NOTES AND COMMENTS.

The story of Bishop Crowther, who spoke at the great Missionary Conference in London lately, is a romantic one. Born in an African village, he was captured when eleven years old, by a party of Portuguese slave hunters, and shipped for America. But a British cruiser captured the slaver, and the little fellow, amongst others was sent to the mission school at Freetown. When about twenty he became a teacher in the school, but left after some years, to devote himself to missionary work among his people. Here he ransomed from slavery, his uncle, his brother and sisters, and he also discovered and cared for his mother. After some years of splendid work on the Niger, he was called to England, where he was invited to visit the Queen, made a D. D. by Oxford, and afterwards created first African "Bishop of the Niger."

The jubilee of Christian mission in Fiji was held lately, and some remarkable facts in connection with it are published. Fifty years ago, a stranger landing in Fiji stood a fair chance of furnishing the principal dish at a feast. There was not then one avowed Christian among the natives—now there is not an avowed heathen. Three thousand native teachers; 27,000 church members; 1,735 schools, are some of the statistics which tell the story of the work of fifty years.

It appears that the Indian Government must now shoulder any odium connected with the encouragement of the Chinese opium trade. The treaty of 1885 has released the British authorities from the disgrace of forcing this trade on China. It appears that the Indian Government pockets the revenue derived from this traffic with the philanthropic object of preventing private merchants from introducing an inferior article. The Chinese are demoralized and ruined all the same; but then they have the satisfaction of known that the poison is the clear quill—and that they are being murdered strictly according to contract, so to speak.

Victoria is wrestling with the formation of an Imperial Federation League. The idea of Imperial Federation is one which has always had a good deal of attraction for us; but, in common with many other distinguished individuals, we have been too much occupied with matters nearer home to give the scheme that study which would qualify us to speak positively about its merits. On the surface, as already said, it is decidedly attractive; and if the American Federation could be linked with an Imperial one in a bond loose enough to give free scope in all matters local to each member, and tight enough to secure united and harmonious action in affairs of common interest, the world would be some long steps nearer the reign of universal law.

That Teachers' Convention in San Francisco numbers some level-headed people among its members, if one may judge by the telegraphic reports. Papers pointing out the failure of public schools to cultivate the moral side of the youthful mind —to give mastery of the subjects studied—and to equip the pupils for the duties of active life, were read and commented on yesterday. These are shots at the soft places of our much vaunted school system, which bows to the common demand for tensel and stucco, and so squanders its opportunities and defeats its own professed objects.

Slow Preaching — Child — Does the Lord take the papers? Mother —No, my child. Why do you ask? Child—Oh, I thought he didn't, it takes our minister so long to tell him about things.—Youths' Companion.

"What would you say, Bobby, remarked the minister who was dining with the family, "if I should ask your mamma to let you have another piece of pie?" "I would say, 'Amen,' replied Bob devoutly.

One of the Indian children drilling for exhibition expressed his nervousness in this way to his teacher: "Too many eyes look at me. I scare, I scare!"—Carlisle, Penn., Red man.

Nellie (aged four, passing cemetery)—Mamma, how long is one buried before the gravestone comes up?—Town Topics.

"When I grow up," said a little 6-year-old philosopher, "shan't I feel strange for a day or two!"

LAST NIGHT'S DESPATCHES.

CANADA AT WIMBLEDON.

LONDON, July 19.—Lieutenant-Colonel Bond held an At Home at Wimbledon to-day. Col. Eaton commended the soldierly appearance of the team and Lord Wantage, President of the National Rifle Association welcomed the Canadians on behalf of the British volunteers. The Princess Louise in company with the Marquis of Lorne passed down the ranks assuring the team of the pleasure she experienced at their success and Lieutenant-Colonel Bond returned thanks for the warm reception. Many Canadians were present.

THE DROUGHT ENDED.

KINGSTON, July 19.—The prolonged drought throughout northern New York and Ontario has been broken by a soaking rain which set in yesterday morning and continued until this morning. The farmers of this section have harvested but half a crop of hay, and the grain can be only partially saved by the heavy rain just fallen, the pastures are dried up and cattle are being fed. Forest fires raged to some extent, but are now put out. Several small islands on the St. Lawrence have been burned out and destroyed. The river has not been so low for years.

THE ROYAL PROGRAMME.

ST PETERSBURG, July 19.—General Glinka Muerene, Prince Orloff-Denisonf and Count Sckow will be attached to the Emperor William's staff during his stay here. The programme for the Emperor's entertainment will include a visit to the cathedral of St. Peter and St. Paul; visits to the various royalties, a banquet at the German embassy, a display of the wildest feats of horsemanship by the Imperial Cossacks and a state banquet. The apartments reserved for the royal visitors and alloted to the Emperor William and Prince Henry are furnished exactly as they were left by the Empress Catherine. The rooms are small but extremely luxurious, and one of them, the sitting room of the Empress Elizabeth which is also untouched, is an extremely interesting relic.

GERMANY AND RUSSIA.

ST. PETERSBUG, July 19.—At 4.30 p. m., this afternoon, the royal yacht Hohenzollern, bearing the Emperor William and suit arrived off Constadt and amid salutes fired from the war ships lying at anchor, and the forts on either side of the harbor, the yacht entered the roads. The Czar, attended by M. Degiers, the Russian minister of foreign affairs, and Gen. Schweinetz, the German minister, on board the imperial yacht, Djerova, received the Emperor William and accompained him ashore. Here the royal visitors were greeted on the quay by the Czarina. The Czar and the Emperor William, Prince Henry of Prussia, the Czarowitch, and the two Emperors' suites then entered open carriages and proceeded to the palace of Peter the Great. The meeting of the emperors was witnessed by crowds of people who exhibited much enthusiasm and cheered the royal party again and again.

TO-DAY'S DESPATCHES.

STRUCK BY A WATER-SPOUT.

PHILADELPHIA, July 20.—The schr. Ida C. Schoolcraft, captain Deneir, bound for this port, was towed into Delaware last night, having been struck by a waterspout off Cape Hatteras and partially wrecked. The mate J. F. Fillend, was killed.

BOULANGER COMFORTABLE.

PARIS, July 20.—Boulanger passed a comfortable night and is much improved this morning.

TEN THOUSAND SPECTATORS.

RALEIGH, N. C., July 20.—Wm. Houson was hanged here yesterday in the presence of ten thousand people, for the murder of Kate Crosby, his mistress.

PREPARING FOR THE SKEENA.

OTTAWA, July 20.—The troops at Victoria have been notified to be prepared to proceed at a moment's notice to the scene of the Indian uprising. The Hudson Bay Company will place another vessel at the disposal of the government for transporation of troops if required. The deputy adjutant general reports that the local force of British Columbia is in a deplorable condition, there being only 300 officers and men, poorly equipped. It is reported that the Metlakahtla Indians, who moved from Canada to Alaska two years ago, will join the hostiles.

MANITOBA'S TROOPS ORDERED TO BE READY.

WINNIPEG, July 20.—The local volunteer military officers have received orders from General Middleton and Sir Adolphe Caron, minister of militia, to hold themselves and their commands in readiness to proceed on short notice to British Columbia and thence to the Skeena River to assist in quelling the Indian uprising there. Reports to the Hudson Bay Company's governor here indicate rather a serious state of affairs and lead to the belief that several warlike tribes of Indians will join the insurrection.

THE CONFESSION DENIED.

CHICAGO, July 20.—Inspector Bonfield says that neither of the arrested anarchists has made a confession as reported yesterday. The story is also flatly denied by other officers. Bonfield believes no further arrests will be made.

THE EMPEROR'S TOUR.

ST. PETERSBURG, July 20.—The Emperor's party and the Czar and Czarina dined together last night. This morning the party called at the Cathedral of St. Peter and St. Paul and drove about the city. To-night the German emperor will attend an evening review of troops at Petershof and subsequently pass the night under canvas. On Sunday afternoon a grand banquet will be given in the ball room at the Petershof palace. Later the Kaiser reembarks at Cronstadt and will pass a night in the harbor. On Monday the fleet will steam for Stockholm.

FRAUDULENT CETRIFICATES.

WASHINGTON, July 20.—The department of state has been informed by the United States consul at Victoria, B.C., that there is a renewed influx of Chinese immigrants into that region. From May to July they numbered 2854. It is noteworthy that most of them have return certificates issued by U. S. customs officials. It has been discovered that a large number of these certificates are fraudulent.

PASSENGER LIST.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 20.—Passengers per S. S. Mexico for Victoria: Mrs. J. E. Craig, Miss Scott, R. G. Robinson and wife, V. Jensen and wife, Madame De la Mothe, E. Bathurst, Mrs. S. L. Kelly and daughter, Miss Boyd, M. W. Solomon, T. Wright, Q. Harper, J. W. Meldrum and wife, Lee You.

SUNDAY CLOSING.

LONDON, July 20.—The select committee appointed by the house of commons has submitted a report recommending sunday closing in all parts of Ireland and also closing of inns at nine o'clock on Saturday nights.

A SUSPICIOUS SUICIDE.

DUBLIN, July 20.—Dr. James Ridley, medical officer in attendance at Tullamore jail during Mr. Mandeville's incarceration there, and who was subpœnaed to appear at the inquest into Mandeville's death, has committed suicide. Ridley had been present at the inquest, daily waiting to be called to the witness stand. The evidence given went to show that Mandeville was subjected to ill-usage while in jail seemed to prey upon his mind and his suicide confirms the popular belief that Mandeville was treated with extreme cruelty by the prison officials.

FOREST FIRES.

DEEP RIVER, Mich., July 20.—Heavy forest fires are raging all over Arena county, and all way between this place and Cladarn. Timber of all kinds is being destroyed and fences burned and other property damaged. Many farmers have had to fight for their homes. There has been no rain of consequence for 3 months.

TEACHERS' CONVENTION.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 20.—At this morning's session, the last but one of the convention of the national educational association, the first business was the report of the nominating committee. The following officers were recommended:—President, A. P. Marple, Worcester, Mass.; Secy., Jas. A. Canfield, Lawrence, Kan. (re-elected); Treasurer, E. C. Hewett, Normal, Ill.; also twelve vice-presidents and a board of 47 directors, composed of educators of every state and territory in the union. The report of the committee was adopted and the gentlemen named were declared elected for the year. Nashville, Tenn., was selected as the next meeting place, the date to be fixed this afternoon.

A NOTED AUTHOR DEAD.

NEWBURGH, N.Y., July 20.—C. P. Roe died early this morning. Mr. Roe was the well-known author of many popular novels, among them being "Barriers Burned away," a tale of Chicago fire, and "The Earth Trembled," a story of Charleston earthquake.

RIVERS AND HARBORS.

WASHINGTON, July 20.—In the house to-day the conference report on the river and harbor bill was presented as agreed upon in the conference. The adopted bill appropriates $22,277,115.

FULLER IS CHIEF JUSTICE.

WASHINGTON, July 20.—The senate in executive session to-day confirmed the nomination of Melville Fuller, of Chicago, to be chief justice of the U. S. supreme court by a vote of 41 to 20.

LONDON RIBBON AGENCY,

Daily British Columbian

Friday Evening, July 20, 1888.

This railway discussion is throwing new light on some matters not exactly germane to the subject. For instance, the Vancouver News was, a little while since, deeply concerned lest New Westminster should, by any remissness, fail to establish speedily, to the satisfaction of all the world, the fact that the Fraser was navigable by the largest class of ocean-going vessels. This morning it hugs itself over the fact (?) that Vancouver possesses the only harbor hereabouts which is accessible to such vessels, and must, therefore, be the actual terminus of all railways, including the N. W. Southern! This reminds us of the pranks of Victoria papers during the route war. When it was a question of the mainland versus the island for the terminal point, the dangers of gulf navigation were dwelt upon, until timid people were almost afraid to undertake the crossing; but when the matter in discussion was the running between mainland and island of boats of the Rithet class, lo! the gulf was ever calm as a summer lake—safe as a half-mile ferry on a land locked bay!

This is an age of progress and new departures. The stage, it appears, is becoming infected with the spirit of reform. Apropos of an article, entitled "Stage Science," that appeared in the Saturday Review, Madame Ristori says, in a letter to that journal: "I have always been of the opinion of Mlle. Clairon that the less paint or powder an actor or actress uses the better." In regard to the art of "making up," she goes on to say: "I therefore never employed any means beyond those absolutely necessary to bring out the character of the personage I was representing." This letter of excellent advice concludes: "I am sure you will agree with me that a true artist should resist any temptation to be horribly realistic." This may give rise to the thought in the mind of the reader that, perhaps, the term, "a true artist," in the sense in which Mme Ristori uses the term, would be regarded as an anachronism by the average modern play-goer. The next thing will be an anti-paint and powder wave sweeping over the earth, and washing the unhealthy and disfiguring "paste" from the fair countenances of thousands of the misguided daughters of Eve, who will then once more exemplify the truth that "beauty unadorned is adorned the most."

The new C. P. R. time table, which comes into effect to-morrow (Saturday), July 21st, at 1 o'clock p.m., affects New Westminster as follows: The 8 o'clock morning train, which has been leaving this city every morning for Vancouver, is to cease except on Mondays and Saturdays; returning on those days, will reach this city at 12:15 instead of at 1 o'clock, as formerly. The first service of the day (except on Mondays and Saturdays) will be the daily 1 p.m. train leaving this city for the Junction, connecting there with the train from the east for Vancouver. Returning, after connecting at the Junction with the train going east from Vancouver, it will reach this city at 2:10 with the eastern mails and passengers from the east and from Vancouver. The late afternoon service continues as at present, leaving here at 4:30 p.m. for Vancouver, and returning, arriving at this station at 7:40 p.m. It will be seen that we still have a double service with Vancouver, but we have lost the extra third run from Vancouver to this city. We have also been deprived, for the greater part of the week, of the convenience of the early (8 o'clock a.m.) train from this city to Vancouver, and all the service has been jammed into six hours and a half and ten minutes. Less convenient mail arrangements are also necessitated by these changes. The mails for the east must be closed at 12:30 instead of at 12:45, and the eastern mail will arrive at this city an hour and ten minutes later—at 2:10 instead of 1 o'clock, as heretofore. It cannot be said that the C.P.R. have regarded the public convenience in these "new arrangements," although they may be keeping within the letter of their obligations. It is said the time table will be changed again soon. We hope so. In this connection, it would not be amiss to remind the C.P.R. authorities that the present freight arrangements are not working in the interests of the merchants of this city. The freight clerks, we believe, have been removed to Vancouver, and all freight for this city is transferred there, causing a delay in reaching its destination here of two or three days, in some cases. This cannot but be an inconvenience and loss to our merchants, and it is to be hoped the C. P. R. may see their way clear to make "other arrangements."

Peter Kiefer, Buffalo, says: "I was badly bitten by a horse a few days ago, and was induced by a friend, who witnessed the occurrence, to try Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil. It relieved the pain almost immediately, and in four days the wound was completely healed. Nothing can be better for fresh wounds." See that you get the genuine Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil, as there are imitations on the market.

Variety, well chosen, is preferable to monotony. We have had rather an interesting time lately over our local affairs; let us turn our attention for a little to what may in a short time become a local question with us, so that we may be prepared to act and speak intelligently in the matter, when we are obliged to. The great national prohibition convention in Montreal has lately closed its labors, and decided against the formation of a third political party in the Dominion. The arguments pro and con were well sustained by the various speakers. The most pronounced and earnest temperance workers were in favor of a third political party, but the conservative, cautious, and popular leaders in the older temperance movements were in favor of their present connections with the two existing political parties in Dominion politics.

Rev. Dr. Sutherland, the leader in the third party proposition, seemed to have lost all hope in the present political parties, although there are consistent temperance men in both parties; but the impression seems to prevail with those who are in favor of the establishment of a third political-prohibition party that party, with temperance politicians, is the first consideration. Mrs. Youmans, the well-known temperance lecturer, who was in this province some time ago, it will be remembered, was present at the convention, and delivered one of her characteristic addresses. She said that if ever women get to be M Ps. at Ottawa, they will make short work of the liquor traffic. Her left-handed compliments to the "lords of creation" as to their management of the temperance question were amusing, if not flattering.

In the course of her address Mrs. Youmans illustrated her remarks by the following rustic scene: At Sandusky, Ohio, while travelling on the railway, she looked out of the car window and saw a man, and a woman, apparently his wife, hoeing corn. The man looked up at the cars, stopped hoeing, and kept on looking until the train was out of sight, and, for all the speaker knew, was looking yet. But the woman just looked up once, and then hoed right straight along. In applying the illustration, Mrs. Youmans said: "The women of Canada have taken up the hoe of prohibition and will keep on hoeing until the last saloon is hoed out of this Dominion."

When, on her late visit to British Columbia, she met the Hon. George Foster, and knowing him since his boyhood, she familiarly addressed him: "George Foster, why don't you put all Canada under Indian reserve?" She had visited the Indian reserves and found them protected with prohibition regulations, so far as she knew, and the idea struck her very forcibly that "Indians and squaws were preferable to drunkards." If British Columbians wish to keep out of the way of this great prohibition wave that is rolling over this North American continent they had better look out for some other planet, or elevated part of this one, or join the prohibition fleet before it is too late; for, just as sure as Noah's flood happened, so will this prohibition wave extend from shore to shore. All Anglo-Saxondom, from the torrid to the frigid zone, is in a state of revolution on this and kindred questions, and we must make up our minds whether we will sink or swim.

A Sluggish Liver

Causes the Stomach and Bowels to become disordered, and the whole system to suffer from debility. In all such cases Ayer's Pills give prompt relief.

After much suffering from Liver and Stomach troubles, I have finally been cured by taking Ayer's Cathartic Pills. I always find them prompt and thorough in their action, and their occasional use keeps me in a perfectly healthy condition.—Ralph Weeman, Annapolis, Md.

Twenty-five years ago I suffered from a torpid liver, which was restored to healthy action by taking Ayer's Pills. Since that time I have never been without them. They regulate the bowels, assist digestion, and increase the appetite, more surely than any other medicine.—Paul Churchill, Haverhill, Mass.

INVIGORATED.

I know of no remedy equal to Ayer's Pills for Stomach and Liver disorders. I suffered from a Torpid Liver, and Dyspepsia, for eighteen months. My skin was yellow, and my tongue coated. I had no appetite, suffered from Headache, was pale and emaciated. A few boxes of Ayer's Pills, taken in moderate doses, restored me to perfect health.—Waldo Miles, Oberlin, Ohio.

Ayer's Pills are a superior family medicine. They strengthen and invigorate the digestive organs, create an appetite, and remove the horrible depression and despondency resulting from Liver Complaint. I have used these Pills in my family, for years, and they never fail to give entire satisfaction.—Otto Montgomery, Oshkosh, Wis. ††

FEMALE SHOPLIFTERS.

Their Clever Ways of Working.

"There is something about the profession of shoplifting that is very hard to understand. Shoplifters, as a rule, are women; indeed, the business is almost exclusively their own. Perhaps it is that men are watched more closely than women, that it is not a profession for the stronger sex.

"You should have the experience of a shoplifter detective to understand just how cleverly some of these women work their game." So spoke a detective to a reporter.

"Tell us something about shoplifting, won't you?" was the request of the writer. "Did you ever see any bold strokes of work?"

"Did I ever see any bold strokes of work? Well, I think I have.

"Generally the shoplifter carries a bag with straps going around the waist, into which she can easily drop anything she can get hold of.

"I saw a woman once drop some feathers in at the waist. I followed her from place to place till she had taken a good deal. Then I arrested her.

"But when we got her to the office not a bag did she have. That woman had fixed her dress so that the whole front of it from waist to bottom made a bag, and then piled in round her feet were the feathers and lots of other things.

"One woman played it on me nicely. She put her hands behind her waist while I was taking her to the office, untied the straps, dropped the bag, and what could I do about it? She was a professional.

"One of the many things for the storing away of fine goods is a muff. The woman puts her muff on a pile of handkerchiefs, and while she examines something with one hand quietly pulls handkerchiefs into her muff with the other. I have found muffs jam full of handkerchiefs, ribbons and such things.

"These wire screens you see here on the edge of the counter have stopped that thing a good deal.

"Once I saw a woman take an umbrella. Then she walked down to a pawnshop. Coming back she took another. And so on till I had seen her take more than half a dozen. Of course she only took one at a time, for with two umbrellas she would have been suspected."

"Are shoplifters well dressed?"

"Yes, many of them are. Some of them are kleptomaniacs, taking little things at first, and, if not detected, keeping it up till they have a regular passion for it.

"Pickpockets usually dress well, and many of them look real tony.

"Often we catch little children just learning the trade. Up in a store last week I caught a little girl taking a pocketbook. Three had been stolen within an hour, and thefts had been reported for several days. She said there was no one with her, but I think there was.

"There are plenty of women pickpockets, but they are not like the men in their way of working.

"People don't suspect a woman very often, and they have a way of working that is very quiet and effective.

"They are especially clever at opening hand-bags and taking out their contents.

"They work about depots and public places, and people don't suspect them. If they were to see a man fumbling around among bundles left on the seat in a waiting room they would suspect something wrong. As it is, a woman can help herself and awaken no suspicion."

Oliver W. Holmes and the Printer's Devil.

One of these bright latter days the historian sat on a pile of boards on a sunny corner of a wharf and lazily watched the crew of a down East schooner loading in a cargo of flour.

Jim sat on one side aimlessly putting a needle like point on an odorous cedar shingle. Jim whittled in the true Yankee fashion, holding his jack-knife to his knee and drawing the shingle against it. Occasionally Jim dropped lightly into anecdote.

He had attempted to learn the printing trade in his younger days, and a part of his duty was to carry printed slips of articles intended for publication to their authors for corrections. This time Jim told of his experience with Oliver Wendell Holmes.

One cold winter's night he carried a proof slip of some medical article to Cambridge and waited in the hall while the doctor read it through.

Coming from the warm hall into the cold winter air, the 10-year old boy became drowsy, and curling up in a big easy chair went fast to sleep.

How long he slept he didn't know, but half-way between waking and dreaming came a voice:

"Henry!"

"Robert; oh, Robert!"

"Francis! I say, Francis!"

"Charles, John, Peter, George, Augustus, there!"

Jim dozed away, yet partly conscious that somebody was calling somebody. Again came the doctor's voice:

"Oh, the devil!"

This did waken Jim, and he came forward at once to the door where the doctor stood waiting.

"Ah, you small Beelzebub," said the doctor, "I see you know your name."

Jim grinned responsive and pocketed a douceur that has fixed the incident in his mind for a score of years.—[Boston Record.

A Lively Household.

"I called on a queer family in Alna recently," said a Bath doctor.

"They have no children, but they have altogether too many pets to suit me.

"The woman opened the door and let in a cat. Then the old man let in a dog.

"Pretty soon I heard a pecking at a window pane and a weird voice saying, 'Cold, cold.' The woman hastily raised the window, when in flew an old black crow. The crow could say several words with much distinctness.

"I had not seen all their family yet. In a short time two white mice appeared on the floor. They were anxious to make my acquaintance, it seemed, for they crawled up my legs and inside my coat till I shivered and the old man took them and kissed them."—[Lewiston (Me.) Journal.

Outmatching a Chief-Justice.

The late Chief-Justice Bigelow, wishing to come into the city from his home in Quincy, accidentally took the wrong car. Upon discovering his mistake, he pulled the bell cord and stopped the train.

The conductor reproved the judge for his act, and being angry and excited, said more than he should, and the Chief-Justice made a complaint to the president of the road.

When questioned, the conductor said:

"Well, sir, I shall go in some day and adjourn Judge Bigelow's court for him."

All felt the force of the defense, and a hearty laugh followed, in which none joined more heartily than the Chief-Justice himself.—[Boston Traveller.

A Spirit Hand.

William Sugee Roberts, a very able fraudulent medium, told me—with his own lips, mind you—that he had deceived people in a hand-clasping circle by having a kid glove fixed on the end of his right foot. He wore slippers.

When the lights were lowered and his hands were held, he dropped his slipper and moved that right foot around in a way that made his dupes believe it was a spirit hand.—[Philadelphia Press.

Desirable Strength.

A mathematical calculation has shown that if the muscles of a man were relatively as strong as those of a flea he could throw a book agent two miles.—[Richmond State.

English Institutions without a Counterpart in America—Their Aims, Methods and Management.

There is a phase of club life in England which has practically no counterpart in this country.

In point of comfort, luxury and adornment, some of the New York clubs which provide for the wealthy of the trades and professions and the devotees of idle ease yield to none of those in the English metropolis. But of clubs for the benefit of the mechanic, the clerk, the tradesman's assistant, scarcely anything is known on this side of the Atlantic.

The unmarried man of small means can sit in his bedroom and read a book; he can take a walk, or he can devote himself to the maintenance of the saloon-keeper.

Within these limits is comprised his choice of employment for the greater part of his leisure hours. Free libraries, provided in a charitable way, are open to him to some small extent, but in the control and management of these he has no voice.

There are now many scores of working-men's clubs in and around London, and hundreds elsewhere throughout the kingdom.

Numbers of these are larger and more developed, though many are smaller than that at Kingston, a London suburb on the banks of the Thames; but as a type of the institution this will serve well enough.

The building is a three story block, with a broad entrance into a large hallway running through to the rear. On one side of this hall is a bar where strong waters and malt liquors and effervescent draughts and "the cup that cheers but not inebriates," are to be had with light refreshment.

There are a lecture-room, sub-committee rooms, a large library and reading-room and accommodations on the ground floor. Below, in the basement, is a little alley.

On the second floor is a theatre seating over 400 persons, with well-arranged stage and dressing and green rooms. Above this again is a large billiard-room with excellent billiard and bagatelle tables. In the rear of the building is a large lawn.

The activity for which this building forms a centre it would be impossible to properly describe in brief.

There are billiard and chess clubs, which play tournaments constantly and give valuable prizes; there are bicycle and athletic and cricket clubs; there is a boating club, with a fine boat house and fleet of skiffs, many of the members of which are first-rate amateur oarsmen, and there is a swimming club, the members of which are always racing or training for races among themselves or with members of other clubs. There are amateur theatrical companies and musical and orchestral societies. There are all facilities for cards and dominoes and checkers, and the skilled in the mysteries of these are constantly visiting other clubs around the great city to contest with them in these games, or receiving visits in return. There are courses of lectures, and courses of instruction in languages and other useful branches of knowledge; there are sick-benefit and building societies; there are discussion classes and mutual improvement societies. There are garden parties for dancing and music on the lawn all through the Summer, and balls in the theatre throughout the Winter.

The affairs of the club are managed entirely by the members themselves, numbering between six hundred and seven hundred, and the annual subscription is $1.60, with subscriptions ranging from twenty-five cents to $2.50 to such of the subsidiary clubs as each member may wish to join.

The effect of this institution in keeping men out of rum shops and innocently and wholesomely employed in their spare time may be imagined. The members have no desire to stand and loaf around street corners or in bar-rooms, or shout themselves hoarse at anarchist gatherings.

They have constant and interesting and exciting occupation for their leisure hours, and they consequently get as much or more enjoyment out of life than their wealthier neighbors. There is a variety to suit every taste, and no one need complain that he cannot find congenial recreation.

Some, but not very many of these workmen's clubs are run on total abstinence lines. Others have a membership confined to particular political shades of thought. But in all the purpose and the result are similar.

A Rich Western City.

"Probably the richest city for its size in the world is Cheyenne City, Wyoming, the home of the cattle kings," said Charles Jennings, a huge-sized Western man from that territory at the Union Depot.

"The population of the city is only 5,000, and it has about 350 business houses, counting the cattle companies' offices, which number sixty-six."

"How much money is there invested in cattle in Cheyenne City?" asked the reporter.

"To my knowledge there is $32,000,000 in that branch of business alone."

"All American, I suppose?"

"No, a great deal of that amount is English investments. I know of at least $5,000,000 and there may be a great deal more I know nothing of.

"The Swan Land and Cattle Company's paid in capital is $750,000, and there is the Powder River Cattle Company—with a capital stock of $1,500,000, the Duke of Manchester being the chairman of the company."

"How about other kinds of business?"

"Do you know, it seems to me there is not a poor person in the whole town. If there is, there are but few.

"There is about as much invested in other kinds of business as there is in cattle-raising, thus making a town of 5,000 inhabitants worth $65,000,000, and where can you find another city of that size in the world so wealthy?

"The town has all the modern improvements, such as electric light, theatres, the same as large cities.

"Good-by, stranger. If you want to become rich go there," were his parting words as he left to get aboard an Eastern train.—[Pittsburg Commercial Gazette.

President Lincoln's Whiskers.

When Mr. Lincoln, then President-elect, passed through Rochester in February, 1861, en route to Washington, his face was smooth-shaven.

It is said that on his way from Illinois to Washington a little girl remarked to him:

"Mr. Lincoln, your face would not look so long and you would look better if you wore whiskers."

The President laughed, thanked the young miss, and went his way.

Thereafter he let his beard grow.—[Rochester Union.

Love Knows No Rank.

A gentleman returning home one evening last week overheard the following conversation between his cook and the policeman on duty.

"Do you really love me, Biddy, darlint?"

"Indade I do, Pathrick. I don't believe I could show you any more affection if ye was a captain on the force."

A Conundrum.

They were talking about expenses and how some men got rich.

Said one: "My butcher and baker have made money enough out of me to build themselves splendid residences."

"And," responded the other; "the bar-keepers I patronized have built whole blocks out of what I owe them."

Pimples, Boils,

And Carbuncles result from a debilitated, impoverished, or impure condition of the blood. Ayer's Sarsaparilla prevents and cures these eruptions and painful tumors, by removing their cause; the only effectual way of treating them.

Ayer's Sarsaparilla has prevented the usual course of Boils, which have pained and distressed me every season for several years.—G. Scales, Plainville, Mich.

I was badly troubled with Pimples on the face; also with a discoloration of the skin, which showed itself in ugly dark patches. No external treatment did more than temporary good. Ayer's Sarsaparilla effected

I was troubled with Boils, and my health was much impaired. I began using Ayer's Sarsaparilla, and, in due time, the eruptions all disappeared, and my health was completely restored.—John R. Elkins, Editor Stanley Observer, Albemarle, N. C.

I was troubled, for a long time, with a humor which appeared on my face in ugly Pimples and Blotches. Ayer's Sarsaparilla cured me. I consider it the best blood purifier in the world.—Charles H. Smith, North Craftsbury, Vt.

The base ball match yesterday between Westminster and Vancouver juniors resulted in a bad defeat for the royal city boys. The game was simply a reverse of that played between the same clubs in this city, last week, when Westminster defeated the visitors by 59 to 8. In yesterday's match Vancouver scored 57 runs and Westminster 17. It might be said for Westminster that the team went over short handed and Vancouver had to lend several players to make up the required nine.

Children Cry for Pitcher's Castoria

One Way of Doing It.

We hear it stated that in the case of Macamoose, charged with the murder of Henry Bolt, that the jury stood ten for a verdict of guilty of wilful murder and two for manslaughter. That after staying out for seven hours they agreed to a verdict of manslaughter rather than be locked up over Sunday.—Nanaimo Free Press.

Good Crops.

Mr. J. W. Sexsmith, of Sea Island, says he has visited Lulu Island and the North Arm during the past week, and finds the crops excellent in both localities. The hay crop is nearly harvested, and the yield is something wonderful, being the largest harvest ever known. The grain crops are looking splendid, and give promise of an unusually bountiful harvest. In some cases root crops have been slightly damaged by the rains of last month. The farmers are in the best of spirits and are as busy as bees.

A Warning to Bears.

Two well-known typos are going out this evening on a regular old mossback bear hunt. To-morrow the COLUMBIAN will publish a full and complete list of the animals slaughtered with an account of their size and weight, and also their ante-mortem opinion on the C. P. R.'s new railroad from Westminster to Seattle, and to what extent the new line will bear the Southern Railway. The typos carry a heavy supply of ammunition, both liquid and solid—especially the former, though they don't claim to be hunting for snakes.

Dumont as a Marksman.

The statement that Gabriel Dumont had been invited by the local gun club to participate in one of their weekly matches has caused a flutter among local marksmen. Dumont has been famous for years throughout the greater portion of the Northwest as the best marksman among the Metis, and it is stated that a few days ago, while in a neighboring town, he shot down with a Winchester a penny piece which was thrown into the air while he had his back turned, by a man who stood fully half an acre from him. Dumont's friends state that he and Buffalo Bill shot at a mark shortly after the rebellion, when Riel's lieutenant sought refuge in the States, and that the Metis was pronounced by those who witnessed the match far more dexterous than the showman.—Toronto Mail.

The British Columbia Militia.

Our dispatches from Ottawa to-day convey the intelligence that the deputy adjutant general states the militia force of British Columbia to be in a deplorable condition. There is a great deal of truth in this statement as far as the equipments, arms, etc., of the militia is concerned, but as far as the general phisique and drill of the men goes they will compare favorably with the great bulk of the Canadian militia. And if the force is in a "deplorable condition" whose fault is it? Some eighteen months ago three officers residing in Vancouver, who had seen service in the Northwest Rebellion, applied for permission to raise one or more companies in Vancouver. It happened about that time that a civilian, who knew no more about soldiering than he did about the north pole, but had considerable political influence, made application also to raise a company. The application of the military men was promised "due consideration," while the civilian was promised the privilege of raising the company as soon as it could be done without creating public censure. This manner of bringing the force into an efficient state is rather novel, and if this principle of favoritism has been carried into all existing corps in the province the condition of the force must be deplorable. The Deputy Adjutant General knew all about this deplorable state of affairs and reported it to Ottawa, and yet we have heard of no attempt on the part of the militia department to bring about a change for the better. If the government desires to keep the militia in an efficient state why does it not furnish the corps with proper equipments. If ordered to march to-morrow two thirds of the men's outfits would have to be purchased in the stores round town. The old-fashioned knapsack has been superceded by the valise equipment, but yet the old style is supposed to be used by the militia. The knapsacks in stores in this province are rotten and worthless, and no officer of judgment would allow his men to enter on a campaign with them. The blanket pack, with proper shoulder straps, are much more preferable and serviceable. The rifles furnished the British Columbia militia (short Snider) require a thorough overhauling by the government armourers before they could be depended on for accurate shooting. The heavy guns supplied to the artillery are as suitable for field service in this province as a gunboat on wheels, and this the government knows perfectly well. In fact the militia of British Columbia have been, and still are, shamefully treated, and it is a great wonder the officers have been able to keep the corps together and keep up the enthusiasm which still exists. The Westminster Rifle Association, an almost purely military body, applied some months ago for a number of tested Martini and Snider rifles to enable them to make progress in marksmanship. The application was received and "taken into consideration," and that ended the matter. If the militia force is in a deplorable condition the government alone is to blame, for they certainly have shown no disposition to make and keep it efficient. But we hope the militia department will now recognize the importance of our provincial force, and lose no time in supplying the many necessary equipments, not for parade purposes, but for active service. And in spite of the "deplorable condition" of the British Columbia militia they are ready to take the field to-morrow, and will do as good work as any body of the Canadian forces, regular or otherwise under much less favorable conditions.

The Tale of a Railway Scheme.

Respectfully Dedicated to the Greatest Railway Corporation on Earth.

This morning very early, 'bout half-past two, three, four
Two engineers of eminence were driving o'er the moor.
They were coursing 'long the Serpentine, with head turned towards Mud Bay,
To find a site most suitable to build a new railway.
Now what say you, quoth No. 1, pray tell me wet or dry?
My brow is wet with honest sweat and I long for a drop of rye!
'Tis well! the flask we'll here uncork and while away the day
And to-morrow we'll go back to town and tell of the great survey:
We'll tell of the great railway line from Westminster to Seattle
And strangle the Southern road in time to avoid the coming battle.
So there they sat upon the sward midst bushes waving green
And sketched the fairest railroad line that ever had been seen.
But while, alas, they sketched and planned and looked up ways and means
The Southern contract had been signed which "busted up" their schemes.

Getting Excited.

The poor old Standard is getting excited, and for once in several years it has published an original article. But getting excited is no excuse for becoming untruthful. It insinuates that THE TIMES has been offered for sale to the government "at least half a dozen times." This is a falsehood, and its author (probably Mr. DeCosmos) is invited to either prove or retract the statement.—Times.

For The Skeena.

Mr. Thos. Mowat, fisheries inspector, left to-day for Victoria, where he will take the steamer Cariboo Fly on Saturday evening for the Skeena river. There are several matters to regulate up there in connection with the fisheries, principally, we believe, the fact that the Indians are fishing without licenses, and the canneries are taking the fish. Mr. Mowat will attend to this and other matters in his department.

McIntyre & Heath's Minstrels.

The largest audience we have seen in the Opera House filled it last night, not only filled it but overflowed it in streams into the street. One hundred people were turned away from the doors, unable to obtain seats; notwithstanding dozens of chairs were resorted to, to make additional sitting room. The walls, the passages ways, the windows, were lined and filled with people standing. In the gallery the crush was quite as great. People were packed as thick as sardines in a box. As to the performance, it was the finest minstrel one we have ever seen. There was nothing commonplace about it. The whole programme was rendered with a sparkle of humor, a brilliancy of repartee and a rollicking fun, which we have not as yet seen equalled by any other minstrel troupe. The interlocutor was an artist in his role, as indeed were the end men. So were the tambourines. The singing was very fine and encored to the echo. Take the whole performance, and it was full of brilliant repartee and rich humor, if not real wit. Space forbids an extended and analytical or individual notice to-night, but we can assure our readers that the minstrels are far ahead of any "African" actors which we have seen in this state or any other. Such real enjoyable, genuine bubbling fun was absent from even the best acting of the kind we have yet seen here. They are first in their line.—Denver Republican, Feb. 22.

Fagged Out.—None but those who have become fagged out, know what a depressed, miserable feeling it is. All strength is gone, and despondency has taken hold of the sufferers. They feel as though there is nothing to live for. There, however, is a cure—one box of Parmelee's Vegetable Pills will do wonders in restoring health and strength. Mandrake and Dandelion are two of the articles entering into the composition of Parmelee's Pills.

Delta Notes.

EDITOR COLUMBIAN.—Your correspondent from here, of the 14th inst., by his able and interesting letter has caused quite a flurry of excitement among many of the ratepayers, who were ignorant of the "Coercionville" townsite scheme, and they are coming to the conclusion that parties who would go into a scheme to pack a ward which is not their own are probably "on the boodle," and not fit parties to have the handling of municipal funds. With regard to the new loan bylaw, it seems, from your correspondent, the amount has risen since the last council meet, from six to eight thousand dollars, and if many more discontented voters come round it may rise again. It is indeed curious that two months ago a sum of $3,500 only was required and now it is eight thousand, or more; it leads some to believe there is some truth in the report that certain councillors and voters have been offered water-lots at $50 each, if a certain road is planked; but if it is not planked the lots are to be $200 each. Of course this is not "buying votes," as the road has to be planked anyhow, and the owner of the lots will do it himself and charge the extra $150 per lot to pay for the planking. The neighborhood of these water lots is now known as "Boodle City." It might be more appropriate to compare some of our councillors to Tweeds and Buckleys than Beaconsfields and Gladstones. The Municipal Pound By-law meets with a good deal of opposition, but is a good law and one that should be strictly carried out. Parties are talking of trying to burst it, which, according to some, can be easily done, as it is quietly reported our council is not a legal body. They are not properly constituted according to their letters patent, and even further, people say the municipal solicitors have advised them so; but not a word of this has come from the councillors, although it may check the Loan By-Law, as there is no legal party to borrow the money on behalf of the ratepayers, and the only way we can get a legal council is for the present one to surrender its letters patent and apply for new ones. The present councillors cannot legally appoint two other councillors to make a full board, without first giving the electors a chance to elect them, and the question is, what wards are to elect the new councillors? Are some of the wards to have two councillors, or are new wards to be formed? It is the opinion of many of the ratepayers that the doings of our so-called councillors would form a fit subject for inquiry by the lieutdnant-governor. Should our council be an illegal body, we have not any assessment roll; taxes cannot be collected. Altogether, it is a nice mess our municipality is in. Excuse the length of these notes, but they may be the means of bringing the interest of non-resident taxpayers to our council proceedings and straightening things up.

OTTAWA, July 17.—The fact that the government have commissioned Rev. The half-breeds and Indians are not likely to be molified by the announcement that their old acquaintance, Mr. Dewdney, has been made minister of the interior.
