PORTUGUESE AFFAIRS.

Matters Again Look Serious Over the Disinclination of Portugal to Settle the Trouble.

Cuba Again Infested by Murderous Bandits Whose Actions Cause Great Alarm.

Professor Wiggins Explains His Great Storm, but Does Not Admit its Failure.

Again Looking Serious.

LONDON, April 23.—The disputes between Great Britain and Portugal are again approaching a crisis. The delays of the Portuguese Government and aggressive actions of its agents in Mozambique are exhausting British patience. Two stern wheel steamers are being built by an English Government expedition on the Shire River. They are to be armed with batteries of Hotchkiss guns. Should Portugal persist in her policy of procrastination a demand will be made upon her for the payment of the $2,500,000 due England since the Peninsular war, when Portugal was saved by Wellington from annihilation.

The Queen Abroad.

DARMSTADT, April 23.—On her arrival from Aix Les Baines to-day Queen Victoria was received at the railroad station by the municipal and other prominent officials. Her Majesty was tendered a salute by a guard of honor present.

A Great Run.

QUEENSTOWN, April 23.—The White Star steamship Majestic, which left New York, April 16th, on her maiden eastward trip, arrived here in 7 days, 1 hour and 51 minutes. She shows daily runs 342, 444, 441, 448, 437, 442 and 547 miles.

Cuban Bandits.

HAVANNA, April 23.—After several months of comparative tranquility as to bandits, kidnappers and blackmailers, the people have just been startled by the unexpected announcement of the sudden appearance in the Eastern part of Cuba of a party of about twenty or more colored men well armed and mounted under command of Calixto Garcia, one of the black chiefs in the last insurrection. This party, at times in a band and at others divided into groups of 5 to 8 men, have attacked and plundered all establishments on the road and in smaller towns and ransomed heavily the owners of all sugar and coffee plantations they could get hold of, wounding and murdering several people who refused to yield to their pretensions. All trains that have lately arrived at St. Jago De Cuba came in crowded with country people, hastily seeking for refuge in town against the exactions and cruelties committed by the men belonging to the band, whose number is said to be daily increasing.

The New China Line.

NEW YORK, April 23.—George Gould, president of the Pacific Mail Steamship Company, said to-day that he was heartily in favor of establishing a steamship line between Tacoma and Chinese and Japanese ports. "Some one will soon occupy the territory," said he, "and I see no reason why this company should not be first in the field. We could take two vessels from our own San Francisco line and put them immediately on the new route. There is no intention of making Tacoma the sole port of the company on the Pacific, but there is no reason why San Francisco should be the only one. It is plain enough to see why the railroads leading to San Francisco should oppose the new line. While I am thoroughly in favor of it, I can only say that negotiations have not been completed."

Wiggins Explains.

OTTAWA, April 23.—Professor Wiggins said last night: "When I predicted the storm in March, I said its planetary origin would be proved by earthquakes in the North Pacific and south of Europe, which would follow on the storm and this earthquake at Queen Charlotte's Island is a verification of what I said. Without doubt Vesuvius will be in serious action within three months. We have yet to receive information of serious earthquakes in the Pacific Islands and Japan. We can see at a glance that there must have been heavy earthquakes in the Pacific ocean, or in other words in the aqueos hemisphere of the earth by the great floods which are reported from Australia."

Ottawa Notes.

OTTAWA, April 22.—Mr. John Charlton, M.P., the champion of the Equal Righters, seems determined not to let the Jesuits' Estates question be quiet. He gives notice of motion to-night of a vote of censure upon the Government because it submitted the Jesuits' question to the law officers of the Crown in regarding its constitutionality rather than to the Supreme Court of Canada, thereby grossly insulting the Supreme Court of Canada, and the Canadian judiciary at large.

A banquet was given to Mr. Alonzo Wright, M.P., in the House of Commons by his fellow members. The occasion was the 27th annivetsary of his representation of Ottawa County. Speaker Ouimet occupied the chair. The speakers were Col. Prior, Messrs. Daly, Gilmour, Ross, Curran, Mitchell, Cargill, Trow, Paterson (Essex), Langlier, Sutherland, ex-M.P., Ferguson (Welland), Weldon (Albert), Kenny and Montague.

Dominion Parliament.

OTTAWA, April 22.—In the House of Commons to-day General Laurie advocated the making of treaties with other British colonies, with a view to the promotion of trade. The difficulty in the way of making treaties with European nations was that those people already had advantages in Canadian trade through the most favored nation clause in the treaties between them and Great Britain, and with regard to the United States he contended that reciprocity of trade could be accomplished by accepting annexation, which Canadians were unwilling to do. Sir John Macdonald stated that if these treaties could be made over again with foreign countries, Canada would be given every advantage by the Imperial Government. He avoided the discussion of the general question on the ground that it would bring up the whole tariff question, which is already before the House on other motions.

Sir John Macdonald gave his views on the divorce question to-night in the House. He looked with horror on any extension of the present Parliamentary procedure which might authorise divorce on any other grounds but adultery. He thought that the system in the United States was the greatest social abuses of the present day. He hoped that Canada would adhere to the present system which should be made as stringent as possible.

The Walker divorce case was the cause of the Premier's comment. Mrs. Walker asked for a separation because her husband, who now lives in Brooklyn, left his wife immediately after the ceremony. The Senate grants the divorce but the House of Commons to-night refused it by giving it the six months' hoist.

Mr. Blake gives notice of a motion on going into Committee of Supply, that before an act is vetoed it shall be referred to a high judicial tribunal for an expression of opinion.

The writ for the New Westminster election was sent by mail to-night. It is stated here that Mr. Corbould's candidacy has the strong approval of the Government.

In the House of Commons to-night the Divorce Bill for the relief of Hugh Forbes Keefer was passed. All the Catholic members voted against the Bill.

There was a lively discussion in the Senate this afternoon over Inspector Moylan's alleged attack on Senator McInnes' connection with the British Columbia penitentiary. Senator McInnes called Moylan a Judas Iscariot, a blackguard and a lubberly impudent Pharisee. He said grave abuses existed in the penitentiary. Hon. Mr. Abbott claimed that Mr. Moylan had no right to refer to Senator McInnes at all, and the Government should promptly repress insolence to members of Parliament by their employees. He will move that he be summoned to the bar of the House to answer for his conduct.

The Labor Question.

LONDON, April 22.—In the House of Commons this evening, Mr. George C. Bartley, the member for North Islington, moved the appointment of a committee to inquire into the labor question. In the course of the ensuing discussion Mr. Bradlaugh fiercely attacked Mr. R. Cunningham Graham, the member for North West Lanarkshire, charging him with inciting strife among the working classes with the result of reducing them to the verge of starvation. The condition of the English laborer, Mr. Bradlaugh contended, was favorable beyond comparison with any other European workmen. Mr. Graham denounced Mr. Bradlaugh's statements as unfounded, but declared he would incite to violence on the part of the working classes when their condition should become sufficiently improved and they sufficiently powerful to promise their success. Subsequently Mr. Bartley withdrew his motion under the Cloture. The Government's motion annulling the motion of Mr. O'Connor blocking further legislation on the liquor question for the entire session was carried by 139 to 19.

Imperial Parliament.

LONDON, April 22.—In moving the rejection of the Irish Land Purchase Bill in the House of Commons, Mr. Parnell said that he welcomed Mr. Balfour as the latest recruit to the ranks of land reformers. But while his associates and himself accepted the action of the Government as a recognition by it of rightfulness of the principle of the land for the people, they could not admit that the present Bill offered a satisfactory solution of the question. The initial question was how far would the British taxpayers go in lending the credit of the nation to the Irish landlords? The experience had with Mr. Gladstone's Bill of 1886, Mr. Parnell said, showed that they would not be willing to go far enough to settle the difficulty. The Bill, he asserted, was simply intended to enable one-ninth of the owners of the soil, and that one-ninth made up of absentee landlords, to sell their property at exorbitant prices, while their poorer resident brethren were left in the lurch. Mr. Parnell said he objected to the Bill because it did not carry out what it proposed, while it exhausted the only Irish credit available. Presenting further objections he said that the principle of the bill was to purchase the whole of the estates. For this purpose £40,000,000 was ridiculously inadequate. Ireland contained 14,000,000 acres, of which area the Poor Law valuation was £9,000,000. At this valuation the total at 8½ years' purchase, would amount to £166,000,000, which sum would be necessary to provide the solution of the land question. Mr. Parnell said the true test of the worth of the guarantees provided would be for Mr. Goschen to take them to the London market and try to see what he could realise on them. The securities, he said, cannot be real unless they effect a complete settlement of the question under local authority. Otherwise the scheme is a parody on land purchase and a swindle on the English taxpayers. He continued in an elaborate criticism of Mr. Balfour's view, dealing with and contending against the advantages which Mr. Balfour suggested would accrue to the landlords and tenants under the Bill.

Stanley's Book.

LONDON, April 20.—Stanley's book is completed. The work abounds in graphic illustrations of the character of the inhabitants of the dark continent and contains curious details concerning the forest dwarfs to whom his letters referred and in whom the interest of the civilized world is aroused. In his description of the dwarfs Stanley states that they possess many good qualities which are wholly unsuspected by all except those who have come into immediate relations with them and who have cultivated their friendship. The race is markedly intelligent and possesses a decidedly higher grade of morality than the negro. It is the only monogamous race in Africa and stands quite alone in regard for the sacredness of the marital relations. The dwarfs are skilled workers in iron and betray more ready adaptability to civilization than any other people of that region. The dwarf queen became a great friend of Stanley and Dr. Parker and accompanied them on the expedition for a considerable part of their road, but unfortunately she died.

Parker publishes an exhaustive and interesting account of his medical experiences in Africa. He describes an extraordinary disease rife among the natives in the neighborhood of the lakes. It is produced by the larvæ of worms, which enter the body through the feet and extend their progress upward as far as the hip. Their presence causes severe swellings and ulcers and death. Stanley applies his facts to theories relating to the ultimate rise of the negroes in the scale of civilization. He places them more on an equality with the whites than most of the explorers are willing to admit. This seems to be due to his better knowledge of them consequent upon his Christian sympathy with their natures, and his invariable efforts to cultivate their good will and respectful intimacy.

At the Brussels anti-slavery conference in May, Stanley will dwell on the horrors of practices resorted to by the Arab ivory hunters in getting their goods, which are worse than the practices of the slave hunters, since the latter have an interest in the lives of their slaves, while the former kill and burn all before them. Stanley says the forest dwarfs have the oldest history in the world, tracing their lineage back for fifty centuries.

A Strong Resolution.

At a public meeting held in the town hall, Port Hammond, on Monday evening last, the following resolution was carried unanimously: "Resolved that this meeting endorse the resolution passed by a meeting held in this hall last Saturday evening, and also, after discussion, resolves that, inasmuch as the senior member for Westminster District is the father of the obnoxious Redistribution Bill, he has betrayed the trust reposed in him by the electors of this District, and, therefore, should be called upon to resign."

A DISGUSTED DELEGATION

The Great Delegation Waits on the Government to Demand Mainland Rights.

The Government Fails to Give Satisfactory Answer and Refuses to Amend the Bill.

The Delegation Waits on Lieut-Governor and Urges Him to Withhold Assent.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

VICTORIA, April 23.

There were 26 delegates present at the meeting this morning. Mayor Brown lead the deputation and did the greater part of the speaking. The main question put by the delegation was: Is it the intention of the Government to maintain the balance of power on the Island as against the Mainland?

Hon. John Robson replied for himself that that was not his position, but that as soon as the census was taken a new bill would be sure to be brought in. The present bill, under the circumstances, was the best the Government could have done, and it was impossible to do otherwise. He would like to have done better for New Westminster City and District, but it was not possible in view of the present state of affairs.

Mr. Curtis asked: When the census is taken will a redistribution bill be offered giving fair, equal representation to British Columbia, irrespective of the Gulf of Georgia, Mainland or Island?

The Government's reply was characteristically cautious and equivocal, but admitted their intention was to recast the present bill when the census is taken.

Throughout the course of the conference the Government employed the same old hackneyed arguments which has been reported in the press repeatedly, and the delegation departed disgusted.

They have an appointment to meet the Lieut-Governor at 3 o'clock this afternoon, and will ask him to withold the passage of the bill in its present condition, and to delay its third reading until further considered.

The Government practically assured the delegation that no amount of persuasion or argument could induce them to change the bill, from its present form and it was quite useless to waste words on the matter. The delegation feel convinced that Westminster is being discriminated against, and are indignant at their treatment by the Government.

VICTORIA NEWS.

Dr. Jackson Dies From the Effects of a Broken Leg.

[From Our Own Correspondent.]

VICTORIA, April 23.—Dr. Wm. Jackson, health officer, died this morning. His leg was broken by being thrown from his carriage on Saturday and gangrene setting in resulted in his death.

The sealing schooner, Sea Lion, arrived yesterday with 200 skins. She spoke the Minnie on the 16th instant with 250, and the San Jose with 118 skins. The Theresa was also spoken with 134 skins. On March 31st the Sea Lion lost one of her boats and crew, which were picked up the same evening by the Beatrice. The boat and crew were transferred to the schooner Mollie Adams and brought to Victoria. The Adams reports a catch of 384 skins, the largest of the season so far reported.

The following have been elected Grand officers of the K. of P., for the first term: K. R. G. C., W. S. Chambers, Victoria; G. C., C. L. Behnsen, Vancouver; G. V. C., W. A. Lindsay, Wellington; G. P., C. McCutcheon, Nanaimo; G. K. of R. & S., J. Crossen, Nanaimo; G. M. of Ex., J. B. Kennedy, New Westminster; G. M. of A., R. J. Plummer, Victoria; G. I. C., D. McArthur, Wellington; G. O. G., Ackerman New Westminster. The afternoon and evening sessions were occupied by routine business. At the meeting of the Grand Lodge evening P. G. Chancellor, F. W. Behnsen and F. M. Blomquist were elected representatives to the session of the Grand Lodge to be held in Milwaukee next July.

OTTAWA NEWS.

The Clapp Divorce Case Defeated.--McCarthy Will Renew his Attack on the Jesuit Bill.--The Middleton Fur Deal.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

OTTAWA, April 23.—In the Senate yesterday the Clapp divorce bill was defeated by a vote of 25 to 18.

Dalton McCarthy has given notice that he will next week renew his attack on the Jesuit Estates Act. In the opera house last evening he implored the audience to return Mr. Hay to Parliament so that he would be able to support him when he renews the attack.

The Middleton investigation committee have submitted their report to the House. The report awards Bremner $5,500 for the loss of his furs, and finds that General Middleton acted improperly in the matter.

Mr. White, of Cardwell, is speaking the proposed banking act. He is making a good speech.

This is St. George's day, and many of the members are decorated with the red rose.

OUR OTTAWA LETTER.

Interesting Pickings From the Budget Debate by Able Speakers for and Against.----Sir Richard Cartwright's Famous Amendment.

HOUSE OF COMMONS.

OTTAWA, April 14.—On Tuesday the House resumed the debate on the budget. Mr. Weldon (St. John) was the first speaker. He said: Enjoying a tariff of from 12½ to 15 per cent. the people of New Brunswick were led to believe that no greater burden of taxation would be imposed upon. Further we were told, that by joining this confederation we should be enabled to have reciprocal trade with the United States. So far as our Province is concerned, considering our position, we look to the neighboring republic as our best market, and one of the good inducements which induced us to join confederation was the hope that by that means reciprocal intercourse with the United States might be obtained. Our Province is in the unfortunate position that her own sons have burdened us with heavy taxation. In conclusion, I must use the words of the poet in this matter:

Keen were her pangs, but keener for to feel,
She nursed the pinion that impelled the steel,
That the same plumage that had warmed her nest
Drank the life blood of her bleeding breast.

Mr. Daly said: Hon. Joseph Martin, Attorney-General for Manitoba, had announced himself as an avowed annexationist. I find that in 1883, we imported into the Province of Manitoba from the United States 1,093 mowing and reaping and thrashing machines, to the value of $141,516, upon which we paid a duty of $35,505.10. We imported in that year from the United States, ploughs to the value of $108,367, upon which we paid a duty of $27,178.05. We imported from the United States portable steam engines, valued at $39,473, upon which we paid a duty of $10,206.75. We imported other implements to the value of $107,104, on which we paid a duty of $26,930.05, making the total imports of agricultural implements from the United States in that year to $396,460, on which we paid a duty of $99,819.95.

Although I am willing to stand up here and advocate the interests of Manitoba, as I have always done, I cannot forget that I am still a Canadian.

Mr. Semple said: It is well-known that the nearer the market—the better it is for the seller. We have not a sufficient number of people in this country to give a home market, and, therefore, the next best thing is to have a market as near this country as possible.

Mr. Ward said: The indebtedness in my county amounts to an average of $69,671, or $27,100 less than the indebtedness which this hon. gentleman (Sir Richard Cartwright) would make it appear exists all over the country. I have no hesitation in saying that this average indebtedness of $69,000 would be reduced by payments—and by mortgages that are not in existence by fully 25 or 30 per cent.

Mr. Cameron said: I quite disagree with him (Mr. Jones, Halifax) that the farmers, the fishermen or the mechanics of the maritime Provinces would tolerate any such tariff (the Mackenzie tariff) as compared with the tariff which now exists in the Dominion of Canada.

Mr. Barron said: It is sir, because the amendment of the hon. member for South Oxford (Sir Richard Cartwright) is designed to particularly affect the farmers of this country, that I deem it my duty to give my views on this important question. The farmers in this country have been compelled in the past to sell in the cheapest possible market, and to buy everything they have had to buy in the dearest possible market. Let it be now understood by the farmers of this country that at last the Government have expressed themselves beyond any possible doubt upon the question of reciprocity in natural products. I think the time has come for the people of this country to call a halt in the way the Government is managing our affairs.

Mr. Masson said: The increased duty on pork and on fresh meat, on cattle and hogs, and on flour, will all tend most decidedly to the advancement of the farmers' interest. I was greatly pleased, indeed, to hear the President of the Council state, in reply to a question put by the other side of the House, that he was not in favor of reciprocity in natural products.

Mr. Pilatt said: I cannot refrain from offering my congratulations to the Minister of Finance upon the manner in which he laid the financial statement this year before the country. I consider that his statement was a better one than those we have been accustomed to, because it was laid before us in such a calm and deliberate manner.

Mr. Sproule said: The manufacture of cheese is one of the most important interests of the country to-day. Why, if we allowed the cheese made in the United States, composed largely of rotten lard, cotton seed oil and other injurious ingredients, to be thrown into our country in tens of millions of pounds, it would effectually destroy that industry.

Mr. Lavergne said: When the President of the Council rose the other day I expected that he would have treated this question particularly from a Quebec standpoint, but I must say I was disappointed in that regard. I must say that there is no cause for satisfaction in the actual condition of our country, more especially the condition of the Province of Quebec.

Mr. Ross said: With regard to the tariff I might say that we in the Northwest consider that during the past we have been one of the Provinces which has been a principal sufferer in that connection, inasmuch as we have nothing there that is protected.

Mr. Davin said: In the North-west we have such a fine ranching country that nothing in the United States can be compared with it. I object to unrestricted reciprocity because the Americans could bring in their horses without embargo being laid upon them.

The House then divided on Sir Richard Cartwright's amendment with the following result: Yeas, 60; Nays, 97. Messrs. Barnard, Earle, Gordon, Mara, and Prior voted in the negative.

On Wednesday the following came up: Fishing license to W. Gauthier, Montreal harbor improvements, I. C. R. freight rates, Fredericton Conteen's alleged outrage on the steamer Baltic, after which the House went into committee on Ways and Means, Messrs. Forter, Landerkin, Jones (Halifax), Bowell, Laurier, Mulock, Mitchell, Weldon (St. John), Platt, Sir Richard Cartwright, Patterson (Brant), Guilbet, Waldie, Davin, Kirkpatrick, Sir John Thompson, Hon. Mr. Wills, White (Renfrew), Ferguson (Leeds), Charlton, Freeman, McMillan, McMillan, Bechard, Wilson (Elgin), Sproule, Barnard, Colby, Hesson, Fisher, Gillmor, taking part in the debate.

On Thursday the following resolution was adopted: Resolved—That it is expedient to provide, in respect of the bill entituled: "An Act respecting Agricultural Fertilizers," now before this House: 1. That with every sample transmitted in conformity with section three of the said act, the manufacturer or importer shall, at the same time, transmit to the Minister a fee of three dollars; 2. That the inspector shall be entitled, for each package to which a tag is attached under his supervision, and for each bill of inspection delivered by him, if the fertilizer is in bulk, to such fee in either case as the Governor in Council directs; 3. That every person who sells or offers fertilizers for sale shall, before so doing, register his name and address once in each year with such officer as the Minister directs, and shall at the same time pay a registration fee of one dollar; 4. That all fees paid and penalties recovered under this Act shall form part of the Consolidated Revenue Fund of Canada.

DIVERS ACTS.

On Thursday we had the "Indian Advancement Act Amendment," the "Inland Revenue Act Amendment," "Fishing Vessels of the United States," "Seamen's Act," "Official Debates," "Voters' Lists," the "Interpretation Act," the "Supreme and Exchequer Courts," the "Criminal Law Amendment," which caused considerable superfluous discussion and wast of time; the "Steamboat Inspection Act," "Agricultural Fertilizer's Act," etc., also came up.

Friday opened with the "Electoral Franchise Act," and was followed by the "Territories Real Property Act," and the "Disclosure of Official Documents," when the House went into committee of "Ways and Means."

The owners of the steamer Gladys have made a cut in rates to meet the cut made by the C. P. N. Co., and in future will carry passengers to Chilliwack for 50 cents. They are also issuing season tickets at this rate. The str. Deleware has not met the cut yet, and does not intend reducing rates at present, taking the ground that the steamer could not be run profitably at such a low rate of passenger fare.

THE DAILY COLUMBIAN

WEDNESDAY EVENING, APRIL 23, 1890.

THE PUBLIC PRESS VS. ORGANS.

THE Times is worried. In the guilelessness, simplicity, and withal inherent venality of its soul it has struck a snag. The faithful organ of the loyal Opposition cannot imagine how it is possible for a newspaper to be conducted on independent, not partisan principles. A dyed-in-the-wool partisan itself, it has no conception of independence in journalism. It does not believe in fair criticism, that hews to the line, let the chips fall where they may, and at the same time refrains from hacking recklessy and maliciously beyond the line. In making these remarks we would not have it supposed that we have just made the discovery that the Times is thus functionally deranged, we have known this all along, the symptons have been paraded on its face; but the organ in question has just had a peculiarly virulent eruption of its malady. In a recent issue it broke out in a two column article the intended point of which was to show the inconsistency of THE COLUMBIAN and the World in criticising adversely a bad and unjust Government measure, while commenting favorably to the Government on the lately submitted report of the Committee on Education. We do not expect the Times to understand how a newspaper can vigorously oppose an administration on one or more points, and still give it credit where credit is due.

On the question of redistribution, we are not to be led off the track, nor will we assist in misleading our readers, by considering the question as a party one in the least, or imagining that the Opposition, had they been in power, would have done any better than the Government in this matter. The Mainland, as we have said before, cannot afford to take promises from or put faith in either political party, so far as the redistribution question is concerned, especially when the leaders of both do not scruple to enunciate the preposterous and unjust "balance of power" theory. Henceforth, therefore, we will depend on ourselves, but will co-operate with any party that can be brought to its senseson this important and crucial question.

As to the attitude of THE COLUMBIAN towards the Premier, we do not oppose him on the redistribution question, solely, or principally, on the narrow ground put forward by the Times, that he had betrayed his constituents. We appreciate the fact that the leader of a Government—the prime minister of a province, state, or dominion, as the case may be—has other considerations and responsibilities to weigh besides the interests of his own constituents. A private member will not be blamed very much if he does not look beyond these; but the prime minister has the country on his shoulders, so to speak, and if a case can be supposed where the interests of his own constituency would conflict with the good of the commonwealth, the former would, in strict justice, have to give way to the latter. The Premier may possibly be able to justify himself on these grounds, to convince himself that, under all the circumstances, he did the best thing for the Province, in yielding to the tremendous pressure brought to bear and consenting, not only to introduce the "compromise," "temporary," and "partial" measure which was the best his Government could agree upon, but to attempt as well to apologise for it.

But it is right here that we take issue with the Premier, and denounce the so-called Redistribution Bill as not merely a compromise, temporary and partial measure, but one which is distinctly sectional, grossly unjuot, and radically wrong in principle, and the worst feature about the whole thing so far as the Premier is concerned is his apology for the measure and especially that part of his apology where he allows himself to appear to countenance and sanction that most mischievous, subversive and outrageous fiction of the "balance of power," which is the root of the whole trouble, and must be sternly and summarily eradicated and cast out, instead of tolerated and nourished. Neither Government nor Opposition have given any indications of being equal to the task. The true course of the Lower Mainland, then, is to adopt the proposal of the Mainland Association and send none but pledged representatives—independent of Government and Opposition alike—to the next Provincial Parliament, and this, we are confident, will be done. The entire Mainland, if the people of the various constituencies are wise, and have any sense of justice and patriotism about them, and a minimum of foresight as to certain future contingencies, will join with us of the Lower Mainland in abolishing and crushing once and for all a wrong and dangerous principle in Provincial politics, and establishing the reign of justice and equality for every section of a united, contented, and prosperous Province.

ENGLISHMEN'S DAY.

THE 23rd of April is a memorable day for Englishmen, for not alone is it the national festival of St. George, but the anniversary of the death of Shakespeare. The day, therefore, deserves to be remembered and kept green. Who is there of English blood, in however remote a degree, but does not with pride remember that he is of the race that gave to the world the valour of a Henry V., or the patriotism of a Raleigh, a Drake, a Nelson and a Wellesley. Who can look through the annals of the martyrs of colonization without a thrill of admiration for the men who dared so much, simply, so far as they were concerned, with little or no reward except the keen relish which bravery always brings. And what Englishman is there who cares to forget the doings of the men and women who reformed the abuses of the prison and the lazaretto, the Howards and the Harriet Frys, or those who, like Florence Nightingale, left ease and comfort at home to minister to the needs of their countrymen on the battlefield.

The Englishman has a more than ordinarily legitimate excuse for his pride of race, for his country has, with the aid of the Scotch and the Irish, given to the world an empire the like of which no previous age has ever looked upon, and, broadly speaking, the stride of British conquest has been of incalculable benefit to the people of the globe. Not only have English speaking races been conquerors, but benefactors, too; for in the wake of the colonist and the pioneer have followed all the influences of free government, tolerance and enlightenment. The English speaking world boasts, too, a literature, which makes the lowliest peasant, if only he can read, rich beyond the native of any other country. Chaucer, Milton and numberless more, for "Merrie England," Scott and Moore, for the sister kingdoms, and the "poets from across the sea," all help to swell the heritage of every person who can read the English language.

And, king above all is the man whose death we commemorate to-day. Shakespeare wrote, some one has said "a lay Bible," and this is true. Every tale, every play, is somebody's notion of an interweaving of the lives and actions of men and women, and it was this that caused Crabbe to say that he could read with pleasure the worst written story. It contained at least the author's idea of life under given circumstances, and could not fail, therefore, to be of interest. A dramatist with a low estimate of life and morals "may oppose hate to hate "or cut the knot of a story with a trick "or a lie." "Shakespeare," says Henry Morley, "in his undoubted plays never "allows evil to be overcome with evil." The discords of life are healed by him "only by man's love to God and his "neighbor." Of the spirit of religion Shakespeare's works are full, of its dogmatism there is little.

To-day, therefore, is not merely a festival for the insular Englishman, but for all who can claim a British lineage, or whose blessing it is to be able to call the English language his own. Proud of our common tongue and of the glorious history of our race, we may, too, contemplate the future with unbounded satisfaction, for, as British arms and courage built up an empire, and have created new nations, in the past, so the liberal ideas and civilizing influence of English speaking races must, in the future, succeed in making the world better as it grows older.

NOTES AND COMMENTS.

An intimate friend of Prince Bismarck says that the retired statesman as the "man of blood and iron" is wholly inappropriate. Bismarck, he says, has always acted with moderation when he could, even when circumstance justified harshness, and for twenty years he has been the constant preserver of peace in Europe. Even if this be true, however, the ex-Chancellor may still be justly described as a man of iron. An unbending will very often adopts a policy of moderation as a means of accomplishing its ends.—Ex.

Having taught the men how to govern the city properly, the women of Oskaloosa, Kas., have withdrawn from municipal politics, says an exchange. Under the "petticoat government" of last year the civic debt was wiped out and a surplus established, the streets were put in good shape, and the morals of the city greatly improved. Having accomplished these excellent results, the women have this year allowed the men to resume the reins of government, and the latter will now have an opportunity of showing whether they have profited by the good example set them.

Speaking of the proposed tariff increases on both sides of the international boundary, the Philadelphia Record says: "The real motive for this hostile legislation is in the profoundly superstitious belief on both sides that trade between the United States and Canada is pernicious to both people, and therefore should be discouraged as much as possible. When Sir John Macdonald and his stupid Conservatives and the Republicans of this country shall make the mutual discovery that their legislation has wrought nothing but mischief, they will then propose to erect higher turrets and bastions on their double Chinese wall."

The pension list of the United States is a most formidable one, but it is proposed to extend it by adding every soldier of the war who has attained the age of sixty-five, and every soldier's widow of that age. Where a real disability exists there is a reason for pensioning, but pensioning able-bodied people regardless of claims or necessities, make the pensioning list more pauperizing in its tendencies than any poor law ever known. The U. S. pension list is already very heavy; it, with the little U. S. army, costs the country, a careful U. S. authority states, more than the whole amount paid by Germany for its huge army and the pension list of the wars of 1866 and 1871.

NEW WESTMINSTER.

OFFER FOR SALE FOR A LIMITED TIME, at the undermentioned Prices, the following Properties on terms to suit.

SAPPERTON.

Lots in the Sub-Division of Lot 2, Suburban Block 4, from $200 per lot.

These lots are mostly cleared, and are very sightly, commanding an unsurpassed view of the Fraser River in one direction, and Queen's Park and the upper portion of the City in the other. This property is only about one quarter of a mile from the Brunette Mills, and is the best locality in Sapperton either for residence or speculation.

WESTERN ADDITION.

A few blocks and lots in the Western Addition to the City of New Westminster, Sub-Division of Lot 172, formerly the White Estate.

This sub-division, consisting of 600 lots, was placed upon the market by us a short time ago, and so eager were purchasers to buy that the entire 600 lots were sold out within one month. We are now offering the above property at slightly advanced rates on behalf of former purchasers. Those who missed the chance of buying at first prices have yet an opportunity of investing at prices that cannot fail to yield a good profit. We believe that this is the best speculative property in the City of New Westminster.

SURREY.

5-Acre Blocks in the thriving Municipality of Surrey, midway between the Cities of New Westminster, B. C., and Blaine, Wash., at from $30 to $40 per acre.

This property is situated on the Hall's Prairie road, near the junction of the Langley Road, the Yale Road, and the Clover Valley Road, within 500 yards of the proposed station of the New Westminster Southern Railway. The land is high and dry, and the soil is first-class. Surrey is one of the most prosperous sections of the District of New Westminster, and is at present enjoying quite a boom in real estate; so that purchasers of this property will get the value of their money in good, rich, solid farm land in a locality which at the same time promises an excellent field for speculation.

NORTH ARM.

145 acres in Lot 155, near the North Arm Road, about 2 1-2 miles west of the New Westminster City Post-office, at $150 per acre.

This is fine fertile soil, chiefly prairie, and lies well. It has become a maxim that cities grow westward, and New Westminster is proving no exception to the rule. City lots west of Edinburgh Street, along the North Arm road, have doubled in value in less than a year, while acre tracts have, in the same time, in some instances more than trebled. When the proposed extension of Columbia Street to the Westerly City Boundary is completed, the North Arm will become the best suburban section of the City. Moreover, it is confidently expected by many that the route of the Electric Railway to Vancouver will traverse this section. Our shrewdest speculators are realizing the possibilities of this portion of the City, and the many sales of acre property in the vicinity recently, indicate that land in the direction of the North Arm is looked upon as one of the best places for investment in the District. Prices are bound to advance rapidly.

In addition to the above we have a large list of City and Suburban Property, at moderate prices and on favorable terms, of which we invite examination.

HOLLAND'S MILITIA.

Queer State of Affairs in the Land of Dykes and Ditches.

How the Citizen Army Is Drilled at Rotterdam, Amsterdam and Other Cities —Droll Effects Produced by the Ignorance of Officers.

Holland is becoming exceedingly fidgety about her militia affairs, says a letter in the New York Tribune. The national defenses are in a disorganized condition, and the Dutch would be unable to offer much resistance to any invasion. Reform is the cry on every hand, and universal conscription is advocated on all sides; but no one seems to feel disposed to carry the matter through. As things now are no Dutchman need serve in the regular army if he can pay for a substitute. The consequence is that the rich are opposed to the universal conscription, because they do not want to serve, and the poor are against it because they would no longer receive the large sums which their children earn by serving as substitutes. Every man, however, between the age of twenty-five and forty is forced to belong to the militia, or schuttery, as it is designated in Holland. The latter numbers about two per cent. of the entire population. But it is quite harmless, and partakes to a certain extent of the nature of the opera comique.

Nothing can be more amusing than to watch the schutters on their way to drill late in the afternoon of summer and autumn days. They can scarcely be described as presenting a martial appearance in their blue and red uniforms, with their shakoes perched rakishly on one side of their head, the chin strap barely reaching down to the nose, a cigar or pipe in the mouth, and an antediluvian-looking old musket carried over the shoulder, butt end upward.

In winter when it rains or snows the monthly drill at Rotterdam, Amsterdam and other important cities, usually takes place under cover in the bourse after the business of the day is over. The drill sergeants, however, dislike this; for it doubles their work, since the schutters devote far more attention to the figures of the afternoon stock quotations, still chalked upon the board, than to the figures of drill.

The officers of the militia regiments are exceedingly gorgeous creatures, with their long, clanking sabers, their plumed hats and their profusion of gold lace. Their knowledge of things military is but one degree superior to that of the men under their command, for they have been forced to drill for two hours a week during a period of six weeks with a regular line regiment. Under ordinary circumstances they manage to fulfill their duty after a fashion, but during the annual maneuvers they are subjected to great trials. A schutter Captain will be standing in front of his company, when a corporal acting as orderly approaches with the following message: "The enemy is close at hand. The Colonel sends you his very best compliments and wishes to know if would oblige him by leading your to attack. All at once the latent patriotism and military ardor of the Captain blaze forth. He draws his sword, and calling on his soldiers to follow him, rushes to meet the imaginary enemy. Suddenly his advance is checked by a shallow ditch filled with muddy water. This causes his fierceness to abate, for he would not for all the world soil his uniform. He pauses for a few seconds. All at once a happy thought strikes him. "Fire by volleys!" he cries to his men. Immediately the ramrods are heard to rattle in all the enormous barrels of the old muskets, and a minute later the hammers fall with a clicking noise of old metal. For the militia-men are not only forbidden the use of gunpowder, but are even denied percussion caps. In the middle of all this the Adjutant of the regiment, who is invariably an officer of the regular army, dashes up on horseback and exclaims in frantic tones to the Captain:

"Good heavens! man, don't you know that in case of volley firing the officers must not stand right in front of the muzzles of their men's guns?"

Nowise disconcerted, the Captain pulls his hand-book of military regulations out of his pocket and, after carefully glancing over several pages, replies in a nonchalant manner: "Well, I don't see any thing about it in here."

The face of the adjutant becomes scarlet, he gulps down two or three big oaths and finally ejaculates: "Here, give me the book. See there! It is page forty-eight." And then, with a look of despair and a shrug of his shoulders, he dashes off to some other equally well-informed schutter officer.

Meanwhile the Captain has leisurely returned his sword to its scabbard and has inscribed in his note-book the following memorandum: "In case of volley firing it is better for the officer to keep to the rear of the front, so as not to come into contact with the muzzles of his men's guns."

The Majors, the Lieutenants and the Colonels of the "schuttery" are all cut out of the same cloth as the Captain above portrayed; always ready to argue the point with their superior officers, and producing the drollest effects by their utter ignorance of military tactics. There is even a "schutter" General who is a retail tea merchant. None of the officers or men are acquainted with the mechanism of a modern rifle, and there are probably but few of them who would venture to handle one if they knew it was loaded.

SAXON VIOLIN-MAKERS.

A Part of Germany Devoted to the Manufacture of Fiddles.

In Markneukirchen, with its surrounding villages, Klingenthal, Fleissen Rohrback and Graslitz, in Saxony, are about 15,000 people who do nothing else, day after day, but make violin The inhabitants, from the little urchin to the old gray-haired man, the small girl, and the old grandmother, all are engaged in making some parts of a fiddle.

A good instrument consists of sixty-two different pieces. The older men make the finger-board from ebony, and the string holder or the screws. The small boys make themselves useful by looking after the glue pot. A man with strong, steady hands and a clear eye puts the different pieces together, and this is the most difficult task of all. The women generally occupy themselves as polishers, and the family that has a daughter who is a good polisher is considered fortunate. Even a young man when he goes a-wooing, inquires whether the young girl is a good polisher; and if she is, it certainly will increase his affection for her at least two-fold. The polishing takes a good deal of time, some of the best violins being twenty and even thirty times polished. Every family has its peculiar style of polishing, and they never vary from that. There is one that makes everything but a deep wine color, another citron color, yet another an orange color, and so on.—Cor. Boston Transcript.

—Colorado College, at Colorado Springs, Col., has just come into possession of a valuable set of books through the gift of Mr. J. J. Hagerman. It consists of 175 volumes and is the London edition of the celebrated edition known as the Delphin classics, of which there are only two other sets in the United States. It contains all the best criticism down to 1815, and a complete text of all the classic Latin literature.

A very pretty little performance, entitled "Mother Goose" will given in the Oddfellows' Hall on Tuesday evening, April 29th. This entertainment has been prepared expressly for the pleasure of the young folks, and it is to be hoped the little ones will be given an opportunity of enjoying the fun.

Mr. G. W. Grant, the architect, is calling for tenders for the erection of Mr. C. G. Major's new residence, corner of Mary and Melbourne streets. The plans show a very handsome design for a residential building, and, in fact, a structure which would be a credit to any city. Tenders will be received until Thursday, May 15th.

Fisk Jubilee Singers.

Herring's Opera House was packed last night with a very enthusiastic audience to hear the world-renowned jubilee singers. As on the previous occasion the entertainment gave the highest satisfaction, and every item but two was heartily encored. In fact the encore was carried to such an extent that even the audience began to fear that they might carry their feelings too far and fatigue the performers, but all doubts on this point were removed when on the next call the singers gave "We are not weary yet" with such spirit and good nature that confidence on this point was fully restored. If ever the jubilee singers visit Westminster again no house of public amusement will be large enough to hold the audience.

The Mayor's Trophy.

His Worship Mayor Brown Honorary President of the New Westminster Lacrosse Club, has shown his appreciation of the honor conferred upon him by presenting the club with a beautiful silver cup, to be competed for at the close of the season. The cup stands thirteen inches high; the bowl is handsomely chased and mounted on two lacrosse sticks; the cover is capped by a pair of crossed flags, the whole being handsome in design and finish. The cup will be competed for by members of the club at the close of each season, the competition being for ball throwing at a target at 50, 75 and 100 yards distance, or such other competition as the officers of the club may direct. The cup is displayed in Messrs. Mowat & Sloan's office, and it is well worth an inspection. The handsome trophy is greatly appreciated by the members of the club.

A Good Showing.

The Court of Revision, which sat in this City yesterday, has confirmed the assessment roll in every particular. There were only fifteen appeals altogether, and all of these but one were satisfactorily disposed of yesterday, and the court adjourned until to-day to hear the remaining appeal, that of Judge Bole. That gentleman, however, withdrew his appeal this morning. This is a good showing for the work of the assessors, and also shows that the City taxes are fair and moderate to every one, and are so considered.

Stocking Sumas Lake.

Mr. John Buie, of the fisheries department, returned from Sumas Lake yesterday, in which waters he successfully deposited about a million sprightly young salmon fry. The steamer bearing the fish sailed up Sumas river and entered the lake without trouble, this being the second time on record that a steamboat has ruffled the bosom of this placid sheet. The fry were turned loose at a convenient spot and left to shift for themselves. The hatchery is now nearly bare of its brood and another week or ten days will suffice to remove the remaining fry.

The Steamer Constance.

This beautiful little steamer built at Victoria for Mr. Alex. Ewen, to be used in connection with his fishing and packing business, is complete in every detail and ready for service. On Monday the Constance made a trip from Victoria to Race Rocks and back again, showing the wonderful speed of 11 knots an hour. Capt. Frank Odin will leave for Victoria to-morrow morning to bring the steamer to Westminster, and she is expected to arrive in port Friday or Saturday. It is understood Mr. Ewen will give a number of his friends a trip on the steamer soon after her arrival.

Candidates for the Ministry.

The annual Conference Examinations for candidates for the ministry of the Methodist church commenced in this city to-day and will last until to-morrow evening. The examination is confined to candidates from the District of New Westminster. Only two candidates are up for examination this year, Mr. Hicks, of Chilliwack, and Mr. Misener of Langley. The Board of Examiners is chosen from the clergymen stationed in this district. Each candidate not a graduate of a theological institution, must perform four years missionary work, and prepare for his examination during this period.

The Rush of Immigrants.

The steady stream of immigration pouring into Westminster is certainly a matter for congratulation, especially as there is work in plenty for all. But the great drawback is the lack of room to accommodate the new comers, and a very serious drawback this is. Three families arrived last week intending to stay but were forced to remove elsewhere simply because they could not find houses to live in. Men who were unable to find employment in Vancouver and who are now working in this City are unable to bring their families here to reside for the reason that houses are not to be got to accommodate them. There are over twenty families waiting to remove from Vancouver to this City the moment they can get a place to live in. Yesterday a family consisting of 21 persons arrived from the east to make Westminster their home, but they find that it is the old story "no houses," and have decided to settle in one of the up-river townships. And though houses are scarce they are springing up like mushrooms all over the City, a dozen or more being completed every week, but, of course, these were engaged by house-hunters from one to three months ago. The question of house room is a difficult problem to work out.

Knights of Pythias.

At 8:30 o'clock yesterday morning a preliminary meeting of the delegates from Nanaimo, Wellington, Vancouver and Westminster, with those from Far West Lodge of Victoria was held in the hall of the last named lodge. Two hours later a second general meeting was held, at which the organization of the Grand Lodge of British Columbia was proceeded with, Deputy Supreme Chancellor Behnsen, of Victoria, presiding. Each of the lodges of the Province, five in number, were represented by two voting delegates; while each has also sent two Past Chancellors over to receive their rank. The election of Grand Lodge officers was disposed of and afterward the preparation of a constitution, and rules to govern the subordinate lodges was commenced. There are now five lodges of the K. of P. in British Columbia, of which Far West Lodge is the pioneer, numbering over five hundred members. On the organization of the Grand Lodge, British Columbia will be entitled to representation in the Supreme Lodge. The session will probably last until Thursday afternoon, when a grand drill by the uniform rank will bring the proceedings to a close.

Judge Bole Dined.

The Bar of Vancouver last evening banquetted Judge Bole at the International Hotel. About fifteen in all were present, including the guest of the evening. The chair was occupied by Mr. J. J. Blake, and the vice-chair by Mr. L. G. McPhillips. The menu was a special effort on the part of Herr Boehlofsky and it goes without saying that it was beyond reproach. The first toast on the list was "The Queen," which was duly honored in the customary manner. "Our Honored Guest," proposed by Mr. Blake in a happy speech, brought a reply from Judge Bole which kept "the table in a roar" during its continuence. The speech throughout scintillated with that keen wit for the possession of which His Honor is so well known. It was the speech of a lawyer, but of one who has sympathies beyond those to be found between the covers of "Blackstone," or "Coke," or "Lyttleton." The wise "saws and modern instances" with which his address was replete, were given a novelty of appearance which made them refreshingly acceptable. The next toast was "Mr. Charles A. Coldwell, the Registar." The "Bar of Westminster" followed and was replied to by Mr. E. A. Jenns. Mr. A. E. Beck proposed "the Magistrate, Mr. I. H. Hallet." Other speeches, interspersed with songs, followed and the Bench and Bar spent a pleasant evening together.—News-Advertiser.

Bismarck Indulges Too Freely.

BERLIN, April 22.—The Freisinnige Zeitung publishes what purports to be some remarks made by Prince Bismarck to a deputation of the Manufacturer's Association which waited upon him on April 16th. In the course of his address the ex-Chancellor is alleged to have declared that he would gladly have remained in office had the Emperor expressed a desire that he should do so. He attributes his removal to the intrigues of his opponents, and especially to the machinations of a Minister who owed his position to him. Prince Bismarck is said by the Zeitung to have admitted that he differed with the Emperor on the labor question. Prince Bismarck further said that he had as a result of search, produced a cabinet and placed the intercourse of the Ministers with the Crown, under the control of the President of the President of the Council, with the object of frustrating these intrigues. He expressed his belief that the action of Dr. Windthorst in begging an interview with him at which the Clerical leader made impossible demands was also a trap set for him. The Gazette expresses the opinion that previous to his speech to the deputation, Prince Bismarck had indulged too freely in stimulants.

PROVINCIAL PARLIAMENT.

Tuesday's Proceedings.

Mr. Speaker took the chair 2:10 p. m. Prayers by Rev. P. McF. McLeod.

Hon. Mr. Robson rose to a question of privilege and said he had been misreported in both the Truth and THE COLUMBIAN, of Westminster, in regard to the "unwritten compact that the balance of power should remain as it was before 1888. The Truth did not always speak the truth (hear, hear), and he had been made to say exactly the opposite of what he had said.

Mr. Ladner also rose to a question of privilege and said he had been misreported in the Colonist. He had said that he understood this House failed to meet one evening last week because of a dinner at the house of one of the ministers. The Colonist made him say that the House adjourned for "a drink." (Laughter.) He would be sorry to use any such language on the floor of this House and he repudiated the statement that the House had adjourned for a drink.

Mr. Grant also rose to a question of privilege and said he had been misreported in the Colonist. That paper said he had "paired with Mr. Anderson in the redistribution question." This was, as every one knew, false.

Hon. Mr. Beaven.—The reporters never did that.

Mr Grant.—No, I don't think they did.

The petition of the miners of west Kootenay against the royalty clause in the Railyway Aid Bill was read and received and directed to be printed.

Mr. Grant moved the following resolution: That this House has no confidence in the present Government. It had become painfully evident during the discussion on the Redistribution Bill that this Government did not deserve to exist a day longer than the end of this session. The Government did not care so much for the interests of the country as for exigencies of the case One of the most extraordinary statements made by the premier when speaking on that bill was that about "half a loaf of bread," he admitted that many parts of this Province would not be satisfied with what had been done in this case, they would not be satisfied with this half loaf, but, if the Government were returned to power the country would get the other half. He was surprised to hear such a remark from a man of the ability of the Premier. It was the old attempt of the Governmet to play for public favor. Re-election was their aim, an aim which he felt sure the good sense of the country would frustrate. The honorable gentleman then proceeded to detail the shortcomings of the Government in language of considerable severity.

Mr. Grant said that he had taken down several remarks of the Hon. Mr. Robson, made during the speech on the Redistribution Bill. The latter denied ever having made such statements. Mr. Grant said it was high time that there was an official stenographer for this House, as there were things said on the floor of the floor of the House and deliberately denied within the same hour. Honorable members got up and made statements which they knew would be most damaging to them did they go out to the country, therefore they denied those statements unblushingly whenever they were taxed with their authorship.

Mr. Ladner, in seconding the resolution, entered into voluminous statistics. He said it was singular that the district of Westminster, the constituency of the honorable the Premier, himself, suffered more than any other in the country. The Premier had admitted this himself.

Hon. Mr. Robson—I would not be likely to admit such a palpable falsehood.

Mr. Ladner said it was so, just the same, and he expected nothing less than a denial from the honorable the Premier. He complained bitterly of the taking away of Queen Charlotte Islands from New Westminster District. This was an act of violence; the Government were taking away everything from that district. He said it was a burning shame to treat the rich district so shabbily in the matter of roads and bridges. He drew a vivid picture of the bad condition of the present roads. He read a description of the storming of the Legislative Assembly, which took place some years ago, and this reading caused unbounded amusement. There was a large deputation, he said, coming from the Mainland that night, and he would like to know if history would repeat itself in this case as in the one he had just read.

Mr. Cunningham—No, no.

Mr. Cunnimgham said the remarks of the gentlemen who had proceeded him made it more and more difficult for him to choose ground for his vote; and he now saw himself reduced to a minority of one. He wanted to be fair to the Government, his constituents and himself. If he voted for this resolution he stultified himself and he was not prepared to do that. He meant to give the Government credit for having done the best they could, and for having done the business of the country fairly well up to the time of the introduction of the Redistribution Bill. The Premier had honestly confessed that this bill was unfair to his own constituents and he (the speaker) too, must say also that his constituents also were dealt unfairly by. The Finance Minister had said that it was all a matter of dollars and cents and that as long as Westminster got the dollars and cents she did not want anything else. But he denied that; Westminster was not prepared to sell her birth right for a mess of pottage. Another gratuitous insult which had been offered by the hon. President of the Council was that a mob was coming over from the Mainland to deal with the House in a high handed manner. The gentlemen who were coming down on this deputation were as harmless and mild as lambs and to call them a mob was a gratuitous insult.

Hon. Mr. Pooley denied having called the deputation a mob and explained what he had said.

Coming to the Redistribution Bill Mr. Cunningham characterised it as an abominable measure, as THE COLUMBIAN had said, "an iniquitous and infamous bill." THE COLUMBIAN was one of the most independent, fearless and outspoken journals in this Province and was a credit to it, and he was sure its utterances were entitled to respect; it had voiced the sentiments of the entire population of Westminster City. But he scarcely knew what to do on this present measure.

Hon. Mr. Robson (pointing to the Opposition) Don't go with that crowd. (Laughter.)

Mr. Cunningham then said he believed it might be as well to remain in the frying pan after all.

Mr. Orr—Don't you do it, Tommy, don't. (Roars of laughter.)

Mr. Cunningham, when order was restored, said he failed to see on what grounds another member was refused to Westminster City.

Mr. Cunningham was applauded on finishing his speech.

Hon. Mr. Pooley proceeded to show where the sectionalism of Mr. Cunningham came in. That gentleman was always calling for more for Westminster; he wanted three members for Westminster, he wanted this, that and the other thing for Westminster. He had displayed the very greatest sectionalism since he had sat in the House. He could not blame him for these views, as he had come down imbued with these ideas, but those things got into the press and led people to believe that Westminster was trying to run this country. The hon. gentlemen then turned his attention to the remarks made by the hon. member for Cassiar, and entered at some length into a refutation of that gentleman's argument and assertions. Mr. Grant then refuted the refutations of the president of the council.

Mr. Semlin then said he had, unlike the hon. member for Westminster City, not supported the policy of the Government. The Government had not the entire confidence of the country and everybody was not convinced that the Government would conduct the affairs of the Province in the proper manner.

House adjourned at 6 o'clock until 8.

A Fugitive from Justice.

A warrant for the arrest of an individual who took a prominent hand in the Skeena River troubles of a few years ago has been issued, the charge being one of aggravated assault. The alleged assault was committed near Inverness a couple of weeks ago, when the accused attacked Mr. Dempster, the canner, with a hunting knife. Help arrived before harm was done, and the holder of the knife was knocked down with a crowbar. He then ran for his rifle, and when returning with it, bent on mischief, he was captured and disarmed by Captain McCulloch, of the Louise, and Mr. R. Cunningham, jr. Since the warrant has been issued, the man wanted has taken to the woods, and it is probable that he will dodge arrest for some time.—Colonist.

Everything in New York, the Buffalo Commercial says, is paralysed with admiration of the wisdom of the new chief of the street cleaning department of that city as displayed by him in dealing with the tremendous problem of "combining the two intricate operations of scraping street dirt into piles and carting the same away before it is distributed again on the same premises." Hitherto American genius has been unable to grapple successfully with this great question, but the New York official has found the solution of it. It is announced that "the city will be divided into districts; that a force of able-bodied men wearing numbered badges will be assigned the duty of sweeping the pavements in these districts daily; that each laborer shall have a wheelbarrow, hoe, broom and shovel; and, finally, that each district shall have numerous fixed receptacles at convenient spots, in which the sweepers shall deposit their sweepings, and which shall be emptied at fixed hours daily by the carting brigade." This is not a new plan, for it has been successfully operated for years in many of the largest European cities. It is new to America, however, and New Yorkers are delighted with the sagacity of the man who has adopted it for the cleaning of their streets. He deserves to be made Governor of the State.
