THE BRITISH COLUMBIAN.

VOLUME 24 — NEW WESTMINSTER, B. C., SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 1, 1883. — NUMBER 18

The British Columbian.

Saturday Morning, Sept. 1, 1883.

Strange Surmisings.

We are inclined to believe the opposition organs are laboring under a most serious misapprehension with respect to the work of last session. They will undoubtedly claim to be honest in their representations; but if the plea of honesty holds good these organs seem to us greatly in need of advice and instruction. It is surely a great mistake to imagine that the lands granted to the Kootenay company, the V. I. Railway company and the federal government will be lost to the province. It cannot be possible, as represented by the organs, that these lands are to be dug up and carried away by the persons into whose possession they were given. The legislature could not have contemplated such a result; and if that is really the design of the companies, energetic measures should be taken by the executive to prevent them from getting away with our property in such a summary manner. When these bills were under discussion they met the approval of the COLUMBIAN because we supposed the provincial government would continue to receive revenues from these lands and count them as part of the province. But if they are to be absolutely carried beyond our boundaries, as the organs seem to have discovered, we shall not hesitate to express our indignation. There are 3,500,000 acres at least of good farming lands in Peace river district. Of this 3,500,000 acres, 500,000 are ceded in lieu of shortage in the Vancouver Island railway belt, and 3,000,000 in lieu of shortage in the mainland belt. Now, if it was understood (and of this there seems to be no doubt) that we were to give the full 40 miles of land in the railway belt, and that these lands were to be of fair quality, and that shortage was to be made up from other parts of the province, it would appear that we have granted to the Dominion no lands whatever beyond what they could legally claim. That being the case, no responsibility can rest upon the provincial government on account of the Peace river transaction. The lands granted on Vancouver Island go into the hands of the company constructing the island railway. The British Columbia government set aside these very lands for that very purpose in 1873, and they have never been appropriated for anything else. The present government cannot be made responsible for that. We have nothing remaining but the Kootenay matter and the dry-dock. It may fairly be questioned whether the government should have given away 750,000 acres of land in Kootenay to secure the opening up of that country. We believe the transaction will very greatly benefit this province; the organs may hold a different opinion, and hold it honestly, but then they would be flying in the face of their own party leaders. But the dry-dock! If there ever was any question thoroughly settled by public opinion in British Columbia it is this very question. We do not believe there is a person in the province, outside of a few political hacks, who has not long ago come to the conclusion that the dry-dock should be got rid of, even at a considerable sacrifice. It was draining the life-blood out of the province; it was bungled from beginning to end; it was costing more for construction and material than had ever been dreamed of; and no person seemed able to predict when it would be completed. Not only have the provincial government succeeded in relieving the province of this incubus, but they have secured for the province every cent of money that has been expended on it. If the dry-dock had been handed over as a free gift to the Dominion we believe the act would have received the approval of many intelligent British Columbians; and the excellent bargain made, by which the province receives some $300,000 for the dock, meets with universal approbation. When completed it is very doubtful if the dock would pay. The province will receive all the advantage of its construction and operation, while the Dominion must take all the financial risks. But the organs are evidently laboring under the impression that the dry-dock is to be taken clean out of the province. Indeed, a perusal of their recent declarations might lead one to suspect that Sir Alexander Campbell has actually got it in his pocket and intends to have it erected at Ottawa as a memento of his visit to this country! We hope there is no ground for such an impression. But it might be just as well in future to watch federal officials who come here. It is not quite safe to have Kootenay bills, and dry-docks, and railway belts, and things lying round loose. The time may come when these things would be useful, and the province must not permit them to be smuggled off. Possibly the vigilance of the organs may not be an unmitigated evil after all.

Reader, if you suffer from any disorder of the Liver, Stomach, Bowels, Kidneys, Skin, or Blood, try Burdock Blood Bitters, Nature's specific medicine for acting on those organs for the outlet of disease. 25,000 bottles sold in the last three months.

It excites expectoration and causes the lungs to throw off the phlegm or mucous; changes the secretions and purifies the blood; heals the irritated parts; gives strength to the digestive organs; brings the liver to its proper action, and imparts strength to the whole system. The British Columbian.

Saturday Morning, Sept. 1, 1883.

The Railway Bills.

Tuesday's Colonist contains what seems intended as a reply to the article which lately appeared in the COLUMBIAN respecting the proposed disallowance of the bills granting railway charters from the C. P. R. to the U. S. boundary. But the Colonist does not fairly meet the issue. In the first place it makes no reference whatever to its former statement that Sir Alexander Campbell's utterances had satisfied the promoters of these railways. That statement was absolutely untrue, and we cannot entirely resist the suspicion that it was made for the express purpose of endeavoring to accomplish the defeat of the scheme. The people of Victoria are manifestly opposed to railway connection between the sound and the mainland of British Columbia, and they have been endeavoring to furnish Sir Alexander with arguments and pretexts upon which to recommend the disallowance of the bills. They seem to have discovered in these projected lines a possible diversion of trade from themselves, and their commercial policy has always been to oppose any project which does not originate or end in Victoria. The Colonist, however, makes an attempt to show the harm that would come to this province from the construction of these railways. It says:

> The COLUMBIAN asks in what way the boundary lines would damage the province? We answer, in diverting its trade to the terminus of the Northern Pacific railway, and making every port and town in the province subsidiary to the interests of that gigantic corporation. Happily the construction of the Island railway will rescue the country from the blighting effects of a competition which would have proved ruinous in its effects, and will plant the terminus of the Canadian Pacific railway firmly on British Columbia soil. Therefore, the boundary line railway bills need not again occupy the attention of the legislature to the exclusion of other and practical work.

Now this is the purest moonshine. How does the Colonist know that a line to the boundary would divert trade from this province to the Northern Pacific railway? We assert that the diversion of trade would be exactly in the opposite direction. The C. P. R. has the shortest line across the continent, and its grades are less than those of any other line. It is in a position, therefore, to compete successfully with any other transcontinental road. If there is to be competition for the trade of this coast between the C. P. R. and the N. P. R., our own railway has certainly nothing to fear. We have already stated that surveyors are locating a railway line from the boundary, on the American side, to connect with the Northern Pacific, and we have reason to believe that that railway will go on. Now, if the Colonist will look fairly at the situation it must perceive that this branch will act as an important feeder to the Northern Pacific, and that it will surely draw trade from the Canadian side of the boundary unless another outlet is provided. From Point Roberts to Sumas, on the south side of the Fraser, there is an extensive area of as good land as can be found in British Columbia. Much of this land is already settled and under cultivation, and what remains is being taken up rapidly. The American railway will become the market for nearly all this region, because it will be more accessible than the Canadian Pacific. Farmers usually go to market in their own conveyances, and a few miles extra drive makes very little difference to the cost of carriage. If they come to the C. P. R. it will be necessary for them to cross the river. This involves two transhipments, wharf and ferry dues, and additional cartage on this side. It is the opinion of all intelligent farmers with whom we have conversed on the south side of the river that, under the circumstances, the great bulk of the trade of that region would fall to the Northern Pacific railway unless railway facilities are supplied on this side of the line. Where the American railway reaches the boundary, towns will spring up on both sides of the line, and there will be the central market. It is for the purpose of securing this trade for British Columbia and for the C. P. R. that a line from here to the boundary has been projected. In view of the construction of a railway south of the boundary, this line becomes a necessity, or our trade south of the river will surely go into other channels. We are afraid the Colonist has no just conception of the magnitude and importance of that trade. It does not seem to be aware that the region lying between Fraser river and the boundary is rapidly filling up, that within the last two months over 50 new locations have been taken up, and that before the railway could be completed it will be the most populous and flourishing agricultural settlement in British Columbia. The trade of that region is worth looking after; and notwithstanding the Colonist's opinion, we assert that it is in imminent danger of being lost unless adequate facilities are provided for bringing it north. The Colonist says:

> It is absurd for our contemporary to cite the Island railway as a precedent for the allowance of the boundary railways. The Island railway is essential to the prosperity of the C. P. railway. It runs entirely through British soil, has no connection with any foreign line, and places within easy reach as a terminus one of the finest harbors in the world. Besides, the building of the island railway is not due to the grace or magnanimity of the mainland at all.

Who ever cited the island railway as a precedent for the allowance of the boundary railways? Certainly the COLUMBIAN did not, nor did it claim the island railway as a result of the magnanimity of the mainland. The COLUMBIAN merely stated that the mainland had placed no obstacle in the way of the island railway, although it was called upon, as part of the province, to contribute a large quantity of public land as a subsidy to a line which would never benefit it to the extent of one farthing. When we proposed to build a road on the mainland for the purpose of developing the district lying south of the river, the people of Victoria and the Colonist rush to the minister of justice and tell him it will never do—it will divert trade from the C. P. R. and ruin the province — and the Colonist boldly asserts that, upon reflection, the promoters of the scheme are satisfied to let it drop! With as much truth we might assert that the people of Victoria, upon reflection, are satisfied to abandon the island railway. The Colonist has not successfully controverted any of the positions taken by this journal on the boundary railway question, and we believe they cannot be controverted. It is true enough that the success of the C. P. R. is of very great importance to the people of this province. But the boundary railway cannot possibly interfere with that success, and it is regarded as an enterprise of very great value to the locality through which it would pass. We can find no tangible pretext upon which the Dominion government may disallow these bills. If they are disallowed the whole mainland will regard the act as hostile to its interests.

If you would escape the ravages of that scourge of the Summer season, Cholera Morbus, keep Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry at hand for use. In that and all other forms of Bowel Complaint, it is infallible.

Vote for the loan by-law to-day.

The framework of the agricultural hall is nearly completed.

The Churchman's Gazette for September is one of the most interesting numbers yet issued.

A public meeting will be held to-night, in the Hyack Hall, to discuss the settlement question.

Capt. Webb, of the ship St. Lawrence, offers $30 reward for a boat stolen from his ship. See adv.

The str. Yosemite, Capt. Irving, arrived from Victoria at 3:30 yesterday, with mails, passengers and freight.

Attention is called to the notice respecting the Royal Columbian Hospital, which will be found in our advertising columns.

It is understood that the county court advertised for next Wednesday will only be a formal affair, and will be adjourned till the 12th.

At the sale of Port Hammond lots last Thursday 46 lots were sold at an average of about $150 each. The highest figure reached was $230.

Tenders for the completion of the government buildings in this city will be received at Victoria until next Wednesday. See advertisement.

Hon. Jno. Robson, Provincial Secretary, arrived by the str. Yosemite yesterday. We presume he will be present at the public meeting to-night.

In view of the transfer of the dry-dock property to the Dominion government, the Free Press urges that the Esquimalt dock be abandoned and one constructed at Nanaimo. Why not New Westminster?

A passenger with a trunk rushed down to the wharf last Tuesday afternoon and found the Slope just moving away. He clutched his trunk and took the risks. The men on the steamer fished him out and the Slope proceeded on her way to Victoria.

Mr. Liddell has been appointed to the Hope public school, and goes up on the steamer this morning. Mr. Liddell is an Englishman of more than ordinary literary attainments, and has traveled quite extensively. He will shortly be joined by his wife.

Yesterday the smoke was worse than ever. Large fires have been raging for some days just across the river, and it is feared much valuable timber has been destroyed. We are informed that a fire was started near the Brunette bridge on the Pitt river road last Thursday.

We hope the loan by-law will not be forgotten to-day. We are informed that the improvements contemplated on Columbia street will extend from Mary to Douglas street. The middle of the street is to be raised two feet, and it is to be covered with gravel. Such a work is much needed. We hope the vote to-day will carry the by-law.

Another idiot proposes to swim Niagara rapids. This time it is Capt. Rhodes, of Buffalo. Having declared his intention publicly, Rhodes received notice from the police magistrate on the Ontario side that if he attempted to enter upon his suicidal journey from the Canadian side he would be arrested as a lunatic. All praise to the magistrate.

T. Hosmer, of Philadelphia, arrived here last night, being the first passenger through from St. Paul by the all-rail route. He made a change of cars at Gold Creek, Montana, midway between Missoula and Helena, but he may be set down as the first passenger who traversed the entire length of the new transcontinental line on the cars. —Portland Oregonian.

Mr. A. L. Blake, Inspector and Collector of Customs, of Schome, arrested a Chinaman at that place on Wednesday evening last, who had smuggled himself across from New Westminster, B. C., and turned him over to Officer Leckie, who put him in the cooler. He will be taken to Port Townsend for trial, and returned to the British side at an early day.—Whatcom Reveille.

METHODIST CHURCH—Rev. E. Robson, pastor. Preaching and the Sacrament of the Lord's Supper at 11 a. m. Sunday School and Bible Class at 2.30 p. m. Service at 7 p. m. Seats free; strangers cordially invited. *

POLICE COURT. — There has been nothing of importance in court since our last issue, except the case of Rabb, who was brought up on suspicion of being implicated in the murder of Hesse. He was remanded for a week. We hope every effort will be made to work up the Hesse murder, and to that end the government should offer a reward for the conviction of the murderer.

THANKS.—We have to thank Mr. Jno. Kirkland, of Hazel Farm, on the Delta, for a basket of very excellent potatoes. These potatoes were grown upon a plan which may be new to many of our readers. Instead of being planted, the seed was simply laid on top of the ground and covered with loose straw. The yield obtained by this plan was good, and the potatoes are clean and beautiful, and of excellent quality.

CANARDS.—A correspondent of the Chicago Tribune, who claims to be attached to the president's party, sends a remarkable despatch from the Yellowstone. He says one object of the president's trip to this coast is to complete arrangements for the annexation of British Columbia. The scheme, he says, has long been in contemplation, and is fully decided upon. If we had only known that sooner we might have kidnapped Gen. Sherman when he came to spy out the land a few weeks ago. Another rumor comes from the same region to the effect that the cowboys are preparing elaborate plans to kidnap President Arthur. They will carry him off to the mountains and demand an enormous sum for his ransom. One story is just about as probable as the other.

SHIPPING ITEMS. — Strs. Yosemite and Irving left for Victoria and Yale Wednesday morning. Steamship Sardonyx left for Nanaimo Wednesday evening. Str. Slope arrived from Victoria Thursday morning and went up to Yale. Str. Rithet arrived from up river on Thursday and went to Port Moody. Str. Dunsmuir arrived from Nanaimo yesterday morning. Str. Yosemite arrived from Victoria yesterday afternoon at 3:30. Str. Irving arrived from Yale at 6.

BLUE RIBBON.—The Blue Ribbon entertainment last Wednesday night was one of the best of the season. There was a good attendance and a good programme, well carried out. It consisted of an opening chorus, a recitation by Miss Maud Williams, song by Miss Forest, reading by Miss McDougall, duet by Mrs. Lund and Miss Agnes McMurphy, the Blue Ribbon War Song (composed by Mr. A. L. Francis), of which Mrs. Lund took the solo, recitation by Miss Bell, song by Miss Mamie Wise. Refreshments were served during the evening for the modest sum of 10 cts. The refreshment tables were presided over by Mrs. Major and Mrs. McNaughten.

BELLINGHAM BAY RAILROAD.—The Reveille reports the formation of a company to build a railroad to connect Whatcom, W. T., with the Canadian Pacific railroad at a point 35 miles easterly from Burrard Inlet, British Columbia. The capital stock is $10,000,000. Trustees—D. O. Mills, P. B. Cornwall, Louis McLane, A. Hayward, J. B. Haggin, Thomas Bell and J. P. Smith. A large corps of surveyors are now laying off the Bellingham Bay coal company's lands at Sehome preparatory to active business, and another body of engineers are making preliminary surveys on the new Bellingham Bay and British Columbia railroad. It is also the intention of the Bellingham Bay coal company to open their extensive coal lands here and ship by rail and water.

The Maple Ridge Muddle.

For some months past there has been trouble at Maple Ridge respecting the disposal of the $1000 appropriated by the government for expenditure in that municipality. Maple Ridge has the misfortune to be a much-divided community. One party wants one thing and the other wants another, and both seem anxious to administer the expenditure of public appropriations. Some time ago the conflict of opinion seemed so serious that the government were asked to send an engineer for the purpose of making an examination so as to determine where road work should be done. The government sent Mr. Turner up for that purpose, and, acting upon his report, they notified the municipal council that the $1000 was available and would be paid over conditional upon its expenditure on the road recommended by the engineer. The council thereupon declared that they would not accept the money upon any such condition. A petition was gotten up asking that the appropriation be placed as recommended by the engineer, and another petition forthwith made its appearance asking something very different—and several of the ratepayers signed both these petitions. The government became thoroughly puzzled as to the proper course of action. It was finally decided that a vote should be taken as the only feasible means of ascertaining what the wishes of the people were. A man might sign two conflicting petitions, but he could not very well vote yea and nay on the same question. On the 17th inst. the municipal clerk, Mr. Murray, was requested to give notice of a meeting for that purpose. We believe the meeting is to be held to-day. The people are to be asked to say whether they wish the $1000 to be spent on the road laid out by Mr. Turner, or whether it should be handed over to the municipal council unconditionally to be spent as they think fit. All adult male ratepayers or occupiers of land within the municipality are competent to vote. We hope the result will be satisfactory. If it is not so the responsibility will certainly rest with the people themselves.

The Island Railway.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 29.—The final arrangements in connection with the Island railway were closed to-day. A strong syndicate has been formed and a surveying party will be sent out to select the line of road from Victoria northward. It is intended to push construction rapidly after the line has been chosen.—Colonist.

From the North Arm.

(Correspondence of the Columbian.)

Mr. James Gillespie is starting a logging camp on False creek. The tramway is nearly two miles long. The cars are to be drawn by mules. Mr. Angus Fraser is opening a new camp at Jericho. The bush fires have retarded lumbering operations very much, but not much of the green timber has been burned. The daily trips of the steamer Alice are a great convenience to the people of the settlement, affording easy, cheap and frequent connection with your city. Crops are turning out well, and the neighborhood shows evident signs of improvement. Rain would have been welcomed at almost any time during the past months, but in its absence the abundant dews with which we are favored near the gulf keep vegetation comparatively green.

From Surrey.

(Correspondence of the Columbian.)

Bush fires still continue in various parts of the municipality. On account of the absence of strong winds they have done much less damage than would otherwise have been done. Rev. Mr. Chantrell and his brother, with their families, have resumed residence at Mud Bay and are a valuable acquisition to the community. Two hundred dollars is to be expended in gravelling, so far as it will go, the road over the flats at the bay this season. The new school house has not yet been erected. That at Clover Valley is finished and occupied and is pronounced by visitors to be "just the thing." Mr. Huck has a new house in process of erection. We hear that Mr. Kennedy of New Westminster is about to resume residence upon his farm on the Scott road.

For all troubles of the Throat, use Allen's Lung Balsam. See adv. in another column.

From Delta.

(Correspondence of the Columbian.)

On Saturday last J. B. Jackson, recently from the provincial penitentiary, and Andrew Brandt, were brought before W. H. Ladner, J. Kirkland and F. Page, Esqs., on a charge of stealing salmon from Mr. E. A. Wadhams' cannery. From the evidence it appears that Mr. Wadhams for some time suspected that fish were being taken from his scow. Circumstances pointed in the direction of these men, who were in Mr. Wadhams' employ, and they were detected. The mode of procedure was to go to the scow into which the fish had been counted and transfer thence to their boat a certain number of salmon before going out for the night's work. When the boats came in next morning these men had some 49 salmon, while the others had only an average of 7. The evidence was conclusive, and the prisoners electing to be dealt with summarily, were fined $50 each with two months in gaol, another month to be added in case the fine is not paid. They were lodged in the lock-up by Constable Green and sent up to New Westminster on board the Nellie on Monday. Jackson is said to have taken quite kindly to the situation, and warmed the new lock-up with a lively jig, saying as he did so, "There goes another three months for me." Some sympathy is expressed for Brandt, who seems to be a man unused to such associations.—The establishment of a telegraph office is a subject of rejoicing here and will be of great service in connection with the canneries and steamers as well as in cases of sickness in the neighborhood, as the use of the wires will save several hours' time in procuring a doctor. The operator, Master Edwards, reports a very good run of business during the few days which have elapsed since the office was opened.—Mr. W. B. Skinner and Mr. W. H. Burr have each recently imported a self-binding reaper. The machines seem to give good satisfaction, and are a valuable addition to the "plant" of the neighborhood. Mr. Burr's fine steam thresher went up to Chilliwhack this week, as the harvest is somewhat earlier there than here. Mr. John Smith, of Langley, who brought a hay-press of superior construction and power which he sold to Mr. T. Ladner, has leased the said press for a term and has been baling a large quantity of hay therewith. Mr. S. having long followed the business does up his work "with neatness and dispatch." The crops, so far as hay and grain are concerned, are of more than average quantity and superior quality. Haying is over, and never was hay crop secured in better condition. The grain crop is being gathered in, and is as near perfect as well could be. Vegetables are a light crop but many of them very good. Delta will send some specimens to the agricultural show which it may be hard to beat—for some of them will be big beets. Miss Watson has taken charge of the public school and gives promise of success in her important work. The commencement of a Sunday school is being mooted. One is much needed and would be well patronized by the youth of the settlement, if carried on so as to make it interesting as well as instructive.

LATEST BY TELEGRAPH

NEWS FROM ALL PARTS OF THE WORLD.

RAT PORTAGE, Aug. 14.—Last evening the adjourned meeting of the citizens was convened for the purpose of municipal organization under Ontario. Any disturbance that might have been made was effectually prevented by the presence of the Ontario police in force, and notwithstanding the special pleading of the Premier of Manitoba and his interested local officials, when the vote was taken the resolution was carried by an overwhelming majority. Last night's meeting was the largest ever held in Rat Portage, and there can be no doubt that Ontario has now established herself in the affections of the people as a whole, without distinction as to politics. The establishment of an Ontario municipality is now a foregone conclusion, and it will start with an immediate credit of about one thousand dollars, without any assessment for taxation until May 1st, 1884, when, under the Ontario Statutes, an assessment roll can be made up.

NEW YORK, Aug. 19.—A cable special from London to the Sun says there is a lively discussion going on as to whether the Duke of Sutherland, Sir E. J. Reed, Lord Dunraven and others are American or English. In view of their large landed possessions in America, it is contended that they are American citizens according to the law of the United States, and that in the event of war between the two countries they would have to decide to which they belonged. The whole subject of English investment in America, particularly in land, is just now receiving widespread attention. The probability is that for the next few months the English public will concern itself largely with American topics, partially for the reason that such a large number of prominent Englishmen have chosen to spend a long vacation and the autumn months in the States.

LONDON, Aug. 24.—A dispatch from Cettinje, Montenegro, says: A reign of terror exists in the villages of Kassova in Roumelia. The Turks are murdering Christians, and all the latter who can get away are fleeing from the country. The Turkish officials connive at the outrages on Christians and have arrested and exiled a number of priests. In one district ninety-two persons have been abandoned.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Aug. 25.—A meeting of the Northwestern Traffic Association was held at Lake Minnetonka to-day. There was a full attendance. It was decided to admit the Northern Pacific to the pool, giving it the same rates, privilege and decision as is now accorded to the Union Pacific. Northern Pacific rates to Portland will be on the same basis as Union Pacific rates to San Francisco.

CHICAGO, Aug. 25.—A New York special says: "I had a talk with Bonanza Mackay about the new concern a day or two ago. The company has transferred $12,000,000 of its stock to the mining king, which gives him $1,000,000 over the controlling interest. The company, Mackay tells me, will be run in connection with a new cable company, fostered by Alderman Headley, of London, who was over here a little while ago. The work of pushing this company forward will go ahead very rapidly now. Branches are being established from Olean, N. Y., to the oil region. A large force is also at work joining Chicago and St. Louis. Almost immediately steps are to be taken towards San Francisco, and inside of eight months the Postal Company will be in complete working order. The principles adopted by the English government for the telegraph system is that uniform charges are to be made, whether messages are sent only across the street or from New York to San Francisco. These charges will be twenty-five cents for twenty words, and one cent for every additional word. A good feature of the scheme is the issuing of stamps for various sums, with which to prepay messages. Mackay says Fair, his former partner, may go into the affair, and he believes it will prove an immensely money-making scheme, because the public will have confidence in its permanency, by reason of a clause in its charter forbidding the company from consolidating with any other for a period of at least twenty years."

ST. PETERSBURG, Aug. 28.—Official estimates of the wheat and other crops of Russia show the yield to be generally satisfactory.

NEW YORK, Aug. 28.—The reopening of gambling dens in Chinatown has caused no little excitement among respectable Chinese merchants and residents of Mott and Mulberry streets. The chief subject of conversation in stores and on the streets was the daring movement of the breakers of the law, who were last month compelled to close their places on account of deputy sheriff Tom Lee and the police. In front of a number of houses which have been used only as residences recently Chinamen stood guard this morning, to notify the gamblers if any stranger attempted to enter the building. From without nothing is visible, but the police are satisfied that Chinese games of chance are carried on in at least twenty of them.

SERGEANT DOLAN ACCOUNTS FOR THE DEFEAT

In conversation with a Tribune reporter about the international match and its result, Sergeant Dolan said:—"The principal cause of the defeat of our team was the weather, which was so extremely bad that I cannot do justice to it in a description. It was a kind of weather that our men had never experienced before. All but four of us had finished at the 800-yard range before luncheon. The two teams took luncheon together and then went to work at the long ranges, when a violent storm of rain and hail broke over the field. The wind and rain seemed to come from every direction at once, and good work was impossible to those who were not accustomed to shooting under such circumstances. The clouds cleared away in a short time, but the shifting, uncertain light which followed was worse than rain. Then the targets were so placed that the sun was behind them, and glared full in the faces of the men. At Creedmoor the targets are arranged so that the sun shines on them, and is at the back of those who are shooting. This was a fruitful cause of confusion to our men.

"I don't think there is any material difference between English and American powder, and I consider the American ammunition fully equal to the English. Our guns were in every way equal to those of our opponents. I do not think there is any difference in the quality of the Browne and Remington gun. Four of us used the former weapon and eight the latter. We used the same powder at all the ranges, and were well satisfied with it. The Englishmen were undoubtedly helped considerably by their long experience with the peculiar weather and the changing lights on the targets. Then it should be remembered that they have been shooting for twenty years, while our men have been at it only two years. The feeling is general among the British volunteers that a team will be sent here next year for a return match. I think an American team can be selected which will beat them, too."—N. Y. Tribune.

Do not delay, if suffering from any form of Bowel Complaint, however mild apparently may be the attack, but use Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry. It is the old reliable cure for all forms of Summer Complaints that require prompt treatment. Ask your druggist and all dealers in patent medicines.

"Leaves have their time to fall," says the poet, but Wild Strawberry leaves are on the rise just now, being utilized in such enormous quantities in making Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry—the infallible remedy for Cholera Morbus, Diarrhœa and other Summer Complaints.

For diseases leading to Consumption, use Allen's Lung Balsam. See adv. in another column.

AN AUCTION SALE

On the evening of the first day of Fair of Homesteads, Wild Land, Etc. On the second day of Fair an auction sale will be held of Stock and Farm Produce. This will give an opportunity to Farmers of disposing of their breeding and other stock, and also to purchasers a chance of getting what they may require in that line, without having to search to country for the same. This early opportunity is taken with a view to giving parties desirous of disposing of their Farms or property, ample time to make the same public, so that likely purchasers may have an opportunity of visiting and seeing for themselves, which they could not do at a short notice. This will be an opportunity that has never occurred before, and every Farmer should make a point of visiting New Westminster on that occasion. All that is required of those who wish to dispose of their property is that they communicate full particulars to the undersigned as soon as possible, giving the lowest cash price they will take for the same. If such price is not realized there will be no charge made. In this way a farm or a tract of land at Cariboo or Kamloops or Nicola Valley can be disposed of without the owner being put to the least expense or inconvenience thereby. Full particulars of sale in due time.

Our Story.

NELLIE'S MEMORIES.

"I gave him mine willingly, and we parted; that night, I do not know why, I sobbed myself to sleep.

"The following Sunday I went to church as usual, and looked eagerly at the front free-seat, but he was not there; and when afternoon came, and it was still vacant, a nameless terror filled my mind; what could have become of him? After tea I was sitting disconsolately in the porch, when I saw Enoch Barsley and Silas Underwood coming down the lane; and more disinclined than ever for their slow clumsy compliments, I fetched my hat and ran down the orchard, and on to the grass meadow and the pool. There was a little clump of elder-bushes at the far end of the pool, with a little seat under them, where I loved to sit and read sometimes on Sunday afternoons; and I was making my way to it, when I heard a muffled sound apparently proceeding from that direction. I stepped cautiously and peeped between the bushes, and then my heart stood still; for I saw Allan lying on the grass, with his face to the earth.

"In sudden terror I cried, 'Allan, Allan, what ails you?' and at the sound of my voice he sprang to his feet as swift as a dart, and drawing himself up proudly, stood facing me.

"'What ails you, Allan?' I said again, for his eyes were wet and his face pale and drawn. For answer he stretched out his arms to me.

"'Good-bye, Lucy, good-bye, my dear; sorrowful be the day I ever saw your sweet face. When I am gone many a richer man will woo, and one will win; but none, none can love half so truly and so well, dear, as the penniless soldier!'

"Then stroking the trembling hand he held, 'I bless God I have seen your dear face again; for may be I shall see it no more, for we are ordered away to-morrow, Lucy; and I dared not come and say good-bye;' and then again he stretched out his arms to me, and forgetful of all save what he had told me, that I should see his face no more, I laid my head on his breast and he kissed me twice and left the place.

"And so the shadow of a hopeless love passed over my life, and weary days and weary nights were appointed me, to be spent in fruitless longings for a face that I should never see more.

"'What ails our Lucy?' was my mother's daily comment; 'she does not seem as blithe-like and pert as she used to be, but goes about the house drooping, for all the world like a little bird with a broken wing.'

"'With a broken heart, you mean, mother; with a broken heart!' But a mightier grief was at hand. One night, market night it was, when the farm was still, and the inmates asleep, save the mother who sat knitting in the house-place, biding the father's return, our gray mare galloped riderless into the yard. In a moment the house was astir; half-dressed sleepy farm-servants went hither and thither with torches and lanters searching the lanes and by-paths, and it was not long before they found him lying in the road with his face to the moon, and the blood welling out from a deep wound in his head. The dancing shadows had probably caused Gipsy to shy, and so threw her master, perhaps at that moment sitting unconsciously reckoning his gains with the bridle thrown on her neck, and then his poor head had struck against a sharp flint-stone, which had given him his death-wound.

"As they lifted him up and bore him to the farm the last struggling breath was drawn, and the gray hues of death settled down once and forever.

"When my mother, standing on the horse-block straining her eyes into the darkness, saw amid the flaming torches the awful straightness of the form they bore, the light and color died out of her face forever. Slowly from that day, yet surely, following her husband's footsteps down to the place of shadows, she faded painlessly from life; and one morning in the autumn, when the laden corn-wains passed to and fro, and the children went nutting in the lanes and copses, they came to me and whispered that she was dead; and so there were none left but me and Dorothy.

"Ah, those hard bitter days, when Dorothy went about and bustled in the house-place and left me alone to my sorrow! There was no will, my father had never made one; perhaps with the superstitious feelings belonging to his class that it might hasten his death; but of course the substance should have been fairly portioned out between us. Dolly, however, seemed to assume the whole as her right, and talked of taking me with her to live when she was married—for, oh, heartless that she was, before the grass was green on mother's grave, she had given up the farm on advantageous terms, and prepared for the flitting.

"Life with Dorothy and Josiah in that odious little house on the high street was worse than death to me; and when Dorothy told me her intention in her austere decided way, I rebelled for the first time in my life, saying that her's and Josiah Beazley's home should never be mine.

"This unlooked-for outburst on my part was followed by a torrent of taunts and sneers; and at last with cruel passionate words she dared me to assert my will against hers. Alas, my weakness was no match for her strength, and at last, half maddened by grief and despair, I rushed from her presence and out from the porch into the dark chill garden.

"Down my mother's rose-tree walk, and out of the wicket-gate under the lilac tree, and along the damp grassy lane, I cared not whither. Blinded by tears I heeded not the obstacles in my way, and was just stumbling over a fallen log, when a strong arm caught and replaced me on my feet, and then turning my face to the uncertain light, cried, 'Lucy, Lucy.' It was Allan. As a drowning man clings to a plank, so I clung to him I thought never to see again.

"'Take me away, Allan, take me away; I will never go home any more, I will never see her cruel face again.'

"'Hush, love,' he said gravely, in the low tone one would use to a frightened child, 'let me hear what all this means;' and drawing me to the log, he listened to my incoherent story, broken by bursts of hysterical weeping. 'Thou hast lost thy protectors, Lucy; what can I do with thee?'

"'Take me away, I pleaded, burying my face on his shoulder; you say you love me, Allan, take me away.'

"'Love thee!' he said, pressing his lips to my hair, 'love thee! ay, so dearly, that I can ill bear poverty for thee.' Then, with a sad smile, 'You a poor soldier's wife, Lucy, with those little delicate hands! and yet how leave you to that merciless woman, with her hard face and voice to crush the dear life out of you?'

"'I will die,' I cried passionately, 'rather than live with her and Josiah; I will not, Allan, I will not!'

"And so at last, after many tears and many words, it was agreed that I was to meet Allan on the morrow, at a given place, and he was to take me to a friend of his, a corporal's wife, in the southern town where the regiment was quartered, and there to remain until he could legally claim me as his wife.

"And so before a month was out, I married Allan, and in spite of many a hardship and privation was as happy as the day was long. Though our room was poor it was very neat, and I was so proud to see my husband ride out on his splendid black horse to parade, and so childishly pleased with the novelties about me, and Allan was so kind and dear, that I never wished myself back at the farm. I used to eke out our scanty means by doing needle work for the officers' wives; and these used to be very good to me and give me little presents, and so for seven months the happy life went on.

"Our regiment was ordered to India, but as I was accompanying Allan, this news did not trouble me, though Allan seemed to fear the tedious voyage for me.

"About a week after this we had a letter from D—— that strangely and joyfully excited us. A distant relative of mine had died and left a small legacy to be divided between Dorothy and me; small as the sum was, it seemed princely to us; and Allan opened his eyes incredulously at the moment.

"The attorney who wrote the letter was Josiah, and he added a not uncivil message from Dorothy, to the effect that I should come up to D—— immediately to receive my share, and put up at their house.

"'What shall we do, Lucy? I cannot get leave of absence, and yet we want the money.'

"No doubt of that, for our outfit for the voyage was scanty in the extreme, and so reluctantly I made up my mind that I must be the one to go.

"'You need not be longer than two days; indeed, next week we may have orders to put on board; so three or four days are all I can spare to my little wife.'

"'Oh, they are far too many,' I said, and then we talked of ways and means, and then I settled to go. I was very miserable when I said good-bye to Allan at the station, and not much happier when I reached D——. The little drab parlor was dingier than ever, and Dorothy more angular and sharp; married life had not agreed with her; for, if report spoke true, she had found a match in Josiah.

"Dorothy was rough and sharp, but not unkind, till we opened the subject of money matters, when I found she and Josiah had made up their minds to cheat me, if possible, out of my proper share. But brave for my husband's sake, I held to my rights, and insisted on my fair share; and then Dolly's temper was roused, and warm and insulting speeches were heaped on Allan and myself, which I bore patiently, and then returned to the old subject—would they give me my own honestly? No, they would not; and when at last, seeing me stand firm and inclined to call in other and worthier advice, they were compelled to yield, such obstacles were placed in my way that I was well-nigh in despair. Three days, and still half the money withheld; four days, and then Allan bade me come without it, and instantly, for they had orders to sail.

"This letter had been withheld from me a day, more from carlessness than spite, though I accused Dolly of the latter; another day and the regiment would embark; and frantically I rushed to Dolly, and implored her to have Josiah's gig put to for me directly.

"'Gig, indeed!' cried Dolly, scornfully; 'as you have come you may go back to your beggarly husband—gig, indeed!'

"I pleaded again and again, but I might as well have tried to soften a stone; and at last, maddened by her continuous ill-usage, I started off on foot, while she called to me from the threshold, in her shrill mocking tones, 'I sha'n't send the rest of the money after you,' but I gave no heed.

"It was a scorching sun, and eight miles to the nearest station to catch the up train; it was madness to walk, and with those bitter angry feelings tearing at my heart, but I did. Oh, ma'am, to my sorrow and trouble, I did. A wagoner seeing me plod on wearily offered to take me up, but there was a rough-looking fellow on the top, and I had money about me, and did not dare accept the welcome rest. Oh, ma'am, it was a fool's gate that day, but I was little more than a child, and did not know the mischief it might do.

"Ere ever that long walk was over, the old faintness attacked me; some one driving rapidly past in a gig saw a woman lying insensible on the grass by the roadside, and lifted her up—it was Josiah Beazley. He drove me home. I was too ill to know where I was going, and ere many hours had passed my trouble came on me, and my poor baby was born. I was terribly ill for months and months, my brain was affected; and when I came to know all about it my husband had sailed that very night nine months ago.

"Many a letter had he written, poor fellow, many a loving, anxious letter, praying Lucy for one word to ease his cruel anxiety; but would you believe she never answered them, but flung them on the bed, with the words, may be I should soon be able to answer them myself.

"I wrote that night, and again and again, but I have never heard from Allan, never, never! I do not know whether he be dead or living;" and here Lucy Graham broke down in a fit of sobbing.

"Dolly was sorry when she saw what she had done, but somehow it seemed hard to forgive her, so I just took my sickly baby and went to an aunt in Scotland, with whom I lived for some time. I have written and written, till hope deferred has become fear deferred; my letters have been returned to me, and our colonel's lady, to whom I at last wrote, said in her kind letter, that Allan Graham had gone home on sick leave a year and a half ago. A year and a half, and had never reached England!

To enable the Corporation of the City of New Westminster to raise by way of Loan the sum of Five Thousand Dollars for the purposes therein set forth.

WHEREAS IT IS EXPEDIENT TO raise by way of loan the sum of Five thousand dollars, to build a wharf for, and to subsidise, a Steam Ferry between the city of New Westminster and the South side of Fraser River; to assist in building an Agricultural Hall, and for grading and covering a portion of Columbia Street;

And whereas it will require the sum of Nine hundred dollars to be raised annually by special rate for the payment of said debt and interest;

And whereas the whole rateable property of the said Corporation of the City of New Westminster, according to the last revised Assessment Roll, being for the year 1883, is the sum of Four hundred and sixty-eight thousand eight hundred and thirty-five dollars, irrespective of any future increase of the rateable property of the Municipality and of any income in the nature of tolls, interest or dividends from the work, or from any stock, shares or interest in the work upon which the money to be raised as herein provided for or any part thereof is intended to be invested, and also irrespective of any income from the temporary investment of the sinking fund or of any part thereof;

And whereas, for paying the interest and creating an equal yearly sinking fund for paying the said principal sum of Five thousand dollars as hereinafter provided, it will require an equal annual special rate of one quarter of one per cent. on the dollar.

BE IT THEREFORE ENACTED, by the Mayor and Council of the Corporation of the City of New Westminster, as follows:—

1. That it shall be lawful for the Mayor of the city to raise by way of loan from any person or persons, body or bodies corporate, who may be willing to advance the same upon the credit of the debentures hereinafter mentioned, a sum of money not exceeding in the whole the sum of Five thousand dollars, and cause the same to be paid into the hands of the Clerk of the said Corporation for the purpose and with the object above recited;

2. That it shall be lawful for the said Mayor to cause any number of debentures to be made for such sums of money as may be required, not less than one hundred dollars each, and that the said debentures shall be sealed with the seal of the said Corporation of the City of New Westminster and be signed by the said mayor;

3. That said debentures shall be made payable in ten years at farthest from the day hereinafter mentioned for this By-law to take effect, at the office of the Clerk of the Corporation of the said City of New Westminster, and shall have attached to them coupons for the payment of the interest;

4. That the said debentures shall bear interest at and after at the rate of eight per cent. per annum from the date thereof, which interest shall be payable half-yearly at the office of the Clerk of the Municipality;

5. That for the purpose of forming a sinking fund for the payment of the said debentures and the interest at the rate aforesaid to become due thereon, an equal special rate of one quarter of one per cent. on the dollar shall in addition to all other rates be raised, levied and collected in each year upon all rateable property in the said municipality during the continuance of the said debentures or any of them.

6. It shall be lawful for the said Municipal Council from time to time to purchase any of the said debentures, and such debentures shall be so expressed as to entitle the said Council to redeem and purchase the same on paying the amount thereo and interest due thereon to the date of such purchase, at such time or times as may be agreed upon, to the holder or holders thereof, and all debentures so re-purchased shall be forthwith cancelled and destroyed and no re-issue of debentures shall be made in consequence of such re-purchase;

7. This Bylaw shall take effect and come into operation upon the tenth day of September, A. D. 1883.

This Bylaw may be cited as the New Westminster Loan Bylaw, 1883.
