter moving up the Sound. Ruth and Ken were nearing the Club.

"Tell me, Ruth, are Vira and Glenn and the rest over at the Binnacle?"

"Yes," she said, "But I am not going to take you there. I'm disgusted. I'm through.

"Well, that's all right. You can set me down here at the end of the Club."

Ken climbed out and Ruth drove on to put up the car. But Ken was not going to waste any time. He looked about to see that he was not being watched, then crossed over to where he had a bicycle, got on it and rode off by footpaths where he would not be observed and followed. The Binnacle was his destination. He could trust Laddie to guard the Radio Shack.

At the Binnacle the rest of the group of young folks had remained after Ruth left. They had set her action down to just acting queerly and let it pass with that.

It was only the day before that at the Blue Rooster Rae had shown a decided interest in Glenn Buckley, much to the embarassment of Glenn who was quite fully interested in Vira and felt no thrill in Rae's vamping. At the same time there had been occasioned by it a coolness with Vira.

Upon such a mix-up as this it was that Ken happened as he started to carefully reconnoitre. He was quite surprised at seeing Glenn with Rae and at the way they seemed to be getting along. Looking about further he discovered Vira in another part of the place, alone for the moment.

Ken took advantage of the fact to come out into the open. His excuse was that he was looking for Ruth.

"Ruth went away this morning," replied Vira curtly.

"You know, Vira, there's something that's been troubling me, and that is about things at the Blue Rooster yesterday. It was that question you asked Ruth: 'Did you get it, Ruth? Will he give it to you?'"

Vira did not deign to say anything.

Ken kept on. "What was it, Vira? Who was it you meant?"

Vira turned petulantly. But that did not put Ken off. He was only emboldened to go further in his question. "About the races?"

Vira looked up quickly. She knew he knew—something, anyhow. Her mind was working fast.

"Oh, Ken. Ruth didn't lose anything, if that's what worrying you. I borrowed a thousand dollars on some of my jewels. But that wasn't sufficient. Then Ruth went to see Mr. Chittenden, a friend of your father. She got a loan of another thousand—for us. There, now, I can't tell you any more. Whose business is it, anyway?"

Before he could say another word Vira was half up the porch. Ken would have followed her only he heard footsteps in the corridor and decided to watch from hiding. He slipped back of a screen.

The quizzing by Ken had got on Vira's nerves and she took it out on Glenn Buckley, for, as luck would have it, she caught a glimpse of Rae and Glenn having a little jazz in the deserted victrola room.

Vira was angry. And here he was with Rae. He could have Rae. It did not take Vira long in this frame of mind to say as much and angrily sweep out of the room.

From his vantage point behind the screen Ken caught sight of Curtis.

Curtis gave a glance over at the retreating Vira, on her way to her car. Then he shot a quick glance at Rae. Buckley's back was to him.

Curtis deliberately winked several times at Rae as he indicated the direction of Vira. Rae gave an almost imperceptible nod and Curtis started after Vira.

"So," exclaimed Ken to himself, "that's the way the land lies!"

RASPBERRY AND CURRANT CONSERVE

The berry season is now at its height and the housewife who wishes to have a good stock of preserves on her pantry shelves for winter use, will take advantage of any bargains she can get when she finds her dealer overstocked.

Conserves are always a delicious adjunct to hot roasts or cold cuts, and raspberries and currants are a splendid combination. A conserve made of these berries together with other fruits, provides a delightful pungent flavor which is sure to satisfy the most fastidious palate. And, in addition, its lovely color helps to make a well-appointed table look more attractive.

Place two quarts of currants in an enameled ware saucepan together with a quarter of a cup of water. Simmer until the currants are soft and then press through an enameled ware colander to remove the skins. Then put the juice and pulp into the enameled ware saucepan again, add three pounds of granulated sugar and cook for about ten minutes. The surface of enameled ware is impervious to the action of fruit acids, so there will be no danger of the fruit affecting it or becoming affected by it. Then add one medium sized pineapple cut into cubes, one pint of strawberry rhubarb cut into small pieces, and the pulp and juice of 4 oranges, with just a little of the outer rind—about two tablespoons. Let the mixture simmer until it is a thick consistency. Pour into jars and, when cool, seal.

NO GOVERNMENT HAS BEEN DEFEATED SINCE CONFEDERATION

Not since Confederation has a Canadian government been defeated in the House. The nearest parallel was in the Pacific scandal of 1873. That, too, was on the report of a committee of inquiry and an amendment thereto containing censure of the Macdonald government. A sub-amendment was moved, but a vote on it was not taken. While the question was still on the order paper, Parliament was prorogued. The Macdonald government then went to the polls and was defeated.

News of Courtenay and District

Wholesale Depot Is Favored By Local Growers

COURTENAY, June 30.—That there is a much stronger desire than heretofore on the part of the Agriculturists and business men of the district to co-operate was manifest at a recent meeting of the executives of the local Creamery Association, the Vegetable Growers' Association, the Fruit Growers' and the Potato Growers. It had previously been ascertained from a meeting with the retail merchants that they were in favor of establishment of a wholesale fruit and vegetable business by the growers, which would permit the store keeper buying wholesale from one source in place of making purchases from sundry individual growers.

Mr. E. R. Bewell, the district agriculturist, explained the present situation concerning the possibility of the growers opening a wholesale and retail store. Capt. G. R. Bates, secretary of the Provincial Potato Growers, emphasised the position of the dealers as being strongly in favor of dealing through the Association rather than individual growers.

Mr. H. P. Allberry, president of the Fruit and Vegetable Associations, did not think the growers were ready to engage in retail trade but thought the time was ripe to start a wholesale business. Mr. N. A. Pritchard was also of the same opinion. A general discussion followed and the opinion of the meeting was that a wholesale fruit, vegetable and potato business would be a desirable asset to the district. A committee, consisting of the presidents, and one member of each association and the manager of the Creamery, was appointed to take care of the various commodities and to secure suitable storage facilities. Among the growers present were Messrs. Wm. Duncan, Arthur Smith, W. A. B. Paul, Hugh Clark, D. M. Isenor and Pritchard Bros.

COURTENAY MEN IN COUGARS' HAUNTS

COURTENAY, June 30.—An unusual experience was enjoyed by two of Courtenay's business men last week-end when they got within a short distance of a fine cougar in his natural environments. Mr. F. Field and Mr. Theed Pearse, while spending last Sunday in the neighborhood of Campbell River Falls, had sat down on the bank opposite an island in the middle of the river. After a short while the animal was seen to come out of the bush and carefully enter the water. After getting its feet wet several times the cougar breasted the stream and swam powerfully towards the bank from which it was unknowingly being watched. Although the large cat was well within range, neither of the men were armed.

ROD AND GUN IN CANADA

Published for the first time, the official photographs and account of the Canadian Government Arctic Expedition of 1925 will interest readers of Rod and Gun. The story of the trip to the ice fields with its three full pages of unusual photographs is only one of the interesting features of the July issue of Rod and Gun, just published. Bourmont to Maniwaki is a yarn of a canoe trip in the wilds of Quebec, well told by J. Jenkins, while William E. Dalton has some good wrinkles for trappers.

Bonnycastle Dale this month tells something of the Exquisitely Furred Destroyers, namely the mink and the weasel. Fishing Notes has an interesting line-up for the anglers this month and Fishing regulations for the current year are included in the issue. Outdoor Talk and Guns and Ammunition with Kennel and J. W. Winson's article on the owl are of usual high standard.

Editorially in the July issue, Rod and Gun takes issue with Senator Belcourt's proposed bill to further restrict the sale of firearms. The magazine raises the contention that the bill is not in the interests of Canadian sportsmen and announces its intention of fighting the proposed legislation on that ground.

Rod and Gun is published monthly by W. J. Taylor Limited, Woodstock, Ontario.

Here and There

Stormont, the best mine in Nova Scotia, when gold-mining in the province was an industry, is to be re-opened. Until it closed down, twelve years ago, Stormont mine had produced over 575,000 tons of ore, giving an average of free gold of $4.13 per ton, or $2.225,000 during its activity.

A record single shipment of Indian motor-cycles, consisting of 85 cases, from Armory, Mass., recently arrived in Tokyo, Japan, having come forward by Canadian Pacific Rail and steamer lines. The demand for motor-cycles in Japan is a steadily increasing one, being a cheap and convenient method of locomotion and well suited to the somewhat narrow roads of that country.

Twenty-one British Rotarians recently came over to Canada on the Canadian Pacific liner "Montclare" en route to the International Rotary convention at Denver. On their return trip they came back through Canada, travelling to Winnipeg and Fort William, and taking the Great Lakes trip on C.P.R. steamboat to Port McNicoll. They returned to the Old Country by the C.P. liner "Montcalm."

The Canadian Pacific Railway has just added two of the new Mount Class observation cars to those running out of Montreal. Five more are just about ready to run and the balance of four cars will be ready for service shortly after these. They are all-steel cars, made up of three compartments, and one drawing room with a parlor room and observation platform. They will be a feature of long-run trains on the C.P.R.

The English football team now touring Canada had one of the most strenuous work-outs in the history of any athletic body. Staying for a week-end at the Chateau Lake Louise they had a practise at an altitude of a mile and a half above sea level, where the thinness and dryness of the air had a wonderful effect upon them. Their captain thought it remarkable that prize-fighters in training had not utilized the marvellous properties of this training camp.

A fourteen-car special Canadian Pacific Railway train carried more than a hundred of the most prominent representatives of banking and financial interests of New York City and State to Quebec, where they held their 33rd annual convention of the New York State Bankers' Association at the Chateau Frontenac recently. Included in the party was Col. J. W. McIntosh, Comptroller of Currency, Washington; and W. J. Donovan, Assistant Attorney-General of the U.S., and several financial specialists of New York's leading newspapers.

While Canadian Pacific train No. 87 was standing on public crossing preparatory to taking passing track, an automobile, occupied by four persons, ran into the side of the train, badly damaging the auto. In another case, a driver said he saw the train and heard the whistle signals sounded, but too late to avoid running into the side of the engine. Yet again, a touring car, travelling about 25 miles per hour, ran through the crossing barriers at a public crossing in Montreal but did not stop. No injuries were reported in all three incidents.

Representing capital running into billions of dollars, a party of around eighty prominent bankers, financiers and men representing commercial and business interests, recently arrived at the Windsor Street Station, Montreal, from New York, and made a tour of the pulp and paper industries and the new aluminum districts of the St. Maurice and Saguenay Valleys in Quebec Province, with a view to personal inspection of the prospects in those great developments. The party was accommodated with five twelve-section compartments and drawing room sleepers, two dining cars and the private car "Montmorency," the whole being C.P.R. equipment.

CARD OF THANKS

Thanks are also expressed to all those who so kindly sent floral tributes.
