FORTY-FIRST YEAR—No. 18 | CUMBERLAND, BRITISH COLUMBIA SATURDAY, MAY 6th, 1922. | SUBSCRIPTION PRICE: TWO DOLLARS PER ANNUM.

Cup Finalists Will Be Here Saturday

The Ladysmith Intermediate team, finalists in the Brackman-Ker cup competition will be seen in action here (today) Saturday, May 6th, when they meet the Cumberland City team in a Second Division game. The Ladysmith team have a great record this season, as up to Sunday last they were an undefeated team, when they tasted defeat in the final game for the Brackman-Ker Cup.

The Ladysmith team will be the same as defeated the crack Nanaimo team in the semi-final of the Brackman-Ker Cup. The officials of the Cumberland City team have full knowledge of the abilities of this fast aggregation of footballers and the best possible eleven that can be obtained will be seen in the colors of the local team. The Ladysmith team defeated the locals at Ladysmith by two goals to one, and the City team intend to avenge that defeat today. A large crowd of spectators is expected to turn out for this game as the visitors are great favorites with the fans at this end of the Island.

All roads will lead to the recreation grounds on Saturday, and as a collection at the gate will be taken, fans are urged to have their change ready—lots of it, and help the local treasury to the best of their ability. The kick-off is scheduled for 5 o'clock with Mr. A. P. Jones, of Bevan, in charge.

$20 Clear Realized From Club Concert

The money received and expended in connection with the Ansen Junior Musical Club concert was as follows:

Collection at the door amounted to $25; expenses for rent of hall $5; hauling of chairs to hall $1; leaving a balance of $19. The Club have received since the concert a donation of $1; making in all $20.

The G.W.V.A. donated the use of the chairs for the concert free of charge.

It has not been decided yet by the children what they will devote the $20 to, as no vote has been taken. We understand this matter is being left entirely in their own hands, but it is likely they will deposit it in the bank in readiness for next season.

ALTERATIONS AT POST OFFICE

Extensive alterations at the Post Office have now been completed. Some 175 new boxes have been installed and various other necessary alterations. Anyone desirous of obtaining a private post-office box is urged to make immediate application as Postmaster Cooke expects them to be all rented in a few days.

Sudden Death Of William J. Colling

The death occured on Saturday last, April 29th, of William John Colling in his twenty-first year, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Colling.

Seldom has it been our duty to record so sudden a death. The young man's sickness was of but brief duration. Seemingly with us today active in life's round of duty with his host of associates and friends. Death is a hard master. He would take from us of our brightest and best, but He cannot even mar memory, thus closing the life of one who being dead yet speaketh. May time bring its resignation and may the choirs of eternity that receive his soul surround it with everlasting sunshine and flowers.

The funeral took place on Tuesday from the family residence to the Cumberland cemetery. Rev. G. R. B. Kinney officiating.

The pall bearers, faithful friends of the deceased were: H. Glover, R. Bennie, G. Hunden, T. Brown, M. Mitchell and D. Stevenson.

New Trial For Wang O. Sang

The jury disagreed in the trial of Wong O. Sang, charged with the murder of Wing Chung at Cumberland in November last. The trial lasted for two days and after three hours' deliberation, the jury could not agree whether or not Wong O. Sang killed Wing Chung in self-defence. It was reported in the corridors at the court house, that the count stood ten to two for acquittal. Wing Chung was killed by a bullet discharged from a revolver which Wong O. Sang is said to have carried.

Two Chinamen quarrelled. Mr. Justice Murphy pointed out in his charge to the jury that it was common ground that Wing Chung met his death as the result of a bullet wound inflicted by Wong O. Sang's pistol, while that pistol was in the hands of the accused. He commented that the evidence for the prosecution did not reveal a motive, but that it was not incumbent upon the Crown to go this far to prove its case.

J. A. Russel, counsel for the defense, addressed the jury for an hour and thirty minutes, dwelling on the fact that witnesses for the prosecution were all of one Tong, the Jung family, and that the Jungs had spent large sums of money and employed two clever lawyers to prosecute the case against Wong O. Sang. He dwelt upon the improbabilities of the Crown evidence that Wong O. Sang, a total stranger to the deceased, had entered his shop at high noon with a huge weapon, and without any indication of a quarrel, had drawn the pistol, and shot Wing Chung.

A. B. MacDonald, Crown attorney, made a similar criticism of the story told by Wong O. Sang, who had claimed that there were three or four more men in the shop at the time of the shooting, that the Crown witnesses mentioned. He asked what had become of these men, and whether the jury could believe that an old and trusted employee of the C.P.R. would deliberately commit robbery in the presence of witnesses as described by the accused.

J. A. Russel, counsel for the defense, in the course of his address to the jury, paid a great compliment to Provincial Constable Dunbar, saying he was one of the most efficient officers in the Provincial Police Force.

The new trial has been set for Wednesday, May 10th.

Special Meeting Of Pol e Board

Board of Police Commissioners held a special meeting on Wednesday with Mayor MacDonald in the chair. Commissioner Parnham and Pickard present. The Chairman in a few well chosen remarks pointed out the nature of the business on account of the death of Chief of Police Bunbury it was their duty to call for applications to fill the position of police officer for the city of Cumberland. His Worship said that he had made arrangements with Provincial Constable Alex Dunbar to police the city for a few days or until the appointment of a police officer. Both Commissioner Parnham and Pickard spoke very feelingly of the late chief of police as to his ability and integrity and moved that a resolution of condolence be forwarded to Mrs. Bunbury and family.

It was decided to call for applications for the position of police officer for the city of Cumberland, the entire Board favored an outside man and will advertise in the Colonist, Victoria, and Province, Vancouver, as follows: Wanted experienced policeman willing to make himself generally useful around the city, free house, salary $110 per month, apply City Clerk, Cumberland, B. C.

Applications are to be in the hands of the City Clerk by May 17th and the Board of Police Commissioners will meet on May 19th to consider the applications and make the appointment.

Cumberland Hospital Had Exceptionally Good Year

ANNUAL REPORT OF CUMBERLAND GENERAL HOSPITAL SHOWS INSTITUTION TO BE IN SPLENDID SHAPE

The Annual Meeting of the Board of Directors and Subscribers of the Cumberland General Hospital was held in the Council Chamber, on Monday evening with President Charles Graham in the chair, Alex MacKinnon acting as Secretary in the absence of Secretary Mordy. After reading the minutes of the previous meeting and the presentation of receipts and expenditures for the year, Mr. Charles Graham submitted his fourth Annual Report.

ANNUAL REPORT OF PRESIDENT CUMBERLAND GENERAL HOSPITAL

Gentlemen:-

I beg to submit the annual report of the Cumberland General Hospital for the year ending March 31st, 1922.

Work of The Hospital

During the year the following number of patients were treated:

In the Hospital, April 1st, 1921	20
Admitted during the year	390
Discharged during the year	366
Died during the year	16
In the Hospital, April 1st, 1922	27
No. of Hospital days treatment	9554
Average number patients per day	26
Major Operations	39
Minor Operations	161
Obstetrical Cases	58

There has been a further increase in the work of the Hospital during the past year, there being 883 more days treatment than during the previous year. It is evident that the residents of Cumberland are taking full advantage of the Hospital facilities.

Financial Condition

During the year, as it will be noted from the financial statement, the receipts from all sources were $22,911.18, and the total expenditures were $22,956.42, leaving a loss on the year's operations of $45.24. The Hospital had a balance in the bank to its credit at the beginning of the fiscal year of $1,953.22, and at the close of the year $1,907.96.

The Hospital has been able to meet all its financial obligations when due, without recourse to any overdraft at the bank.

Repairs To Buildings

Some very extensive repairs were carried out during the year. The entire building was repainted outside and considerable calsomining was done on the inside. The hot water heating was extended to the Chinese ward. A new cooking range had to be purchased as the old range was completely worn out. The roof of the Chinese ward was reshingled. The total amount of money spent on repairs was $2,097.90.

Additions To Equipment

A 16 inch pressure sterilizer has been installed at a cost of nearly $900.00. The addition of this machine has brought our sterilizer equipment up to date. New furniture for various rooms and wards to the value of $1,218.20 was purchased during the year.

Cost of Operation

I am very pleased to be able to report a very low cost of operation. The cost per patient per day for the year just closed is $2.42 per day. This is a splendid showing, especially in view of the very decided increase in the number of patient days during the past two years. I believe this cost is about the lowest cost per patient per day of any public hospital in the province.

Medical Fund Agreement

The agreement entered into with the Medical Fund for treatment of their members for $1,000.00 per month has been very satisfactory and the Hospital has been able to render the Medical Fund treatment at a very low rate. The Hospital Board felt in view of their financial condition that they could afford to remit one month's subscription ($1,000.00) to the Medical Fund.

The amount paid by the Medical Fund under this agreement was therefore $11,000.00.

During the year the number of patient days treatment under this agreement were as follows:

	Male	Female	Total
Sickness	2140	1388	3528
Accident	2283		2283
		Total	5811

The cost per patient per day to the Medical Fund was only $1.89, which is 53 cents per patient per day less than the average cost at the Hospital. This is a very low cost for hospital treatment.

The Hospital Board was also able to relieve the Medical Fund of the payment of 50 per cent of the dressings which would amount to approximately $200.00. In addition the members of the fund benefitted by a reduction of 75 cents per day on Obstetrical Cases, which amounted to nearly $700.00.

In view of the above, it would appear that this agreement has been of considerable benefit to the members of the Medical Fund, and as the Hospital is able to carry on under this agreement I would recommend that it be continued.

Collections from private patients have been good. Unpaid accounts amount to $972.50. Most of this amount we consider collectible. This is only 4 per cent of the total receipts.

The Ladies Auxiliary has done excellent work during the year in furnishing linen and other supplies, and I wish to express the appreciation of the Board for their valuable assistance.

I also wish to express my appreciation of the good work done by the Matron and her staff during the year. The operating costs show that every economy is being exercised by her in the operation of the Hospital.

I also wish to express the thanks of the Board to all those who made donations or assisted the Hospital in any way.

Electing officers for the ensuing year resulted as follows:

Charles Graham, President; R. H. Robertson, Vice President; Thomas Mordy, Secretary; C. J. Parnham, Treasurer.

Directors: Thomas Bennett, Dr. Geo. K. McNaughton, A. J. Taylor, E. D. Pickard and Edward Hughes.

City Team Win By The Odd Goal

The Cumberland United and Cumberland City met in the first game of a four game series for the McLean Cup, and championship of the Cumberland district. The game was well contested throughout, some good combination being shown at times by the forwards of the United team, but the breaking up tactics of the City's defence spoiled their chances. The Cumberland United scored the first and only goal of the game through Appleby after 25 minutes of the second half had been played. This game was very interesting from the side lines and was equal to most other games that have been played here this season. The Cumberland City Executive intend to strengthen their forward rank for the next game in this series as they discovered they were weak in this part of the team; also it is understood that Kenny will be back in the Centre Half position of the Cumberland United. Owing to small margin between these two teams great interest is being taken in their next game which will be announced later.

Enthusiastic Boy Scout Meeting

The Provincial Commissioner of Boy Scouts, R. Ross Suterland, visited Cumberland on Saturday, April 29th and addressed a public meeting in the Anglican Church Hall, setting forth the aims and objects of the Association.

The Mayor, D. R. McDonald was in the chair and expressed the hope that the movement might be revived in this city, pointing out that in the pre war days the Cumberland troop was one of the best in the province. Owing to several other meetings the attendance was poor but several leading citizens assured the committee of their interest and support.

The following were appointed a reorganization Committee with power to add to their number: The Mayor, Convenor; J. C. Brown, T. W. Scott, J. Idiens.

A meeting of those interested will be called in the near future and it is hoped that the work amongst the boys here will be given a fresh start.

Proceedings Of The City Council

The City Council held an unusual lengthy session on Monday, all the troubles of the city were fully discussed including the delayed boulevard on Dunsmuir Avenue between Third and Fourth Streets and when there was signs of the tedious session coming to a close Ald. Maxwell wisely suggested that the Mayor and Aldermen take a half holiday and visit the various parts of the city affected, the idea was favored and Thursday afternoon decided upon.

During the business of the evening the boulevard was again held up for legal advise, Ald. Parnham moved to cut it in two and go ahead; Ald. Thomson and Bevridge favored legal advice; Ald. Maxwell says tear it out or complete it, do one thing or the other; Ald. Pickard knowing he had supported a motion to have it put in was seemingly indifferent while Ald. Bannerman was very reticent; finally legal advice was decided upon.

Mr. Lui Francescini, who bought the business of Paoli Monte is not a brother of the late Ald. Louis Francescini, as reported in The Islander. We have since been informed that the late Alderman was a cousin of Mr. Lui Francescini.

Died In California Well Known Here

Mr. Dudley Michell died at Burke, Sonoma County, California. The remains will arrive at Victoria today for interment in the Ross Bay cemetery. The deceased was the eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Michell of this city, and at the time of his death was residing in California for the benefit of his health. He was in his thirtieth year. The late Mr. Michell was well and favorably known throughout the province, particularly in the coal mining centres, being inspector of Mine Rescue Stations under the Provincial Mining Department, and late manager of the Giant Powder Company of Edmonton. He leaves to mourn his loss, a wife and two children, his Father and Mother, two brothers, George and Cyril; and three sisters, Mrs. M. H. Johns, of Cranbrook; Mrs. R. P. Fatal Accident On Comox Road

An automobile accident which occured on Comox Road, just above the Quarterway Hotel at 12:30 a.m. Monday morning, resulted in the instant death of Charles Grieve, and the serious injury of three other occupants, who are now in the hospital undergoing treatment.

Yesterday afternoon Coroner Hickling impaneled the following jury to investigate the case: H. Murphy, (foreman); F. Ellison, V. H. Watchorn, O. Eby, Mr. Edge-Partington, W. L. Dunn and A. Sampson. After viewing the remains, and paying a visit to the scene of the accident, the sitting was adjourned for six weeks, to June 12th, as it was not considered possible for some of the injured men to attend the inquiry before that time.

Among other occupants of the car which was a Ford, was Pat. Spratt, who was seriously injured, having a fractured shoulder blade and several ribs broken. Robert Cessford, who was driving the car at the time of the accident, is suffering from several bruises, and Alec Fitzgerald has a fractured bone in the upper arm. The fifth passenger in the car, Victor Beckwith was taken to the hospital but was allowed out as his injuries were very slight.

How the accident happened was impossible to find out, but it is presumed that on coming around the bend one of the back wheels collapsed and the car turned completely over. The car was practically smashed up. Grieves was the only married man of the party, which was on its way to Nanaimo. He was 27 years of age and leaves a wife and one child residing in Courtenay. His mother is living in Vancouver, and his sister, Mrs. W. Thomson, lives at Chase River.

Don't Be a Knocker

If your neighbor is prosperous, let him prosper.

Do not growl or grumble.

Say a good word for him and let it go at that.

Do not be a knocker.

If you see that the city is moving along nicely, feel good about it.

Help things along.

Shove a little.

Push. Try and secure some of the benefit yourself.

Do not stand around like a cadaver.

Do not waste time feeling sore because some fellow has a little more sand and sense than you have.

Do a little hustling yourself.

If you can say a good word say it like a prince. If you are full of bile and disposed to say something mean, keep your mouth closed.

Do not be a knocker.

No man ever became rich and happy minding anybody's business save his own.

No man ever helped himself up permanently by knocking his neighbors down.

Give a kind word. Give it liberally. It will not cost a cent, and you may want one yourself some day.

You cannot afford it. It will not pay. There is nothing in it.

If you want to throw something at somebody—throw cologne, or roses. Do not throw brickbats, or mud. If you must kick—go behind the garage and kick yourself. For if you feel that way you are the man that needs kicking.

But whatever you do, do not be a knocker.

By watching the advertising columns of a newspaper we are enabled to know the exact condition of mercantile affairs and the general prosperity or depression in the town where the paper is published. We can sit at our desk and pick out the live business towns and the dead towns. There is no better index to a town than its paper; it is a better criterion to go by, and is considered so by sagacious men, than a photograph, it is the enterprise of the inhabitants and not the size of the buildings that makes the town. You may pick up a paper and read at a glance, "We mean business" or "We're deader than a stuffed bird," as plain as though it was printed in ten line pica and red ink across every page.

Observations Of A Federal Member

April 19th. House spent all day discussing whether daylight saving should be prohibited in Canada and finally adjourned the debate.

April 20th. Agricultural estimates in committee, British embargo on timber wolves, grants to agricultural fairs, etc., etc.

April 21st. Bill introduced to prevent the importation of liquor into B. C. by parties other than the local Government.

April 24th. Long debate on motion by a labor member that "It is desirable that the Government should devise some means of dealing with unemployment." Everyone willing to admit the desirability, but no practical solution offered as to how it is to be done. Passed unanimously. Also long debate on a resolution that Cabinet Ministers must resign directorships in incorporated companies. A good case made out on both sides, it being claimed that this would prevent suspicion that Ministers were favoring their companies and on the other hand that it would lead to rejecting men of great ability needed in the Cabinet and also lead to Ministers nominally giving up their directorships but really having as much control as before by means of dummy directors and that it is better to have the facts known rather than covered up, or put otherwise, it would bind the honest man and not the dishonest one. After a very able speech by Mr. Meighen, the House divided, 147 against the motion and 59 in favor. Except the mover the Liberals and Conservatives voted against and most of the Progressives and labor men voted for it. McBride of Cariboo and Neill of Comox-Alberni voted in the majority.

J. L. Campbell Died At Sea

Mr. J. L. Campbell, engineer on the S. S. Satsuna, died of hemmorage on April 27th whilst the ship was on her way to Union Bay to take on coal. The deceased, who was a married man, was a native of Scotland, but had made his home in Brooklyn, New York, for the past few years. The body was brought to Cumberland on May 1st for interment in the Cumberland cemetery. The funeral was held under the control of the American Consul and the local Masonic lodge, the deceased being a member of the Masonic order. Rev. W. Leversedge being the officiating minister.

Baseball

The Intermediate Baseball Club held a meeting in the Athletic Club last Sunday evening and elected the officers for the ensuing year. The following officers were elected: Honorary President, Mr. Thomas Graham; Honorary Vice President, Mr. Charles Graham; President and Manager, Mr. Alex. S. Denholme; Secretary-Treasurer, Mr. Val Dalby; Team Captain, Mr. Dave Richards.

The team completed a very successful season last year financially and otherwise, starting the season with a clean sheet. The Club by virtue of their win over Nanaimo Intermediate have a right to claim the Upper Island championship in the intermediate division for this city.

The Ilo Ilo Hall has been secured for May 24th and arrangements are under way to hold a grand dance and ra e. The Intermediate are noted for their successful dances and their next dance will no doubt be attended by a large holiday crowd.

INTERMEDIATE BALL TOSSERS TRIM FAST TRAVELLING JAPS

The local Intermediate Baseball Club trimmed the Japanese team on Sunday last previous to the Cumberland County game. The Intermediates dished up as snappy a brand of ball as has been seen on the local grounds for some time romping home with a 4 to 3 victory. John Binny pitched a good game for the Intermediates, having good contral and scattering his hits well.

The game ended with an exiting climax. The Japanese with a man on third base and two down drove a ball down the foul line in the direction of third base, passing into the foul area before reaching third base. Umpire Horton declared it a foul ball but after consultation with spectators behind the home plate reverted his decision and called it a fair ball. This drove in a tieing run. However the Intermediate came back in the last half of the inning with the "never say die" spirit and drove in the winning run.

"Reputation"

That's Everything—Says Priscilla in Her New Picture—Coming to the Ilo Ilo Theatre

"Reputation," the newest Universal Jewel super-feature, starring Priscilla Dean and coming to the Ilo Ilo Theatre on Friday and Saturday is heralded as a dramatic thunderbolt of tremendous power. After her two recent successes, "The Virgin of Stamboul" and "Outside the Law," Universal realized it would require a photoplay of extraordinary strength to complete the dramatic trinity. From all accounts, "Reputation" not only proves its right to follow the first two, but many reviewers have declared it to be by far the most powerful drama projected on the screen in many months.

The most interesting feature of "Reputation" is the fact that it permits Priscilla Dean to play a dual role—a mother and daughter—both possessing marked histrionic genius, but differing in every other characteristic. The mother is a woman who has violated social code and sunk to moral depths in inverse ratio to her rise in fame and popularity. The daughter, on the other hand, raised in a county asylum, blooms like a violet in a swamp, and grows up to pure and charming young womanhood. The mother has forgotten the daughter's existence, while the child has never known her mother's identity. Fate brings the two together under circumstances that try their souls and make for big, dramatic situations.

The story, under the title of "False Colors," first appeared in a magazine as the work of Edwina Levin. Lucien Hubbard and Doris Schroeder adapted it to the screen. It was directed by Stuart Paton, with a cast that includes Niles Welch, Spottiswoode Aitken, Harry Van Meter, Rex de Rosselli, Harry Carter, William Welsh, Mae Giraci, Al Garcia, Kathleen Meyers and many others.

On Monday and Tuesday the big British production "3 Live Ghosts" will be screened. This is the picture that broke all attendance records in Vancouver playing steadily for three weeks. It is by far the best picture that has been made in Great Britain, surpassing "The Better Ole" and "Alf's Button." All scenes in this picture were made in England; those who have been in London will recognize many familiar landmarks.

Final Won By S. Wellington

(Contributed)

Played at Ladysmith last Sunday resulting in a win for South Wellington by 1 goal to nil over the Ladysmith 2nd Division team. The weather was ideal but a wind was blowing from end to end and somewhat spoiled the play at times, about 2500 spectators lined the ropes, automobiles, etc. bringing football enthusiasts from every direction leading to Ladysmith. Mr. A. S. Jones of Cumberland had the honor of refereeing this cup final with J. Rogers and J. Galloway of Ladysmith as linesmen.

Prompt at 3 p.m. Referee Jones set the teams a-going, South Wellington won the toss and decided to play with the wind in their favor. After the kick-off the Ladysmith boys pressed for the first few minutes and the South Wellington team then forced matters on their right wing, Smith sending in a nice shot which was cleared by Beattie. Play was of a give and take nature for some time, each goal being visited in turns with neither playing classic football. At this period Beddington received a cross from Smith and sent in a high shot at the corner of the goal, Beattie had his hands on the ball but it rolled over his head and dropped a foot over the goal line. Referee Jones was right on the job and gave a goal to South Wellington. Half time was called with no further scoring.

In the second half the Ladysmith took the game in hand and pressed nearly the whole of the 45 minutes, just on occasional intervals did the South Wellington forwards get over the half way line and for very short periods at that. Twenty minutes from time. Ladysmith were granted a penalty kick for Green handling within the penalty area, Pollick took the kick shooting the ball right into McPhilips hands which he cleared at the expense of a corner but nothing resulted and a poor game for a cup final ended, South Wellington 1 goal, Ladysmith 0.

South Wellington are now in possession of the Brackman-Ker Cup and are Upper Island champions for season 1921-1922, and have the honor of playing St. Andrew's of Vancouver in the semi-final of the Province Cup at Nanaimo next Saturday, May 6th.

St. Andrew's, I believe are a strong soccer combination and if they are anything like they were last year they will walk right through with Saturday's game, as the South Wellington team puts up a very poor display and they have been very fortunate to be in the position they are this year, although great credit is due the South Wellington team, representing such a small town and they have had considerable ups and downs for the past three seasons, but they have stayed right with it,, and now they have accomplished their goal.

Although they are going up against a much superior team next Saturday, but at the same time we wish them the best of luck, if they stick to their horse shoe they are all right.

Success is not made by lying awake at night, but by keeping awake in the daytime.

Ten Minutes' Interval

Tom Harcourt was huddled in the huge and shabby chair with which he insisted upon desecrated Fenella's black and orange drawing-room.

The chair was covered—in parts—with shabby green leather. In other parts, the stuffing protruded, and he would neither allow it to be re-upholstered—because, he said, upholsters always monkeyed with the springs, and as they were, they were just right—nor would he left Fenella put on it the black satin loose cover she had had specially made—because he said, they always crumpled or tore, or pulled out, or something, when he'd got comfortable. So the chair, to an artistic eye—like Fenella's—spoilt the room. So did Tom, who refused to dress for dinner more than once a week, and was therefore clad in his pet suit of a shouting red-brown Harris tweed. Fenella could see more than enough of it round the corners of the Times he was reading.

She was looking at him and few men realize how ominous a danger-signal is there when a silent wife drops her knitting or her book into her lap, and just sits looking at him—taking stock.

At last she spoke, abruptly, and with more than a hint at desperation.

"Tom! I want to get into glad rags and go somewhere where we can dance."

"What?" The paper was lowered just enough to show her his unsmiling countenance, and his eyes that were like grey agates.

She repeated her announcement, though she knew he had heard perfectly. His trick of saying "What?" unnecessarily was one of Fenella's minor crosses.

"No darned fear!" He put the paper up again. I'm not going to start changing at this hour, and anyhow, I'm too tired to dance."

"Bosh! said Fenella, rudely. Then she got up.

"Look here, Tom, if I don't go out and do something, I'll go mad. Plum-crazy, d'you understand? I'm fed up. I'm ill with boredom. It's donkey's years since we went anywhere."

"We dined with the Gratchett's on Monday," he expostulated from behind the paper.

"Yes, and talked Lloyd George from the soup to the savory, with a mildewed old maid and an Anglo-Indian relic of the past, and then sat in the drawing-room, shivering and yawning till it was mercifully time to come home. G'rrh!"

She seized the paper suddenly, flung it down and stamped on it.

"You've got to do something! I want to laugh, to feel alive for ten minutes."

They wrangled for half-an-hour, and at last, grudgingly, he consented to ring up for a couple of stalls at the Victoria Palace.

"It's nice and handy, and I can go as I am," he pointed out.

Fenella gave a delicate feminine imitation of a snort, and went to get her fur coat.

It was a good show. Fenella began her laughing tonic in the first five minutes. There was a boy at the piano who sang sentimental little songs with a wicked "zip" at the end, interspersing them with a quick fussillade of peppery stories.

Fenella, between her swirls of laughter that she tried to suppress and couldn't, glanced once or twice at Tom. He was laughing, too, but when he caught her eye, he tried to frown, because he was of that order which prefers its women without humor.

After a try or two to share her enjoyment, Fenella gave it up, and devoted her attention entirely to the stage.

It was some time before the boy who sat next her dawned upon her consciousness.

He was more than an incarnate laugh at first. Then, his laugh was so whole-hearted and infectious, Fenella caught herself stealing a glance at him to see if he were as nice as he sounded.

He was.

A little older than his laugh, clean-cut, well-tailored, alert and alive, he gave Fenella a most refreshing thrill of pleasure. From then onwards, she gave the stage no more than a divided attention, and, if one of the turns bored her, she spent her mental leisure wondering what sort of a husband he'd make—if he'd slack about in shabby tweeds and insist on spoiling her drawing-room. And always, her heart answered in the negative. One's heart always does do these things, till bitter experience forces it to confess the truth.)

Then the boy—who wasn't quite a boy—looked Fenella's way, and saw her short little nose crinkle as she laughed, and caught the fugitive gleam of light on the red-gold hair that shone like a nimbus round the edges of her small, dark fur cap. And thereafter his attention also was divided, and Fenella had the fun of sharing her laughter after all.

Tom saw nothing of this by-play. Though he guffawed at intervals, he was faintly bored with the show, and conscious that he would rather be at home, in his shabby, comfortable chair, with his paper. Besides, the woman behind him was kicking the back of his seat, which irritated him.

"I'm going out for a breath of fresh air," he announced, abruptly, when the lights flashed up for the interval.

His coat brushed the programme off the top of Fenella's muff, as he went, and the boy beside her retrieved it.

"Thank you," said Fenella, smiling.

"Not't'all," said he, hastily. "Er—topping show, isn't it?"

"Awf'ly," she agreed, and he noticed that she had one dimple, which is always more fascinating than two.

They didn't stop there, of course. Wasn't the interval ten minutes long, and Tom the kind of person who never came back till the bell rang?

The boy was just going to ask Fenella's name, when the faint tinkle brought Tom in. Fenella, perfectly aware of the boy's thwarted intention, cursed the bell, and settled down to watch the next turn.

Halfway through it, inspiration touched her. There was an opened letter in her muff—from her dressmaker, enclosing a pattern or two. She had taken it from the postman as they came out. Gently, she worked it to the edge of her muff. Between two turns, the tiniest movement flicked it to the floor. Tom, on her right, was busy watching a pretty programme-girl and trying to catch her eye, but Fenella saw the boy's foot slide over the letter, and smiled.

He returned it next day, with a charming note, and Fenella, naturally, wrote to thank him. She explained how glad she was to have it, as she was going to her dressmaker's that very afternoon at three, and would of course want the patterns.

Surprising, wasn't it, that they should meet? They both said so. . . . They also said that "it seemed like Fate."

They are married now. These things of course can be wangled, and Tom made disappointingly little fuss. He only wanted peace and quiet, and somehow neither had come his way while he'd been married to Fenella.

Fenella's drawing-room is now grey and gold, and her husband's chair combines comfort and elegance, as the advertisements say.

She has him well-trained. He dresses for dinner with the utmost docility, and they dance into the wee sma' hours two or three times a week.

But it is noticeable that, when Fenella's new husband takes her to the theatre, he doesn't leave her in the interval, either for a breath of fresh air or anything else unless she has a woman on the other side of her.

He knows a trick worth two of that.

Forest Fires

There are usually two periods of fire-hazards in the Canadian forests, in early spring just after the snow disappears, and in late summer, when the vegetation has begun to get dry. Exceptional seasons vary these periods but the two classes of "spring fires" and "summer fires" remain. Many people understand why the dry, hot period of late summer is likely to be favorable to the starting of forest fires but they think that, after the heavy snowfall of winter, the woods ought to be safe till early summer at least. A little reflection, however, will show why the early spring period is particularly dangerous. In early spring there is often a short period of hot, bright days. The leaves have not yet come out and the sun shines down through the leafless branches directly on the forest floor. The snow disappears as if by magic and the dead twigs and last year's leaves becomes dry as timber. If a glowing match or cigarette stub is dropped among this material the forest floor is ablaze over a space of many yards in a moment. A few days at this period are always most critical. After the first spring rain the ground vegetation becomes green and damp, and the leaves come out and shade the forest floor. The worst danger is then over, until the hot days of the late summer cause the vegetation to dry out, when a danger period ensues which lasts till the first autumn rains. The moral of it all is that Canadians ought always to be careful with fire in the forest and doubly careful during these danger periods.

CANADA'S MEDICINAL TREES

All Canadians have heard of the medicine, cascara, but all do not know that this is obtained from the bark of the cascara tree which is found growing on the Pacific Coast of this continent. Owing to the heavy drain on the stands of this tree in the Pacific States, British Columbia is now one of the sources of supply, and carloads of the bark are shipped out every season. In order that all citizens of the province who have to do with work in the woods may recognize this tree and know how best to conserve it, an illustrated pamphlet, written by Professor John Davidson of the University of British Columbia, has been issued by the Forestry Branch of the Department of the Interior. It is known as Circular No. 13, The Cascara Tree in British Columbia. It has been widely circulated in British Columbia, but any persons desiring the pamphlet, who have not yet received a copy, may obtain one free on application to the Director of Forestry, Ottawa.

Robs Man Just Out Of Hospital

Chicago—Walter Olson, 22, former seaman of the U.S.S. "Maquan," who has just been released from a government hospital, was robbed of $58.00, his fare home, today. The money had been sent to him by his father, who lives in Seattle. When Olson went to buy his ticket he found that the fare was $62.00 instead of $58.00. A stranger asked Olson for his money and told him to come with him to the bank. En route to the bank the stranger disappeared with Olson's $58.00.

Arabians and Persians generally have now a fairly good idea of the value of a car, but at one time that was not so. An Australian drummer tells of how he exchanged his car for a rug. He had discovered a rare Persian rug in some remote Arabian village and motoring up there offered $3000.00 for it. The Arabian owner of the rug refused the money, but offered to exchange the rug on the car. The car had cost him $1000.00 and he afterwards sold the rug for $5000.00; so his profit was not to be sneezed at.

Juvenile Crime

Of the influence of pernicious literature in making criminals, Mr. Davitt says, in his "Leaves from a Prison Diary": "Among young thieves are often found youths who have had honest parents and a proper bringing up. These are the victims of such works as 'Blueshin, 'Three-finger Jack,' 'Jack Sheppard,' 'Claude Duval,' 'Dick Turpin,' and the various other pestiferous criminel novelettes which have obtained such an immense circulation among boys of the industrial classes of these countries during the past twenty years. The writers of these thief making sheets represent their pickpocket, burglar, or highwayman hero in picturesque colors, and hundreds of bright, intelligent boys have been torn from the homes of respectable parents through the instrumentality of this literature of rascaldom, and have become cast, in most cases for their whole future, among the felon ranks of habitual criminal life."

New Silver Strike At Keno Hill

A Dawson City, Yukon, press despatch states that rich new silver strikes have been made in Keno Hill. Recent arrivals from that district report that high grade veins have been opened on Croesus, Crystal Gulch, Gambler Gulch, Slate Creek and Stone claims. The Slate Creek company is opening up a vein of five feet of steel galena ore at a depth of 65 feet. The Yukon Gold company is shipping 3,000 tons of ore from the Rico claim. At a depth of 300 feet the ore proves richer than ever. Another vein has been opened up a mile away on the same claim facing Faro Gulch. It has high grade ore at a depth of 70 feet. It is expected that the population of Mayo Camp, which has already nearly half the population of the Yukon Territory, will be more than doubled this summer. The White Pass company is starting construction of a new steamer at Mayo to help handle ore and other business for the camp, the despatch states.

WORRY

One half of the worry and confusion of life arises from doing things at the wrong time, the mind being either weakened by borrowing today the trouble of tomorrow, or exhausted by having on hand not only today's work, but that which ought to have been done yesterday. God never wants us to do more in a day that we have time for; and the day will be found to have room enough for its own work, if it is not encumbered with the work of the day past of the care of the day to come.

Berry-growers on Vancouver Island will be provided with a subsidized precooling plant in order to minimize losses during the rush of the picking season. It is expected that fifty carloads of berries will be shipped from Gordon Head and Saanich this season.

There has been a big run of herring on the British Columbia coast this spring. Hauls of from 10 to 30 tons per boat a day, according to the capacity of the boats engaged in fishing, are reported from Prince Rupert.

Negotiations are under way for a site at New Westminster, B. C., for a paper and pulp mill.

SERVICES APPRECIATED

At the request of Mr. Tommy K. Nakanishi, Principal Woods of the High School was asked to present to Clifton Mounce a $10.00 bill as an appreciation for services rendered during the recent fire. The admirable way in which this boy saved a considerable amount of the property of Mr. Nakanishi prompted this most generous award.

The High School basketball quintette capped the Intermediate Championship last Saturday evening when they took the Owls into camp 15-7. Little interest was displayed in the long delayed game, the gatekeeper drawing the tremendous sum of 20 cents. The game was anything but a sample of the brand of basketball they usually play as can be seen from the score. On the evening's play the Owls should have won but could not find a clothes basket far less a basketball hoop. Now the champions justly so would like the medals but who is going to supply them?

HE WANTED DEATH NO PRISON CELL

Lemberg, Poland—Sergeant Czediwy, of the 14th Regiment Lancers in Galicia, was sentenced to death for having stolen several thousand marks. The court knew him as a man who fought bravely in the last war, and announced that they would ask for a reprieve. "Please don't," said the sergeant, "Let me be shot. Prison is too tedious and too dull for me." His request for his own execution was ignored.

GAVE BANDIT BLANK CHEQUE FOR RING TAKEN FROM WIFE

Chicago—Edward P. Morse, an Attorney, and his wife, recently were held up by robbers, who took the attorney's valuables and stripped the wedding ring from his wife's finger.

Mrs. Morse bargained with the bandits for the ring. They agreed to return it for $100, according to Mr. Morse. Not having the cash he offered them a signed blank cheque which they agreed to fill in for $1000.

The cancelled cheque for $1000 was returned to the attorney.
