Daily British Columbian

Monday Evening, July 18, 1887.

The following information regarding the operation of the Scott Act in Halton is furnished to the Montreal Witness: "During the fifteen months that the present inspector has held office the fines imposed for violation of the Scott Act in this county have totalled $2,200. Several of the violators have decamped instead of paying their fines much to the satisfaction of the law-abiding residents. The opposition to the Act has virtually died out, with the exception of Milton, where a bitter fight is maintained, but the Scott Act executive anticipate stamping it out in a short time. In the township of Esquesing they used to spend about $300 a year in their poorhouse. Now it has dwindled to $50 a year, and the poorhouse is empty. A repeal vote was talked of, but it is hopeless."

Mr. John Waters, M.P.P., of North Middlesex, has written a paper on commercial union for the Dominion Farmers' Council, in which he takes the ground that all we want is reciprocity in natural products, and that commercial union would injure the Canadian manufacturer and probably lead to complications with the mother country. Mr. Waters writes remarkably well and marshals his arguments with skill, but we think he overlooks three prime facts: First, the Americans are not willing even to discuss partial reciprocity; secondly, England would not be injured any more than she is under the present tariff; and, lastly, it is evident that we cannot long hold the maritime and western provinces under the existing regime, which compels them to trade on a wholly artificial system. What, for instance, would Mr. Waters say if he were a settler in British Columbia and were forced, as the settlers there are, to buy at Montreal, 2,700 miles off by rail, while he was within easy distance by water of San Francisco?—Toronto Mail.

The announcement that the Anglo-Turkish convention, which was positively to be signed on Monday and was nevertheless not signed, seems to have been received with comparative apathy in England and everywhere else. Sir Henry Drummond Wolff, the special British commissioner, was, of course, instructed to leave Constantinople, which he may not have been sorry to do under the circumstances and at this season. In the nature of the case the matter was not one to get immediately excited about. Russia and France won the day on Monday, but the end is not yet, and England may reply by threats or persuasions that will be more successful. The French have now carried their epigrammatic point of "refusing to sanction and convert into a right a British protectorate over Egypt hitherto only acknowledged as a fact." But the English are in Egypt, and without any pledge whatever for evacuating it; and that is where the matter rests. One objection to the present status is that it leaves a cause of bitterness unsettled. But many people will at least admit now that Russia's imputation of the bribery of Turkish officials by the British is shown to be false; or, at least, it was not England that bribed them successfully.—N. Y. Times.

Mr. Erastus Wiman enjoyed the honor on Friday of having a park named for him at Dufferin Lake, in Canada. He improved the occasion, in company with the Hon. Benjamin Butterworth, of Ohio, to make an eloquent plea for commercial union between Canada and the United States. He set forth the advantages, especially to Canada, of the extended market that would be afforded for the products of her mines, forests, fields and fisheries. It would seem as though the arguments in support of this aspect of the case were simply unanswerable, but the Canadians are timid about the fate of their infant and carefully fostered manufactures. Some of them seem to think that it is better to restrict the market for all their industries if some can be built up at the expense of others within their own limits. It is a short-sighted policy which it is for Canada to maintain or abandon as she sees fit. The advantages of commercial union would be far greater to her than to the United States, and the people of the latter will not get anxious on the subject until it appears whether Canada desires these advantages or not. Mr. Butterworth considered it necessary to combat the bugbear of annexation, which on this side of the line appears too ridiculous for serious treatment.—N. Y. Times.

THE NEWS.

THE BOUNDARY ROAD.

The Work Being Proceeded with and Sub-Contracts Being Let—The Irrepressible C. P. R.

Railroad Accident!

Further Details of the St. Thomas Accident—Winnipegs' Jubilee.

OTHER ITEMS OF INTEREST.

By Associated Press.

MORE PARTICULARS OF THE ACCIDENT.

LONDON, Ont., July 16.—Henry Angalls, of this city, fireman on the wrecked excursion train, says that when within a mile of the Michigan Central Railroad crossing, he noticed that the signal was out for the train to stop, but the engineer, Donnelly, did not try to apply the air brakes until within about a quarter of a mile of the smash. The engineer informed him that the air brakes did not apparently have any effect on the train. Angalls left the cab and went to the tender, to see if the valve there was all right. He found that it was. He then jumped on the top of the baggage car, and put on the brake there. The train was now nearing the crossing at a lively rate, and he prepared to jump. Climbing down upon the tender he sprung from it onto the ground, but did not sustain any serious bruises. He saw no more of his mate, until he was taken from under the boiler of the engine. The head was severed from the trunk, and parts of his arms and legs had been torn off. The flesh on his body and limbs was burned to a crisp. It was impossible for anyone to recognize him. He had stuck to his post. Had the brakes worked, the disaster would have been avoided.

He reversed the engine and did everything in his power to prevent the collision.

THEY WANT THE EARTH.

OTTAWA, July 16.—The Canadian Pacific claim compensation from the government on the ground that the Onderdonk section was not completed according to contract. Arbitration to settle the dispute takes place at Victoria or Kamloops next month. Hon. Mr. Pope, minister of railways, Hon. Mr. Thompson, minister of justice, and Mr. Schreiber, chief engineer for Canada, will represent the government.

The government has not yet received any communication from Washington authorities in reference to the demand for compensation for the Behring sea seizures.

Thos. Mills and John McRoberts, Victoria, have passed the preliminary civil service examination held in May last. A. Calder, R. Drummond, R. Gordon, B. Miller, B. McDonald, J. McLeod, John Shaw and Tudor Tiedemann, Victoria, passed the qualifying examination.

Mr. Gill, of Prescott, has been appointed inspector of inland revenue at Victoria.

THE R. R. ROAD.

WINNIPEG, July 16.—The contractors to whom the work of grading the Red River Valley railway was yesterday let, are busily engaged to-day in getting their outfits ready and getting to the scene of their labors. Mr. Strevel, who has 42 teams and about double that number of men, expects to be at work to-morrow. It will take the afternoon and half of to-morrow to reach the work. Egan Bros. have 38 teams and double the number of men, and they have four large graders ready for the work. Their outfit has gone out to work to-day. Mr. Bryson's outfit comprises 35 teams and 50 men. Mr. Erwin's outfit is not a very large one, but as he only secured 7 miles, his outfit will be sufficient to complete the work within the prescribed time. Deducting the 7 miles awarded to Mr. Erwin the balance of the work was about equally divided among the other three contractors. The average price paid was ten and a half cents a yard. The price is not considered high, but will pay the contractors fairly well.

Mr. Stewart, the government engineer, was asked to-day if any change had been made in the terminus of the road at Fort Rouge, and he replied in the negative. The work would commence at the point where the first sod was turned, and go on to the boundary.

WILL BE SUBSIDIZED.

TORONTO, July 16.—Referring to Sir Donald Smith's interview with the cabinet ministers, the Mail's London correspondent says: William Davies Jackson, financial secretary to the treasury, informs me that the Imperial government will arrange terms with the Canadian Pacific and announce them shortly.

COSTLY MARBLE QUARRIES.

HAMILTON, July 16.—Two million dollars are said to have been offered for Senator Sanford's rich marble quarries in the Northwest.

IRISH EVICTIONS

DUBLIN, July 16.—Archbishop Walsh, of Dublin, is endeavoring to induce the government to suspend further evictions in Ireland until the land bill is passed by parliament. He suggests that a conference on the subject be held by the leaders of the various parties.

WINNIPEG'S JUBILEE.

WINNIPEG, July 16.—The regatta here yesterday drew ten thousand people to the banks of Red River. The races resulted disastrously to the Winnipeg crews, the Americans winning every race in which they rowed. It was a big surprise to the Winnipegers, who had been giving long odds on their home crews.

The fire works on the river last night were very grand.

Plum Creek beat the 90th lacrosse team for the championship of the Province.

The city is full of strangers. The races will be continued to-day.

A son of Rev. Mr. Spencer, of Kildonan, was thrown out of a buggy and killed.

THE TURKISH CONVENTION.

CONSTANTINOPLE, July 18.—The Sultan through the German ambassador and by direct messenger, tried to persuade H. D. Wolff, British commissioner, to postpone his departure from Constantinople. In his last dispatch Lord Salisbury refused to modify the Egyptian convention.

C.P.R. AGGRESSION.

OTTAWA, July 18.—The Canadian Pacific officials say the company has contracted to carry carloads of Australian wool from Victoria to Boston and other points on the Atlantic seaboard. This wool was, until this season, brought in vessels to American ports on the Pacific coast and shipped over the Northern Pacific railway to Boston and other ports.

THE BLUE LAWS.

PORTLAND, Me., July 18.—The marshall having ordered druggists not to sell soda and cigars, all the druggists except one small shop closed entirely yesterday, not even putting up prescriptions. Their action is not opposed by the citizens, who do not sustain the marshall in his attempt to force the "Blue Law." The druggists will take further concerted action.

MORE FISHERY TROUBLES.

ST. JOHNS, N. B., July 18.—A special says: Information from parties along the French shore indicate that a misunderstanding exists between French and Newfoundland fishermen. The commander of the French warship Drac has driven Newfoundland fishermen from certain points on the coast at the point of the bayonet, and the French are encroaching upon fishing grounds hitherto used by English fishermen.

THE ORIENTAL TRADE.

OTTAWA, July 18.—The Dominion government will send a commissioner to Asia for the purpose of promoting trade between Canada and China and Japan. All efforts of the Dominion to extend Canada's foreign trade have been utterly barren of results. The foreign is still on the decline. It is held that it will be impossible to extend Canada's foreign trade on a profitable basis till the Dominion obtains the right to regulate commercial treaties on its own account.

Jas. Shannon, Leaskdale, writes: For many years my wife was troubled with chilblains, and could get no relief until about two years ago; she was then not able to walk, and the pain was then so excruciating that she could not sleep at night. Your agent was then on his regular trip, and she asked him if he could cure her. He told her Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil was a sure cure. She tried it, and judge of her astonishment when in a few days the pain was all allayed and the foot restored to its natural condition. It is also the best remedy for burns and bruises I ever used.

AFTER LONG YEARS.—"I was troubled with liver complaint for a number of years, finding no cure. I tried B. B. B. I took four bottles, and am perfectly cured, strong and hearty." Mrs. Maria Askett, Alma, Ont.

Monday Evening, July 18, 1887.

The Provincial Show.

We understand that the people of Chilliwhack are making extensive preparations for the annual exhibition of the British Columbia Agricultural Association which is to be held at Chilliwhack some time next month. The necessary grounds have been secured, and buildings and sheds for the accommodation of the various exhibits are in course of construction. Until a few weeks ago the danger of a flood was so imminent that some persons began to doubt whether it would be wise to make any preparations at all for the exhibition; but this danger is now past, and it is found that the water came up just high enough to irrigate thoroughly and enrich the soil. While in some other parts of the district crops are seriously suffering from drought, we are informed that Chilliwhack farms are clothed with an abundant verdure, and the prospects of a full harvest are first-class. We hope the farmers and producers of this district particularly, and of the whole country generally, will not lose sight of this great annual gathering of provincial resources. Every year the importance of making these exhibitions what they ought to be—a fair representation of the advantages and resources and development of the province—is becoming greater and greater. As the population increases and the number of strangers visiting the province becomes larger, our opportunities for advertising our resources by means of such exhibitions are greatly improved. It is to be hoped the people will do all they can to make the coming exhibition the best ever held in the country.

The Excommunicated Priest.

Dr. McGlynn is no longer a priest of the Roman church. The decree of excommunication has been issued, and he is severed from Rome. Although this is a terrible sentence to a Roman Catholic, it does not seem to have greatly disturbed the rebellious priest who has set himself up against an ecclesiastical authority which claims the perfection of infallibility. Dr. McGlynn is a man of considerable mental endowments, and he seems to enjoy in a remarkable degree the affection and allegiance of his co-religionists with whom he has been associated. The powerful protest sent from New York against the threat of excommunication is proof of this, because those who endorsed it did so with the knowledge that by that act they were calling in question the judgment and the infallibility of the supreme ecclesiastical authority. Much speculation is being indulged in as to the future course of the ex-priest whose delaration of independence has made him famous for the time. If his convictions of privilege and personal freedom are stronger than his allegiance to the church, he will probably drift further and further away from the influences which have hitherto moulded his religious convictions. But the habits and beliefs of early days are not quickly effaced, and after he feels for a while the full force and consequences of the step he has taken, it would not be surprising to find the excommunicated priest suing for reinstatement. In his present circumstances the prospect before him is not at all encouraging. He is an ex-priest without a flock, an ex-Catholic without a communion. If the change of his opinions has gone far enough, he may embrace Protestantism and seek still to employ his talents in religious work under entirely new auspices. If not, he may cling to the traditions of the old faith and enter with more zeal than ever into the promulgation of the secular schemes which have been the immediate cause of his estrangement. Henry George, whose economic theories he seems to have heartily embraced, would doubtless welcome such a colleague, and the communistic movement for the sequestration of real property would receive a fresh impetus. But it is doubtful if even the powerful championship of Dr. McGlynn will be sufficient to accomplish the revolution aimed at by Henry George. People who respect the rights of possession, and who look with alarm upon forcible confiscation of personal property, are, fortunately, in the majority in this country, and the new doctrine will find active support only among that class which has nothing worth confiscation and whose circumstances are such as to enlist their sympathies in anything that promises change. Dr. McGlynn had the privilege of choosing his own destiny. He had the option of staying by the church and giving up the obnoxious theories of Henry George, or of renouncing the church and staying by George. He has chosen the latter, and whatever the consequences may be his career will be watched with some interest by the people to whom his name has of late become a most familiar word.

WHAT PHYSICIANS SAY ABOUT THE

STARR KIDNEY PAD.

"Treatment by Absorption has for some time been recognized by Medical Men to be the most simple and effectual means of conveying to Diseased Organs, "Curatives," but in cases of Kidney Disease and Complaints attendant thereon, successful treatment was practically impossible until the introduction of the Starr Kidney Pad. It costs less than a single prescription and is immeasurably more decisive and effective than any quantity of internal Medicinal dosing. Worn immediately over the seat of Disease, its curative properties become absorbed by the diseased and enfeebled Organs, continuously and directly, as required to insure in return their healthy action and original vigour. It is comfortable to the patient and pleasant in its effects, and cures when nothing else can. The Starr Kidney Pad accomplishes positive, decisive results. A more valuable discovery as a true remedy for Kidney Diseases was never made.—Medical Gazette

The Starr Kidney Pad, manufactured in Toronto, is a permanent sure cure for diseases, disorders and ailments of the Kidneys, Bladder and urinary secretive system, or attendant complaints, causing pain in the small of the back, sides, etc., producing urinary disorders, such as too frequent, scanty, difficult, painful or copious micturition, inability of retention and sedimentary urine, dropsical symptoms, etc., denoting the presence in the system of diseases common to the urinary secretive organs—known as gravel, catarrh of the bladder and passages, Bright's disease, diabetes, dropsy, piles, nervous debility, etc. Send for pamphlet to LANGLEY & CO., Wholesale Agents, Victoria. ON THE STILE.

Far away in Jersey,
Out upon a farm,
Lives a rustic beauty
Possessed of every charm.
Hair like golden cobweb
Shining in the sun;
Eyes the very darkest,
Filled with mirth and fun;
Simplicity so rural
Makes her doubly sweet,
From the hat she wears
To her shoeless feet.
When I saw her first,
With her winning smile,
It was near her father's farm,
Seated on the stile.

The next time that we met
It was in the city.
Gracious, what a change!
Heavens, what a pity!
She'd drawn up her hair
Underneath her hat,
And frizzed her "golden cobwebs,"
Only think of that.
Dressed up like a figure
In a fashion plate,
With a yellow pug dog—
A dog that I do hate.
Her pa had come to "York"
To stay a little while.
Though she's left the country
Still she's on the style.

TRUE AS STEEL.

The evening meal was just over at Farmer Bolton's; the big red fire was raked into a ruddier blaze, and the candles were lighted.

Mrs. Bolton was busy at her household labors, and her husband, absorbed in the columns of the city paper that some kindly neighbor had brought in, was too busy to heed the shouts of the children at their play in the big unfurnished parlor beyond.

Suddenly the farmer laid down his paper, and pushed the steel spectacles up on his forehead.

"Ursula," said he, "how would you like to lose Kitten?"

"Lose Kitten!"

The good woman dropped into the dish-pan the blue plate she was washing.

"It's ten years since we found her on our door-step on a March mornin'," resumed the farmer, "and she's growed up as straight and beautiful as one of your white lilies. I've always wondered none of her folks didn't come for'ard to claim her, but they never did. It would be very hard to part with her now."

"I'd e'en a'most as soon part with our Robin," said the wife. "But what put that in your head just now, Asaph?"

Mr. Bolton readjusted his spectacles, sought out the corner of the paper he had last been reading, and slowly spelled out the following paragraph:

INFORMATION WANTED of a child named Kitty Bylington, blue-eyed, with brown hair and a fair complexion. Supposed to have been stolen or kidnapped in the month of March, 18—. The above mentioned may be identified by a mole on the left elbow, and a crescent-shaped scar on the left hand. When abducted she wore a white dress, trimmed with embroidery, and a coral necklace and armlets. Any information on the subject, addressed to B— B—, No. —, — street, will be thankfully received by her uncle.

"That's Kitten, sure enough!" ejaculated Mrs. Bolton. "But she had no corals on, and the embroidery had all been tore off her dress."

"Likely the rascals did that that stole her away. Anyhow, it must be our Kitten. But why didn't they advertise for her before?"

Mrs Bolton shook her head.

"I'm sure I don't know. What do you s'pose we ought to do, husband?"

Farmer Bolton rose and opened the door, calling:

"Kitten—Robin—you've played long enough; come in, now."

Robert Bolton, a handsome bright-eyed boy of thirteen, bounded in, followed by a pretty child of eleven.

"Come here, Kitten," said the farmer, and she came to his side to hear for the first time the whole story of her life.

"And now, Kitten," said the old farmer when he had finished the tale, "bring me the ink-bottle and a fresh quill, and a sheet of blue-lined paper."

"Father, what are you going to do?"

"I'm going to write to your folks, child. I ain't no right to keep their treasure back from 'em, though it should break my old heart to part with the little one I have learned to love so dearly."

"I won't go to them! I won't! I won't! I won't!"

"Kitten!" remonstrated the good farmer's wife.

"I love you!" exclaimed the child. "I will stay with you. I'm going to be Robin's little wife, and I won't leave him."

"But if it is right that you should go, Kitten?"

"I don't care—I don't care. I will stay with you all!"

When Kitten was fast asleep in bed, with the tears yet glistening on her eyelashes, and one hand—the crescent-shaped scar outlined upon it—lying on the coverlet, Farmer Bolton got out the ink-bottle, and the fresh quill, and a sheet of blue paper, and wrote the letter to B— B—, No. — — street.

"For it's our duty, any way you can fix it," said the farmer.

By the very next train, after the epistle had reached the far-off city, a tall gentleman came down to Bolton Farm to claim his little treasure.

"I have passed nearly all my life abroad," he said, "and it was not until my return home, a few months since, that I learned by some accident that a clue still might be gained to the whereabouts of my orphan niece. I had little hope of ever seeing her again, when I inserted that advertisement, and you can fancy my delight when your letter reached me. I am alone in the world, and people call me rich; now, indeed, I feel that I am so in very truth."

At first Kitty Bylington—"Kitten," as she was called by her farmhouse friends—steadfastly refused to accompany her uncle to his home.

"I love my father and mother better than I do you," she persisted, "and I have promised to be Robin's little wife."

But the persuasions of her friends at length succeeded in overcoming her objections, and Kitten was taken away.

"You'll forget us all when you are a fine lady, Kitten," said Robert, as he kissed her good-bye.

"I never—never will forget you, Robin," sobbed the girl. "I'll be your wife just the same. See if I'm not."

And these were Kitten's last words.

"You must forget 'em, my boy," said the farmer afterwards, when Robert Bolton referred to them. "She'll be richer and grander than ever you can hope to be, and it isn't fitting that stoneware and fine porcelain should mate together."

Robert Bolton was only a boy, but he never forgot Kitten's last words.

* * * * *

"I wish you could make up your mind to like him, Katherine. He is one of the finest young men I know."

"I do like him, uncle," said Kitty Bylington.

"Then, my dear, why do you treat him with such marked coldness and reserve? It is plain to see that he loves you most truly and tenderly, and—. Why, my love, what's the matter? You are crying."

"It's because I am so very, very miserable, uncle," sobbed Kitten, hiding her face on her uncle's shoulder. "I do love Mr. Beverley, but I can't marry him because—because—I am already engaged."

"My dear girl, surely you attach no importance to the childish compact entered into with the farmer's son years ago."

"I promised him, uncle, and I must not break my word."

"But that was mere child's play."

"Robin does not consider it so, uncle; his last letter speaks of the time when he shall come to claim me. Oh, uncle, if I might only die first!"

"Katherine, you surely will not sacrifice yourself with all the beauty, talents, and accomplishments that you possess, to be the wife of a country bumpkin."

"I have promised him, uncle."

"You have not even seen him since you were both children."

"But we have corresponded, uncle."

"Katherine, this is idle folly, an exaggerated idea of duty, to refuse Beverley because of this child's compact."

"I have promised, uncle, and unless he himself releases me, I shall adhere to my word."

"May I write to him, my love, and put the case?"

"If you like, uncle; but I know his nature better than you do. He will never give me up."

"At all events, the experiment is worth trying."

So Mr. Byington wrote a forcible letter to Robert Bolton, presenting his views, and patiently awaited the answer.

It came at last, brief and decisive. Mr. Bolton declined to release Miss Byington from her engagement and would come to town to claim her finally the next Wednesday.

* * * * *

"You confess, yourself, that you do love me, Kitty?"

"I do love you!"

"Then why are you deaf to my entreaties."

"I am pledged to another, Mr. Beverley. Do not strive to tempt me to break my word. His parents were my friends when I was altogether friendless. His devotion has never failed me. Should I shrink from rewarding him now?"

The next day as Kitten sat trying to read, a servant brought her the card of "Mr. Robert Bolton."

"He is in the parlor, ma'am."

Kitten rose and went down.

Mr. Beverley stood leaning against the mantel.

"Good morning, Miss Byington."

"Good morning, Mr. Beverley. I—I was looking for Mr. Bolton."

"He is here."

Kitten glanced around the room with a puzzled air.

"Where?"

He took both her hands with passionate tenderness.

"My Kitten! my precious little one! I am Robert Bolton!"

"You, Mr. Beverley?"

"Yes, I myself. Kitten, I dared not claim your hand until, under another name, I had won your heart. You have been true to me—truer than I had any right to hope. My darling, will you be my little wife now, in very truth?"

Half an hour afterwards, when Mr. Byington came in, Kitten ran to him, all smiles and tears.

"Mr. Beverley?" he said in surprise, glancing from his niece to her companion.

"No, uncle, it isn't Mr. Beverley, it is Robin, my old love, Robin, and—and I am so happy."

Farmer Bolton and his wife came up to the wedding, and were the happiest old people in the world, except Mr. Byington.

"Now, aren't you glad you stood by your old lover, Kitten?" demanded Robin.

Animal Spirits.

The fox terrier is always readier for a walk than his master, and generally enjoys himself more thoroughly on the way. His natural gait is swifter than man's, and all animals of whom that can be said have a great advantage in the amount of pleasure which they derive, or ought to derive from the use of their limbs.

The glory of rapid motion which we can only begin to realize on the box-seat of a coach, or in the movement of skating, must be something much more intense to the chamois or the white-headed eagle.

Constantly, throughout the animal world, we notice that delight in the use of muscle and limb which in man scarcely survives his majority, but which in them lasts far into maturity.

We are accustomed unconsciously to recognize their prerogative in this respect when we apply the phrase "animal spirits" to a boy who is full of life and energy, and who enjoys a run over the hills on a breezy day.—[The Nineteenth Century.

John Chinaman as a Barber.

"Now come and get shaved by my Chinese barber," said my friend, and a few minutes later we entered the "tonsorial palace" of See Chung, at 22 Mott street.

This, to the uninitiated, is even a more novel experience than to dine at a Chinese restaurant. I doubt if there is any barber in Boston who would understand how to use such an assortment of razors as See Chung keeps on hand.

First, the Chinese barber lathers the face of his customer with a tooth brush, and then he goes at the beard with a broad short-bladed razor, set in its handle like an ax.

After scraping away with this instrument for awhile, he changes it for a much narrower and lighter blade, until, when he comes to shave the nose and the inside of the ears, he uses a thin flexible bit of finely tempered steel, which is only about as broad as a toothpick.

I will confess that it makes a novice a little bit nervous to have this glittering little piece of keen steel go waggling about the delicate tissues and fibres of the ears and nasal organ, but if you did not see it, you would never know that it was being used upon you, so light is the touch of the artist who is manipulating it.—[Boston Herald.

A "Cunning" Old Chestnut.

Two ladies are conversing on the qualities and demerits of their own fair sex.

Said one, with a twinkle in her beautiful eyes:

"I have never known but two women who were really perfect."

"Who was the other?" asked her companion, with a smile on her thin face.

—[Brooklyn Eagle.

False Economy.

She: "James, do you know you put three buttons on the plate in church today?"

He: "Yes, I knew what I was about."

She: "James, perhaps you don't know that I bought those buttons yesterday for my new dress, and paid fifty cents apiece for them."—[Wilmington Star.

Fire! Fire!

TESTIMONIAL!

Vancouver, 23rd June, 1886.

MR. G. ROBERTSON,
Vancouver:
Representing Goldie & McCulloch,
Galt, Ont.

SIR,—We the undersigned having witnessed the terrible fire which wiped out of existence the young city of Vancouver, on the 13th inst., have, after the fire, examined the safes sold by you, some of which were put to the most severe test, having been surrounded by large quantities of lard and bacon, and we are pleased to testify to the remarkable manner in which every Safe sold by you preserved its contents, not only books and papers, but also thousands of dollars in paper money were taken out in perfect condition. We can, therefore, with the greatest confidence, recommend them as thoroughly fire proof:

L. A. Hamilton, for the Canadian Pacific Railway Company; M. A. MacLean, Mayor; John J. Blake, Stipendiary Magistrate; Rich'd. Alexander, Justice of the Peace; John Boultbee, Police Magistrate, City of Vancouver; Thomas Dunn, Justice of the Peace; Isaac Jones, Col.; Edward E. Rand, Real Estate Broker; R. 1873. GRIP! 1887.

CANADA'S COMIC JOURNAL

GREAT IMPROVEMENTS FOR 1887.

THE AIM OF "GRIP" is to set forth, in in an impartial and independent manner, the passing events of Canadian political and social life. Its Cartoons speak more definitely and more pleasingly than who'e columns of editorial. In this pungent, easily appreciable, and artistic style of presenting a subject, the whole situation is revealed at a glance. The success of Grip shows how well this fact is appreciated—its Cartoons on the passing political events of the country being even more eagerly sought after than the chaste and humorous letter-press of the paper,—though the latter is equal to that of any similar publication on the continent.

The Publishers of Grip are making extensive improvements for 1886. The old cover is to be discarded, and the journal will hereafter comprise 12 pages, and be printed on heavy toned and calendered paper,—every number being so artistically executed as to compare favorably with the best papers on the continent. The adv'ts. will be compressed and more systematically arranged; while similar improvements will be made as to the letter-press. A new and handsome design will adorn the title page; while the Cartoons will certainly not suffer from extensive improvements in the artistic department.

The price of Grip will hereafter be $2 a year, which is lower than that of any paper of its kind in America,—most of them selling for $3. Single numbers of Grip will be 10 cents.

Twice a year, at Midsummer and Christmas, a beautiful special number will be issued, the number of pages being increased, and pleasing features introduced, particulars of which will be given in preceding issues. These numbers will be presented to subscribers without extra charge.

GRIP'S PLATFORM:
Humor without Vulgarity;
Patriotism without Partizanship;
Truth without Temper.

Only $2 a Year, Postage Free.

THE BRITISH COLUMBIAN

Printing Company

(LIMITED.)

ON THE 10TH OF JANUARY, 1887, the COLUMBIAN Newspaper and Printing Concern was purchased by a joint stock company composed of citizens of New Westminster, to be known as the "British Columbian Printing Co., Limited." The concern has been for nearly a year owned and controlled by the British Columbia Stationery and Printing Company, of New Westminster, Victoria and Vancouver. The object of the new company is to continue the publication of the BRITISH COLUMBIAN newspaper and carry on a general printing and publishing concern, controlled entirely by those whose individual interest it will be to promote the development, especially of the Mainland. There will be no slackening of the energy hitherto displayed in the management of the establishment, and its patrons may rely upon receiving full value for their money. The COLUMBIAN will continue to be entirely independent in both Dominion and provincial politics, and will devote itself to the advancement of such schemes as may be considered in the public interest. The concern is now entirely separate from any other business, the book and stationery establishment in this city having been taken over by Mr. T. R. Pearson, who will continue to carry it on in his own name and for his own benefit. It is desirable that a daily newspaper should be maintained in this city, and the new company asks for public patronage on the ground that it is engaged in an enterprise calculated to promote the public welfare. It asks that the COLUMBIAN be judged on its own merits and supported only so long as its policy is encousistt with its professions. In consequence of this business change all accounts due the concern must be settled without delay so that the books of the former company may be adjusted and closed. Address all communications and remittances to

HEAD OFFICE, TORONTO, CANADA

A HOME COMPANY.

This Association merits the confidence the Public is reposing in it from the following FACTS:—

The Security offered to policy holders is unsurpassed by any Company doing business in Canada,

It has no schemes of insurance, but the well-established lines, hence the policy holders cannot be misled as to their contracts.

Its statements to the public can be readily understood, its cash statement showing every item of income and how expended.

Its position is ascertained annually from a detailed valuation in which every item of liability is included.

Its progress has been unexampled in the history of Insurance in Canada.

Its policies are indisputable after three years, and non-forfeitable after two years' existence.

Its profits are distributed upon an equitable basis. The profits to one class of policy holders are not lessened to give larger profits to any other class, which method affords superior advantages over the uniform bonus plan of distribution.

Liberal Conditions as to Residence and Travel.

Bargains.....T. J. Trapp

Daily British Columbian

Monday Evening, July 18, 1887.

Seven cars of freight arrived yesterday from the east.

The William Irving brought down from Hope yesterday 1,120 sheep.

Hixon Creek shares are continually rising in value. They now sell for 40 cents.

The Hamilton Times says: "Mr. W. W. Buchanan is a vigorous writer, an energetic business man, and a rattling good speaker."

Geo. Hayes, of Kamloops, arrived this afternoon. He brought down with him 80 head of cattle, about half of which are for Victoria.

On Thursday the new and commodious Methodist parsonage at Vancouver was completed and taken possession of by the pastor and his family.

Another lot of samples of ore from the Illecillewaet Mining Co.'s claim arrived on Saturday and will be forwarded to the capital to be assayed at once.

Mr. J. G. McDonald, the contractor, has finished Mr. Webster's stone foundation on Front st. and has commenced the construction of the Scoullar & Armstrong building.

The funeral of the late Mrs. Kelly occurred yesterday. It was largely attended. The Oddfellows and Hyack Co. were present and marched to the burying ground in a body.

Dr. Kent offers for sale his fine farm at Ladners, together with stock, crops, etc. This will be a rare opportunity for any person looking for a really excellent farm. See advertisement in another column.

Sir W. S. Caine, liberal M.P. for Barrow-in-Furness, will shortly visit Canada, and George Desvoeux will shortly leave for the scene of his governorship, proceeding to Hong Kong via Quebec and Vancouver.

The Rithet cleared at one o'clock for Victoria. She had on board over 800 sheep from up-country, 1 carload of tobacco in bales, 1 carload of bacon, 1 carload of Canadian elm for the navy yard at Esquimalt, and a carload of flour.

On Saturday night the total number of cases put up this year in Mr. B. Young's canneries at Canoe Pass was 3,400 cases; by the B. C. Packing Co. 600. cases; by the British American 700 cases, and by Mr. Ewens' cannery 3,000 cases.

From an advertisement in another column it will be seen that Mr. T. J. Trapp proposes to offer a large quantity of valuable property by auction next Saturday night. Persons looking for investments should make a note of it and attend the sale.

Mr. Wm. Holden and his three sons, who lately arrived from England, have taken up land, at Stave River and will reside in this province permanently. Mr. Holden intends building himself a residence on his ranch. Mr. Jas. Turnbull has been awarded the contract for the construction of the building.

Mr. W. W. Buchanan, who delivers a lecture in the Drill Shed to-morrow night under the auspices of the Royal Templars of Temperance, addressed the Y.M.C.A. at Vancouver yesterday, and also delivered an address in the evening to a large audience in the Methodist Hall. He is represented as an eloquent and interesting speaker and he held the undivided attention of his audiences to the end of his address.

Hon. Thos. White's programme during his coming western trip is as follows: He will start on the 20th inst., proceeding direct to British Columbia, following the course adopted last year. He stops at Kamloops, Banff and Calgary on his way east; then goes north to Battleford from Swift Current, but will not visit Prince Albert. If he has time he proceeds to the southern portion of Eastern Assiniboia, then takes in Brandon and Winnipeg, stopping at the prairie city a week.

Eastern papers speak very highly of Mr. Buchanan, who is to lecture in the Drill Shed to-morrow evening. The Advance says: "The address was a great treat, not only entertaining, but so practical as to be of more than ordinary value to temperance workers. Mr. Buchanan is a man of wonderful vital energy and indomitable zeal. No other individual in Canada has done more towards furthering the temperance cause. His administrative abilities too are simply marvellous."

GARDEN PARTY.—A garden party under the auspices of the Ladies Aid of the Methodist Church will be given at the residence of Mr. James Cunningham, Agnes st., on Wednesday evening, July 20th, at 8 o'clock. Ice-cream, cake and music. Admission 25 cts. djy14td

QUARTZ MINING.—Mr. John Murray, of Spence's Bridge, who arrived down yesterday, reports that there is considerable disappointment at the result of milling operations at the Foster quartz mine, the product of metal being much below what was anticipated.

PROMOTED.—We are informed that Mr. D. Wilson, B. A., principal of the public schools in this city, has accepted the position of inspector of schools in Victoria and assistant superintendent of education. We hope our trustee board will be able to procure the services of a worthy successor to Mr. Wilson, whose departure many will regret.

HOW IT WORKS.—Not long ago Mr. John Murray of Spence's Bridge inserted a notice in the COLUMBIAN stating that a man and his wife were wanted to run a hotel at Spence's Bridge. He has already had about 25 applications, and came down yesterday to confer personally with some of the applicants. If you want to reach the people of the mainland, advertise in the COLUMBIAN.

Y. M. C. A.—Dr. C. E. C. Brown has generously donated to the Y. M. C. A. library Chambers Encyclopedia complete. This, with the donation received from the Hon. John Robson, and some smaller contributions, form the foundation of a very useful and interesting library. It is to be hoped generosity will not stop here, however. There are doubtless many persons who could spare from their shelves books that would be gladly received by the association.

A COSTLY FIRE.—At 11 o'clock Saturday night a fire broke out in the Y.M.C.A. rooms over Spencer's Arcade, Victoria. The upper part of the building was badly damaged, but the fire was got under control in time to save the main block. Mr. Spencer's large and valuable stock suffered serious damage from water, and the ceiling fell, inflicting much additional loss. The insurance is $25,000, and loss not stated. H. & G. Walker also lose heavily by smoke and water.

Miss Mary Campbell, Elm, writes:—"After taking four bottles of Northrop & Lyman's Vegetable Discovery and Dyspeptic Cure, I feel as if I were a new person. I had been troubled with Dyspepsia for a number of years, and tried many remedies, but of no avail, until I used this celebrated Dyspeptic Cure." For all impurities of the Blood, Sick Headache, Liver and Kidney Complaints, Costiveness, etc., it is the best medicine known.

Police Court.

(Before T. C. Atkinson, P.M.)

Samuel Greer, of Vancouver, was charged in the police court to-day by the C.P.R with cutting and destroying the telegraph line of the C.P.R. company at Vancouver. Mr. Greer claims that the company had trespassed on his property by building their telegraph line over his premises, notwithstanding he had forbidden them so to do. The information against Mr. Greer was laid by H. J. Cambie, C. E. There was a good deal of cross-firing between counsel on both sides during the progress of the case. The case was adjourned until to-morrow, when it will be argued at length. Mr. Jones, for Drake, Jackson & Helmcken, for plaintiffs, and Mr. Blake of Vancouver and Mr. Bole of this city for defence.

Personal.

Rev. E. Robson, of Vancouver, was in the city to-day.

R. J. McKann, of Port Hammond, was in the city to-day.

Mr. and Mrs. Holland were passengers by the Rithet to-day.

Mrs. Dr. Trew and family left to-day on the Rithet for Victoria.

J. Keith Wilson, of the Bank of B.C. at Victoria, accompanied by Mrs. Wilson, came over from Vancouver yesterday.

John Murray, the laird of Spence's Bridge, came down on the C.P.R. yesterday, and this afternoon went over to Vancouver.

Rev. Geo. Carpenter, of Lindsay, Ont., has just arrived and will proceed at once to take charge of the Methodist mission at Nicola as successor to Rev. J. P. Bowell.

Miss Susannah Lawrence, who has been for some months visiting her friends in Ontario, has returned to this province and will resume her duties as teacher of the Nanaimo Indian mission school.

Passengers per str. Rithet yesterday: Mrs. McMillan, Mrs. Kyle and children, Dr. and Mrs. Kent, Mrs. Benson, Mrs. Byron, Capt. Nicholls, A. McNeil, Carmen, Houston, T. Dally, Van Pelt, W. Pybus, Sutherby, Watson, O'Brien, E. Kirkland, Booth, Steves, E. Gates, Peacock, Kirby, J. Kirkland, Dingel, Robertson, Oasher.

Rev. Geo. Murray, formerly Presbyterian minister at Nicola Valley, and who has been re-appointed to that station is now on his way to the sphere of his labors. When bidding farewell to the congregation to which he has ministered for the last 8 years, in New Glasgow, N.S., the rev. gentleman was presented with a most cordial address by his people, and a cheque for $350.

THE THIN CANNOT GAIN IN WEIGHT if they are troubled with dyspepsia, because the food is not converted into the due proportion of nourishing blood which alone can furnish the elements of flesh. But there is no reason, when this wearing, attenuating disease is conquered by Northrop & Lyman's Vegetable Discovery, why there should not be an appreciable gain in weight, which indeed is usually the case. It is a peerless remedy also for Constipation, Liver Complaint, Kidney troubles, and roots out all impurities from the blood.

Drowning of Charles Kent.

On Saturday afternoon Charles W. Kent, only son of Dr. Wm. Kent, was drowned at Ladners. The deceased was returning from the field to the house about 6 o'clock with his father and a cousin from Iowa named Arthur Haveland. The two young men stopped at Crescent Creek, and, it seems, went into the water to bathe. After proceeding to the house Dr. Kent heard a scream, but thought the boys were having some fun among themselves. A second call, evidently from a person in distress, however, brought the doctor down to the water when he was horrified to find his son drowned and his cousin struggling in the water almost exhausted. With his help young Haveland was brought to shore, and the neighbors having been made aware of the accident, boats put out immediately to search for the body of Charles. In about half an hour the body was found, and for a long time efforts were made to restore animation but without success—the spirit had gone. It is supposed deceased was siezed with cramps in the water and became helpless. Haveland says he heard him call out, "Help, Arthur!" whereupon he went to him and found him helpless. He caught hold of him and tried to get him ashore, but found the task too much for him and was scarcely able to save himself. The remains of young Kent were brought up to this city by the str. Rithet yesterday and interred in the cemetery. The corpse was taken from the steamer to the Methodist church, where a brief service was held, attended by a large number of sympathising friends. The service there and at the grave was read by Mr. C. C. Fisher, acting pastor. Among those who came up from Ladners were Messrs. Jno. Kirkland, Benson, Robertson, Byron, and others. Charles Kent was 21 years of age, an only son, and, like his father, was a staunch reformer, and resolutely opposed the prevailing vices of the times. His death is a terrible blow to his aged parents, who are completely broken down by the event. Dr. Kent asks us to express his deep gratitude to those who have manifested so much kindness and sympathy in the hour of his extreme sorrow. We believe he intends to offer his whole estate for sale, and give up the business of farming which he was carrying on chiefly for the sake of the son who has been taken away. We are sure he and his wife and daughter (Mrs. Benson) will have the sincere sympathy of all who know them.

M. A. St. Mars, St. Boniface, Manitoba, writes: Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil is a public benefit. It has done wonders here, and has cured myself of a bad cold in one day. Can be relied upon to remove pain, heal sores of various kinds, and benefit any inflamed portion of the body to which it is applied.

Chilliwhack Council.

Regular meeting of council July, 1887. Present his worship the reeve and all the councillors. The following bills were ordered paid by orders on the treasury: Messrs. Ramsay & McGee, $2.50; Beattie Barllett, $5; the collector's bill for collecting back taxes, $19; J. C. Henderson for rent of council chrmbers, $50; Geo. Good, for assessing $45; N. Muuro for his share of contract on Chilliwhack central, $58.50; A. Fussell for repairs to Elk Creek bridge, $34.50.

Leave was granted Messrs. Munro & Banford to dig a ditch on the Chilliwhack central.

The board of works reported that they had examined the corduroying on the Chilliwhack central road, and found it according to specifications. The report was adopted.

The clerk was instructed to notify the directors of the Agricultural society that the municipal grant to the hall was on condition that the council are provided with a council chamber at least 12x16 feet, rent free, in the new hall to be erected.

The clerk was instructed to offer Mr. Branchflower at the rate of $50 per acre for the right of way for a new road across his farm.

The board of works reported that they think it advisable to erect the new bridge across the Vedder Creek on the gazetted line. The report was adopted.

The board of works were instructed to call for tenders for work on the new road leading to Sumas not to exceed $80.00.

Messrs. Snider and Huff were granted leave to work out their taxes under the direction of the pathmaster.

The board of works were instructed to call for tenders for brushing a trail 20 ft. wide from the Sumault ditch to the Chilliwhack River.

It was decided to spend the $40 appropriated to the Prest road under the direction of the pathmaster.

The clerk was instructed to notify C. Young to attend the next meeting of the council to explain how the errors occurred in his accounts.

Coun. Bell introduced a by-law for opening and closing certain roads. The by-law was read a first and second time, committed, read a third time and passed. By-law to be reconsidered at next meeting

In answer to petitions for roads the clerk was instructed to prepare a by-law for opening the following new roads: From the Chilliwhack River between sections 8 & 17, 9 & 16, to the Cascade mountains; from the north-west cor. of lot 345, thence east between lots 345 & 348; a road from the Cascade mountains at A. Thomson's claim to the Chilliwhack River parallel to the Chilliwhack central; a road to Mr. Castleman's farm; a road extending the Prest road to the mountains; a road from Hope slough to Fraser River, across Fairfield Island; a road to Mr. Ramsay's farm; a road in Sumas to be known as the Jones' road; a road commencing at the north-west cor. of township 11; thence west to the trunk road.

At 1 o'clock the council resolved itself into a court of revision to revise the roll for 1887. Henry Burrell's assessment was lowered $100, and the following assessments were raised: Wm. Branchflower, $300; Campbell Bros., $500; H. Kipp, $500; R. Newell, $500; W. Prest, $200; T. Dunnville, $250; H. Webb, $250; A. S. Vedder, $500; A. J. Street, $200; A. Davidson, $100.

After the court of revision rose and reported the assessment roll complete for 1887, Coun. Bell gave notice that he would introduce at next meeting of the council a by-law for levying a rate on the assessment roll of the municipality for the year 1887.

The council adjourned.
