The Evolution Of An Empire

The forthcoming Imperial Conference in London to be attended by members of the British Government and the Premiers of all the self-governing Dominions of the Empire is attracting more widespread interest than any of the preceding Conferences of a like character, with the possible exception of the one held during the war. Some writers and public men seem to think that notable changes in the relationships now existing between Great Britain and the Dominions will result but there is little ground on which to base such belief.

Since the secession of the American colonies and the American Revolutionary War of 150 years ago, the changing relationship between Great Britain and her overseas possessions has been one of evolution, not revolution. Great changes have taken place, it is true, but the process has been so gradual and all effected so peacefully, that they were hardly noticed at the time. Perhaps the most significant change of all took place when the overseas British Dominions became members of the League of Nations on terms of equality with the Motherland and other nations.

But this gradual development of a more autonomous and independent status has in no sense resulted in any weakening of the Imperial tie nor in the solidarity of the Empire. The effect has rather been to add strength to the individual units and to the union embracing them all. The term "Empire" as applied to the British Empire is, in fact, a misnomer. Rather the phrase favored and so frequently used by His Majesty, King George V., more correctly describes what is commonly referred to as the British Empire, namely, the British Commonwealth of Free Nations.

There is nothing at all in common between the British Empire and old Roman, French, Russian, German and Austro-Hungarian Empires. The fact that these old empires have passed away while the British Commonwealth of Free Nations continues united and stronger than ever only serves to emphasize the difference.

Evolutionary, not revolutionary, tendencies are still at work throughout the British connexion, and it is to be expected that the approaching Imperial Conference will assist to clarify the atmosphere in regard to some matters. India is steadily moving forward along the path to increasing self-government, and Great Britain is not only willing but anxious to enlarge the powers of the people of India just as rapidly as the people become capable of wisely exercising those powers. The history of India will be largely a duplication of the evolution which has taken place in other parts of the Empire.

In South Africa the people appear to be somewhat concerned about the flag, and there is a considerable body of opinion in favor of a distinctive national flag for South Africa other than the Union Jack. But those who are most insistent for such an emblem nevertheless disavow any desire for or intention of a severance of the tie which binds them to Britain and the other British Dominions.

Canada is moving in the direction of appointing its own Minister to the United States with a view to having matters pertaining to Canada and the United States dealt with directly by the two countries concerned rather than through the intermediary of the British Ambassador and the Government in London. But, here again, there is not the slightest wish nor intention of severing or even weakening one tiny strand of the tie binding Canada to the Empire.

Among people in all the Overseas Dominions the view is entertained by many that the present procedure of carrying appeals from the Supreme Courts of the Dominions to the Judicial Committee of the Privy Council in London might well be abandoned, and the Overseas Courts made supreme in fact as well as in name, thus saving lengthy delays and huge expense in obtaining final judicial decisions. But advocates of this change are amongst the most loyal of British subjects.

In the evolutionary process already referred to, one of the most significant changes has been in treaty making powers. Formerly, and not so many years ago, all treaties had to be negotiated and signed by the British Government, although they might have reference solely to one particular Dominion. Furthermore, all treaties made by Great Britain were binding on all the Dominions with or without their consent. Now, however, Canada makes trade treaties direct with foreign countries and they are signed in the name of the King by Canadian ministers. If Canada and the United States desire to make an agreement regarding fisheries, or some boundary matter, the two countries do so and the resultant treaty is signed by Canadian ministers.

Furthermore, the British Government no longer makes treaties with foreign countries affecting the Dominions without first consulting them and such treaties are submitted to the Canadian Parliament for their approval and adherence.

Kipling well describes present Empire relationships: "Daughter am I in my Mother's house, but mistress in my own." The British family tie holds, invisible, almost intangible, silken in texture, but strong and lasting as steel. Changing times call for other changes, in customs, methods, procedures, but the family remains intact, sympathetic, co-operative, loyal and affectionate, working for a common aim, proud of each other's achievements, united by a common bond, and joyfully yielding allegiance to one sovereign. Thus does the British Empire grow, prosper and triumph.

Turkey Erects First Statue

With Its Unveiling All Koranic Laws Pass Into Oblivion

Mohammedan tradition prohibiting representations of the human form has been broken with unveiling of a statue of Mustapha Kemal Pasna, President of Turkey, and one of the outstanding figures in Near East politics.

This is the first statue ever erected in Turkey. It represents the President in European dinner jacket, bare headed and with arms akimbo.

The breaking of Koranic tradition against statues of men and women preceded the going into effect of Turkey's new civic code adopted by the National Assembly six months ago. With this code all Koranic laws passed into oblivion.

CHILDHOOD AILMENTS

Can be Quickly Banished With Baby's Own Tablets

The ailments of childhood are many but nine-tenths of them are due to one cause and one cause only—a disordered condition of the stomach and bowels. To quickly banish any of the minor ailments of babyhood and childhood the bowels must be made to work regular and the stomach must be sweetened.

No other medicine for little ones has had such success as has Baby's Own Tablets. They banish constipation and indigestion; break up colds and simple fevers; correct diarrhoea and colic and promote healthful sleep by regulating the functions of the stomach and bowels. Concerning them Mrs. L. M. Brown, Walton, N.S., writes:—"I cannot speak too highly of Baby's Own Tablets as I have found them excellent for childhood ailments."

Baby's Own Tablets are sold by medicine dealers, or by mail at 25 cts. a box from The Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Food that had been canned six years was opened recently by a Dutch physician, Van Leersum, and found to be still fit for human consumption. It was meat hash including onions and potatoes. THIS MOTHER GLAD DAUGHTER IS WELL

Mrs. Parks Tells How Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Restored Her Daughter's Health

Toronto, Ontario.—"My daughter is 16 now and has been an invalid ever since she was six months old and has been compelled to remain out of school the greater part of the time. We have tried different kinds of medicine, but none helped her much. I had taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound when I was run-down, and it had helped me so much that I thought it might help her at this time. She has gained ever since she began taking it. She attends school every day now and goes skating, and does other out-of-door sports. I recommend this medicine to any one who is run-down and nervous and weak."—Mrs. PARKS, 106 Bond Street, Toronto, Ontario.

Says Canada Needs Publicity

Money Should be Spent to Advertise Resources, Opinion of British Capitalist

Sir Alfred Mond, British capitalist and internationalist, who has invested heavily in Canada, brings up a challenging message when he states that Canada's greatest need abroad is publicity. He tells of leading and supposedly well-informed British financiers who do not even know some of our greatest mines as names.

Our mineral revenues are growing each year but are still a small part of our total annual production. Dairying alone produces much more than all our mines. To bring the yearly mineral production to two, three or four times the present figures will require the investment of millions, yes, a billion dollars is needed. This money we have not at home for investment; we must get it from abroad. If Britain and Europe have the money to invest, we want to offer them the opportunity. But it must be offered. We must take it to them.

Money may well be invested by the provinces in making our mineral resources known.—Financial Post.

Salvaging Of Allied and Turkish Ships

French Allege Under-Sea Tombs Have Been Desecrated

The salvaging of allied and Turkish ships sunk during the Great War has begun with the raising of the French ship Massena.

The Italian Salvaging Company, at work, and the Turkish Government have agreed to share the profits of the undertaking on a fifty-fifty basis except for the provision that any ships or guns found in a sufficiently good condition to be repaired and used will become the sole property of the Turkish Government.

French opinion here is indignant over what it terms Turkish desecration of French under-sea tombs. The raising of the Bouve, in which 600 French sailors and officers went down to death in the battle of the Dardanelles, has provoked some bitterness on the part of the French.

The British attitude toward the raising of the English ships sunk in the Dardanelles, of which one of the most notable was the Irresistible, has not made itself felt here.

Makes Coffee Truly Delicious

A Rich, Golden, Appetizing Cup of Coffee is Appreciated

Much coffee is spoiled in the making, but it is safe to say more is spoiled in the serving. This is because comparatively few people use real cream, figuring, perhaps, that its daily use is rather a luxury. Of course, one can rob the milk bottle, by taking off the top milk, but even that is not calculated to give one the rich, golden, appetizing cup of coffee that makes this beverage truly a nectar. More and more housewives are serving Eagle Brand Condensed Milk with coffee, for the reason that it is economical and because it ensures a beautiful flavor, being so rich and creamy. There is the further advantage that it saves sugar, for condensed milk contains sugar and the milk and sugar are so perfectly blended that the proportions are absolutely right. Usually, the condensed milk is placed right on the table, being served from the can, which, if desirable, may be set in a marmalade jar.

Wouldn't Stand For It

During an election in England a candidate for parliamentary honors was addressing a meeting of Yorkshire men when he was interrupted by a man who asked: "Art in favor of children goin' t'school till they be sixteen?" "Certainly I am," said the speaker. "Well, I'm not," was the emphatic answer. "I'm noone goin' to 'ave my lad coomin' whoam fro' t'school an' axin' me for money for a shave."

Blames Radio For Hurricane

Atmospheric Tension Said to Cause Excitement In Clound Masses

The fast multiplying activities of radio broadcasting stations were directly responsible for both the Florida and Vera Cruz hurricanes, according to Joaquin Gallo director of Tacubaya observatory.

Gallo's theory, is that the constant emission of short wave length electrical charges into the ether by the activity of the thousands of radio stations built up an atmospheric tension, excited the cloud masses and put them into a condition to precipitate immense quantities of water, accompanied by severe wind and electrical storms.

The director is now engaged in experiments with a view to backing up his theory with convincing scientific data on the subject.

Giant Plane Tried Out

Germany Marking Series of Test Flights With Super Machine

A new Junkers double decked superplane with a surface measurement of 109 square yards is being tried out in Germany in a series of test flights.

The body of this giant plane is nine feet ten inches wide and comprises two platforms with a cabin spacious enough for 20 beds as well as for heavy baggage. Adjoining there is a special freight compartment for the shipment of express and freight, the absence of which hitherto has been found a vital shortcoming in international air service.

Another innovation is an auxiliary engine room with a separate motor for lighting, for the accelerated filling of tanks, wireless and other services.

Ancient Town In Germany

In Germany there has been discovered in the Federsee marshes of Upper Swabia a town that was fortified and inhabited in 1,000 B.C. The town was palisaded with pine trees, 50,000 trunks having been found. Other evidences of civilization also were found.

Western Grain For Royal Winter Fair

Saskatchewan Department of Agriculture Offers Prize for Sweepstakes

Mr. M. P. Tullis, Field Crops Commissioner for Saskatchewan, is arranging with grain growers of the province for exhibits at the Royal Winter Fair, Toronto, and the International at Chicago. It is expected that two, who have previously won championships, will again compete. However, there are several new names on the list with excellent samples. The Department of Agriculture will pay transportation charges from Regina to Chicago or Toronto and return, and will look after the exhibits without further trouble to the grower. The Department will also award $150 to any Saskatchewan exhibitor winning a sweepstakes, and $50 for first prize, while the Canadian Pacific Railway Company offers $100 to the Canadian obtaining the highest placing in hard wheat.

Rates Ae Prohibitive

Canadian cattle exporters are not the only objectors to Atlantic shipping rates. The Scottish Farmer says: "Atlantic rates are almost prohibitive for Clydesdales fillies. You can't ship for Clydesdale fillies. You can't ship a £50 filly at a £12 rate. No general trade is possible at present North Atlantic transport rates."

Japanese Pride Of Caste

Poor Family Refuses Son Permission to Marry Girl of Higher Social Order

Japanese pride of caste which caused a poor family to refuse to permit a son to marry a girl of the highest social order has created an unusual romantic situation arousing much sympathy throughout Japan.

General Baron Tanaka is one of the wealthiest and most prominent Japanese. He is head of the powerful Seiyukai party and, at any time, may be the Premier of Japan. Lieutenant Masayuki Kozowa comes from a poor and lowly family, but a family of pride in its class.

In his extreme youth he was put out to service and became one of the servants of Baron Tanaka. There the youngster grew up with the beautiful Yaeko, daughter of the Baron.

From the first Baron Tanaka conceived a liking for the boy and soon he was almost like one of the family, becoming a constant playmate of the young daughter. The Baron decided to give the youth an education, so put him through school, and later, through his great influence in the Army, obtained his entrance to the Military Academy. In the meantime, it was apparent to all that Yaeko and Kozawa were madly in love with each other. Baron Tanaka did not object. He liked the young man and he wanted his daughter to be happy. But there was a matter of family.

The family is everything in Japan, and the individual nothing. It is the family that arranges and permits marriages. Their consent is absolutely necessary for a union. Baron Tanaka thought he saw a way to make Kozawa the equal of his daughter. He would adopt him according to a common Japanese custom and make him his son and heir.

The proposal of adoption was made to Kozawa's family and an executive session was held to decide the matter. It lasted several days and finally Baron Tanaka was informed that the adoption and proposed marriage could not be; that the Kozawa family, although poor and lowly, still had its pride which would not permit one of its members to marry out of his class, even though that class was very much higher.

There the matter rests for the moment, but the romantic ones are still hoping Kozawa's family will relent—and love will find a way.

Tax Collectors Who Received Commission

One Per Cent Was Amount Paid in Egyptian Town

The busy tax collector of the ancient city of Karania in Central Egypt during the second century A.D. got about one per cent commission on his collections, it is revealed in two long Greek papyrus rolls which are soon to be presented to the University of Michigan.

The rolls, which were unearthed in Egypt recently, are sixty and forty feet in length, respectively, and are among the lougest ever found.

In ach entry the name of the person comes first. Then follows a list of properties assessed, with the amount of the tax record in the margin against each item. In some items there is a charge for exchange to cover the conversion of copper coins into the silver value of the drachma.

Men Good Window Shoppers

Experiment Indicates They Stop to Look Oftener Than Women Do

Men spend more time window shopping than women do, it was revealed by experiments conducted in 125th street, New York, by the Columbia University School of Business, according to Dr. H. K. Nixon.

The experiments indicated that "men and women showed about the same interest as measured by the tendency to turn the head in passing, but more men than women actuany stopped."

It was found that advertisements in black and white received just as much attention as those in colors.

It also was found that a woman looking in the window did not decoy as many observers as a man. A man and a woman looking in the window at the same time attracted more attention to the window than either a man or a woman alone.

Britishers Not So Slow

Americans Rush But Do Not Accomplish Any More

It is extremely doubtful whether the American in any class really works harder than the average Englishman of the same class. The American business man may rush into a restaurant as though the devil were after him, and gulp down his quick lunch in the time that an Englishman would employ in studying the menu. But he will sit quite a while afterwards cleaning his teeth, and on the way back to his office it is odds that he will waste a good deal more watching a nigger working a crane. The American is not a real hare and the Englishman is by no means the tortoise he is sometimes supposed to be.

Policeman Spoiled Wager

Arrested Man Climbing the Eiffel Tower in Paris

Up the Eiffel Tower in Paris a man was seen climbing. He was nearly 500 feet up, or almost half-way to the top of the famous tower. A policeman ran to the lift and rushed to the second platform. When the daring climber set foot on the second platform after some perilous manoeuvring the policeman handcuffed him and brought him back to earth by means of the lift. The man was taken to the police station where he stated that he was trying to climb the tower to win a bet when the policeman caused him to lose his wager.

Spain Orders Big Airship

Said to be Largest Zeppelin Ever Constructed

It is learned from Friedrichshafen that the Spanish Government has ordered a new Zeppelin airship which will be the biggest ever constructed, capable of flying from Seville, Spain, to Buenos Aires, covering the distance of roughly 10,000 miles within four and a half days. It will cost thirty million pesetas. This airship will later attempt a non-stop tour of the world.

A Defense Of Gossip

Keeps More Men Straight Than The Police Do

I am possibly the only man living who has spoken a good word for gossip, which keeps more men straight than do policemen.

A thief does not fear gossip, but a halfway respectable man does, and heeds it. Gossip is a tremendous power in regulating the better institutions.

Ask a banker: gossip may ruin him over night.

We get the truth in gossip; rarely in newspapers, speeches, and sermons. Gossip is vicious, but it is also free and candid; by weeding out the palpable exaggerations, we get the truth about every situation.

Gossip abuses everything more than it deserves, but finally settles on the real facts; idealism praises everything more than it desereves and never reaches the truth.

It's a pity the law does not hear of evil acts as soon as the neighbors, but it does not, and we are entitled to protection while the slow-moving Law is getting out a warrant and summoning witnesses; most of whom will not testify as candidly in court as they do on the streets.

This protection we get from gossip. If gossip declares up and down the street today that a certain man was last night seen entering a certain house where he had no business, he will keep away from there tonight.

Finally the gossip will get around to the sheriff, and, if of sufficiently serious nature, he will investigate tomorrow.

A man named Pinkerton has a reputation as a detective. All the facts Pinkerton reports to the prosecuting attorney or grand jury have been dug up by gossip.

Is Kept Fairly Busy

B.C. Editor Apologizes for Recent Delay in Publishing

The most ambitious and hardworking newspaper man in the world has been discovered in the northern parts of British Columbia. A note in the Interior News, published at Smithers, apologizes for a short delay in the appearance of a recent number of the journal. The editor qualifies the enormity of the offense by remarking that it is not always easy to get the paper out when you come to consider that he is also on the executive of the Board of Trade, the Athletic Association, the Public Hall and a member of the Town Council—to say nothing of his duties as secretary of the Fall Fair and about half a dozen other things.

He then naively remarks that in four years the paper has been late twice. The first time was due to a failure in the presses, and the other time he attributes to "sheer laziness." No wonder we are a great race.

A Plea For Happiness

Late Senator David Writes a Sermon in His Will

Interesting it its self revelation is the will of the late Senator David—"literary man of first excellence in Canada," who died recently.

"I must include my sons-in-law in the statement I make regarding my children: I thank them for the sympathy and kindness they have always shown toward me and which I have been happy to find in the house I am passing the last year of my life.

"To all members of my family I make a request for mutual aid, for life in peace and harmony. Happiness on earth consists in great part in giving happiness to those with whom one lives, in being able to excuse and pardon offences, often insignificant and done without malice in a moment of irritation, in conquering pride, mastering feeling. Who does not need to be pardoned? Who never makes mistakes?"

There is nothing so tiresome as a woman who is vain of her beauty—unless it is a man who is vain of what he is pleased to call his brains.

It is estimated that the people of the United States have spent one billion dollars for diamonds in the last fifty-five years.

A motor of French manufacture, to be attached to an ordinary bicycle, is said to be the smallest motor in practical use.

A Toledo man is under arrest for kicking in the face of a big clock. Maybe he merely wanted to leave footprints on the hands of time.

"This is a hard world," said Pat, as he knocked off for the day. "Yis," said Mike, "Oi be thinking the same ivery toime I put me pick into it."

Thief! Is What He Calls Headache

Brooklyn, Mr. Richard A. Davidson writes—"A headache is a thief, because if I figured up the number of days I was unable to do my best work on account of a sick headache, it would amount to hundreds of dollars. I have found the best relief for sick headache is Carter's Little Liver Pills. They have rarely failed to clear my attacks and they tone up my stomach and bowels in fine shape."

Dress For Comfort And Not Appearance

Radio Artists Mostly the Reverse of Smartly Dressed

It is perhaps as well that radio listeners do not see the artists who are performing, else pleasing impressions might be dispelled. Listeners do not know how they look, but when a beautiful soprano voice or a heavenly tenor is heard it is easy to picture a beautiful lady or a romantic figure of a man.

Not so. Someone who is behind the scenes has been talking, and it is said that the artists mostly are the reverse of smartly dressed and look nothing like the part they are enacting. Famous ladies are reported to be attired in a manner more fitted for comfort than appearance, and tenors who thrill the audiences with passionate lyric airs from the operas, are described as coming to the microphone with their coats and vests off, minus collar and tie, and with the neck of their shirts rolled back. The reason given is that formal or stage attire hamper their vocalism.

Yet there is a famous tenor who always puts on a dress suit when he sings before a microphone, although nobody sees him except the officials at the broadcasting station. When his friends laughed at him he said: "When I am nicely dressed I feel good and I can sing with more enjoyment. My unseen audience gets better results accordingly."

There is a great deal to be said for that. Everybody knows the tonic effect of new clothes or of putting on a "dress suit." There is a mental reaction to smart attire, which shows itself in buoyancy of heart and therefore one "feels good."

When a singer isn't making the best of his song over the radio, we may feel like bawling into the machine: "Go and put a dress "suit on."

The Speed of Hurricanes

Bulletin Explains Why Accounts of Velocity Vary

Many people have been puzzled how to reconcile the apparently widely divergent accounts of the velocity of the wind during the West Indian hurricane that struck the southeastern coast of Florida last week-end. They read in one place of winds moving at the rate of 120 miles an hour, and in another that the centre of the hurricane passed over the country at the rate of forty miles an hour. A bulletin on hurricanes issued by the National Geography Society of the United States not only explains the peculiarities of hurricanes, but provides answers to various questions that occur to the interested layman.

"Hurricanes," the society's statement says, "are not winds that drive straight ahead. They are swirls of the cyclonic type. These swirling storm centres move relatively slowly across land and sea, sometimes at no greater speed than eight or ten miles an hour. But they suck air towards them from all sides at terrific speeds, up to a hundred or more miles an hour." These West Indian hurricanes, anticipated every year on the Gulf coast, are probably as old as the Atlantic ocean and the North American continent. The first storm of the kind on record "devastated parts of Cuba in 1494."

Says Civilization Is Killing Off Indians

Thrive as Savages Declares Woman Physician in Alaska

Civilization is rapidly exterminating the Indians and Eskimos of Alaska, Dr. Anna S. Kearsley, thirteen years a physician among natives of the territory, declared at Seattle.

"The white man's civilization is ruinous to the natives," she said. "They want to be civilized, and the government wants to civilize them. But they seem to absorb all the bad things of the white man's life and none of the counteracting good things. They should be allowed to remain in their former wild state, to hunt and fish, as they did for ages, in the open. Not one in a hundred is benefited by education. Their habits are uniformly filthy and unsanitary when they attempt to live as white men. As savages, they thrive. As wards of the government, they are dying out."

Dr. Kearsley has worked in United States hospitals for the Indians and Eskimos at Wrangell and Sitka.

German Soldier Has Returned War Loot

Took Silverware From Chateau Where He Was Billeted

The mayor of the town of Ham, near Amiens, which was occupied by the Germans during the war, has received a bulky, heavy registered package postmarked Altona, Germany. The official feared it contained an infernal machine and had firemen unpack the box.

Inside was discovered a quantity of silverware, knife, forks, spoons, and plates with a letter saying:

"I was a German soldier billeted in a chateau near Ham during the war, and I took these things as souvenirs. I am ignorant of the name of the owner of the property, but he doubtless can be identified by the crest and monogram on the silverware. My conscious hurts me and I am hereby returning the property."

The authorities of Ham are seeking the owner of the silverware.

GIRLS AND WOMEN NEED RICH BLOOD

This Lady Found Dr. Williams' Pink Pills a Friend Indeed

Just because she is a woman there are times when every woman needs help and strength in the form of a blood-building tonic.

To thousands of girls and women Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have proved a blessing because they enrich the blood, give strength and restore tone to the aching nerves. The anaemic girl who is languid and pale, the wife whose back feels like breaking; the matron whose health fails as she reaches middle age—for all such sufferers Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are invaluable because ill-health in girls and women is usually caused by poor blood or insufficient blood. These pills have proved a blessing to thousands of others, why not you? At various stages of life Mrs. G. R. Lake, Walton, N.S., has proved the value of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. She says—"I first used these pills when a young girl, for it is during the 'teen age when nature calls upon every bit of the reserve strength we have, that we need their rejuvenating help. It was then I found Dr. Williams' Pink Pills a friend indeed. And again, now that the girlhood stage is past and I am a mother of four children, subject to all the cares and worries of the home, Dr. Williams' Pink Pills is the only tonic I take to keep up my health and strength, and they have never failed me. Should any ailing girl or weary mother, due to my advice try these pills, I know they will find them as equally good as I have done."

You can get these pills from any medicine dealer or by mail at 50 cents a box from The Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Armistice Masquerade

Enquiries for tickets for the eighth annual Masquerade Ball being staged at the Masonic Hall at Greenwood on Monday, Nov. 8, by the veterans of Greenwood and district are beginning to come in in good volume; and for the convenience of patrons it has been decided to place tickets on sale with the merchants at different points, to whom they will be forwarded in a few days.

Local tickets can be purchased either at the Post office or at the Greenwood Grocery; at Midway at McMynn's store; at Kettle Valley at G. B. M. Gane's store; at Rock Creek from the Rock Creek Trading Company; at Bridesville at Ames's store; and at Beaverdell at T. W. Clarke's store.

The fact that this year seven major prizes as against five last year will be given for the best masquerade costumes, and the well sustained reputation for being the best dance of the year enjoyed by this function, are causing a very general interest to be taken, and there seems no doubt that this Armistice night will see a record attendance at the Masonic Hall.

Kettle Valley Notes

A meeting of the members of the Farmer's Institutes of the district will be held on Saturday, Oct. 16th at 8 p.m., at Riverside Hall. C. E. Whitney Griffiths, secretary of the advisory board will address the meeting. Everybody cordially invited. The ladies will supply light refreshments.

Already many people have started making their costumes for the 8th annual Masquerade Dance at Greenwood on Armistice Day, Nov. 8th. This dance, the event of the season, is given by the War Veterans.

The W. A. Sale and Dance held at Riverside Hall, on Oct. 1st, was a success in spite of very unfavourable weather conditions. The crowd who attended the sale was not very large, but a most generous one.

The return match between Grand Forks Golf Club will be held at Kettle Valley on October 17th.

A number of members of the local Golf Club motored to Penticton on Oct. 10th and had a tournament with Penticton players, the latter winning by a large margin. The Kettle Valley members report having a very enjoyable time.

Celebrating the change in name of the historic Dominion Express Company to that of the Canadian Pacific Express Company, a street parade in Montreal was held September first, the day of the change in name, consisting of every description of Express vehicle, new and old. Sam Nightingale, a driver of 30 years' service, headed the parade seated in a wagon of 1890 vintage, and hauled by "Babe," a horse that has been in constant service with the Company for 19 years. Similar parades were held at Toronto, Winnipeg and Vancouver.

Here and There

The financial statement of the Canadian Pacific Railway issued at Montreal for the seven months of 1926 ending July 31st, shows the large increase in the net profits of $6,691,301.52 over the net profits for the first seven months of 1925. The gross earnings were $101,826,207.11, as compared with $90,343,867.75 for the first seven months of 1925.

Unofficial estimates prepared by the authorities of the Department of Commerce, Washington, estimated that Americans visiting Canada this year would spend approximately $190,000,000. This estimate was intimated to be very conservative and that it was more than likely that the amount would exceed the $200,000,000 mark.

Announcement was made recently over the signature of E. N. Todd, freight traffic manager, Canadian Pacific Railway, of the appointment of D. A. Wanklyn as Industrial Commissioner of the Railway, with offices in Montreal. Mr. Wanklyn replaces Graham W. Curtis, who has resigned, to fill the position of general manager for Montreal Rail and Water Terminals, Limited.

Otto H. Kahn, chairman of the board of directors of the Metropolitan Opera Company, accompanied by a party of internationally known financiers of New York, visited the National Exhibition at Toronto recently. Mr. Kuhn, who is perhaps the leading art and music patron of the United States, addressed a luncheon of the directors of the Exhibition on September 2nd, the day of the Exhibition, which was set aside as "Music Day."

It is understood that purchases in Canada of 5,000 railway cars may result from the visit of the engineering expert, Mr. Vandergulcht, and the Transport Commissariat's representative, Mr. Baronsky, who have been delegated by the Soviet Republic to investigate the possibility of securing this number in Canada. They have also been instructed to make a study of the organization of the Canadian railway shops and the repair methods in general.

Three wolf cubs were caught recently near Lake Doucelle in Northern Ontario by Arthur Beauvais, well-known driver of the Chateau Frontenac dog team at Quebec, and will be trained by Beauvais for the harness. He is confident that by mingling the wolves with huskie puppies for several months they will lose some of their wolfish nature and make an attractive addition to the Chateau team. Beauvais states that, while wolves have endurance, they have not the "heart" of a huskie dog.

Two world's swimming records were established at the Crystal Gardens swimming pool at Victoria recently, when Ethel McGarry, of New York, swam 880 yards in 12 minutes and 41 seconds, or nine seconds better than the previous woman's record for this event; and when Agnes Gerahty, also of New York, clipped five and two-fifths seconds off the previous record for 200 yards, by completing the distance in three minutes and 12 and three-fifths seconds.

SYNOPSIS OF LAND ACT AMENDMENTS

PRE EMPTIONS

Vacant unreserved, surveyed Crown lands may be pre-empted by British subjects over 18 years of age, and by aliens on declaring intention to become British subjects, conditional upon residence, occupation, and improvement for agricultural purposes.

Full information concerning regulations regarding pre-emptions is given in Bulletin No. 1, Land Series, "How to Pre-empt Land," copies of which can be obtained free of charge by addressing the Department of Lands, Victoria, B.C., or to any Government Agent.

Records will be granted covering only land suitable for agricultural purposes, and which is not timberland, i.e., carrying over 8,000 board feet per acre west of the Coast Range and 5,000 feet per acre east of that Range.

Applications for pre-emptions are to be addressed to the Land Commissioner of the Land Recording Division, in which the land applied for is situated, and are made on printed forms, copies of which can be obtained from the Land Commissioner.

Pre-emptions must be occupied for five years and improvements made to the value of $10 per acre, including clearing and cultivating at least five acres, before a Crown Grant can be received.

For more detailed information see the Bulletin "How to Pre-empt Land."

PURCHASE

Applications are received for purchase of vacant and unreserved Crown Lands, not being timberland, for agricultural purposes; minimum price for first-class (arable) land is $5 per acre, and second-class (grazing) land $2.50 per acre. Further information regarding purchase or lease of Crown Lands is given in Bulletin No. 10, Land Series, "Purchase and Lease of Crown Lands."

Mill, factory, or industrial sites on timber land, not exceeding 40 acres, may be purchased or leased, the conditions including payment of stumpage.

HOMESITE LEASES

Unsurveyed areas not exceeding 20 acres, may be leased as homesites, conditional upon a dwelling being erected in the first year, title being obtainable after residence and improvement conditions are fulfilled and land has been surveyed.

LEASES

For grazing and industrial purposes areas not exceeding 640 acres may be leased by one person or a company.

GRAZING

Under the Grazing Act the Province is divided into grazing districts and the range administered under a Grazing Commissioner. Annual grazing permits are issued based on numbers ranged, priority given to established owners. Stock-owners may form associations for range management. Free, or partly free, permits are available for settlers, campers and travellers, up to ten head.
