The north road was plowed out the first of the week and the Grand Forks hockey team came over that way on Tuesday night.

D. C. McKee left this morning for Vancouver where he will attend the wedding of his sister, Josephine, which takes place on Feb. 1st.

Wm. Jones of Rock Creek, was in town Wednesday. He injured his chest the previous day which will prevent his working for a short time.

The local hockey boys won in Grand Forks on Friday last by a score of 7-2. The combination play of the Greenwoodites was very effective, Morrison getting 5 goals, Carlson 1 and Crowley 1.

As we go to press we are informed of the sad news of the death of Mrs. Charles Kinney, a former well-known resident of Greenwood. Burial took place in Hollywood, California, today.

Spectators at the local rink were treated to a hockey game and broomball match on Saturday evening. The hockey match was between two local teams and a very interesting two periods were played. Goaltender Bryan's side won by a large margin. The broomball that followed was very amusing. The young ladies had brooms and the gents held a reversed hockey stick in their left hand, not being able to use their right. A basketball was used as a puck. The girls were very adapt with their brooms and scored twice to their opponents one. An inovation was introduced during the latter part of the game when the gents went on the ice minus a skate. This made the play funnier than ever. The ladies were pleased with their well earned victory. Dr. Francis handled the bell in both encounters and was kept very busy, more especially in the latter, when the stickhandlers had to be continually penalized.

Bags 9 Cougars On Main River

Haskell and Carey, the famous "squirrel hunters" of Main Kettle River, have returned to Rock Creek after a two weeks hunt having "bagged" 9 large cougars, 2 coyotes, 2 mink, 1 marten, 1 skunk, and several "flying squirrels." This is the largest slaughter of wild cats at one time on the Main River and possibly in the province.

Mr. Haskell was in town on Thursday last and collected $360 bounty.

Successful Bonspiel

The Bonspiel held on Monday and Tuesday was a great success in every way. The Osoyoos players arrived by car and the Beaverdell men by train on Monday afternoon and a start was made on the first competition. The Grand Forks rink came in on Tuesday morning and entered in the 2nd and 3rd competitions. Monday afternoon and evening and until late Tuesday evening the curling rink was a busy place. The ice was very keen but tricky which made the games more interesting. The knights of the stanes and besom played their best and there was very keen competition, the Walters rink having to go an extra end on two occasions to decide the winners.

The club provided delicious refreshments and the ladies kept the table looking appetizing most of the time.

At the close of the bonspiel players and friends gathered in the club room and speeches were made by G. S. Walters, Monty Montgomery and E. C. Henniger. J. H. Goodeve was called upon to present the winners of the Points competition held two weeks previous. Doc. made a very witty speech and handed over the first prize to D. Burpee and the second prize to D. Barnes. Monty Montgomery then favored those present with a Robert Burns song after which he brought forth much applause by his catchy song "Monty Montgomery's Band." This brought the spiel to a close and all will look forward to the next.

The winners of the competitions were fairly well divided, Walmsley (Greenwood) winning the first competitio; Burpee (Osoyoos) the second and Massie (Grand Forks) the third.

The visiting rinks were:

Osoyoos—D. Burpee, skip, M. H. G. Montgomery, B. Powell and B. Plaskett.

Grand Forks—G. Massie, skip, E. C. Henniger, D. C. Manly and C. Wolfram.

Beaverdell—F. Fraser, skip, Dr. A. Francis, G. Boag and G. Hambly.

The local rinks were skipped by Messrs. Gulley, Walters, Goodeve and Walmsley.

1st Competition

First round, Burpee, Osoyoos, beat Fraser, Beaverdell, Walters beat Goodeve; semi-final, Walmsley beat Burpee, Gulley beat Walters; final, Walmsley (Peterson skip) beat Gulley.

Third Win For Greenwood Team

Greenwood cinched the Boundary Intermediate hockey championship by the 10-4 win over Grand Forks at the local rink on Tuesday night before a fair sized crowd, including the curlers who stopped their bonspiel to take in the game. The final game of this series will be played in Grand Forks on Friday night and the Boundary cup games will be played next week.

The locals started fast and inside of one minute Morrison scored when he came close to the Grand Forks goal from the face-off. A few minutes later the visitors evened the score when in a close-in scrimmage the disc was pushed into the net. Morrison added two more eight and twelve minutes afterwards, followed by Eric Atwood getting Grand Forks' second goal. Both goaltenders were kept busy in this period and some good saves were made.

Both teams started the second period faster than ever, both goalies stopping some fast shots. The local forward line was working perfectly and it was not long before Puddy registered the home boys 4th goal on a pass from Morrison. Puddy got another two minutes later followed by another counter by Morrison. Played slackened up and the visitors tried hard to score by individual rushes. Morrison got the locals 7th goal on a pretty pass from Puddy. Before this period ended Biddlecome and E. Atwood scored for the visitors and Hallett for Greenwood. Walmsley and Johnson got into the game in this period and they proved to be good subs.

Two more goals were scored by Morrison in the third period, while the visitors were unable to put one pass Bryan.

The game was very clean throughout, although Taylor received an injured shoulder, in a fair check, when he struck the ice after falling over E. Atwood, which may keep him out of the next game.

Dr. A. Francis refereed the game to the entire satisfaction of both teams.

The Forks players were served refreshments, by the ladies, on their arrival and both teams after the game.

Line up:

Greenwood—Goal, Bryan; defence, Carlson and Taylor; center, Morrison; wings, Crowley and Puddy; subs, Hallett, Walmsley, Anderson and Johnson.

Nordman-Olson Nuptials

A very quiet but pretty wedding took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. G. S. Walters on Wednesday evening, Jan. 19th, when Elsa, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Olson, of Sweden, became the bride of Mr. Charles Edward Nordman, of Beaverdell. The bride, gowned in black velvet, with white and silver bodice, entered the room on the arm of Mr. Walters, who gave her in marriage. The large room was a profusion of lovely flowers and made an attractive setting for the wedding. The bride's flowers were ophelia roses and lily of the valley. Rev. A. Walker officiated and Mr. and Mrs. Ted Clarke, of Beaverdell, acted as witnesses.

The charming bride had been brought up here from a little girl by her aunt, Mrs. Martin Anderson, passed through the schools of Greenwood and afterwards became a teacher in one of our schools, latterly teaching school in Trail. The groom comes from Beaverdell where he is interested in the Sally mine.

After the ceremony Mr. Walters toasted the bride, expressing the best wishes of all present for her future happiness.

The happy young couple left on the Thursday morning train for Beaverdell where they will make their home at the Sally mine. The Greenwood Ledge extends felicitations.

An Inspiration To Canadian Youth

All America is ringing with praise of George Young, the 17 year old Toronto boy who won the great swimming marathon between Catalina Island and the mainland of California, successfully negotiating this stretch of icy water in a contest wherein one hundred others failed, including some of the world's most renowned swimmers. It was a wonderful achievement, and, following the performance of John Miles, of Sydney, Nova Scotia, who set a new world's record last year in winning the Boston Amateur Athletic marathon in his first race over the 26 mile course, and the enthusiasm which Canadian hockey players are arousing in the big American cities, is having the effect of further directing attention to Canada as a land which produces the finest types of sturdy young manhood.

Through his great feat, George Young not only wins a substantial financial reward, but he leaps into athletic fame. He will be honored, cheered and feted, and his name will long be remembered in the annals of great feats of courage, strength and endurance.

But it is not because of his victory alone that Canadians should be proud of George Young and find delight in doing him honor. Rather our deeper national pride should rest upon the qualities of mind and heart and character which this youth displayed in approaching the hard trial to which he set himself, and the noble impulse which dictated his action.

A poor boy, with no relatives but a widowed, crippled mother to whom he was devotedly attached, George Young voluntarily sacrificed his amateur standing as a swimmer and staked his all on this one effort. He did so not because of a personal desire for fame or money, but in an all consuming desire to be able to take his crippled mother to California and provide her with the means whereby she might regain her health.

The boy's strength of character, his grim determination, and his willingness to sacrifice were clearly shown when, lacking the necessary railway fare from Toronto to California, he started to make the journey on a patched up motor cycle and doggedly pushed his way as far as Arizona. A boy of less character and perseverance would have "passed the hat" in order to reach the goal of his desire. Had George Young not achieved fame as he has done, it is safe to say that, in any event, he would have made a success of his life and in whatever sphere he might choose.

Premier Mackenzie King rightly expressed the sentiments of the people of Canada when, in extending congratulations on behalf of the Government and people of the Dominion, he said that this country shared with equal pride George Young's success and his beautiful tribute to his mother and all that disclosed the secret of his splendid achievement.

Such an achievement in the face of obstacles to be overcome that might well daunt the stoutest heart is an inspiration to the youth of Canada. Thousands of Canadian boys who can never hope to be great athletic champions and whose names will never be found on the lips of millions of their countrymen, but who in meeting the problems and difficulties of everyday life, and in shouldering the responsibilities that may be forced upon them, do so with the same force of character, the same determination, the same willingness to sacrifice self for the good of others, are equally heroic, and of them Canada will be equally proud.

George Young has builded better than he knew. His mother has borne testimony to the cleanness of his young life, and George has in spectacular fashion shown all Canadian boys that a clean life, free from bad habits and dissipation, pays. He has brought forcibly home to all the truth of the old adage that where there's a will there's a way. In bringing fame to Canada, he has likewise brought something of far greater and more lasting value, an object lesson which will mightily appeal to the imagination and love for the heroic in every normal Canadian boy.

This is a real national asset, because it is only through the cultivation and development of those same traits which made George Young a winner that the boyhood of Canada, or of any country, can realize full success in their endeavors no matter what direction they may take, or how humble they may be. It requires exactly the same qualities to make a real success in anything in life as were required to successfully swim Catalina channel.

Astronomers Long Lived

Clergymen live long in Britain, but astronomers are giving them a lively race for the laurels. Recent statistics placed the average age of astronomers royal at 75½ years. The life span of every royal astronomer from John Flamsteed, the first astronomer royal, to Sir William Christie, who died in 1910, was included in the figures. Open air life was given as one reason for their longevity.

Hardiness of Weed Seed

Seeds Lying Dormant for Forty Years Will Germinate

The seed of some of the troublesome varieties of weeds show a great tenacity of life. They will resurrect long after they are supposed to have been killed if not thoroughly and skilfully disposed of. The Michigan Agricultural College is engaged, as recorded in Bulletin No. 72 of the Dominion Department of Agriculture on Crop Rotation in an experiment to ascertain definitely how many years the common weed seeds will lie dormant in the soil and then resume growth where suitable conditions come about. Weed seeds are mixed with sand and placed in uncorked pint bottles that are buried twenty inches below the surface and one taken up every five years. The experiment which can be continued for 100 years has already been conducted forty years. After being this length of time in the soil it has been found that black mustard, pepper grass, pig weed, ragweed, wild primrose, common plantain, purslane and curled dock will still germinate. Some of these weeds removed in the earlier years failed to germinate but did so in later years. Ragweed failed to germinate in every trial until after it had been forty years in the soil. As the authors of the bulletin referred to (Messrs E. S. Hopkins and W. C. Hopper of the Field Husbandry Division of the Dominion Experimental Farms) suggest it is apparent that there can be no let up in the war against weeds, especially if the land has once become infected and that prevention of their getting a start is preeminently the most important method of weed control. Neglect for one year may result in a plague of weeds for a life-time and longer.

Alberta Livestock Board

Officers Are Elected at Annual Meeting Held in Edmonton

At the annual meeting of the Alberta Livestock board at Edmonton, J. Charles Yule, of Carstairs, was elected president; J. P. Sackville, Edmonton, vice-president. In addition to the president of each of the livestock associations from northern and southern Alberta, the following men were elected to the board: W. J. Stark, Edmonton; E. L. Richardson, Calgary; J. P. Sackville, Edmonton; J. L. Walters, Clive; A. E. Cross and G. H. Hutton, Calgary; J. G. Clark, of Irma.

Steps will be taken to set aside further assistance from the provincial government toward the exhibit going east to the Royal shows next year. It is proposed to send an exhibit of all kinds of stock from Alberta to Toronto next year. To facilitate the shipping of a sheep exhibit the minister of agriculture will be asked to pay a competent man to accompany them.

There was considerable discussion regarding the appointment of judges for fairs and some recommendations will go forward to the Dominion government which it is hoped will overcome the present unsatisfactory conditions.

Robbers Take Heavy Toll

A Billion and a Half is Stolen Each Year in United States, According to Estimates

Merchandise, valued at $1,490,000,000 is taken out of legitimate channels in the United States each year by fraud, theft and robbery and sent back into the market through a system of "fence" to undersell honest dealers.

How the "fence," or receiver of stolen property operates to supply the liason between swindlers, burglars and highwaymen is told in a voluminous report issued by the prison committee of the association of Grand Jurors of New York county.

In arriving at the huge total of losses the report gives the following tabulation: Merchandise frauds, $500,000,000; credit frauds, $265,000,000; robbery theft and holdups $100,000,000; burglary, $525,000,000.

The report also points out the weaknesses in existing laws which make the illicit dealer almost immune from prosecution.

Awful Asthma Attacks. Is there a member of your family who is in the power of this distressing trouble? No service you can render him will equal the bringing to his attention of Dr. J. D. Kellogg's Asthma Remedy. This remarkable remedy rests its reputation upon what it has done for others. It has a truly wonderful record, covering years and years of success in almost every part of this continent, and even beyond the seas.

Portrait of Lenine Appears on Stamps

Proceeds of Restricted Issue to be Used for Charity

For the first time since his death the visage of Nicolai Lenine has appeared on an issue of stamps. It represents him as a child of nine, long before Communism was dreamed of in Russia and appears on a restricted issue of twenty kopek stamps, the proceeds to be devoted to relief of the nation's 500,000 vagrant children. Heretofore the authorities have forbidden use of Lenine's likeness on stamps, cigarette boxes or advertising matter. The rule was relaxed in this instance to help the children.

FATEFUL YEARS FOR ALL WOMEN

Much Suffering Can be Avoided Through the Use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills

The most fateful years in a woman's life are those between forty-five and fifty. Many women enter this term under depressing conditions; through overwork, worry, or a watery condition of the blood, and they suffer heavily.

Among the commonest symptoms are headaches, palpitations, dizziness, backaches, depression and other well recognized disturbances of the health which show that the blood requires attention. Women stand in need of rich red blood all their lives, but never more so than at middle age, when the nerves are also weak and overwrought. In this condition there is no other medicine can do so much for women as Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, for these pills make rich, red blood, which gives tone to the whole body, thus restoring robust health. Thousands of Canadian women have proved the value of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills in cases of this kind. Among them is Mrs. J. H. Johnston, Lion's Head, Ont., who says: "I am writing to let you know the wonderful good your pills have done me. I was a complete wreck, and would faint if I crossed the room. I was going through the change of life, and was so weak I could not do my work. I went to Toronto, when my folks said nothing but an operation would help me. But I said: "No, Dr. Williams' Pink Pills helped me in girlhood, and I am going to give them a trial." I took the pills steadily for a month, when I returned home a well woman, able o do all my work with ease. Friends here say it's a wonder I am alive after what I went through, and I am thankful to say I believe Dr. Williams' Pink Pills saved my life."

Try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for anaemia, rheumatism, neuralgia, nervousness. Take them as a tonic if you are not in the best physical condition and cultivate a resistance that will keep you well and strong. Vegetarians Are Not Immune From Cancer

Cases Occur Among People Who Abstain From Flesh Foods

Inquiries have been conducted among monastic communities in England by doctors connected with the health ministry and from the information thus obtained it has been conclusively proven, says Sir George Newman, chief medical officer to the ministry, that cases of cancer occur among people abstaining from flesh foods.

There is therefore no foundation for the contention that vegetarians are immune to cancer, he adds.

The investigations were made among the Carthusians, a French order; Benedictines, Italian; Carmelites, first founded in Syria, and Dominicans, Spanish, all of whom adhere to a strict diet system, most of them excluding meat.

British Subjects Should Use Canadian Ports

Delay When Landing at New York Would be Avoided

Canadians are reporting themselves, or are being reported, as the victims of delay and discomfort in the experience of landing from ocean liners in New York Harbor. Delay, discomfort and inconvenience may increase and multiply until Canadians learn to land at St. John and Halifax in winter time, as Canadians learn to sail from Montreal and Quebec in summer time. United States Jacks-in-office operating at the Port of New York may yet teach British subjects that landing at the winter ports of their own country is easier to bear than the delays and discomforts prepared for British subjects at the Port of New York.

Plans for Diamond Jubilee

Outstanding events in the history of Canada will be faithfully depicted in pageantry of the most colorful and gorgeous sort, according to plans which are being quietly worked out for the Diamond Jubilee celebration of the Dominion which will be observed July 1, and participated in by H.R.H. the Prince of Wales and Rt. Hon. Stanley Baldwin, Prime Minister of Great Britain, says The Ottawa Journal.

Believe Animals Have Souls

Decision Reached by French Academy After Hearing Joffre's Story

Animals have souls, if the memory of passing events can be interpreted as proving the possession of a soul. This conclusion was reached by the French Academy at a session which was attended by thirteen of the "Forty Immortals."

Marshals Joffre and Foch, both of whom are members of the Academy, participated in the discussion. The allied leaders in the war which separated so many human souls from their bodies were divided in their opinion in some respects, but accepted the principle that animals have souls.

It all came about in this way. The Academy, which is undertaking a revision of the French dictionary, took up the word "memoire," meaning memory. After several minutes had passed in deep thought Louis Barthou, Minister of Justice, spoke up.

"Human beings alone keep the memory of passing events," he is quoted as saying, "thus the word 'memoire' applies to the human race alone."

Then the deep voice of Marshal Joffre boomed out: "I had a dog called Bobby during the early days of the war. He was almost human. He died in the swamps of La Pompelle in 1917 of influenza. He always knew several hours in advance when I gave the order to attack. Is that memory or intelligence? Is that soul or instinct."

None of the thirteen immortals answered.

Marshal Foch spoke in a lighter vein than Joffre, who was deeply in earnest.

"Just before the battle at Soissons and Chateau-Thierry, in July, 1918," said Foch, "one of my captains insisted upon keeping a parrot in the vicinity of headquarters.

"'We sure are going to give them allelulia,' that bird kept repeating. I asked my aid to muzzle his eloquent but indiscreet pet. But just as my order was given, at 5 o'clock in the morning, that bird exulted, 'There we go.' Perhaps he had a soul, but I am inclined to think he was just a mean, clever bird."

Henri Robert, noted criminal lawyer, who has saved many necks from the guillotine, remarked: "I have met many soulless men, but never have appeared on behalf of soulless animals; thus I must abstain from taking sides in the controversy."

Robert Regnier, permanent secretary of the academy, then called for a vote on the question, "Do animals have memory and, incidentally, souls?" The thirteen immortals, voting 8 to 5, decided affirmatively.

Allenby Is National Figure In Palestine

Anniversary of His Entry Into Jerusalem is Kept as Holiday

The ninth of December, the anniversary of the entrance into Jerusalem of the victorious troops of Field Marshal Lord Allenby in 1917, has become a national holiday, not only in the capital city, but throughout Palestine.

All Government offices, banks and public institutions were closed and wreaths were laid on the graves in the Military Cemetery on Mount Scopus. The celebrations were marred by heavy rains throughout the country.

A reception was held at Government House by Lord and Lady Plumer, at which the High Commissioner delivered a speech. The honors and decorations granted by the King last June were bestowed upon the recipients.

A telegram of congratulaion was dispatched to Lord Allenby, to which the conqueror of Jerusalem replied.

Several reports have been seen in the press recently to the effect that Lord Plumer will resign next July after two years as High Commissioner for Palestine. As no denial has been published by the Government, it is believed quite certain that there will be another High Commissioner next year.

In reliable sources it is said that Lord Allenby is being considered as Lord Plumer's successor. Rumor has it that the office will become one of much greater importance, and that Lord Allenby, if appoined will be not only High Commissioner of Palestine but also Commander-in-Chief of the British forces and administrative representative in the whole of the Middle East.

Largest Dinosaur Ever Found

Mammoth Specimen Being Reconstructed by Experts in London

What is expected to prove the largest dinosaur ever discovered is being assembled in the Natural History Museum London. The various remains of a mammoth specimen of this terror of the prehistoric world, found in the Tanganyika territory in Africa by the Cutler expedition, now there, were forwarded to the Museum and are being reconstructed by experts.

The plaster reproduction of the quadruped dinosaur from the upper jurassic stratum of Wyoming now on exhibition in the museum is 84 feet 9 inches long and stands 12 feet 9½ inches high at the shoulders, but the African specimen promises to be larger.

"These finds will probably give us the largest specimen in the world, for there is every indication of a real giant," said a Museum official.

It is expected it will prove more than 90 feet long and 20 feet high at the hind legs.

Why Men Are Afraid

Feeling Sense of Separation is Given as Cause

Man, the image and likeness of God, should be fearless. Fear comes to man because of his sense of separation. A child makes slow progress in school when he fears his teachers or his studies. Workers are inefficient when they fear their employers. Athletes are unable to put forth their best efforts if they have formed a fear of defeat. Business men succumb to discouragement and failure because they fear competition or adverse conditions. People contract diseases because of fear.

When unity is established between an individual and all other created things, fear no longer exists in that individual.

Ancients Did Not Use Tomatoes

The tomato is the only new salad ingredient added by modern times. The Egyptians used onions and garlic. Confucius liked cucumbers, the Persians used lettuce and radishes with a sour wine dressing, and the ancient Chinese mixed with their salad mustard, watercress, nasturtium leaves and hard-boiled eggs.

At the age of 2 years if a child doesn't know whether it pays to cry or not, it will never set the world on fire.

Edison Gets Regular Amount of Sleep

Makes Up During Day What He Loses at Night

Lotus-laden hearsay is putting to slumber the legend that Thomas A. Edison sleeps very little. In spite of the loyal witness of his secretary that the tales of the incandescent vigils of the sage are not exaggerated, rumor has it that he nods copiously. The popularly cherished fancy is poohpoohed by an expert in dormancy of the Melton Institute of Industrial Research. Dr. H. M. Johnson, who, having sounded the intimates of Mr. Edison, announces that the wizard sleeps eight hours a night or more, or, if he loses a night's rest, makes up for it by dozing the next day. Dr. Johnson affirms that Harvey Firestone always gets a good laugh out of the wide-awake tradition. Friendship licenses many levities.

The wakefulness of Mr. Edison has been as disturbing as marvellous to normal persons who require a goodly ration of sleep; the more disconcerting since sleepless tests have become fashionable in university clinics, with the threat of ultimate reducton of sleeping hours for the multitude, although it is not clear how their sloth could be constitutionally amended. The Edison example has made us all shame-faced. If we are not so hopelessly torpid in comparison with the tireless inventor, that is good news.

Several years ago the camera caught Mr. Edison comfortably pillowed in a Maryland forest nook, to all appearances snoozing. That snapshot dented the legend. In Plymouth, Vt., on a telltale evening, he alone of the lively company was somniculous. On the weight of the evidence we must say good night to a favorite myth and put out the candle.

According To Tradition

Reason IIII. is Used on Clock Dials Instead of IV.

Clock dials employing Roman numerals use IIII. instead of IV. Just why, is somewhat of a mystery, but several theories have been advanced to account for the practice. Clock makers have a tradition that they say accounts for the practice.

It is said that about 1370 a clock maker named Henry de Vick made a clock for Charles V. of France, who was popularly known as Charles the Wise. Although the king was reputed to have great wisdom, he often pretended to know things that he did not understand. When Vick submitted the clock for his approval, Charles examined it and complained that there was an error on the dial.

"The IV.," he said, "should be IIII."

"Your Majesty is wrong," replied Vick.

"I am never wrong," thundered back Charles. So the clock maker changed the IV. to IIII., and ever since it has been the pretice of clock makers.

A League of English Speaking Nations

One Factor That Can Ensure the Peace of the World

Speakers at the annual dinner of the Canadian Society of New York held recently, emphasized the importance of friendship and understanding between the United States and the nations of the British Empire to assure the peace of the world.

Mr. Justice W. R. Riddell, of the Ontario Court of Appeals, said that while he was president of the League of Nations Society of Toronto at the time the United States decided not to join the League, he was not particulary concerned because he realized there was a far more important league—the league of English-speaking peoples.

"As long as this league exists and the English-speaking countries act in harmony the peace of the world and civilization is secure," Mr. Justice Riddell said, "Let them part, and woe unutterable will follow."

BAD COLD? TAKE "CASCARETS" FOR BOWELS TONIGHT

No headache, constipation, bad cold or sour stomach by morning

Get a 10-cent box.

Sick headache, biliousness, coated tongue, head and nose clogged up with a cold—always trace this to torpid liver; delayed, fermenting food in the bowels or sour, gassy stomach.

Poisonous matter clogged in the intestines, instead of being cast out of the system is re-absorbed into the blood. When this poison reaches the delicate brain tissue it causes congestion and that dull, throbbing, sickening headache.

Cascarets immediately cleanse the stomach, remove the sour, undigested food and foul gases, take the excess bile from the liver and carry out all the constipated waste matter and poisons in the bowels.

A Cascaret tonight will surely straighten you out by morning. They work while you sleep—a 10-cent box from your druggist means your head clear, stomach sweet and your liver and bowels regular for months.

Prince No Longer Nervous

Rarely, If Eevr, Self-Conscious Says Major Verney

Major Verney, in his recent book on the Prince of Wales, reveals that the prince is no longer troubled with nervousness. He writes: "For some considerable time he has been absolutely master of himself in all circumstances, and is rarely, if ever, self-conscious. He had certain mannerisms, such as fingering his tie, stroking his hair, moving his position, or toying with speech notes, which convey to the onlooker an impression of nervousness." Major Verney then tells the story of a full-dress show where the chief event was the presentation of an order to a senior administration official. A staff officer responsible for its safe-keeping suddenly discovered he had mislaid the decoration. "Completely demoralized, he stammered to the prince, 'I had it in my pocket, sir—in a small box. The box is there all right, but God knows where the decoration is.' "The personal staff were appalled by this contretemps. "'Give him the box,' said H. R. H. coolly; 'that'll do to go on with.' And the function was completed without a hitch.'"

Anniversary of Watt's Birth

Father of Steam-Engine was born 191 Years Ago January 19

January 19, was the one hundred and ninety-first anniversary of the birth of a man whose contribution to mechanics proved to be an epoch making event in the industrial life, not only of his own country, but of the whole civilized world. This man was James Watt, who, in a certain sense was the father of the steam-engine. In a crude and not very useful form, the steam-engine existed before Watt turned his attention to it, but it was he engine that he evolved that made possible the use of steam as a great motive power.

James Watt, born at Greenock, near Glasgow, Scotland, on January 19, 1736, became, when a young man, mathematical instrument maker to Glasgow University. He also acted as civil engineer, making surveys for several important harbors and for deepening the Forth and Clyde Canal, and for the Caledonia Canal.

Watt was often consulted about supposed inventions and discoveries, and his invariable rule was to recommend that a model should be formed and tried. This he considered as the only true test of the value of any novelty in mechanics. He died in 1819.

CURLING ONE OF CANADA'S LEADING WINTER SPORTS

Curling, which is akin to the summer game of golf in its appeal and its physical demands, is rapidly becoming one of Canada's most popular winter pastimes. The ideal conditions which prevail during the winter season have gained for the Dominion the name of "The Curlers Paradise". Nearly every province has its branch of the Royal Caledonian Curling Club of Scotland, the parent body of the sport and every sphere of social life in Canada is represented among its devotees.

Apart from the intense interest, aroused by the game itself, curling wields other and more potent influences. Wherever curlers meet there is formed a brotherhood of good fellowship in which men from all walks of life fraternize and in which the honors go to him who makes the best shot. The best curler is the man who "plays the game" and the qualities so developed are reflected in the success of the individual in the social and business life of the country.

Just when the first curling match took place in Canada is uncertain. It is claimed that the Highlanders who served under Wolfe played the game at Quebec and there is little doubt that curling was played in other parts of Canada before the formation of the Royal Montreal Club in 1807. Although Quebec city claims the distinction of the first match, its senior slub was not formed until 1821, while the first club in Halifax is just over a century old having been founded in 1825. About the middle of the last century the clubs in what is now known as Quebec and the eastern part of Ontario were organized into a branch of the Royal Caledonian Club, and this branch has now grown until it now comprises 64 clubs (of which 18 are ladies clubs) and a total membership of about 4,000. With the founding of clubs in other parts of the Dominion, provincial branches of the Royal Caledonian Curling Club were organized. In round numbers there are 20 Clubs in Nova Scotia, 15 in New Brunswick, and 115 in central and western Ontario. Of those in the Ontario branch at least six are ladies clubs

The popularity gained by curling in the Prairie Provinces of Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta is remarkable. The sport in the Canadian west dates from about 1876 when a few games were played on the Red River in Winnipeg. Almost immediately a club was started and the first club matches were played in a tent on the present site of the Grain Exchange Building. Soon afterwards a permanent rink building was erected. In 1888 the Manitoba Curling Association, which is affiliated with the Royal Caledonian Curling Club of Scotland, was formed by six curling clubs two from Winnipeg and four from other points in the province. In 1900 there were 87 curling clubs in the western provinces and in 1926 Manitoba alone had 146 clubs with a membership of over 5,056. The organized clubs in the West affiliated with the Manitoba Curling Association are at present as follows.

Manitoba Association, 146 clubs, 5,056 members; Saskatchewan Association, clubs 74, members 2,934. Alberta Association, clubs 19, members 900.

In the interior of British Columbia curling is played and the game is gaining in popularity. There are the British Columbia and Kootenay branch of the Royal Caledonian club while between twenty and thirty clubs in the province are affiliated with the Crowsnest branch.

Curling is one of the leading sport activities in the Canadian National Parks. The great scenic areas of the Canadian Rockies have gained an important place among the summer resorts of the North American continent and their fame as winter playgrounds is rapidly spreading. At Banff, in Rocky Mountains national park, Alberta, the annual winter carnival attracts many devotees of outdoor pastimes.

French-Canadian Chanson Has New Lease of Life

1. Charles Marchand, well known French-Canadian folk, song singer in typical pose.
2. Chansons have kept the spirits of log-jam breakers high at many a difficult task.
3. Singing and paddling went well together.

Perhaps the only part of the North American continent that possesses an authentic collection of folk-lore songs is the province of Quebec. Four hundred years ago when the first French explorers and settlers came to the shores of the St. Lawrence many of these songs were on their lips and in their hearts and they have never died out. It is to the honor of the French-Canadian race that they have never been allowed to fade from the remembrance of the people, nor has the flood of ephemeral and rubbishy popular songs of the day overwhelmed them. Originally sung at the court of the French monarchs, they were passed on from father to son, and were brought with the early settlers from France to Canada. And as the years have passed the old ballads have been supplemented by new ones created by the lumbermen and habitants; for music is a living art in French Canada.

Only within recent years have we begun to realize how rich is the treasury of lovely melodies associated with the folk songs of Canada. Thanks to men like Charles Marchand, interpreter of the French-Canadian "chanson", these folk songs have taken on new life, and before long they will be available for the English speaking population of Canada, owing to the efforts of John Murray Gibbon, whose translations will be published in book form early in the year.

With the idea of popularizing the English versions and thereby bringing about a closer understanding between the French and English elements of Canada, Mr. Marchand is at present making transcontinental concert tour under the auspices of the National Council of Education.

SYNOPSIS OF LAND ACT AMENDMENTS

PRE-EMPTIONS

Vacant unreserved, surveyed Crown lands may be pre-empted by British subjects over 18 years of age, and by aliens on declaring intention to become British subjects, conditional upon residence, occupation, and improvement for agricultural purposes.

Full information concerning regulations regarding pre-emptions is given in Bulletin No. 1, Land Series, "How to Pre-empt Land," copies of which can be obtained free of charge by addressing the Department of Lands, Victoria, B.C., or to any Government Agent.

Records will be granted covering only land suitable for agricultural purposes, and which is not timberland, i.e., carrying over 8,000 board feet per acre west of the Coast Range and 5,000 feet per acre east of that Range.

Applications for pre-emptions are to be addressed to the Land Commissioner of the Land Recording Division, in which the land applied for is situated, and are made on printed forms, copies of which can be obtained from the Land Commissioner.

Pre-emptions must be occupied for five years and improvements made to the value of $10 per acre, including clearing and cultivating at least five acres, before a Crown Grant can be received.

For more detailed information see the Bulletin "How to Pre-empt Land."

PURCHASE

Applications are received for purchase of vacant and unreserved Crown Lands, not being timberland, for agricultural purposes; minimum price for first-class (arable) land is $5 per acre, and second-class (grazing) land $2.50 per acre. Further information regarding purchase or lease of Crown Lands is given in Bulletin No. 10, Land Series, "Purchase and Lease of Crown Lands."

Mill, factory, or industrial sites on timber land, not exceeding 40 acres, may be purchased or leased, the conditions including payment of stumpage.

HOMESITE LEASES

Unsurveyed areas not exceeding 20 acres, may be leased as homesites, conditional upon a dwelling being erected in the first year, title being obtainable after residence and improvement conditions are fulfilled and land has been surveyed.

LEASES

For grazing and industrial purposes areas not exceeding 640 acres may be leased by one person or a company.

GRAZING

Under the Grazing Act the Province is divided into grazing districts and the range administered under a Grazing Commissioner. Annual grazing permits are issued based on numbers ranged, priority given to established owners. Stock-owners may form associations for range management. Free, or partly free, permits are available for settlers, campers and travellers, up to ten head.

Mineral locations are granted to discoverers for nominal fees.

Absolute Titles are obtained by developing such properties, the security of which is guaranteed by Crown Grants.

Full information together with Mining Reports and Maps, may be obtained gratis by addressing—

THE HON. THE MINISTER OF MINES, VICTORIA, British Columbia.

N.B. Practically all British Columbia Mineral Properties upon which development work has been done are described in some one of the Annual Reports of the Minister of Mines. Those considering mining investments should refer to such reports. They are available without charge on application to the Department of Mines, Victoria, B.C. Reports covering each of the six Mineral Survey Districts are published separately, and are available on application. Reports of the Geological Survey of Canada, Winch Building, Vancouver, are recommended as valuable sources of information.
