One Against Twelve

Hobart Bosworth, starring in "The Sea Lion," showing this week at the Greenwood Theatre, can justly be called the champion fighter of the screen. It is probable that no other man in filmdom has been called upon to engage in the number of savage fist fights that Bosworth has. His brawn stands him in good stead for he insists that there be no faking, and encourages his screen adversaries to attack him with every ounce of their physical strength.

As Nels Nelson, the battling "Sea Lion," he battles single handed with a crew of twelve men in mutiny, felling them one by one with smashing blows from his mighty fists. The men working with Bosworth in this scene were greatly relieved to hear that a retake was not necessary, as most of them were confessedly ready to take the count.

R. D. Kerr was asked to give his address on insilage (sunflower) and the best method of feeding. This address was very instructive and greatly appreciated. Mr. Eveleth followed with his experience and amply proved the great value to the farmers of this district of insilage in a dry belt. It certainly seems to pay.

J. R. Jackson then gave a most interesting and instructive address upon the best class of bulls suitable for the district which was followed by a general discussion by other members present.

The usual business was then taken up. It was decided to hold the annual picnic on Dominion Day, July 2nd at Ingram Bridge and to invite the other locals Bridesville and Rock Creek.

Strong condemnation was made of the practice of allowing rubbish to accumulate and expecting it to be removed at the expense of the city instead of themselves paying the scavenger for removal. The attention of the Health Committee was drawn to this illegal and unsanitary practise and they were asked to take proceedings to remedy cases brought to their notice.

The League Of Nations

In a world turned topsy-turvy by the Great War and its aftermath of increased racial bitterness and suspicions, staggering burdens of debt, economic troubles, and resultant social unrest, leading to all manner of agitation and the preaching of ultra-socialist and communistic doctrines, it behooves all citizens having the lasting welfare of their countries and mankind at heart, and who are desirous of assisting towards a rapid return to world sanity, to openly and actively align themselves in support of those agencies working to reconstruct and strengthen national and international forces of stability, and to combat and control the reactionary and revolutionary elements which thrive through the encouragement of national ill-will, the pandering to racial animosities, and the exploitation of all economic ills.

The present is an age of fault-finding and destructive criticism. The pessimists and preachers of blue ruin far outnumber those who express hope for the future and can see the silver lining which edges every cloud. Those who seek to destroy, to uproot, to tear down, are not backward in voicing opinions which, if generally accepted and acted upon, would actually result in the conditions which they declare now threaten unless their unsound and radical theories are adopted. It is unfortunate, on the other hand, that those possessing a saner, broader vision are rather halting and timid in declaring their opinions before the world and giving reasons—with which all history abounds—for the faith that is in them.

Take the League of Nations as an example. Its critics are to be heard everywhere and in every land. Every weak point in the League Covenant is seized upon, continually harped upon, and magnified out of all due proportion. The League of Nations is by no means perfect. How could it be? It is a human instrument, and as such has its weaknesses and frailities. It had its birth at a time when the passions of the world were at fever heat. It is the work of statesmen who, while striving to do their best, were limited by the fact that they had to give heed to popular opinion in their respective countries or be swept aside for those who would be so bound. And at its inception the League was crippled by the withdrawal of support by one of the nations which helped to bring it into being and to which it had every right to look for its strongest support. A petty insularism, supported and encouraged by political partizanship, killed such support.

Nevertheless, the League of Nations, with all the handicaps from which it suffers, has demonstrated itself as one of the most powerful factors in preventing more than one world catastrophe since the Great War. It has unquestionably been the means of extinguishing sparks in more than one inflammable portion of the world which might easily have renewed the awful holocaust which well-nigh destroyed civilization in the last decade. Slowly but surely it is rehabilitating certain war-bankrupt countries, as, for example, Austria. Through the establishment of a permanent court of international justice and peace a step of incalculable importance has been taken.

The chief object of the League, however, is to mould public opinion the world over in favor of the settlement of international differences by reason, arbitration, fair and equitable compromise, rather than a savage resort to force. In the development of that function the League requires not merely the active support of our Canadian Government, but of each individual citizen who believes that its policy for world betterment and mutual understanding is preferable to war.

As already pointed out in connection with the actual drafting of the League Covenant, responsible statesmen the world over are limited in their efforts by the state of public opinion in their respective countries. If public opinion in Canada is informed and alert and stand solidly behind the aims and ideals of the League, if Canadians who believe in the League openly support it, stress its strong points and seek to strengthen it where it is weak, if its friends and supporters actively endeavor to win others to its support, and diligently combat the views of those who seek to undermine it, then the Government of Canada will be a power in the Councils of the League and an influential factor among the nations.

Canada has already attained a proud position in the League. This Dominion's influence has been and is recognized in this great World Assembly. But by the adoption of the right and sane view by our people generally, that position can be strengthened and our influence for good extended. Surely the people of Canada have suffered enough through a war which was not of their making to arouse them to wholehearted support of an institution whose aim it is to make a recurrence of such a world disaster remote and ultimately impossible.

Released From Life Sentence

Man In Prison 36 Years Is Bewildered By Traffic

A man whose association with the world of every-day life ceased 36 years ago has been released from a life sentence in prison to the care of the Salvation Army in Manchester.

He lives in the world of yesterday. His twilight existence has lasted 16 years longer than Rip Van Winkle's and his sudden descent into the maelstrom of modern life is more violent.

"His mind is wonderfully quick," said Brigadier Puden, head of the Salvation Army social work in Lancashire, "but traffic and women's dress bewildered him. He is so afraid of the speed of the modern motor vehicles and tramway cars that he is almost afraid to venture into the street."

When this Rip Van Winkle left the world behind him there were no gramophones, the telephone was in its infancy, X-rays, the cinema, wireless and aeroplanes were not yet invented, the poles were still undiscovered and the great war was but a hazy dream of land war lords.

Behave Decently Or Perish

Approaching a State in Which We Could All Live in Harmony

Now that man can do so much more good and so much more harm than ever he could before, so that he is approaching a state in which all mankind could live almost like one respectable family or could annihilate itself by the perfection of its poison gases and its cultures of deadly germs, the piquancy of the old dispute between the ascetics and the humanists increases in like proportion. We are becoming so strong that if we are not good, we shall pull the whole temple down on our heads. We must either behave decently or perish, and the issue cannot be evaded by calling upon science to give us goodness as a kind of by-product of the things that it can and does give us. Wireless telegraphy will go on getting clearer and clearer, but it will never tell us which kind of messages it is honorable to send, and which not.—Manchester Guardian.

Employers and Employees

Perfect Understanding Will Reduce Strife Declares Japanese

A Japanese student of industrial relations says that strife between employers and employees can be reduced by sending them both off for a camp outing together. He's tried it in Japan and it works. We have no doubt it would work with American employers and employees, and, in fact, the principle the Japanese plan embodies is being applied in many ways in this country. That principle is founded in human nature and is merely that we distrust and dislike what we do not know, and that men who associate with one another and come to know one another as human beings learn to like and trust one another. It is growing more and more to be understood even in the largest industries that the competent executive knows his men and sees to it that his men know him. Only by knowing his men as fellow human beings can an executive learn what they need and legitimately demand. Only by his employees knowing him as a fellow human being can he win their trust and their respect for his difficulties.—Chicago Tribune.

NEW BLOOD NEEDED IN THE SPRINGTIME

Try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills as a Blood-Improving, Health-Restoring Tonic

Every man, woman and child needs new, rich, red blood at this time of the year. That is a scientific fact. All doctors know it. The blood grows thin and poor in the winter; there is not enough of it and spring shows the effect. Take notice and see how many people are pale and sallow at this time of the year. They complain of being easily tired, their appetite is poor, and they are often depressed and low-spirited. That is mother nature urging them to improve their blood supply; but often their digestion is weakened so that they cannot turn food into blood without help. Here is where modern medical science comes to the rescue. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have a direct action on the blood and enable you to get full use of the blood-making elements in your meals. You soon feel their effect—your appetite improves, your nerves are steadier, color returns to the cheeks and lips, you have more vim and energy and can work with less fatigue. The above statements are borne out by the experience of Mr. J. P. Greschuk, Janow, Man., who says:—"Very recently I found myself in a badly run down condition. My stomach was quite out of order; I could eat but little and what I did eat did not appear to nourish me. I did not seem to have enough blood; my hands and legs were blue, and I had no strength to work. I tried several medicines but did not get good results. Then one day reading our newspaper I read about Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and decided to try them. I used a half dozen boxes, and now feel well and strong, have a good appetite, and can do my work with ease. Naturally I have great faith in this medicine as a blood-making tonic."

Whether you are seriously ill, or merely feel easily tired and out-of-sorts, you should try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills this spring. They are sold by medicine dealers everywhere, or will be sent by mail at 50 cents a box, by writing The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Is It a Mistaken Policy

An Age-Old Argument that Inevitably Makes for War

The argument that the stronger we are the less temptation will there be to attack us will be used a thousand times in the coming years as it has been in the past. And it is indicative of the one-sidedness of political thinking that it never seems to strike us that the position we take here is an anti-oscial one, that it asks of others something we passionately refuse to accept when asked of us. We do not tolerate the existence of a group of rival powers so strong that resistance to it would be hopeless; condemning us to a permanent diplomatic inferiority; making our free movement over the world a matter of sufferance.—Norman Angell in "Is Britain to Live?")

Rail Rates In Canada Lower Than In U.S.

Omaha Newspaper Claims American Freight Rates on Wheat Much Higher Than Here

Investigation shows that Canadian railroads are performing the same service for Canadian wheat raisers at just about one-half the figure charged by American railroads, says the Omaha World-Herald. And the Canadian farmers are complaining that they do not get a square deal.

Western American farmers are paying from 50 per cent. to 100 per cent. more to get their wheat to the lakes than the Canadian farmers have to pay, but how? Nobody seems to know.

The three great lake ports for western wheat are Fort William for Canadian farmers; Duluth for Northern American farmers; and Chicago for central farmers. All three of these ports are at the head of the lakes. Fort William is some 200 miles from Duluth. All three are about equal distance from Buffalo.

Sweetgrass, Montana, on the Great Northern railroad, is about ten miles from Coutts, Alberta, on the Canadian Pacific. Sweetgrass is 1,004 miles from Duluth. Coutts is 1,203 miles from Fort William. When the American farmer at Sweetgrass ships his wheat to Duluth, 1,004 miles, he pays 43 cents per hundred pounds. When his Canadian neighbor ships his wheat to Fort William, 1,203 miles away, he pays 27½ cents. The American rate for the 200-mile shorter haul is 15½ cents greater. And the two farmers may live within sight of each other.

When the Lander, Wyoming, farmer ships his wheat 1,275 miles to Chicago over the Northwestern railroad, he pays 60½ cents per 100 pounds—as compared with the 27½ cents paid by the Canadian farmer at Coutts.

Next War in the Air

Whether we like it or not we have to face the possibility of another war, and there is no doubt where that next war will be fought. It will be fought in the air. A strong and up-to-date civil fleet of aeroplanes, together with plant, capable of being turned to military purposes at a moment's notice is as essential to the safety of England as is the Grand Fleet—if it is not more so. For in the next war the Channel will have shrunk to dimensions even smaller than in the last.—London Daily Express.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Brought Relief When Other Medicines Failed

Port Mann, B. C.—"I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound because I was tired and run-down. I had headaches and no appetite and was troubled for two years with sleeplessness. I tried many medicines, but nothing did me any real good. While I was living in Washington I was recommended by a stranger to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I am stronger and feel fine since then and am able to do my housework. I am willing for you to use these facts as a testimonial."—Mrs. J. C. GREAVES, Port Mann, B. C.

B.C. Fruit Prospects

Fruit Trees In Okanagan Valley Have Wintered Well

J. Tait, district pest inspector of Summerland, B.C., reports that he has never seen the fruit trees in the Okanagan looking better in years. They have wintered exceptionally well, he states, and promise well for the coming season. A similar opinion is held by Ben Hoy, who has been conducting pruning classes in Penticton and the Similkameen. Mr. Hoy states that unless damage is done by weather conditions later in the season the 1923 crop promises to be larger than that of 1922.

Model of British Locomotive

Took Approximately 21,000 Hours Steady Work to Make

In the Brighton Art Gallery there is a model which is described as one of the finest in existence. It is of a passenger locomotive, and its manufacture took 21,000 hours. The engine was begun more than 30 years ago, and the period covered by its making was 30 years! It is an exquisite piece of work, and enthrals not only school boys, who are always "keen" on railway engines, but adult visitors. The patience which the model represents is only equalled by the skill of the constructor.

My heart was so bad I had spells when driving on the road and would faint away, and neighbors would carry me in from my wagon. I also took these spells in the night and during my daily work on the farm. My nerves were so bad I would jump out of bed, and was then compelled to walk the floor before I could settle down again, but after taking a few boxes of

Borrowed Way to Fortune

Small Loan Bought Partnership Which Netted Fifty Million

Henry Phipps was associated with Andrew Carnegie for fifty years in the steel business. His wealth increased from nothing to $50,000,000. His climb was illustrated by a friend who told of the career of a man who owned a large chicken farm.

"How did you happen to start in the chicken business?" somebody asked him.

"When I was young I was out of work for a spell," he answered. "So I borrowed a hen and a dozen fresh eggs from a neighbor. I set the hen on the eggs and all of them hatched. Then I waited until the hen had laid a dozen eggs. I took the hen and the dozen eggs I borrowed back to the owner. He had what I borrowed from him and I had a dozen chickens. The dozen chickens started my farm."

Phipps borrowed 25 cents to advertise for a job. Later he borrowed $800 to enter the partnership which made him rich.

American Newspapers Would Build a Radio Station Near Halifax

Application has been made to the marine department to license the erection of a wireless station at St. Margaret's Bay, near Halifax, by the American Publishers' Committee on Cable and radio communication.

The New York Times, Tribune, World and Herald, the Chicago Tribune, Philadelphia Public Ledger, International News, and United Press are associated in the enterprise, the application being made by C. F. Crandall, of the British United Press. An experimental plant of moderate power has been operated for a year between London and Halifax, and thence overland to the large American cities. It is now proposed to erect a large station for handling press matter exclusively. There are stations in Britain and on the continent as far east as Moscow.

Income Tax In Russia

Lenine Received a Salary of 52 Dollars Monthly

Under Soviet Russia's new income tax law a man receiving more than $100 a month salary will pay 80 per cent. of the surplus to the Government. Incomes below 1,350,000,000 rubles, or about $27 a month at present rates of exchange, are not subject to taxation, but from that sum on the tax ranges from 6 to 8 per cent. No allowance is made for wives or children. During February the maximum salary for Government officials was 2,600,000,000 rubles monthly, or about $52, which was received by Lenin, Trotsky and other important officials.

Ingenious Wind Turbine

Has Greater Efficiency than Windmill Says Japanese Inventor

An ingenious wind turbine, said to be capable of utilizing air currents in the generation of power with far greater efficiency than its predecessor, the windmill, has been perfected by A. Ozaki, a Japanese inventor. He claims the turbine in operation turns into power 50 per cent. of the force of the air currents striking the planes. The ordinary windmill utilizes but 20 per cent. The equipment includes a storage battery arrangement by which the power generated may be held in reserve to secure uninterrupted service when the wind subsides.

Grasshopper Pest In France

Trains Have to be Stopped to Clear Tracks of Insects

France has had a grasshopper pest of unparalleled severity, says the Scientific American. They have not only destroyed crops, but, according to cable dispatches, they have interfered with train service as well. The insects appeared in such numbers that they block train service between Niort and Fontenay-LeComte, a distance of over thirty miles. So thickly were they massed in this region that it was necessary to stop trains frequently to clear the tracks. The train crews were supplied with special implements for this purpose.

Mental Disarmament

A Pithy and Succinct Truth Uttered By a Japanese Official

Hirose Saito, Secretary to a Japanese delegation, delivered himself of a pithy and succinct truth the other day when he stated that unless there is "mental disarmament, the destroying of a few ships will be of no avail." There could scarce be a better slogan than this one of "mental disarmament." It gives expression to a great truth and a great method at the same time, and coming from a Japanese official it is doubly welcomed as being decidedly appropriate. —Montreal Gazette.

Cancer Prevention

Claimed that Cancer is Caused by Potassium Deficiency

If the ever-increasing number of cancer-stricken sufferers would realize their disease is unconsciously self-inflicted and is now curable without operation, radium or X-ray treatment, justified hope and future happiness would dominate many a now despairing Canadian home.

Since 1912, when the late Dr. Forbes Ross, of London, England, positively proved his claims that cancer is caused by potassium deficiency, and that apparently hopeless, far-advanced, ulcerated and inoperable cancer cases could be restored to health by administration of certain assimilable potassium salts and a reformed natural diet, many hundreds of ex-cancer patients now living testify their profound gratitude.

The President of the Imperial Medical Association for the Reduction and Prevention of Cancer (Dr. Robert Bell, F.R.F.P.S., etc.), in his latest published work, states: "Neither X-rays nor radium has ever cured, or will ever prove of service as a cure for cancer . . . . . and from my knowledge of the disease I affirm that the knife has never cured cancer in a single instance. Cancer is a blood disease—and there is no gainsaying this—the local manifestation (the actual cancer) being merely an outcrop of the malady, the cause being a prolonged toxic (poisonous) condition of the blood."

An acid test of more than ten years' experience in England having satisfactorily demonstrated the truth of Dr. Ross' claims, why should not Canadians also adopt a rational natural diet which will render them immune from the terrible scourge and, in reasonable time, cause cancer to become "a matter of history only?"

Research has revealed that cancer, rheumatism in its varied forms and other diseases are caused by potassium deficiency resulting from boiling out, or otherwise destroying by heat, the priceless salts placed in our natural food by the Creator. When, however, mend by meat and medicinally, the sufferer begins to restore what the system has so long been deprived of, the effect is astonishing, and when the poisoned blood is thus restored to a normal healthy stream, cancer, deprived of the poison upon which it depends, can no longer exist, while the sufferer, having learnt his or her painfully practical lesson, will never again try to improve upon God's handiwork by "the sophisticated cooking methods of modern civilization."

On behalf of suffering humanity, the writer tenders earnest thanks to the Press of the Dominion for having already published similar letters of public warning in the east, and if this brings cheering news to readers in the Great Northwest, upon which they immediately act, a pleasant duty has been performed by Charles Walter, 51 Brunswick Avenue, Toronto, Ontario.

New Serum Discoveries

Three of Latest Announced by Institute at Copenhagen

The Danish Serum Institute at Copenhagen, which, under the leadership of Dr. Thorvald Madsen, is a centre of European scientific serum investigation, announces three discoveries as the result of its efforts:

1. A completely new method of making diagnosis for syphilis more certain than the Wasserman test.

2. The manufacture of a better and cheaper serum against diphtheria.

3. A method which makes it possible to discover whooping cough in its early stages.

From Paris it is reported that satisfactory results have been obtained by the injection of a serum extracted from the blood of children who are convalescent from measles.

Professor Mery, who made this statement to the Academy of Medicine, claimed (says Reuter) that two epidemics of measles were checked last year by this method.

To Abolish Penny Banks

The Penny Bank is due to pass out of the public school system of Toronto.

For some time the Board of Education has been deliberating on this step, and it was stated that the trustees are just about ready to take the step. They take the view that the teaching of thrift may become too expensive a process.

The main reason for the proposed abolition of the school banking system is that it interferes too much with the regular routine of the school work.

"YOUR TEETH"

GOITER

By Rea Proctor McGee, M.D., D.D.S., Pittsburgh, Pa.

In speaking of the diseases and infections of the body that arise from the teeth, it is not intended to give the impression that the teeth are invariably the cause of infection, but these cases are explained in order to show the results of neglecting mouths.

Until recent years we had not realized the danger of neglecting the mouth and teeth—because digestion was so seriously interfered with, by the inability to chew, and because appearance and distinct speech were ruined, and because pain of many kinds and of great intensity was a very frequent occurrence, and because broken roots and open cavities retained decomposing food and mucus, with a resulting bad breath. These were a few of the things that caused the more cultured people to have their mouths put in order.

The researches of the great institutions that are devoted to the study of disease have shown us that the results of neglected mouths are far more serious than we had at first believed; and there is just one way to avoid these serious results. That is to take care of the mouth in time.

Begin with the children, and if the child is trained to have its mouth in good condition and to know the comforts that follow a good mouth condition, the child will make very strenuous efforts, in later life, to have those same physical comforts.

One of the most embarrassing as well as serious of the widespread diseases of this country—a condition that is becoming more and more frequent—is goiter, which is the enlargement of the thyroid gland which lies in the interior portion of the neck.

A swelling of this gland produces a very unsightly enlargement of the neck, many times causing a series of what is known as thyroidism.

Thyroidism is attended with sleeplessness (or insomnia), nervousness and excitability, twitching and rapid heart action.

It was found that in large numbers of goiters the infection in the thyroid gland was a certain bacteria that is found in abscess sacs at the ends of roots of diseased teeth in the mouth of the patient; and in many instances the treatment of the teeth, or the extraction of the teeth and curetting of the sockets, relieved the goiter entirely.

It is therefore advisable to have a careful X-ray examination of the mouth in all goiter cases.

The worms that infest children from their birth are of two kinds, those that find lodgement in the stomach and those that are found in the intestines. The latter are the most destructive, as they cling to the walls of the intestines and if not interfered with work havoc there. Miller's Worm Powders dislodge both kinds and while expelling them from the system serve to repair the damage they have caused.

Distinctive Names

Picturesque Appellations of Western Towns Add to Their Fame

"It is high time," says the Brantford Expositor, "that Moose Jaw changed its name." And it mentions Regina and Kenora as places which changed their names.

No doubt, says the Toronto Star, Regina was quite right in deciding that Pile of Bones was not a suitable name for a city that was destined to become the capital of a province, but when Rat Portage changed its name to Kenora, it evinced a finicky spirit and, for most of us, somehow, Kenora has never stuck out on the map as one of the salient points in Canada the way Rat Portage did.

As for Moose Jaw and Medicine Hat, we hope they will stick to the distinctive names they bear. Towns named like that appeal to the imagination, and one cannot travel through the west without stopping off to see them, and to see the citizens of towns who have enough personality to adhere to such names, instead of picking new and better ones out of the works of Bertha M. Clay or May Agnes Fleming.

Department of Industries A Success

Despite the bitter criticism of of members of the opposition in the Legislature, the administration of the department of industries is working out not so badly after all. Two projects singled out for criticism were the Schaake Machine Co., and the T. J. Shore Bolt and Nut Works, both of which concerns received loans from the government. For a while it appeared as though a loss might be incurred, but these plants have been sold for $140,000 and the government's claims, for principal and interest, met in full.

The claim is also made that 20 per cent of the loans made by the department since its inception three years ago will turn out badly and that $250,000 at the most will cover the losses. Even Conservatives are ready to admit that this sum of money was a small one to see the province through the strenuous post war crises, when returned men had to have assistance to re-establish them in civil life and the unemployed were demanding relief.

Premier Oliver is at present visiting the prairie provinces. Recently Winnipeg organizations endeavored to spike his guns in regard to the freight rates fight and evened petitioned Saskatoon and other western prairie cities for financial assistance in opposing British Columbia's claims for equalization of rates. However, Saskatoon refused the invitation in no uncertain terms and countered by inviting the Premier to address them. He is also speaking at Calgary, Medicine Hat and Lethbridge and will return by way of Crow's Nest Pass route and Nelson, addressing numerous meetings en route.

Alberta and Saskatchewan are vitally interested in the freight rates question and the moving of their grain westward through Vancouver, New Westminster and Prince Rupert requires equal freight rates with the eastern provinces.

The visit of Hon. Wm. Sloan, Minister of Mines and Commissioner of Fisheries, to Ottawa promises good results. He was given a good hearing by Premier King and his cabinet on various matters, including settlers rights, fisheries and the tax on fuel oil. A full investigation and report on these questions has been promised, and Hon. Mr. Sloan returned hopeful that this province would shortly secure greater consideration in regard to the problems presented.

Pythian Sisters Dance

The Pythian Sisters have given receptions and dances, and on each occasion many gay people and prominent representatives of the community were attracted. It is safe to say, however, that they never had a more brilliant assembly than the one given on Friday night. Werner's four piece orchestra came over from Grand Forks and their music was said by many to be one of the best ever had here. Brilliant ladies in beautiful gowns were there in large numbers. Ladies outnumbered the gentlemen, but everyone got plenty of dancing. Supper was served in the rooms upstairs. It was very nice and nicely served. A large number of prominent people from Midway, Kettle Valley and Riverside were present as well as some from Ferry and Torodo Creek, Wash. All these visitors contributed not a little to the charm of the evening. The enthusiasm was kept till early morning and the enchanting music attracted many spectators all through the night. Besides giving the people of the district a good time the Pythian Sisters cleared $30 after all expenses had been paid.

Closes Successful Season

The last of a series of home dances given throughout the winter was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. D. McLaren, Deadwood, on Friday night, April 6th. About 30 were present coming all the way from Eholt, Greenwood, Anaconda and No. 7 Road, and all report a jolly time. R. Folvik, D. McLaren, Gordon McLaren, Miss E. McDonald and Jack Roylance supplied the music for dancing. There was an impromptu programme which was thoroughly enjoyed. Refreshments were served at midnight.

Editor THE LEDGE:—
Dear Sir,—

There has doubtless been a rumor floating about that it was my intention to stand as Provincial Party candidate for the Greenwood Riding at the next general election. This rumor, unlike most, had considerable foundation. At a time when I considered an election imminent I told some friends that if I was freely chosen as a candidate, I would stand, but that I would not ask for anyone's support or intrigue for it. I have since come to the conclusion that I can do better work in the cause of good and clean government as exemplified in the platform of the Provincial Party by withdrawing from all idea of standing. I shall, however, give my very strongest support to whoever may be chosen, providing he is a straight honest man.

N. LEWIS.

EDITOR THE LEDGE:—
SIR,—

Through the medium of your paper I wish to call the attention of "sportsmen" in this district to one of the evils we have been subjected to for several years, and which same evils amount to a complete defiance of the laws of the Province, the deliberate breaking and defiance of said laws constituting the evils in mention, and numerous cases of said breakage and defiance being a familiar subject of conversation with many of the true citizens and sportsmen of this country and yet no remedy applied.

For recent point in question: A few days ago I was informed "by a reliable eye-witness" of a male person carrying home 82 trout varying in size from 4 inches to 14 inches, caught in Boundary Creek. (Fishing in this district opens May 1st and 8 inches is the legitimate size of the trout) The said witness was unwilling to give me the name of the poacher in question or I would have same published.

Mr. Editor it is not possible to instil the idea of conforming to the game and fish laws of this Province into the heads and minds of the law-breakers we have in this district except by prosecution and fines. The Provincial Police who are the ones in charge of such observances at the present time, cannot possibly give their time and attention from their other duties to enforce the above mentioned laws and it is to be hoped that the recommendations of the Game Conservation Board, recently passed, will result in men being appointed who can give their attention to the enforcement of the laws which are now so easily evaded.

A Rod and Gun Club for this district to my mind would be able to have a good deal of influence in the proper carrying out of the regulations which true Canadians and sportsmen observe at all times, but, which same endeavors are nullified by breaches of the law made by unscrupulous persons who will not recognize any laws or regulations regarding game and fish in season or out of season except by fear of punishment, which without a doubt is long delayed in being administered. A few special constables appointed to enforce the fish and game laws would have the effect of making the too ready law breakers realize that their period of self-satisfied defiance and non-observance of the laws of their adopted country is at an end.

Yours truly,
"SPORTSMAN."

ABEL TROMBLEY,

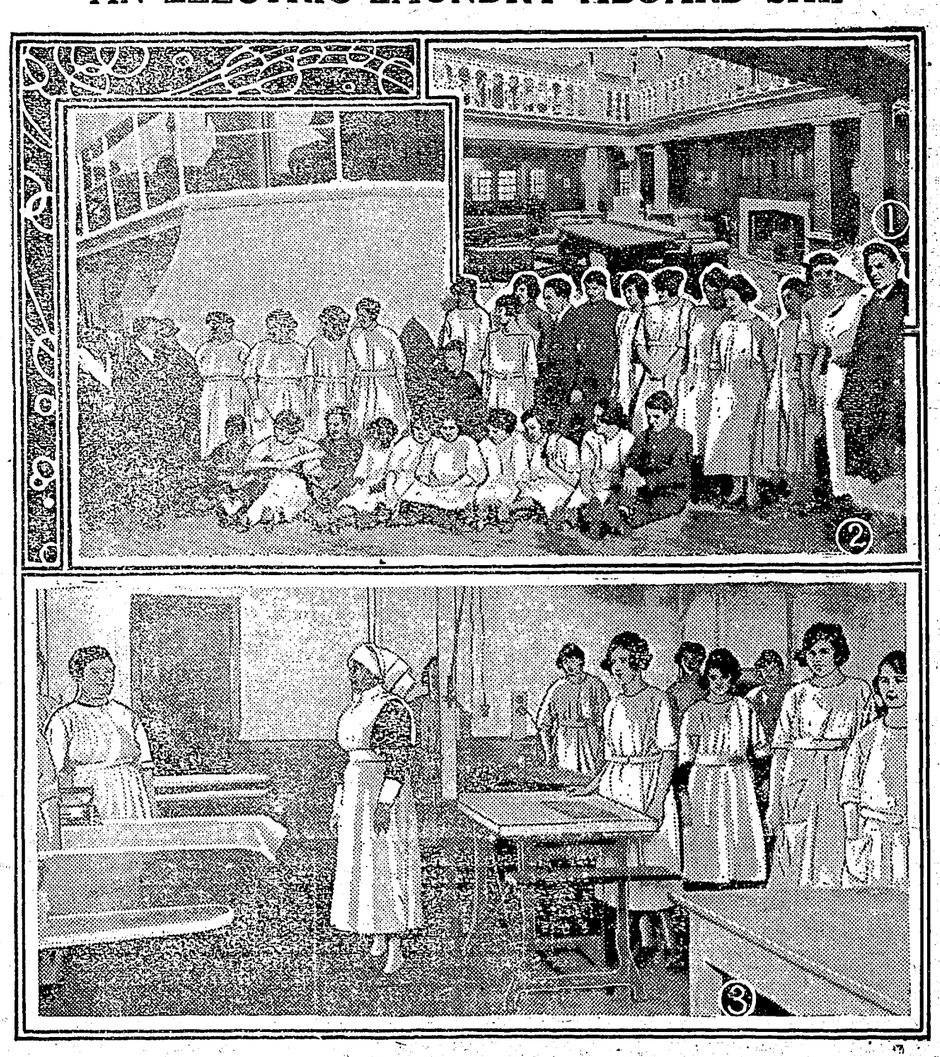
Dated 3rd April, 1923.

AN ELECTRIC LAUNDRY ABOARD SHIP



(1) A first-class smoking room on the "Empress of France."—(2) A group of the laundry staff of the same liner.—(3) Corner of the finishing department.

IT has been said that the modern ocean liner is a floating hotel, and this is probably the best description that can be given. A modern hotel is a city in itself, and a modern ocean liner of the type of the Canadian Pacific "Empresses" is certainly no less. When a couple of thousand or so of passengers are cut off from land to spend a week or more on the ocean, they must have every convenience and comfort that land can provide. The ship must be self sustaining in every particular. In this respect Canadian Pacific ships are as complete as modern invention can make them, and whether their trips extend for one week, or six weeks as does the cruise of the Mediterranean which the "Empress of France" made this winter, or even for three months as in the case of the cruise around the world to be made by the "Empress of Australia" this year, nothing is lacking to ensure the complete happiness of all on board.

As an instance of the way in which modern liners are equipped, the newly installed laundry of the "Empress of France" is well worth comment. It cost $25,000 and its complete plant and large staff of workers make it probably the finest of its kind afloat. In addition to the large amount of work undertaken for passengers at shore prices, it deals with 100,000 pieces of ship's linen per week. This new department is under the management of G. Dawe, junior, who controls its staff of six men and thirty women. Three washing machines form part of the equipment, and one of these, the largest ever fitted to a liner, is capable of dealing with 3,000 pieces of linen at a time, each piece being subjected to the entire washing process without removal. There is also a huge ironing machine which will iron and dry sheets at the rate of 400 per hour after they have been passed through a power wringer. This machine is operated by a team of nine girls. The higher class of laundry work is done by skilled ironers with press machines and electric irons, while shirts and collars, etc., are starched and finished by machines specially fitted for the purpose. All the machinery is electrically driven, and there are elaborate electrical controls for starting, stopping and regulating the machines. In the case of the washing machines, electric motors are fitted to the top of them, controlled by an electric timing device which regulates the revolving and reversing of the inside cylinders.

The oil-burning "Empress of France" has a length of 571 feet, beam 72 feet, depth 42 feet, and gross tonnage of 18,481. The speed which made her such an asset to the navy during the war is still maintained, and Captain John Gillies, her commander, is the hero of many an exciting race to port. Once aboard the "Empress" one has nothing to do but enjoy life while awaiting the end of the journey which usually arrives all too soon. She is a beautifully appointed ship with seven first class public rooms, including a lounge, smoking room, card room, and library. Provision is made in the second-class quarters for three public rooms, and spacious deck space affords all passengers more than sufficient room for open air games and exercise. Her steerage accommodation is in many ways about equal to the cabin accommodation of Atlantic liners of a few years ago, and her first and second-class provides every comfort that has been devised.

Mining Notes

Frederic Keffer, mining engineer, returned a few days ago from a visit of inspection to property of Jack Paul Mining Co., near Rock Creek, Boundary district, B. C., and reports outlook on that group materially improved as a result of development accomplished during the winter and early spring. A number of Spokane residents are interested in Jack Paul Mining Co.—Mining Truth, Spokane.

The 28th Annual Northwest Mining Convention will be held in Spokane, Wash., on May 22 26, in conjunction with the Spokane National Sportsmen's and Tourists' Fair, thereby assuring the attendance of thousands of "outdoor" men and women who are good sports and who know a good thing when they see it.

Never before has there been such an opportunity for mine operators of the Northwest to place their propositions before so large and so varied a congregation of live wires!

A feature of the Convention will be the "Prospects" display. First, second and third prizes will be offered for the best three displays of ore from properties that have not yet been regular shippers. Competent judges will decide. The prizes offered are: A $40 suit of clothes, by R. J. Hurd Co., Clothiers, Spokane; a fine watch, by Memhard & Miller, Jewelers, Spokane; a modern rifle by Jensen, King, Byrd Hardware Co., Spokane.

While it is intended to feature "Prospects" at this Convention, yet all producing mines will be urged to have a representation as well, and they will receive equal attention from the management in the arrangement of their spaces.

Messrs. Sandquist and Hebb, of Vancouver, have taken out supplies to the Bell and Wasa claims in Kimberley camp, a few miles north of Greenwood. They expect to spend the next few months doing development work.
