ROLL ME A GAME AT ROLLS

WON THE MERRILL CUP

W. K. Pollock Captures the Silverware Miss Jackson Runner-Up

For a year at least the Merrill Cup will hold match ends, collar-buttons and other kindred kickshaws for a mere man, and a bachelor at that. After far and away the best struggle in the annals of local golf, W. K. Pollock won the trophy, with Miss Emily Jackson as runner-up. The final contestants had proven themselves such good sports and good golfers that a victory either way would have been a popular victory. But a fair analysis of the play throughout the tournament shows that the trophy went to the right man on strict grounds of merit, "W. K." has the silverware but he had to work his passage all the way in getting it. Finding in L. C. Rolls and F. H. French opponents tougher than Princeton beef, he played them to a standstill in 36 and 45 holes respectively. This, together with two full games against Mr. Sproule and Miss Jackson, gives him an aggregate of 117 holes for the tournament, and an average of 29¼ holes per match. It's work.

In the semi-finals Pollock defeated Sproule in a close game and Martin was "put away" by Miss Jackson. The winners went into the finals with Pollock conceding a handicap of seven strokes to his fair opponent. The first round ended in a tie: then the real struggle began, which went on with alternate success to the seventh hole which found Pollock two up and two to play. Facing the eight tee, he called upon the shade of his heroic ancestor who slew an archer at Falkirk, swung "high, wide and handsome" lifted the ball to the green in one shot wasted a stroke or two, putted down for four and the game was won. The last hole was played off for the benefit of the "gallery" whose growing proportions as the game progressed, proved beyond question that the Merrill Cup has not failed of its purpose as a tonic to local golf.

WILFUL NAPOLEON

A wholesale feed house owned a balky mule named Napoleon, and employed an old negro named Abe to drive him.

One day when Napoleon balked and old Abe had spent his energies on him for an hour in a vain endeavor to get him to start, Abe went into a store to telephone his employers.

The following was Abe's end of the conversation:

"Please, marm, gimmie number two hun'red an' 'leven. Is dat you, Marse Henry? Yessir, dis am Abe. I dun ring you up, marse, to tell you 'bout Napoleon.

Napoleon, he dun balk down here on Broad Street, sir.

'Bout a hour, sir.

Yessir, I bus' him on de head.

I dun wear the whip handle out on um, sir.

Marse Henry, I would ha've kicked um some mor' but I hu't ma big toe on um de las' time I kicked um.

No, sir, I don't think 'im dead. De doctor take 'im 'way in de amb'lance.

Yessir, it wus sure foolish.

Yes, Marse Henry, I dun set fire under Napoleon.

INHUMAN BRUITALITY

A Kingston Lady Recounts Revolting Atrocities of the Kaiser's Officers

In general it can serve no good purpose to vilify an enemy even by the publication of a true bill of crime against him; but in the face of the repeated assertions which we hear to the effect that the alleged German atrocities are mostly pure myths it behooves every British subject to know exactly the monsters against whom we are waging war. To this end we publish a few excerpts from a letter written from Aldershot by Mrs. Russell Brown, of Kingston, Ont.

Mr. Brown was for four years on the staffi of the Royal Military College, and has already been mentioned in despatches by General French, while his wife is at present acting as a Red Cross nurse. Both parties are well known to Mr. C. P. Dalton who handed us Mrs. Brown's letter. It is as follows.

"I could tell you such stories as would pass your belief about the things these awful apostles of culture are doing. A friend of mine is visiting a place where there is a little Belgian boy of eight, with his hands both cut off, and a baby who mother was killed and whose hands were also cut off when it was two days old. But wait till I tell you about a Belgium family, gentlepeople. The man is now staying at a house I know. They lived in a chatsau somewhere near the border. When the Germans came five Prustian officers came and took possession The night before they were to move as they were dining, they had this gentleman and his wife brought in. They tied him to the sideboard, and each one outraged the wife before the husband's eyes. She managed to free herself for long enough to rush to the table and cut her own throat with the carving knife.

"They then proceeded to mutilate the husband and left him still tied, to bleed to death. After they had gone one decrepit old servant managed to come in and free him. There was a little girl of five, and from that day to this nothing has been heard of her. The man is nearly demented. Can you conceive of such doings? These are officers. This is the culture the Kaiser hopes to spread by the help of God!

WAR COSTING $50,000,0000 DAILY

How The London Economist Reckons Daily Outlay of Great Conflict

On the basis of the French and English official data regarding the daily average costs of the war to those governments to date, the London Economist reckons the daily output at $50,000,000. It thus arrives at it:

"According to a Swiss compution, there were in Europe at the end of August about 20,400,000 men actually under arms. At the beginning of October Germany (on the same authority) had under arms twenty-seven army corps of her regular troops, and an equal number of reserves, making a total of fifty-four army corps, say 2,160,000 men. Of these twenty-four army corps were in France, six in Belgium and Alsace, thirteen in East Prussia, and eleven between Thorn and Cracow. There are, in addition, assumed to be 1,500,000 landsturm and volunteers serving in the interior, while 600,000 fresh recruits are reported to be in training sufficiently advanced for them to be ready for ser- in November.

"Even the neutral states, it was estimated, had mobilized more than 2,000,000 soldiers on a war footing. For each soldier including initial and consequent expenses, ten shillings per day is usually counted in an estimate. This gives a total daily war expense in Europe of over £10,000,000. Of this Germany would provide for some £2,200,000 per day; Austria for £1,600,000; Russia for £2,100,000, and France for £1,600,000. Even Switzerland was then spending some £60,000, and Holland probably £100,000."

The Economist's estimate brings the assumed daily average close to the highest European estimate published before the war, which was $54,000,000, but with Italy also assumed to be at war.

WAR ARTICLES WORTH FOLLOWING

The "Witness" articles on the war situation are appreciated throughout Canada by the best informed people, for their clearness and sincerity, as well as for their fine spirit, breath and foresight.

The Montreal "Weekly Witness" is a truly great national paper. It always has been and still is absolutely owned and edited by Dougalls, Mr. John Redpath Dougall being its editor.

While some papers are notoriously and obviously at the beck and call of predatory interests, there are others, like the Montreal "Weekly Witness" that have maintained their independence. It has never grovelled. It has never touted. It has never pandered. The "Witness" is its unique self, loved by its friends, hated by its enemies.

During the past three generations it has conscientiously, devotedly and very efficiently, served its country in many ways, notably in its capaigns for temperance, righteousness, religious liberty, education, and lower tariffs, looking towards lower cost and higher plane of living. If Canada is not yet enjoying to the full the benfits of these things, it is far ahead of many other countries in most of them, and this is due in no small measure to the stand, or, more correctly, the splendid campaigns of ths "Witness" whenever opportunity afforded. The welfare of the Canadian farmer in particular has always been considered of prime importance by the Fditor of the "Witness" and the "Witness has done yeoman service to agriculture.

Generations of our finest Canadian families have litterly been "brought up on the 'Witness'," as many of the most eminent Canadians will testify, and they continue its devoted admirers.

Besides the moral and political aspects of this great newspaper, it has attractive features embracing all the interests of the family and a splendid Farm and Poultry Department. Its short and serial stories are strong and fresh, and they alone are worth several times the price—one dollar a year. To bona fide New Subscribers mentioning the name of this paper, one trial year may be had for only 65c., or three months on trial only fifteen cents. The publishers are, as always, John Dougall & Son, "Witness" Office, Moetreal.

The "Weekly Witness" has now no connection with any daily newspaper and is the healthier for it.

This remedy is so complete a bowel cleanser that it is used successfully in appendicitis. THE ANGLICANS WILL BUILD A New Church to Be Erected on Webster Street.

The sense of homelessness which has so long affected the Anglicans of Hedley will soon be a thing of the past. We have it on good authority that the next few months will see the erection of a comfortable church building on Webster Street between Scott and Daly Avenues. Through the liberality of Hon. L. W. Shatford the building committee have been able to acquire a most desirable site at an unusually low figure; and as the building fund has now assumed proportions sufficient to justify the committee in going ahead with the project, work on the edifice will begin as soon as possible.

According to present plans the projected the church will be a frame structure 30x10 feet. It will be electric lighted and comfortably furnished inside and out with a view to its serving the double purpose of a place of worship and an assembly or reading room for those who care to take advantage of it. The contract is in the hands of Messrs. Boeing and Brass, according to whose estimates, the cost will be approximately $600.00.

GRAIN FOR THE FARMER

By instructions of the Hon. Minister of Agriculture a distribution of superior sorts of grain and potatoes will be made during the coming winter and spring to Canadian farmers. The samples for general distribution will consist of spring wheat (about 5 lbs.) white oats (about 4 lbs.), barley (about 5 lbs.), and field peas (about 5 lbs.). These will be sent out from Ottawa. A distribution of potatoes (in 3 lb. samples) will be carried on from several of the experimental farms, the Centaal farm at Ottawa supplying only the provinces of Ontario and Quebec. All samples will be sent free, by mail.

Applicants must give particulars in regard to the soil on their farms; and some account of their experience with such kinds of grain (or potatoes) as they have grown, so that a promising sort for their conditions may be selected.

Each application must be separate and must be signed by the applicant. Only one sample of grain and one of potatoes can be sent to each farm. If both samples are asked for in the same letter only one will be sent. Applications on any kind of printed form cannot be accepted.

As the supply of seed is limited, farmers are advised to apply early; but the applications will not necessarily be filled in the exact order in which they are received. Preference will always be given to the most thoughtful and explicit requests. Applications received after the end of January will probably be too late.

All applications for grain (and applications from the provinces of Ontario and Quebec for potatoes) should be addressed to the Dominion Cerealist, Central Experimental Farm, Ottawa. Such applications require no postage. If otherwise addressed delay and disappointment may occur.

Applications, for potatoes, from farmers in any other province should be addressed (postage prepaid) to the Superintendent of the nearest Branch Experimental Farm in that province.

THE ORIGINAL KNOCKER

Every community has its group of political artists who seem to regard steady men of business as beasts of burden. Every town has its local chapter of the ancient order of armchair critics who motto is "the greatest good to the greatest number.—with the mental reservation that that is Number One.

A crisis like the present is always "open season" for such gentry, who seem to be impressed with a ponderous feeling that the contemporary auditing of accounts will be turned over to them on Judgement Day. This is a harmless obsession and hurts no one but themselves in ordinary times; but when great and serious business is afoot, their case reminds one of an old story which runs somewhat as follows:

Satan was once a man. Later he deleloped into a god and dwelt in Paradise. But Satan was of a peculiar disposition. He had the "artistic temperment" which is to say he was moody, irritable, fault-finding, and a good deal of the time idle. Instead of trying to remedy the faults of Paradise he merely pointed them out and harangued about them to all who would listen. He would neither tune harps, launder robes, nor polish the pavement. He merely whispered unkind things abont the Great Designer and kicked about the severity of the discipline. When warned from time to time to get busy, he replied, "I am". He was too but in the wrong way.

They tried to induce him to lead the Choral Society and break in the new arrivals, some of whom sang slightly off key; but he refused to lead the singing or conduct the orchestra. He was drilling a little class of his own which he cristened the Anvil Chorus. They tried to make use of him, for he was clever after a fashion; but it was no use. He would not do what he was told. He always knew a better way and sneered at every plan for heavenly betterment which he did not himself suggest: he suggested precious few and these he could not carry out. The one thing that really interested him was the Anvil Chorus. Whenever the saints lifted a paean of praise, he would start up his favorite instrument and pound. He was industrious in nothing but knocking.

Finally he got a good many people to believe that the anvil was sweeter than the harp; and when it was discovered that he had started a factory to make hammer handles, they decided to fire him bodily. So the word was passed along and he was shot over the balcony with his band of knockers. Milton says he fell for two weeks. When he finally reached the earth, he gave it out that he was a dispossessed prince, styled himself D'Evil, took up his residence in Paris and went into business, establishing agencies all over the world. Through the Middle Ages he got a good deal of free advertising from theologians. Later the playwrights and poets took him up. Milton wrote his biography and Bobby Burns threw some spirited sidelights on his character. This all tended to turn his head; but as a drawing card he is a dead one now. His character was cast through with an essential unsoundness—the spirit of cynicism which can see no good thing in the heavens above or the earth beneath. The world grows weary of him and his ilk. The best families are not affecting his society of late and he is popular only with college sophomores and others who have no more sense than they.

MORAL: A ounce of sincerity is worth a ton of wit. The knocker simply labels himself; and mankind ever mistrusts the mistrustful.

Mrs. Geo. E. Sproule spent a couple of days last week visiting Mr. and Mrs. T. Bradshaw at Fifteen Mile. She returned home on Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. I. L. Merrill left on Thursday last for Victoria where they will spend a short time before returning to their home in Los Angeles.

We regret to say that Mrs. Gillespie's illness seems to have become acute and at the time of going to press she was in a very critical condition.

Last Saturday Homer McLean, accompanied by W. C. Martin of the Gazette staff, motored over to Penticton, returning Sunday with Miss Gordon who is nursing Mrs. Gillespie.

With every storm the snow line drops a few feet lower. Some fine morning you happy householders will wake up to that sweet litany, "Remember to shovel off the walk, dear."

Mrs. J. Cody of Helena, Montana, spent the early part of last week in Hedley with her son here. She left Thursday for Yorkton, Sask., where she purposes remaining for the winter with her brother.

A. E. Denman who has been for the past week pursuing the elusive buck on the summits back of Olalla returned Saturday without the venison. We have been pursuing the other kind of bucks in Hedley for the last three months with about the same success.

On Tuesday evening, November 17th a concert for the benefit of the Hedley Brass Band will be given in Fraternity Hall under the direction of Professor Glaze. Come everyone! The best local talent will assist with the programme and the concert will be followed by a dance.

WANTED—A live manager to represent the INLAND COMMERCIAL AGENCY in this town. Must be good typist and book-keeper, with a knowledge of the collection business, and must be ready to devote whole time to it.—Apply at once, stating previous experience to Box 293, Penticton, B.C.

Last Friday evening an enjoyable impromptu hop was held at Fraternity Hall as a farewell to W. K. Pollock. As the dance was rather hurriedly gotten up by Mr. Pollock's immediate friends, the festivities were naturally confined to the younger set; all of whom report a very pleasant evening. The music was furnished by Messrs. Stevens and Hanson.

Last Saturday the local troop of Boy Scouts took their first cross country hike and proved themselves to be a splendid bunch of mushers. The trip to McKinnon's ranch by the corkscrew trail was made in two hours and a half with a half-hour halt for lunch, while the return trip by the road was accomplished in two hours and a quarter.

Last Friday O. A. Tompson who handles concentrates in the mill had a painful experience which temporarily put him out of commission. He had just turned around to pick up a shovel when his back went back on him, so to speak and he went down for the count. Though suffering a great deal of pain he is able to be on his feet again. Those who know the concentrate barrow will not blame his back for going on strike.

This week W. K. Pollock leaves us and we are sorry. No more will his rich burr be heard in the sanctum. No more will he swap yarns and cut plug with the staff of the Gazette. According to a ukase from headquarters he will leave for the coast to take a position in the bank's Vancouver office—loaded to the guards with good wishes and good advice from his man friends in Hedley.

One of the pleasantest Hallowe'en parties which it has been our privilege to attend on this side of the divide was given at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wheeler on Saturday evening. It was a real old time rollicky spooky witches' frolic with a trick at every turn and a laugh in every trick. When everyone had qualified for the Foolish House in one way or another, the company repaired to the drawing room and partook of a dainty supper, which was followed by an impromptu programme. After an evening of genuine enjoyment the party broke up early and the laughing guests went their ways, voting Mr. and Mrs. Wheeler the real and original Hallowe'en entertainers.

A few days ago by the merest chance we came across a clipping from the Eugene "Record" which should be of interest to local people in that the subject of the article has been for some months among us making friends and musicians in Hedley. "The musical entertainment given by Mr. Warren Glaze, assisted by the choir, at the Methodist church Wednesday evening, was largely attended, notwithstanding the inclement weather. The demonstration given by Prof. Warren Glaze was remarkable, he being blindfolded and led to the centre of the church edifice where he quickly and correctly announced every key struck on a piano, glasses, nails, etc., on the rostrum. Mr. Findley, an expert piano tuner, who witnessed the demonstration announced to the audience that in all his travels he had only met one person before, a blind musician, who could perform this feat. He said about one person in five thousand manifested such acute hearing."

Town and Lower Valley.

O. H. Carle was a visitor to Princeton for a couple of days last week.

Mrs. Geo. B. Clarke returned from Salmon Arm last week after spending a very pleasant time with her nephew, Dr. Connelly of that city.

Sam Breed picked a handful of ripe raspberries off his patch last week and Herb Hunter gathered a bunch of fine wild violets. This we think is some climate.

Miss Mattie Armstrong left on Monday's train for Seattle where she hopes to spend the most of the coming winter with her cousins, the Misses Easty of that city.

Don't argue about it. Rolls handles good hockey boots. Go to him now and give him a chance to do your order justice. Special orders mean better prices for you.

Douglas Richmond after being in the employ of Mr. Andrew Robertson for the past thirteen months, resigned his position and left for the home of his parents who have a very fine farm near Edmonton, Alta.

Mrs. U. A. Lindsay of Spokane, mother of Mrs. Thos. Daly, is visiting at the Willows with Mrs. E. M. Daly for a few weeks. She is enjoying herself immensely and thinks this part of the mountains is superb in its beauty.

W. H. Steves, Dist. Supt. of the Government Telegraph Lines, after inspecting the new piece of line being connected up from Fairview to Oroville, Wash., and Midway, B.C., passed through Keremeos on Tuesday after arranging for a substitute for the local agent.

Remember the sale of work to be held in the Town Hall on November 12th. Besides fancy work there will be on sale, home made cooking, ice cream and home made candy. A programme of music and a dance are being arranged. The proceeds are to be given to the patriotic fund. Doors open at eight o'clock.

The women of St. John's Guild meet every Wednesday afternoon to sew for a sale to be given in December, the proceeds of which will be given to the Belgian Relief Fund. There are very urgent requests being sent out for all kinds of warm clothing for men, women and children and even babies. If those who have clothing to give will leave it at the Customs House the Guild will be grateful. All such things received will be sent to the needy on the first possible opportunity.

The correspondent had the pleasure of visiting the lower Similkameen and what is now known as Boundary Valley. This district is located on Richter Mountain and boasts of a school house as there are about twelve families located there. Hobbs Bros. have a sawmill with a capacity of about 7000 feet per day, which is sufficient to supply the needs of the settlers, and ship a little in the rough across the line. The altitude of the settlement is something over three thousand feet, but they raise fine grain and other produce notwithstanding. However the locality is chiefly used as a grazing country

Hallowe'en is over once more but the same old nonsense still continues. A joke is a joke we all agree but wanton abuse is hardly likely to be tolerated. This kind of thing continues year by year, and it is hard to express our feelings at the senseless pranks committed. Some times men are supposed to put away childish things, so the good book says; but still the non-compoot survives. The painting of buildings and windows is going too far; for the defaced buildings will have to be repainted to cover the tracks of the uncertified lunatics. We only hope that the girls, boys, men and women will try to develop a little common sense in the year to come.

There has been a deplorable lack of promptitude on the part of the government in delaying the organization of the overseas calvalry contingent. A number of the local boys who have made up their minds to go with the colors to the front, have been waiting anxiously for the call; but up to the present none has come for cavalry mobilization. So, on Saturday last Robt. J. McCurdy left for Penticton to see how the land lay in the line of recruiting for active service. Finding it favorable for the Rocky Mountain Rangers contingent, 102 Regiment, he telephoned over to Keremeos and in consequence W. R. Hope, R. B. Hogg, and H. C. N. Etches took the automobile for the Okanagan on a few minutes notice, went before the medical officer, were passed with a good bill of constitution, sworn in as soldiers of the King, and headed back for Keremeos next morning under parole, to be called at a few hours' dotice.

Better than Ringing Door-bells

A PIANO manufacturer recently made a house-to-house canvass. He's one of those men with an absurd fear of the "waste-circulation" bugaboo —cannot get away from the haunting thought that only 10 out of every 100 readers of a newspaper may be possible buyers of his goods.

So he refused to advertise, and went a-canvassing —inviting people to come to his piano recitals. Then he wondered why they didn't come.

This is why:

He wasn't reaching the people.

His canvassers rang every door-bell in town. They talked to some one in every house.

But one in every household isn't enough —particularly if it doesn't happen to be the right person. And, as a rule, it wasn't the right person—it was a servant, or a child. The woman of the house was seldom seen; the man of the house, never.

Now, if the piano maker had placed an ad. in the newspaper, it would have reached thousands, where the canvassers could reach only hundreds.

And even though only 10 per cent. of the readers are actual piano buyers, this does not mean that the advertising read by the other 90 per cent. is wasted. Advertising talks, not only to the prospective buyer, but also to his wife, his grown-up sons and daughters, his mother—even his mother-in-law. Their coaxing will help to convince the head of the house—and pretty soon there'll be a piano in that home.

This and dozens of similar cases which might be cited to show that "waste circulation" is an empty bugaboo, and should deter no one.

Take the motor truck. It can be sold only to large firms Yet a motor truck manufacturer is successfully Advertising in daily papers. He realizes that he must reach, not alone the managers of the concerns that require trucks, but also their directors, their foremen, their head machinists, etc. It is found in actual practice that this Advertising radiates in a thousand directions, and again converges most astonishingly to influence the house that has made up its mind that horse-trucking is too costly and inefficient.
