It was the Landovery Castle that brought many invalided soldiers to Canada a few months ago. Ed Gauthier of Grand Forks was one of them, and he says the boat was very top heavy.

Vernon Price was killed at Copper Mountain last week. He was running a hoisting skip when a small rock, falling a long distance, struck and instantly killed him. He was 25 years old, and leaves a young wife. He was buried at Texada Island where his parents reside.

Gus Evans of Grand Forks is one of the fortunate newspaper men of the west, and has plenty of money. He owns an orchard out in the suburbs of the Forks, where he prints his weekly excitement. When he gets tired picking type he goes out into the garden and picks bugs off the spuds, apples off the trees, and gathers flowers for the bees. His office is near the cemetery, and the ghost walks every night. Little wonder that Gus has money in the b nk, paper in the cellar, and a meal ticket that runs into seven figures.

THE MAYOR,

GREENWOOD, B.C.

I am directed by the Commanding Officer of this Battalion, Lt-Col. A. B. Carey, D. S. O., to ask you to convey to the people of Greenwood and district the information that two brass plates inscribed, "Presented to the 54th Battalion, C. E. F., by citizens of Greenwood and district," have been received for attachment to the two Lewis Guns purchased by the Government with money subscribed for the purpose in 1915 while the battalion was at Vernon.

The guns to which these plates are to be attached have been in use for some time so that the contributors can feel that they have a direct interest in them, in the battalion, and in the war.

The thanks of the battalion are extended to each and every contributor.

A Sure Cure

One morning Jorkins looked over his fence and said to his neighbor, Harkins:

"What are you burying in that hole?"

"Just replanting some of my seeds, that's all," was the answer.

"Seeds!" exclaimed Jorkins, angrily. "It looks more like one of my hens!"

"That' all right," said the other, "The seeds are inside."

Miss Judith L. Johnson and Miss Huberta Margaret Shaw, who left Greenwood about three years ago recently passed as graduate nurses with honors, in company with an even 40 other nurses of the Vancouver General Hospital. The many friends of these young ladies are very pleased to learn of their wonderful success in their chosen profession.

Miss Irma Inghram, and Miss Estella Wright, have completed their three years training as nurses at the Grand Forks hospital. They received medals and diplomas for having so successfully passed their examinations. Miss Inghram is acting as a private nurse in Spokane, while Miss Wright is now connected with the nursing staff of the Oroville hospital.

Thomas Henry Rowe died recently at Desbarats, Ont., aged 38 years. He was keeping an hotel at the time of his death. He was well-known in Phoenix, having worked there 18 years ago, later going to Bruce Mines and Cobalt, Ontario. The funeral was held under the auspices of I. O. O. F. lodge of Bruce Mines, and interment took place in the Gordon Lake cemetery.

During the past week about 125 Doukhobor Women have passed through Greenwood, on their way to pick berries at Hatzic. None of them wore corsets or high-heeled boots. They had no paint on their faces, ate their meals in the day coach, and chanted songs like those old Methodist hymns, that the darkies used to sing in the South, when they were picking cotton.

Charles King is endeavoring to establish a regular monthly auction market, for the sale of cattle, stock and all variety of articles. This endeavor should be supported, as by this means the rancher will secure several buyers for his produce. The Auction at Rock Creek this month is used as a feeler, to see how far the ranchers are in sympathy with this new development.

The Pythian Sisters of Greenwood held their semi-annual installation of officers in the Masonic Hall on Friday evening last. A large gathering it was, and had it not been that the Sisters from Grand Forks intend appearing here on Wednesday the 10th it would have been larger. Everything went off in fine style, and at the light lunch provided there was speech making by the new officers and others, and expressions of good will from all. The affair closed at 11 p.m., after a good time, and everybody determined to increase the good work of the institution in the new term.

The fluorspar property on the north fork of the Kettle river, 20 miles from Grand Forks, has been secured by the Consolidated upon a lease and bond. The owners are J. S. Royce, Bert Averill, and C. M. Tobiason.

It is reported that the case of E. T. Beck and others, against the Voight Camp properties, has been postponed for two months. The plaintiffs are suing for a $75,000 interest in the property, claiming that they had expended that amount upon development.

At the annual meeting of the McGillivray Creek Coal and Coke company, held at Coleman, Alta., recently, Lorne A. Campbell of Rossland, B. C., was reelected president, J. A. Newell of St. Paul Minn, vice-president, and C. B. Smith secretary-treasurer. The officers, with Henry L. Simons of Glencoe, Minn., and Fitzhugh Burns of St. Paul, Minn., compose the members of the board of directors elected. Much of the stock is held in Spokane and vicinity.

The Lydia group of mines, a copper prospect near Birch Island station on the Canadian Northern Railway, in the North Thompson valley, upon which development work has been in progress on a comparatively extensive scale for the last six months, has shown results of sufficient encouragement for the building of a wide trail from Birch Island station to the property, and for the installation of a small compressor. Already the trail is nearly half built. Under the superintendence of Mr. F. E. Jagerson and directed by Mr. P. W. Racey, of Vancouver, a well known mining engineer, work on the property will be continued with increased force throughout the season.

They, Too, Carry On

"The greatest hero of the war, to my mind," writes an American surgeon "over there," " is the wonderful stretcher bearer. What fine brave lads they are. With never a murmur, they carry, carry, carry those poor lads who have been hit. They have no protection, and by necessity they are forced to travel over all sorts of shell-swept areas bearing their half-lifeless, breathing burdens."

We over here are prone to look upon war and see the fighter go over the top, or the soldier repelling attacks of the Huns. We keep our eyes upon the battle and hear only the bursting of shell and the thunder of the cannon roar. That is war, we think. But no, that is not all of war. For here and there in this inferno of death and destruction are the angels of mercy, themselves in constant peril, unknown, unhonored and unsung—the heroic stretcher-bearers.

French Wood Won't Burn

Suggested That Wood Merchants Have Soaked Their Product in Water

American soldiers have had some hard things to say about French firewood during the past winter. It has even been suggested that wood merchants have soaked their product in water for the same purpose that a dishonest grocer puts sand in sugar. Wood in France is sold by weight. The following true tale comes from an American officer. A company of American soldiers on the march had billeted for the night in a small country village. At marching time next morning a sergeant was detailed to stay behind and see, for the benefit of the villagers, that everything remained O.K. The sergeant finally saw an American trooper come out of a door and hurry to join his unit.

"Hey! did you put out that fire in there?" the sergeant yelled.

"Should say I did," the soldier responded as he ran, "I put some of that French wood on it." All of which was a satisfactory explanation for the sergeant and the company resumed the march.

The Smile That Wins

The Science of Selecting the Right Applicant for the Job

The modern employer is a captain of industry, in some cases a general. What does he expect of those coming to his recruiting station? In many cases he has thousands of troops, whose movements he must direct for the winning of his conquests. The first thing he says to himself, as he looks the recruit over is, "Will it pay me to train this young chap; can I make anything out of him?" This is a very serious problem in waste avoidance. It has been calculated that the cost of breaking in a green hand costs anywhere from forty to fifty dollars, items of expense which are appreciable when the number of employees run into the hundreds and even thousands. I know of one factory where, in three months, the manager hired two thousand workers for six hundred positions. The right kind of education for this employer, as well as for the workers, could have reduced this waste at least 75 per cent., so you see it becomes a very serious consideration for the employer that he does not make any mistake at the outset.

"By Jove, that's as homely a girl as I have seen for many a day. I'm going to look at my watch to see if she has stopped it."

"That's right, old man," said the other man, for the two were sitting next to me in the subway, "but I look at that young lady with eyes very different from yours. I've got a fine job for the right kind of a girl for the information desk in our reception room."

"You don't mean to say that you would give that 'clock-stopper' a chance at the job," said his friend.

"So much so, that if that young lady should come to my office within the next five days the position is hers. Strange as it may seem to you, that girl has presence. She holds herself well. Did you notice when she smiled—not at you, by the way—how her face lighted up? That girl is winsome; hers is a character face. Every caller whom she greeted at our information desk would go away satisfied, because he would receive definite, clean-cut information. The girl at the information desk is a big business-getter, or, by the same token, a big business repeller. How many times have you gone away from an office thoroughly disgusted with the indifference, lack of interest in the subject of your call. Never again. Then you at once think what other business house can supply your needs. The first house has very likely lost a good customer, all because the wrong girl was at the reception desk. Believe me, I'm right."—William H. Tolman, in Leslie's.

Turks Killing All Armenians

Deliberate Object of Ottoman Policy to Annihilate the Race

Boghos Nuner Pasha, president of the Armenian national delegation, who is now in Paris, states that he had received news from Armenia confirming the recent reports that Turkey was taking methodical measures to annihilate the race in every locality which the Turks have reoccupied. All Armenians are being put to death, he stated, and unless it is possible to intervene at an early date the Armenian race may be extinguished.

The national delegation has issued an appeal to the civilized world urging all peoples "to raise their voices before it is too late to prevent extermination of an old nation which has rendered so much service to civilization."

An Always Ready Pill.—To those of regular habit medicine is of little concern, but the great majority of men are not of regular habit. The worry and cares of business prevent it, and out of the irregularity of life comes dyspepsia, indigestion, liver and kidney troubles as a protest. The run-down system demands a corrective and there is none better than Parmelee's Vegetable Pills. They are simple in their composition and can be taken by the most delicately constituted.

Shell-shock Soldiers

An effort is being made to remove British soldiers suffering from shell-shock out of London to the country. Special military hospitals are being prepared in agricultural districts, where the men can be employed on the land and still remain under the care of medical specialists. A few are already in working order, and as quickly as further accommodation can be provided these cases will be taken out of reach of air raids.

It will always be necessary to keep a hospital for the collection of such men in London, but in future they will be treated principally in the country, while Canadians will be sent to recuperate at home as soon as they can safely travel.

Had Roast Pork as Guest of British

An amusing incident occurred recently. A German officer and three men went foraging for a pig in the hope that they would be able to have a meal of roast meat. They found two porkers, but, not satisfied, the officer left his men to guard the captives and went to see if he could find more pigs. He ran into some Australians, who took him with his men and the pigs to the British camp. The German officer had pork for dinner, but it was as a guest of the British.

Constructing Long Range Guns

A despatch to the Exchange Telegraph from Amsterdam says a frontier correspondent asserts that the Germans are constructing long range guns of the type used in the bombardment of Paris at Sereraing, five miles southwest of Liege, in Belgium, and that they have requisitioned the Cockerill works for the purpose. The despatch says that all the workmen in the factory have refused to work and will be deported this month.

PALE, LISTLESS GIRLS

Are in a Condition That May Lead to a Hopeless Decline

Perhaps you have noticed that your daughter in her "teens" has developed a fitful temper, is often restless and excitable without apparent cause. In that case remember that the march of years is leading her onto womanhood, and that at this time a great responsibility rests upon you as a mother. If your daughter is pale, complains of weakness and depression, feels tired out after a little exertion; if she tells you of headaches and backaches, or pain in the side do not disregard these warnings. Your daughter needs the help that only new, rich blood can give for she is anaemic—that is bloodless.

Should you notice any of these signs, lose no time, but procure for her Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, or her unhealthy girlhood is bound to lead to unhealthy womanhood. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills enrich the impoverished blood of girls and women, and by so doing they repair the waste and prevent disease. They give to sickly, drooping girls health, brightness and charm, with color in the cheeks, sparkling eyes, a light step and high spirits. If your daughter shows any signs of anaemia insist that she begins today to cure herself by the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Miss Grace E. Haskins, Watchford, Ont., says:—"It would be impossible for me to speak too highly of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. A few years ago my health was such that my parents were seriously alarmed. I was pale, listless and constantly tired. I suffered much from headaches, and my trouble was aggravated by a bad cough. I tried several medicines, but to no avail, and my friends thought I was in a decline. Then Dr. Williams' Pink Pills were recommended and my mother got three boxes. They were the first medicine that really helped me, and a further supply was got and I continued taking them for several months until they completely cured me. Today, thanks to Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, I am as healthy as any girl in Northern Ontario, and I am giving my experience that other girls may benefit by it."

You can get these pills through any dealer in medicine or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Work of Sacrifice on the Bleak and Barren Coast of Labrador

Dr. Grenfell's wonderful work of love and sacrifice on the bleak and barren coast of Labrador is one of the bright chapters of real life outfictioning fiction, where a real man is giving up his life for others. Physician, philanthropist, missionary and friend, Dr. Grenfell is an angel of mercy among the humble fishermen and simple Eskimo to whom he has brought healing and hope. A man prominent in Canadian public life said recently: "There is only one inconvenient thing about Dr. Grenfell—after you have talked with him it is impossible to do a mean action for at least a week." The Labrador medical missionary work is one of the finest examples of unselfish devotion to Christian ideals to be found outside the covers of a book. All honor to Dr. Grenfell, and may he never lack for finances to provide hospitals and medicine for the simple fisher folk from Devon and the shires of England who make their homes on this forbidden coast and depend altogether upon the run of fish for a livelihood.—Belleville Daily Intelligencer.

THIS WOMAN SAVED FROM AN OPERATION

By taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, One of Thousands of Such Cases.

Black River Falls, Wis.—"As Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound saved me from an operation, I cannot say enough in praise of it. I suffered from organic troubles and my side hurt me so I could hardly be up from my bed, and I was unable to do my housework. I had the best doctors in Eau Claire and they wanted me to have an operation, but Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound cured me so I did not need the operation, and I am telling all my friends about it."—Mrs. A. W. BINZER, Black River Falls, Wis.

It is just such experiences as that of Mrs. Binzer that has made this famous root and herb remedy a household word from ocean to ocean. Any woman who suffers from inflammation, ulceration, displacements, backache, nervousness, irregularities or "the blues" should not rest until she has given it a trial, and for special advice write Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass.

Only Need Leaders

Wouldn't Take Much to Start Revolt in Austria

Sefton Delmer telegraphs to the Daily Mail from the Franco-Swiss frontier as follows:

"I have had an interview with a man just out of Austria, whose information there is reason to credit. He says: 'Austria is at this moment seething with revolution, but there are no resolute, dauntless leaders and no means whereby the hungry, angry masses can organize themselves into effective groups. Also the whole people are cowed by the prospects of the punishment that might be inflicted upon them by the Germans if the much-vaunted victory of Ludendorff in the west really comes off.

"'The people of Austria are still starving. They manage to keep body and soul together with potatoes, mangel wurzels and other odds and ends, but there is bad feeling over the under feeding and consequently illness everywhere in Austria. Vienna itself is on the brink of starvation and living from hand to mouth, although the food speculators are believed to have considerable hoards.'"

There is grave uneasiness in Germany over the news from the east where apparently the German shortly will be confronted with overwhelming difficulties that will shatter the whole fabric of the Brest-Litovsk peace, says an Amsterdam despatch to the Daily Express. From Finland to the Ukraine there is ever-increasing opposition to German oppression.

Vienna reports, it is added, say that most of the Ukrainian crops were ruined by the peasants who would rather starve than feed the Germans.

French Decorations

122 Americans are Decorated for Bravery in Recent Fighting

The French army has decorated 122 American soldiers of a Massachusetts regiment with the war cross for bravery displayed in recent fighting. The ceremony was held on a picturesque field a short distance from the front line trenches.

One hundred and seventeen men from the One Hundred and Fourth (Massachusettes) regiment which bore the brunt of the German attack in the Apremant forest on April 12 received medals as did five men of another regiment who had participated in earlier fighting around Soissons. Here and there in the line were spaces representing Americans who were killed or wounded seriously.

The French general, in conferring the decoration, said of the regiment: "It showed the greatest audacity and a fine spirit of sacrifice. Subjected to very violent bombardments and attacked by large German forces it succeeded in checking the dangerous advance and took at the point of the bayonet in a most vigorous way prisoners and some demolished trenches from which it had fallen back at the first assault."

Grand Old Man Makes Statement

MR. GEO. SOMERS FINDS DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS BEST

In His Eighty-second Year He Tells Why, After Trying Other Medicines, He Pins His Faith to Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Barrie, Ont. (Special)—Mr. George Somers, Barrie's grand old man, now in his eighty-second year, has made a statement in regard to Dodd's Kidney Pills, Canada's grand old kidney remedy. "I have tried several kinds of kidney pills," Mr. Somers states. "I have arrived at the conclusion that Dodd's Kidney Pills are the best so far; at least, they have given me the best satisfaction. I have taken them for nearly twenty-five years off and on as I have needed them."

Mr. Somers, who for forty years before retiring was a carriage worker, strained his back while gardening, and for over twenty years had been troubled, more or less, with his kidneys.

That he has pinned his faith to Dodd's Kidney Pills after trying the other kinds is considered a splendid tribute to the grand old Canadian kidney remedy. At his advanced age he is splendid evidence of the good work Dodd's Kidney Pills are doing.

German Protests Against Annexations

German Government Has Not Abandoned Idea of Annexing

"Does anybody believe that after our ultimatum to Russia any other government that is not in a state of complete collapse will let itself be involved in separate negotiations with Germany?" asked Herr Haase, leader of the German Socialist minority, in a speech in the Reichstag protesting against the annexations in Russia. He continued:

"The Ukraine treaty has been concluded with a government that does not exist, and the Ukraine will undoubtedly join Russia again. It is impossible to regard the Ukraine peace as a stage on the road to general peace. The so-called 'frontier rectification' in Poland means nothing else than a new partition of Poland. Even from Finland we are sure stories of atrocities, whereas in reality revolutionary order prevails in Finland. We really should be wary of playing the part of liberator among the independent and mature people of Finland, which has long had universal suffrage for men and women."

Herr Haase declared that the German government has not abandoned the idea of annexing Longwy and Briey. In regard to Alsace and Lorraine, he said that the population must decide for itself.

A steel works manager named Joseph William Flack was fined $100 at Dudley, England, for having attempted to obtain several small sums by clocking more hours than he worked.

Eight nations in the European war have 17,000,000 fighting men.

Hindenburg's Verbal Strategy

Information That Is Directly Opposed to the Facts

No more massed attacks, said Hindenburg; and after allowing a few days for the tip to take root, proceeded to take Kemmel Hill by massed attacks. It seems to be pretty safe betting that if the German high command issues anything that looks like information, that information is directly opposed to the facts.

But then, once in a while the high command coppers its own tips, as witness that hugely advertised offensive.

German strategy is to keep the allies guessing; but two can play at that game, and it is altogether likely that Hindenburg and Ludendorff themselves are doing a considerable amount of guessing as to General Foch's intentions just now.

With the Fingers! Says Corns Lift Out Without Any Pain

Sore corns, hard corns, soft corns or any kind of a corn can shortly be lifted right out with the fingers if you will apply on the corn a few drops of freezone, says a Cincinnati authority.

At little cost one can get a small bottle of freezone at any drug store, which will positively rid one's feet of every corn or callus without pain or soreness or the danger of infection.

This new drug is an ether compound and dries the moment it is applied and does not inflame or even irritate the surrounding tissue. Just think! You can lift off your corns and calluses now without a bit of pain or soreness. If your druggist hasn't freezone he can easily get a small bottle for you from his wholesale drug house.

Must Stop Adding Bran and Shorts

All Flour in Future Must Bear the Designation "Government Standard Flour"

The food control board have instructed the mills that are re-grinding bran and adding it to the shorts, at once to discontinue the practice and keep the quality of shorts up to standard to meet the pig-feeding requirements. All flour in future must bear the designation "Government Standard Flour," and all quotations to the trade must be made on that designation. The mills will be allowed to put up graham flour in seven-pound paper bags, with the weight marked outside.

Mills are ordered, moreover, to encourage the purchase of graham flour and edible bran and are required to keep the same regularly in stock and recommend the adding of one pound of edible bran to every 4 or 5 pounds of government standard flour for the making of home-made bread.

The Last Front

No Peace in the World Until There Is a Revolution in Germany

There will be no peace in the world until there is a revolution in Germany sufficiently extensive to shift the centre of political power from junker to people. Russia, Finland and Roumania show that the present rulers of Germany are bent on conquest and domination. They play the old game of statecraft in the old way. Naturally a party which cherishes those ideals will believe that its neighbors are cherishing them. A continuation of their regime can mean nothing but a continuation of the old conditions of mutual jealousies and suspicious and competitive armaments.

The dominant mind in Germany must be a mind with different ideals, or there can be no reasonable assurance of peace. This German government—after all that has been said about Belgium—cheerfully assented to the principles of no annexations and no indemnities when it opened negotiations with Russia, and at once as cheerfully excepted all the Russian territory it wanted or could use from the application of those principles. Any nation which would trust that government would deserve what it would get at the first favorable opportunity.

How many more men must be sacrificed, what military reverses or disappointments may be necessary, before the German people take an effectual share in their government, no one can say. But, in view of what has happened meantime, it now appears, even more clearly than when President Wilson first said it, that the real objective of the war is simply a government in Germany which can be trusted. That will mean peace Nothing else will.—From the Saturday Evening Post.

Corns cause much suffering, but Holloway's Corn Cure offers a speedy, sure, and satisfactory relief.

A "Trusted" German Spy

Investigations Needed in the Cases Where Germans are Employed in War Work

No more alarming case of German espionage has been brought to light than that of Paul Henig, the "trusted" master mechanic of a company making torpedoes for the United States navy. Since another Henig, who passed as his son, is now interned at Ellis Island, it is not easy to understand the blind confidence which continued him in a position where he could do so much damage. Lieut. Shea, U.S.N., was the first to suspect him. This capable officer began an examination of the torpedoes on his own account and found that they were designed to circle back and sink the very ships firing them. There is no need to expatiate on the formidable nature of such a plot. Nor is it surprising that there should be considerable apprehension lest other unknown dangers of the kind threaten our military and naval forces. That Henig should pay the death penalty as a spy goes without saying; the example cannot be too severe. But there should also be an immediate searching investigation of other "trusted" Germans who are employed in war work. The consequences of untrustworthiness are too perilous to be ignored.—Philadelphia Ledger.

On the Trail of the Gopher

Get Together and Help Your School and the Allies by Catching "Mr. Flickertail"

When properly encouraged, boys and girls do splendid work in nature study. The work done in the gopher campaign in Manitoba one year go proved that fact. Prizes were offered for gopher killing, and also for information about gophers. As a result of this latter fact, definite information was gathered upon a number of important points that previously were in doubt; and this information has been incorporated in the new 20 page bulletin entitled "Gophers and Squirrels in Manitoba," just issued by the Manitoba department of agriculture.

Professor Jackson, biologist at Manitoba Agricultural College, the author of the bulletin, still bristles with unanswered questions about the gopher which he puts up as a challenge to the boys and girls. He wants to know, for instance, whether gophers rear one or two broods of young in a year. Strange, isn't it, that with all we know about these little pests, and with an estimated annual board bill in Manitoba alone of $5,000,000, we yet do not know whether the children come in one or two instalments.

In his bulletin, Prof. Jackson not only enumerates the various types of gophers and squirrels, but he also presents a map showing the distribution of the different species. Drawings of the different kinds of gophers and squirrels appear, and also prints to show the plan of the summer burrows close to the ground surface and then away down below the frost line for the winter home. This refers particularly to the flickertail gopher. Speaking of the striped gopher, Prof. Jackson says: "As it does not dig deeply many, no doubt, freeze up during hibernation, and there are many cases of this spermophile being found frozen stiff in haystacks, and 'coming to life' again in the spring. When the gopher hibernates in a hole, it sleeps for five months with a feeble heart beat of four times per minute instead of 200, and a blood temperature of 55 instead of 105. It is then unconscious, insensitive, and does not bleed when a limb is amputated."

The bulletin deals fully with the question of gopher poisons.

Convalescent Home in California

Great War Veterans of Canada have been asked to co-operate with the British Ambulance Society of Long Beach, Cal., in securing government and military sanction for the erection and operation of a large convalescent home for returned Canadian soldiers in that state. The society guarantees to raise the necessary funds to build and maintain the institution, and state they have the support of several British organizations in the United States.

If soldiers are willing to serve in the trenches, to dig ditches, build railroads, and risk their lives, many civilians can well afford to spare a part of their time to serve in the furrows and in the harvest fields.

MAGIC BAKING POWDER

A Catastrophe To Civilization

The Russian Peasant Proved an Admirable Colonist

The dissolution of Russia, if it comes about, will be an incalculable loss to civilization. The Russian peasant proved an admirable colonist in regions remote from the heart of Russia. He supplied, despite his ignorance, what the shortsighted old regime lacked—kindliness and common sense—characteristics that allayed the bitterness felt by subject races to the arrogance and stupidity of the ruling class. Under an enlightened, progressive, republican form of government the vast Russian state, if it had been left intact, might have assumed a world leadership. A handful of lunatics appears to have destroyed the marvellous opportunity that awaited the revolution.—John G. Holme in Asia.

id For Returned Soldiers

Will Prove Profitable to Country if Properly Handled

When a subsidy is given to a railroad it is looked upon as an investment from which the community expects to reap in due time a fair return.

Is not the same thing true of the assistance given to returned soldiers? Will not the day come, and before long, when these men will be on their feet, substantial citizens with a stake in the country and contributors in their degree to the national wealth and more or less cheerful payers of taxes? When this stage is reached will not the provinces or the Dominion be receiving back the money invested? Why, then, should there be a tendency to talk as if looking after the returned soldier were going to be a staggering burden? As a matter of fact, if properly handled, it ought to prove profitable for everybody concerned.—Brockville Recorder and Times.

New Type of Vessel

Building Electrically Propelled Merchant Ship in England

The first electrically propelled merchant ship ever built in England and the largest electric vessel in the world is now undergoing its finishing touches at a British shipyard, and will soon start on its first voyage. The vessel is designed on a system in which a combination of steam and electricity is employed. The importance of this type of vessel under present conditions is its decreased coal consumption and larger cargo space.

Standardize Schools in W. Canada

Complete standardization of the public, high and normal schools of Saskatchewan, Manitoba, Alberta and British Columbia within the next two years is forecasted by Hon. The British government has gratefully accepted the offer of Egypt to immediately contribute £3,000,000 towards war expenditure and also to provide a further half million in the new budget.

Britain Anxious Over Wheat Supply

Cable to Ottawa Asks That Every Effort Be Made in Shipments

Wheat imports are not arriving in the United Kingdom in quantities sufficient to meet the weekly requirements. Such is the grave report from the British ministry of food in its latest cable to the Canada food board, dealing with the food situation.

Lord Rhondda adds: "Every effort that can be exerted in Canada to increase shipments of wheat and meat will be invaluable."

The message reads: "Bacon is coming forward well, but all will be needed to make up the deficiency of meat supplies, which are scarcely likely to meet the requirements, even on restricted basis of existing compulsory meat rations.

"Cheese would also be welcomed, and it is hoped that arrangements will shortly be concluded whereby purchases of Canadian cheese can be effected.

"Wheat imports are not arriving in quantities sufficient to meet our weekly requirements. Every effort that can be exerted in Canada to increase shipments of wheat and meat will be invaluable.

"Arrangements have now been completed to extend compulsory rationing of butter, lard and margarine to the United Kingdom, on the same uniform system as is now in force for all kinds of meat, bacon and ham, poultry and sugar, with provision for the rationing of bread, tea, cheese or other commodities, if necessity compels."

Great Acreage Is Under Crop

The deputy minister of agriculture for Manitoba states that under favorable conditions that province should produce more than 42,000,000 bushels of wheat this year. A much greater area has been prepared for seeding than at this time last year. It is expected that a greater acreage than last year will be under cultivation.

BABY'S OWN TABLETS ALWAYS KEPT ON HAND

They are a mild laxative, thorough in action and never fail to relieve the minor ailments of little ones. The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

MOTHERS OF CANADA PREPARE FOR TROUBLE

When a girl becomes a woman, when a woman becomes a mother, and when a woman passes through the changes of middle life, are the three periods of life when health and strength are most needed to withstand the pain and distress often caused by severe organic disturbances. Many thousands in this section would testify as do the following:

St. Catharines, Ont.—"Over forty years ago I was restored to health by taking Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It was after medicine and doctors had failed to help me or give relief. I had, through overwork, become all run-down in health. I was weak and finally became a nervous wreck. The 'Prescription' was recommended to me, and at the time I started to take it I had not been able to do anything for over a year. I took the 'Favorite Prescription' and the 'Golden Medical Discovery' as well. It took several bottles, but I was completely restored to good health and since that time when I have felt the need of these medicines I have taken them and always with perfect satisfaction."—MRS. WM. BAKER, 33 Page St.

Stratford, Ont.—I was all run-down, weak, nervous. I also suffered with severe pains through my back. I was very miserable when a friend advised me to try Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and one bottle seemed to give renewed strength. It stopped the pain in my back, also helped my nervous condition. It is surely a good tonic for women.—MRS. FLORENCE CULLUM, 100 Milton St.

Bullies in a Prison Camp

German-Americans Who Put Knowledge of English to Vile Uses

Amongst the odious tools of the kaiser employed in German prison camps are two brothers who claim to have enjoyed American citizenship for many years. They have earned unexampled notoriety for their infamous treatment of British officers and men. The two individuals in question rejoice in the name of Niemeyer their ages lie between fifty and sixty, and both are Hauptmann (captains) of the reserves. They speak most fluent but execrable English, and are decorated with the Iron Cross of the second class.

The scene of their activities lies in the Tenth, or Hanover, army command, which groans under the despotic rule of Lieut.-Gen. Hanish, who selected the Niemeyers as his particular agents. Hanish, as commander of the Tenth army corps, is directly responsible to the kaiser, and to no one else. Marked out for the dastardly work of ill-treating the British by ther knowledge of English, and by their claim of acquaintance with English and American customs, the Niemeyers have given their chief no regret on account of their selection.

Active, plausible, relentless, and ambitious to earn the favor of the general, the two German-American captains are well able to execute the secret instructions of the venomous Hanish. No stone has been left unturned to humiliate, bully, rob and injure the unfortunate victims of this iniquitous command.

The Napoleonic Parallel

Germany's Ruthless War Plans a Counterpart of Previous History

Ralph Waldo Emerson, in his "Representative Men," one of the classics of American literature, thus closes his sketch of Napoleon Bonaparte. The parallel with Kaiser Wilhelm II. is striking:

"Here was an experiment, under the most favorable conditions, of the powers of intellect without conscience. Never was such a leader so endowed, and so weaponed; never leader found such aids and followers. And what was the result of this vast talent and power, of these immense armies, burned cities, squandered treasures, immolated millions of men, of this demoralized Europe? It came to no result. All passed away, like the smoke of the artillery, and left no trace. He left France smaller, poorer, feebler, than he found it; and the whole contest for freedom was to be begun again. The attempt was, in principle, needless. France served him with life and limb, and estate, as long as it could identify its interest with him; but when men saw that after victory was another war, after the destruction of armies, new conscriptions, and they who had toiled so desperately were never nearer to the reward—they could not spend what they had earned, nor repose on their down-beds, nor strut in their chateaux—they deserted him. Men found that his absorbing egotism was deadly to all other men. It resembled the electrical eel, which inflicts a succession of shocks on any one who takes hold of it, producing spasms which contract the muscles of the hand, so that the man cannot open his fingers, and the animal inflicts new and more violent shocks, until he paralyzes and kills his victim. So this exclusive egotist narrowed, impoverished, at last abolished the power and existence of those who served him; and the universal cry of France and of Europe in 1814 was 'enough of Napoleon.'

"It was not Napoleon's fault. He did all that in him lay to live and thrive without moral principle. It was the nature of things, the eternal law of man and of the world, which balked and ruined him; and the result, in a million experiments, will be the same. Every experiment, by multitudes or by individuals, that has a selfish and selfish aim, will fail. The pacific Fourier will be as inefficient as the pernicious Napoleon. As long as our civilization is essentially one of property, of fences, of exclusiveness, it will be mocked by delusions. Our riches will leave us sick; there will be bitterness in our laughter; and our wine will burn in our mouth. Only that good profits which we can taste with all doors open, and which serves all men."

Aerial Navigation Over Great Lakes

Detroit & Cleveland Co. Is Investigating Types of Passenger Aircraft

The Detroit & Cleveland Aerial Navigation Co., of which A. A. Schantz, a wealthy Detroit steamboat man, is the head, is now conducting investigations of aircraft to determine what will be safe and satisfactory for carrying passengers up and down the Great Lakes. Mr. Schantz says air transportation between Detroit and Cleveland and Detroit and Buffalo will be established as soon as a satisfactory type of craft can be found.

The Detroit & Cleveland Aerial Navigation Company was formed more than ten years ago, when it first seemed likely that air transportation would be put on a practicable basis. The officers, stockholders and directors of the company are the same as those of the Detroit & Cleveland Navigation Company.

The emergency service that Mr. Schantz has planned, would be to carry passengers who must make unusually fast time between Detroit and Cleveland, or Detroit and Buffalo or New York. It is planned to have planes ready at a moment's notice to leave Detroit, Cleveland or Buffalo. In case the company is given mail contracts to handle, a regularly scheduled service will be established.

Canada's Achievement

Canada Is Out to Do Its Share in Beating Germany

As for casualties, there have been 400,000 Canadians under fire so far and 100,000 have been killed, wounded and taken prisoner. Major-General Mewburn does not state how many of that number were killed in action or died of wounds, but a recent semi-official statement fixed it at about 30,000. In three years of the hardest kind of fighting only one in thirteen or so was killed.

This is Canada's military achievement—a splendid one, which overshadows any misgivings as to cost to the country in money. Up to March 31 there had been $835,000,000 spent and, as is noted, it is estimated that $500,000,000 will be needed in the year ending next March 31. That is a big jump from the $60,000,000 spent in 1914-15 and even from the $302,000,000 spent in 1917-18. But Canada is out to do its share in beating Germany, and the financial cost, great as it is in proportion to the country's wealth, is a mere incident to that great objective.—From the Buffalo Express.

Much Profit in Sheep

Shortage of Both Wool and Meat Will Continue After the War

Sheep-raising in the North American continent is almost "superfluous," says a writer in the Country Gentleman. "We are facing a wool famine, to say nothing of a meat shortage that is acute enough to make every domestic animal in America—from a Belgian hare to a declining dairy cow—shiver with dread."

It requires the wool from about twelve sheep to clothe and equip every soldier. Wool production in Canada in 1910-11 was 13,000,000 pounds, and in 1914-15, the first year of the war, 13,250,000 pounds. In 1916-17 it was 14,000,000 pounds. The number of sheep in Canada in 1910-11 was 2,100,000, in 1914-15, 2,225,000 and in 1916-17, 2,500,000. The price of wool in 1910-11 was 15 cents per pound "in grease," in 1914-15 it was 20 cents, and in 1917, 95 cents. Pure bred ewes were worth to farmers before the war, $25 to $30, and are worth now from $50 to $100. Not more than two per cent. of the ewes are slaughtered in Canada, and only the youngsters and the old ones are butchered as a rule.

Farmers in many parts of Canada will find sheep-raising a highly profitable activity under present conditions. The shortage of both meat and wool ensure that high prices for both will continue for a very considerable period after the war.

The Canada food board has suggested, in the interests of sheep-raising, that local authorities should take action to protect sheep against dogs.

Pat Burns, Canada's cattle king, has donated a $15,000 airplane to the Royal Air Force through the Canadian aviation fund.

The Value of an Egg

One Pound of Egg Equal to Two Pounds of Meat

An egg is composed of three parts—the shell, the yolk and the white. The relative weights of the various parts are: Shell and lining, 106.9; albumen, 604.2; yolk, 288.9. One-half of the egg is nutriment, whereas meat is rated at best as only one-fourth. Thus it will be seen that one pound of eggs will be equal to two pounds of meat. A fresh egg is living food. Its nutritive qualities are in perfection and its component parts exactly balanced. A change begins as soon as laid. The moisture is reduced by evaporation through the ducts of the shell, and air is absorbed. The vitality decreases gradually unless by external warmth the process is hastened; finally death ensues and putrefaction follows. Eggs may be kept apparently fresh for a long time if taken when freshly laid and the pores of the shell hermetically sealed by rubbing them with sweet oil or dipping them for an instant in boiling water. Infertile eggs, where the material for the structure and support of life are present but the vitality has not been added, will keep longest, and do not putrefy but simply dry; therefore infertile eggs are best except for incubation purposes.

Canada and The Food Problem

Excerpts from an American Appreciation in the Outlook Magazine

"Canada is in better position than the United States to meet the food crisis because of the greater availability of its enormous unused acreage, its somewhat better labor situation, its efficient coalition government, and, above all, because of the spirit of effective co-operation that dominates, in spite of minor discords. The Dominion and the various provincial governments, the bankers and the powerful farmers' associations, such as the Grain Growers of the northwest, are striving to attack this huge problem in a practical way."

"All the provincial governments, as well as that of the Dominion, are not only planning but doing things to forward the movement for greater crops in spite of all difficulties.

"There is, in fact, nothing that the United States has done that Canada has not also done, and they have added and are adding many measures not yet considered here.

"It is planned to make each province as nearly self-supporting as possible. Quebec, for instance, normally consumes about 12,000,000 bushels of wheat, but grows only about 4,000,000. The government has set aside for distribution in Quebec 400,000 bushels of wheat for additional seeding, in the hope of enabling that province to take care of itself. And Quebec probably has nearly enough farm labor. Similar movements are on foot in the maritime provinces to encourage them to grow as much as possible of other foods that can be used in place of wheat and bacon. The same is true of British Columbia.

"Governmental control is being applied to providing an abundance of fish . . . . at nearly cost price, and is already partially effective. Canada has a license system, and is using all the voluntary restrictions of diet in effect here." (i. e. in the United States.)

"The Dominion government has bought one thousand tractors from the Ford Company and is selling them to farmers at cost."

A Minister of Health

Should Look at the Facts Regarding Tuberculosis and Insanity

Over and over again it has been suggested that Canada should have a minister of health. If anyone doubts the wisdom of this suggestion let him look at the facts regarding tuberculosis and insanity. Tens of thousands of tubercular subjects are dying every year while the absolute lack of isolation is insuring the contamination of other tens of thousands. On the governments of Canada rests the blame for this negligence. There are a few sanitariums caring for a small portion of the consumptives of our country, and there it ends—a crying disgrace to our legislators who apparently never give to the one hundred thousand tuberculous subjects a passing thought. Mental diseases also are little thought of and little cared for. Hundreds of insane men, women and children, many of them curable, are forced into lunatic asylums which in many cases are chambers of torture.—Montreal Star.

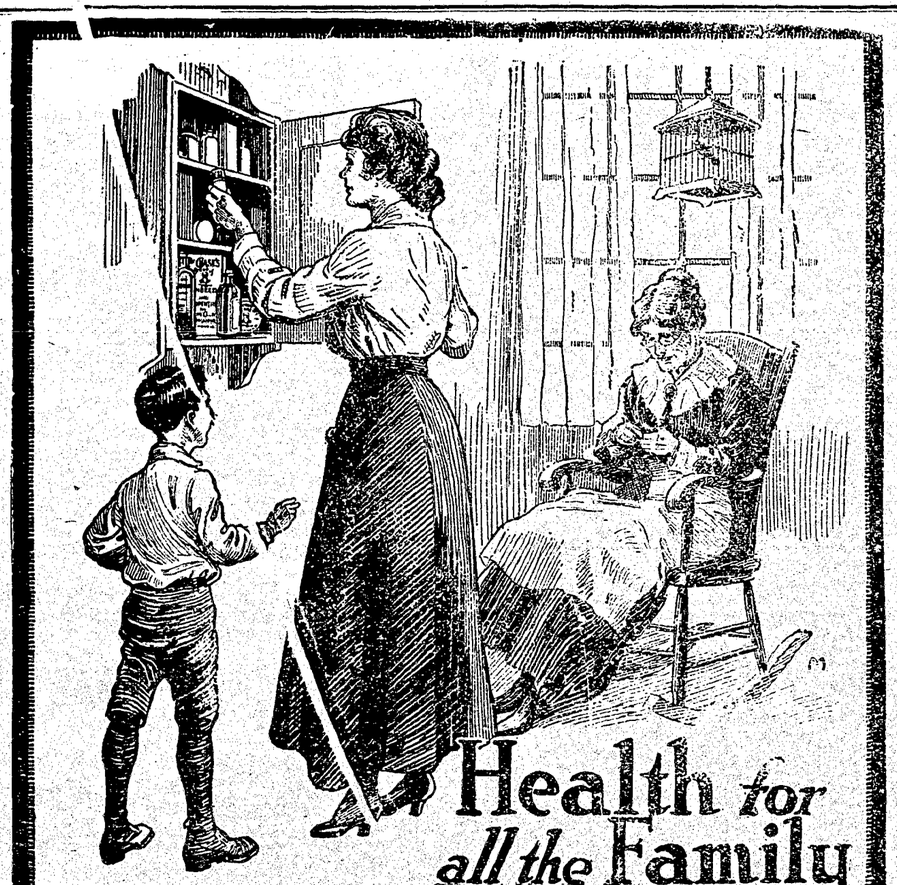
What We Must Be

We must be in all circumstances a disciplined people, an iron-hearted, unwavering people, seeing big things in their right proportion, not put out by incidents however unpleasant, not flinching under any test of fortitude however harsh, a people endlessly dogged, immeasurably obstinate, immortally resolved.—From the London Observer.

Miller's Worm Powders are sweet and palatable to children, who show no hesitancy in taking them. They will certainly bring all worm troubles to an end. They are a strengthening and stimulating medicine, correcting the disorders of digestion that the worms cause and imparting a healthy tone to the system most beneficial to development.

Potatoes in Bread-making

Dr. Campbell, of the British ministry of food, speaking of the result of experiments, says the addition of potatoes to flour improves the bread in every way. It gives it a better bloom, texture, and flavor, and the bread keeps well. On account of the shortage of wheat flour, it is the patriotic duty of everyone baking bread at home to use a certain quantity of potatoes.



Health for all the Family

MODERN artificial methods of life make it absolutely necessary to use medicines occasionally to ensure the regular and healthful action of the liver, kidneys and bowels.

In the great majority of homes Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills are recognized as the most satisfactory regulating medicine for all the members of the family.

This medicine is not in any sense a cure-all, but its use occasionally, as required, ensures the activity of the liver, kidneys and bowels, the cleansing of the system, and the purifying of the blood.

For this reason you can depend on Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills to prevent and cure constipation, torpid liver, indigestion, kidney derangements and resulting painful ailments, such as backache, rheumatism and lumbago.

Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills are so universally used that you can obtain them at any store where medicines are sold.

THE greatest disaster that can befall a town is the loss of its newspaper. Many people forget this until it is too late. In these modern western days a town without a newspaper, is like a man who has lost his voice. Men of public spirit know that these words are true, and that editors cannot live upon ozone, printers pi, and free publicity dope.

No loafers are allowed in San Diego. The police arrest tourists, G. A. R. Veterans, invalids, and others who sit on the seats at the plaza and do nothing. Such a craze for making everybody work, will kill the tourist business of that city. It has been always noted for freak legislation, and its city council contains more dubs and mental defectives than any other place in America.

PROSPECTING for booze in B. C. is very active. Float is found in nearly every locality, but it is seldom that much is found in place. Owing to the excessive amount of water some deposits cannot be worked satisfactorily, while others require a flotation plant in order to get rid of the base elements. Prices are good, but the government regulations are constantly taking capital away from the industry.

As an example to the Yankee nation President Wilson is raising a flock of sheep, on the lawn back of the White House. We are something like Wilson. For years we have permitted other people's chickens to pick bugs on the lawn in rear of our typographical palace, sit on our wood pile, and lay their eggs in the woodshed. This summer we have done more. We have invited and permitted all the equines and bovines in the city to graze right down on our beautiful parklike lawn, and eat everything they could reach, including champagne bottles, printers pi, and delinquent subscribers. We believe in doing our bit, even if our lovely lawn does now resemble the night after a shell harvest in No Man's Land.

The Fun in Life

A sense of humor is more valuable for a busy woman than all the latest inventions for making housekeeping easy. The patent dishwasher, the self-feeding and self-shaking range, the washing machine, the bread-mixer and the egg-beater all put together will not help "mother" through Saturday morning so well as the ability to laugh long and heartily.

Unfortunately, there is no school where this accomplishment can be learned. The giggling girl is not so sure to grow up a laughing woman. She may regard herself and her own affairs with a pretentious seriousness. Egotism is fatal to a true sense of humor. So is a lack of imagination. So is that morbid conscientiousness which is our least desirable inheritance from Puritanism.

That family is fortunate indeed where the mother is first to see a joke and to lead the mirth. In too many homes her sole share in merriment is her dismal "I'm sure I don't see what you're laughing about!" The mother, an invalid for years, who could answer an inquiry about her health with a quizzal smile and a quick "Sick abed, and worse up!" was not a burden but a joy to the children who found her room "the jolliest place in the house."

A nonsense rhyme, a droll conundrum, a lively repartee, a story of misadventure may all serve as sauce for a dull day. The appetite for fun may be coaxed to grow by what it foeds on, until the mature woman, laden with responsibilities, can smile at her own small trials and help other to follow her example. She will learn first not to cry over spilt milk, and later will even master an even more useful accomplishment, and will laugh over it.—Youth Companion.

Outdoors

There is no pain of the human heart, no fever of the mind which is not assuaged and healed by a day or an hour spent alone in quiet fields and gardens, under the open sky.

We are at war and every heart is troubled and sad at war's cost, and every mind is weary with endless questionings. But summer has laid its gracious hands upon the earth and hung it with green draperies of trees and grass, filled with soft airs, and covered us all with tender skies.

To all the stately wisdom of the trees and wide fields there is added the homely comfort of the all-enfolding grass and of our own gardens.

No mother of a soldier may walk among her roses, clip the sweet sprays of honeysuckle, or touch any of the bright children of the sun without a tender thought of her boy and the flower he loved best, without a fresh resolve to keep her house and heart sweet and sunny as a garden for her son's sake.

No father of a boy of service can work among his thrifty rows of vegetables without thanksgiving that is in his power to make the earth yield food for his fighting son and all his brothers. These summer twilights many a fear and heartache is hoed under and buried deep in a prosperous garden, and many a quiet thought and glorious vision is found by a tired man digging among his vegetables.

Now is the time that we may find the heoling of the out-of-doors, a balm for all the years wounds to mind and spirit.

THE ADVANTAGES OF THE TELEPHONE

The telephone proves its worth every day. Nothing can take its place. Whomever you wish to speak to, the telephone brings them, as it were, right to you and you converse easily and naturally. True, you cannot see the person to whom you are talking, but you recognize the tones of the voice, you note all the inflections of speech. Nothing else enables you to do this but the telephone.

SYNOPSIS OF
LAND ACT AMENDMENT

Pre-emption now confined to surveyed lands only.

Records will be granted covering only land suitable for agricultural purposes and which is non-timber land.

Partnership pre-emptions abolished, but parties of not more than four may arrange for adjacent pre-emptions, with joint residence, but each making necessary improvements on respective claims.

Pre-emptors must occupy claims for five years and make improvements to value of $10 per acre, including clearing and cultivation of at least 5 acres, before receiving Crown Grant.

Where pre-emptor in occupation not less than 3 years, and has made proportionate improvements, he may, because of ill-health or other cause, be granted intermediate certificate of improvement and transfer his claim.

Records without permanent residence may be issued provided applicant makes improvements to extent of $300 per annum and records same each year. Failure to make improvements or record same will operate as forfeiture. Title cannot be obtained on these claims in less than 5 years, with improvements of $10 per acre, including 5 acres cleared and cultivated, and residence of at least 2 years.

Pre-emptor holding Crown Grant may record another pre-emption, if he requires land in conjunction with his farm, without actual occupation, provided statutory improvements made and residence maintained on Crown granted land.

Unsurveyed areas, not exceeding 20 acres, may be leased as homesites; title to be obtained after fulfilling residential and improvement conditions.

For grazing and industrial purposes, areas exceeding 640 acres may be leased by one person or company.

PRE-EMPTORS' FREE GRANTS ACT.

The scope of this Act is enlarged to include all persons joining and serving with His Majesty's Forces. The time within which the heirs or devisees of a deceased pre-emptor may apply for title under this Act is extended from one year from the death of such person, as formerly, until one year after the conclusion of the present war. This privilege is also made retroactive.

TOWNSITE PROPERTY ALLOTMENT ACT.

Provision is made for the grant to persons holding uncompleted Agreements to Purchase from the Crown of such proportion of the land, if divisible, as the payments already made will cover in proportion to the sale price of the whole parcel. Two or more persons holding such Agreements may group their interests and apply for a proportionate allotment jointly. If it is not considered advisable to divide the land covered by an application for a proportionate allotment, an allotment of land of equal value selected from available Crown lands in the locality may be made. These allotments are conditional upon payment of all taxes due the Crown or to any municipality. The rights of persons to whom the purchaser from the Crown has agreed to sell are also protected. The decision of the Minister of Lands in respect to the adjustment of a proportionate allotment is final. The time for making application for these allotments is limited to the 1st day of May, 1919. Any application made after this date will not be considered. These allotments apply to town lots and lands of the Crown sold at public auction.

For information apply to any Provincial Government Agent or to
