LIGHT COMPANY SUBMIT ESTIMATES

Facts and Figures Produced in Regard to New and Better Lighting Scheme.

The City Council held their regular meeting in the Council Chambers on Monday evening. Present His Worship Mayor Parnham, Aldermen Macdonald, Henderson Brown and Banks.

The minutes of the previous meeting were read and adopted.

A communication was received from the J. & J. Taylor Safe Works stating that they were willing to take the city safe in exchange and supply a new one.

On motion the proposition was received and filed pro tem.

Thos. Edwards, of Vancouver, sent a request to the City Council asking for a reduction in his taxes on the old Islander Building which is now in ruins from the heavy fall of snow of last winter. This was received and the city clerk instructed to notify Mr. Edwards that his application was too late to be dealt with this year.

The Vancouver General Hospital informed the Council that Mrs. Era Janonovich had been admitted to the public ward of that hospital and that her husband was a miner of Cumberland. It was pointed out to the Council that Mrs. Janonovich was a resident of Puntledge, No. 8 Mine. The managing secretary of the Vancouver Hospital will be notified by the city clerk that the city is not responsible under Sec. 7, Clause 3 of the Hospital Act.

The Union of Municipalities requested the city to supply that body with a list of telephones, business, residential, party line and charges, and any other information that would be useful in preparing a case to present to the Board of Railway Commissioners. The city clerk was requested to give the desired information.

The following communication was received from the manager of the Cumberland Electric Lighting Company on the new lighting system:

Cumberland City Council, City.

Gentlemen:—We herewith enclose revised estimate for improving the City Street Lighting system as made in accordance with the sentiment of the Council, as expressed in their special meeting of the 5th., inst.

The increase in cost over the proposal submitted on that date is due to the following causes:

1. The use of a 10 in. mast and enclosed type of ornamental reflector, a vast improvement over the porcelain enameled steel type of fixture and short gooseneck, not only in appearance but in illuminating qualities as well.

2. The addition of four small Nitro fixtures on Dunsmuir avenue, of a type to conform with the larger units.

3. The additional expense of putting the large Dunsmuir avenue units on a separate switch, so that they can be turned off at an earlier hour than the rest of the lights.

4. The use of an ornamental bracket and streethood on the side streets, instead of the plain gooseneck and enameled steel reflector.

You will note an increase in this estimate over the tentative one submitted on the 5th., with regard to the mast arms particularly, this being due to the fact that the present quotations were obtained from the Cutter catalogue and were f. o. b. South Bend, Indiana, instead of Vancouver as we supposed them to be. In addition, prices have advanced enormously since obtaining the previous quotations some months ago—the enclosed estimate being based on quotations received June 10th., 1916.

We earnestly recommend the adoption of the proposed fixtures since their increased cost is more than counterbalanced by their very pleasing appearance, a quality lacking in the industrial type of unit submitted previously.

We also believe the Council will be considerably disappointed over the illuminating qualities of the 60 Watt Nitro lamp as compared with the 100 Watt size, since, not only will they emit less actual light than at present, but the distribution will not be as even, due to the abolishment of the intervening lamp. It may be mentioned that the candle power of a Nitro lamp decreases at a greater ratio than the wattage, due to the fact that the lamp, on account of the smaller size of its bulb, cannot be operated at so high a temperature, since the gases cool more quickly. For example, a 100 watt, Nitro lamp emits but 70 c. p. The small extra monthly charge of $12.93, in our opinion, will amply justify the adoption of the larger lamp.

The enclosed estimate on fixtures is for immediate acceptance only since the quotations from manufacturers are subject to revision without notice owing to the abnormal rise in the price of raw materials during the present conflict.

Respectfully submitted,
CUMBERLAND ELECTRIC LIGHTING COMPANY,
W. HANCOCK, Manager.

PHONE EXCHANGE NOW INSTALLED

Different Departments of Canadian Collieries Head Office Are Now Connected up.

Six months ago the head offices of the Canadian Collieries (Dunsmuir), Ltd. were removed from Victoria to this city. During that time the rebuilding and remodelling has been steadily going on, until today they are the most complete and modern set of offices on the coast. There is a remarkable change both in the interior and exterior of the building with the main corridor running through the centre of the building immediately inside the main entrance. Mr. Harry Wilson, local manager of the British Columbia Telephone company, has just completed the installation of a private branch Exchange consisting of eight locals connecting up the various departments with individual telephones including the General Superintendent, Superintendent, Paymaster, Accounting Department, Purchasing Department, Railway Traffic and Freight Department, and Engineering Department and two trunk lines connecting with the British Columbia Telephone Exchange, thus enabling two departments to hold a conversation over long distance at the one time without interfering with the immense volume of business of the several departments. There is also a telephone on the counter near the exchange for the use of those having business at the office of the Canadian Collieries without visiting any of the departments. The switch board of the private branch exchange is one of the latest type magneto boards with self restoring drops and four pair of plugs and cords for operating purposes.

Miss Nettie Stewart, who has been chief operator at the British Columbia Telephone Exchange in this city for the past four years, is now chief operator at the Canadian Collieries, and commenced her new duties yesterday. Everything has been thoroughly tested out by the local manager of the B. C. Telephone company and found to be in first class working order, which makes the head office of the Canadian Collieries Dunsmuir Limited one of the most modern set of offices on the Pacific coast. In addition to the excellent telephone service the whole building has been equipped with electric heaters throughout the corridors and private departments. In cold weather press a button and the occupant gets all the heat desired. Press another button and the same office receives all the light required, the power being supplied by the Canadian Collieries Hydro Electric Plant that operates the local mines.

The loading wharves of the Canadian Collieries Dunsmuir Ltd. at Union Bay has been kept busy during the past week with an increased amount of shipping.

The full rigged sailing ship Golden Gate sailed from Union Bay on Satuday with 3500 tons of coal for San Francisco. This is the first sailing ship to enter the port of Union Bay in the past ten years and will make two more trips for coal. The ship in coming from San Francisco was in tow of tug Dauntless and is returning in charge of the same tug boat which is considered an advantage under the present freight rates. During the week the following vessel have coaled and bunkered at Union Bay: S. S. Phonitia, S. S. South Pacific, Tugs Dreadful and Burrard with Scows; Clayburn with Scows; American Gas Chickamanga with scows; Peerless and Comodore, S. S. Camosun, Coquitlam, Amuir, Orion and the yacht Dolaura having on board the Hon. James and Mrs. Dunsmuir, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Little and Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Prior.

Big Profits in Hotel Investments.

Hotel investments in most parts of Canada, and particularly in Ontario, have depreciated very much in value owing to the spread of prohibition, and many owners are in despair.

But there is no need for this. On the other hand a new and much better era should now open. Hotel keeping has proved to be, and may, in Canada, be made one of the most profitable and reputable of businesses. It is the most promising field for business development we know of today for ambitious, capable young men.

The trouble is that our hotels have been conducted on the wrong lines. The bar has been regarded as the chief object. Most hotel keepers have not been business men but liquor handlers Lodgings and food have been merely an incident. Some of them expected to lose money on their tables. The wastefulness was appalling yet the supplying of good food and good accommodation is one of the most profitable businesses in the world today. In Canada it has been more or less of a disgrace to be associated with or even seen in an hotel. In Europe and the United States some of the richest and most prominent families socially are investing and naming hotels after themselves and the hotel is becoming a social centre.

The most successful hotel-keepers are men who began in the kitchen and dining room; who learnt the business from that end. The Ritz Hotel in Paris is probably the finest in the world today. Mr. Ritz, when the writer first knew him, had just been promoted to assist in the management of the Savoy Hotel, London. The present general manager of the Ritz, Mr. Ellis, was his head waiter. Like so many successful caterers thev are both of Swiss birth. Geo. C. Boult, of the Waldorf-Astoria and other big hotels in the States, is the largest hotel owner in the world, with a net income of over a million; perhaps a couple of millions a year. He worked his way up from the kitchen. Fred Sterry, manager of the Plazas and other big American hotels, also worked his way up through all departments. The department of which these men know least in their business is the bar.

It is not only the big hotels that have been marvellously successful when managed by men of capacity who learnt the business from the ground up, and who have developed executive ability, but some of the small hotels have been remarkably profitable. We know of one hotel, in a town of only 17,000, managed by a man who began, when a boy, cutting meat in the kitchen of a big city hotel. As a result of clean food and clean, perfectly appointed rooms and efficient management, the profits of his house have steadily crept up until, in 1915 they reached $50,000. Today the building is being nearly doubled in size to meet the demand for good service. So little does this manager think of his new bar that in his new building he is putting it in his basement, as he is satisfied that in a very short time liquor selling will be eliminated.

Investors in hotel properties should deal with them as a manufacturing and retailing proposition. Manage, or have them managed, by experienced business men. Give a quality service, advertise it and build a reputation just as a manufacturer does for his name or trade mark. The traveling and local public will flock to them.—McLean's Magazine.

A Tea and small Sale of Work will be held in Mrs. D. Piket's garden on Tuesday, June 27th., from 3.30 to 6 p. m., in aid of the repairs to Holy Trinity Church roof. Tea tickets 15c. Special attractions, strawberries and cream, candies. icecream.

Tea will be served in the afternoon, ice cream etc. The West Cumberland Conservative Band will be in attendance during the afternoon. It is understood that the Girl Guides, dressed in the colors of the Allied Nations, will wait on tables. The day will finish up with a Red Cross dance in the Ilo Ilo Dance Hall in the evening. WELLINGTON COLLIERY RAILWAY COMPANY

Just a Pome!

This modest miss is most distressed;
Whenever she must get undressed
She shuns the looking glass and tries
To dodge the eyes in hooks-and-eyes.
The only comfort she can find
Is in the dear old window blind.

Alive With the Dead

The wounded Irish soldier was relating his adventures to the inquisitive old lady visitor.

"Afther we captured th' hill, mum," he said, "we hild it fur a whoile, but was evintually forced to retrate by th' weight av numbers."

"And were there many dead left on the hill," she asked, anxiously.

"Dead!" he echoed. "Whoi, the whole hillsoide was simply aloive wid them!"

Good Apparent

He: "When I am asked to sing, I never say 'oh, I can't,' but always sit down at the piano—"

She: "And let the audience find it out for themselves!"

Kitchen Squabbles

Master of the house (to complaining servant): "Dear, dear, James, I'm tired of these continual kitchen squabbles."

Servant: "Well, sir, 'ow would you like to be called an addle-headed old idiot, supposin' you wasn't one, sir?"

The Adventures of Johnny Mouse

Plenty of Time

A story is being told of Mr. E. M Burgess, vice-president and general manager of the Mountain State Telephone and Telegraph Company, of Denver, who was making a motor tour of inspection through Southern Utah. That State employs some of its convicts in the construction of roads. While on a narrow road the motor party stopped at a shallow creek, which they were about to ford, to put water in the radiator, and so on.

A convict, hauling a load of crushed stones, pulled up behind them. The chauffeur being delayed a bit Mr. Burgess turned to the convict and apologetically said:

"We'll pass on in just a moment."

"Oh, no hurry," the convict placidly replied. "I've got twenty years!"

Asserting His Authority

"Murhpy, come down!"

"Oi'll not do anything av the kind. Oi'll show yez who's boss in this house!"

Idiot!

Grace was specially charming and attentive to her father on his arrival home from business.

"Daddy," she said softly, "did Cyril come to your office to-day?"

"He did," said papa quietly, knocking the ash off his cigar.

"What—what did he want, daddy?"

"Well, my dear, I've been waiting till I came home to see if you can tell me. As far as I could gather, he wanted to marry me; said that we had always loved each other, and that you could afford to keep him in the style to which he had been accustomed, and much more that I can't remember. So I told him to go home, get calm, and type it out and post it to me!"

Famous "Whens"

Not Good Looks

Little Lillian's father, by any stretch of imagination, could not be called good looking, and one day, after gazing intently at him, she turned to her mother and propounded the query:

"Mamma, why did you marry papa?"

"Because I loved him, dear," was the reply.

Lillian looked surprised.

"Love will make us women do anything, won't it, mamma?" she said.

Nothing Doing

"My father came in for some money last week."

"Yes, I know. He came in for a fiver, but my father wouldn't let him have it!"

A Mark Twain Joke

"I enjoyed your sermon this morning very much," said Mark Twain to a clergyman of his acquaintance. "I welcomed it like an old friend. I have, you know, a book at home containing every word of it."

"You have not," said the preacher.

"I have, indeed," returned the humorist.

"Well, send that book to me. I'd like to see it."

"You shall," Mark Twain replied. And he sent the next morning an unabridged dictionary to the minister.
