REDISTRIBUTION BILL.

HON. MR. DAVIE PRESENTS THE MOST IMPORTANT BILL OF SESSION.

The Total Representation Remains the Same—Alberni Loses Its Member—One Is Added to Vancouver Carriboo Loses One Member—One Is Added to the Kootenai—The Islands Lose Their Member—One Is Added to the Westminster District—Nanaimo City Remains the Same—Nanaimo District Includes Many Islands.

VICTORIA, Feb. 16.—[Special]—In the Legislature to-day, Messrs. Beaven, Baker and Brown continued the debate on the Budget. After much discussion the Premier moved adjournment.

The great event of the day and of the session, was the presentation of the Redistribution Bill, which is now before the House. This anxiously anticipated measure provides that the Legislative Assembly of British Columbia shall, as at present, consist of 33 members; of these nineteen will, under the new order of things, represent the Mainland and fourteen Vancouver Island, the present Redistribution Bill forsaking the idea of balance of representation, by taking two seats from the Island and giving them to the Mainland. The Westminster electoral district is to include four ridings, viz., Delta, Chilliwack, Richmond and Dewdney, each returning one member. New Westminster city is given one member, Vancouver city three members, Victoria city four members, and Nanaimo city one member. The Yale electoral district is divided into east, west and north Ridings, each returning one member. Lillooet east and west Ridings returns two members. North, south and east Kootenay three members. Carriboo (undivided into ridings) two members. Cassiar one member. North Victoria district one member. South Victoria one member. Esquimalt (undivided) two members. Cowichan, inclusive of Florres, Vargas, Mares, Tzartoos and Deer Islands; all islands in and between Clayouquot, Barclay Sound and adjacent thereto, including what is at present known as the Alberni district, two members.

The boundaries of north Nanaimo electoral district are thus defined: Commencing at a point on the east coast of Vancouver Island, being the north-east corner of Nanaimo city, thence due east to the eastern boundary of the Cowichan district, thence north along the eastern boundary of that district to the west end of Cameron Lake, thence to Horne Lake to its outlet at Qualicum river, thence down Qualicum to its mouth, thence south easterly following the coast line to point of commencement, including Texada, Lasquitas and any other adjacent islands, not otherwise designated. For this district one member is allowed. South Nanaimo also returning one member, comprises that tract of land not including Nanaimo city, contained within following boundaries: commencing at the northeastern corner of Nanaimo city, thence due west to the eastern boundary the Cowichan district, thence southerly to the boundary line of the Esquimalt and Nanaimo Railway grant site, thence due east to the northeast corner of the Chemanius district, thence northly along the coast line to point of commencement, including Gabriola, Decourcy, Valdez, Thetis, Kuper, Reid and other small islands not elsewhere provided for. Comox with one member includes the district included in the line commencing at the mouth of the Qualicum river, following the river to Horn lake, thence to the northeastern boundary of the Cowichan district, thence along easterly and northerly shore of Muchalet arm of Nootlaa sound, thence following sinuosities of west coast of Vancouver Island northerly to Cape Scoot, thence northeasterly to intersection 128th meridian with the 51st parallel, crossing Smith Sound to the entrance of Fitzhugh Sound, thence due east to the 124th meridian, thence due south along said meridian to its intersection with Jervis Inlet and down centre of channel of Inlet to point opposite Scotch Fir point, thence along line following the centre of the channel between Texada and the Mainland to southern end of Hardwood Island, thence to the northeast end of Hornby Island, and thence to point of commencement, including all islands in and adjacent to said boundary line. The following table shows the relative position of each district under the present and promised systems:

Dying of the Yellow Fever.

LONDON, Feb. 16.—A despatch received from Rio Janeiro this evening says: The captain of the Austrian warship in the harbor, died of yellow fever yesterday and there are other cases aboard the vessel. The Portugese warships are also infected. The United States squadron communicates with the shore only by a hired tug. The fever has broken out on the British warship Racer. The merchant shipping is suffering heavy from the epidemic.

WAR AT RIO.

Da Gama Leads the Forces—His Wounds Are Troublesome.

[Copyright, 1894, by the United Press.]

RIO JANEIRO, Feb. 10.—Via Montevideo, Feb. 16—The insurgent charge at Nictheroy on Friday, February 9th, was notable for acts of bravery. Admiral Da Gama himself led the storming party. He shot Colonel Tasso Fragoso, of the government garrison, mounted that officer's horse and rode ahead. His example caused wild enthusiasm among his men. Six sailors obtained horses in a similar manner and galloped after him. Behind these seven horsemen the insurgent's rushed at the Plaza. Their force was divided and attacked by an overwhelming number of infantry and cavalry. The insurgents were pushed back slowly without giving any signs of panic. Admiral Da Gama, who was the last man to embark, was wounded in the arm and neck. Neither wound is severe and there is no doubt of his recovery. Every officer of the insurgent force was injured in the charge. The total loss to the insurgents was 270. The government loss was little short of 600.

To make the attack, the insurgents collected every available man who could be spared from his post. They landed 600 men, and consequently had left but 80 men to guard Cobras Island and only twelve to hold Fort Villegagnon. The government had at the time 10,000 troops and 100 boats at its command. A determined attack on either island could not have failed, yet no attempt was made to capture either position. Cobras is never defended by more than 200 men, and Admiral Da Gama, his all conuted, has fewer than 700 men at his disposal. Admiral Mello is sulking at Paranagua. General Gomeriendo Saraivas' insurgent army in the mountains of Parana numbers only 4,500 men, and is held in check by the government forces which command the narrow passes. The government fears nothing from this force. Nevertheless, the President seems unable to end the war. Admiral Da Gama may continue his bluff for months, and even win the victory.

An insurgent captain told the United Press correspondent yesterday that his friends no longer expected help from the south. Their only hope now, he said, was to win by Government blunders. De Gama had decided not to surrender to Rear Admiral Benham merely because he decided not to desert the men who were providing the insurgents with money. These men had Brazil by the throat in order that they may have the money that they have invested here.

Barracks are building at three race tracks outside the city. Poor people will be housed in them during the tremendous conflict which is expected to rage when President Peixoto's 12,000 men shall be ready to turn their hilltop batteries on Admiral Da Gama's force of 700.

Dr. Alfonso Penna, the civilian governor of Minas Geracs, has been nominated for the presidency in opposition to Dr. Prudente de Moraes, president of the Senate. These two nominations of civilian candidates entirely destroy the theory that President Peixoto has had the intention of joining the presidential contest.

Yellow fever is epidemic in the merchant shipping and the naval fleet is in such serious danger that it ought at once to go to the anchorage outside the harbor. The daily number of deaths is above fifty.

As this dispatch leaves, General Gomerviendo Saraiva is reported to be returning south through Parana, having abandoned his intention to march on the capital because General Oscar, with 3,500 government troops, is coming northward from Rio Grande do Sul.

Admiral Da Gama's wounds are said to have become unexpectedly troublesome and and to be causing his friends considerable anxiety.

Since landing at Armacao, and charging upon Nictheroy, the insurgents have been idle.

An officer of the Brandenburg said late last evening that the main steam pipe of the starboard engine burst. The accident occurred between 11 and 12 o'clock yesterday morning. Among the victims are many dockyard artificers. The vessel remains in the bay and it is extremely difficult to get details. At midnight the statement was given out that the number of deaths would not exceed forty.

BUENOS AYRES, Feb. 16.—The Brazilian minister to the Argentine has started for Bahia to allay, if possible, the dissensions among the officers of President Peixoto's fleet at that point.

A Cable From Benham.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 16.—Secretary Herbert received this cablegram to-night: "Rio Janerio, Brazil, Feb. 16.—As a precautionary measure against fever, will send vessels, except flagship, just inside harbor within call. Every precaution has been taken. Health of officers and crew is good.

Sextuple Murderer Hanged.

EVANSVILLE, Ind., Feb. 16.—Murderer Jas. E. Stone was hanged at 12:02 this morning. His neck was broken by the fall and in seventeen minutes he was pronounced dead. The crime for which Stone was executed was the murder of the Wrattan family in 1892. The family consisted of six persons, Mr. and Mrs. Wrattan, their three children and Mr. Wrattan's mother.

Followed Her Lover's Example.

NEW YORK, Feb. 16—The news of the suicide in San Francisco, of May Brooklyn, leading lady in A. Palmer's company playing "Alabama" at the Baldwin theatre in that city was a great shock to the friends of the dead woman in this city. On the Rialto to-day, little else was talked of by those who knew Miss Brooklyn. The despatches from San Francisco indicate that she left no letter or message of any kind, but her friends in this city believe they know the cause of her act. They say she was to have been married to Frederick A. Lovecraft, Mr. Palmer's former business manager, who committed suicide several months ago in the same manner as Miss Brooklyn by taking carbolic acid. She was much affected by the news of his death and has since been very despondent. Several times she said to members of the company, "I won't be here much longer."

GERMAN WARSHIP EXPLODED.

Terrible Loss of Life—Forty-one Killed and Many Wounded.

KIEL, Feb. 16.—A terrible boiler explosion occurred to-day on the cruiser Brandenburg, at this port. With the usual secrecy that prevails over naval affairs, the officers of the ship refused to give any details regarding the accident, but it is known that many of the crew were killed and that considerable damage was done to the vessel. The Brandenburg had had new boilers placed in her and had been ordered to make a trial trip to-day to test them. The vessel was on this trip when the explosion occurred.

Forty-one Were Instantly Killed

and nine others were fatally wounded. Among the dead are three chief engineers who were on the vessel to report on the work of the boilers, and several other officers. Most of the bodies were badly scalded, in some instances the faces being so swollen out of shape as to be unrecognizable. As soon as the effects of the explosion were to the officer of the deck, he caused signals to be set showing that the vessel was helpless. Five steamers went out at once to the assistance of the disabled warship, and getting lines to her towed her back to Kiel. When she reached port Prince Henry of Prussia, the Emperor's brother, immediately boarded her and found that the explosion had caused much damage to the vessel.

Prince Henry Worked Energetically.

He helped to direct the work of relieving the wounded and questioned the ship's officers concerning the names and homes of the dead and wounded. The steam tug Pelican, which was the first vessel to come to the Brandenburg's assistance, returned to the quay with thirty dead bodies. The news of the accident had spread throughout the city and thousands had gathered at the landing place. Four other steam tugs brought the wounded ashore. Many of the crew were injured critically, and several are likely to die in the next forty-eight hours. All were taken to the Military hospital for treatment. The Emperor William is expected to arrive here to-morrow.

EIGHTY ANARCHISTS ARRESTED.

London Police Raid the Autonomic Club. Anarchists Walk Quietly Into Their Arms.

LONDON, Feb. 16.—The police to-night raided the Autonomic club and made several arrests. The club is composed of anarchists. The ambassadors from France and Germany to-day sent notes to Lord Rosebery in regard to the harboring in England of foreign anarchists. The police encountered no opposition at the Autonomic club. They took possession of the house and detained all the inmates. The raid was managed so quietly that neither the pedestrians in the street nor the nearest neighbors knew what was happening, and the members arriving late walked unsuspectingly into the arms of the policemen waiting to arrest them. The members who were arrested as they entered the front door, were astonished and indignant, but only one of them, a Frenchman, resisted the police. He struggled savagely, clawing and biting right and left and cheering for anarchy, when finally pinned against the wall. The total number of prisoners is about eighty. The majority of them are Germans and Bohemians. All were examined carefully and then ordered to show their passports. Few of them could do this. The police have searched several buildings near the club house, notably Pourdin's private lodgings in Great Litchfield street, and the rooms of Jean Pierre Francois, whom the French government considered an accomplice of Ravochol and tried to extradite. They found much anarchist literature of the orthodox kind in both places, and a few explosives in Pourdin's rooms.

LATER.—Shortly after midnight all the men arrested at the Autonomic Club were liberated. The main object of the police in arresting them was to examine them. Important information is said to have been obtained from them by the police.

Much anarchistic literature was seized at the Autonomic Club. The police found many copies of a manifesto printed on red paper in London and headed "Mort a Carnot." Thousands of similar manifestoes have been circulated recently in France.

Declared Bankrupt.

PARIS, Feb. 16.—The tribunal of commerce has declared the Comptoir des Compte bankrupt at the request of the bank of France. The institution was placed in the hands of a liquidator one week ago, and Baron Soubeyran, a director, was arrested for dishonest practices.

The Peers Exceeded Their Rights.

LONDON, Feb. 16.—Henry Fowler, president of the local Government Board, directed the attention of the House of Commons this evening to several questionable features of the Peers amendment of the Parish Councils Bill. He appealed to the Speaker of the House to say whether the Peers had not infringed upon the privileges of the Commons in altering the decision of the lower house to pay the expenses of the Parish Councils from the poor rates. The House of Lords had been excluded he said from initiating or amending revenue bills. Their action in the case in question seemed to him to be unconstitutional. The speaker ruled that the Peers had exceeded their rights and instructed the House to ignore the amendment against which Mr. Fowler had protested. The announcement of this decision was cheered loudly.

Colored College Burnt Out.

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., Feb. 16.—Knoxville College, one of the most noted educational centres for the colored people in the United States, suffered a $25,000 loss by fire last night. Fire broke out in the north attic of the boys' dormitory, an addition to the main or chapel building, at 9 o'clock, and burning rapidly, soon had the main building beyond control. Fortunately no lives were lost and none of the 250 or 300 pupils were injured in any way. Scarcely any of the building's contents were saved. The origin of the fire is unknown.

COMMUNICATIONS.

A Letter from Capt. Dempster.

EDITOR TELEGRAM:

Sir,—Your remarks in this morning's issue seem to me to call for a word of reply: first, on the ground of your strictures, to my mind not a whit too strong, on the nature of the lecture to have been delivered last night; and also because of the reflection on the institution these remarks imply. I submit that in letting our hall to a lecturer we cannot justly be charged with any responsibility for the opinions he holds, or be held to be thereby "bolstering" his ideas: indeed you allow that "he is there to speak on his own account, using the Y. M. C. A. hall only, and not in any way under its wing. Although just smarting under the lessons of the Onique charlatan, it could not be assumed that the very next comer would necessarily be of the same stamp. Indeed I am assured that he introduced himself with credentials that were entirely trustworthy on the ground of their being subscribed by one who was known to be above suspicion. This was the primary ground of the permission given to use our hall. That the holder of this certificate of character should prove himself unworthy of confidence could not possibly have been predicted. And, let me add, the moment it was brought to my notice what was the nature of the lectures, I took a public opportunity of testifying my disapproval. I may also add, with reference to the lecture expected last night that we were fully prepared to nip in the bud the first semblance of any objectionable subject being introduced. We are as jealous of the standing of our noble institution as our kind friends who remind us of our responsibilities and whose counsels we accept in the friendly spirit in which they are offered, and we can assure the public that the lesson just given us will not be thrown away. Your closing remarks will, I am sure, be endorsed by all who read them that "in this matter our evening contemporary has done good work," in the warning he has sounded loudly and persistently. Thanking you for space,

I am, sir, yours faithfully,
H. L. DEMPSTER,
President Y. M. C. A.

KEYLESS WATCHES.

Ingenious Contrivances for Making Pocket Timepieces Self-Winding.

Keyless watches, now so popular, have long been known, but have not been in general use more than a dozen years. Napoleon I. was the owner of a wonderful specimen of this species of keyless timepieces. It was continually kept in running order by a small weight at the end of a lever which worked on a weak spring. Every step taken caused a small "dog" to drop into the cogs of a tiny rachet wheel, this in turn acting on the barrel to which the mainspring was attached; ordinary movements about the house were sufficient to keep the spring tightly wound up. In the Kensington museum, London, there is a pedometer, operated in a similar manner, combined with a watch, so that the one instrument tells the time and the distance walked by the wearer in a day or any other given time. There is a watch on exhibition at the United States patent office which is wound by the simple act of closing the case. It also has an attachment that throws the winding device out of gear as soon as the spring is well wound up.

BRAIN ACTION.

A Professor Has Found Out Exactly How Rapidly We Think.

Helmholz showed that a wave of thought would require about a minute to travel a mile of nerve, and Hersch found that a touch on the face was recognized by the brain and responded to by a manual signal in the seventh of a second.

He also found, says Drake's Magazine, that the speed of sense differed for different organs, the sense of hearing being responded to in the sixth of a second, while that of sight required one-fifth of a second to be felt and signaled. In all these cases the distance traversed was about the same; so the inference is that images travel more slowly than sounds or touch. It still remained, however, to show the portion of this interval taken up by the action of the brain.

Prof. Donders, by very delicate apparatus, has demonstrated this to be about seventy-five thousandths of a second. Of the whole interval forty thousandths are occupied in the simple act of recognition, and thirty-five thousandths for the act of willing response.

A Smart Yankee Skipper.

A writer in the Nautical Magazine tells a story of how a Yankee skipper contrived to free his ship from rats. While he lay in port he discovered that one of the British ships then in the harbor had among her cargo a great quantity of cheese. He thereupon found an excuse for hauling over to her and mooring his own packet alongside. The next step was to procure a plank, smear it well with an odoriferous preparation of red herrings, and place it so as to lead through one of the ports on board the Englishman. The immediate result was a wholesale emigration of the rats from the American ship's hold to the cheese-laden vessel alongside.

Their Different Methods.

Counsel was long and prolix, his speech wearisome to a degree. The judge unwittingly closed his eyes.

"I never speak when people go to sleep!" the lawyer exclaimed.

"And I never go to sleep except when you are speaking," retorted the judge.—Don Chisciotte.

THE REDISTRIBUTION BILL.

The most important bill of this present Provincial Parliament was yesterday presented to the Legislature in session. To suppose that it will suit the demands of all and be found acceptable in the sight of many, who are often afflicted by a self-reverting obliquity of vision, would be to imagine a vain thing. Of course there will be objections, more or less strenuous, and many who will take exceptions, more or less relevant, to the findings of the bill.

One thing is certain, that the bill has been well considered and thoroughly matured, so as to meet the growing needs of certain districts, and to combine with measured impartiality the representation of both area and population. They of the cities cry for per capita representation, and dwellers of the districts call for area representatives. The main features of the present bill are evidently planned to meet, within a reasonable manner, the requirements of both classes.

As will be seen from our news columns the alterations and additions are not many—in fact, they leave the total representation in statu quo, but such as they are, they are important without being partial. This city and district remain as they were, with the exception of having additional territory added to the district, including the many islands within certain boundaries. Altogether, the Premier may be congratulated on presenting a bill which the most obstinate of Oppositionists or the most inveterate of Independents will find hard work to volley at with violent verbosity.

THE BUDGET SPEECH.

We recommend to the attention of our readers the report of the budget speech, delivered by the Hon. Mr. Turner in the Legislative Assembly on Thursday evening. It will repay a careful perusal, and is well worthy of it, by anyone who takes an interest in our Provincial affairs. It is especially deserving of attention at this time, when the Opposition, particularly the Independent branch of it, is so very active in its efforts to discredit the Government—in point of fact sticking at nothing in order to do so. Mr. Turner began his speech by reviewing the position of the country and the policy of the Government. He then proceeded to review in detail the financial position of the Province, as shown by the public accounts. He referred first to the amounts borrowed by the preceding and the present Government, and the purposes for which the money was borrowed. During the Government of the Hon. John Robson, it was deemed advisable to raise a loan for carrying on the public works of the Province. A sum of £200,400 was borrowed at 4½ per cent., the lowest rate of interest obtainable at the time. In 1891 a further loan was raised for the same purpose, and it was deemed advisable to consolidate the two previous loans, one of which bore interest at six per cent. and the other at 4½. The net proceeds of the last two loans was $1,617,128, costing an annual charge of $49,679, or a small fraction over 3¾ per cent. It is to be borne in mind that this pays not only the interest on the loan, but the principal, including all bonuses, at maturity. The loan of 1891 produced a net amount of $792,958. For this the Province pays a total interest of $28,100 per annum, or under 3½ per cent. There is a further charge of one per cent. for a sinking fund, and this in fifty years pays off the principal. The last loan, that of 1893, cost a little more in proportion than the loan of 1891, owing to the attemps of certain parties to decry the credit of the Province, but in spite of their efforts the loan sold at a higher rate than before, realizing 91. The Finance Minister justly called those parties, who for the purpose of damaging the Government did not hesitate to decry the credit of the Province, traitors. That they are so practically whatever they may call themselves, members of the Opposition or Independents, cannot be doubted. The net proceeds of the loan amounted to $792,978. These loans were raised for the purpose of being expended on public works.

The Finance Minister next proceeded to explain what was done with the money, and what the Province has to show for it. Since the 1st of July, 1887, there have been built 110 school houses, at a cost of $174,441; 10 jails, costing $26,985; 12 court houses, costing $190,692; 595,000 acres of land were surveyed at a cost of $83,424; 1,200 miles of roads, 800 miles of trails, 600 bridges were constructed, and 5,000 miles of roads and bridges were kept in repair, at a cost of $1,531,683, making a total cost for all the works mentioned of $2,007,225. Deducting from this, say $300,000, for repairs, we have an expenditure on public works of some $1,700,000, for which the works themselves stand as assets, fully equal to the expenditure made upon them. There are besides 595,000 acres of land surveyed and open for settlement, worth $1 per acre at a low valuation. There are to be added to these assets public works that will result from the expenditures which have now to be voted, amounting to considerably over $400,000. The public debt for all loans amounts to $3,562,512, less sinking fund and other available assets, $1,433,344, showing a total net debt of $2,129,178. This is not more than the amount of some of the city debts in the Province, and it includes the loan for public buildings. The foregoing shows conclusively, no matter what the Opposition and the so-called Independent members of it may say, that the loans mentioned above have been carefully expended.

We think that it must be admitted in their hearts by the opponents to the Government, though they will not admit it with their mouths or in their published statements, that British Columbia is in a good position financially and that much of the credit for this is due to the excellent management of the present and preceding Government. The Opposition and the Independent Opposition papers are accustomed to assert, till their writers almost seem to believe it themselves, that the revenue of the Province is declining. What are the facts? The public accounts from 1886 to 1893, as Hon. Mr. Turner has pointed out, stand as follows as regards revenue: $537,385; $598,252; $698,055; $959,248; $1,020,002 and $1,012,257. These figures do not look like a declining revenue, whatever may be said to the contrary. The further details we must refer our readers to the speech itself, which ought to be carefully studied by every elector in British Columbia. If this is done we are confident that every intelligent and impartial man will cast his vote for the Government candidates in prefence to those who run in the interests of the Opposition, or those who may call themselves Independents while in reality they are oppositionists, only a little more so. Hon. Mr. Turner's budget speech shows that the Government is intitled to the confidence of the country.

IT IS announced that Mr. Dwight L Moody, the evangelist, is suffering from severe heart disease. His return to the pulpit is doubtful and depends on his recuperative powers. His physicians have ordered him to rest for an indefinite period.

YELLOW FEVER is reported to be broken out among the crew of the cruiser Newark, one of the vessels of the American squadron at Rio de Janeiro. The sick men have been taken to the fever hospital, and the Newark has been sent south to Monte Video by Admiral Benham to be disinfected.

IT IS reported that the anarchist Emil Henry, the bomb-thrower at the cafe of the Hotel Temmins, had his life insured for $40,000, one half of it to go to his mother, and the other half to promote the cause of anarchy. Henry was a son of a French communist colonel, and was well educated.

SIR JOHN THOMPSON, in his speech before the Macdonald club at Ottawa on Wednesday evening, made it plain that the Dominion Government means to adhere to a policy of moderate protection, when the new tariff is framed. The premier spoke of developing the trade with Australia, and said he had received a telegram from the premier of New Zealand, wanting to know when the conference would take place in Canada with the representatives of the Australian colonies, so that New Zealand also might be represented. It is evident that the importance of the trade with Canada is beginning to be appreciated in all the Australian colonies.

IT IS becoming more evident every day that the British Liberals and their allies, the Radicals and the Home Rulers, mean to enter on a campaign against the House of Lords and to make, if it be possible, the abolition of the peers and not Home Rule the issue at the next general election. In taking this course they may not have Mr. Gladstone's approval, but they seem bound to take it all the same. This is made more evident than ever by Sir William Vernon Harcourt's speech at the Portsmouth meeting on Wednesday. Sir William, who is Chancellor of the Exchecquer, in Mr. Gladstone's cabinet, and one of the candidates for the leadership of the Liberal party in succession to Mr. Gladstone, occupies a very high position in the councils of the Liberal party, as well as in the Cabinet. He is in fact Mr. Gladstone's first-lieutenant in all matters of home policy, and it is difficult to imagine that he would venture to speak as he did at Portsmouth without Mr. Gladstone's knowledge and sanction. The Liberal party, he said, was about to enter on a great struggle, from which it will finally emerge victorious. Was the British nation to be controlled by the representatives of the people, or by a chamber representing nothing but a selfish class? "Lord Salisbury," he said, "has thrown down the gage of battle; the Government will not shrink from the contest. It is the business of the Liberals to convince the Lords that the people will not allow them longer to over-ride the people's will." This is strong language to be used by the second man in rank in the Government, and, as we have said, Sir William would scarcely have spoken so, if he had not had Mr. Gladstone's sanction, or was not at all events sure of it.

Under the auspices of the Ladies Aid Society of the congregation, a highly successful concert and social was given Thursday evening in the Presbyterian church, Northfield. When the chairman, Mr. Robt. Scott, took the chair every available seat in the building was occupied. The following excellent programme was then rendered: Opening hymn, the choir; solo, Mr. John Dunsmuir; recitation, Miss Roberts; solo, Mr. Brechan; recitation, Miss Chatty Greek; solo, Mrs. Wilson; recitation, Mr. A. McLeod; quartette, members of the choir and Miss E Shakespeare; solo, Mr. Kerr; recitation, Miss Webster; solo, Miss Shakespeare; recitation, Miss Smith; solo, Mr Evans; solo, Mr. T. Bailey; recitation, Mr. A. McLeod; solo, Miss Maggie Stewart; and a hymn by the choir.

The elocutionists were in especially good form and the selections rendered by Miss Smith and Miss Webster elicited well-merited recalls. Mr. McLeod's numbers were very fine and his selection on "Jiners" carried the audience by storm, drawing forth in response "The combat between Fitz James and Roderick," for the vivid rendition of which Mr. McLeod possesses all the necessary qualifications. Cake and Coffee were served by the ladies, after which short addresses were given by Rev. Mr. Rogers, the new pastor of the Wellington Presbyterian church, and Rev. Mr. Wilkinson of Northfield. After referring in terms of high commendation of the Ladies' Aid Society of the church, and especially to the celerity and efficiency with which they had provided for the present entertainment, the chairman brought the meeting to a close.

It is now known that the girl's name is Russell, and that she is the daughter of prominent Oakland people, who are anxious to receive her back and forgive and forget. Chief of Police Sheppard has received a letter from the chief at Oakland, asking him to do his best to restore the girl to her friends, and enclosing a photograph, which makes identification positive.

Latest Samoan News.

VICTORIA, B.C., Feb. 16.—[Special]—The steamer Hesketh, which recently visited New Britain, has just returned to Sydney, N.S.W., with the report that in connection with the recent hostilities in the Bismarck Archipelago the German warship Sperber visited New Britain and punished the natives by shelling out the villages. The Sperber, previous to calling at New Britain, went to the Tokolau group, embarked the deposed Samoan king Matafa and conveyed him to the Marshall Islands, where he is to be kept in exile until death.

The latest issue of the Samoan Times, just received in this city, discusses the situation in the Islands thus: "The departure of the last warship from these waters has re-opened the mouths of those dissatisfied with the existing government, and in many directions may now be heard open expressions of discontent, where formally but muffled sounds of a similiar nature were indulged in. The concensus of native opinion on certain subjects has been obtained from most of the districts outside of the Tuamasaga, and rumors are afloat that very shortly a deputation of influential chiefs will wait on the central government at Mulinuu, making certain demands with the alterenative of putting up another pretender to the throne." The Times goes on to say that the demands referred to are in the direction of replacing certain native officials, who are accused of real or fancied injudicious acts, by others, a move which the Times considers ill-concealed rebellion The article continues: "We have not the slightest doubt but that sedition is in the air and that very shortly the culpable negligence of the three powers in the matter of disarming the natives will bear abundant fruit. Those best acquainted with the Samoan will readily understand that until they are deprived of the means with which to menace the government they will follow out their old custom of king making which has afforded them amusement from time immemorial." A passenger by the Arawa also speaking of affairs at Samoa, says: "There is a great feeling against the whites; the natives claiming that they have been fooled by the three great powers. The followers of the late King Tamasese have put his son at their head and threatened war against King Malictoa and the white inhabitants. Serious trouble may be looked for at any time."

Gold Finding in Australia.

VICTORIA, Feb. 16.—The returns of gold mining in the two colonies which produced most of the precious metal found in Australia, have just been received, and show a very considerable increase in the supply, mainly attributable to the Coolgardie discoveries. The latest news from this great reefing ground is to the effect that the township is practically deserted, recent rains having induced many miners to forsake desolate Coolgardie and join in the rush to Siberia, Whitefeather and Ninety Mile, three new mining centres. It is reported that there is any amount of water at Whitefeather; several condensers are following the rush of miners providing water. The I. O. U. claim, situated fifteen miles from Whitefeather, has dollied ten thousand ounces of gold during the last six weeks, from one rich reef. There is something strikingly theatrical in these Western Australian gold finds; their richness is indisputable and their permanency seems a reasonable assuption to experts, but the accidents of their discovery are romantic as well as remarkable. In the case of the "I. O.U.," an unlucky prospector (?) stumbled over a big stone, struck it maliciously with his pick in the anger of a bruised shin and uncovered a mass of gleaming gold. Chunks of gold, bars and pillars are what the telegrams speak of, not merely good prospects, or the absolute certainty of paying returns. The latest big sensation is the discovery of a rich reef in the backyard of a hotel in the main street of Coolgardie. This ought to be the greatest money making concern in the world—for the publican, who will have a genuine double gold mine on the premises.

Five Hundred on a Floe.

BERLIN, Feb. 16.—A despatch from St. Petersburg says that on Tuesday an ice floe broke adrift from the coast of Ilgermannland, province of St. Petersburg, and carried off many of the men and their families. More than five hundred persons are said to be in danger. All persons along the coast are making every effort to relieve them and are hopeful of success.

France vs. Portugal.

LISBON, Feb. 16.—The French government has recalled H. L. G. Bihourd, its minister to Portugal. The understanding here is, however, that his absence will be only temporary. Differences between France and Portugal as regards French investments in Portugese railways are supposed to have caused the French government to adopt its present course.

The Times correspondent at Lisbon says in a despatch concerning the recall of the French minister: "Although France agrees to the new statistics of Portugese railway, relating to the administration and opposes Portugese controlling the finances, it is believed that this is the point on which M. Bihourdi is to consult his government." The Times correspondent does not give color to the reports of critical differences between the governments.

Concerning Lamps.

HARTFORD, Conn., Feb. 16.—The United States Circuit Court of Appeals has sustained Judge Shipman's decision in the suit of the Edison Electric Light Co., against the Waring Electric Light Co., of South Manchester. This confirms Judge Shipman's order issuing an injunction prohibiting the defendant's from making the "Nova" incandescent lamp. After Judge Shipman granted the injunction the defendants filed a bond of $20,000 to indemnify the Waring Co. for any damages pending in appeal to the Circuit Court on Appeals and have since continued making the lamps.

Johnson Wins Two Out of Three.

COLLINGWOOD, Ont., Feb. 16.—At the skating races here to-night, Hulse, of Toronto, won the half-mile race over Davidson, of St. Paul, by a quarter of a lap. Johnson defeated Davidson in the one mile race. The three mile race brought out all the skaters. Davidson went off with the lead, followed closely by Hulse and Johnson. At the mile and half Johnson went to the front. Hulse followed closely, and they soon gained a lap on Davidson, but in the last lap, Johnson made a tremendous spurt, winning by ten yards. Summaries—First event, half mile, Hulse, Toronto, won; Davidson, St. Paul, second. Time, 1.04. Second event, one mile, Johnson, Minneapolis, won; Davidson second. Time, 3.07. Third event, three miles, Johnson won: Hulse second; Davidson third. Time, 10.07.

LOCAL NEWS.

The Caledonian Dance.

And still they come is applicable to the attendance at the Caledonian dance last night. There were 45 couples in the dancing rooms. It appears that very few of the dancers require rest, as even the ladies, without exception, dance in rapid succession without more than a minute or two rest between each dance. The Caledonian Society management is seriously considering what will have to be done if the attendance continues at the present rate of increase.

Surprise Party.

There was a very pleasant "surprise" party at the Wallace street Methodist parsonage last evening. A large number of young people of the congregation, and others took possession of the pastor's residence. Various parlor games, singing, etc., were indulged in and refreshments afterwards passed around, the gathering breaking up about midnight, all expressing themselves as delighted with the evening's amusement. The pastor and Mrs. Maitland were indefatigable in endeavoring to make the self-invited guests feel at home and succeeded admirably.

Spider and Fly.

This popular spectacle opens on Monday night, February 19th, at Mahrer's Opera House. The costumes have been lavishly supplied. The scenery, electric and mechanical effects are all new and said to be magnificent. The company numbers 50 people and were mostly recruited abroad, though the several American artists who were prominent in last season's cast, have been re-engaged. The chorus will be unusually attractive; numerous novelties have been added and the music, songs and specialties are all new. Reserved seats now on sale at Pimbury & Co.'s.

Y. M. C. A. To-night.

In the Y.M.C.A. hall this evening another of the popular ten cent entertainments will be given. Mr. H. Aitken will take the chair. Following is the programme:

Part I.—Piano solo, Miss Wilson; solo, Miss Gowland- reading, Miss Marshall; solo, Mrs. Heyland; selection, violin, cornet and piano; solo, Miss Welsh; melodian solo, Mr. W. J. Jones.

Part II.—Piano solo, Mrs. Land; solo, Miss Welsh; whistling solo, Mr. W. McInnes; solo, Mrs. Heyland; melodian solo, Mr. Jones; solo, Miss Gowland; selection, violin, cornet and piano; solo, Mr. S. Thompson.

County Court.

Yesterday, before His Honor Eli Harrison, judge, a suit concerning a suit afforded the court and auditors some little amusement. In November last year the plaintiff, Martin, provided Ross, the defendant, with seven yards of cloth to make a suit with. Ross, who is a tailor, made up the suit and ent it to Martin, charging $15 for the making up, which includes what is technically termed "trimmings." Not a month ago, the plaintiff returned the clothes under the plea that they did not fit, and entered the present action for $ 24 damages. In order to get practical evidence, the judge ordered Martin to put the suit on. Corrigan, a witness and fellow tradesman of the defendant, thought the suit was a good fit but the cloth was bad material. Balfour also gave like evidence, saying that the material was shoddy. Judgment was deferred.

Judgment for $65 and costs was given in the case of Smith vs. Morello, for the plaintiff.

Kelly, the hotel thief, pleaded guilty and will receive his sentence to-day. Clarke, his "pal," elected to go for trial at the June Assizes.

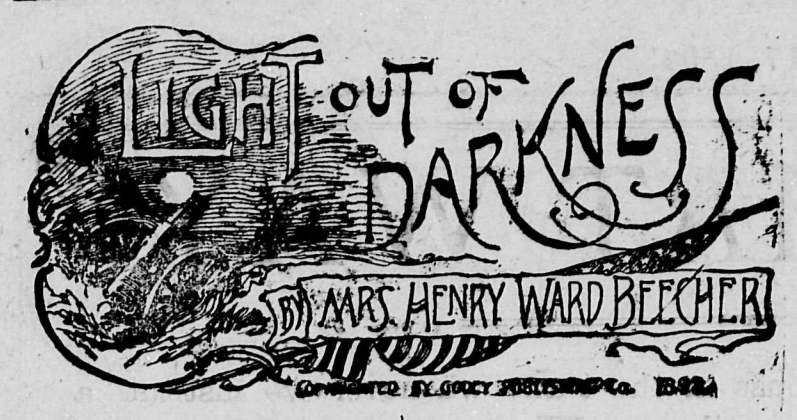
KASLO! KASLO!



Grenville, what desolation have you brought on one whose only fault lay in loving you too well!"

It were vain to describe the agony of these young hearts. By turns he raved and entreated, appealing one moment to the parents and the next to Lillian, who each repelled his attempts to enlist them in his behalf. Ralph's passionate defiance, George's manly remonstrance and Mr. Newton's earnest and touching appeals to urge him back to duty were unavailing. He argued that he was acting from solemn convictions of duty and that nothing could be more convincing proof of his convictions than the fact that by this step he destroyed every hope of happiness he had in life, and if Rose cast him off he should be a martyr to a cause he had espoused believing it to be right.

On the contrary, Mr. Newton assured him, from facts which he could not gainsay that his mind had been poisoned from earliest childhood, and now, being called into vigorous activity, was leading him to destroy his own peace and happiness and bring misery to those who had so loved and trusted him.

It was distressing to witness the young man's wretchedness when he tried to say farewell. As he approached Rose, in whose whole attitude scorn, disappointment, insulted affection and earnest entreaty were all unmistakably mingled, Ralph started to his sister's side, throwing one arm around her, and with the other waving him off:

"Back! Do not touch her, or I shall find it in my heart to strike you dead at her feet! Miscreant! Traitor! Look at your work! Reflect upon the misery you are causing one you have so pretended to love! A southerner's hot passoon, soon cooled, ready now to forsake her true affection, forswear your country, reject her laws and take up arms with a misguided mob and fight against all that you but too well know Rose most values. In your very first battle you may be brought face to face in deadly conflict with the members of her own house, and yet you have dared to ask that she should leave us all and follow you in your mad career."

"This is from your parents, I presume."

With fierce gestures and passionate manner Ralph poured out these wild words, unheeding the excitement they produced till a gasping moan from his sister checked him, and as his mother and Lillian placed her half fainting on the sofa her lover sprang forward, and kneeling at her side cried:

"Rose! Rose! my darling! Do not cast me off! I would die to save you one pang! God is my witness that I speak the truth, but my whole soul revolts at this northern interference with southern rights. I would but give to my native soil what your brothers have your hearty approval to bestow on yours. Oh, listen to me, Rose, and love me still! And when this strife is ended—and it will not be long before southern rights are securely established—ah, then, my beloved, tell me if I live I may hope to make you my own."

It was an unfortunate speech for the pleader, but it roused the spirited girl from the heartsick lethargy which was stealing over her, and she answered with dignity and firmness:

"Never! But if you will lend your aid to uphold and enforce the government of these United States and assist to reclaim those disobedient children who have rebelled against their mother country, then all the sad misjudgments of the past shall be buried forever, never to be recalled, and I will be to you this hour a strue and loving a wife as man ever claimed. But, Jasper Grenville, hear me! If you leave us to fight against my friends and country, then farewell and forever! From this hour we shall be utter strangers. I wait one moment for your final answer—the final decision."

What a change had this hour's agony wrought in Rose, whose pretty, winning ways, all softness, gentleness and love, made her, as George used to say, "the sunbeam" of the house. All looked on in silent grief and amazement. Her slender form seemed to expand into queenly dignity. Her eyes, wont to sparkle in gleeful humor, now looked down in clear and regal light on the recreant lover, who could not meet their determined gaze. Thus he stood

> Like those who wait
> Till judgment speaks the doom of fate,
> So still, as if no breeze might dare
> To lift one lock of raven hair.

Then turning from him with a look of unutterable scorn she gave her hand to Ralph to lead her from the room.

His horse's feet rang clear on the gravel path.

Again with a bitter cry Jasper tried to stay her, but Mrs. Newton laid a restraining hand upon his arm as the door closed after her, saying:

"This has lasted too long already. My daughter has been sufficiently tried. Your own act has severed all connection between us, and you must now depart. Harsh as it may sound, my roof cannot shelter a traitor. Our paths from this time lead in an opposite direction. I grieve that you should be so blinded and that our pleasant intercourse must cease. But you would have it so. May God forgive you, but now farewell."

Without a word he passed out, and in a few moments his horse's feet rang clear on the gravel path, and long after he passed the gate could be heard, urged by the wretched rider into a mad gallop along the road. Little cared he if he sped to instant destruction.

CHAPTER XI.

It were useless to dwell longer on the dread notes of war, to speak of the high enthusiasm of the young, brave hearts that panted to rush to the conflict of the no less determined but saddened mood of the parents, of Lillian's earnest sympathy and ever ready aid to all, or Alfred's regret that youth debarred him from the field. Imagination can call up all that is left untold, but it cannot portray the transformation a few short hours had made in Rose. From a bright, sportive, sunny child she had passed at once into a noble woman.

But the next morning saw Rose at her regular work, self possessed, but bearing unmistakable evidence of some strange change, of a hard battle fought and victory won. Her face was paler than usual, and the merry laugh or cheerful carols that always heralded her approach were hushed, but no trace of gloom or sadness could be seen. A high and holy light burned in her eyes, a lofty purpose, a consecration of all her powers to serve the noble work spoke in every movement. She conversed as unhesitatingly as ever, was as thoughtful of others' happiness, more so if possible, but underlying every word and act was the visible evidence that her mind was working out some plan for future action. Her friends had agreed that no questions should be asked. Time and her own wishes were to decide.

When the morning's work was all disposed of, and the family gathered together for some consultation before dinner was served, Rose quietly told her parents that as Eustace and her brothers were to join the same regiment the next day she was exceedingly desirous that Lillian's marriage should take place before they were separated. She begged that this, which must be their natural wish, should not be delayed out of any needless delicacy on her account. The past, as far as she was concerned, must remain a sealed book to all forever, but if they would help her they must let her see that their happiness was secured as far as human foresight could secure it.

Eustace then acknowledged that he had urged Lillian to consent to such an arrangement, feeling sure that her parents would think it advisable, going as he was into imminent danger, that they should be united before they left. So the two were quietly married. The ceremony ended, the family all escorted the three young men to the camp, not far from the city, a far different bridal tour than Eustace and Lillian had often pictured.

Eustace had far more knowledge of military science than most young men who had not intended to make it their profession, and George's tastes and education had inclined him to become familiar with engineering. As soon as it was known they were ready to enter their country's service in any capacity they were sought after to fill important positions in various regiments then banding together. Eustace was placed as colonel, and that they might be together in the same camp George accepted a captaincy and Ralph a lieutenancy under him rather than to enter into the more desirable positions that had been offered and be separated. This arrangement, highly gratifying to the parents, was planned in part as a just tribute of the

An object lesson might be found by the expounders of such valuable media of education in one item of the Provincial Budget. It is the fact that $50,000 unpaid taxes are due.

Miss Brookes was the lucky winner of the Building Society draw last night, gaining a double share of $2.000 with No. 68. The next drawing will take place in about a month.

Everybody is on the qui vive for the Spider and Fly Show. The seating capacity of the Opera House will doubtless be fully tested, and S.R.O. available for late comers without reserve tickets on Monday night.

St. Alban the Martyr, Nicol and Victoria road—Sunday Feb. 18. Holy Eucharist 9; Matins, Litany and Sermon, "The struggle of prayer," 11; Children, 3; Evensong and Lecture 7. "The Story of the Cross" will be sung.

The Indian who escaped yesterday morning, after being handcuffed, by downing his guard, was recaptured by Constable McLean last night. He was concealed behind the N.V.C. Co's machine shop, and had been unable to get rid of the "darbies."

The question which the gentleman wished to ask at the Reform Club smoker on Thursday evening was only pertinent at the time. This was, apparently, divined and disallowed. Previously expressed opinion on the matter remains the same.

During the recent coal strike in Great Britain the satirical paradox of taking coals to Newcastle, had its keen edge taken off by Newcastle importing coals from Belgium. The ss. Miowera will still further blunt the point by taking coals from Union to Newcastle-on-Tyne.

A xenomaniac from Australia recently returned there and in speaking of this Province gave the population of Victoria as 40,000. This is the kind of long bow drawing, hatchet-slinging and Ananias-anglying which does more harm than good to any country so described.

The passengers on the ss. Cutch were much pleased with the beautiful sounds that were emitted by the new fog horn at the entrance to the harbor. The opinion of the passengers on the passing steamer was that the variations in the music of this new and useful instrument were particularly lovely.

Law cases often afford outsiders some curious information. It was elicited in the case of Martin vs. Ross yesterday that it takes seven yards of cloth to make a suit. This disproves the allegation that the canny Scots wore kilts to save material, because the regulation kilt is seven yards round in its folds.

Yesterday a drunken Indian was arrested on the Green by Constable McLean and left in charge of a man standing near, whilst the constable chased another Indian. The prisoner made his escape, and in so doing damaged his guard considerably. On the constable's return he was surprised to hear of the escape of his captive, and though strenuous search has been made, the Indian is still at large.

The "Wellington United" and the "Nanaimo Swifts" Association football teams will play a match this afternoon on the swamp. Kick off at 3 sharp. Admission to the grounds will be free. Olds, J. Adams and W. McCann.

PERSONALS.

The Rev. G. H. Tovey returned from Vancouver yesterday.

Miss Leigh Spencer came down from the mountains yesterday by the Alberni stage.

Mr. Clute, Inspector of Customs at New Westminster came over last evening and is staying at the Windsor.

Mr. E. E. Brooke's many friends will be sorry to learn that he is laid up with a serious attack of inflammatory rheumatism.

Mr. Geo. D. Scott, Provincial manager of the London and Lancashire Life Assurance Co., went over to Vancouver this morning. He intends returning on Monday.

Mr. L. W. Suter of Seattle arrived in the city yesterday from Seattle. He is a gold wire artist and lightning manufacturer of gold wire jewelry. Mr. Suter was for some time working in the windows of a large dry goods store in Seattle (McDougal's), and has credentials from them that it is a novel and good way to advertise a business. He will join with "Van," a brother artist while in the Province.

Mr. Corrigan, who gave evidence in the Martin vs. Ross case yesterday, is evidently a traveller. He has plyed his trade on all the continents of the globe—the four A's and one E.

Mr. W. H. Perkins goes over to Vancouver this morning to complete arrangements with a first class auctioneer, who will replace Mr. Dufour, and be associated with Mr. Perkins in his new business.

Ex-Mayor Hilbert has received a most gratifying testimonial as to his abilities as an embalmer. A brother professional writes from Goderich that he received the remains of the late Dr. Young in a perfect condition.

The Highest Authority in America.

Printers Ink, the highest newspaper authority in America, speaks thus of THE DAILY TELEGRAM:

"Did you ever hear of a place called Nanaimo? It is on the Island of Vancouver and 75 miles from Victoria. If you live in what you consider an enterprising city and believe that your local daily paper is first-class, write to the publisher of THE DAILY TELEGRAM, Nanaimo, British Columbia, and ask for a sample copy of his paper, and when you obtain it compare it with your home production. Go down and talk with the publisher about it afterwards, and ask him why it is that he can't print as good a paper, or obtain as good a local patronage, or have his paper as free from dead-head or objectionable advertisements? A useful lesson may be learned from Nanaimo."
