PAY! AND HELP THE BOYS

The Cumberland United Football Club are endeavoring to build up a team second to none on the Pacific Coast, and to travel from city to city, and to visit the various places on the coast they need money, and to be honest and pay their way they are in the habit of taking up a collection on the Recreation Grounds when games are being played, to defray their expenses. We are requested to ask the young men who attend the games to be liberal when dropping the coin into the hat. We are told that a number of young men drop in a five cent piece when they can well afford to pay 50c., and many palm the collector off by saying they are "broke." It takes money to run a football team around the country, so you are asked to pay.

WELL CONTESTED GAME BETWEEN LADYSMITH AND CUMBERLAND A DRAW

A hotly contested football game was played on the Recreation Grounds at Cumberland on Sunday afternoon, between Ladysmith Athletics and Cumberland United, in an Island League fixture. Both teams were almost at full strength, and as neither team had met defeat in the League, a hard game was expected. The following are the names of the players representing each team:

Cumberland:—Walker, goal; C. Wilkinson, right back; J. Williams, right half-back; A. Wilkinson, left back; Cairns, left half-back; Jackson, centre; Bannerman, Corbett, Brown, Conti and Hunden, forwards.

Ladysmith:—Shepherd, goal; Strang and Wargo, backs; Wright, Strang and Battie, half-backs; R. Battie, Heyland, Rafter, Fairley and Hirlinvaux, forwards.

Referee, W. Burnip, Nanaimo.

Ladysmith won the toss and decided to play to the west goal. Cumberland kicked off at 2.30 p.m. prompt, before 1500 spectators. Ladysmith pressed the first minute of the game; Jackson intercepted and let Cumberland forwards away. Shepherd saved a hard shot from Corbett. Ladysmith returned the ball to the other end, but did not seem dangerous, a shot resulting in a bye kick for Cumberland. Cumberland forwards worked the ball nicely to Shepherd's end; Shepherd saved a soft shot from Hunden. A free kick for Cumberland outside the penalty area looked dangerous for Ladysmith. Corbett took the kick, passed to Hunden, who just missed the goal by inches. Ladysmith then got away from the goal kick, and their forwards showed some fine combination, only to be broken up by Jackson and Williams. Then it was Cumberland's turn at Shepherd's end. A cross by Corbett was taken up by Brown, but kicked past the side. Numerous fouls off both sides seemed to spoil the play a little at this stage. From a free kick Ladysmith worked the ball to Walker's end, which resulted in a goal kick.

Bannerman then got away on the right wing, only to be stopped by Wargo, who was showing great form. Bannerman received a nasty kick at this time, having to retire to the pavilion to get attended to. Ladysmith passed again, but the ball was kicked over Walker's goal At this stage the game was very fast, the ball travelling continually from one goal to another. A free kick for Ladysmith resulted in the ball being sent past the side of the goal. It was then Cumberland's turn to test Shepherd, a hard shot from Brown forcing Shepherd to give away the first corner of the game. The kick was well taken by Hunden, Brown headed the bal, but Strang cleared his lines well, and let the forwards away. Heyland was in great form and showed some pretty work. Jackson stepped in and again breaking up the combination of Ladysmith forwards. Jackson was a tower of strength for Cumberland. Bannerman again appeared for his side after being off for fifteen minutes, and again tested Shepherd, but Shepherd saved and returned well to let his side away. Heyland and then Fairley tested Walker's ability as a goalkeeper, but Walker was equal to the occasion. Ladysmith was now given a corner kick, but nothing resulted. The whistle then blew for half time, the result being no scoring.

The players retired to the pavilion for the five minutes' interval.

Ladysmith started the second half with a rush but was checked by A. Wilkinson, which let Conti away, working fine combination with Brown and Bannerman. Bannerman then had a try at goal, but just went over the cross bar. Ladysmith then carried the ball to Walker's goal, but did not seem dangerous. Wilkinson tackled and kicking well, let Conti away again, but Brown was pulled up for offside and spoiled a good chance. Wilkinson again returned nicely from a free kick. Cumberland forwards seemed to have settled down and were all over Ladysmith defence, Shepherd being tested a few times, and brought off some of his old time saves, and in attempting to save a long shot from Corbett, gave away a corner. Conti missed an easy goal which seemed certain, but kicked past the goal. Again Brown got the ball from Jackson, passed it to Bannerman, and then Bannerman crossed over to centre and Brown got his foot on the ball and scored the first goal of the game, giving Shepherd no chance whatever.

This seemed to put new life into the game, and Ladysmith was determined to show their skill, and their forwards worked some nice combination and seemed very fast. Wilkinson stepped in again and saved the situation. A foul against Cumberland outside the penalty area looked dangerous. Jackson intercepted and cleared his lines well. The game was now very fast, each team trying to gain the advantage. Ladysmith got away on the right, and Heyland beat the Cumberland backs by nice work and scored a fine goal, equalizing for his side.

The play after this was of a give and take nature, Cumberland having a few trys at Shepherd's goal, and a well-contested game finished a one-goal draw.

CHAMPIONSHIP BOXING CONTEST IN ILO ILO THEATRE SATURDAY, OCT. 11

A championship boxing contest will be staged in the Ilo Ilo Theatre, Cumberland, on Saturday, October 11th, when Jimmy Moore, of Nanaimo, will box 15 rounds for the championship of British Columbia, at 135 pounds, with ex-Serg. Jimmy Clark, for three years lightweight champion of the Canadian and Australian Forces, 1917-18-19. Tommy Moore was the lightweight champion of the Canadian Forces in England in 1915-16, and defended his title in that time by meeting all comers until he was called to France, and was there when Clark took the title in 1917, and has not been defeated since. Moore has been anxious to meet Clark since that time, but this is the first chance he has had.

The Cumberland promoter knows these boys and is aware of what they can do, and seized the opportunity of matching them. The Cumberland people have not had the chance to see such a match staged here before, and it looks as if the seating capacity of the Theatre will be taxed to the limit.

Anyone wishing to secure good seats can have same reserved from the following: F. Dallos, Waverley Hotel; McMillan, Cumberland Barber Shop.

A dance, under the auspices of the Pythian Sisters, of Cumberland, will be held in the Ilo Ilo Dance Hall on Friday, October 31st. The Cumberland Band Orchestra will supply the music. Admission: Gents, $1.00; Ladies, 25c.

Ex-Serg. JIMMY CLARK

EMPLOYEES TO ENTER INTO NEW AGREEMENT

The employees of the Canadian Collieries (Dunsmuir), Ltd., of the Comox Mines held a mass meeting in the Ilo Ilo Theatre on Sunday evening for the purpose of electing an agreement committee to take up the question of a new agreement with the management with the management of the Canadian Collieries. The present agreement expires on October 31st of this year.

The impression of the meeting and the sentiments expressed would make one come to the conclusion that there will be no trouble in the employees and the management entering into a new agreement, as the employees seem to be perfectly satisfied with their work and the conditions as they exist, which speaks volumes for the present management of the Canadian Collieries (Dunsmuir), Ltd. Similar conditions were never known in the history of the coal mining centre with such harmony between employees and management

The new agreement committee appointed at the massmeeting are as follows:

To represent No. 4 mine:—D. Stewart and J. Taylor.

To represent No. 5 mine:—J. McAllister and R. Walker.

To represent No. 7 mine:—R. Brown and Fred Sinister.

To represent the surface men:—R. H. Robertson and Archie Lockhart.

SATURDAY, OCTOBER 4th, 1919

To wish and to will are very different things. There are a thousand men who wish where there is one man who wills. Wishing is but a faint state of desire; willing is a state of the reason and of the affections and of the will, in activity, to secure what one desires. A man may wish, and yet reject all the steps and instruments by which that wish can be carried into effect. No man wills until he has made up his mind not only to have the end, but to have all the intermediate steps and instruments by which that end is to be secured.

———o———

To be sincerely true is the beginning of a great virtue.

———o———

A man without abilities rarely has enemies; he may excite contempt, but seldom rises to the dignity of being an object of envy or hate.

So long as we are full of self, we are shocked at the faults of others. Let us think often of our own shortcomings, and we shall be lenient towards those of others.

Dr. Oliver Wendell Holmes has said a multitude of good things, but none better than this: "The human race is divided into two classes—those who go ahead and do something, and those who sit still and inquire: 'Why wasn't it done the other way?'"

———o———

OUR NEIGHBOR

Men see one phase of a person perhaps strongly exhibited, and straightway judges him by that . They call him selfish or cruel, or passionate, or revengeful, or unjust, or bigoted, as he then appears, and suppose they have defined his character, when they have seen but one phase of it. Perhaps, if they could wait and watch, they would see him hating these very faults in himself and weeping bitter tears over them. Certainly, they would see other and redeemable qualities. Or they hear him uttering a strong opinion upon some proposed measure, some problem of the day, or some abstract idea, and at once classify him according to their limited notions, often most unjustly. Another day he might, with equal sincerity, show us another phase of his mind which would turn all preconceived notions of him upside down. As we can never fathom our neighbors, let us not try to judge him on such defective knowledge. Better still, let us not judge him at all, but welcome from him the sincere expression of whatever commands our respect or wins our sympathy, in the full faith that everything true and good must at last come into harmony.

———o———

The discontented worker who pines for wealth without being willing to [illegible] it, regards the idleness in [illegible] great motive power to be applied on enterprises that give healthful employment to mind and body. All that he desires is to live a feather-bed life—to "loaf" luxuriously . People who indulge in such [illegible] longings do not know how much more glorious it is to tear affluence fro mopposing fate by main strength of will and inflexibility of purpose, than to receive it as a windfall. There is infinitely more satisfaction in conquering a fortune with brain and muscle than was ever experienced in obtaining or dissipating the golden store that some thriftier hand had accumulated.

It is strange what a par in life the things play which never happen. We think of them, and live for them, and they form a portion of our history; and while we are still absorbed in these imaginary dreams, the realities of our lives meet us on the way, and we suddenly awake to the truth at last.

———

It is good policy to strike while the iron is hot; it is still better to adopt Cromwell's procedure, and make the iron hot by striking. The master spirit who can rule the storm is great, but he is much greater who can both raise and rule it. To attain that grand power, one must possess the brave and indomitable soul of activity which prompted Edmund Burke to exclaim to his constituents in his famous speech at Bristol: "Applaud us when we run; console us when we fall; cheer us when we recover; but let us pass on—for God's sake, let us pass on!"

———o———

The battle of life has to be fought, and is unavoidable; but the weapons it has to be fought with, the spirit which is to guide the combatant, the object to be fought for, and the kind of victory to be won, these are all to a large extent within the discretion of every individual soldier.

———o———

The body fashions itself more or less after the intents of the mind, just as a man's character gradually stamps itself upon his face, so, literally, does his habitual conduct impress itself upon each organ and tissue of his body. In order to keep perfect health, then, it is clear that we must begin in the region of the intellect.

———o———

Learn your business thoroughly; keep at one thing; in nowise change; always be in haste, but never in a hurry; observe system in all you do and undertake. Whatever is worth doing at all is worth doing well. One today is worth two tomorrows. Be self-reliant; do not take too much advice, but rather depend on yourself. Never fail to keep your appointments, or to be punctual to the minute. Never be idle, but keep your hands or mind usefully employed, except when sleeping.

Lawyers may quibble when upholding the interests of another, may employ the technicalities which are the weapons of their profession to secure the verdict for which they labor; but gentlemen cannot quibble without detriment to their personal character. Argument, when rightly and wisely employed, is a quickener of the mental faculties, and to be beaten in an argument more generally proves the weakness of the side sought to be upheld than of the advocate.

Happiness of whatever kind needs utterance, prompt and joyful. Sadness and gloom, pain and distress, may well have the shield of silence to prevent their diffusion; but everything that is bright, cheery and delightful should be shared and spread as far as possible. Yet how frequently is this heversed, and the misfortunes of life are disclosed in all their details while its blessings are passively accepted without remark! The shadows are eagerly described, while of the sunlight nothing is said.

ONE OF THE GREATEST HELPS TO GOOD TELEPHONE SERVICE

Telephoning is regarded as so easy that many people do not take the trouble to see that they telephone correctly. One should speak directly into the instrument, with the lips but a short distance away. When that is done, the voice does not need to be loud, and, moreover, the person at the other end can hear distinctly.

When children do so much telephoning, it would be well to instruct them to telephone properly.

TO PREVENT UNEMPLOYMENT

Next year will be well advanced before Canada's main expenditures for war, can be completed. Every dollar that can be raised for the Victory loan 1919 will be required.

Although hostilities ceased in 1918 the war expenses went on.

This is just as much a war year as last year was, as far as the money is concerned. Pressing liabilities incurred by the war and involving vast sums of money have to be cared for. The simplest and most profitable manner in which this can be done is for the people to provide the money themselves.

The Victory loan 1919 is entitled to just as much consideration as was given to its predecessors. It is up to every loyal Canadian to do his utmost to make the new loan an overwhelming success. The continuance of the prosperity of the nation is wholly dependent upon it.

It was naturally to be expected that trade depression in the Dominion would have followed the armistice but this was averted by the application of a large proportion of the last Victory loan as credits to Great Britain and our Allies for grain, dairy produce, fish, lumber and ships. These credits were absolutely necessary, and strictly good business. They must be continued. They are national re-investments. The debts will be paid eventually and in the meantime industrial and agricultural workers will be kept busy and lucrative employment.
