GOOD FILMS ON THE WAY

Mutual "Masterpieces" and Famous Player Productions to Be Shown at Ilo Ilo.

Arrangements have now been completed for the showing on one night each week of one of the famous Mutual Masterpieces, a brand of film produced by the Mutual Film Corporation, each subject being filmed at great expense and with the most careful attention to detail, and this fact, together with clever, high-priced actors and enthralling stories has brought the Masterpieces to the front rank in Moving Pictures. The programs which will be shown here are brand new films, on their first round in this territory, and will come to Cumberland direct from the Orpheum Theatre, Vancouver. The Orpheum Theatre shows these six reel programs three nights each week, and recently "The Girl From His Town," shown there, broke all records for the three nights. The first Masterpiece program will be shown here next week, but, as the cost of these programs, together with extra express is considerably greater than for ordinary films, it is necessary to raise the admission price to 15c. Many small towns obtain 25c. for these special shows.

Another brand of first class films which will be shown after the following week are the Famous Players, with such world famed stars as Mary Pickford, Marguerite Clark, and many others in the top notch of the profession. One program of these will be shown each week, also at 15c. admission and as the programs are all six reels they will be well worth the additional five cents.

On other four nights in the week the price will be as usual and films including Broadway featurs and the best to be had of General, Mutual or Universal films will be shown.

ST. GEORGE'S CHURCH HONOUR ROLL UNVEILING

In the Presbyterian Church on Sunday evening, May 7th, there will be a most interesting and special service.

The Sunday evening service is held in honour of Mother, as it is called 'Mother's Day,' and everyone is requested to wear a white flower in honour of the occasion. This service is held all over Canada in the Presbyterian Churches once a year and a special canvas of the city will be made for all those who belong to the Presbyterian Church, or those who don't go to any church, so that they may avail themselves of this opportunity.

This service will have another attraction, as a Roll of Honour of all those identified with the Church who have gone to fight their Country's battles, or those who are training to go, will be unveiled by Col. J. W. Warden, Commanding Officer of the 102nd. Battalion, Comox. Col. Warden will deliver a short address.

The Boy Scouts have arranged to parade to Church, and an invitation to the Girl Guides has been extended for this special occasion.

OVER $500 FOR SPORTS ON 24TH

Football Team from Ladysmith to Play an Exhibition Game with Local Boys.

The 24th, of May Sports committee held an enthusiastic meeting in the Council Chambers on Monday evening. The attendance was large and consisted of a representative gathering of the city and vicinity, with His Worship, Mayor Parnham in the chair.

The Secretary, Mr. Thos. Mordy, read the minutes of the previous meeting, which were adopted as read.

The various collecting committees handed in their reports, when it was estimated that $500 would be collected for the day's sports. D. C. Macfarlane was appointed collector for the Canadian Collieries office staff. Mayor Parnham and Ald. Bate were appointed a committee to interview the Superintendent of the Canadian Collieries and solicit a subscription for Empire Day sports, also to make arrangements for free trains, which are usually generously donated by the company.

Chairman M. Bevis, of the Grounds Committee, reported that they were hard at work and assured the meeting that the grounds would be in fine shape by the morning of the 24th., of May.

A communication from Ladysmith Football team expressing a desire to visit Cumberland on the 24th., and play a game with its local boys was accepted. Final arrangements for an exhibition game were left in the hands of the sports and programme committee, of which John Gillespie is chairman.

A. J. Taylor, Scout Master of the Boy Scouts, the finest and largest body of boys in the Province, was present and suggested a football match between the Cumberland School boys and the Boy Scouts. This was referred to the Sports and Programme Committee, who finally decided to accept the suggestion and put up a cup, making it an annual prize, the winners to hold the cup for one year.

The boy scouts make application for a refreshment stand on the grounds. The boys are anxious to make a little money to meet the expenses of summer camping. This was left in the hands of the Grounds committee. The Secretary was instructed to communicate with the West Cumberland Conservative Band and make arrangements for the Band to render selections during the day of the 24th., from 10 to 6 p. m. The Girl Guides will be asked to give an Exhibition drill and the Boy Scouts a Stretcher drill during the day, for which the committee decided to give each a shield as a prize.

The Secretary was also requested to interview J. W. Warden, commanding officer of the 102nd. Battalion, at Comox, that 120 men may be sent up for an Exhibition drill with the Boy Scouts.

The sports committee at their meeting last night decided to offer a first prize of $30.00, and a second prize of $20.00 for the best representative group of the Allies. They are to form part of the parade on the 24th, and will proceed to the grounds for inspection. The judges will then decide the winning team. For further particulars see Thos. Mordy, Secretary.

Born—To Mr. and Mrs. John Baird, corner Second St. and Maryport Ave. at the Cumberland General Hospital, on Sunday, May 6, a daughter.

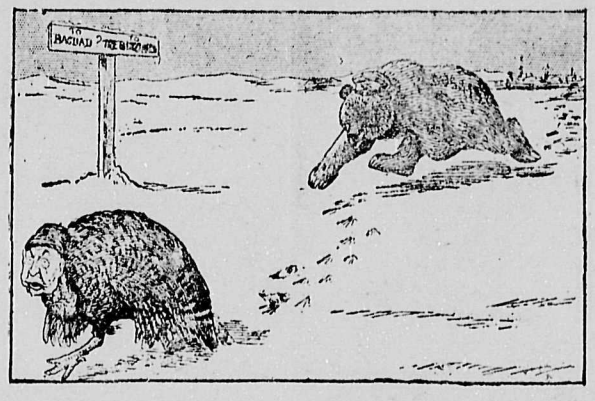
HENRY WALLER, ONCE MERCHANT HERE, DIES

Mr. Henry Waller, a resident of Victoria since 1864, and one of the most widely known old-timers of the community, passed away on Sunday night at the advanced age of 80 years.

The late Mr. Waller was one of the pioneer business men of Victoria, and had a wide circle of acquaintances. His first business connection was with Cleal's resturant, Government street and later when this was destroyed by fire he decided to open a confectionery business which he established in the premises now occupied by Clay's. At a later date he established a clothing business in the Odd Fellows' block on Yates street, later occupied by Gowen's. This however was in 1889, on his return from the east, where he spent seven or eight years, part of the time with Messrs. Putney & Co., Montreal, He took up farming on the Carey Road in 1900, and the year following went to Cumberland and entered business with Mr. Partridge as a general merchant. It was in 1903 that he finally returned to the city, retiring in 1903 and going to live with his son, E. F. Waller. of 1075 Clare Avenue.

A Red Cross Tea under the auspices of the Women's Patriotic Society of Cumberland will be held at the home of Mrs. E. W. Bickle on Tuesday May 23rd., followed by a dance in the Ilo Ilo dance hall in the evening. Particulars later.

AFTERTHOUGHTS!



The Turkey:—"Life's just one dam thing after another since I joined those Germans.—From Westminster Gazette.

WHO HOLDS THE SEA IS FREE

Germany, Battling on its Own Borders, Cut Off from the Outside World.

A coal and oil station is to be developed by Great Britain on Fanning Island, in the Pacific. The depot on this insignificant little spot of land will supply the "missing link" in the famous "All Red Route" around the world.

At a moment when the American congress is debating whether it shall authorize four ships and thereby consent to remain indefinitely as the third sea power, or will authorize six and take a definite step toward regaining its old honors as the second sea power, this incident is especially significant.

Once again, in a manner that is peculiarly interesting, Great Britain is demonstrating the fact that war hath no terrors for a nation which is strong enough to protect itself on the waves.

Contrast its position with that of Germany, battling almost on its own borders, cut off from communication with the outside world, its colonies conquered and its commerce destroyed. Although engaged in a war without precedent in history, England is proceeding steadily with its great plans for knitting its far-flung empire together and is permitted to so proceed simply because it dominates the ocean.

One victory of the German fleet over the British fleet not only would decide this war, but would also decide the fate of the British Empire!

Because it has recognized the fact that a nation which controls the seas ever is free and never has permitted its naval strength to decline, Britain stands today as the most important factor in the world's politics, and the master of the present Entente alliance. With its fleet, the Allies are more than a match for the Central Powers; without its fleet they would have been crushed a year ago.

Nor need we Americans go to Europe for instruction. The history of our own Civil War should be a sufficient proof of the tremendous constricting power of a dominating fleet. Our squadrons strangled the Confederacy to death; Britain's squadrons, if the war last long enough, will strangle Germany to death.

Sea power is world power. It has been so in every age of recorded history. It will be so until that remote day when man devises merchant carriers that can escape the master of the waves either by submerging or by navigating the air.—Seattle Daily Times.

THE CANADIAN RED CROSS

What They Are Doing For Canadian Prisoners Of War.

The misfortune of the prisoner of war is both spiritual and material or physical. He suffers some of the pernicious effects of a prison sentence, the mental lassitude and depression of confinement and isolation from his kith and kin. In addition he is often badly clothed, lodged and fed. He is forced to accept a very low standard of living, and is like a man plunged into hopeless and squalid poverty. From certain points of view he is the most tragic of all war's victims.

The Canadian Red Cross is doing a great deal to improve the prisoner's lot. It enters into correspondence with him. It keeps him in touch with his home and uses all it's diplomatic influence to secure him better treatment from his captors. It saves him from mental and moral deterioration. It keeps him in physical health by constant supplies of nutritious food. Up to the end of December over $21000 had been spent by the Canadian Red Cross in sending food parcels from Switzerland. The public interest in this work is so great that further contributions of $12-000 were received during January. All through Canada the various branches of the Red Cross are each doing their bit for the prisoner of war.

There are 1400 Canadian prisoners. To 491 of these the Red Cross is sending money on behalf of persons who have "adopted" them. The "adopters" make themselves responsible for the maintainance of the prisoner they adopt, and provide money for regular parcels. There are 374 other prisoners who receive maintenance from persons who act on their own initiative, but keep the Red Cross informed of all their consignments.

It must not be imagined that the prisoner of war is penniless. He has arrears of pay from his own government and is entitled to a regular allowance from the German government and with the approval of the Canadian government our Red Cross has sent a card to all Canadian prisoners asking them to assign ten shillings of their pay to the Canadian Red Cross to cover part of the cost of food supplies forwarded by the Society. Five-sixths of replies so far have been in the affirmative.

There is now no need for any Canadian to go hungry. The Canadian Red Cross has indeed successfully solved a very difficult problem. It has secured for our prisoners privileges which at first seemed impossible to secure. By keeping our prisoners in good health and good spirits it is saving many valuable lives for further usefulness in Canada.

"The Way of the Red Cross."

"The Way of the Red Cross," by E. C. Vivian and T. H. Williams, is made memorable by a holograph preface written by Queen Alexandra, and contains very vivid and dramatic sketches of Red Cross work in all its branches. It is a succession of stories collected from wounded soldiers in various hospitals.

"With the Royal Army Medical Corps at the Front," by E. C. Vivian, (Published by the Daily Telegraph at 25c.) contains a very illuminating account of the history, duties and services of the medical branch of military service, with which the Red Cross collaborates.

These are only a few books out of many dealing with the fascinating subject of Red Cross work. A perusal of such books and their record of man,s humanity to man, gives one an immense faith in human nature.

Teaching a Stubborn Pupil.

Denmark, while friendly to the Allies because of its old-time dispute with Germany over coveted territory, has not failed to turn a thrifty penny by selling to its beleagured neighbor the food supplies for which the latter was prepared to pay advanced prices.

In point of fact, certain elements in Denmark seem to feel that the Entente nations should relax the blockade in its special case, in order that it might bring in food to replace that which had been shipped across the southern border. Naturally, this plan did not appeal to Great Britain. It clamped down the screws in this place just as it did elsewhere. As a result, food commodities in Denmark are becoming alarmingly costly. The combination of an unlimited German demand and a limited home supply have combined to send quotations soaring. As was the case with Holland, the pupil has been a bit stubborn, but he is learning, and learning rapidly, in the naval school conducted by one John Bull.—Seattle Daily Times.

A Little Bit For the Wife

Two navvies working on a job some distance away from their homes had been paid, and were sauntering down the main street of the village where they were lodging. Passing the post office, one of them darted inside, and came out with a postal order for sixpence.

"Hullo," the other said, "do ye go go in for competitions, Bill?"

"Competitions?" queried Bill. "What do yer mean? Can't a fellow send a bit of money home to his wife?"

The young couple had been watching the yacht race, when one of the "starters" fouled a buoy.

"Harry, dear," said the sweet young thing, remembering his tales of yachting days, "have you ever been towed in?"

"No," answered her somewhat absent-minded fiancé feelingly, "but, by Jove! it can't be worse than being toed out."

Easy

She—Papa says we ought not to marry unless we have a good bank account back of us.

He—Well, his wife will do, won't it?

Didn't Shake Out Debts

"Good morning, Mr. Smythe. On the sick list to-day?"

"Yes, sir; got the ague."

"Do you ever shake?"

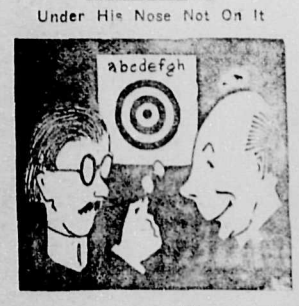
"Yes."

"When do you shake again?"

"Can't say when; shake every day. Why do you ask?"

"Oh, nothing in particular; only I thought if you shook badly I'd like to stand by and see if you couldn't shake the fifteen shillings out of your pocket which you have owed me so long."

Under His Nose Not On It



Once a genial comedian consulted an oculist about his eyes. His nose was small and he couldn't keep on the glasses with which the oculist was trying to fit him.

"You are not used to glasses, Mr. Blank," said the oculist.

"Oh, yes, I am," replied the comedian, "but not so high up."

He Kept Off Her Train

"Yes!" sighed the opera manager, "we had a pretty rough season every way. But what took it out of me was the row between De Recker, the leading tenor, and De Squalchi, the prima donna. You know what an awkward stage presence De Recker has? Well, he stepped on Squalchi's train thirteen times during one performance, and the next night she came on as Marguerite in bloomers. That came jolly near breaking us.

His Verdict

Old Grouser felt extremely ill, and sent for the doctor, who examined him carefully, and looked rather grave.

"Oh, doctor," cried the old man, "do you think I'm going to die?"

"My dear sir, of course not," answered the medico, smiling. "I assure you that's the very last thing that is likely to happen to you!"

He Was Pardoned

First Passenger: "I fancy your mother over there has a touch of seasickness. Perhaps you'd better look after her."

Second Passenger: "The lady is my mother-in-law."

First Passenger: "A thousand pardons."

Cutting

"When I played Hamlet on one occasion," boasted the old actor, "it took the audience half an hour to leave the theatre."

"Indeed?" asked the young one. "What was the matter with him? Was he lame?"

Really Mean

Jinks and Binks were discussing a mutual acquaintance.

"He's what I call a really mean man," said Jinks.

"How so?"

"When his little girl asks him to buy her some chocolates he says wouldn't she rather have a gold watch when she's nineteen."
