Daily British Columbian

Tuesday Evening, May 29, 1888.

From Chilliwhack.

(Correspondence of the Columbian.)

In "Queen's weather" her majesty's birthday was celebrated here, by a picnic given by the brethren of the Excelsior Lodge of Oddfellows, it being the second anniversary of the opening of their lodge. The Good Templars were invited, and were well represented; old and young thoroughly enjoyed themselves in Mr. J. C. Henderson's grove. The ladies, as usual, provided for the wants of the inner man and put a very good spread on the tables; and they deserved, and received many thanks for their kindness. After luncheon a programme was gone through, M. McSween, the present Noble Grand of the Lodge, taking the chair. Addresses were delivered by the Rev. G. C. Patterson, the Rev. T. W. Hall, and the Rev. W. Baugh-Allen, the remainder of the day being spent in amusements of various kinds; and a gathering of the I.O.G.T. at Henderson's Hall in the evening. The Rev. G. C. Patterson, M.A., having been asked by the Oddfellows to deliver an oration, spoke as follows: This, the 24th day of May, is the 69th anniversary of the birth of our beloved Queen, "Victoria the Good." We rejoice in the day, in the event which it commemorates. We are proud that we are British subjects, that we have such a noble and good queen, so much freedom, and security, and on the whole, such a wise and just administration; for although there is too often corruption in high places, time-servers in every place, too much regard for policy, and too little regard for principle; yet the nation has been led in a wondrous way, and has been used by God as his instrument in civilizing and evangelizing the world. We, therefore, feel that it is an honor as well as a privilege to be subjects of such a sovereign, members of such an empire. We are interested in everything that touches the welfare of the nation, anxious to see her resources developing, her borders extending, and her influence for good increasing. If danger threatens, we concern ourselves and are troubled. Even at the present time there is much cause for anxiety, on account of the troubled state of Europe, and we seem to be approaching an era of greater anxiety and graver outcomes. May God protect Britain in the time of her trials, give strength and wisdom to our queen, and her councillors, and establish the throne yet more securely in strength and righteousness. Should it be necessary to resort to a call to arms, we are ready to fight for our queen and country, but let me remind you that while in this there may be true patriotism, there may be but genuine selfishness. Many men no doubt have exposed their lives to dangers and done deeds of valour simply with a view to personal preferment and self-interest. They have gone forth prepared to imperil their lives in the hope of being richly rewarded for their toil. Fellow subjects, let yours and mine be a nobler spirit, a patriotism kindled at the altar of love to God, and in its free exercise let us wage war against the enemies of our country, and of our homes, enemies of intemperance and impurity, enemies of political and commercial immorality, enemies of selfishness and uncharitableness. Let our motto be, "For God and Country," and going forward, let us remember, that by the power of love, by the purifying, enlightening and strengthening influences of the Gospel, lived out in the daily life, effects more wonderful and lasting can be produced than have ever been produced by the force of arms. I have said we rejoice in being members of such an empire, subjects of such a sovereign. We have liberties, security, and privileges, which others might well covet. But let me remind you that however glorious Britain now is or may become, she will crumble, fall into decay, and perish, and all her subjects, who contributed to her strength and grandeur, yea, and all who were a source of weakness to her, will pass away; but there is a kingdom, established by God himself, the foundations of which can never be moved; a kingdom which shall survive the wreck of all nature, a kingdom where it is possible for us all to enter. In this citizenship, and in this alone, there is true dignity, lasting safety, and eternal happiness; and my fervent hope and desire is that we may all enjoy this higher citizenship now; then shall we be more loyal to our queen and country, and unite to-day with heart and voice in singing God Save our Queen. I cannot take my seat without saying a word or two about the Excelsior Lodge of Oddfellows, whose second anniversary we celebrate here to-day; a society essentially Christian in its spirit and methods, a society which aids the poor and friendless, the sick and bereaved; and recognizes the brotherhood of man. So long as they remember that we are all of one blood, and do not allow their connection with the order to develop into selfishness, which, while binding themselves together for their mutual benefit, separates them in their sympathies and in their efforts from the rest of the world; so long as they seek to comfort, soothe, bless and help, as opportunity occurs; so long are they deserving of your confidence and hearty commendation; my sympathies are with them in the good they are doing; and although I am not one of them myself, I have felt a touch of their humanity. I do hope that they may go on and prosper in the good work which they have begun, that they may increase in numbers, and I am sure from the bottom of my heart I wish them God-speed.

LAST NIGHT'S DESPATCHES.

TRANS-CASPIAN RAILWAY.

ST. PETERSBURG, May 28.—Samarsand was literally covered with bunting to-day in honor of the arrival of the first railway train from the Caspian Sea with General Annenkoff and a party of notables on board. The formal opening of the Trans-Caspian Railway has been fixed to take place on the anniversary of the coronation of the Czar Alexander III. The Czar's efforts to promote the completion of the railroad and telegraph systems in the Empire are warmly eulogized by the press and public orators.

FROM STANLEY'S CAMP.

LONDON, May 28.—A letter has been received to-day from Major Barttelot, under date of Zanzibar, October 28th. He states that some deserters from Stanley's camp had reached Singatini after 20 day's journey and reported that Stanley and his party were alive and well. They were at that time well supplied with food and clothing and in no danger of immediate attack. The deserters could give no news about Stanley's proposed route.

IRISH ORATORS.

DUBLIN, May 28.—T. M. Healy, speaking at Waterford, twitted the pope with having worked his own "plan of campaign" when the Sardinians grabbed his territory and with having boycotted Victor Emanuel after that monarch's arrival in Rome. William O'Brien, addressing an immense meeting at Limerick, employed the most bitter invectives in characterizing the conduct of Bishop O'Dwyer, whose threats, he said, were the most rash and unjust ever issued by a prelate. Bishop O'Dwyer's action in leaving Limerick yesterday, after supplying copies of his manifesto to every Orange newspaper in the country and failing to send a copy to the mayor of Limerick, the nominal addressee, who only learned of the letter from seeing it in print, was, Mr. O'Brien said, as cowardly as his allegations were untrue. There never was, he asserted, anything more false than Bishop O'Dwyer's assertion that the promoters of this meeting were agitating against the pope. O'Brien's remarks create great excitement.

OTTAWA ITEMS.

OTTAWA, May 28.—It is understood to be definitely settled that the Hon. A. W. McLelan, postmaster-general, will accept the lieutenant-governorship of Nova Scotia next month, and that the Hon. Edgar Dewdney will become minister of the interior. The act abolishing the departments of customs and inland revenue is likely to be proclaimed within a month when the Hon. J. J. C. Abbott will become minister of trade and commerce. Major Prior before his departure interviewed the minister of public works regarding public improvements in British Columbia.

THE QUEBEC RESOLUTIONS.

QUEBEC, May 28.—It is evidently the intention of the conservatives in the assembly to oppose the Quebec resolutions at every stage and it is hinted that the council may follow the example of their lower province brethern and throw out the resolutions. When Mr. Mercier moved the second reading of the bill concurring in the resolutions in the assembly this afternoon, Mr. Flynn, who is nominally the leader of the opposition, moved as an amendment that the several resolutions were inimical to the fundamental principles of the constitution and if adopted would in many cases deprive the people of the advantage of responsible government. That a certain number of the resolutions were not of sufficient importance to justify an amendment of the constitution and that those relating to the subsidies paid by the Dominion to the provinces were not in keeping with the principles sanctioned by the house in 1883-4, and that the house did not feel it to be its duty to approve of the resolutions in their entirety. No discussion took place and the house at once divided on the amendment which was defeated by 27 to 18 in a small house. The resolutions bill was then read a second time and will be taken up in committee at a later day when the conservatives intend to move an amendment to each resolutions and fight them to the bitter end.

THIS MORNING'S DESPATCHES.

GENERAL SHERIDAN.

WASHINGTON, D.C., May 29.—General Sheridan passed a quiet night, sleeping most of the time. He woke for a few moments at intervals of about half an hour, recognizing and conversing with those in the room. Respiration and pulse remain good and on the whole the general is slightly improved.

FRANCE ASKS AN EXPLANATION.

PARIS, May 29.—It is feared that complications may arise from the speech of Premier Tisza in the Hungarian diet in which he reiterated the government's refusal to take part in the Paris exhibition, and spoke of the possibility of the property of Hungarian subjects being damaged and the national flag insulted through the excitability of the French population. Reports are circulated in the lobbies of the chamber of deputies to the effect that the French ambassador to Vienna has been instructed to ask Count Kalnoky, Austro-Hungarian foreign minister, to explain the speech.

AN AWFUL HAILSTORM.

DESMOINES, Iowa, May 29.—South Desmoines, Sebastopol and Bloomfield townships present a woeful appearance this morning. The hailstorm which visited this section last night was the most disastrous ever known here. The hailstones varied from the size of hazel nuts to hens' eggs and were piled and drifted in many places from two to four feet deep on the level. Only two houses in Sebastopol were left with unbroken windows.

SOCIALISTS AT WORK.

HAMBURG, May 29.—Twenty socialist have been imprisoned, charged with fomenting strikes and secretly distributing inflammatory papers. Work in some trades has been practically suspended owing to the numerous strikes recently. Socialists are taking advantage of this state of affairs and are laboring to increase the discontent of the working classes.

STOLE A BAR OF BULLION.

DAGGETT, Cal., May 29.—A thousand-dollar bar of bullion was stolen from Wells, Fargo & Co.'s truck on Saturday night. The bullion was found last night in the valise of G. W. Bice, an engineer, who acknowledged his guilt.

VALUABLE CABINET DESTROYED.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 29.—Among the valuable prices of workmanship destroyed by the fire at the West Coast furniture factory, last night, was a cabinet of the state, selected for the purpose of exhibiting the products of California at the Melbourne exposition in August.

A DETERMINED STAND.

SYDNEY, N.S.W., May 29.—The cabinet has resolved to appeal to the legislative council against the decision of the supreme court, granting a writ of habeas corpus to Chinamen paying poll tax. Orders have been issued to enforce strictly the penalties upon vessels carrying more Chinamen than the number allowed in proportion to their tonnage. The steamer Ben Muir has returned to Hong Kong carrying 35 Chinese who were not allowed to land.

STORMS AND FLOOD.

TOPEKA, Kan., May 29.—Reports received this morning show that the storm which raged from Saturday night to last night has caused immense damage. Two families were carried away by the flood near here yesterday, and three little children drowned.

THIS AFTERNOON'S DESPATCHES.

A FREE FIGHT AND PRIZE FIGHT.

SAN DIEGO, CAL., May 29.—Four thousand people witnessed a bare knuckle prize fight at Tia Juana, over the border, on Sunday, between Brock O'Neal and Tom Nugent. Four rounds were fought and Nugent knocked out. O'Neal was terribly punished and had his nose broken and lost several teeth. Previous to the mill a large force of deputy constables from this city appeared on the scene and stopped it. A free fight in the ring, in which spectators and officers took a hand, was the result. Several persons were badly cut up but nobody seriously injured.

REVIEWED THE ARMY.

BERLIN, May 29.—The emperor passed a good night and felt quite strong today. Standing in an open carriage he reviewed the army brigade of the crown prince, headed by Prince William.

FIRE IN ANNAPOLIS.

ANNAPOLIS, N.S., May 29.—Eight buildings and the Spectator newspaper office were burned this morning. Several persons were severely injured in the Dominion House, one of the burned buildings. Particulars unattainable.

EFFECTS OF THE STORM.

PITTSBURG, May 29.—The telegraph lines are badly broken and in many places the railroad tracks are covered with debris from the hills. Damage to orchards has been particularly heavy, many trees in the region visited by the hail being stripped of every leaf, and the crops suffered correspondingly. The total loss will probably reach several hundred thousand dollars.

THE GREAT STORM.

WELLSVILLE, N.Y., May 29.—Twenty business blocks were unroofed and the Baptist church badly damaged here yesterday afternoon. Only two or three persons were injured. A heavy rain added to the damage and windows were broken by hundreds.

ACCIDENTS.

PITTSBURG, May 29.—Near Ravenswood, W. Va., Mr. and Mrs. William Powell were killed by lightning while sitting in their house during yesterday's storm. At Charleston, W. Va., Mrs. Robert Shannon was killed by a falling tree. At Bellaire, Ohio, a railroad brakeman, named Castello, was killed while endeavoring to manage the train during the storm.

Local Industries.

Both Vancouver and Victoria are reaching out for manufacturing and other industries. The inlet city has secured the first reduction works, and the erection of a large machine shop: the island capital has several manufactories of boots and shoes, iron works, etc., and is just now speculating upon the probability of establishing smelting works. Westminster has the only woollen mill in the province, and its other manufactories consist of sawmills, sash and door factories, foundry and machine shop, tannery, etc. With the exception of the sawmills, none of these employ a large number of men. We have several times pointed out the importance of securing additions to our local industries, and when our sister cities are offering prodigious inducements for the very same thing, there is danger that we may, perhaps, be left unless we become alive to the situation. It may not be safe for us to say that because the situation of this city is superior to that of any other city in the province, we may rest content and await developments. Our situation is undoubtedly superior. Victoria's supremacy has hitherto been the result of two principal causes—the fact that she is the provincial capital, and that she has stood right on the only commercial highway leading to the province. One of these causes still remains in operation, but the other does not. It is no longer via Victoria that the bulk of our provincial supplies come. The great avenue of trade and commerce is the C. P. R., which terminates at Westminster and Vancouver, and the old order of things is reversed. Victoria depends now on her position as the provincial capital, upon the ocean traffic which remains to her, and upon her wealth and prestige. Vancouver's advantages are almost altogether summed up in the three letters, "C. P. R." If there had been no railway, there would be no Vancouver. But the position of Westminster is quite different from the position of either of these. She was a city long before the first sod of the railway had been turned, and the completion of the road has decidedly improved, instead of injuring her position and prospects. Westminster is the only provincial city on a navigable stream of fresh water—and all the great cities of the world (with a few exceptions) are on fresh water. Nevertheless, notwithstanding her various and valuable advantages, Westminster cannot afford to disregard the significance of passing events. Any manufacture that will pay at Victoria or Vancouver will pay still more at this city; but let us not wait until the whole field is occupied before venturing to solicit what may never come to us otherwise.

Canada's Third Party.

Some time ago it was announced in this paper that a new party had been projected in Canada. This movement seems to have assumed a definite shape, and a pamphlet has been issued setting forth the principles of the party and making an appeal to the people of Canada for co-operation. The platform is as follows: (1) Righteousness and truth in public affairs, as well as in private business, and no compromise with wrong. (2) Equal rights for all creeds, classes and nationalities, but exclusive privileges to none. (3) A national sentiment, a national literature, and in all matters of public policy, our country first. (4) The prompt and absolute prohibition of the liquor traffic, and the honest and vigorous enforcement of all laws for the repression of vice and intemperance. (5) Retrenchment and economy in public expenditure with a view of reducing our enormous national debt. (6) Manhood suffrage, with an educational qualification; that is, a vote to every freeman of legal age who can read and write. (7) The extension of the franchise to women. (8) An elective senate. (9) Civil service reform. This declaration of principles is accompanied by a statement of the reasons which have led to the formation of the new party, and an address from the president. There is much in the platform that will command universal assent, for the principles are generally such as can scarcely be questioned. The promulgation of a set of principles, however, and the application of them in actual experience may be widely different matters. The propriety of conducting national affairs on a basis of righteousness and truth no one will deny; but it would scarcely be possible to elect a legislature composed of men, or even a majority of men, whose actions would be guided by such principles. The second plank of the platform proposes to place on equality all creeds, classes and nationalities. We presume this is not to be taken without qualification. If it is, the intention must be to give all rights of citizenship to Indians, Chinamen, and all foreigners. This may look very pretty as a theory, but in practice it would not work. If the Indians and the Chinese in this province were to join issue under such a regulation, they would probably hold the balance of power, and would be able to run the whole machine. We might find ourselves with a painted son of the soil in the gubernatorial chair, and a pig-tailed Chinaman for premier, clamoring for such legislation as would exclude white men from the province! With the remaining planks we have no fault to find. Some of them would challenge much discussion, but we think all of them could be adopted with advantage to the state.

Late Canadian News.

The body of Wm. Sharp, a Hamilton broker who has been missing for three months, was found on Burlington beach. Foul play is suspected.

The debate on the Quebec resolution was completed in the Quebec parliament on Saturday and they were concurred in by 21 to 17.

Turcotte, Mercier's new attorney-general, was re-elected by 200 of a majority.

A shipment of fifteen carloads of ale, which is equal to about eight waggon loads, went north from Toronto on the Canadian Pacific on Friday for the Sault and Port Arthur.

In a case brought to decide the ownership of a piano, purchased on the instalment plan, Judge Tait has decided at Montreal that the seller must give up any claim if the balance due is tendered, although in the meantime the instrument has been seized for default.

Mr. Eugene Hamel, the distinguished French-Canadian artist, has presented two magnificent paintings to the members of the Quebec assembly, to be placed opposite the speaker's chair. The one is a representation of Christopher Columbus relating his adventures in the New World to the delighted Queen of Spain, and the other is the arrival of Jaques Cartier at Hochelaga. Mr. Hamel is now at work painting a splendid life-size picture of the premier of Quebec.

It is understood that ten members from the two western provinces and the North West Territories have strongly urged the claim of that section of the Dominion from which they come, for representation in the cabinet, and have protested against the continuation of the system by which cabinet ministers are chosen exclusively from the older provinces.

Pimples, Boils,

And Carbuncles result from a debilitated impoverished, or impure condition of the blood. Ayer's Sarsaparilla prevents and cures these eruptions and painful tumors, by removing their cause; the only effectual way of treating them.

Ayer's Sarsaparilla has prevented the usual course of Boils, which have pained and distressed me every season for several years.—G. Scales, Plainville, Mich.

I was badly troubled with Pimples on the face; also with a discoloration of the skin, which showed itself in ugly dark patches. No external treatment did more than temporary good. Ayer's Sarsaparilla effected

I was troubled with Boils, and my health was much impaired. I began using Ayer's Sarsaparilla, and, in due time, the eruptions all disappeared, and my health was completely restored.—John R. Elkins, Editor Stanley Observer, Albemarle, N. C.

I was troubled, for a long time, with a humor which appeared on my face in ugly Pimples and Blotches. Ayer's Sarsaparilla cured me. I consider it the best blood purifier in the world.—Charles H. Smith, North Craftsbury, Vt.

TELEGRAM.

OTTAWA, 27th March, 1888.

TO LIEUTENANT-GOVERNOR OF BRITISH COLUMBIA, VICTORIA.

Your Government should issue public notice cautioning persons going on Sealing expeditions to refrain from assertion of their rights by force, and from taking on board arms and ammunition in excess of their usual requirements. The whole matter is engaging the attention of Her Majesty's Government and forms the subject of diplomatic negotiations now in progress. Any intemperate action in the meanwhile would be most detrimental to British Columbian interests and might lead to serious complications and be followed by grave consequences to those concerned.

A HOME COMPANY.

This Association merits the confidence the Public is reposing in it from the following FACTS:—

The Security offered to policy holders is unsurpassed by any Company doing business in Canada.

It has no schemes of insurance, but the well-established lines, hence the policy holders cannot be misled as to their contracts.

Its statements to the public can be readily understood, its cash statement showing every item of income and how expended.

Its position is ascertained annually from a detailed valuation in which every item of liability is included.

Its progress has been unexampled in the history of insurance in Canada.

Its policies are indisputable after three years, and non-forfeitable after two years' existence.

Its profits are distributed on an equitable basis. The profits to each class of policy holders are not limited to give larger profits to any other class, which method affords superior advantages over the uniform bonus plan of distribution.

ROMANCE AND REALITY.

Something That Married People May Think Over and Profit by.

"James, dear, will you bring me up a hod of coal from the cellar?" said a busy wife.

"That's just the way with you," said James, with a black frown, as he put down his book and rose up from the lounge.

"Just the way with me?"

"Yes," he snapped. "As soon as you see me enjoying myself, you have some chore or another for me to do. Didn't you see I was absorbed in my reading?"

"Well, dear, I will do it myself."

"Yes, and tell everybody, your mother especially, that you will have to carry your own coal up from the cellar. No, I'll do it. Let me mark my place."

So he marked the place in the book at which he had ceased reading, and when he went down the cellar grumbling all the way, she picked up the volume and found it was a love story, and that the passage he had been absorbed in was as follows:

"My darling, when you are my wife, I will shield and protect you from every care, the winds of heaven shall not visit your face too roughly, those pretty hands shall never be soiled by menial tasks, your wish shall be my law, your happiness——"

Just then he reappeared, and dumping the hod on the floor, said:

"There's your darned hod. Give me my book."

Is life worth living?

A WASHINGTON CELEBRITY.

Prosperous Aunt Clara.

Aunt Clara, who sells notions just off the rotunda of the Capitol in Washington, is perhaps the most familiar figure about the Capitol.

She is a poor old demented lady who makes her living by selling photographs of public men, guide books, souvenirs made out of the pulp of macerated greenbacks, and a great variety of things of that sort. She looks like an old witch, and it is hard to say whether she is French or German.

To those who enjoy her confidence, she talks with great freedom, and very interestingly at times. At others she is as incoherent as Hamlet's Ophelia, or as reticent as the Sphinx.

Her story is romantic. In early life she was a beautiful woman, and lived for a number of years in Washington. She knew intimately Clay and Webster, Calhoun and Tom Benton; and if you are so fortunate as to get her to talk about them she can tell many an interesting story.

After a time it became necessary for her to leave Washington, and she made her home in New Orleans, where her taste in matters of dress made her a successful milliner. She built up a fine business and made a snug little fortune.

When the war broke out she rashly avowed her Union sentiments, with the consequence that she was obliged to leave the city with her children, a refugee, penniless and dependent, not knowing which way to turn. The terrible strain upon her mind unsettled her reason and she has been a harmless victim of dementia ever since.

In some way she wandered to Washington, and old-timers remember how she used to sit in the Senate gallery and wave a little silk flag whenever a Union speech was made.

This at length became rather annoying, and several of the Senators, Charles Sumner among them, decided to give her something to do so as to keep her out of the Senate, and she was allowed to set up her notion stand in one of the Senate corridors.

After a time she was moved over on the House of the rotunda, and for twenty-five years she has been one of the familiar landmarks of the Capitol.

She owns a comfortable house, has sent her boy through Yale College, and given her daughter the benefit of extended European travel.—Hartford Times.

MARK TWAIN'S DEBT RAISING.

A Novel and Successful Scheme To Raise Money for a Church.

It was at the time the Rev. T. K. Beecher was building his large church at Elmira, where Mark Twain was living at the time. The humorist wrote up the plan on which Beecher was doing it.

A church in a town on the Hudson River had a debt of $18,000, and the treasurer happened to come across the account of Mark's. At the next meeting of the church board he told the brethren of it. He said there was no telling whether it was told for a fact or as a joke, for he always thought Mark was joking when he was telling the truth and serious when he was joking. At any rate he thought it was worth trying.

So he sent out letters to every member of the church to send him by a certain date what he or she thought was his or her portion of the debt, giving as the Lord had prospered them, no matter how much or how little. They were asked not to give according as others might give, but to leave the matter entirely with their own conscience and with God. They were not to communicate the amount they gave to anybody, except the pastor.

The result was astonishing. Persons that never had given anything to the church responded promptly and generously. Parties that had always given grudgingly and meagrely gave astonishingly large sums. When the date fixed arrived the whole amount asked for was in the hands of the treasurer.

Mrs. Hayseed at a Fashionable Church.

A pleasant-looking old lady, evidently from the country, appeared in a well known episcopal Church in Boston the other Sunday. The service had begun, and she stood a moment at the door until an usher came up to her, when the following conversation took place:

Old Lady—"Be the rigular pasture up here?"

Usher—"Yes, madam."

Old Lady—"Is he goin' to preach?"

Usher—"Oh, yes. Shall I show you to a seat?"

Old Lady—"Wait a minit; that meachin' little feller on the right isn't the pasture, is he?"

Usher—"No; that is the assistant."

Old Lady—"Is all them men in white surplices ministers?"

Usher—"No; they are the choir."

Old Lady—"All right, then; give me a seat near the brass bird."

The Gray Hair Puller.

Possibly the most unique method of gaining a living known as that adopted by a big, rosy 90-year old blonde, who finds engagements with women just lamenting her first gray hairs, to weed out, so to speak, those obnoxious reminders of advancing years. The gray hair puller is careful in her methods of treatment and makes periodic visits at intervals of a few weeks, spending from half an hour to two or three hours, letting down the hair, combing it out and spying for tell-tale gray threads.

She carries an innocent looking little vial which contains various glycerine and rose water preparations for a healing application when the work has been done.

THE FAITHFUL RETAINER.

He Was Forced to Confess That His Venerable Master Was to be Queen of the May.

The following story comes to the Listener from a Maine city, and it strikes him that for once he may break, in its behalf, the old rule never to call a story a good one before it is told:

One evening, not long ago, there was arrested in this city an old gentleman of position and cheery habits. The policeman said he had found the old gentleman on the street very drunk. The complaint was entered against him, but, as he seemed to be able to get about, he was released on his recognizance and sent home in a hack, which he paid for with great alacrity. When his case came up in Court the only witnesses summoned to prove his condition were the policeman and the old family servant of the accused, a faithful and devoted retainer.

The policeman had given his testimony, which was unqualifiedly to the fact of the old gentleman's intoxication. Then the old servant was called to the stand. There was a mingled expression of indignation and determination on his countenance. He testified flatly, to the surprise of the Court-room, that the old man was sober when he came home. The Prosecuting Attorney proceeded to question.

"You say that Mr.——was sober when he came home?"

"Yes, sir."

"Did he go to bed alone?"

"No, sir."

"Did you put him to bed?"

"Yes, sir."

"And he was perfectly sober?"

"Yes, sir."

"What did he say when you put him to bed?"

"He said, 'Good night.'"

"Any thing else?"

"He said as how I was to call him early."

"Any think else?"

"Yes, sir."

"What was it? Tell us exactly what he said—every word."

"He said as now I was to wake and call him early, for he was to be Queen of the May!"

The court-room roared. And in spite of the old servant's very positive testimony the accused was convicted and fined.

Enlightning a Barkeeper.

A friend told me an amusing experience the other day which illustrates the ingenuity which a man when he wants a drink very badly will exercise in order to obtain relief for his inordinate appetite. It appears that a young man approached him on the street, and telling a piteous tale of privation and woe, solicited sufficient to purchase a meal. My friend, who is peculiarly open to these appeals, much to the detriment of his purse, gave the fellow all he had about him in change, ten cents, telling him that would at all events keep him from starving. Seizing the money, the man started off, and was joined by a companion who had been watching developments from a short distance, and the two made off at a round pace in earnest consultation, and were followed out of curiosity by my friend. The two entered a saloon where whisky is retailed at ten cents a glass, and the first man, throwing down his dime, called for whisky straight. Seizing the bottle, he poured out a level tumblerful, much to the secret indignation of the bartender, who muttered something about "taking a bath." Raising the glass to his lips, the fellow drank half the contents, when, suddenly stopping with a look of disgust, he said, "what's the matter with this whisky anyhow?" "Nawthin'," replied the knight of the white apron and the Alaska diamond headlight, "you must be off yer base; there ain't nawthin' the matter with it."

"Let me taste it," said the friend, and taking the glass he drained it to the dregs. "I don't see nothing the matter with it." "Well, I may be wrong," said the other, and the two were leaving the saloon when the bartender, whose anger had changed into admiration, said: "Look here, you two chaps, if ever you are hard up for a drink, come in here and I'll stand treat. I've been in the business for ten years and thought I knew all the ropes, but this takes the cake." My friend was of the same opinion, and said if he had another dime in his pocket he would have bestowed it on the ingenious rogues.

So had to Give It Up.

Patiently she sat and waited for his footfall. His footfall was busy filling engagements at other points. A tear trickled from her eye and burst into countless sparkling atoms, as it fell on the mantle which hung gracefully from her shoulders. The gaslight flickered dismally in the dim hall. She let it flicker, and heeded it not. The policeman's club struck the curbstone on the next block with a hollow sound, and she started in terror. What if—oh, sickening thought! But no—George was always fly enough to take a cab after he had finished going out with the boys.

At last he came.

"Where have you been so long, George?" she asked.

He scarcely seemed to hear her. For several minutes he stood motionless, but his face wore a troubled expression.

At length he spoke these words:

"My—hick—dear, I hash ter give it up. I've got 'er poorest mem'ry ever shaw. Ashk me shumpin' easy. I'll fin' out fer you to—hic—morrow from shom of ozzher—hic—fellersh. Goodnight."

On the Front Gate.

"John, do you remember when we used to swing on my father's front gate?"

"Yes, Maria, I do."

"And the moon used to look so beautiful, John."

"It did, Maria."

"And the stars were so bright."

"They were."

"I wonder if the moon is so beautiful and the stars as bright now as they were then, John?"

"I presume they are Maria."

"Then why can't we swing on the front gate now and look at the moon and the stars and the blue night skies with their fleecy clouds, as we used to do then?"

"We can, Maria, if you want to."

"Then, John, let us go out to the front gate for a while and see if it will seem anything like it used to."

"All right, Maria. You can go out and try it awhile, and if you like it maybe I'll take a turn at it."

But Maria thought him too much of a brute to do anything of the kind.

Your Children

Are constantly exposed to danger from Colds, Whooping Cough, Croup, and diseases peculiar to the throat and lungs. For such ailments, Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, promptly administered, affords speedy relief and cure.

As a remedy for Whooping Cough, with which many of our children were afflicted, we used, during the past winter, with much satisfaction, Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. For this affection, we consider this preparation the most efficacious of all the medicines which have come to our knowledge.—Mary Parkhurst, Preceptress, Home for Little Wanderers, Doncaster, Md.

My children have been peculiarly subject to attacks of Croup, and I failed to find any effective remedy until I commenced administering Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. This preparation relieves the difficulty of breathing and invariably cures the complaint.—David G. Starks, Chatham, Columbia Co., N. Y.

I have used Ayer's Cherry Pectoral in my family for many years, and have found it especially valuable in Whooping Cough. This medicine allays all irritation, prevents inflammation from extending to the lungs, and quickly subdues any tendency to Lung Complaint.—J. B. Wellington, Plainville, Mich.

I find no medicine so effective, for Croup and Whooping Cough, as Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. It saved the life of my little boy, only six months old, carrying him safely through the worst case of Whooping Cough I ever saw.—Jane Malone, Piney Flats, Tenn. ††

A large number of friends assembled at Sapperton station and a number went down on the train from this city to see them off. His lordship will stop at Yale to-night and resume his journey to-morrow.

Floods Probable.

The str. Irving arrived down from Chilliwhack this afternoon with a fair load of farm produce and 15 passengers. Capt. Odin says there is sure to be a flood if the present hot weather continues. The snow on the mountains is melting very rapidly and the river is rising in consequence. Unless a change in the weather takes place it is very probable the low-lying lands along the Fraser will be flooded.

Nanaimo Relief Fund.

The general committee having the management of the Nanaimo relief fund met in that city on Tuesday last, when the financial statement was presented. It showed: Receipts, $62,368.73; disbursements, $12,620.23; charges of management, $199.22; cash on deposit, $49,559.18. Monthly instalments are paid to the widows and children of the lost miners, and the cash on hand will all be used in that way. Mr. S. M. Robins, hon. treas., and Dr. Prieger, hon. sec., were tendered a unanimous vote of thanks for their gratuitous services, which both gentlemen acknowledged.—Times.

Artesian Wells.

Mr. Adam Innes, who is in the city, informs us that Mr. Wm. Morrison will arrive in the city to-day with a view to obtaining information respecting the feasibility of sinking artesian wells. Mr. Morrison comes from the east, where he has been for twenty years engaged in well sinking, and his practical experience may be of great value to persons who contemplate going into such an enterprise. Mr. Morrison sank the first salt well at Goderick, Ont., which was the beginning of an extensive industry. He will spend some days making a personal examination of the lands in this city and elsewhere in the province.

A Clearing Fire.

A clearing fire, set by Mr. Wm. Reidt, in the brush on a piece of property at some distance in rear of the gaol, got beyond control of the men in charge and at one time threatened to spread to dwelling houses adjoining. Mr. Moresby reported the matter and it was thought best that the engine should be ordered out and the fire subdued in case of accidents. The engine and reels were taken up and it was not long before the Hyacks had spoiled the chances of any serious calamity. In this dry weather it is very injudicious to set out fires where there is any probability of damage to neighboring property thereby. Before the fire was driven back from the neighborhood of the houses, part of Mr. McPhadden's fence and about 40 cords of wood were burned. The Hyacks, under Chief Corbett, worked like heroes.

Coleman's Failure.

The assignees of William T. Coleman & Co., whose failure was reported a few days since creating such a sensation in commercial circles, made public last Thursday a statement of the assets and liabilities of the firm. The assets of the firm as given in the schedule are as follows: Bills receivable $92,000, merchandise $936,000, accounts receivable $671,000, real estate $8,000; total assets $1,770,000; liabilities $2,661,000; excess of liabilities over assets $954,000. Following is the personal statement of Mr. Coleman: Personal property $847,000, real property $1,041,000; total assets $1,888,000; total liabilities $250,000; excess of assets $1,629,000. A combination of the two statements shows total assets $3,595,000 and total liabilities $2,920,000. The excess of total assets over all liabilities is $675,000.

Choral Union Concert.

A small but enthusiastic audience greeted the ladies of the Choral Union last night in the Oddfellows' Hall. The concert—the last of the season by the union—was fully as successful in point of attendance as any of its predecessors, and the programme, though not so attractive as on the last occasion, was very interesting, and the performance reflected much credit on those who took part. The whole programme was carried out by the ladies alone, the only parts taken by the male members being the moving of the piano and organ, or the adjustment of the tapestry. But small and unimportant as were these parts, the tasks were so gracefully and skillfully performed that the audience could not resist giving the male members the enthusiastic applause they so richly earned. The solos and choruses were all performed well and the accompaniments, played by Miss DeBeck, deserve more than ordinary mention. After the concert was over the members of the Choral Union, at the invitation of His Lordship Bishop Sillitoe, remained and were treated to a feast of ice cream and other delicacies.

The good opinion of the public, in regard to Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, is confirmed by clergymen, lawyers, public speakers, and actors. All say it is the best remedy for affections of the throat and lungs.

Surveying Dominion Lands.

Mr. A. F. Cotton, D.L.S., has got his party hard at work on the survey of land within the railway belt, east of the hatchery. Not only is a survey being made but each quarter section is thoroughly inspected, and every hill, ravine, clump of timber and stream accurately defined in the notes. This enables the homesteader or purchaser to pick out the class of land desired without being forced to cover a dozen sections before finding land suitable to his purpose. Mr. Cotton will also define the limit of the railway belts at two points between the coast and Lytton and establish a new line of landmarks the whole distance. The party has more work before them than can be accomplished this season.

Late Despatches.

THE NEW COMMANDER WELCOMED.

HALIFAX, May 25.—The Allan steamer Caspian, from Liverpool, brought the new commander of British forces here, Lieut.-General Sir John Ross. The steamer was profusely decorated with flags in honor of the occasion, and she fired a salute in coming up the harbor. At deep water terminus, where the ship docked, a large detachment of the York and Lancaster regiments were drawn up to receive him. As he stepped ashore a second salute was fired from the citadel. On coming off the steamer he was met by a number of staff officers and escorted on to the wharf. On his appearance he was received with a general salute. He inspected the men and entering a carriage in waiting drove off in company with Lord Russell.

A CABLE TO AUSTRALIA.

OTTAWA, May 25.—Mr. Sandford Fleming, C.M.G., has received letters from Australia and New Zealand in reference to the proposed cable between Canada and those colonies. The premiers of Victoria, New Zealand and Queensland have given expression to their warm desire to see the cable laid at the earliest opportunity, and there would seem now no ground for believing that the other colonial governments will not heartily co-operate in the scheme. Mr. Fleming has information from England that the imperial government has determined to survey the route, a surveying ship having already been despatched for that purpose. In the Melbourne Argus of April 3rd the following appeared: Admiral Fairfax has received orders from the admiralty directing the employment of H. M. S. Elgeria, now on the way from Hobart to Sydney in surveying a route for mail steamers and for the laying of a cable between British Columbia and Australia. The work will occupy three years, will cover an expanse of water 200 miles wide for the entire distance across the Pacific. It is impossible to name the exact point on the Australian coast from which the survey will start, but the route will be by way of the northermost point of New Zealand, passing Fiji to British Columbia and connecting with the C. P. R. The recent annexation of the Christmas, Fanning and Penrhyn islands, between Hawaii and Fiji, ostensibly as coaling stations, will, it is thought, have an important bearing on the cable enterprise. When the proper time arrives there is little doubt but that our government will substantially recognize the project.

ANXIOUSLY WAITING.

LONDON, May 28.—Mr. Chamberlain and Mr. John Bright are announced to address a meeting at Birmingham to-morrow night. The tories are wild with anxiety concerning Mr. Chamberlain's position with regard to the recently published Birmingham scheme and he is expected to either uphold or repudiate that publication in his address.

Colic and Kidney Difficulty.—Mr. J. W. Wilder, J. P., Lafargeville, N. Y., writes: "I am subject to severe attacks of Colic and Kidney Difficulty, and find Parmelee's Pills afford me great relief, while all other remedies have failed. They are the best medicine I have ever used." In fact so great is the power of this medicine to cleanse and purify, that diseases of almost every name and nature are driven from the body.

Children Cry for Pitcher's Castoria

From Surrey.

(Correspondence of the Columbian.)

The 24th of May celebration at Elgin was a grand success. The day being fine, a large crowd turned out, who enjoyed themselves immensely. The ball in the evening, held in the hall, was everything that could be wished for, the committee having secured first-class music, and those who delighted in tripping the light fantastic were perfectly satisfied before leaving in the morning. The gentlemen of Elgin deserve credit for the successful manner in which they conducted the whole affair.

The Surrey council has granted a bonus of $1000 to the mill owners of Semiahmoo for the purpose of moving the mill over to Elgin where, we hope, it will soon be in running order and supply the wants of the settlers in the way of lumber, shingles, &c., &c. A large meeting was held at the Surrey hall last week in consideration of a dyking scheme, the dyke to run across the mouths of the two rivers and stop all tide water from entering. It is to be voted on before long, and all voters should use there best judgment as to how they vote. It may benefit a few farmers who don't wish to go to the expense of dyking in all their farms.

Mr. H. T. Thrift, of Hall,s Prairie, moulded his first bricks last week, which were of excellent quality, and it is expected we will have a large brick yard in Surrey before long.

It is reported that one of our worthy batchelors of Mud Bay, who is tired of batching, is thinking of trying another mode of living. We hope he will succeed in getting some "fair one" to share his future prosperity.
