Signs of Drunkenness.

The symptoms of drunkenness, be it observed, are all paralytic, and are all due to loss of nervous power and of voluntary control. The flushing of the face shows the paralysis of the small blood vessels; soon the slip-shod utterances show the want of voluntary control over some of the muscles of articulation; the double vision indicates the loss of accommodating power in the eyes; and the staggering gait shows that the loss of control has extended to the larger muscles; lastly, the drunkard falls prostrate in a condition so resembling apoplexy that the most experienced occasionally fail rightly to distinguish one from the other. If the intemperate use of alcohol be persisted in, there soon results a degeneration of all the tissues of the body. The nervous tissues are, perhaps, the first to suffer, and the shaking hand and tottering gait are infallibly followed by a similiar tottering of the intellectual and moral faculties. The stomach resents the constant introduction into it of ardent spirits, and soon refuses properly to digest food. The liver and kidneys give out in a similiar way, and the impairment of their functions causes terrible dropsy. The heart gets fatty and weak, the lungs lose their fresh elasticity and soon there is not a tissue in the body which has not, in one way or another, succumbed to the ill-treatment to which it has been subjected.—Family Physician.

Modern Journalism.

In an article headed "Humiliating," the Mainland Guardian of Wednesday laments the depravity of modern journalism and winds up with the elevating and enlightening remark:—"Nearly a column of pointless rubbish on the subject of the manikin's appeared in the Inland Sentinel a few days ago, which might have been written, or at least dictated by the provincial secretary. It is very sad to see an honorable profession besmeared with mud, but such is modern journalism." It is possible that the editor of the Mainland Guardian has the audacity to weigh "modern journalism" in his own censorious balance! His vile insinuations regarding the Inland Sentinel being remunerated or influenced in any way by the provincial secretary, for approving of the manikin's introduction into public shools, we most emphatically resent. We regard his reference to the manikin's as unworthy of any modern journal, and if it were not too obscene it should be reported and condemned seriatim. We regret very much to be forced to classify the Gaurdian with that section of "modern journalism" that is rightly charged with promoting demoralization. Regarding journalism as a business, and not a benevolent institution, their aim is to make money, and selfishness forces them to forget their true mission. Columns full of descriptions of murders, arsons, thefts, and other crimes are given as the principal news of the day. The whole world of violence and shame, and even of the secret vice, is presented for daily entertainment and study. The grossest criminals have their defenders, the basest travesties of justice their advocates, and the profanest babblers their apologist. Added to this is the crime of personal assault indulged in so frequently by our Guardian cotemporary. Using this privilege of public censor, the editor assumes the right of discussion according to his own taste or judgment, the result being almost invariably that abuse takes the place of rational debate and argument. The right of denunciation is one that is claimed by all public teachers; and wholesome fears of it is part of that which deters men from evil doing, and punishes them for guilt. But it is a right easily perverted, and hence the facility with which men, moved either by interest or malice can turn it to vicious account. No name is so lofty that it cannot be assailed; no life so noble that it may not be traduced. Many a noble character has a shadow thus thrown over it a shadow that remains after death to obscure the memories of its virtues. This we are very thankful is not true of all journals. But it is never too late to improve, and the Guardian may yet become conscious of its undignified course and take steps to have itself classified by an intelligent public among those journals whose aim is the moral, intellectual and social improvement of the people.—Inland Sentinel.

LAST NIGHT'S DESPATCHES.

STILL PARADING.

LONDON, Oct. 12.—The bands of idle persons calling themselves "unemployed workingmen," which have taken to parading the streets during the last two or three days, and whose processions are invariably followed by squads of police, who are under the impression that the fellows are Socialists bent upon mischief at the first opportunity. Many of the paraders are known to the police, who are getting tired of following them about, and and know some of them who have not done a day's work in years, and there is danger that the police will lose their temper and indulge in some pretty severe clubbing if the parades continue much longer.

GERMAN INTERESTS.

BERLIN, Oct. 12.—The German government has decided not to send a war vessel to Morocco but will entrust to England's representatives the protection of the Germans in Moorish territories. This decision is regarded as a proof of the existence of an entente cordiale between the two powers.

EGYPTIAN REBELS.

CAIRO, Oct. 12.—It is officially reported that there are 5000 rebels at Sarras. It is believed they intend to surround Wady Halfa and entirely prevent all outside communication from that place.

CHOLERA IN INDIA.

SIMLA, Oct. 12.—During the month of August 30,780 deaths from cholera occurred in the northwestern provinces of India.

DEATH OF LADY BRASSEY.

LONDON, Oct. 12.—News has been received here of the death of Lady Brassey on board the yacht Sunbeam, while on the voyage to Australia.

ADDRESSING THE JURY.

DUBLIN, Oct. 12.—Mr. Murphy, the crown counsel, in addressing the jury in the Mitchellstown inquest to-day, had not expected much consolation from them, seeing that they were all members of the National League or sympathizers with the League. It was useless, he continued, for him to address any jurymen who had openly in court said that he was in the hands of the opposing counsel. Mr. Harrington said: "This is the grossest piece of scoundrelism ever heard. No remarks of that meaning were made." Mr. Murphy, proceeding, said that Commissioner Condon was responsible for the riot, in having urged the people to close up and oppose the police. The police had a perfect right to be there, as the meeting was called and held for seditious purposes. Mr. Harrington will ask to-morrow for a verdict of wilful murder against Inspector Browning and five constables. The report telegraphed last night that Mr. Condon had threatened to thrash Mr. Murphy during yesterday's proceedings at the inquest is untrue.

THE CHINESE CONCESSIONS REVOKED.

NEW YORK, Oct. 12.—The London Times publishes a dispatch from Tientsin, stating that the Chinese government has definitely withdrawn from its agreement with the American syndicate authorizing the establishment of a Chinese-American bank and other enterprises, and revoked the concessions under it.

TUPPER UNSEATED.

HALIFAX, Oct. 12.—Sir Chas. Tupper's seat for Cumberland has been declared void, with costs of case to go to petitioner. Bribery was admitted, but the personal charges were not pressed. A convention has been called to nominate a candidate.

THIS MORNING'S DESPATCHES.

A SHOOTING AFFRAY.

GRANTS, N. M. Oct. 13.—Thos. Wright a ranch owner in Ceballete valley a short distance south west from here had a quarrel with a Mexican over a yearling yesterday. The latter drew a revolver shot and killed Wright. Another American present then killed the Mexican and escaped. Wright has several brothers. A war of extermination will soon begin.

D'ANDLAU'S DISAPPEARANCE.

PARIS, Oct. 13.—The excitement concerning the Carrarel scandal continues unabated. The public feels that the affair is only at a begining. Forty police agents are busy searching Paris and securing the country, trying to find General D'Andlau, not even the faintest trace of him has yet been detected. Crowds at the bourse collect and talk themselves into the firm belief that Wilson, Prest Grevey's son-in-law and Boulanger are implicated deeply. In General D'Andlau's apartment, the police have found some registers containing incriminating entries, Rochefort thinks the affair was originally made up by members of the ministry to injure Boulanger. He does not believe that D'Andlau has succeeded as he is to old. "This scandal" said Rochefort will cause the fall of the ministry. It wont upset M. Grevey. He will simply repudiate people who have compromised themselves. As for Mme Limousin, she will get off with a fortnights imprisonment if she goes to prison at all, which I doubt. But who ever else escapes, the ministry wont.

WAITING FOR NEWS.

NOGALES, Ariz., Oct. 13.—It is said that the shore of the Bay at Guaymas is crowded by people awaiting tidings from the swept away cities and schooners on the gulf. The storm and tidal-wave are the most severe that has ever been known. Many of those who have wealth are rushing to the scene of disaster for the purpose of sending all the aid in their power to assist the unfortunate.

RIOT IN TORONTO.

TORONTO, Oct. 13.—Cardinal Taschereau was banqueted last night by prominent roman catholics. An orange band from the suburbs of this city accompanied by a large crowd of bloodthirsty roughs went to the hotel where the the banquet was being held and by playing tunes and hurling filthy and insulting epithets they managed to provoke a fight. The fight soon grew into a riot and as several thousands engaged in it at one time serious results were anticipated. Stones were thrown by the rioters and a number were injured. Finally the police were sent for it being feared that the angry crowd would atone and do violence to those at the banquet. The police after an exciting fight with the mob managed to disperse it, a numbers of arrests made but in every instance but one the prisoners were rescued by friends after being arrested.

STOLEN MONEY RECOVERED.

CHICAGO, Ill., Oct. 13.—John B. Owens, express messenger of the Pacific Express Co., at Texarkana, who was arrested on charge of appropriating $26,000 of the company's money last week, has made a confession. Owens buried the money behind a woodshed on the outskirts of St. Louis on Saturday afternoon. He led the detective to the place yesterday and the money was recovered.

TURN ABOUT IT MAY BE.

HALIFAX, Oct. 13.—The schooner Houlette, hitherto employed as a Canadian fishery cruiser has been purchased by Capt. Grant, of British Columbia, and will proceed immediately to the Pacific to engage in Alaska fisheries. It will be remembered that the American fishery schr. Highland Light was captured by the Houlette. It is not improbable that the Houlette herself may become the prize of American cruisers in Alaskan waters.

ROBBED AND MURDERED.

LOS ANGELOS, Cala., Oct. 13.—It became known to-day that the charred remains found in a burned barn at Compton on the 27th ult., were those of Dr. E. C. Harlan, the most popular dentist of former days. The wife of the doctor says that her husband had gone to Compton with a large sum of money, and the general belief is that the dentist was murdered and robbed and the body removed to a barn and the place fired to destroy all traces of the crime.

A BIG FIGHT.

NEWPORT, R. I., Oct. 13.—To-day will witness one of the most exciting sham fights ever witnessed in this country to determine the best means of defending this important naval station, as well as to instruct young officers in the mysteries of warfare. The north Atlantic squadron will try to capture this city which will be held by troops from Fort Adams; over 1000 blue jackets and soldiers will participate. The attack begins at 12:45 p. m., when, under a heavy fire from the war ships, sailors and marines will make a descent upon Goat Island and try to capture it, which, if successful, will be made the center of operations and will be hurriedly fortified for heavy guns to be trained on the city. Large number of visitors are arriving to witness the affair. Admiral Luce will command the naval force in person.

THIS AFTERNOON'S DESPATCHES.

THE FISHERIES QUESTION.

OTTAWA, Ont., Oct. 13.—The assertion that the United States upholds the idea of a three mile limit in the Atlantic Ocean and opposes the same idea in the Pacific is disposed of by Delaney as follows: Concerning the doctrine of international law establishing what is known as a marine league belt which extends the jurisdiction of a nation into its seas for a distance of one marine league or three miles from its shores, and following all indentations and sinuosities of its coast, there is at this date no room for discussion. It must be accepted as a settled law of nations. It is sustained by the highest authority of law writers and jurists. It has been sanctioned by the United States since the foundation of the government. Well grounded as it is, this doctrine of law of nations, it is no more firmly established as a part of the international code than that other principle which gives to a nation supremacy jurisdiction and dominion, over its own inland waters, gulfs, bay and seas. Delaney then made numerous references to prove that Russia always asserted that Behrings Sea was an inland water and that the United States has always maintained the same position since it acquired possession. Enough been said to disclose the basis of Russia's right to jurisdiction of Behring Sea under law of the nations, namely, original possession of the asiatic coast followed by the discovery and possession of Aleutian chain and shores Alaska north not only to Behring strait, but to point, Barrow and the frozen ocean thus inclosing within its territory as within the embrace of a mighty giant, islands and waters of Behring Sea, and with this assumption and exercise of dominion over land and sea.

Daily British Columbian

Thursday Evening, Oct. 13, 1887.

A Doubtful Bird.

A few days ago we referred to the controversy between the Victoria Colonist and the Vancouver News respecting the experiences of the steamship Port Victor on her last inward trip from China. The Vancouver paper stated that it had been informed by Capt. Bird, of the Port Victor, that his ship approached within three lengths of Esquimalt light before he took a pilot. The Victoria paper declared this to be a wilful falsehood, and intimated that the News was guilty of manipulating the truth to suit his purpose. The News repelled the insinuation, and repeated its statement with emphasis. But when Capt. Bird arrived at Esquimalt with his steamer, a representative of the Colonist waited on him and obtained from him a flat contradiction of the statement attributed to him by the Vancouver paper. The captain said that instead of being three lengths, his ship was over a mile from the light when he took the pilot! We must say this looked bad for the Vancouver paper, but in its issue of yesterday morning it proves itself quite equal to the occasion. It happened that Mayor McLean and Mr. D. Oppenheimer were present when the News interviewed Capt. Bird, and over their own signatures these two gentlemen declare that the captain not only admitted the correctness of the report of the interview as published in the News, but stated likewise that he would make the Victoria reporter take back what he had said! Our impression is that both the newspapers have been deceived by the captain, who gave each of them just what they most wanted. The News was anxious to show that the China steamers were subject to serious delays when calling at Esquimalt, and that the pilots displayed a disposition to retard rather than help the steamer to reach her destination with speed. The Colonist wanted to show the very opposite; and Capt. Bird seems to have grasped the situation and accommodated himself with wonderful facility to the company he happened to be in. We cannot, however, commend either the wisdom or the diplomatic astuteness of this young navigator. He has left two newspapers calling each other hard names, and behind him there remains a painful impression that when facts come in the way of his purpose, the facts must stand aside.

Worth Considering.

A bonus of $25,000 having been voted for the establishment of smelting works at Vancouver, the Colonist rises to suggest that the people of Victoria ought to do something large in the same direction. More than a year ago the council of Victoria offered $5,000 for smelting works, and it was hoped that this sum, supplemented by the $7,000 set apart by the provincial government, would be sufficient inducement to secure the object in view. But the proposal was barren of result, and Vancouver's $25,000 seems to have opened the eyes of Victorians to the fact that a still higher bid will be necessary. The Colonist claims that there is no other place in the province where such works could be carried on with so much economy as at Victoria, because it is easy of access from the coal mines of Departure Bay and the ore mines of the mainland. This claim is certainly not well founded. Westminster is nearer Departure Bay than Victoria by a good many miles, and it is more easy of access for coal vessels. Ore from the mainland mines, of which there is likely to be an abundant supply, can be laid down here from the cars without transhipment, and delivered for at least $1 per ton less than in Victoria. Fuel here is abundant and cheap, and fresh water is as free as the air. The iron from Texada Island could also be delivered here at less cost than at Victoria, because the distance is much less. It is obvious for these reasons that Westminster is in a much more favorable position than Victoria for the establishment and economical maintenance of smelting works. But with the offer of a large bonus at Vancouver, and the prospective offer of a larger one at Victoria, it is hardly probable that such works will come here without substantial inducement. There is no city in British Columbia more able to bid for such industries than this. Our debt is like a drop in a good sized bucket compared with the debt of either of the cities named, and when the balance of the squares have been disposed of we shall have, practically, no debt at all. The establishment of smelting works here is a matter of very great importance, and we think it is worthy of receiving earnest consideration by our citizens. But if we intend to bid for this industry, there ought to be no delay in our movements. No one can tell how soon steps will be taken for the erection of such works. It was reported some weeks ago that Mr. C. B. Wright was on his way to San Francisco for the very purpose of organizing a company to put up smelting works in this province. If the people of this city are of opinion that it would be good policy to offer a bonus, the fact of their willingness should be made known without unnecessary delay, or they may arrive at the point of action when it is too late.

A Creaking Hinge

Is dry and turns hard, until oil is applied, after which it moves easily. When the joints, or hinges, of the body are stiffened and inflamed by Rheumatism, they cannot be moved without causing the most excruciating pains. Ayer's Sarsaparilla, by its action on the blood, relieves this condition, and restores the joints to good working order.

Ayer's Sarsaparilla has effected, in our city, many most remarkable cures, in cases which baffled the efforts of the most experienced physicians. Were it necessary, I could give the names of many individuals who have been cured by taking this medicine. In my case it has worked wonders, relieving me of after being troubled with it for years. In this, and all other diseases arising from impure blood, there is no remedy with which I am acquainted, that affords such relief as Ayer's Sarsaparilla.—R. H. Lawrence, M. D., Baltimore, Md.

Ayer's Sarsaparilla cured me of Gout and Rheumatism, when nothing else would. It has eradicated every trace of disease from my system.—R. H. Short, Manager Hotel Belmont, Lowell, Mass.

I was, during many months, a sufferer from chronic Rheumatism. The disease afflicted me grievously, in spite of all the remedies I could find, until I commenced using Ayer's Sarsaparilla. I took several bottles of this preparation, and was speedily restored to health.—J. Fream, Independence, Va. ††

A BOX OF SKULLS.

Heads of Kings and Old-Time Monarchs Gathered Together and Distributed as Mementos.

"Alas, poor Yorick! I knew him, Horatio," soliloquized Deputy Appraiser Hoffman, of Philadelphia, as he stood among the bales and boxes in the Appraiser's store, a time-stained human skull in one hand and his writing-tablet and pencil in the other. This little piece of drama was enacted by Mr. Hoffman as he conducted the examination of some thirty odd cases of curiosities and relics sent home by United States naval officers attached to the South Pacific Squadron.

They came to this port last week by the bark Itonus, from Pisaqua, Chili, and were sent to the Appraiser's store for examination. The boxes were consigned to relatives and friends of the officers in Washington, and their contents represented the accumulated collections of extended cruises among the islands of the South Pacific Ocean, with many curious articles gathered on the Peruvian and Chilian coasts.

The Yorick of Mr. Hoffman's fanciful imagination was probably a dusky heathen with a weakness for tender missionaries who is well served, and guilty of no more indebtedness to his tailor than was Father Adam. He was evidently old when he passed into spirit land, as the few teeth remaining in his jaw were worn down nearly to their roots. And then his jaw itself was of the kind that might have furnished a formidable weapon for a small-sized Samson. There was a whole box of these cast-off and dried-up heads, but none of them had their business card attached to show where they lived when at home. Some of the skulls were curiously marked by deeply carved lines some parallel and running back from the center of the forehead, while others converged from the temples to the center of the top.

SKULLS OF KINGS.

"Here's Royalty for you," was the comment of the Deputy as he dragged out three skulls strung upon a cord, and he read from a tag: "Skulls of kings of the Easter Islands."

There was a lot of stuff from the Easter and Friendly Islands, but none of the articles partook of the Christian attributes or the names of those far-away islands. There were curiously-carved and formidable-looking war-clubs, made of handsome wood and deeply stained with blood. A bundle of arrows contained some wicked looking specimens about five feet in length, made of slender, hollow reeds and tipped with long points of bone. Some of the arrows had barbed points the teeth finely cut and very sharp. From their looks it appeared as if they might easily be driven by a powerful bow clear through a human body. There were a number of spears, short but heavy and sharp-pointed, and some of them were barbed for two feet of their length. Each barb was made of a single piece and bound upon the shaft with a cord. The weapons were of many kinds but all alike of formidable appearance. One of the most interesting weapons was a Maori mace, from New Zealand. It was pear-shaped, about a foot in length and sharp on both edges. It was made of some hard and very fine stone, and its workmanship and proportions were really beautiful.

IMPLEMENTS OF WARFARE.

One of the bundles contained a lot of war-clubs, in shape and size much like cricket-bats. They were made of wood closely resembling mahogany, but much heavier, and were handsomely carved. Other clubs were iron-wood, and were simply carved balls upon handles.

Some of the pieces of South American pottery were of fine workmanship. A flat, circular flask of fine workmanship. A flat, circular flask of fine red clay had for a neck a beautifully carved head of a man with a pointed beard. A curiously shaped lamp from Chimbote, Peru, was of coarse clay molded in the semblance of a duck. One box contained a lot of gourds, which were delicately carved in curious designs. Another package contained a number of whales' teeth, some of them in their natural roughness and others beautifully polished. A small square bale of what appeared to be all oakum was torn apart, and the jaws of a big shark were found within; The jaws were very tight, but strong, and were adorned with six rows of small, triangular and very sharp teeth.

Among the curiosities were several bales of paper blankets. They were evidently of Japanese or Chinese make, and were made of very thick, soft paper, decorated with strange devices in different colors. There was an almost endless number of small trinkets, specimens of minerals, coral and other curios, sufficient to stock a goodly sized museum.

Keep the Eye Shut.

We are told to keep our eyes over open, but it is often well to keep them shut. One of the chief causes of nervous disease is the straining of the eyes and the constant tension of the mind. When stretched out in the barber's chair do not try to read a newspaper, but close your eyelids under the soothing undulations of the lather brush or the dreamy sensation of the shampoo with the darky's big hands gliding over your pate. In a railway carriage, instead of staring out of your sockets at the landscape that is being torn into shreds before you, fold your arms, bow your head and listen to the whirr of the wheels that make an accompaniment to the wordless song crooning in your heart. Again, in the concert room, in place of surveying the audience critically or watching the beauty of the singer behind the footlights, shut your eyes once more and let the music sink into your soul, rocking it on waves of emotion and waiting in insensibly into the ideal world. In a still higher sense to keep our eyes and mouth shut is one of the wisest lessons of life.

A German's Temperance Speech.

An honest German, who was asked to speak at a temperance gathering, delivered the following exhaustive speech:—

"I shall tell you how it vas. I put mine hand on my head — there vas one big pain. Then I put my hand in my pocket, and there vas nothing. Now there ish no more pain in mine head. The pains in mine body ish all gone away. I put mine hands in my pocket, and there ish twenty dollars. So I shall shtay mit the temperance!"

POTATO rolls for breakfast are made in this way: Boil six good-sized potatoes with their jackets on, take them out with a skimmer, drain them, and squeeze them with a towel to insure their being mealy and dry, then remove the skin, mash them until perfectly free from lumps, add a tablespoonful of butter, the yolks of three eggs, a pint of sweet milk, and a tablespoonful of yeast should be beaten in with them when cool enough so that the yeast will not be in danger of being scalded. Beat in just enough flour to make a stiff dough; when this rises make it in the shape of small cakes, let them rise the same as biscuit, bake a delicate brown. These are nice for breakfast or supper.

The Amount of Rain Water.

Let us see what amount of rain water for a inches of rainfall represents on an acre of ground. 6,272,640 square inches in an acre. One inch of rain would represent the same number of square inches. In a cubic foot there are 1,728 inches. An inch of rain falling upon an acre is equivalent to 3.630 cubic feet. The weight of a cubic foot of water is 62½ pounds. Two thousand pounds make a ton. It follows from the premises, that an inch of rain falling upon an acre of ground will weigh 226,975 pounds, which is the equivalent of 113 tons and 875 pounds to the acre. Three times this amount gives 240 tons and 625 pounds to the acre. In some hard rainstorms an inch of rain will fall in two or three hours. We have known an inch to fall in an hour. The impact of 113 tons of water on an acre, falling suddenly, is very great. That is what packs the land so hard. A gentle rain or mere drizzle is always more beneficial to the land. It makes muddy streets, while a hard rain washes them clean. The farmer is glad to get twenty inches of rain for the season. But this is more than 2,500 ton of the acre. It is this quantity which fills up the springs and the sources of the rivers and keeps them alive during the long dry summer. There will be thirty inches or more in an extreme wet winter. Any one can figure out on the data here given what proportion that will give to an acre of ground.

Something About the Bicycle.

"You might think that only the legs would be exercised by riding a wheel, but it is a fact that a beginner feels the effects first in his shoulders and back. The muscles of the trunk, particularly about the sides and abdomen, are also used a great deal. Although the action of the legs appears to be similar to their action in walking it is found that six muscles in the calf not used at all in walking are brought into play. You can work those muscles by rising on your toes, but in walking they are not exercised. The speed attainable on ordinary roads in a ride of four or five hours, taking it comfortably and not trying to make a record, will average about eight miles an hour. It is a good horse that will keep up that gait. Expert riders can out-travel any horse that ever wore shoes in a twenty-four hour journey, but that, of course, is a feat of endurance. For practical, reasonable travel, the bicycle is superior to a horse on good roads, and is by no means a plaything or an athlete's apparatus. It is a business and pleasure vehicle, and ought to be so considered in the road laws.—A. M. K. in Western Newsman.

Animal Heat.

In the animals endowed with the most perfect respiratory organs, the bodily heat remains uniform through all changes of temperature of the surrounding medium. Respiration is more active in birds than in any other class of animals, and their temperature is uniformly higher than any other, ranging from 109 to 112 degrees Fahrenheit. In the mammalia it is from 95 to 105 degrees, varying for adult man, in different individuals, from 98 to 100 degrees. During fevers it is several degrees higher, reaching 106 or 107 degrees in scarlet and typhus fevers; while in other forms of disease it falls a little below the normal, descending to 66 degrees in a remarkable case not long ago

In health, it is about a degree a half lower during sleep than when awake, and is some degrees higher in the very young than in the very old. In reptiles, fishes, and all so-called cold-blooded animals the temperature of the body is very little above that of the surrounding air or water, rising or falling with the external changes.

A Monster Tool.

One of the finest and most powerful tools that mechanical science has yet achieved has just been finished at Mulhouse for the French navy. It is a two-carriage universal lathe which is a complete machine-shop in itself, being capable of performing the most varied operations—such as mortising, shaping, boring and moulding — with the most perfect accuracy. It is wonderfully adapted to the delicate and complicated working of pieces for armor-plating turrets, of helix supports, for rudders, of cranked shafts, of pistons etc., for modern war-vessels and it handles and shapes immense masses of steel almost as skillfully as the carpenter carves small blocks of wood. Its weight is more than 340 tons, and it is driven by an engine of 25 horse-power. Comparison of this tool with one of 70 tons, which was a mechanical marvel some 25 years ago, gives a striking illustration of the almost incredible progress of our generation.

The Migratory Habits of Trout.

The following facts exemplify the strong migratory instincts of trout:—At the fish-culture establishment at Delaford, where the utmost care is taken to isolate the various species of salmonidæ, a few of the fish are occasionally found in ponds long distances from those in which they were originally located. Considering that each pond is so constructed as to prevent such a contingency, the occurrence is very remarkable, and can only be accounted for in two ways, viz., that the fish either burrow through holes that probably are made by rats and moles, or they jump out of the water and so proceed to the next pond. It is not likely that they are borne thence by birds, as the appearance of the fish on the occasions referred to does not justify such an assumption. Nature.

The Limit of Chemical Research.

Prof. Bolton expresses the opinion that the crowning glory of modern chemistry is the power of producing, in the laboratory, from norganic matter, substances identical with those existing in the vegetable and animal kingdoms—it being known now that the same chemical laws rule animate and inanimate nature, and that any definite compound produced in the former can be prepared by synthesis as soon as its chemical constitution has been made out.—San Francisco Argonaut.

Animal Instinct.

A cow, which had recently calved, was sold in Retford market to a Worksop man. On reaching Worksop the cow was put in field. Next morning the only trace of her was some hair on the top of a wall, over which she had leaped. The police were informed of the missing cow, and their first step was to find who sold the cow and where she came from. This was found to be Gamston, and there the animal was found with her calf, she having arrived during the night.

A BOSTON scientist predicts that within twenty years chemistry will show how sea water can be made suitable for drinking and for culinary purposes and cheaply for seaboard cities than fresh water can be brought for any considerable distance.

Constipation

Is a universal and most troublesome disorder. It causes Headache, Mental Depression, impairs the Sight and Hearing, destroys the Appetite, and, when long continued, causes Enlargement of the Liver, Inflammation of the Bowels, and Piles. Constipation is speedily cured by Ayer's Pills.

For a number of months I was troubled with Costiveness, in consequence of which I suffered from Loss of Appetite, Dyspepsia, and a disordered liver. My eyes also troubled me. I was compelled to wear a shade over them, and, at times, was unable to bear exposure to the light. I was entirely three boxes of Ayer's Pills. I have no hesitation in pronouncing this medicine to be the best cathartic ever made.—James Eccles, Poland, Ohio.

I suffered from Constipation, and, consequently, from Headache, Indigestion, and Piles, for years. Ayer's Pills, which I took at the suggestion of a friend, have given me effectual relief. I commenced taking this remedy two months ago, and am now free from Constipation, the removal of which has caused my other troubles to disappear, and greatly improved my general health.—W. Keeler, Amherst, Mass.

I suffered from Constipation, which assumed such an obstinate form that I feared a stoppage of the bowels. Two boxes of Ayer's Pills cured me, completely.—D. Burke, Saco, Me. ††

WHAT PHYSICIANS SAY ABOUT THE

STARR KIDNEY PAD.

"Treatment by Absorption has for some time been recognized by Medical Men to be the most simple and effectual means of conveying to Diseased Organs, "Curatives," but in cases of Kidney Disease and Complaints attendant thereon, successful treatment was practically impossible until the introduction of the Starr Kidney Pad. It costs less than a single prescription and is immeasurably more decisive and effective than any quantity of internal Medicinal dosing. Worn immediately over the seat of Disease, its curative properties become absorbed by the diseased and enfeebled Organs, continuously and directly, as required to insure in return their healthy action and original vigour. It is comfortable to the patient and pleasant in its effects, and cures when nothing else can. The Starr Kidney Pad accomplishes positive, decisive results. A more valuable discovery as a true remedy for Kidney Diseases was never made.—Medical Gazette

The Starr Kidney Pad, manufactured in Toronto, is a permanent sure cure for diseases, disorders and ailments of the Kidneys, Bladder and urinary secretive system, or attendant complaints, causing pain in the small of the back, sides, etc., producing urinary disorders, such as too frequent, scanty, difficult, painful or copious micturition, inability of retention and sedimentary urine, dropsical symptoms etc., denoting the presence in the system of diseases common to the urinary secretive organs—known as gravel, catarrh of the bladder and passages, Bright's disease, diabetes, dropsy, piles, nervous debility, etc. Send for pamphlet to LANGLEY & CO., Wholesale Agents, Victoria. Farmers and breeders will observe from our advertising columns that Mr. C. T. Dupont, of Victoria, offers for sale a thoroughbred Jersey bull with an excellent pedigree.

The officers and crew of the government str. Sir James Douglas presented a gold-headed cane to their late commander, Capt. Devereaux, who has been appointed superintendent of the graving dock.

Capt. Peele presented us with a wild rose in full bloom which he cut to-day from a rose bush near his house. The leaves are as green and the scent from the rose is as sweet as they would be in the month of June.

Messrs. Ellard & Co. have just received direct from the English manufacturers, in the newest and most fashionable styles, a large consignment of dolmans, mantles, jackets and ulsters, for ladies and children, for fall and winter wear. dse21tc

"For years I have suffered from loss of appetite and indigestion, but failed to find relief until I began taking Ayer's Sasaparilla. This medicine entirely cured me. My appetite and digestion are now perfect."—Fred. G. Bower, 496 Seventh st., South Boston, Mass.

The str. Rithet arrived at 6 o'clock last evening from Victoria, bringing 40 tons of local freight and 60 tons for the railway, also a number of passengers. She cleared this morning at 7 o'clock on the return trip taking 110 head of cattle and a large quantity of merchandise.

FROZEN FISH.—The Fraser River Freezing Co. have now about 90 tons of salmon frozen and ready for shipment. The shipping will commence about Nov. 1st and will be continued at intervals until the whole has gone forward. By this freezing process the people in the east are enabled to procure fresh salmon on their local markets at any season of the year, which is duly appreciated by them, as may be seen by the large shipments that have gone forward ever since the run commenced in the spring. Freezing salmon for shipment east is bound to be one of our leading industries in the near future.

THE PUCK OPERA CO.—The Winnipeg Call of Sept. 14 has the following on the above company: Altogether the piece and the performers make a pleasing entertainment, all being artists in their line. There was not a low or vulgar word or suggestion throughout, nor anything at which the primmest old maid could take offence. But there is good, pure, wholesome fun by the bushel and plenty of sweet music.

EXCURSION, CONCERT, ETC.—From an advertisment in another column it will be seen that arrangements have been made for an excursion to Chilliwhack on the 20th inst. The attractions at Chilliwhack will be a ploughing match, a concert and an extensive auction sale. The concert is in aid of the Royal Columbian Hospital, and ought to enlist the sympathy of the people of this city as well as those of Chilliwhack and elsewhere.

HARRISON HOT SPRINGS.—The following are late arrivals at the St. Alice Hotel: James F. Smith, Orillia, Ont.; Hyman Clarke, Toronto; Thos. Draper, Victoria; Robt. Barker, Vancouver; L. H. Hunter, Winnipeg; O. J. Bovill, Westminster; H. S. Drewry and party, Harrison Lake; Jas. Stuart and wife, Ashcroft; J. J. McBride, Revelstoke; Geo. Adams, Westminster Junction; H. Holt, Texas; Thos. Mowat, inspector of fisheries, Westminster; J. S. Smith, Montreal; J. M. O'Brien, the Colonist, Victoria; Mrs. S. J. Tunstall, Kamloops; P. P. Peele, Westminster; David Barr, Renfrew; Henry Barr, do; Wm. Knight, Popcum; W. J. Taylor, Victoria; M. Loudgrain, Donald; G. W. Healy, Shuswap; Wm. Downie, Vancouver; J. L. Prenter, do; Jos. Armstrong, Westminster.

THE BOOK SOCIAL.—The book social held last night in the Baptist Church under the auspices of the Y. M. C. A. turned out to be a very successful affair. The attendance was large, the fair sex in particular turning out in large numbers, probably to encourage the young men as Mr. Austin suggested. The programme was well chosen and several of the selections rendered were very good indeed. At the conclusion of the concert Mr. Austin announced that the result of the evening's venture was 111 books, some of which are valuable. He thanked the audience for the support given the association and hoped their efforts would meet with the same hearty support on future occasions as on this one. After singing the National Anthem an adjournment was made to the basement where hot tea and coffee, cakes and many other good things were discussed in a pleasant and sociable manner.

AT THE CANADIAN CAPITAL.—An Ottawa dispatch says: John Robson, provincial secretary and minister of mines of British Columbia, is in the city. He will be here for some days, conferring with Sir John Macdonald and other ministers on important matters connected with his province. To-night he said: "The British Columbia government is anxious to secure a speedy determination of the boundary between Alaska and the province. There is no immediate conflict of jurisdiction, but that section of country is growing rapidly. Many gold-seekers are going in and finding gold in the diggings. This, at any moment, might cause an important issue to arise between the provincial and United States governments. The feeling is strong in British Columbia respecting the Behring Sea seizures, and the province looks to Ottawa and the imperial authorities to secure a speedy and final decision on the question of jurisdiction. The claim of the Washington executive to exclusive jurisdiction is held to be a preposterous one, and a direct antithesis of the claim they make in regard to the Atlantic coast fisheries.

N. McRae, Wyebridge, writes: "I have sold large quantities of Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil; it is used for colds, sore throat, croup &c., and in fact for any affection of the throat it works like magic. It is a sure cure for burns, wounds and bruises."

The Country's Progress.

On Tuesday Mr. W. D. Ferris sold his 160 acre farm on Sea Island to Mr. A. McRae, a gentleman from Ontario, for $12,500. The amount mentioned includes about $1,000 worth of stock and farm implements. This is one of the best sales of farming land ever made in the province and will give outsiders an idea of how rapidly land is rising in value. The farm was bought by Mr. Ferris four years ago from Messrs. Boyd & Kilgour for the sum of $3,000, and thus nets Mr. Ferris the neat sum of $8,500 profit in the short space of four years, over and above the profits from the products of the farm. This is only one instance, others could be given that would show a proportionately large increase in value during the same period.

From Granite Creek.

Mr. W. T. Thompson, who arrived down from Granite Creek to-day, reports that without doubt the great Stevenson quartz ledge has been found. The ledge is in a part of the country very difficult of access, which explains why so much time has been spent in searching it out. Mr. C. G. Ballantyne, of Victoria, purchased the northern extension of this claim, and has just brought out about 600 lbs. of the rock. It is now at Hope, and will come down on the steamer Irving tomorrow for assay. It is commonly believed that this ledge is immensely rich, but of that the future will speak more definitely. There has been no new development of importance at Granite Creek this season. About 200 white men and 500 Chinamen have averaged moderate returns for their labor. Mr. Thompson thinks there is not much doubt about the richness of the mines at Rock Creek, and the holders of mining property there have a very good thing.

New Hardware Store.

As will be seen by an advertisement in another column Messrs. H. T. Read & Co. have opened out a full line of hardware in Ewen's old cannery on Columbia street. This building will be used temporarily until the Masonic block is completed, to which they will then remove, having rented one of these fine stores. Mr. H. T. Read is well known throughout the city and has the advantage of being well liked by everyone, which, together with his business ability, ought to mean success for the new firm.

Halo Cultus Potlatch.

An old lady went into a grocery store on Columbia street this morning, and after making a few purchases went out, leaving her purse on the counter. A Siwash happened to be in the store at the time, and he, after buying a few things, went out also. Just as he was going out of the door the grocer, seeing the purse, and thinking it belonged to the Indian, called him back and gave it to him. The Siwash, looking upon it in the light of a potlatch, pocketed it and wentoff. A few minutes later the grocer was horrified when the old lady returned and enquired for her purse which she had left on the counter. A policeman was secured and a hunt was made for the Siwash, who when found was disagreeably surprised to learn it was "halo cultus potlatch."

Rev. C. A. Dyke, of Toronto, arrived from that city to-day, and is the guest of the Rev. Mr. Lennie. He will address a meeting to-night in the Baptist Church, to which all are invited. On Saturday Mr. Dyke goes to Victoria, where he will occupy the pulpit of the Baptist Church for a couple of months.

A Chinaman Suicides.

On Tuesday evening a Chinaman named Ah Wong suicided at the penitentiary. Ah Wong was under sentence of ten years imprisonment for assaulting with intent to kill a foreman on the railway construction at Port Hammond. He was sentenced in May, 1883, and had put in nearly 5 years of his term. Of late Ah Wong has shown signs of insanity, and a few weeks back became really insane. On Tuesday morning while out in the penitentiary grounds he attempted to run away, but was brought back and lodged in a cell. Towards evening, as he promised to be good, he was allowed out of the cell, but as soon as the lamps were lighted he commenced burning up all his letters and papers. The guard reported this, and, when attempting to prevent him burning the papers, Ah Wong made a fierce attack on the guard, who locked him up again. About 10 minutes to 9 o'clock the guard found Ah Wong suspended by the neck, and apparently dead. The body was immediately cut down and every possible effort made to resuscitate it, but to no effect. The rope Ah Wong used for hanging himself was made from a strip of cloth torn from the lower part of his shirt. As the man was insane, and the facts so simple, no inquest was held.

Mr. Wm. Boyd Hill, Cobourg, writes: "Having used Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil for some years, I have much pleasure in testifying to its efficacy in relieving pains in the back and shoulders. I have also used it in cases of croup in children, and have found it to be all that you claim it to be."
