Work Has Commenced On Spotted Horse Mine

The Silver Charm Mining & Milling Company which recently took over the Spotted Horse mine on Jubilee Mountain, Greenwood, commenced operations on this property last week and the blasting at this mine is a welcome sound to the people of the town.

The Mining Truth, Spokane, prints the following story about this mine:

"The famous Spotted Horse mine at Greenwood, B.C., is now being operated by the newly incorporated Silver Charm Mining & Milling Company, with offices in the Alaska building, Seattle. The officers are H. Claude Myrick, president and manager; W. J. Rogers, vice-president and treasurer; and A. N. Wiegenstein, trustee. The personnel is the same as that in the Montana-Washington Mines Inc., operating a placer property on Hughes Creek in Ravalli County, Montana.

When Mr. Myrick was in the Mining Truth office about five weeks ago he said an important deal involving a British Columbia producer was under way. Since that time the Spotted Horse has been purchased from the Jubilee Mining Company, controlled by C. E. Bartholomew and associates. The price was $25,000.

Previously an attempt had been made to reope this mine by J. W. Williams, and the group who latter took over the Van Dorn (Mingo Chief) property in the Coeur d'Alenes and failed to complete the option. The Williams activities at present center around and attempt to reopen the Northport smelter.

Jubilee Mountain Mining Company was organized to operate the Spotted Horse, but the outfit failed to finance the purchase and the property reverted to the Jubilee Mining Company.

After completing the purchase from the Bartholomew group, Myrick organized the Silver Charm company with a capitalization of $99,999. It has been financed in Seattle.

"We intend to do considerable development work which will include the extension of the 84-foot tunnel already run in on the ledge, and conditions are such that I believe we will be able to ship to the Trail smelter within 30 days," Mr. Myrick reports.

He was more than gratified, however, by the discovery of gold ore of a value which the mine was not known to contain. Howard Dennis, of Spokane brought the gold ore from Greenwood. He exhibited a sample of ore containing a little ruby and lead and another piece bearing comparatively large particles of glistening gold, both taken from the same vein.

"The joke is on us," said Mr. Dennis. "Three weeks ago we sold the Spotted Horse, then the property of the Jubilee Mining company, for $25,000. The high grade was struck since the sale. The gold ore has not been assayed but it has a value of $5000 to the ton, by estimate. But we experience some satisfaction in having retained an interest in the Silver Charm.

"The vein containing this ore was opened on the side of a wall that is almost vertical and several hundred feet in height. The drift was started at a point 75 feet above the main line and siding of the C.P.R. and has been run 82 feet. It has attained a depth of 250 feet and can attain little more or less, owing to the topography. The ore has an average value of $84 to the ton in silver and lead. What the gold will raise remains to be seen. The gold-bearing part of the body is three feet wide. The vein is a true fissure."

Sentenced to Five Years In the Penitentiary

C. E. Carr appeared before His Honour Judge J. R. Brown at the Greenwood Court House on Saturday, Nov. 20th, charged with incest. He was found guilty and sentenced to 5 years with hard labor in the penitentiary. Con. W. B. Stewart escorted the prisoner to New Westminster on Wednesday morning.

Charles King is announcing an Auction Sale of Household Furniture in town on Dec. 4th.

Taxation In Canada

During the war Canada, like all countries, was forced to devise and impose new forms of taxation in order to raise the large sums of money required to enable the Dominion to worthily, efficiently and successfully discharge its national obligations. That titanic struggle lasted so long, and the expenditures incurred were so great, that a huge national debt resulted, and since the Armistice interest on that debt has had to be paid, while large expenditures for pensions and the care of disabled soldiers continue to be necessary. Canada, therefore, must raise a large revenue for Federal purposes.

But this is not all. The war caused inflation of prices in all commodities, and, of course, revenues which formerly were adequate for provincial and municipal purposes were too small, and on top of higher Dominion taxation there had to be imposed greater taxation by Provincial and municipal governments.

The effect of this taxation is greater in Canada than in the United States because this country entered the war at the beginning, whereas the United States only came into it near the close, and after years during which that country amassed great wealth in the work of supplying goods to the Allied countries which had turned their whole industrial fabric from works of peace production to the requirements of war.

Prior to the war Canada was a low taxed country, but war needs brought about the imposition of an Income Tax, a tax on bank cheques, drafts, notes, etc., a tax on receipts, taxes on matches and other commodities, an increased rate of postage, taxes on excess profits, taxes on business turnover as represented by sales, and sundry other taxes. The accumulation of all these taxes has, naturally and inevitably, had an adverse effect on investment in industry and for development purposes, and in the willingness of both foreign and domestic money lenders to invest in Canada. Further, the necessity of investing huge sums in Government loans during the war resulted in the withdrawal of hundreds of millions of dollars from other forms of investment, to the detriment of all business, industrial growth, and development of the natural resources of the country.

With its tremendous accummulation of wealth during the war, and the wonderful expansion in production and industrial activity since then as a direct result of that accummulation of wealth, the United States has been enabled to rapidly decrease its Income Tax and lower, or entirely abrogate most of its war taxes. This has created a great disparity in the burden of Federal taxes imposed on the people of these two countries, to the manifest disadvantage of Canada. On the other hand, Canada compares very favorably with the United States when Provincial State and Municipal taxation is compared.

There is, however, a growing demand throughout the Dominion that, if this country is not to seriously suffer in the long run, some action must be taken to lower the burden of Federal taxation so as to place the Dominion on terms of greater equality in this respect with our neighbor to the south. Just how this is to be accomplished, and at the same time provide the Federal Government with the revenue it must have, to meet our war obligations and current domestic needs, is the problem.

To the solution of this problem the Dominion Government is directing its attention, and, fortunately, the people as a whole, are taking a very keen and increasing interest in it. This interest is made manifest in the discussions which took place at the recent conventon of the Canadian Board of Trade, in the publications of the Citizens' Research Institute of Canada, in the Dominion-wide campaign recently inaugurated by the Retail Trade Bureau of Canada, and by the resolutions adopted by the Canadian Council of Agriculture representing the organized farmers.

While all these bodies are in agreement on some points, they are at variance in important respects as to policies which should be adopted. All strongly favor more economical administration, the elimination of partizanship and politics from the business of government, reduced expenditures, and a more careful survey of national conditions before embarking on future capital outlays, all of which will make for lower taxation. But they differ when it comes to the question of just what taxes should now be entirely eliminated. There are two sides to these questions, as there are to most issues of outstanding importance, and it will be of value to consider these in a subsequent article.

The present gratifying fact is that a step has been taken in the direction desired by all, namely, reduction of taxation. The present year has seen the excess war postage rates wiped out, the tax on receipts repealed, the tax on bank cheques for small amounts removed, and a substantial reduction made in the Income Tax, especially on smaller incomes. Furthermore, the Finance Minister has announced that further reductions will be shortly forthcoming, and press despatches have reported that he has ordered a survey by departmental officials of the operation of the Income Tax and Sales Tax, and their effect on business and the country's development in general, with a view to guiding the Government in the preparation of the next budget.

It was growing late when the hostess at the reception requested the eminent tenor to sing.

Modern Sea Mysteries

Sailors Encounter Many Tragedies Which Cannot be Explained

In spite of the advance of science along the lines of steam, electricity, wireless communication, ship construction and a hundred other things, mysteries of the ocean still continue.

Tragedies, grim and inexplicable still keep obtruding themselves, and the science of man seems impotent when pitted against the vast weight, might and uncertainty of the seas.

One of the latest mysteries is that surrounding a schooner, the "Mary Cornish." "Fate of her crew unknown."

She was picked up by an American steamer in the mid-Pacific, drifting before the trade wind with her sails loosely stowed. The schooner was in trim, and apparently had not encountered any dirty weather; on deck, and below, all was in order; and the trade-room and liquor cases had not been disturbed. In the deck house, where a swing-lamp was still burning, lay a copy of the Sydney Mail many months old, slightly charred and with blood stains on it; and there, too, a parrot, dead in its cage. None of her boats were missing. But not a living thing was to be found in her. The doom of her crew is another unsolved mystery of the sea.

NEGLECTED ANAEMIA

Often Leads to a Decline—Enrich the Blood by Taking Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.

In their early teens it is quite common for girls to outgrow their strength, and mothers should carefully watch the health of their daughters at this time, for it is when strength is sapped by rapid growth that anaemia develops. The first signs may be noticed by peevishness, languor and headaches. The face grows pale, breathlessness and palpitation follow, with low spirits.

At the first symptom of anaemia mothers should act at once. Neglected anaemia often leads to decline, but if you see that your daughter's blood is enriched there need be no cause for anxiety. The finest blood enricher ever discovered is Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. The pure, red blood created by these pills will quickly banish all signs of anaemia. They will build up your girl's health and ensure her a robust girlhood. Give your daughter a course of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills now. Make her strong like thousands of girls who have been rescued from the clutches of anaemia by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Here is a bit of proof. Miss Mary Venditti, Catamount, N.B., says:—"Three years ago while attending a convent, I studied very hard to graduate. The result was I became very nervous and got so thin and pale my teachers thought they would have to send me home. I took different kinds of medicine which my parents sent me, but my condition remained unchanged. At last one of my teachers gave me a box of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and I had hardly finished it when I could feel an improvement in my condition. I continued the use of the pills for some time longer, and I can hardly tell all the good they did me. I gained in strength and weight, and the color returned to my cheeks, and at the end of the term I graduated. I never fail to recommend Dr. Williams' Pink Pills to my friends and acquaintances when a tonic is needed."

You can get these pills from your druggist, or by mail at 50 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Electric Ocean Liners

Electric Propulsion is Coming According to Authority on Marine Matters

Ocean liners, propelled by powerful electric engines that will permit control as positive as that of automobiles, were predicted by W. T. Thau, noted authority on marine electric propulsion, in addressing the convention of the Society of Naval Architects and Marine Engineers in New York.

Electric propulsion, he said, will eliminate the necessity of engine room signals and place absolute control of the vessel on the ship's bridge, resulting in a reduction of operating expenses and increased safety.

Salvage Work Progressing

Sixty-three of German Vessels Raised at Scapa Flow

Salvage work on the scuttled German fleet at Scapa Flow progresses steadily. Messrs. Cox and Danks lifted the G40 recently bringing the number of destroyers raised to sixteen. Sixty-three vessels have been raised by them so far.

There are only three more destroyers of this type, weighing 750 tons, to be salved. The remaining seven destroyers weigh 1,300 tons.

cases ended in death! So a recent Canadian investigation showed. These were not cases of infectious diseases—of consumption—of typhoid! They were cases where a person had sustained some slight injury—a cut, a burn, a wire-prick—and where the wound, being thought not serious enough for careful treatment, had been neglected. Blood-poisoning and death resulted.

When you or your children sustain any injury, ensure against infection by applying Zam-Buk. This balm soothes the pain, stops bleeding, and by destroying all germs prevents blood-poisoning, etc. Hence no time need be lost from work or pleasure by those who use Zam-Buk. All dealers, 50c. box.

Spiritualism In Britain

Growth of Movement Sponsored by Sir Arthur Conan Doyle

An impressive belief in spiritualism was registered at the spiritualist's annual armistice service in Albert Hall, London, when eight thousand were present.

Sir Arthur Conan Doyle, leading the services, suddenly appealed to his hearers, shouting: "I ask all who are sure that they have been in touch with their dead to rise and testify."

More than 3,000 men and women of all types quietly rose and this brought from Sir Arthur this fervent statement:

"Thank God there are so many, I prophesy within five years that to such an appeal every man and woman will rise.

We are not testifying to faith but to fact."

The growth of the belief in spirit communication, so persistently expounded by Sir Oliver Lodge and Sir Arthur Conan Doyle, has apparently been extraordinary.

In the course of his address Sir Conan said: "We say here in mid-London and in cold blood, and pledge our honor that this is true. We feel we are addressing those we have lost, and hold out our hands to them, not as shadow beings in an unknown life, but just the same light hearted, merry fellows we lost. They are not lost, but are nearer to us than ever they were below."

Miss Estelle Stead, formerly editor of the Review of Reviews, the Rev. George Vale Owen and other well-known spiritualists were among the speakers.

May Continue Burbank's Work

California Trying to Raise Funds to Purchase Scientist's Farm

Plant experiment work of the late Luther Burbank will be carried on if a movement on foot in California to raise $1,000,000 is successful. The fund would purchase the famous scientist's Sebastopol farm, north of Santa Rosa, and make it a monument to his memory. Officers of Stanford University admit that the plan is to turn over the farm to the university. Shortly before his death Burbank expressed a wish that the farm be turned over to Stanford University so that his experiments could be carried on.

Not Such a Bad Thing

Many of Really Great People Have Been Misunderstood

The whine of the world is: "I am misunderstood." Pooh-pooh! Everybody is. It's a good thing that many of us are misunderstood. Thus we pass for knowing more than we do. Emerson had something to say about that. He said: "Misunderstood! It is a fool's word. Is it so bad, then, to be misunderstood? Pythagoras was misunderstood, and Socrates, and Jesus, and Luther, and Copernicus, Galileo, and Newton, and every pure and wise spirit that ever took flesh. To be great is to be misunderstood."

To Relieve Catarrh Catarrhal Deafness And Head Noises

If you have catarrh, or catarrhal deafness and have buzzing, ringing noises in your head—don't waste time with unknown, unreliable medicines, but go now to your nearest druggist and ask for an inexpensive package of Geero Wormwood Balm.

No atomizers, no syringes and nothing to take internally—you simply apply a little of this clean, fragrant balm right into your nostrils, and then comes sweet relief! Clogged nostrils quickly open up, breathing is easier, head noises vanish and the annoying mucus stops dropping into the throat. This is a simple, pleasant and inexpensive home treatmnt that anyone bothered by catarrh or catarrhal deafness should give a good trial at once. All good druggists—at trifling cost.

Retain Valuable Crown

Choicest of Regal Emblems to Remain in Russia

While jewels to the value of millions of dollars have been purchased by foreign dealers from the vast collection of crown jewels of Russia, and some of the most important of them are on their way to the United States, the choicest of all Russia's regal emblems remains in Moscow. This is the Imperial crown of all the Russias made for the coronation of Catherine the Great in 1762, and valued at $52,000,000.

Not Viewed With Favor

France at Least Will Oppose Restoration of Territory to Germany

It is unlikely that Germany will find any enthusiastic response when she gets ready to ask formally for the restoration of her territory. She was deprived of her colonies in order to reduce her resources for engaging in another world conflict. If other statesmen forget this fact, certainly those of France never will. And while Germany has a strong argument on the economic phase of the question, not until the problem of permanent world peace is appreciably nearer solution than it now appears will France ever be likely to approve any course that would enhance the potential military strength of her neighbor across the Rhine.

Cause and Effect

English girls with a good pair of legs are quite unusual according to Sir William Arbuthnot Lane, noted British physician, but the answer of several persons well qualified to speak is a decided "English girls' legs are not ugly." "So many English girls nowadays are bow-legged or knock-kneed," Sir William says, attributing these physical defects to bad feeding in youth.

Potatoes Sprout Early

Potatoes have been harnessed to overcome work by the demands of science. Uusually potatoes taken from the ground insist on two months' rest before sprouting. That idea is all bunk, according to Prof. Frank Denny who says that dousing them in a certain chemical bath will start the shoots at once, cutting down the time between crops.

Confidence is seldom lost, but it is often sadly misplaced.

Were Stupid As Boys

Many Great Men Were Not Brilliant at School

Because a boy may be adjudged stupid at school, it does not follow that he may not become a successful man.

"You care for nothing but rat-catching, dogs, and shooting, and you will be a disgrace to yourself and your family." Mr. Darwin chastised his son, Charles, with these words, and there seems little doubt that the boy merited the rebuke. Yet years afterwards the name of Charles Darwin was world-famous.

"A stupid, heavy blockhead." Oliver Goldsmith's old schoolmaster, who looked upon the famous writer as one of the biggest dunces he had ever had to teach, thus denounced his pupil. Yet Goldsmith wrote the poem "The Deserted Village"; the novel "The Vicar of Wakefield" and the comedy "She Stoops to Conquer," and his name will be revered wherever English literature is found.

Edison, the electrical wizard was sent home from school by his teacher, who asked the lad's mother to keep him away as his brains were "addled."

Mothers need never despair if their sons and daughters do not show great brilliance at school. The men and women who have made names for themselves in business, art, science, and even politics, were amongst the steady scholars, whose hard work and persistent application gained for them ultimate success. The mushroom genius, flashing brilliantly through school and college, rarely gains a great place in the world of men and affairs.

Montreal Man Wins Way Back To Health

Suffered for Months After Severe Attack of La Grippe, With Insomnia, Nervousness, Indigestion And Coughing. Found Relief.

Like thousands of others, Ernest Beland, proprietor of Beland Barber Shop, 194 Laurier West, Montreal, found long-sought relief from intense suffering in Tanlac.

Mr. Beland says: "At the end of a two-months' siege of La Grippe, I was so completely wrecked that my friends nor myself thought I would ever get well. For weeks I could not sleep.

"Pains in my lungs, shortness of breath, choking sensations and a nagging, wracking cough, made life almost unbearable. Finally I was persuaded by a man who was benefited by Tanlac to try it out.

"I was able to get up and move about the house after taking two bottles of Tanlac, and by the time I had finished the seventh bottle I was able to return to work.

"I have an excellent appetite, sleep well, and have gained 11 pounds, I feel fine in every way. It is with pleasure that I recommend Tanlac to anyone.

Tanlac is for sale by all good druggists—more than 40 million bottles have been sold. Let this marvelous tonic, made according to the famous Tanlac formula, from roots, barks and herbs, help bring you robust health and vigor, as it has to thousands of others. Ask for it by name.

New Tanks Are Terrifying

Dominion Premiers Saw Efficiency of Machines in Action

On the heather-clad hills of West Surrey the Dominion Premiers who attended the Imperial Conference saw a tank in its efficiency. There were one-man tankes which darted hither and thither like waltzers on skates; there were "honeymoon" tanks for two which seemed to be everywhere at once, and there was the latest tank of all, the "Battleship of the Land," which cheerfully climbed huge obstacles of fallen trees, crashed through wire entanglements and then, turning in its own length, jumped a trench and swept through a nine-inch brick wall as though it were nothing but paper.

It was a fascinating demonstration of new methods compared with old, albeit terrifying in its illustration of what may be expected should the dogs of war break loose again.

The demonstration was carried out in a driving rain which plastered everything with mud. It opened with a couple of the tanks which created so much consternation when they first appeared on the Western front in the hard days of September, 1916. The leading tank waddled like a grandfather among so much that is now.

Tanks of all types and kinds followed in a bewildering succession. There was one type which can do 30 miles an hour on the road and can be converted from wheels to tracks in 60 seconds. Horse-drawn artillery units passed by in all their panoply succeeded by the mechanical type with the same guns hauled by tanks over road and field with a mobility which no horse could possibly equal.

The tanks went into action. From everywhere and nowhere apparently tanks appeared, their guns crashing and spluttering until the air vibrated and one wondered what would have happened to the visitors if the men had not been firing merely blanks. A couple of the tanks collided. A whippet dashed away with a damaged turret.

The mimic war ended. Then the tanks shewed what they could do in climbing and passing obstacles. The "dragons" raced down the hillsides with the guns and swept lightly up the other side of the valley. One tank crossing a thicket went straight through a tree. The tree toppled. Unchecked the tank went on. The thicket had been cleared away for the troops.

THIS MOTHER GLAD DAUGHTER IS WELL

Mrs. Parks Tells How Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Restored Her Daughter's Health

Toronto, Ontario.—"My daughter is 16 now and has been an invalid ever since she was six months old and has been compelled to remain out of school the greater part of the time. We have tried different kinds of medicine, but none helped her much. I had taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound when I was run-down, and it had helped me so much that I thought it might help her at this time. She has gained ever since she began taking it. She attends school every day now and goes skating, and does other out-of-door sports. I recommend this medicine to any one who is run-down and nervous and weak."—Mrs. PARKS, 106 Bond Street, Toronto, Ontario.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is a dependable medicine for young women's troubles.

Purchases Crown Of Catherine The Great

New York Diamond Merchant Buys Many of Russian Crown Jewels

Some ordinary woman soon will have the chance to wear the crown of Catherine the Great of Russia—if she wants it and can afford it.

This ornament and others of the collection of Russian crown jewels are now in New York, having been purchased from the Soviet by Norman C. Weiss, diamond merchant of New York and London. The price paid for the crown has not been made public.

It contains 1,520 diamonds, and is surmounted by a superb cross of huge jewels. Most unique among the items purchased by Mr. Weiss, however, is a baby's rattle of solid gold and ivory which was used by the late Czar in his babyhood. This imperial toy is valued at $5,000. At one end of the rattle is a round of ivory with which the Prince rubbed his royal gums. The other end terminates in a whistle.

Rudolph Oblatt, a New York jeweler and partner of Mr. Weiss, said there were four jewelers associated in the purchases. If there should be no woman affluent enough to purchase Catherine's crown, Mr. Weiss proposes to break up the diadem and sell the stones separately.

Mr. Weiss had not yet depleted the Soviet Government's treasure house. There still remains in the vault in excess of $200,000,000 worth of Imperial jewels which Russia purposes to turn into cash for the purchase of plows, machinery and locomotives and for other practical needs.

Great Carillon To Ring

Will Hold Ceremonial in Connection With Inauguration of Bells at Ottawa.

Within a few weeks after the opening of the next session of the Canadian Federal Parliament which is to be, according to present arrangements on Thursday, December 9th next, the new carillon now being installed in the Peace Tower of the new Houses of Parliament will be in operation. Arrangements are being made for the holding of a suitable ceremonial in connection with the inauguration of the carillon.

The bells of the Peace Tower carillon number fifty-three. They have all been cast and tested in a new bell foundry specially constructed for the job and, although the carillon of Park Avenue Baptist Church in New York is equal in size, and these two are the largest in the world, the founders are satisfied that they have turned out a carillon that will lead the world for perfection of tone for many years to come.

The largest bell is ten tons in weight and in tune low "E." When the fifty-three are in place there will be a weight of more than a hundred tons of bell metal suspended in the tower.

In addition to the carillon, there will be mounted next February the Westminster chimes which will be governed by the great clock in the Peace Tower.

Canada's New Minister To Washington

Duties May Be Largely Devoted to Matters of Trade

Hon. Vincent Massey's official title as Canadian minister in Washington is "envoy extraordinary and minister plenipotentiary." His duties, as broadly stated in the order-in-council, which recommends that the King be humbly moved to appoint him, are "to represent in the United States of America, the interests of the Dominion of Canada." It was the intention in the original agreement of 1920 between the British and Canadian governments that the Canadian minister should be a member of the British embassy and would have charge in the absence of the ambassador of the embassy and of the representation of imperial, as well as of Canadian interests. This part of the original plan has been abandoned and Mr. Massey will represent Canada only.

It has been considered desirable, in view of the increasing range, importance and urgency of questions requiring adjustment between Canada and the United States that the dominion should be represented at Washington by a diplomatic representative with a first hand knowledge of Canadian conditions. Mr. Massey will serve as the ordinary channel of communication between the two governments and will act upon instructions of the secretary of state for external affairs (Premier King) and report to him.

The new arrangement does not denote any departure either on the part of the British government or of the Canadian government from the principle of the diplomatic unity of the British empire.

President Coolidge has indicated that the United States law does not permit of the appointment of a U.S. ambassador or minister to Canada, and that consular matters in which Canada is concerned are handled efficiently under present arrangements. For the present, therefore, Mr. Massey's efforts may be largely devoted to matters of trade. Canada's total business with the United States exceeds a billion dollars annually, so that the new envoy extraordinary should have plenty to keep him occupied. Canadian mills sell one hundred million dollars worth of newsprint to United States publishers every year, $48,000,000 worth of sawmill products, $57,000,000 worth of metal and metal products. Exports include $57,000,000 of livestock and animal products, while among the imports from the U.S. are 50 or 60 million dollars worth of coal every year.

Could Not Seize Harp

Instrument and Player Were One Time Immune From Taxation or Debt

The harp, which is once gain becoming popular in Wales, was once held in such high esteem among the Celtic races that to be able to play it was regarded as one of the indispensable qualifications of a gentleman.

In those days the instrument was the only thing coming within the term "household utensils" that could not be confiscated for debt, while it is of interest to note that a one-time "Professor of the Harp" was immune from civil proceedings of any kind and his lands free of all taxation.

British Settlers For Canada

One Thousand More British Settlers to Come to Canada Next Year

One thousand more British families are to be brought to Canada next year to settle on farms and Hon. Robert Forke is now engaged in the task of securing suitable land that is not too far from a railway. The newcomers will take up land in all parts of the Dominion, but mostly in Ontario and the West, where the majority of the 2,000 families already brought out to the Dominion are making good and contented.

The Hudson's Bay Company has placed 2,000 quarter sections at the disposal of the Minister of Immigration, and the C.P.R. likewise has offered him 1,500 quarter sections. The minister will have an investigation made by the land settlement board to ascertain the value and suitability of these lands for British families.

To Protect Travellers

Machine Guns Mounted on Trains in Mexico

Machine guns are mounted on trains leaving the international boundary between Arizona and Mexico, to protect travellers from the depredations of rebellious factions in interior Mexico.

Military escorts on the trains have been doubled from 50 to 100 men on each train. The machine guns are set in place at both ends of the carrier.

These precautions, say military chiefs at Nogales, Sonora, are taken because of the activity of Yaqui Indian bands in Sonora.

Won Fortune From Kaiser

Widow Broke Will Which Left Wealth to German Ruler

During the war the ex-Kaiser of Germany just missed adding another million to his fortune by an adverse decision of the Dresden High Court. A wealthy Saxon died and left the greater part of his wealth to Wilhelm II., the will leaving his widow almost penniless.

The widow asked the ex-Kaiser to renounce the legacy in her favor, and on his refusal, she brought an action to have the will declared illegal. The court decided in her favor, and awarded her the big sum her husband had willed to the ex-Kaiser.

Ripe plums are now being sent to England, arriving there in prime condition. The Ontario Department of Agriculture reports having made a trial shipment with excellent results, as attested by word from the other side. The plums were picked ripe and fully colored.

Vancouver—The largest shipment of tree seeds ever made within the British Empire was that of 3,200 lbs. of yellow pine seed sent from New Westminster to New Zealand by the Dominion Government seed extraction plant at the former place. A further cargo of 2,500 lbs. of seed is to follow shortly. This seed will be planted on waste lands in New Zealand.

Quebec—The Canadian Pacific Railway has decided to add three hundred rooms to its famous hostelry, the Chateau Frontenac, and to meet the requirements has taken options on a number of properties near the present buildings. Through the construction of the proposed new wing the Chateau Frontenac will probably become the largest hotel in the British Empire, having some 1,200 rooms.

Christmas travel from Canada to the Old Country is expected to be exceedingly heavy this year over the C.P.R. lines and by the Canadian Pacific liners. High wheat prices and good crops are given as the causes for this exodus. The rush will be inaugurated virtually by the sailing of the C.P.R. liner Montroyal on December 7, for which a special train will be run to ship side at Saint John.
