A Valentine Dance will be given by the Rock Creek Women's Institute in Riverside Hall on Friday, Feb. 10. Bush's orchestra in attendance. Welcome to all.

P. E. Crane, of Beaverdell, was in town for a few days this week. Mr. Crane brought in some very fine samples of ore from the new strike in the Bell in which ruby silver has a width of over an inch.

That poultry pays in this country is fully demonstrated from the fact that a certain man in this town got from 34 hens during the month of January 522 eggs and received a good price for the eggs. The cost and trouble of keeping the hens is very small and there is a great demand for fresh eggs.

A report from Grand Forks says that a young Douk tried to hold up a Hindoo, an employee of the G. N. Ry., in West Grand Forks on Sunday evening. The Hindoo was too much for the Douk, who took his gun from him and from all accounts gave him a good beating. The Douk was captured a few days later at Danville.

Midway News

On Saturday Jan. 28th, sleighing parties wended their way up Ingram Mountain to surprise C. H. Weed and family. The visitors numbering over 40 were received very cordially. Very soon after arriving H. Borders arranged a programme which was as follows:

Song "Anchored" W. G. Moll
Song "Dear Old Pal of Mine" Mrs. Birch
Song "Mary of Argyle" Mrs. H. Pannell
Duet "What are the Wild Waves Saying" Mrs. J. Thompson and W. G. Moll
Song "Beautiful Isle of Somewhere" Mr. Fielding
Duet "A Baby's Prayer at Twlight" Misses Mae and Jessie Caldwell
Pianoforte Solo "Washington Post" Chas, Moll
Song "Kerry Dances" Mrs. Birch
Recitation Ethel Thompson
Recitation Beatrice Walker

Orchestral music was supplied by Miss Richter, Mrs. H. Pannell, Chas. Moll, H. Borders, W. G. Moll and Harold Moll.

Dancing was indulged in after the programme and a sumptuous supper was served at midnight.

After supper Mrs. Weed thanked all for their kind visit and entertainment. Mrs. Pannell in reply mentioned that it was a pleasure and that it was two years since they had climbed the hill on a similar errand and hoped it wouldn't be the last.

Joe Lander drove the party from Midway and return when John Walker supplied the conveyance from Kettle Valley.

The return home was made at daybreak amid loud cheering from the Weed family.

The Midway hockey team will go to Greenwood on Friday night to play hockey.

Fatal Accident

A very sad and distressing accident occurred on Tuesday evening, Jan. 31st, when Chas. L. Riley, a highly respected farmer of Ferry, Wash., was instantaneously killed by falling from a load of logs near his ranch. It is not definitely known how he fell but it is surmised that the load skidded on a curve and Mr. Riley was unable to get out af the way. The logs were over 40 feet long and were to be used for building a new barn on his ranch just across the Boundary from Joe Caron's place. Mr. Riley was about 67 years of age and is well known throughout this section of the country. He leaves a widow, one daughter, Mrs. Chas. Thornton, of Spokane and three sons at home, Wm. John and Mike. Burial will take place in Midway, after the coroner's inquest.

There is no language at our command which can fittingly protray the sincerity of this man's character. Conscience guided every act. In short he was an honorable gentleman, in the highest sense that term implies. To man, woman or child, he always extended a cordial greeting, that lent a ray of light to brighten their pathway in the journey of life.

Wallace Mountain News

Recent development work on the Bell mine has uncovered a substantial vein of ore that runs as high as 6,000 ounces in silver. The new ore body proves that the values increase at depth on this property. Last month two cars of high grade ore were shipped to Trail and other shipments will go out in the near future. Duncan McIntosh and P. E. Crane, the owners, make their homes in Greenwood.

The Sally mine, near the Bell, is operated by a Penticton syndicate, who have a force of men at work in charge of Ed. Nordman. Development work is being carried on and high grade ore is being taken out for shipment to the smelter.

Anaconda Shavings

(By Spoke-Shave)

The usual fortnightly dance, of the Anaconda Social Club, was held at the School House on Friday last. Members were in fair attendance. Business was discussed and E. F. Keir presiding, urged upon the members the necessity of closer co-operation and mutual effort and it is to be hoped his words will not pass unheeded. Arrangements were discussed concerning the public dance to be held during the week of St. Valentine's, and the price of admission was fixed at 25c. With the concluding of business whist dominated until 10 p. m. followed by dancing until 2 a.m. All present thoroughly enjoyed themselves. Music was amply supplied by Messrs. T. Williamson and S. Bombini, and Miss Ada Beattie.

Club members regret the recent sickness of Miss Mae Keady, and wish her a speedy recovery, also the indisposition of Mrs. Beattie who has contracted a severe cold.

One of the most commendable features of the society is the absence of intemperance. Up to the present time there has been little or no sign of intoxicants. It may also be added that as the prohibitionists are in an overwhelming majority any individual who cuts up rusty will be, regardless of sentiment, forcibly ejected.

Red noses are sure objects of suspicious observation and scuting. Please dont forget the talc.

Kelly's eternal query—"Got the makings Mike"?

A certain Anaconda gent, by no means a featherweight, owes his somewhat recent downfall to the inevitable collapse of the:—

The piano stool is indeed worthy of journalistic comment.

Several hasty and none the less effective remedies were suggested by the members present who were of the mechanical turn of mind.

Someone mumbled, "g l u e" another less optimistic—"hopeless case."

I guess I don't want New York, London or Paris, I want Sam-o-a, Sam-o-a, Some-more.

Nero's blind can never be compared with the musicial possibilities of Anaconda. Despite the fact that the instruments are of an antique order, the zest and enthusiasm of the players is superlative.

The writer must however, admit the gong a wash-out, or rather a knock out.

Someone got the wind up at the mentioning of a barrel organ. He argued 'twould be incomplete minus the monkey.

Indeed Anaconda has taken up the sporting reins with a vengeance. Greenwood had better look to her laurels.

Chief honors were brought to Anaconda by the three club members who so ardently boosted the Boundary country at the Carnival.

Look out! Enter cigars—exit the coffee—did anyone say "champaigne?"

A gay time is being prepaired for the hard times dance which will be held during St. Valentine's week. Club members and all interested should watch the next issue of The Ledge for fuller details regarding same.

Mrs. J. Docksteader entertained a number of guests at her home on Saturday last, where a most enjoyable evening was spent by all present.

A. Erickson has returned to his home here. Unfortunately he has been compelled through illness to give up his employment. Everyone wishes him a speedy recovery.

If Anaconda is to perfect its social activities, it is imperative that all its residents should not be apathic to dumping all news of interest in this direction. Spoke-Shave has long ears and many agents are already out for news.

Kettle Valley Notes

It was 30 below in Kettle Valley on Wednesday morning.

The Dance in Riverside Hall last Saturday night was a most enjoyable one. The sum of $16.50 was taken in which will go towards paying off the minstrel expenses that were $32.85.

Ice Carnival

The ice carnival held in the arena last Friday night was largely attended, the children being in the majority and they had a good time. The spectators, mostly parents, enjoyed seeing the youngsters having the time of their lives. Some of the costumes were unique. The judging was undertaking by T. Jenkin, Mrs. G. Clerf and R. Lee who awarded the prizes as follows;

Best Dressed Gent, tie between T. Williamson and L. Kier who represented the Boundary Country, prize donated by a booster.

After the prizes were awarded several races were held which resulted as follows;—

Girls Race—Bessie Bidder.

Small Girls Race—Vera Walmsley.

Boys Race—Ed. Johnson.

The rink management left nothing to be desired to make the carnival a success.

Rex Beach's Going Some

Rex Beach's name is one to conjure with among screen fans who love the thrills of Alaskan drama with a super-punch in every reel. And now Rex Beach has entered the comedy field in motion picture production with a new film, "Going Some," based on his stage success that swept the country several years ago.

Mr. Beach changes the scene of action in this case from the snowy wilds of Alaska to the desert-like ranges of Nevada, but his vigorous imagination and red-blooded depiction of character and action have not deserted him in the switch from drama to comedy. "Going Some" is a rib-tickling chuckle chaser that will be shown at the Greenwood Theatre on Saturday, Feb. 4.

Canada's Needs

No. 5—Cheaper Transportation

In preceding articles in this series Canada's need of a larger population, of a return of agricultural prosperity, of world markets for its products, and of a greater employment of Canadian raw materials in home manufactures and domestic use has been pointed out and emphasized. As one means of bringing about the realization of all these improvements in our national life, possibly too great stress cannot be laid upon the question which forms the subject matter of this article, namely, cheaper transportation.

During the war years, and for a time following the Armistice, there was steady and rapid advances in rates charged by the railways of the country both for the carriage of passengers and freight. Rates went up by leaps and bounds until they far surpassed anything known previous to 1914. No doubt advances were inevitable and necessary under the unprecedented conditions created by the war and the financial and commercial upheavel following those years of destruction. But the culminative effect has been to place such a heavy burden upon production and business as to constitute a handicap under which all industry now languishes.

The burden of excessively high transportation costs must now be removed as a first and necessary step to a resumption of that activity throughout the whole business world which is essential to a return of prosperity and plenty of employment for all.

While war-time high prices for labor and all commodities prevailed, business could carry the burden of high transportation charges Two dollars a bushel wheat could bear a heavy freight rate and yet leave a profit to the farmer, but wheat which realizes a dollar a bushel or less cannot pay the same price as two dollar wheat and still leave a margin of profit to the grower. And what is true of wheat is equally true in the case of livestock and of all articles of commerce. Yet while the prices of all articles produced by the farmer have enormously decreased, there has been practically no decrease in the charges he has to pay to get his products to market, nor on the necessities of life which he must buy.

The result is that the prevailing high transportation charges are throttling business and ruining the producers of the country. Inevitably and ultimately the railways themselves must suffer. If production continues unprofitable it will cease, or at all events be largely decreased. Decreased production means less traffic for the railways, and a lowered buying power of the people which will mean a smaller consumption of the products of the factories, and a general reduction in business and traffic all round. If the people are not prosperous, the railways cannot be.

The recently adopted unanimous resolution by the Saskatchewan Legislature demanding a reduction in freight rates, followed, as it is predicted it will be, by somewhat similar declarations by the Legislatures of Alberta and Manitoba; the demand voiced by the United Farmers of Manitoba and Alberta, which will be re-echoed by Saskatchewan Grain Growers; the protests by leading newspapers in Toronto, Montreal and other large centres, and the emphatic declaration by Hon. R. E. Finn, solicitor for the Nova Scotia Government and the Halifax Board of Trade before the Dominion Railway Commission, that, if the Maritime Provinces are to live industrially, and Confederation itself not weakened, they must have lower freight rates, all go to prove that cheaper transportation is the crying need of the Dominion at the present time, and it must be provided without delay if widespread unrest and possible disaster is to be averted.

In urging the immediate reduction of freight rates, there is nothing antagonistic to the railways. Quite the reverse. Everybody appreciates the fact that the railways cannot continue if operated at a loss. It is to the interest of everybody that they should prove profitable and be maintained fully efficient, and that those who have invested their money and given their energy to such enterprises—whether it be private individuals or the nation itself—are entitled to a just return.

But if present conditions are not quickly remedied the railways will soon be numbered among the greatest losers of all. The railways will be far better off with an increased and increasing volume of traffic at reasonable rates, than a restricted and dwindling volume at exorbitant rates. Should traffic continue to decline, the railways must lose unless rates are still further increased to cover such loss of traffic. Rates are almost prohibitive as it is, and admittedly are restrictive of business. There is a point where high rates operate to decrease rather than increase profits, and that point has already been reached, if, indeed, it has not been passed.

It is time for a reduction in transportation charges, and the people are uniting in a demand that such reductions, and substantial ones at that, be ordered.

Shoes and Shoes

American Women Are No Longer Obliged to Go About on Stilts

Whether the outcry against frivolous footwear had anything to do with it or not, the evidence of the sidewalks is that American women are no longer obliged to go about on stilts unless they want to. Nor are they compelled to buy the so-called comfort shoe, soft and shapeless.

The shops are full of smartly cut, solid-heeled shoes, fashioned somewhat on the lines of a human foot. And, not least, the lofty shoe clerk no longer registers disdainful pity when a feminine shopper asks for a shoe designed for locomotion plus grace and form. The walking shoe is once more a recognized institution and unimpeachable in its smartness.

As for the pointed shoe, with its wabbly French heel, it is still there for those who want it, although it has been forced to second place, and doubtless will soon be in the museums with the hour-glass waist and the hoop skirt.—From the New York Tribune.

Value of Vitamines

Morality Records Show That People Should See That Their Systems Receive Proper Food

The general public appears to be keenly interested of late in the country-wide movement which has been instigated for the purpose of educating the people to build up their resistance during the months of January and February so as to be in a position to avoid coughs and colds and bronchial troubles which are always so prevalent during the first quarter of the year and which are liable to develop into more serious maladies.

Various journals recently have pointed out that the mortality records always show a great increase in January, February and March, due to the fact that during the long winter months the system is allowed to get very low in vitamines, through lack of green and uncooked foods. It is claimed by medical authorities that wonderful results have already been demonstrated, and persons susceptible to colds during these months have been made immune, merely through the restoration of the lacking vitamines by means of eating liberal supplies of lettuce, celery, raw cabbage, oranges, lemons, grape fruit and any greens which are available.

Whether it is the result of the vitamines being consumed remains to be seen, but the latest research work demonstrates that they have a great deal to do with the health of the body.

Quick Growing Trees

Western Farmer Can Grow Wood for Fuel Within Six Years

Many of the species of trees which can be use on the prairies are very rapid growers, for example, cottonwood, willow, Russian poplar, and Manitoba maple. It is safe to say that wood large enough for fuel can be grown from any of these trees within six years. After that time a plantation will increase in value and productiveness year by year and will prove one of the best investments on the farm.—Norman M. Ross, Indian Head Forest Nursery Station, is authority for the above.

GUARD YOUR HEALTH

You Can Do This by Keeping the Blood Rich and Red

It is useless to tell a hard working woman to take life easily and not to worry. Every woman at the head of a home; every girl in offices, shops and factories is subjected to more or less worry. These worries cannot be avoided. But it is the duty of every woman and every girl to save her strength as much as possible, and to build up her system to meet unusual demands. Her future health depends upon it. To guard against a breakdown the blood must be kept rich, red and pure. To keep the blood in this condition Dr. Williams' Pink Pills will be found most useful. They strengthen the nerves, restore the appetite and bring the glow of health to pallid cheeks, and renewed energy to listless people. Women cannot always rest when they should, but they can keep up their strength through the occasional use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. This is shown by the case of Mrs. Minnie Swick, residing near Simcoe, Ont., who says: "A few years ago I was in a deplorable state of health. My blood was weak and watery and the circulation poor. My appetite was poor and what food I did take distressed me. I was not able to do my housework, and often my nights were sleepless, and headache and backache added to my misery. I was finally persuaded to drop other medicines and take Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. This I did, and after taking the pills for a couple of months I could do my housework with ease, eat well, slept well and had gained in weight. From my own experience I cannot praise these pills too highly."

You can get Dr. Williams' Pink Pills from any dealer in medicine, or by mail at 50 cents a box, or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Egg Production in Canada

According to government calculations lately published, the production of eggs in Canada during the year 1921, was about 161,971,000 dozen from 34,340,474 farm hens, as compared with 121,604,000 dozen from 25,942,105 hens in 1920. Great attention is now being paid to poultry raising and the production of eggs in Canada, for which a remunerative market is assured, especially during the winter.

CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS

Small Pill—Small Dose—Small Price

Attempting Too Much

BY LORETTO C. LYNCH

An Acknowledged Expert in All Matters Pertaining to Household Management.

A thoughtful woman has written me a letter. She confesses that she has no time for play. In other words, she has so planned her life that she has no time for recreation. To quote, she says, "I wonder if it is possible to put my life on a business basis? Let me place the facts before you.

"I have two babies. One is two years of age, while the other is almost one year of age. I do all my own housework, including washing and ironing, as I cannot afford help. My husband helps me when he can. He is a letter-carrier and is usually home for about one and one-half hours between 12 and 2 o'clock in the middle of the day.

"In addition to my housework, I do preserving in season with the aid of my husband at night. Then, too, I make all my children's clothes as well as many of the simpler things for myself. I am trying in between times to knit a sweater suit each for the children. The bugbear of my life, however, is mending my husband's socks. He is on his feet all day long and need to change his socks daily. It seems I never finish darning socks.

"My home is a four-room apartment. It has a very large kitchen inconveniently arranged, a nice bedroom and dining room and a very large living room. I am just considering putting the dining room furniture in with the living room and making the dining room into a nursery for the children.

"It seems that I am going all day long, but I can never look around and feel satisfied that there is nothing to be done. In fact, most times I do not dare to look around.

"Am I undertaking too much? We get up between 6 and 6.30 and go to bed most anytime in the evening. The children get to bed by 6.30, when we have our supper. Can you give me any suggestions so that I too may have some leisure?"

Frankly, I believe, this woman is attempting too much. Preserving foods at home for economy's sake is debatable. If the fruit or vegetables are raised in the garden by the husband as a pastime, or come as a gift, or are purchased at a real bargain price, it may save one money to preserve at home.

But if it must be purchased at city prices and the cost of fuel and labor and container reckoned, I question the wisdom of a busy mother in doing preserving at home when she must even get help from her already tired husband. I believe this woman would be better to purchase canned goods from first-class commercial firms.

There should be very little ironing to be done if the proper kind of crepe cloth for dresses and rompers and night dresses, etc., has been selected. If the knitting of sweater suits is looked upon as a pastime and not something that must be done, it may be all right to put in the time doing this, but again I say, have you seen the elegant machine knit garments of this kind the shops are showing at a price little more than the cost of the wool as it is bought retail?

There is hosiery on the market guaranteed absolutely against holes. Why not look into this if darning is such a bugbear?

The idea of making the little used dining room into a nursery is an excellent one. Screen off part of the large kitchen and put your dining room furniture into it. Put your living room into perfect order and try to always have this one room so orderly that it will be soothing to your tired husband or yourself to spend the evening hour there after dinner. Personally, I find it quite difficult to keep a combination living-dining room in good order. You must make a rest time. You must.

Rider Haggard's African Farm

According to an advertisement in the London Field, the African farm once occupied by Sir H. Rider Haggard, and where the latter wrote some of his African novels, is for sale. The advertisement states that the area of the place is 1,320 acres; that there is a "lovely home" on the place, and that the farm is well developed. The great farm where the novelist lived "during part of his term of office in the colony" is in Natal, adjoining the town commonage of New Castle, being "only three miles from station and two and a half miles from the Town Hall and banks."

An Inspired Phrase

"Free State" Is Gaelic Way of Saying Republic

There can be no doubt that the use of the inspired phrase, "An Irish Free States" did more to induce Sinn Fein's acceptance than anything else. Who was responsible for it? We are informed that it happened in this way. When the final draft of the document was being prepared Mr. Lloyd George asked what "republic" was in the Gaelic language. As Gaelic provides, apparently, no other means of rendering the idea but "free state," the suggestion was adopted with the utmost enthusiasm by all parties concerned.—The Saturday Review.

China's Large Coal Lands

Estimates Show Country Has Bulk of Hard Coal

The coal fields of China now roughly surveyed are estimated to be as large as all the coal lands of North America. Coal occurs in most of the provinces of China proper and in nearly every province of Manchuria. Shansi is a province of China proper scarcely three hundred miles from Tientsin, the port of Peking, with which it has railway connection. The coal fields of this province underlie about thirty thousand square miles of territory, and, according to British authorities, several of the coal seams are twenty feet or more in thickness. Much of the coal of Shansi is anthracite of excellent quality, and it is estimated that these deposits constitute about four-fifths of the world's supply of hard coal.

Ambitious Highway Plans

Manitoba Is Planning a Big Road Campaign

Plans to take Manitoba out of the bad roads category are under consideration by the Manitoba Motor League and the construction of 1,663 miles of main trunk highways throughout the province will be asked for at the next session of the legislature. The Motor League proposes a scheme of road building which would afford a network of highways all through the province and would provide that no person would be more than 15 miles distant from a trunk highway.

Under the proposed plan of trunk highways each road would be built of gravel, according to the standard of the Good Roads Board and the cost of construction would be provided for out of motor license fees.

Teacher Says She Found Them Good

Miss Thereault Praises Dodd's Kidney Pills

Popular New Brunswick Lady Furnishes Some of the Reasons Why Dodd's Kidney Pills are Suffering Women's Best Friend.

Upper Pokemouche, N.B.—(Special)—"I can conscientiously recommend Dodd's Kidney Pills to all persons afflicted with any form of kidney trouble."

So says Miss Alice Thereault, the popular school teacher here. And Miss Thereault adds that she knows out of her own experience that Dodd's Kidney Pills are good. "I have experienced great benefit from this medicine since I have been troubled with kidney trouble. I always got good results from using them."

Dodd's Kidney Pills are known from one end of Canada to the other as suffering women's best friend. They are purely and simply a kidney remedy. They strengthen the kidneys to do their full work of straining all the impurities out of the blood. Sound kidneys mean good health.

Ask your neighbors if Dodd's Kidney Pills do not make sound kidneys.

Plastic Wood New Material

Very Valuable in Making Patterns for Casting Purposes

The name "Plastic Wood" is given to an extraordinary interesting material recently introduced by a British firm. It is made of very fine wood meal mixed with collodion so as to become of the consistency of soft putty. It can be used for filling and stopping holes in wood, as it is exceedingly tenacious and adheres firmly to woods of all qualities. One of its most valuable applications is in the making of patterns for casting purposes. It can be built up into any form and it sets quite hard so that it can be cut like ordinary wood or turned in the lathe. It has the valuable quality of being waterproof, and it does not warp or deteriorate through damp. Plastic wood can also be finished with sandpaper in the ordinary way, giving a highly glazed finish. Nails can be driven firmly into it without cracking it. Perhaps the only drawback is that its adhesive qualities are so marked that it sticks on the hands of anyone using it. The manufacturers, however, supply a special solvent which enables it to be thoroughly cleaned off the hands.

Italy Secures Stolen Art Treasures

Nine Magnificent Tapestries of Bible Subjects Returned by Austrians

Italy will soon hold an exhibition to display to the world the beautiful art treasures she has recovered from Austria in consequence of the war. The Italians claim that these objects were systematically stolen by Austrians from Italy in the days when the Italians were too weak to protect themselves. First and foremost among them are nine magnificent tapestries of Bible subjects. They are of Flemish workmanship.

These products of the first half of the 15th century were hung in the Ducal palace at Mantu. Emperor Francis Joseph ordered their transfer temporarily to the Imperial Palace in the Austrian capital. They have just been returned to Italy's possession and once more hang in the Mantuan Palace.

Some of the works of art just restored were among those carried off by Napoleon from the churches, palaces and country houses of the republic of Venice. They were returned to Venice after Napoleon's fall, only to be carried off to Vienna to become the brightest ornaments of the celebrated galleries there. Included in the number now returned to Italy are Cima da Conegliano's superb "Madonna of the Oranges," and pictures by Bartolommeo Vivarini, Paolo Veronese, Bisciani (the Master of Carpaccio), Tintoretto, Bellini, etc.

Mother! Clean Child's Bowels With California Fig Syrup

If the little tongue is coated, or if your child is listless, cross, feverish, full of cold, or has colic, give a teaspoonful to cleanse the liver and bowels. Doctor Said— "Keep on Using Zam-Buk"

"My little son was badly scalded by pulling a pan of boiling water over himself," writes Mrs. Albert Sawyer, of Midland, Ontario. "I called in a doctor, but his ointments failed to ease the child's intense pain. I therefore discontinued the treatment and began with Zam-Buk instead.

"This wonderful balm appeared to relieve pain almost immediately, but to make sure I was doing the right thing, I called in a second doctor. When I told him what I was using, he said:—'That's right—just keep on with Zam-Buk, there's nothing so good for scalds and burns.'

"As I persevered with Zam-Buk all soreness and inflammation was drawn out of the injuries and new skin gradually formed. It was not long before the scalds—although so extensive and severe—were completely healed."

Zam-Buk obtainable of all chemists and stores, 50c. box, is equally splendid for the treatment of eczema, ulcers, ringworm, piles, varicose sores, poisoned wounds, chaps, cold-sores, chilblains, etc.

Saskatchewan First In Poultry Production

According to Population is Leading the Other Provinces

Saskatchewan, in proportion to population, ranks first in poultry production among the provinces of Canada. According to Federal statistics, Saskatchewan had 9,000,000 hens in 1921, or only about 1,000,000 less than Ontario. Alberta ranked third with 4,534,000. Manitoba and Quebec are about equal with 3,500,000 each. British Columbia made a fairly good showing, population considered, with nearly 1,500,000 hens.

The Value of Books.

The Person Who Owns a Few Good Books Is Never Without Friends

Now that the long winter evenings are here parents might do something to interest their children in books and reading. At present dancing appears to be the chief pursuit of the young people, but here and there are boys and girls who would rather read than dance, and in years to come these will have their minds well stored, while the devotee of the dance will have only a vacuity in the upper story. A membership in the public library costs next to nothing, and opens the way to a wide range of reading; but boys and girls should be encouraged to have books of their own. The person who owns a few good books is never without friends at hand; and the home without books, even though it have wealth and everything else, is a dreary reflection of the mental calibre of its occupants.—From hte Goderich Signal.

Wireless Phones Between Trains

Experiment Tried in France Promise Safety for Passengers

Wireless telephone conversations between trains moving at the rate of forty miles an hour and the Paris central station, which have been achieved hold out a promise of greater safety for passengers, as well as a considerable diminution of intermediate signaling stations.

Antennae constructed on top of an ordinary coach were in constant communication with other antennae between two telegraph poles midway of the experimental area and enabled the use of telegraph wires to carry the messages to the receiving point. The voice of a train conductor could be heard clearly over a distance of fifty miles by the receiving station in Paris as the train passed each station or railroad siding.

The Nord companies are extending the experiments as far as Calais. Wireless signaling from Paris as far as Rouen has been in use for several months and with complete satisfaction. Meanwhile the state lines are considering the elimination of obsolete telephonic despatching.

No man or woman who wants to succeed in the race of life can afford the handicap of headaches, insomnia, indigestion and debility. Nor can they afford to take anything that may keep up a continual irritation of the nervous system.

Yet this is what many people do who drink excessive amounts of tea or coffee. For tea and coffee contain caffeine, a substance that is sometimes very injurious. Many doctors say that caffeine raises the blood pressure, irritates the kidneys, and over-stimulates the entire nervous system. Also that it is especially bad for growing children, or for anyone who has any tendency to nervousness or insomnia.

Evening Gown of White Satin and Black Lace

The eternal appeal of black and white still finds new modes of expression, of which a charming example is the evening frock sketched above.

"My Canada"

Entertaining Story Gives Glimpses of Life in Western Canada

Although not a new book, there has recently come to the attention of the writer, a very pleasing story by Elinor Marsden Eliot. "My Canada" is the title, and it is written in the form of a diary, each chapter dealing with the experiences of a young lady who comes to Western Canada from England. As revealed in the diary, Miss Eliot left her home in England with the two-fold purpose of escaping from an undesirable matrimonial alliance and with the intention of realizing an ambition to engage in poultry farming. At the outset, there is a suspicion that Elinor Marsden Eliot is in reality merely the pen name of a very clever writer who must have spent the most of her life in the prairie provinces, the characteristics of which she knows so well. After a glimpse of urban and rural life in Manitoba, heightened by considerable local color, the reader follows the fortunes of Elinor to Southern Alberta. Unquestionably the authoress gleaned her knowledge of ranch life from actual association so truthfully does she draw the picture. The history of this period in the life of the lovable English girl is revealed in a simple yet fascinating manner, whimsically humorous, which holds the interest without lapse. In the foreword, Miss Eliot expresses the hope that the story may contribute to a better understanding between Canada and the Motherland. That this worthy motive permeates the pages of the book is quite evident, and whether this Western Empire is the native or adopted country of the reader, certain it is that one's pride and love of Canada will be strengthened by reading this wholesome and captivating story.

Knew His Limitations

A small boy when told by his teacher at Sunday School that he would leave his body behind when he died, said in alarm, "I don't understand that."

"You see," explained the teacher, "you will take all that is good with you to the better land, and leave all that is naughty here on earth."

"Oh," he exclaimed understandingly, and then after a moment's thought, he added soberly, "I guess I'm going to be pretty thin up there, teacher."

Heart trouble has of late years become very prevalent. Sometimes a pain catches you in the region of the heart, now and then your heart skips beats, palpitates, throbs, or beats with such rapidity and violence you think it is going to burst.

You have weak and dizzy spells, sinking sensations, are nervous, irritable and depressed, and if you attempt to walk upstairs or any distance you get all out of breath.

Irish Roads

The roads we know seem always short;
Strange roads seem always very long;
I know a thousand Irish roads
And tramped them to a wild bird's song.

A thrush upon a towering beech
Would give me music for a mile;
A blackbird, linnet or goldfinch
Would then alternate for a while.

The Irish roads have borders set
With many a well trimmed hawthorn hedge,
Fox tongues, and ferns, and violets
And shaven grass along the edge.

There you will meet the jaunting car,
The crib of turf, the cosy cart,
The creels and straddle and the coach
With drivers that delight your heart.

The foreign roads are strange and long
And exiled eyes must often fill
For sight of long white roads that wind
Like ribbons round an Irish hill.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

LESSON FOR FEBRUARY 5

ELIJAH TAKEN UP INTO HEAVEN

I. God Reveals to Elijah His Approaching Rapture (v. 1).

It was made known to Elijah that he was to go to heaven by a whirlwind. There is a striking correspondence between his life and his home-going. Much of his life was characterized with the rush of the storm, so God chose to take him home to himself in the whirlwind. As a reward for his faithfulness, God lifted the prophet over death into heaven. Elijah did not choose the time of his home-going, but was ready.

II. Elijah's Closing Ministry (vv. 2-8).

Knowing that the time of his home-going was near, he did not change his manner or method of life, but thoughtfully and calmly pursued his customary duties.

1. Visits the schools of the prophets (vv. 2-8). At the Lord's direction he went to give his farewell counsels to the young students whom he had been training and upon whom the future of the nation politically and religiously so largely depended. He made regular rounds in visitaiton and instruction. Schools were located at Gilgal, Bethel and Jericho. His educational work shows him to have been not merely an iconoclast, but a statesman of a high order.

2 Trains Elisa to be his successor (vv. 2-8). There was a real friendship between Elijah and Elisha, though the one was old and the other young. Elisha came into the life of Elijah in the field when Elijah called him from the plow (I. Kings 19:19-21). Elisha clung to his master to the very last in spite of three urgent requests for him to remain behind. These tests were somewhat like those of the Master with Peter (John 21:15-17). The great object was to get him ready to take up the work which Elijah was to lay down. The order of progress of the journey indicates, says Scofield, "the experience of every child of God who enters into a vital experience of God's best. That walk began at Gilgal. The typical significance of Gilgal cannot be mistaken by any reader of Joshua. Gilgal was the place where a redeemed people rolled away the reproach of Egypt (Josh. 5:1-11).

"The next stage was Bethel—house of God—the place of vision, of spiritual insight, for Bethel was the place where Jehovah gave Jacob the great ladder vision (Gen. 28:1-19). He must go on from Bethel to Jordan. Jordan stands for the New Testament truth, crucified with Christ. There, on the resurrection side of Jordan, the gift of power awaited the prophet."

III. Elijah's Rapture (vv. 9-11).

1. Elisha's request to Elijah (v. 9). The walk of Elisha with Elijah from Gilgal to Jordan has prepared him for the final question of Elijah before his rapture. Elijah now knew that it was safe to allow Elisha to choose for himself. Elisha made a noble request—did not ask for riches, honor or position. He supremely desired the qualifications which would enable him to worthily succeed Elijah. Curiously enough, however, Elisha performed twice as many miracles as Elijah.

2. The condition of receiving was steadfastness and perseverance (v. 10). He must have faith in the invisible life in order to have power for public ministry.

3. Elijah's rapture (v. 11). It seems that he went to heaven in a chariot of fire enveloped by the whirlwind. Elijah underwent that change which all believers shall experience at the appearing of Christ (I. Cor. 15:51, 52).

IV. The Spirit of Elijah Upon Elisha (vv. 12-15).

1. Elisha's cry (v. 12). He cried after Elijah, "The chariot of Israel and the horsemen thereof!" This shows the value of a godly man to his country. It implies that Elijah was the true national defense. Godliness and character are more important than armies and navies.

2. Elisha uses the power (vv. 13, 14). He had faith to put the power to test.

3. The spirit of Elijah on Elisha (v. 15). This was confirmed by the sons of the prophets.

Britain Can Pay Interest on Loans

Is Only Country In a Position To Do This

In connection with the proposed refunding by the U.S. Government of Allied debts, the London Times says the task of refunding the debt of the British will no doubt prove the easiest and simplest of all because Great Britain is the only country in a position to resume the payment of interest suspended for a period of three years ending in April. Noting that Great Britain is owed by foreign countries a great deal more than she owes the U.S., the Times says that obviously the question of priority will arise in connection with British and American loans to continental borrowers.

Swedish Aviator Meets Death

Woman Fell 2,000 Feet In Attempting Parachute Descent

Elsa Anderson, the only Swedish woman to hold an aviator's certificate, was killed at Askerund. Four thousand spectators were watching her make a flight and were horrified when Miss Andreson, in attempting a parachute descent from the machine, fell like a plummet, to the earth. The parachute failed to open and the aviatrix plunged 2,000 feet to death.

These included two of the sons of Matador Segis Walker, shown at the 1921 National Dairy Show, and two of the good sons of Avon Pontiac Echo, the well-known son of the great Canadian cow, May Echo Sylvia.

Mining News

The 27th annual Northwest Mining Convention will be held in Spokane, Wn., on Feb. 14-18, 1922.

The general meeting of the British Columbia Division of the Canadian Institute of Mining and Metallurgy will be held in Vancouver, on Feb. 13, 14 and 15.

The Knob Hill mine at Republic was sold last week to L. E. Barber of Los Angeles for $25,000 cash, according to the News-Miner of Republic, and extensive development work will be started on the property in from sixty to ninety days.

The new government wharf at Alice Arm has been completed, and now independent shippers no longer have to rely on the Dolly wharf. The wharf measures 50 to 100 feet, and contains a warehouse having floor dimensions of 24 by 50 feet.

In an interview at Prince Rupert H. S. Munro, manager for the Granby company, stated there was no foundation for the rumor that the company would build a lead smelter at Stewart. He intimated however, that the company expected to treat a considerable quantity of ore from the district at its Anyox smelter.

THE BEAUTIFUL LESSON

If you love, love more. If you hate, hate less. Life is too short to spend in hating any one. Why war against a mortal who is going the same road with us? Why not expand the flower of life and happiness by learning to love, by teaching those who are near and dear a beautiful lesson? Your hands may be hard, but your heart need not be. Your form may be bent or ugly, but you do not know that the most beautiful flowers grow in the most rugged unsheltered places? The palace for care, the cottage for love. Not that there is no love in a mansion; but somehow if we are not very careful, business will crowd all there is of beauty out of the heart. This is why God has given the Sabbaths and Saturday nights, that we may leave business and have a little heart cleaning.

The past is fixed. No tears can wash away its facts. We should waste no regrets upon it; but from the wisdom of its very sins have taught us, we should start afresh on the race.

Let the path of life start whence it may, and let the way be steep and thorny if it must, there are sunny fields far up the heights for those who have faith and resolution to climb them.

He is a selfish being who having trouble in his trade or calling or profession, always brings his trouble home for the purpose of making every one else miserable.

Unkind words do as much harm as unkind deeds. Many a heart has been wounded beyond cure, many a reputation been stabbed to death, by a few little words.

The Coalmont Collieries, Ltd., is now turning out upwards of ten thousand tons monthly, and the Nicola-Princeton field more than 20,000 tons.

The Hon. W. Sloan, minister of mines, has instructed the resident mining engineers to resume the series of lectures started last winter, in the chief centres of their several districts.

Three groups of mining claims, 24 in all, on the Kettle river two miles northwest of Curlew, in Ferry county, have been consolidated in the New York-Boston Mines company, says the Spokesman Review. It is capitalized at $100,000, with 500,000 shares of a par value of 20 cents each. The three companies in the consolidation are the Boston-New York, the American-Granby group and the National Silver Lead mines.

Senator Poindexter, chairman of the United States mines and mining committee, has started negotiations with the Dominion government, whereby both governments shall remove the one cent per pound duty on lead on its return to the country of origin after having been smelted in the other country. At the present time a considerable quantity of lead ore that is mined in the State of Washington is smelted in British Columbia, while lead ore mined in British Columbia is smelted at Idaho, Washington and Utah. The proposed amendments will affect only such lead on its return to the country where it originally was mined.

Float

FLOAT is not a periodical. It is a book containing 86 illustrations all told, and is filled with sketches and stories of western life. It tells how a gambler cashed in after the flush days of Sandon; how it rained in New Denver long after Noah was dead; how a parson took a drink at Bear Lake in early days; how justice was dealt in Kaslo in '93; how the saloon man outprayed the women in Kalamazoo, and graphically depicts the roamings of a western editor among the tender-feet in the cent belt. It contains the early history of Nelson and a romance of the Silver King mine. In it are printed three western poems, and dozens of articles too numerous to mention. Send for one before it is too late. The price is 50 cents, postpaid to any part of the world. Address all letters to
