A Big Farm.

Some months ago reference was made in this journal to the great farming enterprise organized by Major Bell under the name of the Qu'Appelle Farming Co. In the Winnipeg Times of 16th May we find an elaborate description of this gigantic concern which we are sure will be interesting to our readers. The Bell farm is situated not far from Qu'Appelle, and it comprises 60,000 acres—the largest farm on this continent, and, we believe, the largest in the world. The location is well chosen, and as the railway runs through the farm, the facilities for shipment are excellent. There are under crop 4,000 acres of land, and on the 15th May there were ploughed ready for sowing 10,000 acres. On the farm are employed 70 men, 105 horses, 34 sulky plows, 40 harrows, and 20 double seeders. The seeders have a capacity for seeding 180 acres per day. The furrows generally are a mile long, and are made with great regularity and precision. In fact, the whole business of the farm goes on with the precision of clock work. The farm is laid out in lots of 213 acres each, and on each lot will be erected a substantial house, barn, etc. There are now over twenty houses finished, and within a year it is expected the number will be increased to 80. The houses are substantial, convenient and comfortable. Along all the leading roads throughout this great farm there are being planted trees, and in a few years these roadways will present the appearance of shady and beautiful avenues. The company have a capital of $600,000, and will doubtless realize an immense profit so soon as the farm has been thoroughly broken up and put under crop. They paid $1.25 per acre for the concern, on condition that 25,000 acres would be under crop within five years. This condition will undoubtedly be fulfilled. It was very properly considered by the Dominion government and the railway syndicate, from whom the lands were obtained, that such an enterprise would become a most valuable advertisement for the North-west, and in view of that fact special concessions were made to the company. It is expected that others who witness the success of this establishment will engage in similar enterprises, and so materially assist in the development of the territory. The company propose to sell the farms (213 acres) when they have been brought under proper cultivation, and when the necessary buildings have been put up on each one. They have a half interest in the townsite of Indian Head, which will be the railway station of the Bell farm, and this property will undoubtedly become very valuable. It is to be hoped the Bell farm may prove as successful as its promoters anticipate; and it may not be too much to hope that the effect of its success may lead others to undertake systematic farming on a large scale both in the North-West and in British Columbia.

CLAM SOUP.—Fifty clams; one quart of milk; one pint of water; two tablespoonfuls of butter. Drain off the liquor from the clams and put it over the fire with a few bits of cayenne pods, half a dozen blades of mace and salt to taste. Let it boil for ten minutes, then put in the clams and boil half an hour, keeping the pot closely covered. If you dislike to see the whole spices in the tureen, strain them out before the clams are added. At the end of the half hour add the milk, which has been heated to scalding, not boiling, in another vessel. Boil up again, taking care the soup does not burn, and put in the butter. Serve without delay.

The Russian Government has begun to execute its scheme for colonizing the lower part of the Amoor province, adjoining the Chinese frontier, by dispatching from Odessa 810 emigrants, constituting 250 families. If the project, which contemplates the removal of 100,000 persons to the new settlements, is carried out on the scale on which it has begun, the expense will be enormous—not much less than $10,000,000, in the opinion of the Moscow Gazette.

According to the St. Paul Pioneer-Press, the annual cut of lumber in Minnesota and Wisconsin exceeds four billion feet. This, as forests grow in those states, represents the trees standing on 1250 square miles, or about thirty-five townships of land.

Parnell's Reply to the Pope.

Parnell has at last made an official utterance, in the form of an open letter to a Paris journalist, concerning the Pope's circular. He announces that he is pleased with it, because of the effect it will certainly have upon the fortune of the real Irish party. The breach the papal circular has already caused among the papers which affected to represent the Irish cause, Mr. Parnell says, he regards with delight, because it will place the Catholic religion just where it belongs in the politics of Ireland. Some of the truest republicans in Ireland have felt themselves compelled to conceal their sympathy with the Irish party, and to hold aloof from all participation in its movements, because of a general impression that Ireland being the stronghold of the Catholic faith no genuine Irish political movement could ever occur except it were dominated by the church. Now that the Pope had officially declared that the church did not recognize the Irish party, but forbade its priests to make themselves conspicuous in its actions, the Irish people could realize how completely Irish politics were divorced from religious dominations, and Catholic and Protestant republicans could work together in complete harmony. Parnell concedes that the Pope's action may have been astute, from a Roman point of view, but claims that Leo XIII. overreached himself if he intended to give to England the influence of the Catholic church in Ireland. The Irish national league are preparing for a campaign of extraordinary energy. They hope to increase the number of the Parnell party in parliament from thirty to sixty. If they succeed they will have, by the addition of sympathizers, a solid vote of seventy in the next session. Parnell is preparing a proclamation which he will issue to the Irish people. It will strongly urge all Irishmen, irrespective of religion, to rally to the support of the national party. It will distinctly announce the separation of Ireland as the basis of the future programme of the Irish people. The executive committee of the national party. The executive committee of the national league will thoroughly pamphlet and placard Ireland, and will issue and circulate complete instructions concerning all regulations and laws, and do anything possible to guide the Irish people in the interest of the national party in the coming elections. The secretary of each branch of the league will be supplied with copies of a list of voters.

COULD AFFORD TO SELL IT CHEAP.—"Boss, does yer wanter buy a ham?" asked a negro of a white man. "What is it worth?" "Wall, as it's yerse'f, yer may take it fur fifty cents." "That won't do. You can affordto sell it for less, for I believe you stole it anyhow." "Boss, doan' cuse me so rash. Have a little mussy 'bout yer pusson. But, I tell yer boss, if yer won't say nothin' 'bout it, I'll let ye hab it fur forty cents." The white man agreed and paid over the amount. The negro, just as he crossed the street, was accosted by an acquaintance, who said: "What did yer let dat man hab dat ham so cheap fur?" "Oh, I could 'ford it, 'cause I stole it outen his own smoke house." Arkansaw Traveler.

Oh! Consistency.

We are afraid Mr. Shakespeare, one of Victoria's prominent representatives in the House of Commons, is sometimes open to a charge of inconsistency. It is well known that he is a professed champion of the temperance cause, and a member of the Dominion Alliance for the Suppression of the Liquor Traffic. His membership of that society implies that he will give his influence to the suppression of the sale of liquor. But when the Dominion license bill was under discussion Mr. Shakespeare seems to have gone back on his principles. A clause had been inserted in the bill (at whose suggestion we do not know) exempting the city of Victoria from the clause which limited the number of licenses. Objection was made to this exception by some member of the house. The report says that "Mr. Shakespeare contended for the exception on the ground that to apply the general law to that town would effect a radical and too sudden change; it would have the effect of shutting up half the licensed taverns in the town." Mr. Gordon (Nanaimo) and Mr. Homer (New Westminster) pointed out the absurdity of Mr. Shakespeare's position, and the House of Commons had good sense enough to strike out the exception by a very decided vote. We are very sorry that Mr. Shakespeare has placed himself in such an embarrassing position, and it is to be hoped his defeat will cause him to reflect upon the uncomfortable and disappointing condition of a man who tries to sit upon two stools at once.

The Settlement.

On the fourth page of this paper will be found a report of Sir John Macdonald's speech on the British Columbia settlement. If Sir John means what he says, there is not much room to doubt that arrangements will be made this season for carrying out the objects embodied in the settlement bill passed by our legislature. The only point of importance in which a serious misunderstanding seems to have arisen is in reference to the island railway. The provincial act states that the island railway lands are to be disposed of at $1 per acre. As these lands are to be handed over to the company constructing the railway, Sir John felt that the government could not limit the value of them by fixing a price. We believe, however, that the company proposing to construct the railway have declared their willingness to take the lands with that limitation. This fact should make the arrangement of the settlement easy, as it removes out of the way what seems to us the chief obstacle. Mr. Dunsmuir, who is to be the railway contractor, was in the house when the bill passed, and must have been a consenting party to the $1 an acre clause. It may turn out, however, that these statements made by Sir John will never bear fruit. He made statements very much similar with respect to the opening of the mainland railway lands last year, and these lands are not open to settlement yet. The people of this province have been so long humbugged by federal promises that they should count upon nothing but performances. We hope these matters may be adjusted without delay. The efforts of the provincial authorities to bring immigrants to this country and induce permanent settlement will be to a great extent neutralized if the lands are not made available. The development of the country will be retarded to such an extent as it will not be able to recover for many years to come. It will not take long to develop the policy of the intentions of the federal government, and we shall, therefore, soon be able to ascertain what is really our fate.

The Two Bureaus.

The wisdom of establishing immigration bureaus at Victoria and this city has been abundantly shown. We learn through private sources that Mr. Jessop, the Victoria agent, is kept busy almost every day in the week looking after immigrants, and sometimes his office is as full as it can hold. These people are directed and advised, and enter upon life in this province with much of the experience which it has cost others years of labor to acquire. Mr. Ross only opened the immigration office in this city two or three days ago, and although the establishment is scarcely known to anybody, he has already done good work. On Wednesday and Thursday he managed to dispose of no fewer than 22 persons in search of employment or homes, and there are others whom he has still under advice. When the office in this city becomes better known both to immigrants and persons looking for white labor, we are satisfied it will accomplish very important results. Some of those who lately arrived are very much pleased at the treatment they have received, and at the disposition manifested by the provincial government to give them information and assistance. While speaking of immigration we may say that the course pursued by some people in Victoria has been most unpatriotic and suicidal. We have undoubted authority for the assertion that immigrants are systematically discouraged from coming to the mainland by people at the provincial capital. If they cannot find lands or employment on the island they are told that it is useless to venture further, and are advised to go to Washington Territory. This has been done more than once, and under the very noses of mainlanders. We protest against such conduct. It can only have the effect of retarding the progress of this province and embittering the sectional jealousies which have unfortunately existed too long already. Mr. Jessop, the provincial agent of immigration at Victoria, will be able to counteract to some extent the evil effects of such cruel misrepresentations, but that does not mitigate the meanness of those who make such unpatriotic exhibitions of their selfishness and folly.

PRELIMINARY NOTICE.

—AN IMPORTANT—

AUCTION SALE

Of city suburban and Port Moody property will be had at the Colonial Hotel at an early date. Parties desirous of disposing of their property are hereby invited to place the same in the hands of the undersigned at as early a date as possible, in order that the same may be fully advertised, to enable intending purchasers to visit and examine for themselves before day of sale. This is considered a rare chance for parties desirous of selling, as also for intending purchasers, as in the event of there being no sale effected there will be no charge. Terms as usual.

ALSO,

In connection with the Agricultural Fair to be held in this city, the undersigned proposes holding

AN AUCTION SALE

On the evening of the first day of Fair of Homesteads, Wild Land, Etc. On the second day of Fair an auction sale will be held of Stock and Farm Produce. This will give an opportunity to Farmers of disposing of their breeding and other stock, and also to purchasers a chance of getting what they may require in that line, without having to search to country for the same. This early opportunity is taken with a view to giving parties desirous of disposing of their Farms or property, ample time to make the same public, so that likely purchasers may have an opportunity of visiting and seeing for themselves, which they could not do at a short notice. This will be an opportunity that has never occurred before, and every Farmer should make a point of visiting New Westminster on that occasion. All that is required of those who wish to dispose of their property is that they communicate full particulars to the undersigned as soon as possible, giving the lowest cash price they will take for the same. If such price is not realized there will be no charge made. In this way a farm or a tract of land at Cariboo or Kamloops or Nicola Valley can be disposed of without the owner being put to the least expense or inconvenience thereby. Full particulars of sale in due time.

A LARGE FUNERAL.—The remains of the late Ebenezer Brown were interred in the Masonic cemetery in this city last Thursday afternoon. The Ven. Archdeacon officiated. The funeral was very largely attended, and the services were very impressive. The city corporation, of which deceased was a member, attended in a body.

POSTPONED.—The extensive sale of furniture and household goods (the effects of Hon. Jno. Robson) advertised to take place next Wednesday, has been unavoidably postponed till Wednesday, the 20th inst. Catalogues will be issued in a few days, and may be had on application to the auctioneer or at the book store of T. R. Pearson & Co.

SHIPPING ITEMS.—Wednesday morning the steamship Bonita left for Nanaimo, str. Enterprise for Victoria, str. Evangel for Seattle, and str. Irving for Yale. Str. Rithet arrived from Victoria on Wednesday evening and proceeded to Yale. Str. Dunsmuir arrived from False Creek Thursday evening. Str. Rithet returned from Yale at 11:45 yesterday morning and left for Victoria at 1 p. m. Str. Enterprise arrived from Victoria yesterday afternoon at 5:35.

A MISSION FIELD.—On Sunday, the 27th ult., Rev. R. B. Homlaw, of Kamloops, who was on his way to Yale, held divine service at the railway camp opposite the Forest House, 20 miles below Lytton. He met with a very cordial reception from the men, who seemed very much to appreciate the privilege. The rev. gentleman is of opinion that if a missionary could devote his time to visiting the various camps along the line of construction much good might be done.

DEW DROPS.—A society of little girls has been formed in Hamilton, Ont., for the purpose of assisting Rev. Thos. Crosby in his mission work on the northwest coast of this province. The society is called the Dew Drop. On the 17th of November last a bazaar was held under its auspices, and realized the handsome sum of $207. Of this, $150 is to be applied towards the Port Simpson mission boat, and $57 goes to the Crosby Girls' Home. We wish there were more Dew Drops like that.

THE LICENSE LIMIT.—We understand that Mr. Onderdonk, railway contractor, and Hon. A. C. Elliott, Dominion commissioner, have made representations to the local government respecting the issue and renewal of liquor licenses within 10 miles of the Moody-Savona line of railway, the exercise of such license being in contravention of the Dominion act for the better preservation of the peace in the vicinity of public works. We shall await with some anxiety the result of these representations. The evil has assumed such magnitude along the line that there is certainly much cause for the exercise of any authority by which it may be modified.

BLUE RIBBON.—The entertainment given by the Blue Ribbon Club last Wednesday night was a most interesting and successful affair. There were upwards of 200 present, and all were delighted with the programme. The refreshments were abundant and excellent. The musical entertainment consisted of a chorus by the club choir; a quartette by Mrs. Robson, Mrs. Major, Mr. DeBeck and Mr. Pearson; a solo by Miss Mamie Wise ("Come Home Father"), with invisible chorus; a solo by Miss Mildred Major (with chorus); a solo by Mrs. Robson; and instrumental duets by Miss White, Miss Major and Miss DeBeck. Rev. W. J. Dowler, B. A., gave a very interesting reading. In connection with the solo sung by Miss Maimie Wise, there were two tableaux representing a drunkard's home and the death of little Bennie. The song was exceedingly well rendered, and the tableaux were so real to life that tears came to the eyes of more than one person in the audience.

THROUGH THE SELKIRK.—In a private letter Mr. D. McMillan states that he is on the way to British Columbia with four parties to locate the railway line through the Selkirk and Columbian ranges. The parties come overland by way of Kicking Horse pass, and have doubtless arrived at their destination before now.

FOR PORT MOODY.—Two ships are now due with steel rails at Port Moody. The King Ceolric, Capt. Melville, has 2300 tons, and the Kate Troop, Capt. Parker, has 1300. The Ceolric took 185 days from Newport, Wales, to Royal Roads, and the Troop took 165 days. These ships may be expected at Port Moody any moment, and the unloading of 3600 tons of rails will make things lively at the terminus for some weeks at least.

COUNTY COURTS.—Not long ago we referred to the inconvenience and loss arising out of the frequent postponements of the county courts. When the last court was postponed Mr. Jas. Orr, M.P.P., and Senator McInnes telegraphed the fact to the minister of justice at Ottawa. The other day they received the following reply by telegraph: "Minister of justice thinks it desirable to defer action until after judgment is given in British Colnmbia case now before the supreme court here, after which he will take measures to remedy the evils complained of."

MUNICIPAL ADVERTISING.—The Victoria city fathers have an odd way of deciding how the city advertising shall be done. A by-law was passed the other day and ordered to be published. It was agreed to decide which newspaper should have the by-law by "drawing cuts," and the Standard got it. At a subsequent meeting complaint was made on the ground that many peole never saw the Standard, and the by-law was then given to the Colonist as well. They do things differently in this city. They asked tenders for the municipal advertising, irrespective of circulation. Of course the newspaper having the smallest circulation put in a very low tender, and this the council accepted.

LOCAL BREVITIES.—County Court meets in this city on the 27th..... Weather continues fine.....Everything is now ready for the foundation of Mr. Cunningham's new brick store. .....Immigrants continue to arrive by every steamer.....Mosquitoes are becoming troublesome.....Building operations are brisk everywhere throughout the city.....There is another wedding looming up.....How long must the people submit to this wretched mail service?.....The roof is being put on Mr. Lundbom's new store.....The steel rail ships are expected at Port Moody to-day.—Who is going to tender for the steam ferry?—COLUMBIAN by mail from now to end of 1883 for $1.50.

THE REAL ESTATE SALE.—Mr. T. J. Trapp's real estate sale, advertised in another column, is an event of considerable public importance. There is a good deal of property lying idle both in this city, at Port Moody, and throughout the whole country. Much of that property might be disposed of with advantage to its owners, and some of it would undoubtedly fall into the hands of persons who would improve it. At the present time there is a good deal of enquiry for both city and farm property, and such a sale as that proposed by Mr. Trapp would be sure to bring together a large number of buyers. According to the terms announced, the auctioneer makes no charge unless a sale is effected. Persons wishing to dispose of property will, therefore, incur neither risk nor expense. Read the advertisement.

IMMIGRANTS COMING.—Mayor Edmonds received a private letter the other day from a gentleman in Toronto, Ont., stating that several large parties were about to leave that city for the Pacific coast. The writer had received a few copies of the pamphlets issued by the British Columbia government, and says "they contain so much valuable information that I have had to lend them around to a number of intending settlers." He says further: "People here are generally of opinion that there is too much rain on the Pacific coast, and that in some sections only web-footed people can live, the rest being killed off with consumption and rheumatism. From the numbers now starting we hope to receive a concensus of opinion on that point. You may look for large additions to your population as soon as the N.P.R. is in a position to ticket passengers through at something like reasonable figures."

Our merchants are driving a brisk trade. The Shuswap Milling Co. are very busy sawing and grinding. Crops look well, and prospects generally are excellent. The opening of Eagle Pass wagon road, it is expected, will make things boom in this section. The Kootenay bill meets with universal approval, so far as your correspondent has heard. A man named Gray started from McConnell's (between Kamloops and Nicola) some time ago, in a state of intoxication and on a rather wild horse. Up to this date (May 27) nothing has been heard of him, although search has been made more or less for the past week. The horse, with the saddle on its side, was found a few miles from McConnell's.

[From the Sentinel.]

We learn from a correspondent from the Okanagon country that cattle buyers are there from over the line and east of the Rockies. Saturday evening one of the locomotives running in this vicinity ran into cattle that got upon the track below the powder works. Messrs. Bishop & Smith are one ox the less, while another was injured. Mr. J. F. Allison, Semilkameen, arrived from Hope, by Sunday's boat and reports crops in that country looking well. Also, gives a favorable account of the Semilkameen mining interests, the prospect is such that a number of persons have gone to the Smith mine from Hope; should the prospect warrant they will take hold and open some of the places already discovered, or prospect for new locations.

It is reported that some 15 new preemptions have been made in this section within the past few weeks. This is undoubtedly one of the very best farming regions in the province, and every foot of available land is bound to be claimed by somebody at an early date. At present there is room for a limited number of settlers. We want a grist mill. Postill & Lambly's saw mill supplies us with lumber, but grain has to be taken elsewhere for grinding. Steps are being taken for the erection of a public hall near the post office, which will be a great public convenience. If you can send us on a few good farmers and a miller we shall vote the COLUMBIAN a public benefactor.

Mr. Wells has his new cheese factory in operation, and is turning out about 100 lbs. of cheese per day. The article, so far as your correspondent can judge, is first-class. The factory will be very beneficial to the settlement, and will stimulate the dairy industry, which is now quite extensive. There is no section of British Columbia where dairy farming can be carried on more advantageously, and there is room here for considerable expansion.Ately quite a number of new-comers have been looking for land in this neighborhood, and a few new locations have been made. Our municipal affairs are in a muddle. Some time in December the letters patent were surrendered and sent to Victoria. Nothing was heard about the issue of new letters until towards the end of May, although a good deal of correspondence had taken place. The old letters patent were then returned, accompanied by a memorandum saying that they had arrived in Victoria too late for action, and advising the council to continue under the old charter. But the new council had not been sworn in, and as three months had elapsed since their election, it is said they cannot now take their seats. Our municipal machinery is, therefore, at a standstill.

From Nicola.

(Correspondence of the Columbian.)

Never was finer weather known than we are now enjoying in this beautiful country. The crops are in excellent condition, and stock thriving splendidly. Mr. Fensome, of Fensome's mills, recently returned from Ontario, bringing his bride, and he is now building a residence for himself. Preparations are being made for the erection of several new dwellings in the valley during the summer. Mr. A. Coutlie is erecting a large hotel at the forks. The people of the valley have very generally signified their willingness to unite in supporting a Methodist minister here if the conference will appoint one. This would give them service more regularly than they have hitherto enjoyed. The health of the settlers has been good, and one sees confidence and busy industry everywhere. There are still some very eligible locations in this valley for farming or stock raising. Persons wishing to visit this region should leave the Cariboo wagon road at Spence's Bridge, instead of going on to Cache Creek as the most of them have been doing. The journey would in this way be very much shortened. They should also explore further from the road, in rear of the claims now occupied, which few have yet taken the trouble to do. On the Queen's Birthday a grand pic-nic was held at the foot of the lake, on the beautiful grounds of Paul Gillie, Esq., where a large number enjoyed themselves and demonstrated their loyalty at the same time.

The Northern Pacific.

Mr. Villard's late report contains the following information: Mr. Muir and also Engineer-in-Chief General Anderson, both assured me positively that there was no very great difficulty to be looked for in boring the Mullen tunnel; that there was less than seventy yards of boring to be done between the two ends, and that without doubt, the 1st August would see the tunnel completed. But in view of the unexpected difficulties they had encountered, and as so much depends on the completion of a through line by the 1st of September, I made up my mind to order the immediate construction of a line over the mountains. The division engineer stated that such a line was perfectly practicable, and it will be completed within sixty days, at a cost not exceeding $60,000. It will be about two miles in length, and the grade will not exceed 212 feet to the mile. I am satisfied we arrived at a wise conclusion in this matter. There is an enormous fall business waiting for us on the Pacific side. The Oregon Railway & Navigation Company has not been selling one-third of its tickets to the East, simply because travelers are waiting for the completion of the Northern Pacific Railway. I am satisfied there will be more travel by at least 10,000 people if the road is completed by the 1st September, than there would be if it was finished by the 15th of October. Merchants were waiting to make sure of our ability to ship goods via our road to the Pacific, and, unless I gave them absolute assurence that the road would be finished by the 1st of September, their fall business must have been transported over other routes, and that would have been a loss to the Company of from $150,000 to $200,000.

Delta Council.

The Council met at the Delta hotel on 2nd June. Present, the Reeve and all the councillors. On motion $20 was appropriated for Crescent Island road, and $100 was appropriated towards building a bridge over the Crescent slough, at the corner of Messrs. T. E. Ladner's and Matheson Bro.'s land, in lieu of the $75 voted at last meeting for the road along the bank of Crescent slough. M. P. Barnes and D. A. McKee's tenders for work on township 4 were accepted. Road tax by-law passed its first, second and third readings, as also did the by-law for the protection of public highways, and the wild land tax by-law. The Reeve and Councillors Page and Kirkland were empowered to call for tenders and let contracts for repairs to Chil-och-ken slough road. Council then adjourned till Saturday, the 9th June, at 9 o'clock a. m., to meet at Ladner's Landing.

INTERESTING FACTS AND CURRENT EVENTS.

(From the Oregonian.)

Lord Granville yesterday notified M. Challemel Lacour, the French minister of foreign affairs, that in the event of war between France and China, England would refuse to recognize any blockade by France of Chinese ports, unless France would guarantee that the blockade should extend to the entire Chinese coast, and that all of it would be perfectly and completely blockaded; and that if the mouths of the Canton river and the approaches to the port of Shanghai, and other ports of entry, to which France and the other nations friendly to France were interested, were allowed to go unenclosed in the blockade, England would consider herself bound to send English war ships to China for the purpose of preventing France from maintaining any part of the blockade. M. Challemel Lacour to-day sent a reply to Lord Granville that there was no war between France and China, and that France hoped nothing would arise requiring any exercise of British protest.

The Duke of Albany's request to be appointed Governor-General of Canada, in place of the Marquis of Lorne, was supported by a personal intimation from the Queen that her son should have the position. Gladstone refused to allow the young duke to succeed the marquis, fearing that the appointment would be regarded as a special favor to royalty. He said he did not want the people to think that official positions were sinecures reserved for members of the royal family. This ministerial reason is not, however, the only one which prompted Gladstone's refusal. It is thought that he regarded the venture as a dangerous one, and that to send the Queen's son to Canada would be to invite some desperate action on the part of Irish fenians in America.

The channel tunnel scheme bids fair to emerge successfully from its long slumber in military opposition. The Duke of Cambridge, Commander-in-Chief, Lord Wolseley, General Simmonds and a majority of the British military authorities, who have given their testimony before the committee appointed to investigate the question of the expediency of allowing the work to be undertaken, all oppose it, but a great majority of the scientific engineers who have testified, favor it. General Adye, the surveyor-general of ordnance, and General Clark, inspector of fortifications, agree with the majority of witnesses, and the committee, which has now completed its inquiries, will report by a large majority in favor of the construction of the tunnel.

Queen Victoria is living retired at Balmoral and seldom goes out. She is still suffering from low spirits and a shattered nervous system. The physicians are constant in their attendance on her majesty.

A large monument of gray granite is being placed over the grave of John Brown in the Cratie kirkyard. A memorial cairn is on the mountain overlooking the castle. In addition to a monument of brass in the prince consort's mausoleum at Frogmore, a tablet to Brown's memory is being placed in a nave of St. George's chapel at Windsor. It is difficult to imagine what will be the next project of the Queen for the perpetuation of John Brown's name.

Coleridge Kinnaird, M. P., will persist in his motion regarding the disposition of the surplus of the Alabama claims award. It was announced today that Kinnaird has the approval of Gladstone, and that the premier is favorably disposed toward the United States, and the government will consider the expediency of returning to England the balance of the money now awarded for claims. The question will, it is thought, become a parliamentary one.

A question has been placed on notice in the papers of the House of Commons to interrogate Gladstone as to the circumstances of the appointment of the Marquis of Landsdowne to the vice-royalty of Canada. It is admitted that the Duke of Albany expressed a wish to represent the Queen in Canada, and it was thought by many persons that the appointment was desirable, in spite of his delicate health.

LATEST BY TELEGRAPH

NEWS FROM ALL PARTS OF THE WORLD.

NEW YORK, June 1.—A Telegram special says: Chinese statesmen are are keenly alive to the indignities upon their nation by the enactment of the emigration law. Leaders in the Chinese empire, while fully aware that the condition of its population is prolific of vice and poverty, and that notwithstanding these facts wholesale emigration would seriously affect the autonomy of the empire, nevertheless deprecate the unjust discrimination on the part of the United States. Without having made any threats, the Imperial government is quietly directing into other channels the present commercial advantages which the United States reap in their Chinese trade. It is not impossible that the continuance of this policy may lead to serious international complications. The East River bridge again began to hold its own this morning against the ferry companies. The great tide of traffic swept over the roadway, and thousands of persons used the path, both as a thoroughfare and as promenades. From six o'clock this morning till noon the total number of people who used the bridge as a thoroughfare was 48,000. Of these over two-thirds were from Brooklyn.

COUNCIL BLUFFS, June 1.—This evening one of the worst storms that ever visited this vicinity set in. Indian Creek, which runs through the heart of the city, overflowed. The damage is estimated at $200,000. Seven iron bridges and two stone culverts, belonging to the city, were swept away, also several dwellings and barns. All the business houses on Main and Broadway streets were flooded, and several losses of life are reported. Cries for help were heard in every direction, but the swiftness of the current rendered assistance impossible. The flood rose so quickly that many business men found it impossible to reach their wives and children.

COUNCIL BLUFFS, June 2.—Last night's storm was unprecedented here. No lives were lost, but there were several narrow escapes. The rear wall of the new opera house fell. All bridges are down. Hundreds of families were driven from their homes. Many houses were damaged, and in some cases there is a total loss of the furniture. The loss is now estimated at $30,000.

DUBLIN, June 5.—It is rumored that the Invicibles extensively used poison in removing obnoxious persons. The police are investigating. A number of cases of suspicious deaths have occurred in the last few years, especially a hotel-keeper named Jury of Dublin, who died a fortnight after the Phœnix park murders. From disclosures by informers the authorities do not doubt that Jury was poisoned. The reason alleged for the poisoning is that he inadvertently opened a letter addressed to Tynen, who was staying at Jury's hotel. Jury destroyed the letter. A waiter informed Tynan that Jury had a letter for him, and it is thought Jury's removal was then decided upon.

LONDON, June 6.—A Times correspondent at Paris says a nihilist communication has been issued which states that while the force of the Russian government and its most important spies have been concentrated at Moscow during the festival, the nihilists took the advantage to spread documents and enroll supporters in St. Petersburg and other centres. It says the strength of the party in St. Petersburg is greatly increasing, and asserts that there were at the coronation officials and others under orders of the nihilists near enough to the Czar to have struck him on the brow if word had been given. It was even feared that some too zealous parties might throw a grenade at the Czar.

PARIS, June 6.—War preparations on a large scale are being made for China. Three corps of troops are in readiness, and the Chinese fleet is under orders to sail for Tonquin.

A REMARKABLE FACT.—It is a remarkable fact that W. A. Edgers, of Frankville, who was so far gone with liver and kidney complaint that his life was despaired of, was cured with four bottles of Burdock Blood Bitters. At one time he lay a fortnight without an operation of the bowels.

ONE OF MANY.—Mr. R. W. Carmichael, Chemist and Druggist of Belleville, writes as follows:—"Your Burdock Blood Bitters have a steady sale, are patronized by the best families here and surrounding country, and all attest to its virtues with unqualified satisfaction."

WHAT EVERY PERSON SHOULD KNOW. The grand outlets of disease from the system are the Skin, the Bowels, and the Kidneys. Burdock Blood Bitters is the most safe, pleasant and effectual purifier and health-restoring tonic in the world. Trial bottles 10 cents.

A PLEASANT ACKNOWLEDGMENT—"Had sour stomach and miserable appetite for months, and grew thin every day. I used Burdock Blood Bitters with the most marvellous results; feel splendid."

[From the Globe, May 1st, 1883.]

THE ANNUAL REPORT OF THE Directors of the Confederation Life Insurance Company is a more than usually interesting document of the kind. It shows 1,513 new policies for 1882, assuring $2,510,387. The total number of policies is now 6,357, assuring $9,909,246. Notwithstanding the large sum paid out in cash profits to policy-holders, the financial statement shows a handsome increase in the cash assets. There were during the year 34 deaths, involving the sum of $51,656. The results of the quinquennial allotment of profits have given unalloyed satisfaction to the policy-holders, and the valuation of the Company's liabilities has been done independently by Mr. Carpmael, their regular actuary; by Mr. Cherriman, Dominion Inspector of Insurance; and by Mr. Homans, a New York actuary. The net valuations by these three authorities are $739,230, $727,297, and $700,252 respectively—an exhibit well calculated to show the foundationless nature of the attacks made upon the Company.

The Terms of Settlement.

WHAT SIR JOHN SAYS ABOUT IT.

OTTAWA, May 25.—Sir John Macdonald said the government had hoped to be able to lay before the House during the present session some legislation as the result of recent negotiations that had been going on with the government of British Columbia with a view of securing a settlement of the differences that had existed between the two governments. He regretted, however, that owing to delays in the negotiations this was not possible, and he would state shortly, for the information of the House and the country, the position in which the matter now stood, in order finally to settle all matters in dispute between British Columbia and the Dominion, which had existed almost since the time of the union. Negotiations were entered into a few months ago through Mr. Trutch, the Lieutenant-Governor of the province. The chief cause of complaint in British Columbia was the failure to carry out literally the terms of union as to the commencement and completion of a line of railway which would connect the province with the eastern portion of the Dominion. He would not trouble the House with a restatement of the various circumstances which led to that delay. It had naturally been a source of irritation and annoyance in British Columbia that all the advantages of the expenditure in the construction and the use of the road afterward had not been secured at an earlier day. It would be remembered that when the late government were in power, they made a very vigorous effort to settle the matter. A proposition was made to British Columbia to give them $750,000 as compensation for loss in the non-performance of the contract. It would be remembered how that arrangement failed. Besides this question, there was another connected with the construction of the graving dock at Esquimalt, to which the government had agreed to advance the sum of $250,000, and the British Admiralty a further sum of £50,00 sterling upon the completion of the work. These two questions and the question of the land grant in aid of the Canadian Pacific railway had all to be settled. An arrangement was now made to the effect that on getting a receipt in full from British Columbia by an Act of the Legislature for all those claims, the Dominion Government should contribute to the building of the island railway to the extent of $750,000, and that they should contribute the further sum of $250,000 which had so far been expended on the Esquimalt graving dock and undertake to complete the work. The money subsidy towards these two objects would therefore be a million dollars. The subsidy for the construction of the railway was to be given to an incorporated company, which should give security to the satisfaction of all concerned. In order to assist further in the construction of that road, the British Columbia Government had agreed to transfer the lands that had originally been reserved for that undertaking to the Canadian Government, to be handed over in instalments to the company constructing the road from time to time as the work progressed along with the money subsidy. In reference to the land grant for the Canada Pacific railroad, it would be remembered that a reserve of twenty miles on each side of the line was made to aid the work, but it was also agreed by the terms of union that the rights of squatters on these lands should be respected, and the union treaty provided that any deficiency which should arise from this cause within the twenty mile belt should be made up out of lands contiguous to this belt. The line of railway passed along a gorge of the Fraser river, with no very wide valley on each side, and the twenty-mile belt comprised a large quantity of mountain land, which was valueless for agricultural or other useful purposes, while of the valley itself, a very large portion was already held by other parties under various titles. In order to make up all deficiences and in order to make an inducement for the Dominion Government to enter into the fullest arrangements for taking the graving dock off their hands, the British Columbia Government had agreed to supplement the land grant along the line of railway by conveying to the Dominion 3,500,000 acres of land in the Peace river country and contiguous to our own North-West, to be located in a rectangular block by the Dominion Government. The land lay on the eastern slope of the Rocky Mountains. It was known to be good for agricultural purposes, and while of value to the Dominion, its loss would involve no real sacrifice to British Columbia on account of its remoteness from the main portion of the province. Had the negotiations gone on without check, the government of the Dominion would have taken the responsibility of asking Parliament during the present session to pass an Act confirming the arrangement. But in order to carry out this arrangement the British Columbia Government in good faith submitted, necessarily at a late stage of the session, on account of their having to wait for the return of Mr. Trutch, an Act for the purpose. A copy of that Act was received by the Canadian Government a short time ago by telegraph, and it was found on looking over it that by an error of the draughtsman the terms of the agreement were materially altered, because it provided that the Canadian Government should build the road, and in order to enable them to do so it passed an Act of incorporation to be applied to the company with whom this Government should enter into arrangements for the construction of the road. It was no portion of the agreement that the Canadian Government should build this line. They agreed to see that an incorporated company should undertake the work on security which would be satisfactory to the British Columbia Government, and to hand over the lands and money as the work progressed, but they in no way pledged the faith of the Canadian Government to build the road, and they had to inform British Columbia authorities that they had no hope then, if they were willing to undertake such an obligation, of carrying the scheme through Parliament as a Government work. Another clause had been inserted in the bill which was also contrary to the agreement, and which, he fancied, was inserted under the idea that it would not be objected to. That was to the effect that all the lands which had been given in aid of the island railway, except coal and mineral lands, for the next four years, should be sold at $1 per acre. As this grant was to be given to the contractors as they built the road, the Government felt that they had no right to diminish its value by limiting the price. This was no part of the agreement, and the British Columbia Government had to be informed that without the consent of the company it could not be consented to. It was to be regretted that a difference between the Act passed by the British Columbia Government and the agreement which was made prevented the passing of a concurrent Act by the Canadian Parliament during its present session, but he had no apprehension of a dead-lock from this cause. There would be some little delay. The British Columbia Legislature had prorogued, but he had little doubt they would re-assemble shortly, and amend the Act, so as to make it conform to the agreement. That once done, the Government here would take the responsibility of making all kinds of provisional arrangements for the organization and incorporation of a company, so that when Parliament meets next year they would be able to submit a measure confirming the agreement so made. He had no doubt the Government would be able to get a company of capitalists who would be willing to undertake the work upon the assurance that the Government would do what they could to pass the measure through Parliament at its next session. Another question of great importance was the opening up of the lands on the mainland, on each side of the railway. Immediate action in this matter was necessary to meet the demands of the immigration which was pouring into the country. On this head it was the intention of the Government to instruct Mr. Trutch to open the land office for the purpose of putting the land along the line of railway into the market, and opening it up for settlement. It was part of the agreement that those lands should be placed in the market on liberal terms, and, speaking approximately, he presumed they would be offered at the nominal price of one dollar per acre or thereabouts. As a great portion of those lands had been squatted upon, the Canadian Government had also agreed that the settlers should have the right to all unimproved lands at the ordinary price. There would be no obstruction to the settlement in consequence of the postponement of work on the island. These were the facts of the case, and he thought it proper to lay them before the House as they were. He regretted that he could not do it earlier in the session, because communication had been going on between the two Governments up to yesterday.

Ships of the Spanish Armada.

Several ships belonging to the Spanish Armada were driven by storm on the west coast of Ireland and wrecked. It has been ascertained that two of these vessels are lying off the coast of Donegal wrecked, one of them at Mullaghderg, in Rosas, and the other some miles further north. About the end of the last century the country people raised some brass cannon belonging to these vessels, and they were broken up and sold. This happened at a very low tide, and when a strong northerly wind blew off the sand. Their operations were disturbed by the return of the tide and the change of the wind. The cannon secured were marked with the royal arms of Spain. Mr. Heard of the Coast Guard, in 1852, saw these ships on the occasion of a very low tide and the shifting of the sand in which they are imbedded. He distinctly saw the hulls of these vessels from the forecastle to the stern. The forecastle was high, as seen in the paintings of ships in the reign of Elizabeth, and he saw a number of cannon lying in and about the forecastle. He succeeded in raising the anchor, which he deposited in the British Museum. The gravel and sand about it appeared bound up with the iron in the solid mass. By means of the diving bell or helmet, the inside of these vessels might be got at and some of their contents secured, and the contents of cabin and hold would be of the greatest interest.—United Service.

Notes for Farmers.

Do not let the cattle prune the orchard. They always were bunglers at such business.

To grow grape vines let them run unpruned. To grow grapes, prune the vines and let the roots run.

It should be borne in mind that the fatter a breeding sow is kept the more liable she is to destroy her pigs by lying on them or eating them up.

Unground grain should be fed to fowls at night, because it slowly digests and fills up the long interval between sunset and morning better than soft food.

Colt-breaking should begin at the birth of the colt, because he then instinctively shows his fear or timidity of man, which should be then completely dissipated.

It is well to give horses a double amount of feed on the evening preceding a long journey, and only half rations of grain or a little hay on the morning of starting.

A dry substance like wool or sawdust, for hens' nests, abstracts moisture from the eggs and ruins them. The hen, if left to herself, will make her nest on the moist earth. At the bottom of the nesting boxes place a damp sod of earth and mould into a concave form. This dampness is beneficial, as it supplies the moisture the eggs lose during the process of hatching.

No Place Like Home.

"You seem in a bad fix," said a philanthropist to a man sitting on the curbstone looking much depressed in spirits.

"Not so awful bad as I might be," was the reply.

"Have you no home?"

"Oh, yes, I've got one."

"Why don't you go there then?"

"Because I don't want to."

"But you should, for the poet says, 'be it ever so humble, there's no place like home.'"

"And right the poet was, too. I was at home not an hour ago, and the house was turned upside down, all the beds out of the windows, and the furniture in the corners, and my wife with a dish rag around her head, and the children so dusty you couldn't clean 'em with a feather brush, and the hired girls raising Sam Hill, and four men beating carpets, and the paperhangers at work, and a window cleaner with a hose turned on, and no dinner and no prospect of any, and the deuce to pay generally—oh, you and the poet are shoutin', and you're mighty right too, there's no place like home."

A PLEASANT ACKNOWLEDGMENT.—"Had sour stomach and miserable appetite for months, and grew thin every day. I used Burdock Blood Bitters with the most marvellous results; feel splendid."
