Saturday Evening, June 11, 1887.

Extradition with Canada.

Sir John Macdonald is reported as saying, "Canada is desirous of the widest possible extradition treaty between England and the United States." The best sentiment of this country is certainly desirous of such a consummation. Her Majesty's Dominion of Canada is easily reached from the United States, and has become a refuge for its scoundrels. The evil is one of great magnitude to both countries, debauching the morals of the refuge by the profligate expenditure of successful crime, and of the other by the facility with which a class of its most dangerous criminals escape punishment. Negotiations for the enlargement of the provisions of the existing treaty of extradition have been long pending, and their completion is understood to be delayed, as Sir John says, "by the refusal of the United States to insert a clause for the extradition of dynamiters." It would be well to know who it is that speaks on behalf of the United States. There is no considerable body of our people that justifies the destruction of property and life by dynamite. Had Guiteau slain Garfield by a bomb instead of a bullet there would have been no more possibility of his acquittal on plea of "political purpose." Murder is just murder. Dynamite has not yet been employed by any civilized nation as an instrument of war, and if it should be, the use of it by individuals to destroy a hated politician would still remain murder in law and morals. War supposes a state of preparation and readiness for reprisal between two parties. The so-called political use of dynamite supposes neither one nor the other. The essence of its supposed value in politics lies in the inexpectancy and unreadiness for reprisal on the part of those against whom it is used. And furthermore the practice of war is to spare the lives and, as far as compatible with necessity, the property of non-combatants. The practice of dynamiters would be to destroy the lives and property of non combatants mainly, and this is and should be felony at law. And, beyond all, the object of war is to secure speedy peace. Peace can not be secured by the assassination of any number of rulers. The murder of Cæsar did not end the Roman empire, nor that of Nicholas the empire of Russia. Ireland has not been more mercifully governed since Burke and Cavendish were murdered in the Phenix Park; it would not be better governed if Victoria and Salisbury were slain to-morrow. The Catholic religion would not have been re-established in England if Guy Fawkes' plot had been successful. No great change has ever been effected by an armed conspiracy. This is why dynamiting is criminal—because it does result in death and destruction, and does not and can not result in the amelioration of the condition of those who resort to it. There is good reason to believe that an enlargement of the provisions of the extradition treaty would lead, among other desirable things, to a friendly feeling that might be of value in adjusting some disturbed commercial relations.—Chicago Inter-Ocean.

G. A. Dixon, Frankville, Ont., says: "I was cured of chronic bronchitis, that troubled me for seventeen years, by the use of Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil." See that the signature of Northrop & Lyman is on the back of the wrapper, and you will get the genuine Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil.

A Good Suggestion.

EDITOR COLUMBIAN.—Many of the people here seem to think that British Columbia is a land of perpetual snow, and I am sometimes asked if any farm products can be raised there at all. Wouldn't it be a good thing if some person in Westminster would collect some fair samples of the products of British Columbia farms and forward them to this city, where they might be put on exhibition at the office of the Canadian Pacific Railway? The agent of the C. P. R. says he would be very glad to exhibit these things. I would suggest that samples be also sent to the C.P.R. office in Chicago, as all the other railways in that city have on exhibition samples of the products of farms along their lines.—Yours, &c.

J. H. Earl, West Shefford, P.Q., writes: "I have been troubled with liver complaint for several years, and have tried different medicines with little or no benefit, until I tried Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil, which gave me immediate relief, and I would say that I have used it since with the best effect. No one should be without it. I have tried it on my horse in cases of cuts, wounds, etc., and I think it equally as good for horse as for man."

THE RACES.

LONDON, June 10.—This was the last day of the Ascot Heath race meeting. The races for Hardwicke stakes, two thousand, won by Ormand; Minting second, Bennego third. Four starters.

LIBERTIES OF PARLIAMENT.

LONDON, June 10.—The Pall Mall Gazette in an article on the action of Hon. W. H. Smith, government leader, giving notice that he would to-day move that the committee name a time when they would report the Irish crimes amendment bill to the house, urges every English and Irish member of parliament who opposed Smith's proposal, from Mr. Gladstone downwards, to get themselves suspended rather than tamely acquiesce in Smith's monstrous encroachment on the liberties of parliament.

THE EMIGRATION QUESTION.

NEW YORK, June 10.—Counsel for Inman Steamship Co. applied to-day to U. S. district court for a writ of habeas corpus in the case of the seventy Irish emigrants whose return to Ireland on the City of Chester tomorrow has been ordered by the emigrant commissioners. Arguments will be heard on Tuesday. 2728 emigrants were landed at Castle Garden to-day. The New York rule is to hold all children under 16 years of age unaccompanied by proper guardians went into effect this morning. Several boys were found to be alone and they were held for investigation.

FAMINE.

LONDON, June 10.—A famine is imminent in the city of Meshed and through the whole province of Khorassan. The Russians are trying to prevent the people from emigrating to the trans-Caspian territories.

THE W. U. FIRE.

PITTSBURG, June 10.—The telephone wires shared the same fate as the telegraph wires. The Western Union & Telephone Co. will not be in a condition to do business for at least ten days. The Western Union Co. immediately transferred its business to the Mutual Union wires and is gradually getting into working condition. Only the two upper floors of the building, which belongs to the First National Bank and is one of the finest in the city, were burned. The direct loss will not fall under a hundred thousand dollars, but the indirect loss will aggregate a much larger amount.

THE POPE'S GIFT TO THE QUEEN.

ROME, June 10.—The pope's gift to Queen Victoria on the occasion of her jubilee consists of a Mosaic reproduction of Raphael's frescoe, representing an allegorical figure of Pity. The work was executed at the vatican. Monsignor Scellar will convey the gift to England and he will be accompanied by Fathers Zealesca and Levi, two young priests of the ecclesiastical academy, whom the pope will, in honor of the occasion, create bishops.

SHIPPING ITEMS.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 10.—Arrived, str. State of California, from Astoria; ship Sudran, from Port Townsend. Sailed, str. Geo. W. Elder, for Victoria; str. Columbia, for Portland; ship American Gibson, for Port Townsend.

MERCURIAL POISON FOR INSECTS.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 10.—Dr. J. T. Baner, formerly in the treasury in this city, and now a resident of Napa, renews his claim for efficacy of his mercurial remedy for vineyards infested with phylloxira. He writes to Chief Horticultural Officer Wheeler as follows: "I planted five hundred Zinfandel cuttings in the very worst infected spot of the vineyard, and when the phylloxira had destroyed every vine I put half an ounce of mercury, finely divided, in every hole around the cuttings. I took off the dead Zinfandel vines and in their places planted fresh cuttings. To-day I looked at these Zinfandel vines. I found that some of them had died like other cuttings will do even when taken from the healthy vines; but at least 85 per cent. are doing well and are full of bunches of grapes. For myself I have not the least interest in either the success or failure of the mercury remedy, as I am out of the business altogether." Planting with quicksilver will be examined and tests carried on to give the remedy a fair trial.

NO TENDERS.

WASHINGTON, June 10.—The backwardness of ship builders in applying for information as to the plans and specifications for the new navy cruisers is causing considerable apprehension among the navy officers, and it is feared that the next bid to be opened Aug. 1st will be very small. Thus far there has been but one inquiry for information about the plans for nineteen knot cruisers, that of the the Union Works of San Francisco, and a full set of drawings and specifications have been mailed to them. They were not certain, however, that they will submit bid until they have examined the plans in details. Not an inquiry has yet been received as to the Newark. Two seventeen hundred ton gunboats will probably be constructed by Cramp & Son of Philadelphia. The reasons for the backwardness on the part of bidders is ascribed to the rapidly increasing cost of material.

A BIG FIRE.

NEW YORK, June 11.—The immense sugar refinery of the Havemyer Sugar Refinery Co., in Williamsburg, near Greenpoint, was burned at three this morning. The fire extended to the Devoe Oil Works and destroyed everything and next leaped to the stables of the Union Cross Town Railroad Co. which were burned. Reeve & Perkin's lumber yard, next the refinery, also burned, and the wharves fell in. It is not known whether any lives are lost. Ten men of the night force are missing. The fire extended along the Hunter's Point Bridge, which connected Greenpoint with Long Island City, across Newton Creek. Shortly after 3 o'clock the entire reserve force was called out. The buildings of the Brooklyn Cooperage Co. and the Gleason Glass Works were burning at 3 and the Locks Iron Works were threatened. It is impossible to estimate the extent of the loss, but it will exceed a million dollars.

WILL GIVE UP THEIR PROJECT.

NEW YORK, June 11.—A special from Montreal in reference to the rumor that the North German Lloyd Co. will shortly start a line of steamers from this point, says: Van Horne, general manager of the Candian Pacific, has intimated to the people of Manitoba that if they continue the competing line to the Northern Pacific, the C. P. R. will stop running the vessels they have chartered on the Pacific. There seems to be a willingness on the part of the Canadian Pacific to allow the North German Lloyd, or in fact any large carrier to supplant them from Vancouver to the eastern hemisphere.

IRISH EVICTIONS.

DUBLIN, June 11.—The evictions at Bodyke were further carried out today. The first house visited by the evicting force was that of Timothy Collins, but as it was announced that the daughter of Collins lay dying the work of evicting was abandoned. The evictors then proceeded to the house of Michael O'Callaghan, where they were met with a terrible resistance. The bailiff and police were deluged with scalding water and meal. Col. Turner, who was in charge of evicting party, employed Father Henian, who was again in attendance, to endeavor to persuade the people to cease resistance and thus prevent bloodshed. Father Henian then entered the house and the inmates ceased their attack on the force, which entered and carried out the work of eviction. Five women who had been extremely violent in their attack were arrested.

Cabinet Representation.

SENATOR McINNES' PLEA FOR THIS PROVINCE.

In the senate Hon. Mr. McInnes, of New Westminster, enquired whether it was the intention of the government to give to British Columbia and the prairie section of the Dominion representation in the cabinet. In support of his motion he said British Columbia was entitled to representation by the amount contributed to the treasury, by its area and by its population, which the hon. gentleman put at 75,000 exclusive of Indians. There were now fifteen portfolios, yet not one of them had been allotted to a representative from that great country west of Lake Superior. He believed that the time had arrived when representation should be given to British Columbia and the Northwest Territories in the cabinet.

Hon. Mr. Power remarked that according to the figures of the honorable gentleman from New Westminster (Hon. Mr. McInnes), British Columbia was entitled to two-third of a representative. This precious portion could not be well given; but he thought that British Columbia might be allowed one of those inferior ministers proposed to be created; who would not hold portfolios and whose salaries would be about two-thirds that of a full bloom minister.

Hon. Mr. Mark did not advocate sectional representation. He believed the best men should be chosen to the Cabinet, no matter where they resided.

Hon. Mr. Abbott said it was impossible, and experience had proved it inexpedient to adopt any such harsh rule as the selecting of representatives to the Cabinet, by numerical population. However, he was glad to hear from his Hon. friend how the western provinces were increasing in wealth and in population, and hoped that the time might soon come when they should have representatives in the Cabinet from those provinces. He ventured to say that the matter would receive the careful consideration of his colleagues. The question could not be answered, as it was a question asking what the members of the Privy Council propose to advise His Excellency to do.

The subject was dropped.

Saturday Evening, June 11, 1887.

A New Industry.

Yesterday we furnished some particulars respecting the experiments just completed in this city by Mr. Andrew Smith, and the satisfactory results obtained. This enterprise, which is quite new in British Columbia, may, if developed, become a very important factor in the future progress of our province. The extent of its development can scarcely be measured. There is no end of fir wood in British Columbia, and, therefore, the supply of crude material is practically inexhaustible. Then, the parts of the fir trees that are now considered worse than useless are the very parts most valuable for this new industry. Mr. Smith affirms that the largest proportion of oil and acid is obtained from the roots and stumps and the branches. The trunk of the tree, valuable for timber or firewood, yields comparatively little of the extracts. This suggests a most valuable means of disposing of the immense fir stumps which frequently form such a serious obstacle in the way of clearing land. If the process sought to be introduced by Mr. Smith proves to be as useful as the circumstances seem to indicate, we shall have people offering to take out all the fir stumps by the roots on condition that they may be used for the preparation of pyroligneous acid and creosotic oil. By means of this process the entire tree, from the extremity of its longest root to the tip of its highest branch, may be converted into four valuable articles of commerce—lumber, charcoal, oil, and acid. Let us see, then, how these materials are to be disposed of. For the lumber there is a steady and increasing demand, and as the country becomes settled up this demand will be always increasing. The export of lumber to foreign ports this season has already been very large, and the home consumption has, perhaps, never before been equalled. Mr. Smith mentions that the creosotic oil is one of the best preservatives for timber, and that it has been largely employed for rendering ties and piles indestructible. Now, one of the greatest drawbacks in the maintenance of wharves on salt water has been the rapid destruction of piles by the sea worm. These piles have to be renewed every three or four years, at great cost and inconvenience. The process of impregnating them with this oil of fir is costly, but the result is a substantial saving to any establishment where permanence is desired. It has been stated that the C. P. R. Co. is about to erect several miles of wharves at Burrard Inlet. If creosoted piles were available for these immense wharves, and for the wharves of the inlet sawmills, the saving to these establishments would amount to a large sum. The same may be said of railway ties, and of timber used for many other purposes where the conditions are such as to invite rapid decay. The firm of which Mr. Smith is a representative has been shipping considerable quantities of the oil and acid to this coast for various uses. Of course a manufactory established on the coast would have the advantage of being on the ground and escaping heavy transcontinental freight rates. In so far as the Japanese, China and India trade is concerned, we are much more favorably situated for securing it than the Wilmington company. It is almost certain that railway expansion in China and Japan will be extensive and rapid in the years that are coming. The demand for creosoted ties, bridge timber, etc., in these countries may, therefore, become very large, and from this point that demand may be met to advantage. Ships coming from China and Japan with merchandise for the east will find here return cargoes of creosoted ties, piles and timber for the railway works across the Pacific. It is to be hoped the expectations of Mr. Smith respecting the value of British Columbia fir stumps and branches may be fully realized, and that his visit may result in the establishment of a new and permanent industry in this province. The capital required seems to be moderate, with prospects of large profits; and the operations of the manufacturer will benefit the country not only in the outset, but consequentially by removing out of the way a considerable quantity of material of which almost every possessor of real estate is exceedingly anxious to get rid.

So far as our observation extends, the only papers that have approved unconditionally of the bill of Senator McInnes proposing to compel railway companies to issue passes to all members of parliament are the Ottawa Free Press and the Victoria Times. The unity of sentiment on the part of these two journals is quite remarkable—indeed the very words in which that sentiment is expressed are identical, and one is almost led to suspect that the Ottawa organ may have copied from its Victoria contemporary! Of course it could not be the other way on!

A lady writes: "I was troubled to remove the corns, root and branch, by the use of Holloway's Corn Cure." Others who have tried it have the same experience.

A Nova Scotian Experiment.

There has lately gone into operation in the province of Nova Scotia a law directed at the liquor traffic, which is so interesting in its history and unique in its character, as to deserve attention from all who are concerned about the most vital questions of the day. Nova Scotia may be said to consist of one city, Halifax, and a lot of surrounding country, and there has been a striking contrast between the rate of progress manifested by the rural and urban portion of the community. For while the former went ahead so fast that in 14 out of the 18 counties no licenses could be obtained (in Yarmouth county licenses have been unknown for forty years), the latter continued to be the centre of a liquor traffic that defied the utmost efforts of the temperance people to abate in any appreciable degree.

Against this unpleasant state of affairs the temperance people of the city struggled long and hard, but all their efforts at amendment were foiled by the city council, the majority of whose members were in the toils of the liquor dealers. Finally they bethought themselves of the shrewd design of calling the provincial legislature to their aid, and, abetted by the rural representatives, who were almost to a man on the side of temperance, getting a law passed that would put into their hands the power of doing with the liquor traffic pretty much as they pleased. The law would, of course, be made applicable to the whole province, but its real raison d'etre and object would be the city of Halifax. "An act respecting the sale of intoxicating liquors" was introduced in the legislature at the session of 1886, and passed with hardly a modification, despite the opposition of the Halifax members and of a very large and influential portion of its inhabitants, who expressed their disapproval in speeches by the hour and petitions by the yard, which were alike disregarded.

This statute is not a prohibitory, but a licensing act, and the fulfilment of its provisions is chiefly in the hands of inspectors, who—significant clause!—"must be members in good standing of some recognized temperance organization within the district" over which they have jurisdiction. Three kinds of licenses are granted, viz., hotel, shop, and wholesale licenses, with fees respectively of $150, $100 and $300. Under the hotel license liquor can be sold in quantities not exceeding one quart, to bona fide guests, to be used at their meals or in their rooms, and not otherwise. The shop license authorizes the sale of liquors, not to be drunk in or upon the premises, in quantities not less than one pint nor more than two gallons. The wholesale license authorizes the holder to sell in quantities not less than one octavo, or one dozen quart bottles. From the foregoing it will be seen at a glance that the institution of "bars," and with it the hateful practice of "treating," which on this side of the Atlantic constitutes the special evil of the liquor business, are swept away at one fell blow.

But these are not the only restrictions in this act. To obtain a license a petition to that effect must be presented, accompanied by a certificate signed by two-thirds of the rate-payers of the polling district in which the premises sought to be licensed are situated, affirming that the applicant is a fit and proper person, and has suitable premises, and that they do not object to his carrying on the business in their locality. Furthermore, each application has to be examined into and reported upon by the inspector before it can be taken into consideration. All licenses must be constantly and conspicuously exposed to view on the premises, under heavy penalties. A most important and beneficent provision is that no sale of liquor, wholesale or retail, shall take place, except for medical purposes, between the hours of six o'clock on Saturday evening and seven o'clock on Monday morning. The benefits of such an enactment in a city where Saturday night meant only too often a carnival of drinking for the laboring and seafaring classes can hardly be estimated, while it will be, whether they admit it or not, a blessing to the young men who used to throng the hotel bars on that day. Other noticeable sections refer to the prohibition of the sale of liquor to habitual drunkards, the exclusion of anything but current money or the debtors own check in payment for liquor, and the liability of liquor sellers to actions in cases of death or crime directly traceable to intoxication from liquors purchased on their premises.

The first effect of this novel and stringent enactment was to reduce the number of licenses in the city of Halifax from 180 to 50; the second was to close up all the bars and dram-shops from one end of the city to the other; and the third was to make the first Saturday night of its operation the the quietest and most respectable ever known in the history of its capital. The effects of its workings, as may be easily imagined, are very curious. Habitual topers go wandering about like uneasy spirits, seeking refreshment but finding none. The spirit of the temperance people is aroused as never before. They are determined that no evasions of the law shall be permitted. A motion made in the legislature to repeal the law found but two supporters out of thirty-eight members, and altogether it is very clear that this new departure will have at least a fair, full trial; and, whether it prove a flawless success or not, it is hardly possible that this attempt in Nova Scotia to solve the most vexed problem of the age will fail of producing great and lasting benefit.—Ex.

J. W. HARVEY; J. CUNNINGHAM.

DIRECTORS' ANNUAL REPORT.

GENTLEMEN—In presenting our report for fiscal year ending 31st March, 1887, we beg to state that it will be an utter impossibility to run the hospital free of debt on the grant just voted by the government for the ensuing financial year.

The surgeon has been attentive in his duties and reports a large increase in the number of patients admitted during the year, shewing also that we have received patients from all parts of the province.

There are a number of incurables in this hospital, some of whom were brought from Victoria hospital years ago. The sum of $1,000 a year has been voted for a convalescent home in Victoria, the last few years. The Board think, therefore, that some of these incurables should be shipped back to Victoria.

A great number of improvements have been made during the year, walls and floors repaired, a wash-house built, the two cesspools thoroughly cleaned; the building being old, requires constant repairs, which entails considerable expenditure.

The hospital has been filled to its utmost capacity during the whole year.

The Board desire to thank subscribers for generous subscriptions, lists of which are annexed, and without which it would have been found impossible to have kept the institution free of debt; also the congregations of Holy Trinity Church, St. Andrew's (Presbyterian), Methodist and Baptist Churches for hospital Sunday collections, and the following ladies and gentlemen for old clothes, linen, books, papers etc.:—Mesdames C. T. Woods, C. E. Woods, Major, Lennie, H. Elliot, W. J. Armstrong, W. B. Townsend, Douglas, Edmonds, J. W. Harvey, Baker, W. H. Keary, D. Hennessey, Cummings, A. M. Herring, Bronskill, Sisters St. Ann's Convent, ladies W. C. T. U., Bachelors' Ball Hatchery, Messrs. I.B. Fisher, Z. S. Hall, R. I. Bentley, J. S. McDonnell.

The surgeon's report is appended hereto, and gives full details of the work accomplished for the year.

The average cost per day for each resident patient in the hospital, which includes the disbursements on out-door patients, is 67 cents.

W. H. KEARY,
Hon. Secretary.

SURGEON'S REPORT

FOR YEAR ENDING 31ST MARCH, 1887.

To the Members of the Board of Directors:

GENTLEMEN.—I have the honor to herewith present the report on this Hospital for the year ending 31st March, 1887:

Number of Indoor Patients	103
" Outdoor "	60
" Remaining in Hospital	18
" Died	14

Causes of death of the fourteen who died and length of time in Hospital:—1 typhoid fever, 6 dys; 1 alcoholism, 18 dys; 1 effects of fire at Vancouver, 4 mos. 10 dys; 1 bronchitis, 4 dys; 1 inflamation of bowels, 8 dys; 1 consumption, 2 mos. 26 dys; 1 syphilis; 9 dys; 1 paralysis, 4 dys; 1 aneurism (popliteal), 4 mos. 26 dys; 1 general debility, 2 mos. 27 dys; 1 aneurism (aorta), 12 dys; 1 old age, 6 dys; 1 paralysis, 23 dys; 1 dropsy, 5 dys; total, 14.

Although the number of deaths is large the short number of days in the Hospital of a large proportion of them shows that they came in in a hopeless condition.

The places where the indoor patients were received from are as follows:

Victoria	5	Ladner's Landing	2
Cariboo	1	Langley	2
Kamloops	5	Clover Valley	1
New Westminster	25	Harrison River	1
Bonaparte	1	Mud Bay	3
Yale	4	Chilliwhack	1
Port Moody	6	North Arm, Fraser	1
Hastings	4	Boston Bar	1
Moodyville	8	Cassiar	1
Port Honey	2	Fraser River	2
Vancouver	22	Mission	2
Hope	1	Pitt Meadows	1
C. P. R.	8
Total	103

The number of incurables now in the Hospital is twelve (12). This large number requiring to be taken care of from year to year renders it impossible to make a number of desirable improvements in the building, owing to the limited supply of funds. I have introduced the table of residences to show the people of British Columbia that they all ought to take an interest in helping on this institution, which is increasing in usefulness every year, as may be seen by comparing the number of indoor patients of the previous year—seventy-five (75)—with this year—one hundred and three (103).

We still require a lot of draining to be done about and from the building. The floors and walls have been improved and the new wash-room is a great addition to the comfort of the place.

I have great pleasure in thanking a number of friends of the Hospital for presents of clothes, old linen, pictures, books and papers. Again I have to thank the steward, Mr. Charles Digby, for his constant attention to the cleanliness of the building and his kindness and attention to the wants of the sick and his readiness in carrying out all my directions. Before closing this report I must offer my sincere thanks to the medical gentlemen who so kindly offered their assistance to myself whenever required during the past year.

I am Yours Faithfully,
R. I. BENTLEY, M. B.,
Surgeon R. C. H.

TREASURER'S REPORT.

In presenting the accounts for the past year, the Treasurer begs to call attention to the fact that the outlay has been rigidly scrutinized, in which he has been ably assisted by the Steward, Mr. Digby. There seems little prospect of any reduction of expenditure. You will notice that the subscriptions have been liberal and have been a great assistance in keeping the institution free of debt. It is to be regretted that the Government have reduced the grant to the Hospital from $4,500 to $3,500.

W. H. KEARY,
Treasurer.

THE FUNERAL.

was walking in Savannah, past a church decayed and dim;
hen there slowly through the window came a plain ire funeral hymn;
nd a sy pathy awakened, and a wonder quickly grew,
till I found myself environed in a little negro pew.

ut at front a colored couple sat in sorrow, nearly wild;
n the altar was a coffin, in the coffin was a child.
could picture him when living—crusty hair, protruding lips—nd had seen perhaps a thousand in my hurried southern trip.

ut no baby ever rested in the soothing arms of death hat had fanned more flames of sorrow with his little fluttering breath; nd no funeral ever glistened with more sympathy profound han was in the chain of tear drops that enclasped those mourners round.

ose a sad old colored preacher at the little wooden desk—ith a manner grandly awkward, with a countenance grotesque;
ith simplicity and shrewdness on his Ethiopian face;
ith the ignorance and wisdom of a crushed, undying race.

nd he said: "Now don' be weepin' for dis pretty bit o' clay—or de little boy who lived here, he done gone an' run away!
e was doin' very finely, an' he 'preciate your love;
t his sure 'nuff Father want him in de large house up above.

Now He didn't give you dat baby, by a hundred thousan' mile!
just think you need some sunshine, an' He lend it for a while!
' He let you keep an' love it till your hearts was bigger grown;
' dese silver tears you're sheddin's jest de interest on de loan.

Here yer oder pretty chilrun!—don't be makin' it appear t your love-cup sort o' ingrossed by dis little fellow here;
on' pile up too much your sorrow on deir little mental shelves,
's to kind o' set 'em wonderin' if dey're no account demselves!

Just you think, you poor dear mourners, creepin' 'long o'er Sorrow's way, hat a blessed little picnic dis yere baby's got to-day!
ur good faders and good moders crowd de little fellow round de angel-tended garden of de Big Plantation Ground.

n' dey ask him 'Was your feet sore?' an' take off his little shoes,
' dey wash him, an' dey kiss him, an' dey say: 'Now what's de news?'
' de Lawd done cut his tongue loose; den de little fellow say:
ll our folks down in de valley tries to keep de hebbenly way.'

n' his eyes dey brightly sparkle at de pretty things he view;
n a tear come, and he whisper: 'But I want my parents, too!'
t de Angel Chief Musician teach dat boy a little song; s 'If only dey be fait'ful dey will soon be comin' long.'

n' he'll get an education dat will proberbly be worth eral times as much as any you could buy for him on earth;
'll be in de Lawd's big school house, widout no contempt or fear;
lle dere's no end to de bad 'tings might have happened to him here.

o, my pooah, dejected mounahs, let your hearts wid Jesus rest, don't go to critercisin' dat ar One w'at knows de best!
have sent us many comforters. He have right to take away—de Lawd be praise an' glory now and ever. Let us pray.

be in a hurry to take her from me."
Wait two years and you will be e-and-twenty, and I'll give you the r farm and build you a house," said er.

ur course of true love seemed to running very smooth indeed, and I ld have staked my life and soul, a ty heavy stake, on my constancy, somehow, I think Satan thought we e too happy, and laid a trap for me.
octor Robins's widow, a managing man with a big house, was in the t of taking summer boarders, and y year a lot of city strangers wand about the place from June to Sep-ber.

hen Dolly and I had been engaged t a year and a half, the widow had y boarders in her house, and Ike Edwin and all the male help slept he barn.

here was one young lady there, a s Sally Gray, so pretty that every who saw her was talking about it.
I was introduced to her. Some nen have a way of making a man act inst his better judgment. She was of them. I did not mean to flirt her, but I did. I did not mean to t her in shady places, and in the quiet d paths, but we met. She knew (I pose Ike Robins had told her) ut my engagement, and she teased about being afraid of my sweetheart.
Such a good, prim little thing," she ld say. "Is she dreadfully shocked me? Does she think I am a flirt?
s she pray for me in meeting?"
felt angry, but yet I was piqued proving myself free to do as I d. At a little evening party, to ch we were asked, I danced five ces with her, and when, at last, my science smote me, and I went to look Dolly, and I found she had gone
e.

She said her pa wanted her," said Robins; "but I tell you plainly, ee Gardner, I don't believe it; and my part, I don't see what people find to admire in that impudent
New York girl. If my Tilly behaved like her, I'd shut her up on bread and water until she reformed."

I hurried away, but the parsonage was shut up when I got there, and I spent an hour walking up and down before the house, staring at the dark windows.

The time seemed very long until the next evening, and I went over to the parsonage very early; but Dolly was not there.

"She's gone to spend the evening somewhere," said the dominie kindly. "I suppose she forgot to leave word for you to come for her. She isn't very well, either; a cold, I suppose. I know I generally caught cold at a party when I was young and attended such entertainments. I hope she'll be careful. Her poor mother died of consumption."

My heart gave a great leap.

I thought Dolly ill, dying, even dead, and I went out into the kitchen to ask the servant if Dolly left any message for me.

"She said she wouldn't be home to-night," answered Nora; "at least this evening, I mean, and she did not leave word whereshe was gone."

Nora understood, I saw. I felt terribly injured and I made up my mind to avenge myself by spending the evening with Sally Gray.

She was at home, the servant girl said, and I found her waiting in the parlor for me. We had it to ourselves. Mrs. Robins never came in, nor any of the other boarders; indeed, it was now growing late in the season, and they were almost all gone away. If I never knew how to flirt before, Sally Gray taught me how that night, and when I took leave of her I was imprudent enough to tell her I should like to kiss her.

"Do it, if you desire," said she.

And then! Yes, I kissed her; and as I did it the door opened, and we started apart, and there stood Dolly. She had seen it all.

"I left my bonnet here," she said. "Mr. Isaac is going home with me, and I came to get it. Sorry to disturb you."

She was very cool and contemptuous. She tied her bonnet on at the glass, threw her little mantle over her shoulders, and went out. Next day she broke our engagement and sent me back my ring.

The next week I left home and went away to sea. Some one had told me that Dolly was going to marry Ike Robins.

Mother wrote to me often, and never mentioned Dolly and I never asked about her. I lived with men, generally on the sea, and had no thought of liking or caring for any woman. I always intended to go home and see the old folks, but they died of a fever within two days of each other, and a stranger sent me the news.

Lawyer Dredgers saw to the estate, and did what I asked him to do with the money. I did not need it then, but it would keep me from being a beggar in my old age. And still I sailed the sea, until when forty years old an accident happened to me which came near being my death. It did not kill me nor cripple me, but I was no longer fit for a sailor's life, and there was nothing left for me but to settle down on land and live on my money; and so I went home at last to talk to Lawyer Dredgers, and get his advice.

I felt very sad as I walked through the village. My parents were dead, no one remembered me; I had not a friend in the place.

The lawyer had done his best to make my money profitable to me, and I was richer than I dreamed.

When all the business was over I took a moonlight stroll through the street. It was twenty years since the night I kissed Sally Gray, and lost my love by it; but nothing had altered in the outward aspect of the place.

People were sitting on their porches as of yore; the same flowers seemed to bloom in the gardens; the same loungers to stand about the tavern door; the same young men and girls to hang upon the garden gates. It was odd to think that the girls might be the daughters of those I knew.

There stood the church; there the parsonage. I walked toward it. The windows of the sitting-room were open. I drew softly near and peeped in.

The old clock ticked in the corner. The old rag carpet was either the same or another just like it. There was only one blue vase on the mantel. I suppose the other had been broken; but there were the profiles of grandpa and grandma Wheeler over the escritoire.

There was Dominie Wheeler, looking very much older, sitting exactly as he used to sit beside the table, his red handkerchief over his knees, a cup of tea in his hands.

"Dolly," he said.

And from an inner room came a woman, large, handsome and high-colored, who said:

"Well, father?"

Could it be my slim young Dolly?

Yes, it was. She was very fine-looking now and she looked so matronly that I immediately concluded that she was Mrs. Isaac Robins.

Still I could not leave the window.

"It was my one glimpse of her," I said to myself, "for years past and years to come."

"Well, father?" she said.

And turned smiling toward him.

"I've been thinking it over, Dolly," he said. "I think it would be best for you to marry. I am eighty. I cannot live long. You had better marry Mr. Braham. He is very fond of you. You like him, I am sure. Is it for my sake you say no?"

She bent over him and put her hand on his shoulders.

"Father," she said, "I am going to tell you the truth, a thing a woman seldom does in these matters. I should not have to leave you; so it is not for your sake, much as I love you. But I do not care for Mr. Braham. I have only cared for one man in my life—my first love, James Gardner. I sent him away from me, and he had done very wrong; but I think now that we both loved each oth r. I know that, even now, I cannot forget him, and that I never shall forget him while I live."

There were tears in her eyes; she brushed them away. In another moment I was at the door; she opened it. I held out both my hands. Those were Dolly's girlish eyes that looked at me, and I caught her in my arms.

"I have come back to be forgiven, Dolly," I said, and I saw that I had not come in vain.

How He Wanted It Stuffed.

Boarder: "Mrs. Finnigan, what is this?"

Boarding-house mistress: "A chicken, sir."

"Oh, it is, eh? I thought maybe it was a reed bird."

"Isn't it good, Mr. Baker? I stuffed it with bread and onions, and the almost filling——"

"Mrs. Finnigan, do you know what I would have stuffed it with?"

"No; with what?"

"Another chicken."—[Philadelphia Call.

"Well, Uncle Zeke, what compensation do you want for whitewashing the fence?" "Doan want no kompensashun, Massa Backus; only jist fo' dollars an' a hall."—[New Orleans Picayune.

WHAT PHYSICIANS SAY ABOUT THE

STARR KIDNEY PAD.

"Treatment by Absorption has for some time been recognized by Medical Men to be the most simple and effectual means of conveying to Diseased Organs, "Curatives," but in cases of Kidney Disease and Complaints attendant thereon, successful treatment was practicably impossible until the introduction of the Starr Kidney Pad. It costs less than a single prescription and is immeasurably more decisive and effective than any quantity of internal Medicinal dosing. Worn immediately over the seat of Disease, its curative properties become absorbed by the diseased and enfeebled Organs, continuously and directly, as required to insure in return their healthy action and original vigour. It is comfortable to the patient and pleasant in its effects, and cures when nothing else can. The Starr Kidney Pad accomplishes positive, decisive results. A more valuable discovery as a true remedy for Kidney Diseases was never made.—Medical Gazette

The Starr Kidney Pad, manufactured in Toronto, is a permanent sure cure for diseases, disorders and ailments of the Kidneys, Bladder and urinary secretive system, or attendant complaints, causing pain in the small of the back, sides, etc., producing urinary disorders, such as too frequent, scanty, difficult, painful or copious micturition, inability of retention and sedimentary urine, dropsical symptoms, etc., denoting the presence in the system of diseases common to the urinary secretive organs—known as gravel, catarrh of the bladder and passages, Bright's disease, diabetes, dropsy, piles, nervous debility, etc. Send for pamphlet to LANGLEY & CO., Wholesale Agents, Victoria. Daily British Columbian

Saturday Evening, June 11, 1887.

To-day being Saturday there is no mail from the east.

The William Irving went up to Chilliwhack this morning.

The Gladys arrived from up-river ports at 1 o'clock to-day.

The rifle association had target practice this afternoon at the range.

A pipe maker in Metz has been fined for selling pipes bearing a carved head of General Boulanger.

A large number of people are availing themselves of the Saturday excursions to the Hot Springs.

Boat-owners are busy over-hauling and scraping their boats and preparing them for the jubilee races.

The Fraser is slowly subsiding, and should the cool weather continue no doubt the water will not again rise very high.

A team of horses attached to a stage belonging to Mr. Jas. Wise, ran away yesterday and did considerable damage to the vehicle.

Passenger traffic on the river steamers is increasing. Both the Gladys and the William Irving have a large list every time they arrive.

The str. Rithet left this morning for Victoria at 7 o'clock. She had a very heavy load of freight, almost, most of which has come from the east.

Supt. Roycroft is still in pursuit of Frank Spencer, the Kamloops murderer, who is supposed to be hiding somewhere near the boundary.

According to the report of the minister of marine and fisheries the value of the produce of the fisheries for this province for 1886 was $1,577,000.

A New York despatch says O'Donnovan Rossa has received an anonymous letter stating that twelve men have been appointed to kill him before the end of June.

Mr. Bonson is placing a very tall flagstaff in front of his store on Columbia st. The pole is over 80 feet in length, and, when erected, will be one of the tallest in the city.

A very interesting programme has been prepared for the conversazione which takes place in the Drill Shed next Tuesday night. Copies of the programme will be distributed on Monday.

At the Nanaimo assizes the grand jury found a true bill against Thos. Embleton for abortion. This case has been twice thrown out by grand juries, and now Embleton is said to be out of the province.

The regular business meeting of the Y.M.C.A. is on Monday evening at 8 p.m. at the association rooms, and all members are requested to be present, as some matters of special interest will probably be discussed.

It is now stated that Blake's symptoms are alarming, and he will positively retire from all public work. He is threatened with paralysis. Hon. Wilfred Laurier has been elected temporary leader of the Liberal party.

Three horses were stolen from the stables of Mr. Taylor, hotel-keeper, Langley on Monday night and taken across the Pne. He followed them and secured the horses but the thieves made their escape. It is supposed they were half-breeds.

Geo. H. Miller has been found guilty of murder in the first degree, at Seattle, for the murder of J. M. Coleman and Wilbur Patten, near Seattle, in 1886. The jury was out one hour and forty-five minutes and brought in a sealed verdict. This is the third trial.

The Victoria Times celebrated the 3rd anniversary of its birthday on Thursday. Our cotemporary has displayed considerable enterprise during the past year especially, and is in many respects an excellent newspaper. Mr. Templeman is now manager instead of Mr. McLagan.

In the report of an interview with Mr. Smith on the fir oil scheme, which appeared yesterday, it was stated that the resin was found here only in the "trunks and branches." It should have been "stumps and branches," as the the trunks of the fir trees contain very little of the oil or acid.

Worms destroy the whole system. Mother Graves' Worm Exterminator deranges worms, and gives rest to the sufferer. It only costs twenty-five cents to try and to convince.

COLLISION.—On Thursday afternoon two construction trains on the C.P.R., near Craigellachie, came into collision, killing W. Bowie, the roadmaster. The trains were not damaged to any extent, and the loss is reported very light.

RAPIDLY ADVANCING.—Westminster is making gigantic building strides. The COLUMBIAN has learned from good authority that another big block of brick buildings will shortly be started there by Lowenberg, Harris & Co. The buildings will be situated on Front street, on what is known as the Douglas estate, to the east of the Armstrong building, and will extend from that structure to Church street. —Vic. Times.

NEW FLOURING MILL.—The Columbia Milling Co., Spallumcheen, have all the machinery on the ground and are fitting it up with all dispatch. They expect to be in a position to grind in about five weeks, and the whole of British Columbia may congratulate themselves upon having as fine a roller mill as Canada boasts. The capacity is 100 barrels per day, and it is generally acceded in the upper country that all the wheat they require to run the mill to its full capacity will be forthcoming.—Times.

THE KAMLOOPS MURDERER.—Hector McLean returned to Kamloops on Sunday last from an unsuccessful pursuit after the murderer of Spencer. A cowboy brought in the news that he had met the murderer on the Similkameen river, maked his way to the boundary line on foot and quite used up. He had lost his horse and sold his gun to a Siwash for $5. The cowboy affirms McLean was only ten miles behind him when he turned back. Supt. Roycraft, who was in Kamloops when McLean returned, organized another party, which started right away, and with the information which they now possess it is thought they will be successful.—Times.

RUNAWAY.—Yesterday afternoon Dr. Bentley was bringing his horse and buggy out of the asylum grounds when the horse became frightened at something and started off at full speed towards the river. Instead of turning on Columbia st. the frightened animal went over the bank which is quite steep, and disappeared from view. When the doctor arrived at the scene of disaster he found the buggy caught in the brush not far from the street, while half-way down the bank the horse lay doubled up with its nose under the root of a large stump. "It's a gone horse," said the doctor; but when he had released it from its uncomfortable situation it got up, shook itself and walked away quite satisfied with its adventure.

LARGE INCREASE.—At the yearly meeting in Exeter hall, London, of the Wesleyan Missionary Society, the chairman, Sir Charles Warren, so well known from his official doings in South Africa, spoke in the highest terms of the natives of Bechuanaland, and of their capacity of becoming highly civilised under suitable laws. Missionaries, he said, were most successful who put their Christianity before their Church. The progress of the society's operations may be seen from the fact that when the Queen came to the the Throne it had 306 missionaries grouped in 180 circuits, with 64,591 members. The income was £75,000, and expenditure £70,000. The income for 1886 was £143,182. The mission circuits were now 1,959; the chapels and preaching stations 10,919; ministers and missionaries 2,592, and members 430,247.—Globe.

Mr. Geo. Tolen, druggist, Gravenhurst, Ont., writes: "My customers who have used Northrop & Lyman's Vegetable Discovery and Dyspeptic Cure says that it has done them more good than anything they have ever used." It has indeed a wonderful influence in purifying the blood and curing diseases of the Digestive Organ, the Liver, Kidneys, and all disorders of the system.

Personal.

T. J. Armstrong left for Yale to-day via the C.P.R.

J. C. Armstrong went up to Harrison Hot Springs to-day.

A. Rand, of this city, and E. E. Rand, of Vancouver, went up to the Hot Springs to-day.

J. B. Ferguson and Mrs Ferguson arrived from Victoria to-day via Vancouver, and are stopping at the Colonial.

Miss Armstrong, principal of the Victoria girls' department in the Central school, will spend her holidays this year visiting her old home and friends in Ontario. She will leave for the east immediately after the vacation sets in, which will be for seven weeks this year.

It is reported that the Rev. John Murray, of New Glasgow, Nova Scotia, has resigned his charge there and is about to remove to British Columbia. The reverend gentleman is well known in the upper country, especially in Nicola, where he has a brother, Hugh, also well know and highly esteemed.

Mr. Andrew Smith, secretary and treasurer of the Carolina Oil & Creosote Co., of Wilmington, N.C., left for his home this morning. Mr. Smith crossed the river and started by vehicle for Blaine, as he wished to examine the timber on the other side of the Fraser. During his stay here Mr. Smith has made enquiries concerning the rate of taxation and the harbor facilities of the city. Evidently he means business.

The Dead.

William E. Sheridan, the celebrated American tragedian, is dead in Sydney, Aus.

An Ottawa despatch says Mr. Kamper, representing an enormously wealthy syndicate, has made an offer to the government for the purchase of the entire system of the Intercolonial railway. The scheme proposed is next in magnitude to the Canadian Pacific. It is the intention of the syndicate to import one thousand skilled workmen for the development of the iron industry of Nova Scotia.

Midsummer Examinations.

Who Obtained Diplomas.

The annual midsummer examinations of the High School were held this morning. The examination was chiefly of an oral character. The pupils were questioned in the following subjects: Greek, Latin, Grecian History, English Grammar, Natural Philosophy, Rhetoric, Composition, Geometry, Mensuration. The pupils answered readily and in an intelligent manner the questions put to them, and exhibited a proficiency in their studies. Miss Gibson read an excellent essay on the Art of Printing, in which she described intelligently the mysteries of the printing office. Miss Turner read a good sketch of Westminster, and Master Davidson read an admirable account of a trip on the C.P.R. from the Pacific coast to Montreal. Mr. Stramberg then asked Rev. Mr. Jamieson to present the diplomas. He explained that some of the pupils were almost of equal merit in two or three subjects, but that it was impossible for one pupil to obtain two diplomas. Mr. Jamieson then stepped on the platform and proceeded to distribute the scrolls of merit. Miss Kathleen Black won the diploma for Punctuality and Regularity, Miss Mabel E. Millard the diploma for deportment, and James Rankin the diploma for General Proficiency. Master Rankin deserves great praise. Mr. Stramberg read a letter from the superintendent of education which stated that Master Rankin had made the highest number of marks at the general examinations. Rankin has also made the highest number of marks that has been made in the school in several years, and justly deserved the praise he received. He is also the winner of the governor-general's medal. Mr. Jamieson then congratulated the pupils on the result of the examinations. Mr. Donald McGregor also made a short speech. This brought the exercises to a close and the scholars were dismissed for their vacation. Among the visitors present were Mrs. Black and Miss Black, Mrs. Homer, Mrs. Turner, Mrs. Edmonds, Mrs. Johnston, Mrs. Peele, Mrs. McKenzie, Miss Major, Rev. Mr. Jamieson, Messrs. T. J. Trapp, D. McGregor, E. Rand, Davidson.

Report of Park Committee.

The committee appointed by the public meeting having interviewed the hon. provincial secretary with a view to having the park handed over to the city for use as a public pleasure ground, have to report that, owing to a change in the law, the government has not power to grant the request. As will be seen from Mr. Robson's reply hereto attached, the government had power to deal with such matters previous to last session; but in conquence of an amendment introduced at the instance of the opposition, and carried by the house, this power was taken away in as far as it related to making grants of land for such purposes. While the intention of the promoters of the amendment may have been proper enough, the effect of it upon our city has been most unfortunate, and it is to be regretted that Mr. Bole (our city member) did not guard our interests in this matter. If he had done so there would probably have been no difficulty in securing the park, and also the site asked for city hall.

D. S. CURTIS, Hon. Sec. R. DICKINSON, Chairman Com.

Hon. Mr. Robson said it was the intention of the government to extend the asylum grounds somewhat, handing over the remainder to the city for the purposes of a public park, and the late chief commissioner and he had traced out boundaries for that purpose; but, unfortunately for that scheme, the power to make the grant had been taken away by the legislature. Under the "Land Act, 1884," as under previous acts, the lieutenant-governor-in-council had power to make free or partially free grants "for the encouragement of immigration or other purposes of public advantage," but, at the instance of the opposition (with which this constituency appeared to be in sympathy) the words, "or other purposes of public advantage" were repealed, so that, now the executive is powerless to make the grant desired. Replying to a question as to whether there was any hope of the old gaol site being granted to the corporation for city purposes, Mr. Robson said that question stood in precisely the same position, the power to make the grant having, as already stated, been taken away.

THE PROPER CHANNEL for the escape from the system of impurities which would, if they remained, poison the blood, is through the bowels. When the outlet is obstructed it may be disencumbered with Northrop & Lyman's Vegetable Discovery and Dispeptic Cure, a remedy which regulates the system, invigorates digestion, and is pure and safe as well as effective. It cures all diseases arising from impure blood.
