Daily British Columbian

Saturday Evening, April 23, 1887.

Sabbath observance, as provided for by the ordinances of such cities as New York, Philadelphia, and Newark, has been receiving special attention of late. Last Sunday, more than one hundred arrests for violations of the excise law were made in the metropolis, and many other open transgressions were summarily stopped by the police. In the City of Brotherly Love and the busy poly-manufacturing centre of New Jersey, the blue laws were pretty faithfully enforced, to the great discontent of the foreign population in each community. If our civic rulers do not grow weary in well-doing, and allow the hand of justice to slacken, there is no reason why the American Sabbath may not be preserved to the nation, despite the modern invasion of Vandals and Goths that ever threatens to destroy or set at naught our Christian institutions, including the precious boon of a day when all men may rest from their labors.—N. Y. Witness.

The state legislature of Massachusetts has passed a bill giving to all women, who under the state law have the right to vote for school commissioners, the right to vote on the liquor question. The principle underlying this measure is a sound one, and its adoption, not only in Massachusetts but in Canada, is expedient. There is a particularly close connection between the general welfare of the women of any community and the number of saloons in it, and the saloon is also so potent for effect upon the home that its evil influence falls upon women through men almost as strongly as it does on man. The establishment of a saloon in any neighborhood will affect the women living in that neighborhood more than it will the men, and it is but common fairness to give them a direct right to guard against being incommoded by such an institution, to put the matter in its mildest form. It is expedient that women should be given that power, because they have taken up the liquor question, have studied it and are qualified to give an opinion upon it. Why should not a person who wishes to open a saloon in any neighborhood be required to get the signatures of the women resident in the neighborhood? They spend much more time in the neighborhood than their husbands and brothers and surely know as well as they do what the legitimate needs of the neighborhood for—saloon—food and drink are.—Montreal Witness.

When the inter-state commerce act was pending it was pointed out that one of the most serious difficulties in the way of its satisfactory enforcement would be the attitude of the Canadian roads, which would be beyond the control of the act, and therefore able to compete without restraint for through traffic between the west and the seaboard. The Grand Trunk of Canada has brought this difficulty home to the trunk lines by insisting upon terms which would virtually leave it free to compete without restraint for the through traffic, and in that position it acts with the Chicago and Grand Trunk, which has virtually withdrawn from the western traffic association. The danger now is that these Canada lines, being free to take through freight at such rates as they please, will divert a large share of the traffic from the lines subject to the interstate commerce act. At the same time a new step is noticed in the warfare which Canada is waging against the interests of the United States. A sudden and sweeping reduction of tolls on Canadian canals threatens greatly increased competition for shippers of this country on the lakes. The tolls are substantially abolished as to shipments through the canals to points in Canada, but not as to shipments to points in the United States, so that the effect is to offer a large bounty for shipments through Montreal to Europe. In this respect also the inter-state commerce act gives the Canadians a great advantage, of which they are not slow to avail themselves.—N. Y. Tribune.

C. C. Jacobs, Buffallo, N. Y., says: "Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil cured him of a bad case of piles of 8 years' standing, having tried almost every known remedy, besides two Buffalo Physicians, without relieff but the Oil cured him; he thinks it cannot be recommended too highly." There being imitations on the market of Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil, customers will see that they get the genuine.

"Oh, Mr. President, the cashier—the cashier!" stammered the paying teller as the president entered the bank. "Well, well!" what of the cashier?" asked the president, impatiently. "He's gone, and there's no cash here."—New York Sun.

WANT SECESSION.

HALIFAX, April 22.—An exciting debate took place in the Nova Scotia legislature yesterday on the secession question. Premier Fielding, in moving a series of resolutions on the question, said there was nothing now left to do but to make another effort to obtain larger financial and improved commercial relations from the Dominion government. The premier's speech was received very coldly. Mr. Frazier, familiarly known as the apostle of secession, moved an amendment on secession. Mr. McColl said Nova Scotia's best interests were in annexation to the United States. Therefore, he moved to add to the prime minister's resolution that the government be instructed to keep the expenditures within the revenue and take steps to secure the admission of Nova Scotia as a state of the American union. Mc Coll's motion caused a sensation. No definite action was taken.

THE SEALING DISPUTE.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 22.—A dispatch received here from Washington by L. N. Handy & Son, owners of the schr San Diego, which was recently seized in Behring Sea for alleged illegal seal fishing, will undoubtedly settle the long-discussed question regarding the rights of vessels to catch seals in Behring Sea. For many years the Alaska Commercial Co. has hired exclusive privileges from the government to capture seals in the waters adjacent to the islands and mainland of Alaska. Gradually the company extended its claims until it claimed the exclusive right to fish in the entire Behring Sea, which claim was recognized by the government, and any vessel found seal hunting in those waters was seized and confiscated. Handy & Son claimed that the government had no jurisdiction over this body of water beyond three miles from shore, which is one of the international laws that all nations are bound to respect. The matter has been constantly agitated in Washington since the time of Grant's first presidential term, but up to the present time no relief has been afforded. Recently Mr. Handy brought suit in the Boston courts against the commander of the revenue cutter which seized his schooner, making the government a co-defendant, and sent J. F. Evans, an attorney, east to conduct the suit and exert his influence with the president to alter the laws. Mr. Handy also wrote to President Cleveland explaining to him the injustice the present laws inflict on those who desire to engage in seal-hunting in those waters. The matter has been discussed at length at all cabinet meetings held recently, and on Wednesday Mr. Handy received a telegram from his lawyer in Washington stating that the president had ruled that any vessel is entitled to capture seals one marine league from the shores of Alaska. Mr. Handy, who was interviewed, expressed himself as greatly pleased over the president's ruling, and stated that it is his intention to dispatch a sealing vessel to Behring Sea this season. Louis Sloss, of the Alaska Commercial Co., stated he had received no intimation of such ruling, and hardly thought the president had so ruled.

MONTREAL'S FLOOD.

MONTREAL, April 22.—The water continues to rise in the St. Lawrence river, and all the low-lying portions of the city are flooded. The damage will be enormous.

A CYCLONE.

ST. LOUIS, April 22.—A dispatch from Nevada, Mo., says: A terrific cyclone swept over the northern part of this (Vernon) county last night about 8 o'clock. The clouds were plainly visible here, passing only about 8 miles from this city. The cyclone seemed to come down Marmaton river from the Kansas line, dealing death and destruction wherever it struck. So far as can be learned, the first place it touched was in Metz township, passing through Metz, Osage and Blue Mound townships. Fences, houses, barns and everything in the line of the storm, which was about half a mile wide, were picked up, rent into splinters, and cast down hundreds of yards away. Trees were torn up by the roots. Over 30 houses were destroyed and about 15 persons killed. Reliable news has only been received from Osage township, and it is thought that the death roll will be swelled to over 25.

THE MAIL ON THE FISHERY DISPUTE.

TORONTO, April 22.—The Mail, in an editorial on Lord Salisbury's actions, says: "In our opinion Lord Salisbury has acted wisely. Had our cruisers resumed operations against American fishermen we should have felt the full force of the retaliation bill, and England might be dragged into a very ugly quarrel. Mr. Cleveland and his advisers are anxious to make a settlement that will be equally advantageous to both, and if we are wise we will leave our gun-boats in the dry-dock to which Lord Salisbury has just consigned them and negotiate with Americans as with friends and neighbors who wish us well.

AN INSULT TO FRANCE.

PARIS, April 22.—The French papers are unanimous in the statement that M. Schnabels was arrested on French soil by the German officers who took him into custody. The Temps published a despatch from Strasburg stating that German officials suspected Schnabels of having relations with persons in Germany for purposes of obtaining information concerning the military measures being taken around Metz for the use of French military officials. The authorities of the foreign office believe the German government will make an explanation of the affair that will calm the present indignation felt by the French.

STRIKING A VITAL SPOT.

NEW YORK, April 22.—The Mail and Express says: Archbishop Corrigan has launched another bolt at the friends and supporters of Dr. McGlynn. The Catholic Herald has been a staunch supporter of Dr. McGlynn and has directed some fierce assaults upon the archbishop and Manager Preston. Now the archbishop has struck back. He has addressed a letter to the editor of the Herald in which he calls attention to the fact that as the Herald assumes to be a Catholic paper it must obey the injunction, which the third plenary council placed on all Catholic writers, to refrain from attacking publicly the manner in which any bishop rules his diocese. He concludes his letter in the following significant clause: "For some time past the utterance of the Catholic Herald have been shockingly scandalous. As this paper is published in the diocese, I hereby warn you that if you continue in this course of conduct it will be at your peril. If this warning is not obeyed the journal in question will be publicly denounced from every Catholic pulpit in this city." As this is the first time in many years that any American Catholic journal has been condemned, this case will cause wide comment.

EGAN AND THE "TIMES"

LINCOLN, Neb., Apr. 22.—M. Egan's attention having been called to the statement through London cables that the managers of the London Times have thrown out a hint that they will publish other letters which they say are not less important than the alleged fac simile now creating much controversy. He received intimations from Omaha and other quarters some weeks ago that the Pinkerton agency was making efforts to obtain specimens of his handwriting and in view of this fact he should not be at all surprised if the Times, as the instrument of loyal union would endeavor to get off some forgeries on him.

PAPAL APPOINTMENTS.

ROME, Apr. 22.—It is probable that Monsignor Rampolla will be appointed papal secretary of state, and Monsignor Agliard, apostatic delegate to Constantinople, or be made secretary for extraordinary ecclesiastical affairs. The appointment of Nuncio has fallen on Monsignor Rotelle at Paris, Monsignor Galimbert at Vienna, Monsignor Petre at Madrid, and Monsignor Scilla at Munich. These appointments will be announced after May.

DISALLOWANCE.

WINNIPEG, Man., Apr. 22.—A private message from Scarth, Winnipeg's representative in the commons, says it is the intention of parliament to disallow two rights of way for charters just passed by the Manitoba legislature. If this is done there is a serious probability of rebellion here as the people of the province are thoroughly aroused and fiercely talk of forcible resistance and possible annexation to the U.S. The local government has pledged itself to build the road without a charter if necessary.

Eastern Canada.

There were twenty-two failures in Canada last week.

Winnipeg's population has increased about two thousand since last year.

The railway commission concluded its sittings at Toronto on Saturday.

Lord Lansdowne has cabled to London contradicting the absurd stories of his being in fear of attack.

The expenditure of the Canadian Postoffice Department last year was $3,380,000 and the revenue $2,468,747.

Police Magistrate Denison, of Toronto, has refused to endorse a Montreal warrant for the arrest of Mr. Sheppard, of the News.

Wm. Panton, editor and one of the proprietors of the Milton Champion, was yesterday committed to jail for refusing to testify in a Scott Act case.

The fisheries protection fleet this season will include the flagship Acadia, the Lansdowne, La Canadienne; schrs. Gen. Middleton, L. Howlett, F. E. Conrad, Terror, Lizzie Findlay, Critic, and the Vigilant.

The Montreal Post returns to its attacks on Lansdowne for evictions on his estates in Ireland, denouncing him in the bitterest terms. Among other choice epithets he is termed "the monster in human shape who now defiles the office of governor-general."

John Mills, of Aylmer, who was arrested on a charge of bigamy, and subsequently bailed by his father in $1,000 to appear, having skipped to the States. Both wives appeared in court. The magistrate ordered the bail not to be estreated until the sessions, as it is expected Mills will return, when his father will have him immediately arrested.

Mrs. D. Morrison, Fernham Centre, P. Q., writing about Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil, says: George used it on his son, and it cured him of rheumatism with only a few applications. The balance of the bottle was used by on old gentleman for Asthma, with the best results. It acts like a charm."

Daily British Columbian

Saturday Evening, April 23, 1887.

The Fishery Dispute.

Commenting on the letter of President Cleveland to the fishermen of Gloucester, the Monetary Times says it "will scarcely tend to foster a desire for retaliation in any class of American citizens." It then proceeds to say: "The predatory interest of American fishermen is the root of the whole difficulty. The very first thing the Gloucester fleet does, this season, is to set out for the Canadian shore fisheries, with the intention of pursuing their calling illegally, to the detriment of Canada. They exhaust invention in giving the greatest fleetness to their sailing craft, in the hope that when a Canadian cruiser surprises them in the act of illegal fishing, they will be able to make good their escape. One notorious offender, chased by a cruiser, has already realized that expectation. The trouble of dealing with American fishermen is that they have not the least idea of fulfilling their international obligations or acting in good faith, in any particular. They commit robbery and then expect their government to sustain them in the act. The privilege of fishing in our waters might be secured on terms honorable to both countries; but these fishermen more than any class stand in the way of an arrangement being made, acting as they do in the belief that free access to our fisheries can be had for nothing. We are obliged to defend our property in order to prevent the carrying out of this design."

Newfoundland Fishermen.

The Vancouver News of yesterday enquires what has become of the fishermen reported to have passed through Winnipeg a few days ago on their way to this coast. Very likely these fishermen are already in the province. Cyril Gosse, Mark Gosse, A. Marche, Mark Pike, Ed. Parsons, Jos. Gosse, Jno. Whiteway, and a number of others from Harbor Grace, Newfoundland, arrived in this city the other day, and most of them have already found employment of one sort or other, either present or prospective. There are all practical fishermen, the very bone and sinew of their native province, which they have left in the hope of finding better things in the land of the setting sun. The reports from Newfoundland fishing regions are anything but encouraging, and these men say that if on this coast they find fish plentiful, or if they can find some other remunerative employment suitable for their countrymen, there are hundreds of Newfoundlanders waiting ready to come if so advised. Some of the eastern fishermen have already been trying their hand at line fishing in the straits up near Seymour Narrows, and feel fairly well pleased at the result. Some have made engagements to go up the coast in connection with the salmon fisheries, while others will fish for salmon in Fraser River. It is their desire and purpose to gain all the information they can about the country and its suitableness for the fishermen of Newfoundland; and when they have gained sufficient knowledge on this point to enable them to form an intelligent opinion, they will send a report to those who are waiting for it in the east. This is a most judicious arrangement. Although many of those who have followed a fisherman's life in Newfoundland are well off, yet some of them are poor and have nothing to risk in a venture about the success of which there are any lingering doubts. If these men were brought out to this coast in large numbers, without first having ascertained the chances of success, a great deal of disappointment and suffering might be the result, and much undeserved damage would be done to the reputation of this province. It is not their wish, either, that they should be made pensioners of the government. They have that feeling of manliness which leads them to prefer absolute independence and the ability to earn their own living by their own labor. It is the opinion of eastern fishermen generally that the deep-sea fisheries on this coast will be found very valuable, and that eventually a colony of fishermen from the bleak shores of the Atlantic will find happy homes and contentment in the favored province of British Columbia. Mr. Thos. Mowatt, the fishery inspector for this province, has interested himself much in the affairs of these men, and has succeeded in obtaining for most of them suitable situations where they may earn good wages while applying themselves to the work of obtaining a practical knowledge of the province. A few days ago we stated that there were abundant indications of a coming wave of immigration. Mr. James Codville, who arrived yesterday from Woodstock, Ont., brings additional proof of this fact. He reports that there are large numbers of people in the town from which he comes, as well as elsewhere, who are seriously contemplating removal to this province if they receive any encouragement respecting the prospects for the acquirement of wealth. Some of these people have considerable capital which they would bring with them. The danger now does not seem to be that we shall lack immigrants, but that we may find it difficult to provide places for all that are coming.

"I take only one English weekly paper, The Spectator, and one Canadian, The Week, and as a rule I should be puzzled to say which I should miss most."—From a letter by Thomas Hughes, author of "Tom Brown's School Days."

The Week:

A Canadian Journal of Politics, Society and Literature.

PUBLISHED EVERY THURSDAY, AT $3.00 PER ANNUM.

Independent in politics, THE WEEK appeals by a comprehensive Table of Contents to the different tastes which exist within the circle of a cultured home.

An average of fifteen short, crisp Editorials is given in each number upon CANADIAN, AMERICAN, and ENGLISH POLITICS and LITERATURE.

Amongst the regular contributors is Professor Goldwin Smith; and a distinguished public man in London has kindly undertaken to supply regularly an English Letter. Paris and Washington Letters will appear at regular intervals.

In addition there are special contributions from some of the ablest writers in the Dominion and the United States.

THE WEEK

has now entered upon its third year with most encouraging prospects, and with many new features.

1873. GRIP! 1887.

CANADA'S COMIC JOURNAL

GREAT IMPROVEMENTS FOR 1887.

THE AIM OF "GRIP" is to set forth, in in an impartial and independent manner, the passing events of Canadian political and social life. Its Cartoons speak more definitely and more pleasingly than whole columns of editorial. In this pungent, easily appreciable, and artistic style of presenting a subject, the whole situation is revealed at a glance. The success of Grip shows how well this fact is appreciated—its Cartoons on the passing political events of the country being even more eagerly sought after than the chaste and humorous letter-press of the paper,—though the latter is equal to that of any similar publication on the continent.

The publishers of Grip are making extensive improvements for 1888. The old cover is to be discarded, and the journal will hereafter comprise 12 pages, and be printed on heavy toned and calendered paper,—every number being so artistically executed as to compare favorably with the best papers on the continent. The advts. will be compressed and more systematically arranged; while similar improvements will be made as to the letter-press. A new and handsome design will adorn the title page; while the Cartoons will certainly not suffer from extensive improvements in the artistic department.

The price of Grip will hereafter be $2 a year, which is lower than that of any paper of its kind in America,—most of them selling for $5. Single numbers of Grip will be 10 cents.

Twice a year, at Midsummer and Christmas, a beautiful special number will be issued, the number of pages being increased, and pleasing features introduced, particulars of which will be given in preceding issues. These numbers will be presented to subscribers without extra charge.

Patriotism without Partizanship;
Truth without Temper.

Only $2 a Year, Postage Free.

THE CHRISTMAS CARD.

"I will take this one," said Gertrude de Veau, when she had made her selection from a pile of Christmas cards on the counter. "Don't you think it is pretty, Aunt Julia?"

"Very pretty," was Mrs. Horton's answer, to which she added, "and very suggestive!"

"You do not think it is too broadly suggestive?" Gertrude asked somewhat anxiously, for she meant to send the card to Warren Clyde.

"Not at all!" Mrs. Horton answered. "It will be just the thing. I declare, if this young sailor doesn't look for all the world like the Lieutenant!"

"Doesn't he? I saw that the moment I looked at the card. You can't see the girl's face very well, but——"

"There's where the suggestion lies," said Mrs. Horton with a significant smile. "That is a happy thought, my dear; I hope you won't let him slip through your fingers, for he is decidedly the best catch of the season."

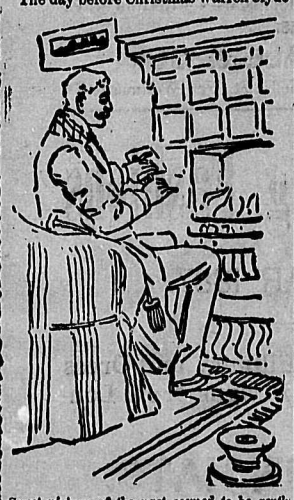
"I should say so!" Miss Gertrude answered warmly; "he is rich as can be, and nice in every particular—a beau ideal, in fact."

"You must manage it, my dear," said Mrs. Horton with emphasis.

"I don't think we are far from a happy denouement," Miss Gertrude said, laughingly. "I have an eye to the main chance, Aunt Julia."

"I am glad you are so sensible," was Mrs. Horton's reply, as they left the store together. "There are so few girls who appreciate the importance of such considerations."

The day before Christmas Warren Clyde



Sweet visions of the past seemed to be gently rising up before him.

was seated in his library before an open fire, indulging in a misty train of retrospective thought.

A servant had just brought him the mail, and among his letters he had found an illuminated Christmas card, sealed in a cream-laid envelope, and addressed in Miss de Veau's graceful handwriting.

"Just like her! She always does the conventional thing—does Miss Gertrude."

It was singular to hear him speak in that way, inasmuch as he had all but made up his mind to ask Miss de Veau to marry him. But then Warren Clyde was different from most men of his age, and the romance of his life had died years ago.

The ghost of it came back to him though, as he drew this Christmas card from its cover. For a moment his cheek glowed like a girl's; a deep flush mounted to his close-cropped yellow hair, and then left him pale as death.

His eyes wandered from the beautiful card before him to the bed of glowing coals upon the hearth, out of which sweet visions of the past seemed to be gently rising.

Once more he was a simple sailor who knew and loved the fairest girl in Hallicote—Sybil Vincy. They had been playmates together, but had been separated during all the years that Warren had spent at the Naval Academy.

After his graduation they had met again, and Warren found his childish love for Sybil fast changing into a deeper and a stronger passion. But she was the daughter of a great shipowner, rich and famous, while he was a humble fellow, poor and prospectless.

It had been one of his whims, moreover, to set aside the commission conferred upon him by the Academy, and to enlist with a body of marines, from whose ranks he determined to rise.

After he met Sybil Vincy he wished that he had not been so rash, for, as a naval officer, he might have made some pretensions to her favor. But it was too late to repent the step he had taken. He felt that Sybil loved him, but he would not bind her even by the slender ties of a confession, to one whose future was uncertain.

They had parted with friendly words—nothing more.

During the Rebellion his gallant service would in the end have secured him an admiralty, but he had hardly received his commission as lieutenant ere he was wounded in an engagement, and was obliged to retire.

Happily for the disabled young officer, at this critical juncture, a distant relative bequeathed to him a large fortune.

His thoughts at once reverted to Sybil, whom he hoped now to win for his wife; but she no longer lived in Hallicote. With a joyous heart he learned that she had never married; but concerning her whereabouts he could find out nothing.

Mr. Vincy had lost heavily on several government contracts for vessels, and before the close of the war every vestige of his fortune had been swept away. His death had followed it shortly after.

Sybil's mother had been dead for years, and the young girl was thus left absolutely alone. After her father's death she had gone away from Hallicote—no one knew whither.

It then became Warren's sacred purpose to find his lost love, and for two years he had devoted himself to searching for her. But, as he had not the slightest clue, he was baffled in every attempt, and had gradually been forced to relinquish the sweetest dream of his life.

He was thirty-five years old now, and was still "the young lieutenant" in society. Sybil was to him as one of the dead, and his love was such a bootless passion that he hoped to forget it in a brilliant marriage—perhaps with Miss de Veau.

All these things came floating back to Warren on the wings of memory as he held the Christmas card before him.

It had been just at this time that he had parted last from Sybil. How well he remembered the day and circumstance!

She had been in the little Hallicote chapel where he had been sent to find her. It was a bright winter day, and she was busy preparing for the Christmas service.

She had told him that she was to superintend the decorations, and when he went to say good-bye to her, he had taken with him a wreath of red-berried holly, wrought with his own hand.

The scene was reproduced on the card Miss de Veau had sent him.

There was the tall window of stained glass, through which the rainbow-colored light fell on Sybil's beautiful hair, and the white fluted columns of the altar. There was the marbled font, with its seasonable decorations, the pile of evergreens at Sybil's feet, and he standing before her in his sailor clothes, holding up the cross with a look of interrogation. That was he—yes! And it must be Sybil! He said so, though the girl's face was turned aside, and only a shadowy glimpse of her profile was discernible.

"Have you his address?" he asked slowly.

Who was the artist? It must be someone who had known Sybil, someone who had witnessed their parting that Christmas-tide.

The thoughts and suggestions that crowded Warren's brain seemed to set it on fire. When the hands of the clock were pointing to eleven, Warren had put on his overcoat and was ready to go out.

"Can you tell me, sir," Warren asked of the senior partner, "who is the author of this design? I have taken a fancy to it, and would like to know the artist's name."

"Yes," was the prompt reply, "that is one of our prize cards. It was drawn by Mr. Temple."

"Have you his address?" he asked slowly.

"I can get it for you," the gentleman answered. "Our cashier has it, but he is out at present."

"Will you do me the favor of sending it to me as soon as possible?"

"Certainly, sir."

So Warren turned his steps homeward.

It was evening when a messengor-boy left at the door a card for Lieutenant Clyde, on which was written, "Francis Temple, —Gilliam-court, Upstairs."

"I will go to-morrow morning," Warren murmured. "I must see him at once."

Meanwhile he arranged that Miss de Veau should receive, on Christmas morning, a basket of flowers, "with Lieutenant Clyde's compliments and best wishes for a Merry Christmas."

It was an obscure and odious street in which he found himself on Christmas morning, but, in the clear sunlight, he detected afar off the sign of a little gilded palette, on which the name of Francis Temple was painted in script letters.

Upstairs he went, and knocked at a door on which the same name appeared over the simple word, "Studio."

In a moment he was admitted by a white-headed man, who stooped a great deal, and walked with an effort.

"I wish to see Mr. Temple."

"What did you say, eh?" the old man inquired. "Excuse me, but I am very deaf."

"I wish to see Mr. Temple," Warren repeated in a louder tone.

"Wait a moment," the old man said with childish trepidation. "My granddaughter will see you."

At that instant a side door opened, and a lady entered the room.

It seemed to Warren Clyde that the gates of heaven had unclosed, for it was Sybil Vincy who stood before him.

For a moment they stood gazing at each other in speechless astonishment, then with one bound Warren reached her side.

"At last, my love, at last!" he cried exultantly, and clasped her to his heart.

"Warren—Warren Clyde!" she murmered, "is it really you?"

"Sybil, my darling!" he cried, beside himself with joy, "where have you been hiding all these years? Oh, my love, I have searched for you so long."

"I never knew it," she answered; "I thought you did not care for me, for how was I to know."

"Not care for you!" he said passionately. "Sybil, I have loved you always. Will you marry me, dearest?"

"I made a vow that I never would marry anyone but you, Warren," she said simply. "But I cannot believe this is really you."

Then, in an eager ejaculatory narrative, he told her the story of the Christmas card and how it had brought him to her.

Sybil blushed vividly.

"This is my grandfather," she said. "His name is Francis Temple, and I have made use of his identity to secure a place in the world. It is easier for a man to get work than for a woman; and his work is always better paid. So I have signed my grandfather's name to everything I have executed. I have supported both him and myself by painting and drawing designs."

It was Sybil Vincy who stood before him.

"Blessed little brush!" Warren cried, lifting both her hands to his lips.

"You shall paint for pleasure now, my love. I am rich, Sybil. Thank God I can give you a good home, my darling. It is waiting for you whenever you will consent to come to it."

A month later Miss de Veau was thrown into hysterics by the reception of an "At Home" card from Lieutenant and Mrs. Warren Clyde.

A Striking Resemblance.

Wife: "Can you tell me, my dear, why a widower is like a young baby?"

Husband: "H—m—er—because—because——"

Wife: "The first six months he cries a great deal, the second six months he begins to take notice, and he always experiences great difficulty in getting safely through his second summer."—[Life.

WHAT PHYSICIANS SAY ABOUT THE STARR KIDNEY PAD.

"Treatment by Absorption has for some time been recognized by Medical Men to be the most simple and effectual means of conveying to Diseased Organs, "Curatives," but in cases of Kidney Disease and Complaints attendant thereon, successful treatment was practicably impossible until the introduction of the Starr Kidney Pad. It costs less than a single prescription and is immeasurably more decisive and effective than any quantity of internal Medicinal dosing. Worn immediately over the seat of Disease, its curative properties become absorbed by the diseased and enfeebled Organs, continuously and directly, as required to insure in return their healthy action and original vigour. It is comfortable to the patient and pleasant in its effects, and cures when nothing else can. The Starr Kidney Pad accomplishes positive, decisive results. A more valuable discovery as a true remedy for Kidney Diseases was never made.—Medical Gazette

The Starr Kidney Pad, manufactured in Toronto, is a permanent sure cure for diseases, disorders and ailments of the Kidneys, Bladder and urinary secretive systems, or attendant complaints, causing pain in the small of the back, sides, etc., producing urinary disorders, such as too frequent, scanty, difficult, painful or copious micturition, inability of retention and sedimentary urine, dropsical symptoms, etc., denoting the presence in the system of diseases common to the urinary secretive organs—known as gravel, catarrh of the bladder and passages, Bright's disease, diabetes, dropsy, piles, nervous debility, etc. Send for pamphlet to LANGLEY & CO., Wholesale Agents, Victoria. TESTIMONIAL!

Vancouver, 23rd June, 1886.

MR. G. ROBERTSON,

Vancouver:

Representing Goldie & McCulloch, Galt, Ont.

SIR.—We the undersigned having witnessed the terrible fire which wiped out of existence the young city of Vancouver, on the 13th inst., have, after the fire, examined the safes sold by you, some of which were put to the most severe test, having been surrounded by large quantities of lard and bacon, and we are pleased to testify to the remarkable manner in which every Safe sold by you preserved its contents, not only books and papers, but also thousands of dollars in paper money were taken out in perfect condition. We can, therefore, with the greatest confidence, recommend them as thoroughly fire proof:

THE BRITISH COLUMBIAN Printing Company

(LIMITED.)

ON THE 10TH OF JANUARY, 1887, the COLUMBIAN Newspaper and Printing Concern was purchased by a joint stock company composed of citizens of New Westminster, to be known as the "British Columbian Printing Co., Limited." The concern has been for nearly a year owned and controlled by the British Columbia Stationery and Printing Company, of New Westminster, Victoria and Vancouver. The object of the new company is to continue the publication of the BRITISH COLUMBIAN newspaper and carry on a general printing and publishing concern, controlled entirely by those whose individual interest it will be to promote the development, especially of the Mainland. There will be no slackening of the energy hitherto displayed in the management of the establishment, and its patrons may rely upon receiving full value for their money. The COLUMBIAN will continue to be entirely independent in both Dominion and provincial politics, and will devote itself to the advancement of such schemes as may be considered in the public interest. The concern is now entirely separate from any other business, the book and stationery establishment in this city having been taken over by Mr. T. R. Pearson, who will continue to carry it on in his own name and for his own benefit. It is desirable that a daily newspaper should be maintained in this city, and the new company asks for public patronage on the ground that it is engaged in an enterprise calculated to promote the public welfare. It asks that the COLUMBIAN be judged on its own merits and supported only so long as its policy is consistent with its professions. In consequence of this business change all accounts due the concern must be settled without delay so that the books of the former company may be adjusted and closed. HEAD OFFICE, TORONTO, CANADA

A HOME COMPANY.

This Association merits the confidence the Public is reposing in it from the following FACTS:—

The Security offered to policy holders is unsurpassed by any Company doing business in Canada.

It has no schemes of insurance, but the well-established lines, hence the policy holders cannot be misled as to their contracts.

Its statements to the public can be readily understood, its ca'l statement showing every item of income and how expended.

Its position is ascertained annually from a detailed valuation in which every item of liability is included.

Its progress has been unexampled in the history of insurance in Canada.

Its policies are indisputable after three years, and non-forfeitable after two years' existence.

Its profits are distributed upon an equitable basis. The profits to one class of policy holders are not lessened to give larger profits to any other class, which method affords superior advantages over the uniform bonus plan of distribution.

Liberal Conditions as to Residence and Travel.

Saturday Evening, April 23, 1887.

Sonnet—Shadows.

Out of the murky clouds the moon rose fast,
And with dispelling force her silver beams
Clave through the darkness in a thousand streams
Of glory, as in dreamy thought I pass'd
Down the dim glades, where gloomy cedars cast
Uncertain shadows, shifting with the gleams
That fell from cloud-rifts, and my doleful dreams
With their too fickle movements did contrast.
For all my fancies sprang from one desire,
Like shadows cast by some strong, central light—
Sharp-outlined, motionless, subdued, empight,
Dark interferences of steady fire.
Love is the sun, illumining life's day,
And doubts, the shadows thrown along its way. G.B.B.

A NEEDED IMPROVEMENT.—Mr. L. F. Bonson is taking up a collection from the citizens for the purpose of placing a sidewalk covering over the large hole at present in front of the free library. Such a sidewalk would be a great improvement.

TAXES.—We remind any of our readers who may be in arrears to the city for taxes that the time limit is up, and unless those in arrears pay at once they are liable to be sued without notice. We understand several accounts have already been placed in court for collection.

IMMIGRANTS.—About 550 immigrants arrived in Winnipeg during this week. The majority of them are English and Canadian, but a few are Swedish and Scandinavians. The greater part of them are on their way west and will settle near Calgary and along the line of the C.P.R. in this province.

THE ELDER.—The Louise and the tug Tacoma fastened their hawsers at high tide yesterday to the stranded Elder and succeeded in removing her off the sand bank into deep water. The Elder has sustained no damage whatever. After rearranging her cargo, she steamed out of the Inlet last evening on her way to Victoria.

CHANGE.—Mr. J. E. Cowderoy, of the firm of Cowderoy & Taylor, Port Moody, came up on the Yosemite yesterday from Ladners. Mr. Cowderoy was in Ladners for the purpose of making arrangements to open a grocery store at that place. Business at Moody is steadily decreasing, and Mr. Cowderoy contemplates a removal of his business to the Delta.

A PANTHER FIGHT.—A correspondent writing from Mission Station gives us the following account of the killing of a panther by a party of section men, which happened some days ago near the station. Discovering the animal lying asleep, they immediately attacked him with their picks and large rocks. The animal immediately jumped to his feet and fought most desperately, until one of the men hit him a tremendous blow on the head, which stunned him. After that the men easily disposed of him. During the fight one of the men received an ugly wound, the scar of which will remain with him.

EXCURSION TO NORTH BEND.—On May 24th an excursion will run to North Bend over the line of the C. P. R., under the auspices of the Y.M.C. A. As some of the grandest scenery along the whole length of the C.P.R. lies between Hope and North Bend, including the far-famed canyons of the Fraser, this excursion will afford an easy opportunity to everyone to go and see for himself these wonders of nature. The excursion train leaves this city about 8 o'clock a.m., returning about 9:30 in the evening. Tickets for the round trip are $3, but to those who purchase before May 7th a reduction of 50 cts. per ticket will be made.

THE MISSION.—Mr. Hemus delivered a most excellent address in the Baptist church last night. At 8 o'clock to-night the third preliminary union meeting will be held in the Methodist church, and will be addressed by Mrs. Hampson-Hemus. To-morrow night the mission will be opened by a meeting in the Drill Shed, to begin at 8 o'clock, when Mrs. Hampson-Hemus will deliver an address. We are requested to say that the regular services in the Baptist and Methodist churches will begin to-morrow night at the usual hour (7 o'clock), but the services will be concluded in time to enable all members of the congregation to reach the Drill Shed meeting before the address begins. Meetings will be held in the Drill Shed every night next week except Wednesday night.

ABOUT THOSE TELEGRAMS. — Our friend on Church street goes a long distance through the bush to avoid meeting the challenge of the COLUMBIAN in which it was proposed to demonstrate whether the telegrams we publish are stolen or paid for. We do not propose to follow his example, but shall keep right to the point. There is no fear of fraud on our part, because the condition of the challenge was that we should prove to the satisfaction of any three honorable citizens that our telegrams were received direct from the telegraph office and paid for, or forfeit $100 to the hospital. If our proof fails, the $100 will certainly be forfeited, and we shall even let our cotemporary choose the committee who shall be our judges! Does our cotemporary accept, or does it suit his purpose better to act the part of a coward who makes charges which he dare not face before a committee of his fellow men? He cannot escape the stigma of cowardice while he declines to accept this challenge.

Facts and Figures.

The 50,000 French who lived in Lower Canada when the English conquered it have increased to 1,289,929.

The population of Athens has increased during the century from 10,000 to 100,000, and the city has now steam and horse railroads.

There are in the United States 5,338 libraries, containing 205,622,076 volumes, or enough to furnish three books to every living inhabitant.

It is estimated that over 1,800 locomotives were built in the United States during the past year. They cost about $15,000,000. The number of locomotives smashed up is not given.

In a recent speech in Boston John Boyle O'Reilly said that at a low estimate there were sent from Boston $560,000, and from New York city $1,000,000 each year by the Irish to their relatives in Ireland.

There ought to be a way in which the jurisdiction of the interstate commerce commission could be extended to the Isthmus of Panama. On that short road the fare from one end to the other is $5 to natives and $25 to strangers.

There are 450,000,000 postal cards manufactured annually. Two-cent postage did not lessen the use of postal cards, but checked the growth of their use for some little time. The check has been overcome, and the public is using more and more postal cards every day.

At Ansonia, Conn., a few days ago, a clergyman married a couple and afterward discovered that the license had been issued in another town. In great perturbation over what he considered an illegal marriage, he hunted up the couple, who thought they were living in lawful wedlock, and insisted upon marrying them again in the proper town.

The Confederation Life.

The annual report of this solidly prosperous Canadian institution will be found in another column. The facts revealed in the accounts and the Directors' report thoroughly justify the ecomiums which the shareholders present bestowed upon the management. Thanks to the resolute manner in which the Company has declined to embark upon extravagant methods of procuring business, the working expenses of the company bear to the total income the very small ratio of between 17 and 18 per cent. A point attesting the soundness of the finances of the Company is the fact that the interest income is sufficient to pay the death claims—which in a company of the age of the Confederation Life is something to be proud of. The assets and liabilities are set forth in minute detail, and the tables show that, after making allowance for all possible contingencies and providing for every debt, there is a surplus of $282,199 over liabilities and capital combined. The increase in the assets in the last year was $260,390. So much for what can be done by rigid adherence to what the President defined as the true policy of the Company, viz:—"To keep its balance sheet right and avoid unnecessary, unwise, or extravagant expenditure for the sake merely of increasing new business." —Toronto Globe. T. R. Pearson & Co. are agents for this company in British Columbia. m19tc

A BY-LAW

For the Government of the Fire Department of the City of New Westminster.

THE CORPORATION OF THE CITY of New Westminster enacts as follows:

1. The Fire Department shall consist of the existing Fire Companies, and such other Companies as may be from time to time admitted.

2. The officers of the Fire Department shall consist of a Chief Engineer, and an Assistant Engineer.

3. The first election under this By-law for Chief Engineer and Assistant Engineer, shall take place on the second Monday in January next, and all subsequent elections shall take place on the second Monday in January in each year thereafter.

4. The persons at present holding the positions of Chief Engineer and Assistant Engineer, shall hold office until the first election under this By-law, and until their successors are elected, and during such time they shall have and may exercise all the powers herein conferred upon the persons holding the said offices.

5. The nomination and election of the Chief and Assistant Engineer, shall be held and conducted in accordance with the provisions of the Municipalities Act governing the election of Mayor and Councillors for the time being in force, save as hereinafter provided.

6. All persons entitled to vote for the election of Mayor and Councillors, and all active members of the Fire Department of one year's good standing, shall be qualified to vote at the election of Chief Engineer and Assistant Engineer.

7. The Chief Engineer shall have power to organise as many Fire Companies, Hook and Ladder Companies, Salvage Companies, or other Companies as he may deem necessary for the efficiency of the Department, and such Companies and their officers shall be subject to the direction and control of the Chief Engineer under all circumstances, except such control would affect the said Companies in the management of their own funds and company business meetings.

8. In all case where the expenditure of money is involved in organising new Companies [by the Chief Engineer] he shall first obtain the consent of the City Council before proceeding to organise such new company or companies.

9. All moneys received by the Chief Engineer for the use of the Department, shall be disbursed by him for such purposes in connection with his department as he may deem expedient.

10. In all cases when the expenditure by the Chief Engineer of a sum of money exceeding Twenty Dollars is involved, he shall, where practicable, publicly call for tenders.

11. The Chief Engineer shall cause a semi-annual report to be made to the Municipal Council of the amount of property belonging to the Fire Department, and its condition; of the financial state of the Department, and of the respective companies, and of the number of men enrolled, with any other information or recommendations he may deem advisable. Such reports shall be made up to the 30th day of June, and the 31st day of December in each year, and shall be delivered to the City Clerk within seven days thereafter.

12. The Chief Engineer shall in all cases of fire, or alarm thereof, have sole and entire control over all apparatus, and members of the Fire Department. He may call out the Department, or part thereof for drill, and may call out the whole Department for parade. He shall have power, and it shall be his duty to suspend any engineer, Company officer, or Company for disobedience of, or unnecessary delay in executing his orders, or the orders of the Assistant, or for disrespectful language. He shall see that all fire apparatus, Fire Company houses, and public cisterns are kept in good order and condition, and report to the Municipal Council repairs or supplies required by the Department or any Company thereof. He shall, upon learning of any improper practice in or about the house of any Company notify the captain or foreman thereof the same, and upon their repitition, report the name or names of the offenders, and facts connected therewith, to the Company when next convened. No supplies can be ordered without being endorsed by the Chief Engineer.

13. If at any fire the Chief Engineer, or in his absence, the Assistant Engineer, should consider that the progress of such fire might be stayed by the pulling down of a building or buildings, he or they shall cause such building or buildings to be pulled down; and in the absence of both, the first Captain of any company on the ground, may, with the consent of the mayor, or of a Fire Warden, cause such building or buildings to be pulled down.

14. The Assistant Engineer shall immediately upon arriving at fires report himself to the Chief Engineer for his orders. At fires or alarms thereof Chief or Assistant Engineers shall convey their orders to Companies by their respective members, and if practicable to the officer in command. When ever the Chief Engineer shall be absent from the city, or shall be prevented from discharging the duties of his office, the Assistant Engineer shall perform the duties and possess the rights and powers of said officer during such disability or absence.

15. The officers of the Engine companies shall consist of a Captain, a first Lieutenant, and second Lieutenant, and such other officers as the companies may deem necessary.

16. The officers of the Hook and Ladder Companies shall consist of a Foreman, a first Assistant Foreman, a second Assistant Foreman, and such other officers as the company may deem necessary.

17. Other companies than Fire and Hook and Ladder Companies shall have power to appoint such officers as they may deem necessary, provided always that such appointments do not in any way conflict with the working of other Companies.

18. Each and every Company shall keep its apparatus in good order and condition, so that the same shall be ready for instant service; they shall during a fire or alarm thereof have an officer in charge of their apparatus, and others in charge of their branch pipes. It shall be the duty of said officers to receive their orders from the Chief and Assistant Engineers, and convey the same to their Company or branchmen as may be required.

19. Each fire Company shall have power to elect its own officers, and to make such rules, regulations and by-laws, as may be deemed necessary for its government, provided that all such rules, regulations and by-laws shall not conflict with those of the Department.

20. The captain of each engine company and Foreman of each Hook and Ladder Company, shall have charge of the apparatus belonging to his Company. The captain of each Engine Company shall at fires direct the placing of the apparatus, and have charge and direction of the hosemen. The captain of every Company shall preserve order and discipline at all times among the members of the Company under him.

21. The captains or foremen of Companies shall report promptly to the Chief Engineer, any breakage or disarrangement of the apparatus, or repairs required to the house under their respective charge, and shall see that the same are kept in good order and condition. They shall at fires or alarms thereof, see that the orders of the Chief and Assistant Engineers are punctually obeyed. They shall certify to the correctness of the Annual and Voting Rolls of their respective Companies. They shall in accordance with the provisions of the amended Protection Act, send to the Sheriff on or before the 15th day of July in each year, a full and correct list of all their active members

22. Whenever the Captain of a Company shall be absent from a fire or alarm thereof, or from sickness or other causes be unable to attend to the duties of his office all his rights, powers and responsibilities in and to the Department, shall devolve upon the First Lieutenant of such Company, during such absence or disability, or in his absence upon the Second Lieutenant.

23. Hook and Ladder Companies at all fires must report themselves the same as other Companies and await the orders of the Chief or Assistant Engineer.

24. The duties of Hook and Ladder Companies shall be to pull down buildings and render any other assistance ordered by the Chief or Assistant Engineer.

25. No member of the Department shall carry into or keep in any fire station or house in the Department any intoxicating liquors. Any member of the Department who shall be intoxicated in or about any of the Department houses, or at a fire, shall be suspended or dismissed from the Department, at the option of the Chief Engineer or the company to which he belongs.

26. The Mayor and Council shall have control and management of the public property now pertaining to the Fire Department of the said City of New Westminster, and shall from time to time in their discretion purchase, add to, and acquire when necessary, or shall dispose of when not required for the use of the Department, Engines, Hose-carriages, Hose, and such other property as the exigencies of the Department may require.

27. No person will be allowed in the different houses of the Department, unless they be with a member of a Company, without permission of the Chief Engineer, and the person in charge at each Department house, must see that this rule is enforced. No person shall be allowed to interfere with firemen in the discharge of their duties.

28. All By-Laws heretofore enacted relating in any wise whatsoever to the Fire Department are hereby repealed.

29. This By-law may be cited as the Fire Department By law, 1887.

By-law read a third time and passed by the Municipal Council on the 4th day of April, A.D., 1887.

Reconsidered, adopted, and the Seal of the Corporation appended this 11th day of April, 1887.

R. DICKINSON, Mayor.
