The Times' Libel.

It was announced some few weeks ago that an action for libel had been commenced against the Victoria Times for some comments passed by it, reflecting very severely upon the supposed action of the provincial secretary and the attorney-general in regard to some proceedings connected with a trial which took place recently. In its issue of Tuesday last our cotemporary desires to withdraw the statements previously made by it, as it finds that it had been misinformed. We presume that this will lead to the dismissal of the suit. This action on the part of the Times will of course clear the high officials referred to of any imputation of improper motives in their action, and to that extent will be doubtless satisfactory to them and to the public. But we hope the incident will serve as a warning, not only to our cotemporary, but to other papers as well, not to make statements unless they have almost absolute certainty that any charges they may make are well grounded. There is at present, apparently, an inclination on the part of many newspapers to be careless as to the reports which they give currency to concerning the motives or actions of men in public positions. A free and outspoken public press is a necessity and corollary of free institutions. But to let this freedom run into license, especially when it affects public servants, is an evil only less serious than a servile and corrupt press would be. We are well aware that sensational articles attract notoriety to a paper, and help to increase its circulation. We do not impute this motive to our cotemporary in this instance, but that this has been so in many cases no one will gainsay. A properly conducted journal whilst resolute in exposing every abuse, will at the same time be very jealous in excluding from its columns everything which it has not the most substantial reasons for believing true.—Vancouver News.

A Sign of the Times.

An agreement just entered into by the distillers of the United States to limit the output of whiskey is an interesting and cheering sign of the times. It appears that the consumption of whiskey in the Union is steadily declining. In 1860 eighty four millions of gallons were used, but during the last five years, though the population has greatly increased since 1860, the average annual consumption was but 74,500,000 gallons. Based upon the population, the consumption in the former year was two and one-third gallons per head; while in the latter period it was one and a half gallons per head. As a result of the decline the distillers find themselves with an excessive supply on hand, and they are reduced to the necessity of combining, not merely to keep up the prices, but to raise them so as to cover the cost of holding their surplus stock and of continuing certain of their distilleries in idleness. This condition of affairs indicates a steady growth of active temperance sentiment. What is more, the increased price of liquor is calculated to still further discourage its use, which is a gain of considerable importance. It is gratifying to note that the demand for liquor is weakening in Canada as well as in the United States. In 1861 Canadians consumed a gallon and a half of spirits per head; in 1874 they used nearly two gallons per head. But last year, 1886, they consumed but seventenths of a gallon per head. The actual consumption from 1881 to 1885 was four million gallons per annum. In 1887 there only passed into use 2,478,098 gallons. In the matter of imported spirits there has also been a decline. The 480,992 gallons of brandy imported in 1876 have been brought down to 216,790 in 1886; a reduction of fifty per cent. in ten years, though the population has increased. During the same period the gin imported has been reduced from 474,411 gallons to 408,247 gallons, and the run from 144,506 gallons to 103,902 gallons. Across the line the decrease in the use of spirits has been accompanied by a slight growth in the consumption of beer; but in Canada the use of beer has not been increased. It is apparent that a temperance wave of admirable proportions has been sweeping over the continent of North America. That it will continue to wash out the evil influence is very certain, for the business of trading in liquor is daily becoming less pleasant, while the frequenting of drinking places is no longer a sign of manliness or respectability.—The Mail.

THE NEWS.

The Pope Expresses his Ardent Friendship for France—The Thistle Wins—Another Victory.

Matthews Becomes Very Unpopular—National Reform Union—Gladstone Writes to Hartington.

Blaine on His Travels.—Extensive Fire in Quebec.

OTHER ITEMS OF INTEREST.

By Associated Press.

MATTHEWS SHOULD RESIGN.

LONDON, July 6.—The Count of Paris has returned to England from the Isle of Jersey. Press associations says there is no good grounds for believing Matthews' home secretary will not resign notwithstanding the action of the house of commons last night. The Pall Mall Gazette says: "If Matthews were a man of honor and a gentleman this mornings papers would have announced that he had resigned.

COMBINED BISHOPRIES.

ROME, July 6.—The pope has decided to unite the dioceses of Lincoln and Cheyenne with that of Omaha.

THE THISTLE AGAIN VICTOR.

LONDON, July 6.—The Thistle and Irex again competed in a regatta in Larges, Scotland, and the superior qualities of the Thistle were once more demonstrated. Light southerly winds prevailed at the start. The Irex got best of the Thistle in the start, but she did not keep her advantage long. The Thistle passed her and won easily. The wind continued light.

NATIONAL REFORM UNION.

MANCHESTER, Eng., July 6.—The annual council of the national reform union was held to day. Reports were read congratulating the members on the fact that despite the dissentient Liberals no branches of the union had seceded. Charles Ernest Chamm, Liberal M.P., for North Manchester, was elected president of the union for the ensuing term. The speakers at the meeting referred to the fact that the union was hampered in its campaign against the Liberal unionists on account of the lack of funds.

GLADSTONE WRITES HARTINGTON.

LONDON, July 6.—Gladstone to-day wrote a lettr to Hartington in answer to his reply to the ex-premier's speech of last Saturday. In this letter Gladstone says he deemed it his duty to refer in his speech to differences which existed between him and Lord Hartington on the Irish question when they were members of the same government, "unless these references are inaccurate," says Gladstone, "the Marquis of Hartington is answerable for any inconveniences attending such retrospective inferences." In conclusion Gladstone reaffirms the statement he made Saturday.

FOREIGNERS TO BE TAXED.

PARIS, July 6.—The committee of the chamber of deputies having in charge the measure imposing a tax on foreigners residing in France to-day heard M. Fallieres, minister of the interior's, arguments in opposition to the proposed tax. He preferred measures calculated to establish identity of foreigners residing in France. The committee decided in favor of the execution of measure.

A LARGE TURRET SHIP LAUNCHED

VIENNA, July 6.—The new Austro-Hungarian turret ship, Krong Prince Rudolph, was launched to-day at Polo on the Adriatic in the presence of the Emperor and Arch-Duchess Maria Theresa. The latter christened the vessel the Emperor. In an address he made he dwelt on the event as auspicious for the navy and said he was confident if the new craft became engaged she would add triumph to the fame of the Austrian navy.

DISSATISFACTION AT THE GOVERNMENT.

LONDON, July 6.—The conduct of the government over the Cass affair has caused discontent even among the warmest supporters of the ministry. The explanation made in the house of commons was heard in the chilliest manner except when announced that the lord high chancellor would institute thorough inquiry into the matter. In consequence of the feeling in the Conservative party Matthews has offered to resign office. The home secretary has been requested, however, to remain in office until the close of the present session of parliament. Two nights will be allowed for the debate on the third reading of crimes bill. If the opposition endeavors to prolong the discussion the government will move that the cloture be applied.

GERMAN NEWS.

BERLIN, July 6.—Advices from Dormand say that Tihischen and Westphalian iron masters have decided not to alter the process of pig iron. Emperor William has conferred upon Count Hohenthal, plenipotentiary from Saxony, in Bundersath, the order of the Grand Cross of Prussia. In a letter accompanying the distinction the emperor says that after the last successful session of the Reichstag, to which result the gratifying elections in Saxony and Germany greatly contributed, he felt a desire to give his satisfaction visible expression by conferring upon a delegate from Saxony this high honor.

A BIG FIRE.

QUEBEC, July 6.—Between 12 and 1 o'clock to-night a fire broke out in the barracks at the citadel, and it has extended 300 yards, enveloping nearly all the buildings facing the terrace. There is great consternation among the residents in the neighborhood.

13:30 a. m.—All the available fire force is in the battery to prevent the fire from reaching the magazine, and trumpeters are sounding the bugle as a signal of danger and for all hands to keep clear.

PRINCE OF BULGARIA.

TIRNOVA, July 7.—Prince Ferdinand of Saxe-Coburg-Gotha was to-day elected Prince of Bulgaria by the sobranje. The announcement was received with great enthusiasm. If the powers recognize the election the sobranje intends to abrogate article B of the Berlin treaty and proclaim the independence of the country.

BLAINE ON HIS TRAVELS.

LONDON, July 7.—Jas. G. Blaine left London to-day for Edinburgh, accompanied by the lord mayor of London and Senator Hale. The party occupied a royal saloon railway car, decorated with flags and the Maine coat of arms. Blaine will be the guest at Edinburgh of Andrew Carnegie, and perhaps speak at the reception organized by the people at Edinburgh to show their recognition Carnegie's generosity to the city.

THE POPE'S LOVE FOR FRANCE.

PARIS, July 7.—Figaro says that the pope, in conversation recently with a French statesman who visited him in Rome, expressed his attachment for France and declared that the equilibrium of Europe would remain upset until France regained her proper position again as a nation. The pope also said he understood French regret at the loss of her Alsace-Lorraine province, and wished by pacific intervention he could assist France in her desire to regain her lost territory.

THEY ARE CAUTIOUS.

OTTAWA, July 7.—It is understood the Dominion government will not entertain the proposal for the purchase of the Intercolonial Railway, until the effect of the construction of a short line through the state of Maine has been ascertained.

THE ROUTE WILL BE SUBSIDIZED.

OTTAWA, July 7.—The action of the Imperial house of commons on the Chinese mail contract has caused very little disappointment, as the Imperial government has promised ample pecuniary support to the Canadian Pacific route. A proportionate amount will be voted by the Dominion goverment.

THE FIRE SUBDUED.

QUEBEC, July 7.—A fire broke out last night in the stables attached to the barracks at the citadel. Thousands of excited artisans did not seek their homes until 3 a.m. The most intense alarm prevailed throughout the city until the fire was got under control. Many made their way to the surrounding country, fearing an explosion of the powder in the magazine will occur. The governor-general's offices, quarters, stables of the artillery, hospital, and the provincial armory, which contains 25,000 stands of arms, were uninjured. Loss, $150,000; no insurance.

Delta Council.

The council met at the Town hall Saturday, 2nd July. Present the reeve and Couns Arthur, Pybus, Sutherby and Kittson. Communications from Mr W S Gove and Messrs. Hart & Lyman were received and filed. A number of accounts were passed and ordered paid. The reeve and clerk were instructed to sign a voucher on the government for $204.20 in favor of H. J. Kirkland for work done on the Chilochken trunk road. E. Cammidge was awarded the contract for Jordan road. D. A. McKee's tender for Canoe Pass road was laid on the table. C. F. Green's tender for Crescent Island road was accepted. Mr. F. F. Raith was instructed to repair the road at the Indian reserve. The clerk was instructed to order lumber for a box end of the Gondy road, and to call for tenders for repairs on the Oliver road; also a bridge end of the Pickard road at trunk road. Council then adjourned till first Saturday in August at 7 p.m.

Some Stretching.

In their efforts to boom the salt water terminus of the C. P. R., real estate men are sometimes sparing of the truth. It has been claimed that neither a real estate man nor an auctioneer should be held responsible for his utterances, and if they are the record against some of them will be quite serious. A paper was issued a few weeks ago by E. J. Clark, Toronto, called a "Sketch of Vancouver," and is being very freely circulated through the country. In this document, comprising 4 pages of foolscap, we find some useful and reliable information, and some that is unreliable and misleading. The fourth paragraph, for example, states that Vancouver is about 10 miles from Westminster (it is 12), and that Westminster has a population of 6,000. The fact is, our population is very little over half that number. "The time is not far distant," says this fly-sheet, "when street cars will maintain constant communication between the two cities, and the growth be so closely connected to appear as one, like the twin sister cities of St. Paul and Minneapolis." With this we have no fault to find, for it is not at all improbable that the prediction of the writer will be realized within the lifetime of many of our readers. A little further on it is stated that during the past six months the population of Vancouver has been growing at the rate of 500 per month, and is now 5,000. As a matter of fact the population of Vancouver is not any larger than that of this city, which we have already said is very little over 3,000. But the same paragraph informs us that a year ago the terminal city had only 300 inhabitants. When the great fire occurred on the 13th June of last year, the city claimed a population of nearly 3,000, although no one believed the claim could be justified by facts. It had, however, not very much short of 2,000, so that the increase in the year has really been about 1,500. This is a large increase, but it is insignificant compared to the increase claimed by the fly-sheet, from 300 to 5,000. It is not true that 500 people are being added to the population each month, or anything like it. The compiler of the fly-sheet must either have drawn altogether on his imagination, or counted the people who came in without deducting those who went out. It is a pity the writer did not inform himself better upon the subject before undertaking to instruct the public.

The Two By-Laws.

Notwithstanding the unpropitious circumstances under which the loan by-law was passed, and the opposition to the measure coming from many quarters, a majority of the council have seen fit to pass it finally. It is sometimes easier to commit an act than to undo it. We believe a majority of the council will agree with us that it would be injudicious to attempt to float a loan on the strength of the loan by-law just passed, and it would have been better if the measure had been dropped before it reached the final stage. In saying this we do not wish to be understood to have changed our views respecting the loan. Nothing has transpired to lessen the requirements of the city or to indicate a way whereby we may meet necessary demands without going into the money market. But where serious doubts exist respecting the validity of a by-law, and many prominent citizens have been unfairly excluded from the right to vote on so important a measure, it seems to us better to hasten slowly than to thrust ourselves unnecessarily into trouble. Our opinion is that no debentures should be issued on the present loan by-law. There is another by-law before the council which has received a good deal of public attention, namely, the Sunday observance by-law. This measure, we understand, proposes to prevent as much as possible all ordinary and unnecessary traffic on the Sabbath day, and to close all business places on that day. On the expediency of such a law the council seem to be divided, although we doubt if there is any difference of opinion respecting the ethical principle involved. It was expected the by-law would be submitted to a vote of the people. At the last meeting of the council, however, was thrown out on the reading of the second clause, the mayor unexpectedly voting against it. But the mayor explains that he is not opposed to a Sunday law, but is opposed to the one now before the council because in his opinion it cannot be legally enforced. The judgment in the Victoria appeal case makes it clear that such a by-law, to be safe, should not come into force during the current license term. The mayor says if the by-law is changed so as not to come into force until the beginning of next year, when the present licenses shall have expired, he will support it, but not otherwise. We think he is justified in taking this ground, and we hope the promoters of the by-law will make the change indicated. With the mayor's vote it will then pass.

Election of School Trustee!

A MEETING FOR THE ELECTION OF a Trustee for St. George's Ward, New Westminster City School District, to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of J. S. Clute, Esq., will be held on Thursday the 14th day of July, 1887, at the Council Chambers, Hyack Hall, commencing at 11 a. m.

In case a poll is demanded, voting will commence at 10 a. m. of the next day and close at 4 p. m.

EXTRACT FROM "PUBLIC SCHOOL ACT, 1885"

"23. Any person registered as a voter, as hereinafter provided, shall be eligible to vote at any school meeting held in such District, and in the ward in which he is registered, for the election of Trustees; provided, always, that it shall not be lawful for any person to vote for Trustees in more than one ward in any City School District."

By order of Board of Trustees,

dly4td T. J. TRAPP, Secretary.

ESTABLISHED 1875.

The West Shore

FREE

For the balance of 1886, including the mammoth holiday number, to all who subscribe now for 1887.

With the January issue THE WEST SHORE will begin its twelfth year. Every number contains original illustrations of scenery, towns and industries in the Pacific Northwest, equaling in excellence the best productions of Eastern magazines. The contributed articles, general literature and stories are entertaining and carefully edited, making the magazine a chaste family visitor. The comments on events of interest to this region and the large amount of information concerning our various resources and the progress of development given in every number render it extremely valuable. No family can afford to do without it, and every one financially interested in the Pacific Northwest or desirous of learning its resources will find it invaluable.

If the subscription price ($2 per year) is sent in now you will be entered for 1887, and the remainder of 1886 will be sent as a premium.

"I take only one English weekly paper, The Spectator, and one Canadian, The Week, and as a rule I should be puzzled to say which I should miss most."—From a letter by Thomas Hughes, author of "Tom Brown's School Days."

The Week:

A Canadian Journal of Politics, Society and Literature.

PUBLISHED EVERY THURSDAY, AT $3.00 PER ANNUM.

Independent in politics, THE WEEK appeals by a comprehensive Table of Contents to the different tastes which exist within the circle of a cultured home.

An average of fifteen short, crisp Editorials is given in each number upon CANADIAN, AMERICAN, and ENGLISH POLITICS and LITERATURE.

Amongst the regular contributors is Professor Goldwin Smith; and a distinguished public man in London has kindly undertaken to supply regularly an English Letter. Paris and Washington Letters will appear at regular intervals.

In addition there are special contributions from some of the ablest writers in the Dominion and the United States.

THE WEEK

has now entered upon its third year with most encouraging prospects, and with many new features.

WHAT PHYSICIANS SAY ABOUT THE STARR KIDNEY PAD.

"Treatment by Absorption has for some time been recognized by Medical Men to be the most simple and effectual means of conveying to Diseased Organs, "Curatives," but in cases of Kidney Disease and Complaints attendant thereon, successful treatment was practically impossible until the introduction of the Starr Kidney Pad. It costs less than a single prescription and is immeasurably more decisive and effective than any quantity of internal Medicinal dosing. Worn immediately over the seat of Disease, its curative properties become absorbed by the diseased and enfeebled Organs, continuously and directly as required to insure in return their healthy action and original vigour. It is comfortable to the patient and pleasant in its effects, and cures when nothing else can. The Starr Kidney Pad accomplishes positive, decisive results. A more valuable discovery as a true remedy for Kidney Diseases was never made.—Medical Gazette

The Starr Kidney Pad, manufactured in Toronto, is a permanent sure cure for diseases, disorders and ailments of the Kidneys, Bladder and urinary secretive system, or attendant complaints, causing pain in the small of the back, sides, etc., producing urinary disorders, such as too frequent, scanty, difficult, painful or copious micturition, inability of retention and sedimentary urine, dropsical symptoms, etc., denoting the presence in the system of diseases common to the urinary secretive organs—known as gravel, catarrh of the bladder and passages, Bright's disease, diabetes, dropsy, piles, nervous debility, etc. Send for pamphlet to LANGLEY & CO., Wholesale Agents, Victoria. JOHN HALLET'S SECRET.

I.

The air was clear and dry on the hill, although the mists of an autumn twilight were settling down on the busy little town in the valley below.

Mr. Hallet had been an invalid for the last week or two; not ill enough to cause any alarm, yet not well enough to go to the city as usual; and thankful that he had a shrewd, sensible son, both able and willing to take his place.

Henry threw himself into the breach manfully, and had even slept in town for several nights, that he might sit later at his books, and begin earlier.

The mother would have preferred to stay and watch for her boy's coming; but Mr. Hallet was calling, and she went to him. He was surveying a doomed honeysuckle.

"We planted it the year Henry was born," he reminded his wife. "I suppose you think that would be a reason for letting it stand?"

Mrs. Hallet smiled as she replied: "Nay, John; it is not I who give away to sentiment."

The words were no sooner spoken than she wished she had not uttered them, for a frown contracted her husband's brow, and he raised his eyes involuntarily to where a couple of windows were nearly hidden by the passion flower.

In the room those windows should have lighted, John Hallet's father had spent the closing years of his life. An accident rendered him incapable of leaving it, and when he expired, his wife soon followed him to the grave.

From the day of the funeral not a creature was allowed to enter this room but old Lisbeth, the trusty German who had drifted into the household of the Hallets in her youth.

A shout from the children proclaimed that Henry had come.

His first look was for his mother. After she had satisfied herself that he did not appear to be any the worse for the confinement and hard work of the week, she was content to stand quietly by while business matters were discussed. She could have fancied that Henry was rather restless under the questioning to which he was subjected.

But at last Mr. Hallet appeared satisfied, and he would have led the way indoors, but now, in eager haste, the young man poured forth the tidings he had been burning to tell.

"Such news for you, father! Mother dear, what do you think has happened? Aunt Mary sent for me the other evening—you will say that that is not a very uncommon occurrence," and Henry and Mrs. Hallet interchanged amused smiles, for Miss Mary Hallet was one of the fussiest of maiden ladies. "She sent for me that she might introduce me to some new relations from over the sea. You had a brother, papa, who died not long after my grandfather?"

Mr. Hallet did not immediately reply. Yes, he had had a half-brother, whose restless disposition had induced him to demand his portion and sail away with it to America. After many wanderings he had settled in Canada and married.

Pride had induced him to be silent respecting the mistakes he had made, the misfortunes that had befallen him; but just before the death of the elder Mr. Hallet, a rumor reached England that the Canadian farm did not pay, and its owner was struggling with sickness as well as an unfavorable season. Offers of help were sent, but they were declined; those offers were repeated to Tom Hallet's widow, and again, but more gratefully, refused. Since that time, long years ago, no intercourse had been kept up between the families; what, then, did Henry mean?

"It was to my uncle Tom's elder daughters Aunt Mary introduced me. They are tall, bright, handsome girls, merry and frank and unaffected, yet quite as lady-like as my sisters Eva and Emma. They have led a busy life, working with their mother to free the farm of its encumbrances. Their labors have been successful; they are prospering at last; and so they have felt themselves justified in taking a trip to England, to make acquaintance with their kindred."

"And crossed the Atlantic alone!" exclaimed Mrs. Hallet.

"Oh, no, they came under the wing of a friend, the elderly lady who took them to Aunt Mary's. They have fascinated her, and——" Henry turned to his silent father, "and I think—I am sure you will like your nieces, sir—they are charming girls."

But Mr. Hallet put out his hands, crying hoarsely: "Keep them away from me! I will not have them here!"

And so saying, he went quickly into the house, whither his wife would have followed if her son had not detained her.

"Mother, what does this mean?" he asked. "Is my father worse? Is it possible that he knows what he is saying? He never had any quarrel with Uncle Tom, did he? Then what could have made him speak so strangely?"

"I do not know; perhaps a sudden spasm. I must go to him."

"Ah, yes, go, and beg of him to explain himself, for they are coming here, these cousins of mine. I told them in your name and my father's, that they would be welcome; and so I thought they would. How can I meet them again? how tell them——"

And then, groaning in his impatience and alarm, Henry hurried his mother in.

II.

On Monday morning Mr. Hallet pronounced himself able to go to business.

They would have pitied him had they known what a Sunday he had spent, shutting himself away from his family because every questioning look they turned upon him seemed to pierce his heart and lay bare that which he hid within it.

Yes, the upright, honorable John Hallet had a secret that he had buried so deep down as to be sometimes forgotten, until a chance word or recollection would bring it back to his memory. He had a trouble of which no one knew anything but old Lisbeth, and even she did not suspect its nature.

In all honesty of purpose she had told him, as he stood by his mother's coffin, that Madam's dearest wish had been to see her absent son Tom.

"I think she had a message for him," Lisbeth added—"a written one. I know that just before your good father died, she was talking to him of Master Tom; and I heard her say she was sure he would come back if he could come to the old home."

"Did she wish my father to will this house to him?" asked John Hallet.

"I think so," Lisbeth replied. "I know he gave the dear mistress a paper that she cried over after he was gone; but I do not know what she did with it." The paper had never been found.

At first John Hallet's feelings with regard to it had been of angry surprise. He was the elder brother, and had always resided at the Copse. With the approbation of his parents he had brought his bride here, and his children were born under the roof he had come to look upon as his own.

He did not deliberately scheme to wrong his brother, but he never made any search for the paper of which Lisbeth had spoken.

And so years had rolled on without anyone disputing with John Hallet his possession of the home so dear to him. Lisbeth made no further allusion to the paper. She knew that Master Tom was dead, and was not aware that it might have been of importance to his widow and offspring.

And now, after all this lapse of time, the children of John Hallet's dead brother had come to England. For what could it be, he asked agitatedly, but to claim their own?

John Hallet started for town oppressed with a new fear. Lisbeth might have found the paper, and, suspecting him of foul play, posted it to Canada.

How he got through the day no one knew, for Henry pleaded a headache and stayed at home.

The disappointed youth would not risk encountering his newly found relatives, while he was unable to account to them for his father's extraordinary refusal to receive them at the Copse.

Mrs. Hallet's sympathies were with her son, but she was too dutiful a wife to say so, and seeing that she avoided him, Henry carried a book into the shrubberies, shunning the eyes of his elder sisters, who, for lack of any other reason for his depression, decided that he must have fallen in love.

And so he had. Already his heart had gone out to bright, capable, brown-haired Nell.

At last he went indoors to find his mother. He hurried to the morning-room and had entered it from the garden, before he became aware that the maid was ushering in some visitors.

It was too late to retreat, they were actually in the room, Nell and Min gazing around them with shy pleasure, and Miss Mary Hallet, her broad face beaming with smiles as she caught hold of her sister-in-law's hands, and kissed her on both cheeks.

"My dearest Jennie, I have brought these dear girls to spend a few days with you—poor Tom's daughters."

Mr. Hallet by a great effort composed himself sufficiently to meet his guests; but if his lips were pale and he turned away from them to shade his eyes with his hand, they saw nothing suspicious in it.

On the contrary, their conviction that he was thinking of their father, of whom this gray-haired, stately gentleman was the living image, drew them towards him. They hovered near his chair, they left off speaking when they heard his voice, and, when complaining of fatigue, he rose to go to his room, moved by the same impulse, both girls ran forward to put their arms about his necks and hold up their fair young faces for a good-night kiss.

It was plain that he had been mistaken when he fancied they had come to wrest his home from him, but he was none the happier for the knowledge. He tried to appear calm and cheerful, to respond to the affection with which his nieces were disposed to regard him; but when they talked—as they did freely—of the trials and struggles they and their mother had gone through before and after their bereavement, his heart fainted within him, and his remorse would become overpowering.

John Hallet would fain have made atonement. He thrust into Nell's hand a roll of notes; but it was promptly returned.

No, he was not to be allowed to gloze his conscience by this kind of compensation. Neither was it any use protesting that the very act of leaving the Copse away from him—the eldest son—was unfair, especially as Tom's portion had been justly meted out to him at his own desire. As long as Tom's daughters were in his house, keeping alive the old recollections, how could he be at peace with himself?

Four days elapsed—anxious ones to Henry and his mother, who watched Mr. Hallet's changing moods, but hesitated to speak of them even to each other—yet very pleasant ones to the young Canadians. Attributing to their uncle's ill-health the shadow they saw on his brow, and the troubled looks his wife and son would interchange, they were always gentle and sympathetic.

It was the only check on their enjoyment of their visit to their English relations. Aunt Mary, in spite of her fidgety ways, was a lovable old lady. Mrs. Hallet was very motherly; and as for Henry, ah, Nell would sigh whenever she reminded herself how soon their stay in England would draw to a close.

One morning the sisters were on their way to the garden, when they saw Lisbeth in the act of unlocking the door of the closed chamber.

They passed into it with her. Elizabeth opened a tall press and shook out before them the folds of their grandmother's wedding gown.

As she described her mistress Nell saw that from the pocket of the dress a morsel of the bridal handkerchief was peeping. To get a better view of the fine old lace that bordered it, she drew it out, and with it came a folded paper.

"Ah!" cried Lisbeth, "it is the one my good master gave to her before he died. She must have gone to the press and slipped it into the pocket of this dress, instead of her ordinary one; they hung together then. Take it, young ladies! I believe, nay, but I am sure, it concerns your father."

Mr. Hallet was just sitting down to breakfast when Nell and Min came to his side with the paper.

"We have not opened it, dear uncle; it is you who should read it to us. Perhaps it was to let my father know that his parents had quite forgiven him for leaving them. He used to say he had not acted well when he deserted them."

But John Hallet pushed the paper from him.

"The hand of God is in this," he groaned. "Read for yourselves, and ease my soul of the burden that lies heavily upon it. Lisbeth told me there was such a paper in existence, but my search for it was a half-hearted one. I valued my home more than what is right, but if I am to lose it I will bear the loss without murmuring, for I have had greater mercies bestowed on me than I deserve."

Mrs. Hallet drew nearer, and laid her cheek against her husband's, while Min read the lines the paper contained:

"I have thought over your wish, dear wife; it is hard to say you nay; but I cannot let compassion for Tom make me unjust to his brother. Do you know that if John had not toiled early and late at the time of that terrible crisis, we must have been ruined?"

So the Copse was the property of John Hallet after all.

Nell and Min went back to Canada at the appointed time, but they did not refuse the useful gifts their uncle added to their baggage, for they saw that he would be a happier man if allowed to take the place of the father they had lost. Henry will follow them in the spring to fetch home his bride.

Art in Austin.

Miss Dauber, an Austin artist, having finished a picture of a Texan sunset, which looked very much like an exploded vermillion factory, took the gem under her arm and proceeded to Mr. Smith's book-store.

"Mr. Smith, I desire to furnish the Austin public an artistic treat. I will leave my picture here on exhibition. I wish you would put a card on it informing the public that it is not for sale."

"Do you really think that is necessary, Miss Dauber," replied Smith, after he had examined the picture carefully.—(Texas Siftings.

TESTIMONIAL!

Vancouver, 23rd June, 1886.

MR. G. ROBERTSON,
Vancouver:

Representing Goldie & McCulloch,
Galt, Ont.

SIR.—We the undersigned having witnessed the terrible fire which wiped out of existence the young city of Vancouver, on the 13th inst., have, after the fire, examined the safes sold by you, some of which were put to the most severe test, having been surrounded by large quantities of lard and bacon, and we are pleased to testify to the remarkable manner in which every Safe sold by you preserved its contents, not only books and papers, but also thousands of dollars in paper money were taken out in perfect condition. We can, therefore, with the greatest confidence, recommend them as thoroughly fire proof:

1873. GRIP! 1887.

CANADA'S COMIC JOURNAL

GREAT IMPROVEMENTS FOR 1887.

THE AIM OF "GRIP" is to set forth, in in an impartial and independent manner, the passing events of Canadian political and social life. Its Cartoons speak more definitely and more pleasingly than who'e columns of editorial. In this pungent, easily appreciable, and artistic style of presenting a subject, the whole situation is revealed at a glance. The success of Grip shows how well this fact is appreciated—its Cartoons on the passing political events of the country being even more eagerly sought after than the chaste and humorous letter-press of the paper,—though the latter is equal to that of any similar publication on the continent.

The publishers of Grip are making extensive improvements for 1886. The old cover is to be discarded, and the journal will hereafter comprise 12 pages, and be printed on heavy toned and calendered paper,—every number being so artistically executed as to compare favorably with the best papers on the continent. The advts. will be compressed and more systematically arranged; while similar improvements will be made as to the letter-press. A new and handsome design will adorn the title page; while the Cartoons will certainly not suffer from extensive improvements in the artistic department.

The price of Grip will hereafter be $2 a year, which is lower than that of any paper of its kind in America,—most of them selling for $5. Single numbers of Grip will be 10 cents.

Twice a year, at Midsummer and Christmas, a beautiful special number will be issued, the number of pages being increased, and pleasing features introduced, particulars of which will be given in preceding issues. These numbers will be presented to subscribers without extra charge.

GRIP'S PLATFORM:

Humor without Vulgarity;
Patriotism without Partizanship;
Truth without Temper.

Only $2 a Year, Postage Free.

Address the Grip Printing and Publishing Company, 26 and 28 Front Street, West, Toronto; or leave your order with your bookseller or other local agent. fel4

THE BRITISH COLUMBIAN Printing Company

(LIMITED.)

ON THE 10TH OF JANUARY, 1887, the COLUMBIAN Newspaper and Printing Concern was purchased by a joint stock company composed of citizens of New Westminster, to be known as the "British Columbian Printing Co., Limited." The concern has been for nearly a year owned and controlled by the British Columbia Stationery and Printing Company, of New Westminster, Victoria and Vancouver. The object of the new company is to continue the publication of the BRITISH COLUMBIAN newspaper and carry on a general printing and publishing concern, controlled entirely by those whose individual interest it will be to promote the development, especially of the Mainland. There will be no slackening of the energy hitherto displayed in the management of the establishment, and its patrons may rely upon receiving full value for their money. The COLUMBIAN will continue to be entirely independent in both Dominion and provincial politics, and will devote itself to the advancement of such schemes as may be considered in the public interest. The concern is now entirely separate from any other business, the book and stationery establishment in this city having been taken over by Mr. T. R. Pearson, who will continue to carry it on in his own name and for his own benefit. It is desirable that a daily newspaper should be maintained in this city, and *the new company asks for public patron*age on the ground that it is engaged in an enterprise calculated to promote the public welfare. It asks that the COLUMBIAN be judged on its own merits and supported only so long as its policy is enconsistt with its professions. In consequence of this business change all accounts due the concern must be settled without delay so that the books of the former company may be adjusted and closed. HEAD OFFICE, TORONTO, CANADA

A HOME COMPANY.

This Association merits the confidence the Public is reposing in it from the following FACTS:—

The Security offered to policy holders is unsurpassed by any Company doing business in Canada.

It has no schemes of insurance, but the well-established lines, hence the policy holders cannot be misled as to their contracts.

Its statements to the public can be readily understood, its cash statement showing every item of income and how expended.

Its position is ascertained annually from a detailed valuation in which every item of liability is included.

Its progress has been unexampled in the history of Insurance in Canada.

Its policies are indisputable after three years, and non-forfeitable after two years' existence.

Its profits are distributed upon an equitable basis. The profits to one class of policy holders are not lessened to give larger profits to any other class, which method affords superior advantages over the uniform bonus plan of distribution.

Liberal Conditions as to Residence and Travel.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS THIS DAY.

Notice ..... W. N. Bole

Daily British Columbian

Thursday Evening, July 7, 1887.

Remember the strawberry festival in the Drill Shed to-night.

A car of freight for local merchants arrived from Toronto yesterday.

The post offices at Banff and Ashcroft, have been made money order offices.

Farmers throughout the district say the crops are suffering seriously from drought.

We would remind our readers that the I.O.G.T. hold an entertainment in the Orange Hall to-morrow night.

Advices received by the department of agriculture indicate there will be a big crop throughout the Dominion this year.

Messrs. Van Volkenberg Bros. are fitting up a new butcher-shop on Columbia st., next to Mr. T. Oven's blacksmith shop.

The city council of Nanaimo refuses to pay the cost of the late inquest on the coal mine disaster, and the matter is likely to go into court.

The Gladys went down to the North Arm this morning, and returned at 4 o'clock this afternoon. She brought up a cargo of produce and grain.

The excavated earth from the Masons' and Oddfellows' lot is being placed on Ewen st., and that thoroughfare is now in good condition for travel.

One hundred men were set to work Monday morning clearing the way for the Red River Valley Railroad. The road will now go on to completion.

The first fresh hay of the season arrived in the city yesterday by the str. Gladys, which brought down about 3 tons from the ranch of Mr Pickles, at Nicomen slough, near Chilliwhack.

The Richmond cannery have all their boats now engaged in catching salmon. The sockeyes are being caught in great numbers, and the chances are that this year's pack will be a big one.

It is very little use to ask Ontario farmers to go to Manitoba until the establishment of railroad competition gives the settler there a chance to make a little money.—Toronto Mail.

Mr. Donald Chisholm, M.P., informs us that the Dominion government will commence the erection of a new wing at the penitentiary shortly. The cost of the addition will be about $60,000.

A number of the Oddfellows of this city attended the half-yearly installation of officers of the Vancouver lodge, at that city last evening. The installation in this city takes place this evening.

Mr. C. F. Holt brought to this office to-day a single bunch of lettuce which weighed 1¾ lbs. This bunch, grown in Mr. Holt's garden, is one of the finest we have ever seen. Now, lettuce hear from the Times man!

There is a beautiful moss rose bush in the grounds adjoining the residence of Mr. Jas. Wilson, Mary st., where beautiful roses, both white and pink, may be seen on the same branch. There are also some blossoms partly white and partly pink.

The haying season is now on hand. Along the Fraser around Sumas and Chilliwhack a quantity of the grass has been cut and housed. In Richmond and Delta very little is yet down. About the first of the week, however, nearly all farmers will have begun.

Messrs. Van Horne and Hosmer of the C. P. R. are in New York interviewing the McKay commercial cable company and the postal line telegraph company, in connection with some big scheme for extending the operations of the C. P.R. and United Lines telegraph service.

A report is in circulation at Ottawa that the government will allow provincial railway acts authorizing the construction of the road to the boundary. A cabinet minister could not confirm it, stating that the matter had not yet been discussed in the cabinet, but will be shortly.

The Victoria Times has publicly apologized for its attack on the provincial secretary and deputy-attorney-general, and the action for libel has been withdrawn. Now, will our local cotemporary, who greedily copied the article, have the manliness to follow its Victoria confrere!

The Rithet did not arrive until 6:40 yesterday evening. Discharging way freight at the different landings along her way delayed her. She brought up nearly 210 tons of freight, of which 30 tons were for the canneries, 75 tons for the railway, and 100 tons were for local merchants and up-river ports.

It is said that the stern-wheel str. Telephone, of Astoria, is the fastest stern-wheeler in the world, and on Monday made the fastest time on record. The distance from Astoria to Vancouver is 104 miles, and the Telephone made the trip in four hours and twenty minutes, including one landing.

Messrs. Harling & Laska have completed the interior arrangements of their new cigar factory on Columbia st. These gentlemen have been long in the cigar business, and no doubt lovers of the weed will soon be supplied with an excellent article. Their stock of tobacco has arrived and in a few days they will begin to make cigars.

Pleasant as syrup; nothing equals it as a worm medicine: the name is Mother Graves' Worm Exterminator. The greatest worm destroyer of the age.

TOO BAD.—It was 6:45 when the mail str. Rithet arrived from Victoria last night. It is really too bad that the river route is being made unpopular by reason of the slowness of the service. How long is this state of affairs going to last?

CANADIAN FAILURES.—The total failures in the Dominion of Canada for the first half of the year 1887, according to the returns of Dunn, Wiman & Co., foot up to 721 in number, as compared with 699 in the first half of 1886. The liabilities show a very marked increase. For the first six months of 1887 they amount to over $10,693,000, as compared with $5,500,000 in the first six months of 1886. The increase is largely attributable to the banking and lumber failures in New Brunswick. Leaving these out, the increase in liabilities would not be so marked, though still considerable.

PROMOTION.—The announcement of Mr. H. B. W. Aikman's appointment as a member of the Dominion land board at Winnipeg, has given general satisfaction and that gentleman's many friends are congratulating him. Mr. Aikman has been a resident of this province since 1882, and for a time was a member of the legal firm of Drake, Jackson and Aikman. He was appointed registrar general for the province, which position he creditably held for many years. Being tendered the office of Dominion land agent he accepted, and has held the same for over three years. When the offices were removed to New Westminster he repaired thither with his family, much to the regret of their friends. The appointment is a deserved one and Mr. Aikman has our sincere congratulations.—Colonist.

THE KOOTENAY INDIANS.—The government yesterday received advices from Dr. Powell, Indian agent for British Columbia, that the commission which had gone into Kootenay in order to inquire into and if possible amicably settle the threatened uprising of Chief Isidore's tribe and other Kootenay Indians, had arranged matters with the belligerent Isidore. The commission consisted of Dr. Powell, A. W. Vowell, S.M., and Col. Herchimer, of the mounted police. Dr. Powell arrived in Golden on Monday and yesterday advised the government that satisfactory arrangements had been made with Isidore, whereby, among other things, he bound himself to deliver up Caplan, the rescued prisoner, whenever required. This obviates the necessity of sending in the mounted police in order that the settlers might have protection and the uprising suppressed. Dr. Powell is en route for Victoria, Judge Vowell remained at Wild Horse Creek, and Col. Herchimer returns home.—Colonist.

HORRIBLE DISCOVERY.—A dispatch from Nashville, Tenn., dated the 30th ult., says: "The people of this section are excited over a ghastly discovery made in a cave on Monday near Cookville, on what was known many years ago as the Kentucky stock road. This was at that time the principal highway for traders between Kentucky and Georgia or South Carolina. A few days ago a party proceeded to explore the cave. At the bottom of the shaft the party found human bones, and with a little digging in the debris that had accumulated at this point unearthed about sixty skeletons of men who had been murdered and thrown into this hole. Some skulls were found with bulletholes through them, others being mashed with an axe or instrument of that kind. Old citizens say that the keepers of these dens would keep track of the travellers when they passed through with stock, and on their return they would be almost certain to disappear. There is another cave 20 miles from Cookville near one of the ancient inns, and an exploration of it will be made.

THE LOAN BY-LAW.—Last night action was taken before Mr. Justice McCreight to quash the loan by-law just passed by the city council, steps to this end having been taken by Mr. Smithers, for whom Mr. E. A. Jenns appeared as attorney. Arguments were continued until midnight, when it was deemed best to adjourn the case; and as the judge has to go to Vancouver this morning, and has to proceed from that city to Victoria, it will be some time before the arguments can be completed. From remarks made during the hearing it is inferred that the judge believes the amendment to the municipalities act under which the vote was restricted does not properly apply until next December, and that persons otherwise qualified should not have been excluded from voting under that amendment. Messrs. Corbould & McColl, who, with Mr. Atkinson, appeared for the corporation, have advised the council to submit the by-law again and to accept the votes of all persons qualified under the old acts. This, it is held, will remove any doubts that may exist respecting the validity of the by-law, and will be the simplest way out of the difficulty.

Joseph Rusan, Percy, writes: "I was induced to try Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil for a lameness which troubled me for three or four years, and found it the best article I ever tried. It has been a great blessing to me." Beware of similarly named articles; they are imitations of Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil.

MAIL CONTRACTS.—The period for receiving tenders for conveying the mails between Canada and Great Britain for ten years closed yesterday. The tenders are understood to be the C. P. R. and the Allan and Dominion steamship lines. The Allan and Dominion lines, in the event of securing the contract jointly, have plans and specifications ready for a fleet of "ocean greyhounds" which they intend to build.

Mr. R. A. Harrison, Chemist and Druggist, Dunnville, Ont., writes: "I can with confidence recommend Northrop & Lyman's Vegetable Discovery and Dyspeptic Cure for Dyspepsia, Impure Blood, Pimples on the Face, Biliousness and Constipation—such cases having come under my personal observation."

No Truth in It.

Mr. Chisholm's seat will become vacant before next session. He says he was by no means pleased with his parliamentary experiences of last session, is averse to the turmoil of politics, and finds the work thrown upon him as a member much greater than he anticipated.—Ottawa Free Press.

In connection with the above paragraph a reporter of the COLUMBIAN interviewed Mr. Chisholm. Mr. Chisholm said, "There is no truth in it. I never had any intention of resigning unless my constituents asked me to. It is simply the fabrication of some Ottawa reporter."

THERE IS A WIDE DIFFERENCE between medicines which affect merely the symptoms of disease and those which affect its cause. The first are useful as palliaties, the second, if of genuine efficacy, produce a radical cure. To the latter class belongs Northrop & Lyman's Vegetable Discovery and Dyspeptic Cure. Thoroughness of operation is its special attribute in all cases of Biliousness, Costiveness, Indigestion, Kidney Complaints, and Female Weakness.

The Dead.

Thos. Paxton, sheriff of Ontario county, Ont., died yesterday.

Ex-Gov. Morrell died yesterday at Augusta, Me., aged 84 years.

Duchesnay, member of parliament for Beauce Co., Quebec, died yesterday.

Chas. Henry Bruggermann, the well known German publicist, died in Berlin this morning, aged 77.

James Cullen, Pool's Island, N. F., writes: I have been watching the progress of Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil since its introduction to this place, and with much pleasure state that my anticipations of its success have been fully realized, it having cured me of bronchitis and soreness of nose; while not a few of my "rheumatic neighbors" (one old lady in particular) pronounce it to be the best article of its kind that has ever been brought before the public. Your medicine does not require any longer a sponsor, but if you wish me to act as such, I shall be only too happy to have my name connected with your prosperous child.

The West Shore
FREE

For the balance of 1886, including the mammoth holiday number, to all who subscribe now for 1887.

With the January issue THE WEST SHORE will begin its twelfth year. Every number contains original illustrations of scenery, towns and industries in the Pacific Northwest, equaling in excellence the best productions of Eastern magazines. The contributed articles, general literature and stories are entertaining and carefully edited, making the magazine a chaste family visitor. The comments on events of interest to this region and the large amount of information concerning our various resources and the progress of development given in every number render it extremely valuable. No family can afford to do without it, and every one financially interested in the Pacific Northwest or desirous of learning its resources will find it invaluable.

If the subscription price ($2 per year) is sent in now you will be entered for 1887, and the remainder of 1886 will be sent as a premium.

The Loan By-Law!
PROTEST FROM THE CITIZENS

To the Mayor and Council, City of New Westminster:

GENTLEMEN,—We, the undersigned, beg most respectfully to protest against the Loan Bylaw, 1887, being finally adopted. We object to it on many grounds, but it may be sufficient to say, among other things, that we strongly object to the Bylaw being acted upon when so many large property owners were, by what we consider an erroneous view of the law, excluded from voting. We are very adverse to any litigation, and shall only resort to that when compelled to do so. Therefore it is that we now request that the Bylaw may not be further proceeded with.

We are, Gentlemen,
Your Obedient Servants,

Loan Bylaw, 1887
To Raise a Loan of $75,000.

WHEREAS IT IS EXPEDIENT AND desirable to raise by loan the sum of $75,000, payable on the 15th day of July, A. D., 1887, with interest in the meantime payable half-yearly, at the rate of six per centum per annum, to be applied to the following purposes, that is to say:

A. For the opening up and improvement of Public Streets in the City of New Westminster, the sum of $20,750.

B. For the erection and furnishing of a City Hall, Court Room, Lock-up, Police Quarters, City Clerk's Office and Market, the sum of $15,000.

C. For improving the Crescent and Park, the sum of $5,000.

D. For purchasing at a sum not exceeding their par value all Debentures issued on the security of the City of New Westminster, the sum of $23,250, which Debentures are set out in the schedule to this section.

1. New Westminster Loan Bylaw, 1883, payable in ten years—balance unpaid ..... $ 3,500
2. New Westminster Loan Bylaw, 1885, payable in ten years—balance unpaid 4,000
3. Railway Bonus Bylaw, 1885, payable in twenty years—balance, 20,000
4. Woolen Mill Bonus Bylaw, 1886, balance 750

Total $28,250

And whereas the sum of $3,000 will have to be raised annually as a special rate for paying the interest and creating a sinking fund for paying the said loan at the days and times when the same shall become due by this Bylaw.

And whereas the amount of the whole rateable property of the Municipality according to the last revised Assessment Roll, being the Roll for the year one thousand eight hundred and eighty-seven, is the sum of $769,210, irrespective of any future increase of the rateable propeity of the Municipality, and of any income in the nature of tolls, interest or dividends from the work, or from any stock, shares or interest in the work upon which the money to be raised as herein provided, or any part thereof is intended to be vested, and also irrespective of any income from the temporary investment of the sinking fund or any part thereof.

And whereas to raise the said yearly sum of $6,000 the annual special rate upon the said rateable property will require to be eight-tenths of one per cent. on the dollar.

Therefore, the Mayor and Council of the Corporation of the City of New Westminster in council assembled enact as follows:

1. It shall be lawful for the Mayor of the said City to raise by way of a loan from any person or persons, body or bodies corporate, who may be willing to advance the same upon the credit of Debentures hereinafter mentioned, a sum of money not exceeding in the whole $75,000, and cause the same to be paid into the hands of the Clerk of the said Corporation for the purposes and with the objects hereinbefore recited.

2. It shall be lawful for the Mayor to cause any number of debentures to be made, each for such sum of money not less than $100 as may be required, and all such debentures shall be sealed with the seal of the Corporation of the City of New Westminster, signed by the Mayor and countersigned by the Clerk of the said City.

3. The said Debentures shall be made payable in fifty years from the day hereinafter mentioned for this Bylaw to take effect, at the office of the City Clerk of the City of New Westminster.

4. The said Debentures shall have coupons attached for the payment of interest at the rate of six per centum per annum on the amount of said Debentures payable half-yearly during the currency of said Debentures which coupons shall be papable at the office of said City Clerk.

5. For the purpose of forming a sinking fund for the payment of the principal of said Debentures and interest to become due thereon an equal special rate of eight-tenths of a cent on the dollar shall, in addition to all other rates, be raised, levied and collected in each and every year upon all the rateable property in the said City during the continuance of said Debentures.

6. It shall be lawful for the said Corporation from time to time to repurchase any of the said Debentures at such price or prices as shall be mutually agreed upon, and all Debentures so repurchased shall be forthwith cancelled, and no reissue of Debentures or any Debenture, shall be made in consequence of said repurchase.

7. In case any or all of the said Debentures mentioned in Section D in the recital of this Bylaw cannot be repurchased according to the provisions of this Bylaw, then and in such case the unused portion of said sum of $28,250, mentioned in said Section D of the said recital shall be placed to the credit of the sinking fund of the respective Debentures which cannot be redeemed, and the special rate mentioned in the Bylaw creating such Debentures shall not be levied as in said Bylaw mentioned, but instead thereof the amount required to be raised annually by such special rates for interest on such unredeemed Debentures, shall be paid out of the sinking fund created under said Bylaw, and this Bylaw and the principal sum of said unredeemed Debentures, shall if such Debentures cannot be sooner purchased, be paid out of the sinking fund as and when such Debentures shall become due respectively.

8. This Bylaw shall before the final passing thereof receive the assent of the Electors of the Corporation in manner provided by the Municipality Act, 1881.

9. This Bylaw shall take effect and come into force on the 15th day of July, A. D. 1887.

10. This Bylaw may be cited as the "Loan Bylaw, 1887."

Bylaw read the first time on the 23rd day of May, A. D. 1887.

Bylaw read the second time on the 23rd day of May, A. D. 1887.

Bylaw read a third time and passed by the Municipal Council on the 27th day of June A. D. 1887.

Reconsidered and finally passed on the 4th day of July A. D. 1887.
