Morton.

Written for the COLUMBIAN by St. Morris.

A wonderfully sagacious—nay, I might safely say—intelligent dog, was this self same Morton when I had the pleasure of making his acquaintance at Orange, a populous and thriving town in sunny New South Wales. He was but a youngster of 15 or 18 months, and the property of a widow lady, who with her daughters had taught him many little politenesses. He had an ear for the variations of sound and music, and was so apt a pupil that when told to play the piano, he would jump up on the music-stool, and, like many young misses, he would bang away at the ivories regardless of the strength of the wires or the ears of his audience. As his musical performances had anything but a benefitial effect upon the instrument his education in this department was discontinued. His ear for sound was shown to best advantage in the dining-room.

"Sit up to the table, Morton." With instant obedience he would jump up or sometimes clamber up into a chair, although he was so very fat that very little exertion made him puff and blow like a juvenile steam-engine. Having taken his seat he would fix his beautifully expressive brown eyes on whoever had invited him to the table, and, as if he were trying to say, "Don't you understand me?" he would after a moment or two look towards the viands on the table and then back again

"Ask, Morton!"

"Whoo!" The spaniel would reply in a gentle tone.

"Ask louder."

"Whoo! Whoo!! Whoo!!!" Morton would respond in a key loud enough to make even a truant boy hear when skating 3 miles from school.

But it was not only in matters where the appetite was concerned that he shone. When told to do so, he would shut the door. This, by standing on his hind legs and banging himself against it; and when told to open the door he would get his mouth over the knob and try very hard to obey. He had been taught obedience, and hence was useful as well as amusing.

If told to bring in wood, he was equal to the command, and, wagging his tail, would leave the room, returning with a piece of firewood in his mouth.

Morton had a literary taste as well. Every afternoon he instinctively knew the exact time when the newspaper should be left at the front door. Not a day did he miss the "news," and judging from his air of importance, his stately gait, and the knowing look he gave his mistress as he brought it to her, he was cognizant of the exalted position he held in the household.

His mistress made him a Scotch cap, decorated with feathers and nickle, of which he was very proud, and when told to "fetch" his cap, he knew exactly where to find it.

A cat and a goat were his companions. Of these he was very fond, and it was laughable to see Morton and the goat walking out together.

When his feline playmate had the misfortune to have a leg broken he was most attentive, and with a sympathetic look would lie down by her side for hours at a time.

A Findlay, Ohio, dispatch of the 21st ult., says: The people of this vicinity were terrified last night on seeing strange flashes of light in the northern sky assume the shape of a human hand. The appearance lasted an hour. The first finger of the hand seemed to point at the sleeping city, while blood seemed to drip from all the fingers.

Parisian prophets are not taking much stock in Boulanger's future. He was 50 years old on April 29th, and they argue that since Napoleon became first consul at 30, and Napoleon 141 was elected president of the republic at 40, Boulanger is a trifle aged for any great revolutionary deeps.

Recent tests of three types of storage batteries, intended for street-car service, gave encouraging results. The accumulators showed an efficiency of 89.3 to 91 per cent. when tested for quantity, and 78.5 to 83.4 per cent. when tested for energy.

Jos. Beaudin, M. D., Hull, P. Q., writes: "Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil commands a large and increasing sale which it richly merits. I have always found it exceedingly helpful; I use it in all cases of rheumatism, as well as fractures and dislocations. I made use of it myself to calm the pains of a broken leg with dislocation of the foot, and in two days I was entirely relieved of the pain."

LAST NIGHT'S DESPATCHES.

THE MITKIEWIEZ CONCESSIONS.

PHILADELPHIA, June 8.—The famous Mitkiewiez concessions which everybody thought completely dead, were brought before the public to-day in a manner which leaves no doubt of their validity. Papers were shown in the court of common pleas to-day by Count Mitkiewicz and his associate Paine, bringing suit against Wharton Barker for neglect to carry out his agreement and alleging fraud and collusion with other parties to deprive Mitkiewicz and Paine of their rights. The complaint recites that Barker agreed to furnish all of the money necessary to obtain the concessions and to organize and capitalize the companies required to carry on the business contracted to be performed, while the complainants were to conduct the negotiations in China. It further alleges that he, Mitkiewicz, obtained the concessions and returned to America, accompanied by a Chinese envoy empowered to conclude the agreements made with the viceroy, Li Hung Chang, but that Barker, while entertaining said viceroy as his guest executed with the latter certain papers leaving the complainants completely out of the schemes contemplated. Having done this, the complainants further allege that Barker brought certain other parties into the projects and proceeded to organize certain companies but not the ones he originally agreed to organize. Mitkiewicz claims that by ignoring him and dealing direct with the Chinese envoy, Barker violated his agreement with him, and by refusing or neglecting to organize the companies required by the original agreement he is seriously impairing the chances of success in the enterprises which he declares are merely awaiting the fulfilment of Barker's part of the contract to become an accomplished fact. He further demands to be reimbursed in the sum of $18,000 for the expense in conducting the negotiations and prays that Barker be compelled to organize a company with $6,000,000 capital, in which the complainants, Mitkiewicz and Paine, shall be interested as orignally agreed.

THE CANADIAN SYSTEM.

WASHINGTON, June 8.—In the house to-day the Dingley resolution was adopted calling on the secretary of the treasury for information as to whether an order is now in force by which United States vessels passing througe the Canadian canals to American ports, when they make their voyage via the St. Lawrence, pay less tolls than when they make it by way of Lake Ontario, and whether further legislation is necessary to authorize the secretary to impose additional tolls upon vessels passing through the Sault Ste. Marie canal bound to Canadian ports in case Canada continues her discrimination against vessels bound to American ports.

ALICE WOODHULL.

NEW YORK, June 8.—Miss Alice Woodhull, who was extradited from England on a charge of forging the signature of John Gill to $52,000 worth of United States bonds, was discharged to-day by the United States commissioner. Miss Woodhull was subsequently arrested on another charge of forgery and held for hearing on Monday next.

THE WHYTE-MELVILLE DIVORCE.

LONDON, June 8.—Mrs. Whyte Melville, the wife of Rev. H. Whyte Melville, who last December eloped with the daughter of Captain Dunn, has been granted a divorce on the grounds that her husband is a bigamist. Melville, whose real name is Higgins, deserted his wife to marry a lady who has just secured a divorce from him. The latter was a wealthy widow, daughter of Lord Bateman, and cousin of Lord Sailsbury. Last December Melvill eloped with Miss Dunn, whose father was lately the governor of Castlebar Jail and an ex-officer of the United States army.

ST. PETERSBURG OPINIONS.

ST. PETERSBURGH, June 8.—The Novoe Vremya states the measures which the Czar desires to impose upon the Ameer of Afghanistan with a view to prevent good relations between Afghanistan and the Russian-Turkomans can lead to no pratical results, but only to discontent among the Afghans, which will prejudice the interests of England.

ST. PETERSBURG, June 8.—The Moscow Gazette in an editorial discussing German affairs says: "It is time that each power should clearly specify its future policy. The community of interests between Russia and France are a logical sequence of the political situation.

THIS MORNING'S DESPATCHES.

SHERIDAN'S CONDITION.

WASHINGTON, D.C., June 9.—Sheridan rested well during the latter part of last night. His pulse and respiration are good, and no unfavorable symptoms have appeared. At 12:30 o'clock Dr. Mathews on leaving the house said: "So far, the general had passed a comfortable day and is doing fairly well all around."

SHERIDAN'S MOTHER SERIOUSLY ILL.

SOMERSET, Ohio., June 9.—General Sheridan's mother, who has been seriously ill for some time, had a relapse yesterday afternoon and doctors express little hope of her recovery. Her son's condition has not been made known to her for fear of the result.

SHERMAN BETTER.

NEW YORK, June 9.—General Sherman has sufficiently recovered from his attack of rheumatism to sit up to-day.

COURT MOURNING.

BERLIN, June 9.—An imperial order has been issued directing court to wear mourning for Emperor William until August sixth. The empress and suite have started for the scene of the Vistula floods.

BRUTALLY MURDERED.

SYRACUCE, Kans., June 9.—August Johnson and his fourteen-year-old son were found dead on the prairie yesterday with their bodies terribly mutilated. Suspicion points to Johnson's brother Oscar, who travelled with him while they sold and branded horses. Oscar has disappeared.

FRIENDLY NEGOTIATIONS.

BERLIN, June 9.—It is reported that negotiations are on foot between France and Germany to lessen as much as possible the harassing aspects of the German passport edict.

GOOD ADVICE.

LONDON, June 9.—The Standard and Morning Post advise the farmers of Ontario to abandon wheat-growing and raise cattle. The text for this advice is the reports of bad crops.

A BIG OPIUM SEIZURE.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 9.—It has been learned here that the opium, valued at $20,000, seized at Indianapolis, yesterday, left Victoria, B.C., about the eighth of last month. It was conveyed across the river from Mooretown, Ont., in a small boat to a place kept by a man named Saunders. The consignment was taken the same night to Smith's Creek, a small station on the Grand Trunk railway, whence it was shipped by express to T. Winter, Indianapolis. Both Saunders and Winter have been arrested and enough evidence has been gathered to convict them.

ALCOHOL OR ILL-TREATMENT.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 9.—Notwithstanding the verdict of the coroner's jury that alcoholism was the cause of the death of Joseph Morris, fireman of the str. Willamette, who shipped at Seattle and died on the trip down, the other firemen are of the belief that his death was caused by ill-treatment and abuse from the officers of the vessel. Four of them, who have left the vessel, state that the officers compelled Morris to work in the hot fire room when he was so ill he could scarcely stand up. He tried to throw himself overboard but was stopped by the captain, who had him bound. The cords were tied so tightly about his wrists that his arms became swollen and black, and while in this condition his strength gave way and he died. The affair will probably be further investigated.

THIS AFTERNOON'S DESPATCHES.

MURDER AND SUICIDE.

DUBLIN, June 9.—At Walderstown, county Westmeath, to-day, Constable Simpson murdered Sergeant McGown and afterwards suicided. Simpson first shot McGowan, but the bullet not killing him he took the latter's sword and ran him through.

HONORARY DEGREES.

LONDON, June 9.—The university of Cambridge to-day conferred honorary degrees upon the actor Lewis, Prince Albert Victor, Lord Salisbury, Roseberry, Randolph Churchill, Goschen, chancellor of the exchequer, and Balfour, chief secretary for Ireland.

WOUND UP.

LONDON, June 9.—The court has ordered the affairs of the American exchange to be wound up.

THE YACHT COLLISION.

BALTIMORE, June 9.—The body of Garrett has not been recovered. The str. Joppa, which sunk the yacht arrived this morning. Capt. Wheeler, of the Joppa, says the yacht changed its course when within 100 yards of the steamer and it was then impossible to change the steamer's course.

PASSED A GOOD NIGHT.

PORSDAM, June 9.—The emperor had a good night and is quite cheerful today. He visited the park.

NEW TRIAL REFUSED.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 9.—A new trial was to-day denied Seneca A. Swalm, convicted of appropriating the diamonds of Clara Bell McDonald's husband. He will be sentenced next week.

ON BEHALF OF THE WIDOWS.

WASHINGTON, June 9.—The president has approved the act of congress providing that pensions heretofore or hereafter granted to widows of soldiers of the war of the rebellion shall commence at the date of the death of their husbands. Widows entitled to pensions under said law need only write a letter giving their name, postoffices addresses, and certificate number, and their claims will be allowed with as little delay as practicable.

LIKELY TO BE LYNCHED.

AURORA, Ind., June 9.—Four men, rowing down the river in a skiff, were arrested here this morning. They were unable to give a satisfactory account of themselves, and are thought to be the train robbers that attacked the Kah ka Kee express last night. The whole county is thoroughly aroused over the matter, the excitement being intensified by news of the death of Baggagemaster Ketcham. The capture was a signal for immediate threats of a quadruple lynching.

SHIPPING DISASTER.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 9.—A despatch to the Merchants' Exchange, from Crescent City, says the schr. Berwick went ashore at Rogue river this morning. The schooner is valued at $5000. The str. Mariposa arrived from Australia, via Honolulu, this morning. The Chinese agitation in Australia has become firmly rooted and total exclusion of Chinese appears to be the desire of all. Feeling has been roused up to so rash a pitch that several outrages have occured. Chinese quarters in a number of places have been destroyed by the rough element.

The Mariposa on her trip up went three hundred miles out of her way to Palmyra Islands and took off the crew and passengers of the bark Hector James, which had been wrecked there six weeks previously. The James was a large iron vessel and carried a cargo of coal from Glasgow for San Francisco. The shipwrecked crew and passengers endured many hardships while on the islands, their provisions and shelter being limited.

Daily British Columbian

Saturday Evening, June 9, 1888.

A few days ago we stated editorially and otherwise that the ship Camana, Capt. Gordon, had been chartered for this port, through the enterprise of the Royal City Planing Mills Co., who offered special inducements to secure the vessel for loading lumber at their mills. To-day, it will be seen by perusing the COLUMBIAN, that this energetic manufacturing firm do nothing by halves. Besides the Camana, which will be in port on Monday or Tuesday, they have arranged for three more large sea-going vessels, all of which will be here before the end of the present month. One of these, the Puritan, expected to arrive about the 25th, is an immense four-masted vessel. All of these vessels have been secured by some sacrifice on the part of the R. C. P. M. Co., which would not have had to be made if a proper official chart had been furnished before now for the channel of the Fraser. The company can not afford to make further concessions of this nature, nor should they be required to do so, and we again urge upon the authorities to comply without delay with the very reasonable and urgent demands from this quarter in the matter of the necessary official chart. Interested parties in rival localities are doing their utmost to prevent justice being done to the Fraser river. Some of this deadly opposition is sugar-coated, but none the less noxious. Similar endeavors in the past have had a measure of success, and now that a crisis is imminent, redoubled efforts are being put forth. We trust that the authorities will not allow themselves to be biased by the plausible misrepresentations of designing men. As will be seen by an article in another column, the channel has been much improved in several respects, and is now perfectly safe for very large ships. What we want, and demand, is an official chart, and that the channel shall be further improved until it shall be a perfect thoroughfare for the world's commerce.

Government by party would seem to be a necessary evil. Its most ardent admirers can hardly say that it is an unmixed blessing. One of the most damaging indictments that can be brought against it is that good measures are sometimes defeated—not on their own merits or demerits, as the case may be—but purely from a party standpoint. Speaking of the discussion of the Fisheries Treaty by the United States senate, the Monetary Times, of Toronto, Ont., says: "The present Republican majority in the senate has a party object in opposing the treaty." Further it says: "The non-ratification of the treaty becomes more and more certain." The same article concludes: "It may be taken for granted that we shall have to fall back on the arranged modus vivendi, to which indeed effect has already been given by order-in-council passed by the Canadian government, under authority of the Treaty act of last session. This arrangement is for the limited term of two years; and under it American fishermen will have the privilege of purchasing bait, ice, seines, lines, 'and all other supplies and outfits,' shipping of crews and transhipment of catch. These privileges are to be obtained by means of licenses granted by the Canadian government, but which do not confer the privilege of fishing or preparing to fish within the marine limits of Canada. Similar licenses will be granted by the government of Newfoundland, and both will be obtainable from collectors of customs of the maritime provinces, or of Newfoundland. These licenses would be issued free in the event of the United States removing the duties on fish, fish-oil, whale and seal-oil, with their coverings and packages, otherwise a charge of $1.50 a ton will be made for them. Applications for licenses have already begun to be received. American fishing vessels may enter our harbors and those of Newfoundland without entering at the custom houses, provided they do not remain more than twenty-four hours and do not communicate with the shore. Seizures will be liable to be made for illegal fishing or preparing to fish, with the penalty of forfeiture, as before." Thus it would seem that the arduous labors and carefully reached conclusions of the late renowned Fisheries Commission are to end in smoke—a sort of incense from the sacrifice on the altar of the great Moloch of party.

Ex-Governor Dewdney's appointment as Minister of the Interior in the Dominion cabinet is one in which we are interested generally, but on account of his being one of British Columbia's early pioneers we feel a particular interest in the announcement. With regard to his qualifications, so far as his experience is concerned there could not be a fitter. His acquaintance with British Columbia and the Northwest (and these form the great interior of the Dominion) is more intimate than most men in the Dominion. The part that Mr. Dewdney took with regard to the location of the transcontinental railway down the valley of the Fraser, and the light that he threw on that subject at a time when ignorance and prejudice were combined to carry that great railway project away beyond the bounds of civilization, were of great value, not only to the Dominion at large, but to British Columbia. The people of Westminster especially will not forget the services he rendered to this district, in being the means of very much assisting in thwarting the selfish schemes on foot at that time with respect to the great work which is now completed. Since his removal to the Northwest as governor we have known comparatively very little of his career; it must have been satisfactory to the Dominion government, or they would not have promoted him as they have done now. The principal thing, if we recollect, that has appeared against his administration of the government intrusted to his care has been with respect to the liquor permits, by means of which intoxicating liquors were introduced into a territory where it was forbidden by statute. We cannot say what was the exact nature of the franchise which he dispensed by these permits, and cannot form a judgment on the matter. If he did favor the introduction of the "mountain dew" into those trackless plains, he certainly did wrong, but so long as the leaders of the people, supported by the people themselves, uphold the traffic of which that was only one of the phases, such action could not consistently be charged against him. Complaints were also laid against Mr. Dewdney, we believe, with respect to his administration of Indian affairs in the Northwest, but how much weight to give these, on account of the party animus which may have inspired them, we cannot say. We have not heard where he is likely to get a vacant constituency, but no doubt that will be forthcoming. This province might make a vacancy: it has done such things before, and might do so again. We would be nothing the worse of a friend at court, who understood our position and could further our claims on the government for help in many necessary public works. It has often been urged that British Columbia should be represented in the cabinet, but how are we to be represented if we do not take such an opportunity as the present? Our present representatives are not likely to be called to such a position, and it might be some time before all the conditions would be favorable to such a contingency. In making these suggestions we are not unmindful that we may be trespassing on vested rights, but we take it for granted that our present representatives, as well as their constituents, are at all times prepared to make sacrifices for the general good. We would commend the suggestion to the consideration of the various constituences, at any rate, with the reminder that, if anything is to done, it must be done quickly. Who'll be first? Don't all speak at once.

Perfect Hair

Indicates a natural and healthy condition of the scalp, and of the glands through which nourishment is obtained. When, in consequence of age and disease, the hair becomes weak, thin, and gray, Ayer's Hair Vigor will strengthen it, restore its original color, promote its rapid and vigorous growth, and impart to it the lustre and freshness of youth.

I have used Ayer's Hair Vigor for a long time, and am convinced of its value. When I was 17 years of age my hair began to turn gray. I commenced using the Vigor, and was surprised at the good effects it produced. It not only restored the color to my hair, but so stimulated its growth, that I have now more hair than ever before.—J. W. Edwards, Coldwater, Miss.

Ayer's Hair Vigor,

Sold by all Druggists and Perfumers.

IF YOU ARE SUFFERING from debility and loss of appetite; if your stomach is out of order, or your mind confused; take Ayer's Sarsaparilla. This medicine will restore physical force and elasticity to the system, more surely and speedily than any tonic yet discovered.

For six months I suffered from liver and stomach troubles. My food did not nourish me, and I became weak and very much emaciated. I took six bottles of Ayer's Sarsaparilla, and was cured.—J. M. Palmer, Springfield, Mass. ††

TELEGRAM.

OTTAWA, 27th March, 1888.

TO LIEUTENANT-GOVERNOR
OF BRITISH COLUMBIA,
VICTORIA.

Your Government should issue public notice cautioning persons going on Sealing expeditions to refrain from assertion of their rights by force, and from taking on board arms and ammunition in excess of their usual requirements. The whole matter is engaging the attention of Her Majesty's Government and forms the subject of diplomatic negotiations now in progress. Any intemperate action in the meanwhile would be most detrimental to British Columbian interests and might lead to serious complications and be followed by grave consequences to those concerned.

Full Gov'm't Deposit

HEAD OFFICE, TORONTO, CANADA

A HOME COMPANY.

This Association merits the confidence the Public is reposing in it from the following FACTS:—

The Security offered to policy holders is unsurpassed by any Company doing business in Canada.

It has no schemes of insurance, but the well-established lines, hence the policy holders cannot be misled as to their contracts.

Its statements to the public can be readily understood, its cash statement showing every item of income and how expended.

Its position is ascertained annually from a detailed valuation in which every item of liability is included.

Its progress has been unexampled in the history of insurance in Canada.

Its policies are indisputable after three years, and non-forfeitable after two years' existence.

Its profits are distributed upon an equitable basis. The profits to one class of policy holders are not lessened to give larger profits to any other class, which method affords superior advantages over the uniform bonus plan of distribution.

AT THE CIRCUS.

General Sherman's Weakness for the Tent of Wonders.

Major Bundy, of the New York Mail and Express, who was in Washington some years ago when a big circus was there, tells of an all-night experience with General Sherman.

"I knew his failing, and had a fellow weakness that way myself," said the major in relating it. "So I got a hack and drove him to the circus one night.

"He divided the attention of the audience between himself and the circus. His remarks were as naive as a child's and his expressions of delight fully as spontaneous.

"When we drove back to the city we were passing Matt. Carpenter's house, when the General spied a light in the Senator's window. He insisted that we should go in and see Carpenter. You may imagine that as Carpenter had just got a fresh case of beer on from Milwaukee we stayed with him for some time. Indeed, it was after 1 o'clock when Mrs. Carpenter gave us the hint on which we proceeded to act and went away.

"We had not gone far when the General pulled me up and said: 'Now, here is Davy Porter's house. He never goes to bed until morning. Let's go in and see him. He's sure to be up.'

"Well, we went in and the Admiral was up as the General expected, and it was after 4 o'clock when we got away from him against his protest that we were going early. I mentally protested that it would be late if we stayed longer.

"Now if you can imagine a bigger circus night than that I should like to hear of it."

MEDICINES BAD TO TAKE.

The Old Notion that Healing Draughts Ought To Be "Nasty" Giving Place to the Opposite One.

The old-fashioned notion that "physic" ought to be "nasty," and that if it is not nasty it cannot possibly do the patient any good, seems now in a fairway to be ranked among exploded fallacies.

The Pharmaceutical Journal, an English periodical which has played a conspicuous part in dispelling this ancient delusion, tells us that intelligent physicians and successful practitioners now recognize the fact that the influence of the mind over the body is such that the whims and fastidiousness of patients in respect to nauseous and offensive medicines "cannot be consistently ignored." But there is yet another reason, as this authority reminds us.

It is well known that patients often deceive their doctor by throwing away medicines that offend the taste or are repulsive in appearance, and this even in cases where the successful action or the failure of the remedy is perhaps a matter of life or death. As a natural result, if the patient dies or derives no benefit, the doctor or the drug, or both, bear the blame.

After this no one will be surprised to learn that the past year has shown greatly increased appreciation of everything that adds not only to definite doses, but also to convenience and palatability in medicines.

ONLY A THOUSAND, SIR!

This Lady Comes Rather High.

A middle-aged lady, a newcomer, called at a real estate agency to inquire about a piece of land.

She was somewhat of an equestrienne, which the agent soon learned, and he tried to effect a sale in this direction. After the usual questions about the gentle proclivities of the animal for sale, the agent relapsed into deep thought for a moment as if considering some political issue, and finally said in a generous breath:

"Madam, if you are injured in any way by that animal, I will pay you one—yes, I will guarantee to pay you $1,000," and with his pencil he marked the figures down in big black letters.

"Only a thousand, sir!" exclaimed the lady. "I don't consider myself a Venus, nor one of the muses, but I really think I is worth more than $1,000. In war times negro slaves sold for $2,000, you know. Now, considering that it is leap year, I didn't you guarantee to pay a l-i-t-t-l-e more?"

The agent has applied for a position as driver of a street car.—Portland Oregonian.

THE CHARLESTON DELICACY.

Hominy and Shrimps for Breakfast.

There is one thing that can compensate the average Charlestonian for being robbed of his morning nap by the insatiable and conscienceless raw shrimp fiend, it is the reflection that at any rate he will have a breakfast of hominy and shrimps, and even Vanderbilt and his $10,000 cook in that one particular poorer than any one in Charleston. For neither Mr. Vanderbilt nor his $10,000 artist can get up a shrimp breakfast ("as she is cooked," in Charleston) at the frozen North.

It is admitted that there are no shrimps in America at least, that can compare with the Charleston shrimp in delicacy of flavor or in tenderness of flesh. There are prawns and shrimps elsewhere, perhaps, but the little Charleston shrimp is as far ahead of them as Hyperion to a satyr, and one of his principal peculiarities is the fact that he will not submit to be carried away from home.

He generally puts in an appearance about early April, and he stays with us all the summer. He never consents to be kept away from home.—Charleston (S. C.) News.

Thankful for a Small Blessing.

Young Victor, who had been for three weeks lying ill with pneumonia, asked to be allowed to see his overcoat. It was brought out with no little wonderment by his mother.

"Hang it on the foot of the bed, won't you, mamma?" he asked.

"Yes, my boy, if you wish; but why do you want to have it out here?"

"Just to look at it, mamma. It's been such a long time since I've seen it."

A Child's Philosophy.

There is an illustration of genuine benevolent philosophy on the part of an eight-year-old:

Harry's mother, having heard for some time what seemed to be a moaning and crying in some distant part of the house, had a search made, and found in a closet, very small and perfectly dark, the family dog, Leo by name, shut in with scarcely room enough to turn around.

"How did he get there? Why, Harry had shut him up, of course. Harry was summoned and questioned.

"Why did you shut Leo in that closet?"

"Oh, 'cause he'd feel so good when he got out!"

The Purpose in "She."

Mr. Rider Haggard, in a moment of irritation, thus explained "She:"

"Well, there are many explanations, and perhaps the best is that women are vain. Ayesha was vain. She liked to bewitch men with her charms, and finally her vanity was the cause of her death."

A Boston woman who used to spend $75 a year for kid gloves now gets along with three pairs.

Her husband bought her a diamond

INDIA RUBBER.

The Manner in Which This Wonderful Gum Is Produced.

The average North American supposes that rubber is obtained like pitch, and comes from the exuded gum of the tree, but the process is altogether different, resembling our method of making maple sugar.

When the sap begins to rise from the roots to the branches of the tree, expeditions of thirty or forty men are organized, who are furnished by the enterprising merchants with an outfit of buckets, axes, pans and provisions, and start into the woods. The ulero, as the rubbermen are called, from the termule, which is the native name for the tree, are always paid a small sum in advance, ostensibly for the support of their families during their absence, but which is always exhausted in debauchery before they start.

When they reach the forest of the ulo-trees they build a shanty of palms and brush, if there is not one already standing, on the bank of some stream, as a great deal of water is required for the manufacture of the gum. Then they distribute their large cans and buckets through the forest at convenient intervals, and proceed to business.

When the ulero selects his tree, he clears the trunk of vines and creepers and climbs it to the branches. Then he descends, cutting diagonal channels through the bark with a single blow of his hatchet or knife, left and right, all meeting at the angle. At the bottom of the lowest cut an iron trough about six inches long and four inches wide is driven into the tree, which catches the milk as it flows from the wound, and conducts it into a bucket on the ground below. This is done with great speed and skill by an expert, and necessarily so to prevent waste, as the sap springs out instantly, and by the time the spout is driven into the tree is flowing at the rate of four gallons an hour.

A large tree will produce twenty gallons of sap, and will run dry in a single day. The ulero having tapped a dozen or eighteen trees has all the work he can attend to emptying the buckets into the ten-gallon cans that are provided for the purpose. In the evening the cans are carried to the camp, and the sap strained through sieves into barrels. In Brazil it is boiled, but in Nicaragua the natives have a peculiar system of reducing it.

There is a plant or vine called the achuna, the sap of which when mixed with that of the rubber tree has the singular property of coagulating it in a few minutes. By whom, or how, or where, this process was discovered no one can tell. Undoubtedly it was an accident, for the vine hangs from all the trees in the ule forest, and probably a cutting dropped into a bucket of sap some time or another, and produced the result for which it is now used.

Having their barrels full, the uleros cut short pieces of this vine, soak it in water, and small bunches are thrown into pans upon which the sap is poured. In the morning the rubber has turned to gum, about two pounds to every gallon of sap.

At the top of the pan is a quantity of dark brown liquid, like a weak solution of licorice. This is poured off, and then the gum is rolled under heavy weights of wood into long, flat strips called tortillas, which are hung over poles under the shed to drip and dry. At first they are white like the vulcanized rubber, but with exposure they turn black and become hard after a few days. Then the tortillas are stacked up under cover until the end of the season, and shipped to market.—Home Knowledge.

THE DINNER PAIL.

Evolved Into a Wonderfully Complete and Comforting Article.

The dinner pail of this day is better than that of ten years ago. It has gone through a regular evolution.

First it was simply a plain kettle with a cover. You could put in meat and bread and pie and pickles, and whatever other solids the appetite craved; but there wasn't any room for coffee unless you put it in a bottle.

Then somebody devised a pail with two compartments, one pail fitting into another. In this way coffee might be carried in one of the parts.

Then some other genius got up a pail with four or six separate parts, all fitting into each other and making it possible to carry four or six articles apart from each other.

This was good, but it was discounted by the fellow who got out a patent on a device whereby the coffee could be heated at noontime wherever the workman might be. The device consists of a wad of asbestos cloth two inches in diameter and an inch thick. This is covered with tin, and there is an opening at the top exposing the cloth. The whole thing is just like a small round tin box packed with asbestos and open at the top. The workman can carry or have at his shop some alcohol, and a cent's worth poured on the asbestos will do to heat his coffee. A great many mechanics have this asbestos contrivance and like it.

One other scheme has been patented. It consists of a tin pot, which may be filled at noontime with water and lime. The heat so generated will warm anything placed over it, and as the compartment holding the coffee fits over the compartment in which the lime and water are, the coffee may be heated very quickly.

What Doors Were Made for.

Papa had visitors and sent the 3 year old to bed. The child disapproved of this and had no hesitancy in showing it. When he went up stairs he left the parlor door open. Papa prides himself on his method of disciplining children, and called him down again.

"I just want to show you how I manage a boy," he said, turning to his visitors. "There's nothing like going the right way about it to make a boy mind."

Slowly and sulkily the boy came down.

"What are doors made for, sir?" demanded papa sternly.

The child looked at him, at the visitors, at the door, and said:

"Toopen, o' course."—Philadelphia Call

A Voice from Afar.

A Peoria correspondent of a Cincinnati paper says that while he was in the army in 1863 he awoke one morning on hearing his name called by his sister's voice.

No one else heard the sound, and the occurrence passed from his mind until a few days later, when he received a letter from home stating that his sister had died on the very day he was so strangely awakened.

A Creaking Hinge

Is dry and turns hard, until oil is applied, after which it moves easily. When the joints, or hinges, of the body are stiffened and inflamed by Rheumatism, they cannot be moved without causing the most excruciating pains. Ayer's Sarsaparilla, by its action on the blood, relieves this condition, and restores the joints to good working order.

Ayer's Sarsaparilla has effected, in our city, many most remarkable cures, in cases which baffled the efforts of the most experienced physicians. Were it necessary, I could give the names of many individuals who have been cured by taking this medicine. In my case it has worked wonders, relieving me of after being troubled with it for years. In this, and all other diseases arising from impure blood, there is no remedy with which I am acquainted, that affords such relief as Ayer's Sarsaparilla.—R. H. Lawrence, M. D., Baltimore, Md.

Ayer's Sarsaparilla cured me of Gout and Rheumatism, when nothing else would. It has eradicated every trace of disease from my system.—R. H. Short, Manager Hotel Belmont, Lowell, Mass.

I was, during many months, a sufferer from chronic Rheumatism. The disease afflicted me grievously, in spite of all the remedies I could find, until I commenced using Ayer's Sarsaparilla. I took several bottles of this preparation, and was speedily restored to health.—J. Fream, Independence, Va. ††

Reports from up river say the water is falling slowly and all fears of a flood have abated. At Chilliwhack last night the water fell 1½ inches and was still falling when the steamer left the landing.

W. H. Vianen shipped 800 lbs of salmon to Vancouver and points east today. The run is slowly improving and fishermen are getting more confident that the season's work will prove remunerative.

A sound body and a contented mind are necessary to perfect happiness. If you wish to possess these, cleanse your blood with Ayer's Sarsaparilla. It is perfectly safe to take, and is a thoroughly reliable, highly concentrated, and powerful blood purifier.

The gospel service on Sunday afternoon in the Y. M. C. A. rooms will be conducted by Rev. J. W. Webb, Mr. W. R. King having kindly consented to postpone his appointment. All are welcome. On Monday night at 8 o'clock a monthly general business meeting will be held in the rooms.

The pile-driver Rustler is busily engaged driving piles for the R. C. P. M. Co's new wharf and the work will be finished in a few days. As soon as a row of piles are driven a gang of men saw off the tops and lay the sills, thus keeping pace with the pile-driver and doing the work in about half the usual time.

"Westminster in 1901," to the tune of "Over the Garden Wall," is the title of a comic versification, full of local hits, which we have received. The ingenious author will excuse us for not publishing the same. We are afraid we might catch such a "local hit" as would hopelessly disorganize our "internal calculus."

H. A. McLaughlin, Norland, writes: "I am sold out of Northrop & Lyman's Vegetable Discovery and Dyspeptic Cure. It sells well, and I find in every instance it has proven satisfactory. I have reason to believe it the best preparation of the kind in the market." It cures Dyspepsia, Biliousness, and Torpidity of the Liver, Constipation, and all diseases arising from Impure Blood, Female complaints, etc.

Mr. King's Lecture.

The meeting at Temperance Hall last night was well attended, and Mr. King's interesting lecture carefully listened to. Short addresses were also delivered by Revs. White and Stone, and the programme was enlivened by singing at intervals. Mr. H. M. Cunningham presided, and a vote of thanks to the speakers concluded the evening's entertainment. A meeting will be called soon to organize a senior branch of the Juvenile Templars. Those wishing to join the juvenile branch in this city should hand or send their names to Mrs. Ferguson.

Portland's Celebration.

The rowing clubs of Portland, Or., intend to have a grand celebration on the fourth of July. There are to be several races including contests in four-oared barges, shells, double sculls, and also a professional single scull race. For the latter the prize offered is $750, $500 to the first and $250 to the second man. Henry Peterson, William Paine and H. A. Ball of Victoria have already entered for the single sculls, and there are several other first-class men to be heard from, including Henry Heuceman, the Stockton sculler, John and Billey Cotsford of Victoria, and Austin Stevenson of Vallejo.—*Vic. Colonial Bishops in London.

The Liverpool Mercury of a recent date thus refers to the gathering of colonial bishops now in England: "Returned empties," as colonial bishops have been somewhat irreverently called, showed up in strong force at the Archbishop of Canterbury's dinner to the prelates at Lambeth Place last night. The ex-Bishop of Nassau, the ex-Bishop of Zululand, together with the Bishops of Auckland, Waiapu, Colombo, Singapore, Algoma, Znigloy, and Antigua, were amongst the primate's guests. Most of the English prelates were also present. To-day it has been scarcely possible to take a walk through the strand in the west end without stumbling across a bishop.

An Athletic Alderman.

The numerous friends of Ald. Braden will hear with regret that he had the misfortune of breaking his right leg last night. With a number of other gentlemen he was displaying his agility and capacity for performing athletic feats. The accident occurred in the most simple manner. He placed his left foot against the door jamb about 18 inches above the floor and endeavored to accomplish the trick of jumping over the left limb with the right one. He was successful in his first attempt, but met with the misfortune referred to in his second effort. The break is a about a couple of inches below the knee. It is a compound fracture, the broken bones protruding through the skin. Dr. Davie set the limb in St. Joseph hospital, where the worthy Ald. is now a patient, and likely to be so for some time to come.—Times.

A Juvenile Traitor.

The baseball and cricket grounds was the scene of unwonted animation this morning. To-day being Saturday, and consequently a holiday at the public schools, the "small boy" turned out in all his native fierceness and took possession of the play-ground of his elders, and a lively, but slightly amended, game of baseball was played "to a finish." One side of course had to win, but the result was eminently unsatisfactory to the youthful partisans opposite, who openly and vociferously charged one of their own number with selling the game for "two bits." The scene presented and the sounds produced for a short time might be compared to the sensation which several thousand magpies and a dead horse would create. The mercenary urchin so summarily convicted made the best "home run" on record, and will probably be "sent to coventry" for a week.

A Bad Time Coming.

The prophetic conference, which has just been held at Exeter Hall, London, transformed that venerated place into a very chamber of speculative horrors. If we are to believe the seers who were present there will be within the next three years such wars and revolutions in Europe as shall change twenty-three kingdoms into ten. On March 5, 1896, rain or shine, there is to be a grand hegira of 144,000 living Christians to heaven. From that time on the Christians who remain are to be massacred by the million, and universal pestilence, famines and earthquakes are to devastate the globe. Finally, on April 11, 1901, Our Lord is to descend again to earth. All this was firmly agreed on by the conference, and published to the unheeding world "on the authority of the Prophet Daniel." Oh Daniel! How many absurdities have been, and are, and shall be, uttered in thy name.

The people of this country have spoken. They declare by their patronage of Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil, that they believe it to be an article of genuine merit, adapted to the cure of rheumatism, as well as relieves the pains of fractures and dislocations, external injuries, corns, bunions, piles, and other maladies.

ANOTHER VICTORY

Four Ships Chartered to Load Lumber at New Westminster for Foreign Ports.

The Royal City mills received a despatch this morning, from Victoria, to the effect that the ship Camana was ready to proceed to this port, and as soon as a tug was available she would be towed over. It is expected she will arrive on Monday night or Tuesday morning. All arrangements for loading the cargo are completed and the vessel will not be detained a day longer than is absolutely necessary. In announcing that the Camana had been chartered to load lumber at Westminster we predicted that no serious trouble would be met with in chartering other vessels, and this has come true even sooner than the most sanguine expected. The Royal City mills not content with chartering one vessel have, with their well-known enterprise, already chartered another, the Puritan, and she is now on the voyage from San Diego to this port. The Puritan is a large 4 masted ship, and almost new, this being her third voyage since launching. She will load lumber for lower California and is expected to reach port on the 25th inst. Following the Puritan two other vessels have been chartered and will reach Westminster before the end of the month. In order to secure these vessels the company have been forced to offer special inducements, but with the loading of the last vessel the inducements will cease and the port will only offer the same conditions as its neighbors. This, of course, is only natural as the benefit of lying in fresh water, the ease with which ballast can be discharged and the excellent arrangements for loading will make it a favorite port with shipowners and captains.

The river has been properly spar buoyed and the buoys on the sandheads have been replaced wherever necessary, thus making navigation as free and safe to the Fraser River as to any port on the coast. What now remains to place Westminster on an even footing with her sister ports is an official chart, and this we must have, and that immediately. For two years the Dominion government has been making improvements at the mouth of the river and these improvements have effected much good to the channel, having already made a difference of 8 feet at low tide. In spite of the change, both in the course and in the depth of the channel, no steps have been taken to make an official survey, and the old admiralty chart, made years ago, is the only guide foreign shipowners have to the port. This, of course, is an injustice to Westminster, and, as is well known, has proved the only barrier in the way of chartering vessels. We believe strong efforts are being made to induce the government to order an official survey of the channel, and it is to be hoped the pressure brought to bear will result successfully.

Westminster can congratulate herself on having gentlemen of such perseverance and enterprise as are the managers of the Royal City mills, to watch her interests, and gentlemen who, despite the continued and unfair efforts made by unfriendly neighbors to balk our advancement, have fought manfully against all obstacles and at last have successfully overcome them.

The Cricket Match.

The cricket match this afternoon, Old Country vs. Colonies, was played under very favorable circumstances. The day was fine but not too bright. A cool, refreshing breeze was blowing all afternoon and the crease was in as good condition as it ever was. Play began shortly after 2 o'clock, the Old Countrymen going to the bat first. The only stand during the innings was made by Miles, who by careful playing ran up a score of 13 when he was bowled by Lewis. The next highest score was three runs. It seemed strange that although the Old Countrymen had the best players on their side, with the one exception, none of them could make a stand, two of the best players being bowled without scoring. Dockrill's bowling was about the best ever seen in Westminster. He was dead on the wicket and it seemed as though he gained more strength with every ball. Such an onslaught could not be long withstood, and wicket after wicket fell till the 7th was reached for only 8 runs. The fielding on the part of the colonies was good as will be seen by the few extras made by their opponents.

The Colonies then went to bat, Messrs. J. S. Clute, sr., Brine, Lewis, Woods, Fletcher, Wilson, Upper, Dockrill, Drysdale, Mowat, and Clute. Messrs. Clute and Brine went to bat first, the latter being bowled in the second "over" with only 2 runs to his credit. The match is proceeding as we go to press. The Colonies had made 55 runs and several wickets to fall up to the time of going to press.

Clianthus Dampierii.

Sturt's (Australian) Desert Pea.

Trailing over arid sands,
Far away in foreign lands,
Far away from human eye,
Under perfect cloudless sky;
Sky of peerless azure hue
All the sunny twelvemonth thro'.

Of colors gorgeous, bright and rare
Thou hast truly lion's share;
Thou art showy as a harlot
With blue-bronzed cap and jacket scarlet;
Colors which together blended
Are cardinal and blue transcended.

But thy form is fair and comely,
And thy whole appearance homely.
When supports to thee are given,
Thou dost raise thy head to heaven:
For, like innocence, thou knows't
He is there who loves the most.

Personal.

Wm. Booth, of Ladners, was in the city to-day.

Amos Bowman, of Sumas, is stopping at the Colonial.

J. C. Yarker came over from the terminal city to-day.

H. V. Edmonds and Mrs. Dr. Black went over to Vancouver this morning.

Mrs. Webster and Mrs. Moresby paid a short visit to Vancouver to-day.

A. G. Ferguson and wife, of Vancouver, paid the city a flying visit this afternoon.

W. H. Ladner, M.P.P., came up to the city on the Rainbow last night and returned home this afternoon.

We are pleased to be able to state that Willie Elliott is progressing very favorably and his recovery is now assured.

Frank W. Warren, of San Francisco, representing a large lumbering company, is in the city on a business visit. He is more favorably impressed with Westminster than any other city in British Columbia.

Late Canadian News.

HALIFAX, June 4.—Consul General Phelan to-night received a dispatch stating the fishing schooner Ambross Knight, of Booth Bay, Me., Capt. Higgings, had been seized at St John's, Newfoundland, and her crew arrested for selling bait at St. Pierre Miquelon. The captain gave bond and he and the crew, it is believed by the consul-general, were thereupon released with their vessel.

OTTAWA, June 4.—The physicians in charge of the lazaretto of Tracadre, N. B., report that there are now but fifteen leprous patients confined there, eight males and seven females. One afflicted person escaped to the United States, and it is feared the seeds of the loathsome disease will be sown there.

Private information from Ottawa indicates positively that it is settled that Dewdney will enter the ministry. It is not all settled, however, that Schultz will get the governorship of Manitoba.

MONTREAL, June 4.—Considerable sensation was created here to-day when it became known that the fish and game laws are being openly ignored in Ottawa. It is reported that fine bass were openly exposed for sale within a few yards of parliament square, and at this moment cabinet ministers and fishery authorities are probably lunching off contraband fish. There is likely to be trouble over the matter.

BURK'S FALLS, Ont., June 4.—For some weeks past people here have been excited over reported gold finds in the township of Mackenzie, five miles from the village of Dunchurch. A very rich vein has been discovered and two assays made by Toronto assayers. The result has been even more satisfactory than expected. The vein has been traced for two miles, and is twelve inches in width on the surface, increasing in width as the blasting is proceeded with. Experienced miners have been engaged for some days in sinking a shaft.

WINNIPEG, June 5.—Heavy thunder and rain prevailed throughout the province yesterday. It will be a great benefit to the crops.

KINGSTON, June 5.—A plot to murder the keepers and for a general jail delivery, has been discovered. A convict named Saunders, who originated the plot, has been placed in the dungeon.

Mr. T. J. Humes, Columbus, Ohio, writes: "I have been afflicted for some time with Kidney and Liver Complaint, and find Parmelee's Pills the best medicine for these diseases. These Pills do not cause pain or griping, and should be used when a cathartic is required. They are Gelatine Coated, and rolled in the Flour of Licorice to preserve their purity, and give them a pleasant, agreeable taste.
