SCIENTIFIC MISCELLANY.

Electric omnibuses now run in Paris over a line two miles long, the velocity being a little greater than with horses.

In some experiments in which carbon under great pressure was heated by the electric current, Mr. C. A. Parsons has obtained a grayish powder which seems to be diamond-dust.

A four-foot model of an electric submarine boat has been built by a Finnish engineer. It can be steered accurately in horizontal directions, as well as up and down, and is called a success.

From Parisian temperature records for about 100 years, a French meteorologist gets evidence of the existence of a 24 years' cycle of periodicity in the oscillations of temperature on the surface of the globe.

Compressed carbonic acid gas is now prepared at no less than ten factories. The daily consumption of Berlin alone is said to be about 150,000 pounds. Bottles holding 17½ pounds sell at about $1.50,—less than one-third of the former price.

The smoke-cloud which daily hangs over London is estimated by Prof. Chandler Roberts to contain about 50 tons of solid carbon and 250 tons of carbon in gaseous combinations. The expense of this waste of coal is calculated at $13,000,000 a year, while the smoky atmosphere causes damage to property which Mr. Edwin Chadwick places at $10,000,000 a year.

The African elephant, according to Herr J. Menges, is quite as docile as the Indian elephant, and much stronger. No modern attempt to tame the animal has been made, though it seems to have been put to work in ancient times, and would, if properly trained, be of immense service in the opening up of Africa. It must be protected, however, or it will soon be quite extinct.

A pure flying-machine is impossible, asserts Prof. Joseph LeConte. All that we can expect—all that true scientists do expect—is, by skillful combination of the balloon principle with the true flying principle, to make aerial navigation possible in moderately favorable weather—in other words, to make a locomotive balloon, or aerial swimming-machine. That something really useful of this kind will eventually be made there can be no reasonable doubt.

JACK FROST IMITATION.—A new Parisian industry in the manufacture of hoar-frost glass, which is covered with feathery patterns resembling those naturally producted upon window-panes in cold weather. The glass is first given a ground surface, either by the sand-blast or the ordinary method, and is then coated with soft varnish. The varnish contracts strongly in drying, taking with it the particles of glass to which it adheres, and this reproduces very accurately the branching crystals of frostwork. A single coat gives a delicate effect, and several coats yield a bold design.

MUSCLE CONSUMED IN EXERCISE.—The animal body may be less like the steam engine in its operation than we are accustomed to think. Mr. W. Mattieu Williams mentions recent experiments of A. Monaro, an Italian physiologist, as tending to show that muscle is used up by the exertions of the body, and thus to establish Liebig's theory of the physiology of nutrition in place of the more modern one that life-work is generated by the combustion of food. If Liebig was right, as Mr. Williams believes, the work is done by the consumption of living tissue—of the engine itself—which the food renews.

DO WE KNOW OURSELVES?—The invention of the phonograph and graphophone has brought out the singular fact that few persons, if any, know the sound of their own voice. When several persons in succession have spoken into one of these machines, each may recognize in its reproductions the voice of a friend or acquaintance, but does not indentify his own. An analogous phenomenon has been observed in the matter of sight by photographers, who often satisfy in a likeness every one but the original. Thus it seems that we not only do not see ourselves as others see us, but we do not hear ourselves as others hear us.

FIGURES ABOUT WEEDS.—In the State of Iowa Mr. Byron D. Halstead finds 297 species of weeds, of which 145 are a positive disadvantage to the farmer, and 51 are pests of the worse kind. Of these plants, 84 are annuals, 27 are biennials, and 186 are prennials. There are 87 of foreign origin and 210 are natives, but of the worst species 28 are foreign and only 23 native. Among the most offensive of the annuals are the purslane or "pusley," the Jamestown or jimson weed, the pig-weed and the tumble-weed; of the biennials, the carrot and the fleabane; of the foreign prennials, the Canada thistle and the curled-leaf dock; and of the native prennials, various coarse thistles and the celebrated quack or quick grass. Keeping them from seeding is the only means by which these plants can ever be exterminated.

Corns cause intolerable pain. Holloway's Corn Cure removes the trouble. Try it and see what an amount of pain is saved.

TERRIBLE LOSS OF LIFE.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Nov. 9.—A special from Pittsburg, Kansas, says that the most dreadful disaster in the history of Kansas occurred at 5 o'clock this evening when the men were preparing to leave their work at shaft No. 2 at Frontenac a suburb of Pittsburg. A terrible explosion occurred that shook the earth for a great distance. Upon investigation it was found that 160 men were in the mine at the time, 112 were below the surface and undoubtedly all of them are dead. Two men who were in the car coming up and were near the top were the only men who escaped.

FIRE.

NEW YORK, Nov. 10.—A fire broke out shortly after seven this morning in a five storey brick building, corner of Mission Place and Worth street, occupied by Cornett & Bingham, paper manufacturers, and Valentine & Co., bookbinders. The employees made a rush from the building and in the flight down stairs from the upper stories a number of men were injured, several seriously. William Tracey, Jno. Riley, Frank McKee, Tom King, Wm. Meyers and Philip Weisburg were removed to the hospital. The latter jumped from a second storey window, breaking his leg and injuring his head. The damage to the building is $50,000 and the loss on stock is $10,000.

AN AWFUL FIND.

MONTREAL, Nov. 10.—A special dispatch from St. Ambrose LaJeune Loretta says: Complaint had been made concerning the condition of the city reservoir and the authorities resolved to empty the water works. The task was completed yesterday. The remains of eleven children were discovered at the bottom of the reservoir in an advanced state of decomposition.

A LONE HIGHWAYMAN.

REDDING, Cal., Nov. 10.—A lone highwayman stopped the stage last night and robbed passengers of $160 and Wells, Fargo & Co's box of $240. A posse is now in pursuit.

SWIFT RETRIBUTION.

AUSTIN, Nev., Nov. 10.—News was received here this morning that Davis Sabeni shot and killed Richard Hart, a respected citizen of Castle Eureka Co., Wednesday, for no justifiable cause. The murderer who was 22 years of age, was lynched.

GREAT BLIZZARD.

CHICAGO, Nov. 10.—A terrible blizzard is raging this morning in Iowa, Missouri and Nebraska, prostrating telegraph wires and impeding trains.

DISASTROUS FLOODS.

SEYMOUR, Ind., Nov. 10.—It has rained here steadily for forty-eight hours. The White and Muscatatuck rivers have overflowed, and low-lying lands are inundated. Much live stock has been drowned and thousands more are endangered.

STEAMER REPORTED WRECKED.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 10.—A despatch from Astoria to-day states that a portion of a steamer's pilot house and bulwarks has been found on the beach near that place. It is believed that the wreckage is from the str. General Miles, which left this port for Gray's Harbor several days ago. The steamer was due at the latter place yesterday, but has not reached there yet, nor has she ever been seen by passing vessels. Whether the vessel went ashore, or struck on some hidden reef, or collided with some other vessel, cannot be learned until fuller particuiars are received. The General Miles carried 12 passengers and it is feared that these have been lost.

GREAT SNOW STORM.

QUEBEC, Nov. 10.—A snow storm, which has seldom been equalled here, set in late on Thursday afternoon and continued until noon yesterday. It extended over the whole of Quebec and the maritime provinces. Two and a half feet of snow fell along the lower Lower St. Lawrence and it is feared there is a large loss of life among the fishermen on both shores of the gulf. At Matane a lumber-laden schooner is ashore and the crew were up in the rigging all night. They were rescued in the morning badly frost-bitten. One of them cannot survive. The str. Polina, in attempting to run up the North Saugenay was compelled to put into Trinity Bay where she dragged her anchors and went ashore on the rocks. The captain is reported drowned The str. Montreal left here for Montreal on Thursday night with 200 passengers and has not been heard of since. From Rimouski, the last gulf station on the intercolonial railway, comes the story that a fishing smack with three men aboard was lost. Telegraph wires are down and trains are delayed by the snow.

INTENDED TO SUICIDE.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Nov. 10.—Poison was found last night on the person of Anschlag, the murderer who is to be hanged next Friday.

WHEAT.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 9.—Wheat very dull at 166¼; Dec. 164¼.

MRS. JAY GOULD DYING.

NEW YORK, Nov. 10.—Mrs. Jay Gould is very low this morning and the family are prepared for the worst. Gould remains constantly at his wife's bedside.

HONG KONG NOTES.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 10.—The str. Oceanic arrived from Hong Kong this morning with 48 Chinese, only three whom are for this city.

Cholera is abating in Pekin. The report that the residence of the American minister at Canton had been attacked by Chinese when it became known that the Chinese exclusion bill had been signed, was without foundation.

The steamer Kildare while on the way to Hong Kong, from Java, with a cargo of sugar, was wrecked on Oct. 10th in a typhoon and four of the crew drowned.

WANT NEW STATES.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 10.—The Chronicle this morning strongly urges the incoming president to call an extra session of the fifty-first congress immediately upon his inauguration for the especial purpose of admitting Washington and Dakota territories and hearing the case of Montana.

LATE CANADIAN NEWS.

James Duny, of Straight Shore, Portland, Maine, fell dead in his pew in St. Peter's Roman Catholic church.

The Genelg flour mills, owned by Wm. and J. G. Grey, Toronto, were burned. Loss $20,000; partially insured.

Michael Gilbery was found guilty yesterday, in Toronto, of wounding Peter Joncas with intent to kill. Sentence was deferred.

A silver and gold bearing vein has been discovered in almost the centre of Port Arthur and work is going forward to develop it.

It is said that Premier Mercier has notified the members of the corporation of the Quebec civil services they will be dismissed unless they pay their debts.

The temperance people of the Northwest Territories and Manitoba, in convention assembled, have condemned Lieut.-Governor Royal's action in issuing permits to sell beer containing 4 per cent. of alcohol.

George Godin, alias Kezonkamsis, the outlaw, was captured by Indians last night, near Edmonton. While in hiding on Stoney Plain, Enoch and some companions surprised him and bound him with ropes. He is now in custody of the mounted police.

A family named Scott, lives in Dawn township, Ont. Scott was in the habit of getting intoxicated when in town, and going home and abusing his wife shamefully. Last night she procured an axe, or club, and going to bed beat him to death with it. She is insane.

Premier Greenway addressed the house for three hours and moved for a royal commission to investigate the charges made against him. He made a bitter attack on the Free Press. The house adjourned to Monday. It is likely a commission will be appointed

Michael Donwoodys, who disappeared from Toronto three years ago under circumstances which led to the belief that he had been murdered, has turned up and is looking for his relatives. He has been among the mines of Central America and has made a large fortune.

W. A. Werril, barrister, of Toronto, narrowly escaped death by poisoning the other night He took a dose of medicine in a drug store and shortly afterwards became ill. The doctors administered antidotes and used a stomach pump and after considerable skill succeeded insaving his life.

The opening of the Manitoba legislature Thursday afternoon drew quite a crowd of spectators. Lieutenant-Governor Schultz, in the speech from the throne, said the house would consider the advisability of appealing to the Queen for a better definition of the rights existing between Manitoba and the Dominion government.

The Dominion government has under consideration the advisability of restricting Chinese immigration. The revenue from this source, as the result of the adoption of the Chinese exclusion policy in the United States, shows an abnormal increase. The incomplete returns show that the tax collected at Vancouver last month was nearly $12,000, or only slightly less than the revenue for the whole of last year.

Delegates representing the Mormon colony on Lee's Creek, N.W.T., of which Mr. A. M. Stenhouse, of British Columbia, is a member, are here at present to see the minister of the interior and seek to obtain a townsite. Hitherto the land granted them has been solely for homesteading purposes. Hon. Edgar Dewdney will receive these visitors to-morrow. Prophet Smith said they would not break the laws regarding polygamy. He expects an influx from Utah, and says proselytizing among the polygamists will be carried on extensively.

THE PHOTO ROCKET.—A curious photographic apparatus, in which a camera is raised by a rocket and lowered by parachute, is being developed by a French inventor, M. Amedee Denisse. In its experimental form, the cylindrical camera has twelve lenses round its circumference, with a sensitive plate in its centre, and is provided with a shutter which opens and instantly closes as the apparatus commences to fall. The descent is eased by the opening of the attached parachute, which is drawn back to the operator by a cord attached before the firing of the rocket. For securing bird's-eye views, the photo-rocket offers several important advantages over balloon-photography, such as comparative cheapness, ease of operating, and freedom from risk in case of use for military reconnoitring.

Levi P. Morton's coachman tells a reporter that he has made a habit of turning over his savings to Mr. Morton for investment, and that they have been so judiciously handled that he is now worth $20,000.

Tenderfoot—Are there many admirers of music in your town? Dakota citizen—Pardner, we not only admire music here, but we respect it. There were five organ grinders lynched in our city since last spring.—Terre Haute Express.

"Wm. Weesback, you are charged with having beaten your wife." "The charge is correct, yer honor." What are you smiling about then?" "I have been married five years, and in all the scraps we've had this is the first time I haven't come out second best. Have a cigar, judge!"—Lincoln Journal.

The condition of the average peasant of Southern Russia is described as lamentable. Only those to whom twenty-three acres of land were allotted live comfortably. The majority, formely serfs, who received each an allotment of eight acres, chosen at the will of the proprietor, frequently barren and irreclaimed, lead a miserably hard existence, described as a continuous battle against absolute starvation.

At the Lord Mayor's Banquet, England Must be Prepared for all Contingencies.

No Clue Yet to the Whitechapel Murderer. The Bloodhounds Prove Useless.

LORD MAYOR'S BANQUET.

LONDON, Nov. 9.—Lord Salisbury speaking at Guildhall to-night on the occasion of the Lord Mayor's banquet said he was prepared to deny that the government yielded to its opponents on any question of policy. He had never been more confident of the advantageousness of its policy and honestly believed that that policy could be executed. England, he said, had perhaps noticed the popular institutions which existed westward. The events in America would add more to the history of electioneering than to the history of politics (laughter). If there was any complaint against a statesman at Washington it did not involve the two nations since the action of Washington statesmen had apparently been commended by or received the approval of the American people. The government had done much, he said, to restore a financial equilibrium in Egypt, but the surety of the frontier was still unachieved. Five great powers maintained twelve millions of armed men. That fact did not suggest that England ought to diminish her confidence in the maintenance of peace, but amid such preparations England must not remain unprepared. If England's commercial community felt that England's power to protect them was insufficient, their terror therefrom would cause a greater loss to the country than would any expenditure to maintain confidence.

THE WHITECHAPEL MURDER.

LONDON, Nov. 10.—In the commons to-day Conybeare asked the question whether, if it were true another woman had been murdered in London, General Warren, chief of metropolitan police, ought not to be superseded by an officer accustomed to investigate crime. The speaker said notice must be given of the question in writing. Sir Charles Warren to-day announced free pardon to any accomplice of the murderer of the last victim of the east end, who will give information leading to the capture of the fiend. Later information shows the murdered woman was a native of Limerick who migrated to Wales where she married a collier who was killed in an explosion, after her husband's death she came to London. All the morning papers contain long accounts of the new tragedy, all very much contradicting each other in facts; they have also long editorials. The Standard, which is friendly to the police, observes that there is nothing wonderful in the fact that one particular individual should be clever enough to observe every necessary precaution, or that the police should be baffled in inquiries where they have no basis to start from and no link whatever to connect any of the murdered women with any known character in the district.

WHEAT.

LIVERPOOL, Nov. 10.—Wheat quiet. Holders offer moderately. Cold, 6s. 2d.

LATE DESPATCHES.

THE GAMBLERS PARADISE.

NICE, Nov. 2.—The gamblers' paradise at Monte Carlo is in a bad way. At the annual meeting, held here to-day, it was shown that the profits for the past year have fallen off to the extent of $150,000. The profits on the roulette tables, after paying all expenses, amount to over a million and a quarter dollars, but the tripot considers this a very poor business. The trente el quarante has also proved unprofitable to the Casino during the past year, and another table will be abandoned this winter. The number of suicides is shown to have decreased from 25 to 19. The latest victim is a young Russian lady, who lost all her fortune last week, and then in despair threw herself into the sea. The reigning prince of Monaco, who has not visited his principality for several years, has been induced to take up his residence at Monte Carlo during the coming winter and will arrive in a week or two. It is hoped that his presence will help to revive the decreasing fortunes.

THE AUSTRIAN ARMY BILL.

VIENNA, Nov. 2.—The new army bill maintains the war strength of the army at 800,000. It is provided that the Landwehr shall assist in the field, the Landsturm serving for garrison and local defense. For the next decade it is proposed to recruit for the army and the Landwehr 125,000 men yearly. The term of service is raised to twelve years. A second naval reserve will be created. The political correspondence approves the proposals as being a substantial movement without an excessive increase in the cost of maintenance of the army.

LORD DUFFERIN WILL NOT LOWER HIMSELF.

NEW YORK, Nov. 2.—A London despatch to the Post says the suggestion that Lord Dufferin should succeed Lord Sackville is regarded in diplomatic circles as absurd. Lord Dufferin occupies the position of ambassador, and as such is eligible to the highest diplomatic pension of £1,700 per annum. If he accepted the ministry at Washington he would nominally be occupying a lower position in the service as well as diminished pay and pension. Nobody at the foreign office can give any reason for this suggestion. The general opinion there appears to be that the British representative in America should certainly be placed on an equal footing with the British representatives at the European capitals. Only in this way can the best men be secured, the present sytem leading to the appointment of mediocrities.

THE FIRST GUN.

The attendance of Sir A. P. Caron and Sir John Thompson in New York for the presidential election is causing quite a sensation here. It is said that their presence there is in interests of Harrison party. Hon. Jas. Ostrom left for New York to-day. Rumor has it that Carling and Pope retire from the cabinet at the close of next session, the former goes to senate and the latter, owing to ill health, is compelled to retire. White, of Renfew, replaces Carling, and Ives will likely get Pope's place.

Saturday Evening, Nov. 10, 1888.

At the close of the third week of the Parnell commission, the case for the Times has not improved any, but rather the reverse. The despatches on the subject, however, have been meagre, the presidential election and other matters appearing to have monopolized the wires during the week. The examination of the Times' witnesses seems to be more and more throwing discredit upon the charges of that journal against Parnell and his friends. The very character of these witnesses, and the manner in which they have been induced to give their evidence—according to the despatches, workmen of the lowest classes were paid £6 per week, a greater sum than they ever had in their lives, to remain in London and answer to their names when called to the witness box—together with the admission the week before last that some of the letters in the possession of the Times were spurious, is beginning to tell strongly against the case of the great London journal from a presumptive or circumstantial point of view. It must be remembered, too, that the prosecution against the Parnellites is still proceeding, and their defence has not yet been brought on. It may be imagined, if the prosecution nearly collapses under its own weight, that the defence will have a comparatively easy task in completing the demolition of the entire structure, which would appear to have been based on misrepresentation, if not falsehood. The latest despatch on the subject, dated yesterday in London, states that Sir Charles Russell, counsel for the Parnellites, has evidence to prove that the Times' letters were forged. If he succeeds in this the whole case will speedily tumble to the ground.

By our report yesterday, it will have been seen that the Westminster Southern Railway matter has been advanced another and an important stage, and has been placed upon a final working basis satisfactory to all concerned. When the people of the royal city, on the 7th of August last, by the large and nearly unanimous vote which they polled on that occasion, passed the "Ferry" and "Workshops" bonus by-laws, the question was practically settled that Westminster's long-delayed and pet scheme for a railway south to the boundary line was within twelve months of fulfilment. Immediately after the passage of these by-laws the surveyors were put out, work was commenced on the right-of-way, and has been carried on ever since. Cotemporaneously arrangements have been proceeding to have the debentures authorized by the by-laws issued and made convertible into money, which should be available when required and due. Considerable needless criticism and opposition has been evoked during the progress of the arrangements referred to, owing to misapprehension on the part of some and evident hostility to the entire scheme and the interests of the city on the part of others. The former class have appeared to persistently overlooked the fact—which is the spirit of the whole matter—that what the citizens of Westminster really want, and actually voted for, is a railway south to the boundary line, with the understanding that connection should be made with Whatcom and Seattle; and not, except as incidental and necessarily pertaining to the railway, an isolated railway ferry and workshops—both of which might be highly ornamental, but would look very lonely without the railway itself. They would appear, also, to have overlooked the fact that the ferry and workshops were bonused, instead of the railway, owing to a technical legal difficulty in the city's charter. The latter class—those hostile to the railway and the city's interests—may or may not have been cognizant of both of these facts, but at any rate they have taken every opportunity to embarrass the progress of the necessary arrangements, which have at last been satisfactorily consummated. THE COLUMBIAN having informed itself as to the true nature of the case, has refrained from embarrassing those of our citizens, comprising the majority of the city council, the local railway company, solicitors, &c., who, we are satisfied, were conscientiously working in the best interests of the city in placing the whole railway business upon a satisfactory working basis. We are glad to say that this has been done, and that we can congratulate our readers upon the assured and speedy completion of the Westminster Southern.

Dyspepsia and Indigestion.—C. W. Snow & Co., Syracuse, N. Y., writes: "Please send us ten gross of Pills. We are selling more of Parmelee's Pills than any other Pill we keep. They have a great reputation for the cure of Dyspepsia and Liver Complaint." Mr. Chas. A. Smith, Lindsay, writes: "Parmelee's Pills are an excellent medicine. My sister has been troubled with severe headache, but these Pills gave her relief."

Children Cry for Pitcher's Castoria

What might be called a bold renaissance of crime appears to have broken out all over the civilized world. The horrible Whitechapel murders, which have been before the world for over a month, and have defied detection, although repeated with all their revolting circumstances again and again, have once more been revived, according to our despatches yesterday, by the butchery and mutilation of a fresh victim. Then there are the ghastly imitations of the fiendish Whitechapel outrages perpetrated recently near Tuscaloosa, Alabama. The Galt, Ont., candy poisoning affair will be still fresh in the minds of our readers, and nearly every day the despatches contain announcements of fresh horrors. For deliberate cold-bloodedness, in the prosecution of highway robbery, the Wilkesbarre, Pennsylvania, murder, committed on the 19th of last month, would be hard to excel. Our despatches of that date stated that Alexander McClure, paymaster on a branch of the Lehigh Valley Railway, was on his way to work in the morning, having on his person $20,000 to pay the men, and was accompanied by a body-guard. He and his body-guard were shot by three masked men, who were lying in ambush, and who took this means of securing the money which they had ascertained would pass that way in the keeping of the paymaster. An eastern paper, commenting upon the foul murder, speaks as follows: The "Wild West," in its wildest and and most lawless days, was never disgraced by a fouler murdor than one which recently occurred near Wilkesbarre, Pennsylvania. It furnishes another proof that the mere surface veneer of culture and refinement which passes under the name of civilization, is of little value as a controlling force when pitted against the baser passions of humanity. Some of the worst crimes, perhaps a majority of them, are committed in the greatest centres of the highest civilization. Not very comforting doctrine for those persons who substitute evolution upward for the doctrine of a fall from a state of innocence. In the case referred to, two men, going home from Wilkesbarre with a large sum of money wherewith to pay the laborers on a railroad, were waylaid and shot down in cold blood by highwaymen who evidently knew their movements and were determined to get possession of the booty at all hazards. They had no squeamishness about making murder the stepping stone to robbery. They knew that their victims were bold men and well armed, and that they would defend their trust to the bitter end, and therefore they were not going to risk their own lives when well directed rifle shots from a covert would do the business. The murder has caused intense excitement, and every nerve is being strained to secure the murderers. If the right men are caught it is to be hoped there will be no maudlin sentimentality about the way in which they are to be dealt with. Society owes a duty of self-protection to itself, not merely extenuation and reformation to criminals of that class. We are not called upon to be more tender-hearted in our dealings with deliberate murderers than the God who made them, and therefore the great law of punishment by death for murder should be most rigorously enforced.

H. Gladden, West Shefford, P. Q., writes: For a number of years I have been afflicted with rheumatism. Two years ago I was attacked very severely. I suffered a great deal of pain, from which I was not free a day, until last spring, wyen I began to use Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil, and I rejoice to say it has cured me, for which I am thankful.

Your Children

Are constantly exposed to danger from Colds, Whooping Cough, Croup, and diseases peculiar to the throat and lungs. For such ailments, Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, promptly administered, affords speedy relief and cure.

As a remedy for Whooping Cough, with which many of our children were afflicted, we used, during the past winter, with much satisfaction, Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. For this affection, we consider this preparation the most efficacious of all the medicines which have come to our knowledge.—Mary Parkhurst, Preceptress, Home for Little Wanderers, Doncaster, Md.

My children have been peculiarly subject to attacks of Croup, and I failed to find any effective remedy until I commenced administering Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. This preparation relieves the difficulty of breathing and invariably cures the complaint.—David G. Starks, Chatham, Columbia Co., N. Y.

I have used Ayer's Cherry Pectoral in my family for many years, and have found it especially valuable in Whooping Cough. This medicine allays all irritation, prevents inflammation from extending to the lungs, and quickly subdues any tendency to Lung Complaint. —J. B. Wellington, Plainville, Mich.

I find no medicine so effective, for Croup and Whooping Cough, as Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. It saved the life of my little boy, only six months old, carrying him safely through the worst case of Whooping Cough I ever saw.—Jane Malone, Piney Flats, Tenn.

PIOUS LITERARY WOMEN.

DISTINGUISHED FEMALE WRITERS WHO STAND BY THE CREED.

Harriet Beecher Stowe Writes a Letter Embodying Her Religious Opinions—Rose Terry Cook, Marion Harland, Louise Chandler Moulton and Mary J. Holmes State Their Views on the Subject of Greatest Concern.

(Copyright 1888.)

At a gathering of a literary kind in New York last spring, the conversation fell upon the subject of religion and the various beliefs held by people whom we individually knew. It was remarked that women were religious as long as they were domestic, but that the moment they had a career outside of their home, they became agnostics, free thinkers or something else as radical.

It was the opinion of several of the talkers that women writers were almost wholly independent of creeds and doctrines, and few—if any of them—were church members. "What was once true of the theatrical profession exclusively is now true of the literary one," was asserted by a noted newspaper editor, and his conclusion was approved by his listeners.

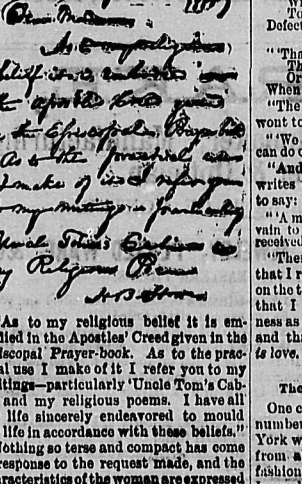
"Then a professional life is a misfortune rather than a blessing for women, you think?" queried a doubter.

"On the contrary I think it is desirable because it frees them from the bigotry and narrowness of the church and renders them the delightful companions they are," was replied.

"But the facts are that literary women are almost universally religious, whatever may be said of professionals in other fields of work," urged another. This was dissented from, and finally there was an admission made that it was difficult to tell from anybody's writings what their private opinions were.

The subject interested me beyond the hour and subsequently I wrote to various writers to know their religious views. The replies were of so great value as evidence of the fervent faith of women-writers that they are given to the public.

To the oldest and foremost among American novelists, Harriet Beecher Stowe, I wrote for an expression of her beliefs, religiously, and had for answer the following:



"As to my religious belief it is embodied in the Apostles' Creed given in the Episcopal Prayer-book. As to the practical use I make of it I refer you to my writings—particularly 'Uncle Tom's Cabin' and my religious poems. I have all my life sincerely endeavored to mould my life in accordance with these beliefs."

Nothing so terse and compact has come in response to the request made, and the characteristics of the woman are expressed in its phraseology.

Rose Terry Cooke, the poet and novelist, says of her religious views:

"I have been a member of the Congregational Church since 1843, until this last summer. I joined the Episcopal Church because my husband preferred that form of worship. You will find my faith embodied in the Apostles' Creed. I could never have lived through my troubled life without that earnest belief. I could not look forward to death under any other prospect with the least courage. I desire to record here that I have found the only peace, and help, and strength of my life in the gospel of Christ; and that I believe there is no hope in this world or the next that does not spring from that gospel."

Marion Harland, wife of a minister, and as widely known in her church and Sunday school work as in her social circle, says:

"So far as my religious views go, I am a thorough churchwoman; a believer in the Bible as the Word of God; the only sure rule of faith, and practice, and guide to Heaven. I recite the Apostles' Creed sincerely and devoutly, even the clause touching the resurrection of that which is sown a natural body and will be raised a spiritual body, bearing the same relation to the worn-out casket laid away in the earth that Easter lilies bear to the perished bulb. I hold this life to be but the vestibule of the temple in which we are to work and joy forever when these few preliminaries which we know as mortal toils and trials are ended. But I believe that every talent and good we have here will have use and place in the fuller life, separated from this by so thin a veil that it is sometimes given to us to see the light gleaming through. For my own hope of admission to the 'Perfection which is continuous advance,' I trust humbly, gratefully and entirely in the Saviour of the world; the Christ who was tempted like as we are, the God-Man who is able to save unto the uttermost all who put their trust in him.

"'The solemn shadow of His cross
Is brighter than the sun.'

"This faith, transmitted to me by generations of godly ancestors, some of whom laid down their lives for it, I have carefully and severely tested by all the powers and lights I could bring to bear upon it, and stand to-day more firmly in it than ever before.

"In every event of daily life, the least even as the greatest, I seek to have but one rule, that set forth so simply and beautifully in Longfellow's Dedication Hymns:

"'And evermore beside him on the way
The unseen Christ shall move,
That he may lean upon His arm and say,
Dost Thou, dear Lord, approve?'

"This is, of course, ten times as much as you wanted me to write, but from it you can extract the germ of 'my creed.' Religion is so much to me, I would have it so much to others that I say too much when I trust myself to speak upon it."

Julia C. R. Dorr, that most delightful writer and noble woman, thus answers the question:

"You set me a rather hard task. If you had asked me for my 'religious views' when I was about eighteen, it would have been easier to respond, for at that time I had much more decided 'views' on most subjects than I have now. One grows humbler as one grows older, and much less sure of things.

"Two strains of blood meet in my spiritual as well as in my physical nature. French Catholicism is on one side, New England Unitarianism on the other. From the one I inherit a love of forms and symbols and stately ceremonials which make one-half of me sympathise with, and comprehend by intuition, much that the other half neither believes in nor understands. But I was 'brought up' in the straight school of New England orthodoxy and belong to the Congregational Church, the wing of it that interprets the old creeds broadly, and is not at all sure that it can fathom the depth of the Divine plans and mysteries, past, present or to come. But with all my heart I believe in God, the Father, our Father, and in Christ as the Way, the Truth and the Life. I cannot solve the problem of human sin and misery, nor draw the line of human accountability, nor explain how it is true that 'as a man soweth so shall he also reap.' But I do believe that all that perplexes us will one day be made clear; and meanwhile I am content to wait and to trust. In short I find in Whittier's 'Eternal Goodness,' at once my creed and my prayer."

The New England poet, Edna Dean Proctor, thus describes her Christian faith:

"No religious creed is possible to me but a belief in the boundless love of God for all his creatures, and in his intent and power to bring them all ultimately into harmony with Himself; in accordance with his perpetual invitation, 'Come unto me, all ye that labor and are heavy-laden, and I will give you rest;' a belief that grief and pain are, in our present state, a vital necessity of spiritual development, and that in this or other spheres punishment for wrong, though as inflexible in its workings as the principles of mathematics or the laws of light and shade, is yet but disciplinary and remedial. Such a view brings hope for this life and the life to come, gives us sympathy with every human being, and makes God indeed our Father. More and more as the world becomes enlightened, it tends on this broad, natural basis to unity of thought and worship."

Mary J. Holmes, the famous novelist, thus writes:

"If, instead of asking for my religious views you had asked what I believe, I think I should at once have commenced the Apostles' Creed, which I repeat in church so often.

"I believe in God, the Father Almighty, maker of heaven and earth, and in Jesus Christ, his only son, our Lord.

"Born in New England and reared by strictly orthodox parents, I was taught that many things which most young people like and do were wicked, and although these rigid ideas have been softened down I am glad for the early training which has had a restraining influence on my whole life. I am a communicant of the Episcopal Church and know that a hand is leading me which will not let me fall if I cling to it with faith, as I am trying to do."

Louise Chandler Moulton lets others speak her words for her. She says:

"I can, perhaps, best answer your question concerning my religious faith by three quotations, with which I am in sympathy. The first is from Tennyson:

"'Oh yet we trust that somehow good
Will be the final goal of ill—
To pangs of nature, sins of will,
Defects of doubt, and taints of blood.

"'That nothing walks with aimless feet;
That no one life shall be destroyed,
Or cast as rubbish to the void,
When God hath made the pile complete.'

"'We cannot know the unknown, but we can do our duty.'

"And the third is from Stevenson, who writes of Fleeming Jenkin that he used to say:

"'A man must be either very wise or very vain to venture to break with any generally received idea of ethics.'

"These quotations will reveal to you that I reverence the moral laws founded on the teaching and experience of the past, that I am conscious of my own blindness as to the meaning and destiny of life, and that I trust only in that God who is love. LAURA C. HOLLOWAY.

The Dearth of Native Clergymen.

One cannot help being astonished at the number of leading clergymen in New York who have been brought over here from abroad to fill the pulpits of our fashionable churches. Take a few facts. In my boyhood the leading clergyman of the Episcopal denomination here was the Rev. Dr. Tyng, an American by birth; but now that place is held by an Englishman of recent immigration. The leading clergyman of the Presbyterian denomination was the Rev. Dr. Spring, American by birth; but now that place is held by the Rev. John Hall, a Belfast Irishman, discovered by Robert Bonner. The leading clergyman of the Congregationalist denomination was the Rev. Dr. Joseph Thompson, an American by birth; but now the same place is held by the Rev. Dr. Taylor, a Scotchman, brought here as Mr. Thompson's successor in the Tabernacle. The leading clergyman of the Unitarian Church was the Rev. Dr. Bellows, a born American; but now that place is held by the Rev. Robert Collyer, an Englishman who came over here some years ago. The leading clergyman of the Dutch Reformed Church was the Rev. Dr. Vermilyea, of old American stock; but now the place is held by the Rev. Dr. Ormiston, a large-headed Scotchman who came to this country "under contract." If we go down from such famous men as those just named to the lesser lights of the New York pulpit, we find the change in the same direction to be still more remarkable. Almost every year clergymen are brought over from the British Isles for some of our churches.

Why this dearth of acceptable clergymen of American birth in these days, when they used to be so abundant in other times? There is no such scarcity of ability and eloquence in politics or the law as to compel us to import a supply from abroad; why should there be a scarcity of talent in the pulpit? We have plenty of theological schools for training clergymen of all denominations, and several thousands of young theologians who ought to be well equipped must be turned out from them every year. The professors in these institutions cannot be less competent than those in similar institutions abroad, and it cannot be admitted that the pupils are any way inferior to those who are preparing for the clerical profession in Great Britain. There is something incomprehensible in this business. The salaries paid to the leading lights are large, and the clergy enjoy many perquisites which highly increase their emoluments. Besides the financial inducements the men of the cloth enjoy a social standing, with opportunities of winning fame, such as are not easily secured in other vocations.

JOHN SWINTON.

The Drawback to the Place.

"I say, stranger," said a passenger, as the train stopped at a small Nebraska station, "is there any show in this town in the real estate line for a man who has got big money to invest?"

"Show," repeated the citizen; "he can double it every twenty-four hours."

"You don't say so! What's that awful noise down the street?"

"That's our new brass band."

"Well, I guess I won't get off."

Mixed Metaphors.

It was a New-England deacon who said: "We are thankful for one spark of grace, and are confident that it will be watered."

But it was a minister who one day announced to his congregation:

"You will be sorry to hear that the little church at Janesville is once more tossed upon the waves, a sheep without a shepherd."—Boston Youth's Companion.

To Keep off Intruders.

"There's sickness in this house!"

"There's deaduck in here!"—Oswego Times.

Cousins Ought To Marry, If They Can.

A correspondent wants to know "Ought cousins to marry?"

Scrofula

Is one of the most fatal scourges which afflict mankind. It is often inherited, but may be the result of improper vaccination, mercurial poison, uncleanliness, and various other causes. Chronic Sores, Ulcers, Abscesses, Cancerous Humors, and, in some cases, Emaciation and Consumption, result from a scrofulous condition of the blood. This disease can be cured by the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla.

I inherited a scrofulous condition of the blood, which caused a derangement of my whole system. After taking less than four bottles of Ayer's Sarsaparilla I am and, for the past year, have not found it necessary to use any medicine whatever. I am now in better health, and stronger, than ever before.—O. A. Willard, 218 Tremont st., Boston, Mass.

I was troubled with Scrofulous Sores for five years; but, after using a few bottles of Ayer's Sarsaparilla, the sores healed, and I have now good health.—Elizabeth Warnock, 54 Appleton street, Lowell, Mass.

Some months ago I was troubled with Scrofulous Sores on my leg. The limb was badly swollen and inflamed, and the sores discharged large quantities of offensive matter. Every remedy failed until I used Ayer's Sarsaparilla. By taking three bottles of this medicine the sores have been healed, and my health is restored. I am grateful for the good it has done me.—Mrs. Ann O'Brian, 158 Sullivan st., New York. ††

Public Notice

THE ATTENTION OF THE PUBLIC is hereby directed to the "Provincial Health (small-pox) By-Laws, 1888," issued by His Honour the Lieutenant-Governor in Council, under authority of the "Health Ordinance, 1869."

Having been appointed Provincial Health Officer for Districts lying south of Fraser River, I hereby give notice that the provisions of said By-Laws will be strictly enforced, and all persons are required to govern themselves accordingly.

R. I. BENTLEY, M. B.,
Provincial Health Officer.

New West., Oct. 6, 1888. doc6ml

[L.S.] HUGH NELSON.

BY-LAWS ISSUED BY HIS HONOUR THE LIEUTENANT-GOVERNOR IN COUNCIL,

UNDER THE AUTHORITY OF THE "HEALTH ORDINANCE, 1869."

HIS HONOUR THE LIEUTENANT-Governor of British Columbia, by and with the advice of the Executive Council of British Columbia, acting under and by virtue of the provisions of the "Health Ordinance, 1869," enacts as follows:—

1. Whenever small-pox is present in any locality without the boundaries of any Municipality, the Provincial Health Officer nearest to such locality shall at once cause the patient to be removed to an isolated hospital, tent or other suitable place, or cause such person to be otherwise sufficiently isolated, and shall see that he is properly cared for, and shall take proper measures for the disinfection, or, if necessary, the destruction of all clothing which may have been exposed to the contagion, and for the disinfection and purification of every conveyance, railcar, steamboat, railway, vessel, carriage, or other vehicle which may have been exposed to the contagion.

2. Such Health Officer shall have, in his discretion, full power to place in another building or tent all persons who may have been exposed to the contagion, and shall cause them to be supplied with all necessaries until the period of incubation of the disease shall have elapsed, and no such person shall go, or be permitted to go, abroad, until he or she has given satisfactory proof of successful vaccination within the preceding seven years, or shall have obtained a medical certificate of insusceptibility to the vaccine disease, nor until the clothing or effects worn or carried by or with him or her have been properly disinfected, if the same have been exposed to contagion.

3. To assist the Health Officer, he shall have full power to employ persons to be nurses, sanitary policemen, and othe wise to aid in the prevention of the spread of the disease, and may himself give and enforce such reasonable directions for the same purpose as to him may seem expedient, and the nearest Government Agent shall see that all articles and necessaries required by the Health Officer are furnished.

4. It shall be the duty of every medical practitioner who shall attend upon, or give medical or surgical advice, to or about any person suffering from smallpox, to give notice forthwith after he shall have commenced so to attend or give such advice, to the nearest Provincial Health Officer. When a householder knows that a person within the house occupied by him is taken sick of small-pox, he shall immediately give notice thereof to the nearest Provincial Health Officer.

5. The Provincial Health Officer before mentioned is and includes any person appointed Health Officer under the "Health Ordinance, 1869," by the Lieutenant-Governor in Council.

6. The foregoing provisions shall have no effect within the limits of any Municipality, save as hereinafter mentioned.

7. In case the Council of any Municipality, whenever small-pox is present, or likely to occur therein, shall fail to make or carry out proper provisions to prevent the invasion or spread of small-pox within the Municipality, and complaint thereof shall be made to the Lieutenant-Governor by the Council of any adjacent Municipality, it shall be lawful for the Lieutenant-Governor in Council, acting upon such complaint or in his discretion upon other information, to order that these regulations shall, until otherwise ordered, apply to and be in force within the Municipality in which such neglect occurs, and thereupon any Provincial Health Officer shall have, within and in respect of such Municipality all the authority with which he is clothed in respect of localities without Municipalities, and in such case all disbursements and expenses paid by the Province, in the carrying out within such Municipality of the foregoing regulations, shall be paid by such Municipality.

8. These regulations may be cited as the "Provincial Health (small-pox) By-Laws, 1888."

Dated at Victoria, this 3rd day of October, 1888.

By Command,

JNO. ROBSON,
Provincial Secretary.

Fresh Eastern and Native Oysters, served in every style, at the Club. *

Two nice rooms to rent in a private residence, furnished or not. Choice locality. Address P.O. Box 165 3t

Vancouver is pestered with sneak thieves and robbers, who, however, are reaping a very light harvest.

The str. Irving returned from Chilliwhack to-day with a number of passengers and 40 tons of farm produce.

The str. Rainbow cleared for Victoria at 7 o'clock this morning with 12 passengers and a full load of farm produce.

"Hands up" is the common salution on the streets these days. But every one who makes use of this phrase is not necessarily a highwayman.

The str. Dunsmuir arrived from Nanaimo at noon to-day with a full load of coal and a number of passengers. She made a remarkably quick trip.

At the police court this morning Charley Gicson, a half-breed, was sentenced to 10 days in gaol for stealing $5 from an Indian woman named Annie.

Mr. G. R. Studd preaches to morrow evening in the Presbyterian church. Mr. Winslow will preach in the Methodist church in the morning and in the Baptist church in the evening.

Hundreds of persons who have used Ayer's Hair Vigor attest its value, as a stimulant and tonic, for preventing and curing baldness, cleansing the scalp, and restoring the youthful color to faded and gray hair.

Ald. Thos. Ovens has removed his machine shop to the building lately erected for him on Douglas street. The new premises are much larger than the old and better adapted to Mr. Oven's constantly growing business.

It was reported round town to-day that John Gilmore, of Nicola, an old and highly respected pioneer of the province, has been poisoned. The truth of the rumor is doubted by many as it lacks confirmation.

The entertainment and sale of work in aid of the bell tower fund is going to be something superior to any attempt made heretofore for the same purpose. Some novelties will be introduced which will prove a great attraction.

Skin diseases cannot be successfully treated by external applications. The proper way to cure such complaints is to purify the blood with Ayer's Sarsaparilla. Under the vitalizing influences of this medicine all the functions of the body are brought into healthy action.

The str. Gladys left for up-river ports this morning with 20 tons of merchandise and a number of passengers. The fog on the river was very heavy at the time of her departure and her whistle could be heard sounding at intervals for a couple of hours afterwards.

The boxing match and athletic performance, to be given at Herring's opera house to-night by Prof. Foster, George Irving and others, is likely to prove a great attraction as there are but few people who do not take a lively interest in the manly art. The performance begins at 8 o'clock.

Something over 100 people gathered in the office of the Colonial last night to listen to the talented musicians, Messrs. Biatolfi, Polk and Ott, late of Spanish students. The music was superior in every way to anything heard before in Westminster and all present declared it to be a rare treat. Another musicale will be given to-night at the Colonial.

At the conclusion of the Phœnix trial at Victoria Thursday afternoon, the defendant addressed a most insulting remark to Provincial Police Officer Miller. As soon as the words passed his lips the officer grabbed Phœnix by the throat and threw him on the floor. He placed the man under arrest, and the officer was asked to apologize for arresting a man in open court. The apology was made and accepted by the magistrate.

PERSONAL.

Wm. Pybus, of Ladners, was in the city yesterday.

A. H. Black, of Vancouver, paid his friends in this city a visit to-day.

C. F. Green came up from Ladners last night and returned this morning.

Miss Black has returned from Vancouver, where she was the guest of Mrs. H. V. Edmonds for a few weeks.

H. Bell-Irving, engineer in charge of the V. S. & N. W. railway location party, went over to Vancouver this afternoon.

Messrs. Mitchell & Platt, druggists, London, Ont., write, Dec., 1881: "We have sole Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil since its first introduction, and we can safely say, no medicine on our shelves has had a larger sale, or gives better satisfaction. We always feel safe in recommending it to our customers.

"Donjohn Demijohn Upjohn St. John" is the name of a Western baby whose father wanted to please all parties and satisfy everybody.

Revival Services.

Mr. O. E. Winslow addressed the audience in the Methodist church last night, taking as his subject the anointing of Christ's feet with ointment in the house of Simon the Pharisee—Luke 7. At the close of the service the usual inquiry meeting was held in the basement, led by Mr. Studd, during which several rose for prayer. Union services are to be continued next week in the Methodist church. On Thursday evening a meeting for praise will be held.

Temperance Lecture.

Mr. Woodford spoke last evening in the Methodist church to a large audience who showed their appreciation by their wrapt attention. Mr. Woodford is an eloquent speaker and awakened many to the importance of embracing the gift of God to man, "opportunity," which is the main spring of life. The speaker is earnest, logical, humorous and pathetic. He will be greeted by a large audience this evening at 8 o'clock in the Methodist church. Admission free.—Vict. Times Nov. 8.

Victoria and Westminster Railway.

The location of the line of the Victoria, Saanich and Westminster Railway has been completed to this city. All the way from the mouth of the river a most favorable route has been laid out, and a very easy crossing has been chosen on the north arm of the Fraser. The engineers are now at work locating an alternative route and the one offering the most advantages will be chosen. Mr. H. Bell-Irving, engineer in charge, has been obliged to resign owing to pressing business matters elsewhere and a Mr. Perry has been appointed to his place.

The str. Maude.

Thomas Kennedy, second engineer of the str. Maude, arrived in this city last night on the str. Yosemite. He says the Maude ran on Irving's reef at 7 o'clock on Tuesday night. She immediately commenced to fill with water and was abandoned by the officers and crew. A boat was sent to Nanaimo and a telegram sent to the C.P.N.Co.'s office at Victoria. The steamer Yosemite towed a scow to the wreck yesterday morning. The Sardonyx is near the reef and it is expected that the Maude will float off after discharging the cargo of coal.—Times.

Stamped Out.

Mr. H. J. Thrift, of Halls Prairie, was in the city this morning and reports that the Walworth family are all well, the last of the small-pox patients having fully recovered. Next week a new house will be built and as soon as it is completed the old one with all its contents will be burned to the ground. Owing to the want of passable roads the lumber will be taken out on the spot. The walls of the house will be built of logs and the roof and floor out of split cedar boards. Dr. D. McLean and his assistance will return to Westminster on Friday next, when it is expected the quarantine will be raised.

The Dominion and British Columbia.

The federal authorities have asked for a postponement of the hearing of the appeal to the privy council now pending between the Dominion government and the British Columbia authorities as to the ownership of the minerals of that province, until after Christmas, in order that Attorney-General Webster, who has been retained by the federal authorities in London, may conclude his arguments in the Parnell-Times case. The British Columbia government have cabled to their London agents refusing to consent to such a postponement, on the ground that it would be extremely prejudicial to the public interests.

Press Notices.

"A Chip O' the Old Block" is the name of a characteristic play, mingling humor and emotion, that was given for the first time in New York last night. The pleasure derived from this representation soon made itself evident in the performance.—New York Sun.

The attraction at this theatre is a drawing one, judging from the large audience present last night. The play was "A Chip O' the Old Block," by Herbert Hall Winslow, with Robert L. Scott in the title role, and Harry Mills as Jack Lightfoot. They found great favor with the audience, which loudly applauded.—New York Herald.

Westminster Woolen Mills.

The Westminster woolen mills, the only manufactory of its kind in the province, has lately concluded arrangements whereby the entire make of blankets, for an unlimited period, has been purchased by a wholesale firm in Victoria. The blankets turned out by the mills are principally light and dark grays, although some brown and white have also been manufactured. The goods are of a superior quality, and could the mill turn out three times the quantity it does at present a ready market could be found. It is the intention of the directors to add one or two more blanket machines next year. In tweeds the mills are making Oxford greys, and these are in fair demand. On the whole the affairs of the company are in a very satisfactory condition, and the industry gives evidences of continued prosperity.

"Cariboo" Cameron Dead.

John A. Cameron, better known as "Cariboo Cameron," died at Barkerville yesterday morning. The sad news was received by telegraph this morning by A. B. C. Cameron. He left the city two months ago. He was an old pioneer of the province and arrived in this city in the year 1860. He was one of the first men to enter the gold fields of Cariboo and secured a large fortune in the mines. He then left for Eastern Canada and lost nearly the whole of his fortune in commercial speculation. He returned to B.C., intending to again try his fortune in the gold fields. Deceased was over 60 years of age and leaves a wife to mourn his loss. Cariboo Cameron was well known and respected from one end of Canada to the other and his relatives will receive the sympathy of the community in their loss.—Times.

A Gratifying Result.

So crowded are the Enderby flouring mills at present with orders that fully two months will be required to fill them. The quality of the flour turned out by these mills is of a superior order, so much so that although but a few months in operation the reputation created is a most enviable one. On the Mainland and the Island there is a brisk demand, which is increasing. Each order is a guarantee for future ones. This is a very gratifying condition in the affairs of the company who now own this splendid property. We understand that there are several thousand tons of wheat in the interior which will be ground into flour at Enderby, thus securing a home market for the farmers in that section of country. The establishment of such a mill is a great advantage to the Spallumcheen farmers, as well as to the people of the whole province.—World. The people of this city and district ought to go in for a flouring mill at this city.

Made Their Escape.

Yesterday afternoon about 2 o'clock, the four boys, Willie and Albert Davie, McBroom and Curran, were allowed out in the gaol yard to take a little exercise, as they have been kept in close confinement ever since their incarceration. They said they would prepare their daily Bible lesson immediately after returning to their cells. About ten minutes after being allowed out the gaoler, who had occasion to enter the yard, was surprised to find the boys had made their escape by digging a hole under the wall and crawling through. The escape of the youthful prisoners was immediately made known and search instituted. The boys were traced down the C. P. R. track, and the gaoler captured the younger Davie boy near the foundry, but the other three managed to get into the woods and elude capture for a short time. The other Davie boy and young McBroom were caught about dark by a gentleman on Westminster Avenue, near False Creek bridge. Curran, who is considered the ringleader of the gang, kept clear of all pursuit and made his way home, but his father ordered him to return to the gaol, which he did, arriving there about 7:30 o'clock. The whipping which the boys have received has evidently failed as regards the effect intended upon the youths, as immediately after making their escape they laid plans to reach New Westminster last night and to burglarize Mr. McColl's store after which they intended to take the steamer to Victoria. The scheme was given away by the younger Davie boy immediately after being captured. They will probably be arraigned in the police court this morning charged with attempting to escape.—News-Advertiser.

A Wedding Tour Spoiled.

Some weeks ago a fine young Hydah Indian, who has been working in the canneries all summer, met and fell desperately in love with an Indian maiden belonging to one of the most aristocratic Chinook families on the coast. Annie, the dusky beauty's name, reciprocated the affections so liberally bestowed upon her by Louis, and when he "popped the question" she gracefully accepted the kind offer. Annie's mother considered the match satisfactory and did all in her power to hasten the wedding day. Yesterday morning the loving couple were joined in marriage in due form according to the ancient ceremonies of the Chinooks. It was arranged that the happy pair should leave for Victoria on the str. Rainbow this morning and then take the str. Boscowitz for Queen Charlotte Islands, where Louis' ancestral halls are situated. As a wedding present Annie's mother gave her $5.00 to buy a bed, a luxury rarely possessed by a Hydah. This bounteous gift filled Louis' heart with joy and he repaired to the steamer to arrange for a passage to Victoria. Shortly after Louis' departure from the swamp, a half-breed, named Charley Gibson, came along and asked Annie to give him some money. She replied that $5.00 was the total sum of money in her possession and this she could not afford to part with. Gibson affected not to believe she could be possessed of so vast a sum, and called upon her to produce the money to make good her boast. The unsuspecting Annie took the $5 from her pocket, and, as she exposed it to view, Charley grabbed it and made off, followed by the yells and maledictions of the heart-broken bride. The police were notified of the occurrence and Constable Dominy was successful in capturing Gibson, who was immediately placed in the lockup. This morning the police magistrate inflicted the small sentence of "10 days in gaol" on this rascal, who, if he got his deserts, would be behind the bars for many months to come. The wedding tour has been indefinitey postponed as the unfortunate couple will not be able to get a steamer for Skidegate for a month or more.

Mrs. A. Nelson, Brantford, writes: "I was a sufferer from Chronic Dyspepsia for eleven years. Always after eating, an intense burning sensation in the stomach, at times very distressing, caued a drooping and languid feeling, which would last for several hours after eating. I was recommended by Dr. Popplewell, Chemist, of our city, to try Northrop & Lymon's Vegetable Discovery and Dyspeptic Cure, and I am thankful to say that I have not been better for years; that burning sensation and languid feeling has all gone, and food does not lie heavy on my stomach. Others of my family have used it with best results."
