NOTES AND COMMENTS.

An American exchange (republican) says: While Blaine considers trusts a local question with which Congress has nothing to do, Senator Sherman holds that every trust that tends to prevent competition in trade, or to prevent production in this country, is unlawful, and should be so declared by the statute laws in every state in the Union, and by the laws of the United States.

The Pioneer Press of St. Paul claims that high license has been beneficial in that state. Sunday selling has decreased, sales to minors and habitual drunkards are refused, saloons of low order have been closed out, and the number of saloons in the state have decreased from 2806 under the low license law to 1597 under the high license law, while the fees for licenses show a net gain of $250,000 in favor of high license.

An eastern exchange speaking of the rather flippant utterances of the young and lately appointed minister of marine and fisheries on the "retaliation" question, says: Young Mr. Tupper seems to have got down from the parental knee, and beyond the reach of the descending slipper too soon. It may yet prove to be particularly unfortunate that such a man should occupy the most important position of minister of marine and fisheries at the present moment.

An exchange furnishes the following "wrinkle" in varnish: Varnish made with alcohol will get dull and spongy by the evaporation of the alcohol, as all commercial alcohol contains water. It is therefore advisable to take a thin sheet of gelatine, cut it into strips, and put it into the varnish; it will absorb in the thin sheet most of the water, and the varnish can be used clear and bright till the last drop. The gelatine will get quite soft; it can then be taken out and dried, and used again.

Here is the refreshingly ingenuous way a sound paper talks: A New Westminster paper complains that agents of hop growers in this territory and Oregon were sent to the Fraser river to induce the Indians in the employ of the canneries to go across the line and work for them during the hop-picking season, and had the sublime effrontery to go right into the canneries and among the men where they were at work. Well, brethren, retaliation is the fashion; you are welcome to invade this territory and try the seductive wiles of Canadian currency upon Siwash hop-pickers. Who ever heard of a Puget sound Indian going north to accept tribute of the "King George" men?

Within a radius of sixty miles of Nashville, Tenn., there is said to be found a tree that is said to be the shittim wood of ark fame. Celebrated botanists from all over the country have examined the trees and agree that they grow nowhere else on the globe. They have decided that it is the shittim wood of which Noah's ark was constructed, mention of which is made several times in the Bible. The tree is medium sized, with very dark, smooth bark, and the wood is of a bright gold color. In early spring the trees are laden with long, white blossoms, closely resembling great ostrich plumes. There seems to be no doubt about the identity of the trees, and it is remarkable that they are found only in this small area and so few at that.

When doctors disagree who shall decide? A bit of enterprise on the part of the Boston Globe discloses a remarkable difference of opinion among the physicians of that city. A reporter, in perfect health, visited ten prominent Boston doctors and stated non-existent symptoms and requested a diagnosis. The man's appearance physically was perfect. But notwithstanding this, each doctor diagnosed the case in a different way, and each doctor gave the imaginary invalid a different prescription. The diagnoses and prescriptions together with the interview with each doctor and statement as to the reporter's elegant health, was published in the Globe. And now the cultured Bostonians are snickering (they don't laugh in Boston) at the doctors.

Messrs. Parker & Laird, of Hillsdale, writes: "Our Mr. Laird having occasion to visit Scotland, and knowing the excellent qualities of Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil, concluded to take some with him, and the result has been very astonishing. We may say that in several instances it has effected cures when ailments had been pronounced incurable by eminent practitioners."

PARIS, Sept. 12.—After the outbreak at Alsace yesterday, 1000 strikers, reinforced by 200 women, marched to Limoges. They threatened to destroy the works there on account of being unable to obtain employment. Several incipient riots occurred until the withdrawal of the troops. Socialists are fomenting trouble.

PROF. PROCTOR DEAD.

NEW YORK, Sept. 12.—Prof. Richard A. Proctor, the celebrated astronomer, died at Willard Parker Hospital, in this city, this evening from yellow fever. He arrived here from Oakland, Fla., where he had an observatory, on Monday and was immediately prostrated with the disease, which the best doctors unhesitatingly pronounced yellow fever. Other doctors doubted that the disease was really yellow fever, but their doubts were removed when the patient was seized with black vomit this evening and died from its effects. The Professor had engaged a passage for Europe, intending to sail on Saturday. His family are still at Oakland, Fla, where no yellow fever has been reported.

EDUCATION.

LONDON, Sept. 12.—Cardinal Manning has written a letter to Mr. Gladstone saying that he is a staunch defender of the voluntary schools and is against the secular education acts passed by Parliament in 1870. The venerable prelate says he intends to deal with the subject afresh and vigorously after the meeting of the Catholic bishops in October. In a recent article on the subject Mr. Gladstone seemed to admit that the acts of 1870 were dangerous and that the principle worked badly, imposing unfair burdens upon the people.

TO-DAY'S DESPATCHES.

DISSATISFIED WITH POWERDLY.

PITTSBURG, Sept. 13.—The republican knights of labor here are much dissatisfied with Powderly's course and have sent some questions to him. The first challenges his position on Litchman's course, the second with being in pay of the democratic party and doing no more good in his position than if he had resigned and took stump, and the third with making three political campaigns after he was elected mayor of Scranton, in opposition to the rules of the order. The other charges are that he postponed the session of the general assembly until after the election when he may accept Cleveland's offer of the commissionership of the department of labor, or, if Harrison is elected, to take his old place.

WHEAT MARKET.

LIVERPOOL, Sept. 13.—Wheat, no enquiry; 7s. 10d. @ 8s. 10d.

NEW YORK, Sept. 13.—Wheat, cash, 99, 101; Oct., 97⅝, 98⅛; Nov. 99⅝; Dec., 100⅜, 100⅞; May, 104⅞, 105⅛.

THE REPUBLICANS JUBILANT.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 13.—To say that the republicans are jubilant hardly expresses the situation. There is not one man of them in town who does not feel more confident than he did before. The manly letter of acceptance from General Harrison, coming as it did on the top of the Maine victory had acted as a clincher. The letter itself has met with an unusually warm reception on both sides at the capital. The democrats assert, while being unwilling to give much credit to a candidate of the opposition party, that it is practical and likely to do his party a great deal of good. There never was, in fact, more praise heard for any political utterances than was given for General Harrison's letter of acceptance in Washington to-day. It was the leading topic of conversation at the capital. Only a few democrats could muster hardihood enough to condemn the letter, and they who do so, did it purelp on political grounds. Senator Sherman was one of the foremost of republicans who were in universal praise of the document. He said that it was thoroughly American, wonderfully comprehensive, and that it rings like a bell.

A PITCHED BATTLE.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 13.—There was a pitched battle in Judge Maguire's court yesterday during the trial of the case Emily Frey against W. A. Frey, which is an action for her maintenance. S. T. Brown, plaintiff's brother, was incensed at certain questions asked Mrs. Fry by J. J. Dwyer, her husband's attorney, on the previous day, and caught him by the throat and pummeled him until they were separated by the court officials. Frey then rushed up and dealt his brother-in law a terrible blow in the face with his fist.

JUDGMENT SUSTAINED.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 13.—In the suit brought some time ago by the Vulcan powder company against a number of other companies to recover damages for the broken trust which had been entered into on terms which interested the companies when they agreed upon the price of dynamite within certain states and territories, the demurrer court, in sustaining judgment, held that trusts must be considered a restraint on trade and therefore against the public interests.

FATAL INJURIES.

NEW YORK, Sept. 13.—While a girder, seventy feet long and weighing six tons, was being put in place in the 47th regiment armory this morning it fell to the floor, carrying down two men: Peter McCord, who was bruised, and Thos. Wilson, whose skull was fractured; the latter also received fatal injuries.

INTEREST IN GOLDENSON'S EXECUTION.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 13.—The interest taken by the public in the execution of Goldenson, which will take place to-morrow, is unprecedented. Particulars will be reported by the newspapers, which will all issue extra editions on that account. A petition was filed this morning by his mother in the supreme court praying that a writ of mandate be issued to Sheriff McMann commanding him to produce Goldenson to have his sanity inquired into. The murderer has rallied considerably since yesterday and spends his time in singing original songs, such as "Alex going home." When told that the deputies were placing supports under the galleries he asked how many supports were to be placed. He was told there were seven on each side. He said, "Oh, there's my fatal fourteen again, I dreamt of it." He has asked the sheriff for a number of passes to distribute among his friends.

A BIG FIRE.

SYRACUSE, Sept. 13.—The Grand Opera house, together with the stock and fixtures of five firms, were burned early this morning. The block extends from East Genesee to East Pearl st. The loss is about $160,000, and only partly insured.

THE RETURNS.

LEWISTON, Me., Sept. 13.—The complete returns to the Journal gives Burleigh, republican, for governor, 79,603, and Putman, democratic, 61,108. The senate is wholly republican, and the house has 124 republicans and 28 democrats.

SEVERAL MEN INJURED.

MARSHFIELD, Wis., Sept. 13.—While a gang of 31 workmen, employed on the Wisconsin Central R. R., were going home on the hand cars last evening the handle of the forward one broke and one of the men was thrown under it. The following cars ran into it and 3 cars were derailed, while five men were badly injured.

COMMANDER-IN-CHIEF G. A. R.

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Sept. 13.—Wm. Warner, of Missouri, has been elected commander-in-chief of the grand army republic.

NO FEARS OF YELLOW FEVER.

NEW YORK, Sept. 13.—The body of Prof. R. A. Procter has been removed to an isolated dead house on North Brother Island. The health authorities have no fears of any further cases of the yellow jack and deny that there are any others known to exist in the city.

SEVERE STORM.

PITTSBURG, Sept. 13.—A severe hail and thunder storm last night did much damage in eastern Ohio and western Pennsylvania. At Baresville, Ohio, four persons were prostrated by lightning and one fatally injured. A boy named Merritt was killed and a young lady seriously injured at Johnstown, Pa. Hailstones five-eighths of an inch in length fell, breaking hundreds of windows and destroying green houses as well as stripping trees.

FLOODS.

VIENNA, Sept. 13.—The floods in Austria have done a great deal of damage to crops and property, while three-fourths of Trieste is under water.

FAVORABLE TO KNIGHTS OF LABOR.

NEW YORK, Sept. 13.—A cable dispatch from Rome to the Catholic News announces that the Papal decree on the knights of labor question is favorable to organization and has been forwarded to Cardinal Gibbons.

THE YELLOW FEVER.

JACKSONVILLE, Sept. 13.—There have been 52 new cases and six deaths during the past 24 hours, making a total of 800 cases since the fever was first discovered, 108 of which have died and 250 have recovered.

Daily British Columbian

Thursday Evening, Sept. 13, 1888.

Our American neighbors are determined to make the most out of the hitherto latent resources of the deep sea fisheries on the North Pacific coast, even if we, through the dilatoriness of the Dominion authorities, and other causes, are "getting left" on the whole deal. The fishing schooner Mollie Adams, which made such a satisfactory haul of halibut earlier in the season, has just returned to Seattle again, after a fishing tour of six weeks in the vicinity of Queen Charlotte Island, with 175,000 pounds of halibut, salted on board. The catch of halibut made by the Mollie Adams this season is remarkable, and the crew speak highly of the fishing outlook in the waters off Queen Charlotte Island and Alaska. The last catch includes about 5,000 halibut, the average weight of which is about 100 lbs. each before being cleaned. When dressed and boned each fish averages a net weight of 33⅓ lbs. The cargo, it is said, will be shipped to Gloucester, Mass., to be smoked. Captain Jacobs, owner of the Mollie Adams, is said to be negotiating for a new steamer, the Novelty, of about 370 tons, to engage in fishing along this coast. A gigantic company, with a capital stock of $2,000,000, is reported to be investigating the prospects of equipping a fleet of schooners for engaging in fishing along the waters of Puget Sound and the Pacific coast. This scheme, if carried out, will necessitate the immigration to Puget Sound of a large colony of eastern fishermen. In calling attention to a paragraph in a Tacoma paper the other day about the "oppression" of the C.P.R., with regard to Manitoba, we mentioned that the N.P.R. was not far behind in the "oppressing" business. This fact is being illustrated in a very unpleasant fashion for the interests of the American Pacific coast halibut fishermen. A Seattle exchange says the Northern Pacific railroad company has raised the freight rate on salt fish to $1.40 per 100 lbs. since the passage of the retaliation bill, being an increase of fifteen cents per hundredweight. This rate is almost prohibitive, and it is said that unless the N.P.R. agrees to more reasonable rates, the great bulk of the fish will be shipped over the Canadian Pacific Railway.

We understand that a few farmers in this district have in view the raising of hops for the market, and are preparing ground for this purpose. To such the latest advices from the hop fields of Washington Territory and other places will be of interest. The outlook for good fields and good prices for hops this year in the adjoining territory is said to be most encouraging. Pickers are going in in such numbers that little loss will be experienced from that source, and the yield will average a satisfactory one in every place in the hop raising district. Prices range at present from 17½ to 18 cents, with the almost certain prospect of going up to 25 cents before two weeks. Indians have been employed as pickers to a great extent in the hop fields of Washington Territory, but this year more whites have been employed, it is said, than at any previous season, in some cases entire white families taking possession of the fields. If comfortable lodging accommodations were generally provided by the growers, says a Tacoma paper, the time may come when Indian pickers might be largely dispensed with, and the money earned by them would go to support civilized people. A Black river hop grower advertises for 150 men, women and children to pick his crop. He guarantees good wages and shelter and good food at $2.50 per week. E. Meeker & Co., one of the largest hop growers of the Puyallup, will, it is said, send the bulk of their large crop to London, Eng., direct, as fast as cured and baled. One grower is credited with having made profits of from $12,000 to $20,000 on his last year's crop. Advices from the hop regions of New York state that the crop is light and of a very poor quality, not over half a crop it is estimated. There have been no contracts made at figures above 25 cents per pound. Growers do not seem disposed to sell, but are holding off for better prices. There is a good demand. In England the weather has not been favorable for the crop prospects, and in Germany the hop crop has suffered from blight, causing the market to advance 20 marks. The price of hops, as any one may observe, varies considerably in different seasons, from various causes. The figures being obtained this year are very satisfactory, on account principally of partial crop failures in some of the producing centres of the world. With all the fluctuations, a good profit is realized from hop-raising, and respectable fortunes have been made in the adjoining territory at this industry. It is unnecessary to inform our home readers that British Columbia, especially this district, is admirably adapted to hop-raising. There is no reason why many of our farmers should not go into this branch of industry extensively, and realize large profits.

It's an ill wind that blows no good. The retaliation message of the president, among other things, is testing the latent but ardent loyalty of the French Canadians. If doubts have been entertained by anyone on this score, they may now be summarily relegated to the ashbarrel with other useless truck, as abundant evidence is forthcoming that our brethren of the "lower province" will rally round the national flag with a rush and a cheer, in true French impulsive fashion, and fight shoulder to shoulder with their English-speaking brethren from every province of the Dominion, to repel an invader (should there ever be one) or to uphold the national dignity. An exchange says that a conservative meeting was held at Nicollet, Que., recently, and that Sir Adolphe Caron, minister of militia, was present and spoke on retaliation. His speech is said to have created a sensation. "A threat come to us," he said, "from a great and powerful people, but if that nation is proud of its flag, of its wealth, of its power, and its population of sixty million, I as a French-Canadian say that I am as proud of our five million inhabitants and of our flag, which is the emblem of liberty and justice. We are absolutely fearless and independent, and since President Cleveland's message has been published I have been proud to see that we have closed up our ranks without regard to party, ready to stand by our country in the hour of danger. I am ashamed of Mr. Laurier's speech at St. Thomas, in which he attacked the government for ill-treating the Americans. He was a coward when he said that, and showed himself willing to sacrifice the great cause of the nation; but, my countrymen, do not get excited over the threats of our neighbors. They are jealous and envious of our great progress and our transcontinental railroad. We are the fifth marine power in the world, and in the event of trouble the fishermen of the Gulf of St. Lawrence would in a moment of danger rush as one man to the defence of our rights. We do not want to fight with our neighbors or with any one else, but would we sacrifice our rights for the sake of peace? (Cries of 'No, no, never!') No, I knew you too well to think such a thing. I say to you, as long as you maintain your rights you will be respected, and the United States will not attempt to carry out its threats." Sir Adolphe was very much excited during his speech, and the Frenchmen waved their hats and cheered until they were hoarse over the patriotic sentiments he uttered. It is actually the impression in this part of Quebec, among ignorant French-Canadians, that Canada and the United States are on the brink of a bloody war, and that Sir Adolphe would need very little urging to call out the militia and drive all the Yankees into the gulf.

Mr. R. C. Winlow, Toronto, writes:—"Northrop & Lyman's Vegetable Discovery is a valuable medicine to all who are troubled with Indigestion. I tried a bottle of it after suffering for some ten years, and the results are certainly beyond my expectations. It assists digestion wonderfully. I digest my food with no apparent effort, and am now entirely free from that sensation, which every dyspep'c well knows, of unpleasant fullness after each meal.

Perfect Hair

Indicates a natural and healthy condition of the scalp, and of the glands through which nourishment is obtained. When, in consequence of age and disease, the hair becomes weak, thin, and gray, Ayer's Hair Vigor will strengthen it, restore its original color, promote its rapid and vigorous growth, and impart to it the lustre and freshness of youth.

I have used Ayer's Hair Vigor for a long time, and am convinced of its value. When I was 17 years of age my hair began to turn gray. I commenced using the Vigor, and was surprised at the good effects it produced. It not only restored the color to my hair, but so stimulated its growth, that I have now more hair than ever before.—J. W. Edwards, Coldwater, Miss.

Ayer's Hair Vigor,

Sold by all Druggists and Perfumers.

IF YOU ARE SUFFERING from debility and loss of appetite; if your stomach is out of order, or your mind confused; take Ayer's Sarsaparilla. This medicine will restore physical force and elasticity to the system, more surely and speedily than any tonic yet discovered.

For six months I suffered from liver and stomach troubles. My food did not nourish me, and I became weak and very much emaciated. I took six bottles of Ayer's Sarsaparilla, and was cured.—J. M. Palmer, Springfield, Mass. ††

HER CHANGE OF OPINION.

"It's such nonsense!" said Mrs. Carlton Ray, with a toss of her bright chestnut curls. "One would think you were a child, Addy, playing with your dolls!"

As Mrs. Carlton Ray and her daughter, Adela, sat on the cool piazza of the fashionable summer hotel, the casual observer could hardly have distinguished without a second glance which was mother and which daughter—both were so young and fair.

Mrs. Ray was a dimpled, rosy little widow, with eyes as blue as the midsummer sky, a complexion like a rose-leaf, and a mouth which smiled at you like that of a six-months' old baby; while Adela, tall and dark, with soft hazel eyes, and dark brown braids, had a gravity of manner far more natural in seeming than that of her mother.

"One can't sell one's heart, mamma!" pouted Adela, evidently taking umbrage at her mother's lecture.

"Oh, fiddlesticks!" said Mrs. Ray. "Don't talk about hearts, Addy; it's a mere physiological term."

"But, mamma, I love him!"

"There it is again!" sighed the dimpled widow. "Love! Why, Addy, I'm astonished at you!"

"Well, mamma, what am I to do?"

"Do? Why, look out for an eligible parti of course, with lots of cash and a house in Madison avenue, and a yacht, and all that sort of thing, if you must fall in love."

"It's very plain to see that you never were in love, mamma."

"No; nor anyone else, Addy. Depend upon it, it's all pretty phrases out of storybooks. Love means a nice establishment, with plenty of money, a cottage at Newport during the season, and a stylish wedding."

Adela shook her head.

"It's all very well to talk, mamma," she said with a little sigh like the stirring of a zephyr; "but for all that, I love Guy Hawkesworth."

"Guy Hawkesworth, indeed!" echoed the little widow scornfully. "Why, he hasn't a penny in the world!"

"But he is so intellectual, mamma!"

"Intellect won't keep the pot boiling, child, and Greek roots aren't half so good as turnips for everyday use."

"Mamma!"

"Addy, it's all nonsense! I won't hear another word."

"But he is coming here to-night, with his uncle, mamma, to call."

"Very well; then we'll take particular pains to be not at home."

Addy pouted, and even cried a little, but her mother was relentless.

"It is just the old days of your childhood over again, Addy," said Mrs. Carlton Ray, laughing, "when I used to take away the scissors to keep you from hurting your blessed little fingers. There's no use crying; you can't have the scissors, ma petite. I never did see such a goose in all my life as you are."

Consequently, Adela Ray was not a little surprised, a few days subsequently, as she entered the parlor, to see her mother chatting on the sofa with the identical Guy Hawkesworth and his uncle—the latter a tall, stylish-looking man of three or four and forty, with jet-black hair, and a skin bronzed by exposure to the suns and winds of a tropical climate.

"Mamma," she cried, when the guests had finally taken their leave, "how on earth came you to see them?"

"I couldn't help it," said Mrs. Carlton Ray, with a slight gesture of impatience. "That stupid Thompson showed them right into the room before I could get a chance to slip upstairs."

"How handsome Guy's uncle is!" cried Addy enthusiastically.

"Handsome!" echoed Mrs. Carlton Ray carelessly. "Do you call him handsome? He is altogether too dark for my fancy."

"I wonder if he is rich?" said Adela reflectively.

"Rich? No. Guy was telling me his history—such a romantic one—how he had lost all his fortune in the diamond tracts of Brazil."

"Then he won't do for me to bombard with my fascinations," laughed Addy.

"No, certainly not," said Mrs. Carlton Ray decisively.

"Well, mamma, you needn't speak so sharply," said Addy in a plaintive voice. "Of course, I was only in jest about it. Why, he is old enough to be my grandfather."

"Nonsense, Addy, he's only forty-three years old."

"Isn't that rather ancient?"

"Indeed, no—it's just the prime of life."

Addy looked at her mother in some surprise.

"Well, mamma," she laughed, "have it your own way."

"There is no way about it," said Mrs. Carlton Ray. "Do run upstairs and get my sunshade, Addy—it's just the pleasantest time of day for a walk."

And the pretty little widow was unwontedly silent and thoughtful for the rest of the bright midsummer day.

"Mamma," said Adela gleefully one morning, "I've got good news for you."

"What is it?" asked Mrs. Carlton Ray, glancing up eagerly from her book.

"Major Truefitt is to be here to-morrow—the rich widower that half the girls in town are raving about."

"What of it?"

"What of it, mamma? Isn't he as rich as Croesus?"

"Rich!" echoed Mrs. Carlton Ray, with a slight accent of annoyance in her voice. "It seems to me that this world of ours is getting more and more mercenary every day."

Adela stared; she was quite unused to the enunciation of this strain of sentiment from her mother's little cherry-red mouth.

"Mamma, what is the matter?"

"Don't be a goose, Addy; what should be the matter?"

And Mrs. Carlton Ray escaped out of the door before Adela could ask any more questions.

"At all events," thought Addy, "I'll sew the blue ribbon on my Indian muslin dress. Mamma used to talk a great deal about my making myself charming in the eyes of the rich Major Truefitt, when he came, and there's one thing quite certain—Guy Hawkesworth likes blue, so it won't be love's labor lost."

So Addy sat down singing to her work.

To transpose a well-known saying, Major Truefitt came and saw, but Adela Ray conquered.

The old major, within a month of his arrival at Seaside Point, fell desperately in love with the tall, dark-eyed lassie, whose jetty curls hung like the tendrils of a vine round her blue-veined temples, and laid his tough old heart, and his vast fortune, jointly and severally, at Addy's dainty slippered feet.

"I'll see what mamma says," said the beauty demurely, but withal herself she) determined to be true and constant to poor Guy Hawkesworth, who had not a penny of his own beyond the salary he earned as a contributor to half a dozen fashionable magazines and a score of newspapers.

So she stole into Mrs. Carlton Ray's room that night, just as the widow had extinguished her light, and the moonlight lay in lustrous golden squares on the carpet, outlining the frame of the window.

"Mamma, you are not undressed!"

"No," said Mrs. Carlton Ray; "I thought I would enjoy the lovely moonlight a little first."

"I am glad of that, mamma, for I had something to tell you to-night."

"Something to tell me?"

"Yes. Major Truefitt has proposed to me."

"But you have not accepted him?"

Adela's quick ear caught something quite unwonted in the tones of the widow's voice.

"Why should I not, mamma?" she asked with wily demureness. "He is rich."

"But you don't love him, Addy?"

"Does that make such a difference?" asked Adela, smiling in the shadows to herself.

"It makes all the difference in the world, Adela," said Mrs. Carlton Ray eagerly. "You must marry Guy Hawkesworth, darling. I want you to have a happy home, because——"

"Because why, mamma?" mercilessly persisted Adela, nestling up close to her mother's side.

"Because I am going to be married, Addy," whispered Mrs. Carlton Ray, thankful for the semi-darkness of the moonlighted room, which hid her blushes from her daughter's searching glances.

"You, mamma! And to whom?"

"To Mr. Rudolph Hawkesworth, Addy."

"What! Guy's uncle, who lost his fortune in the diamond-mines of Brazil? Why, mamma, he is as poor as poverty's self!"

"He is rich in a true heart and a noble nature, Adela," gravely responded her mother.

"And he's dark as a gipsy, and old enough to be my grandfather!"

"Adela!"

"Mamma, darling, don't be vexed with me," pleaded the girl. "Indeed—indeed, I'm not in earnest; but do you really love him?"

"I do really love him, Addy."

"Oh, mamma, after all you have said about hearts being only physiological ideas and true love a dream of ignorance!"

"Addy, don't reproach me; I never knew what love was until—until he asked me to be his wife."

"Then you are actually going to marry him, mamma?"

"Yes."

"Without a fortune?"

"Without anything but his own noble heart."

"And I may be Guy Hawkesworth's wife?"

"You must follow the dictates of your own heart, love."

"Mamma," whispered Addy, kneeling down beside her mother, and hiding her head in Mrs. Ray's bosom, "I am so happy!"

"So am I," answered the little widow, between laughing and crying.

And Major Truefitt's suit was urged in vain.

THE CONTAGION OF YAWNING.

Some Hints for Travelers Who Love Fun.

"Did you ever notice how contagious yawning is?" said a round-faced young man waiting for a train.

"You can make any man yawn if you go about it properly," continued the young man. "I have to travel a good deal and I amuse myself that way. Women yawn oftener than men, and fat men oftener than lean men. The best time to make them yawn is early in the morning and late at night. Then all they want is a hint and off they go.

"One night last week I sat next to an old gentleman. I made him yawn twenty-seven times in going three miles. Then I was tired, but the old fellow had got into the habit and I thought he would split his jaws he kept them so far apart."

The young man had hardly seated himself in the car before he turned around and stared straight at a workingman opposite, who, of course, looked at him. Then the young man leaned against the window, closed his eyes, opened his mouth very wide and began to yawn with great deliberation and an air of utter weariness.

The man in the blue overalls became interested and stared intently at the wide open mouth and the closed eyes. The young man put up his hand with an affectation of covering his mouth, and then, as if it was no use to try to check an overpowering impulse, he drew his hand away, threw his head still further back and uttered that sound peculiar to the hearty yawner—ho-ho-ho.

A moment later the man in the blue overalls gave evidence of a twitching of the jaws, a spasm shot across his cheeks and then his mouth opened and he yawned so wide that it appeared as though he were going to divide and the top of his head would go up into space.

The working man was now started and all the way up he kept yawning every few moments. Then the young man turned his attention to an old lady opposite with equal success.

THE TURKISH LAMPLIGHTER.

His Primitive Way of Performing a Useful Function.

This functionary is a tall and gaunt old Mussulman, with a fierce mustache, an embroidered scarlet jacket, and a huge "fustanelle."

He carries a ladder, a box of lucifer matches, and a huge green cotton umbrella. He plants his ladder against the wooden post, on the top of which a common tin lamp is massively fastened, and taking off the glass chimney opens his umbrella to keep off the wind.

The handle of the umbrella is tucked under his arm, and then balancing himself on the rickety ladder he proceeds to strike a light with his lucifers, carefully protecting the spluttering flame with both his hands.

Naturally this is a slow process, and by the time the dozen lamps are lighted everybody is safe at home, for the mites do not go out at night, but retire to rest at a very early hour.

MASTER AND SCHOLAR.

An Anecdote of John Lothrop Motley.

The Rev. Samuel J. May taught a small school in Nahant, Mass., for one summer, and among his pupils was John Lothrop Motley.

Forty years afterward master and scholar met in Rome.

"Mr. Motley," said Mr. May, "I think I am entitled to some share of your great reputation."

"Very well," said the historian, "you may have all you can justly claim; prove property and take it away."

"Why," said Mr. May, "have you forgotten that I taught you to read?"

"Did you?" rejoined Mr. Motley; "then you must have done it well, for I have known how ever since."—Youth's Companion.

"It Saved My Life"

Is a common expression, often heard from those who have realized, by personal use, the curative powers of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. ☞ I cannot say enough in praise of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, believing as I do, that, but for its use, I should long since have died from lung troubles.—E. Bragdon, Palestine, Tex.

About six months ago I had a severe Hemorrhage of the Lungs, brought on by a distressing Cough, which deprived me of sleep and rest. I had used various cough balsams and expectorants, without obtaining relief. A friend advised me to try

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral.

I did so, and am happy to say that it helped me at once. By continued use this medicine cured my cough, and, I am satisfied, saved my life.—Mrs. E. Coburn, 18 Second st., Lowell, Mass.

I have used Ayer's Cherry Pectoral for over a year, and sincerely believe I should have been in my grave, had it not been for this medicine. It has cured me of a dangerous affection of the lungs, for which I had almost despaired of ever finding a remedy.—D. A. McMullen, Windsor, Province of Ontario.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral saved my life. Two years ago I took a very severe Cold which settled on my lungs. I consulted physicians, and took the remedies they prescribed, but failed to obtain relief until I began using Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. Two bottles of this medicine completely restored my health.—Lizzie M. Allen, West Lancaster, Ohio. ††

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral,

Prepared by Dr. J. C. Ayer & Co., Lowell, Mass. Sold by all Druggists. Price $1; six bottles, $5.

HEAD OFFICE, TORONTO, CANADA

A HOME COMPANY.

This Association merits the confidence the Public is reposing in it from the following FACTS:—

The Security offered to policy holders is unsurpassed by any Company doing business in Canada.

It has no schemes of insurance, but the well-established lines, hence the policy holders cannot be misled as to their contracts.

Its statements to the public can be readily understood, its cash statement showing every item of income and how expended.

Its position is ascertained annually from a detailed valuation in which every item of liability is included.

Its progress has been unexampled in the history of insurance in Canada.

Its policies are indisputable after three years, and non-forfeitable after two years' existence.

Its profits are distributed upon an equitable basis. The profits to one class of policy holders are not lessened to give larger profits to any other class, which method affords superior advantages over the uniform bonus plan of distribution.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS THIS DAY.

Daily British Columbian

Thursday Evening, Sept. 13, 1888.

Excavating was commenced on the Hamley lot yesterday.

There was another clean sheet at the police court this morning.

The city council meets this evening for the transaction of business.

The boats came in with only 8 salmon as an average this morning.

The R. C. P. Mills sent east nine carloads of lumber this afternoon.

The latest Fall Shapes in Ladies' Straw and Felt Hats, at JAS. ELLARD & Co's. *

We observe that "British Columbia plums" are advertised in the Winnipeg papers.

The str. Gladys left this morning for up river with 23 passengers and several tons of freight.

The latest Fall Shades in Plushes, Silks, Dress Goods, &c., at JAS. ELLARD & Co.'s—London House. *

Thos. Sabin, of Eglington, says: "I have removed ten corns from my feet with Holloway's Corn Cure." Reader, go thou and do likewise.

Ackerman Bros. have sub-let the contract for the brick and stone work on the new Hamley building to Mr. A. Burns.

It is stated that diphtheria of a virulent type has made its appearance in Nanaimo and that several deaths have occurred.

Mother Graves' Worm Exterminator has no equal for destroying worms in children and adults. See that you get the genuine when purchasing.

In an item about the Richmond debentures published yesterday, instead of "one per cent. premium," the line should have read "one-eighth of one per cent."

This morning a party of gentlemen, nearly all of whom were members of the legal fraternity in this city, chartered the steamer Buzz and went for a day's outing to Pitt meadows.

Ayer's Ague Cure acts directly on the liver and biliary apparatus, and drives out the malarial poison which induces liver complaints and bilious disorders. Warranted to cure, or money refunded. Try it.

Dutch Bill, alias W. H. Vianen, is very angry at those persons who take his boats away without his permission. He has a gun, loaded with salt, ready for the next one he sees taking such liberties.

Ackerman Bros. have purchased the remaining building on the Hamley lot and will remove it down Columbia street to a lot owned by A. O. Lund & McNeely on Columbia street, which they have leased for a term of years for the purpose.

We know of no mode of treatment which offers, to sufferers from chronic diseases, a more certain hope of cure than that which is comprehended in the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla. For purifying and invigorating the blood, this preparation is unequalled.

We are requested to state that the adjournment of the inquest on the body of the deceased Artemus Thompson was owing to the absence of Dr. Fagan, surgeon of St. Mary's hospital, he being the principal witness to be brought forward at the investigation.

The str. Irving arrived down from Chilliwhack and way ports this afternoon bringing 30 passengers, 18 tons of ice, 104 bales of hay, 115 boxes apples, 31 boxes cheese, 15 boxes plums, 34 sacks pease, 31 sacks oats, 10 boxes butter and eggs and 13 pkgs. sundries.

Mrs. Celeste Coon, Syracuse, N. Y., writes: "For years I could not eat many kinds of food without producing a burning, excruciating pain in my stomach. I took Parmelee's Pills according to directions under the head of 'Dyspepsia or Indigestion.' One box entirely cured me. I can now eat anything I choose, without distressing me in the least." These Pills do not cause pain or griping, and should be used when a cathartic is required.

The addition to the public school building in this city is now completed and furnished with desks and seats at a cost of from $6 to $7 each. The seat is attached to the desk, and when not used can be folded together conveniently, taking up little room. They are very handsome and are certainly a great improvement on the old-fashioned benches. They were imported from a leading manufacturing company in Boston, Ontario.

Whatcom, W. T.

There will be a "special" sale of Whatcom property at very low figures, for a few days only. Plans and full particulars at our office.

The Dominion Illustrated of September 8th is to hand, and contains, besides entertaining reading on a variety of subjects, a choice lot of illustrations, artistic as well as comical. This beautifully printed weekly, the only high class illustrated paper in Canada, is published by G. E. Desbarats & Son, Montreal, Que., and forwarded to subscribers, post paid, at $4 per annum.

"Forbidden Fruit."

Mr. Thos. Cunningham entered our sanctum at an early hour yesterday morning with a basket on his arm which contained very choice samples of pears, plums and grapes. The contents of the basket, Mr. Cunningham informs us, were plucked from his garden on Pelham street in this city. We must admit that the glimpse we had of this luscious fruit fairly made our teeth water—yes, and our eyes too—for the basket and contents soon vanished from our sight, leaving us without the "proof of the pudding."

After Them Red-Hot!

Mr. Harris, J.P., of Port Hammond, reported to the warden of the penitentiary yesterday that he had seen two men, answering the description of the convicts Connolly and Adair, loitering around Port Hammond on that day. Consequently four officers were sent up by the train yesterday, but as yet nothing has been heard of their capture. The officers are of the opinion that the two men seen by Mr. Harris are the escaped convicts. It is to be hoped that no harm may come to the four officers should they chance to encounter the desperate and now probably hungry villains.

A New Foundry.

Messrs. Reid & Currie commenced work in their new foundry, to be run in connection with the Pacific carriage works, this morning, and have begun molding a set of machinery for which they have had the order for some time past. The foundry is situated in the rear of their carriage factory, and is 50 feet long, by 30 feet wide, being of sufficient dimensions for their business in this line for some time to come. Several pieces of new machinery have been put into the establishment, and Messrs. Reid & Currie will undoubtedly give satisfaction to all who entrust them with their orders.

Lumber for Australia.

The name of the first vessel of the two chartered by the Royal City Planing Mills to come to this city is the barque Nanaimo which was built in the black diamond city of that name some six years ago. It is probable that the steamer Belle will be despatched to tow her up the river when the vessel is ready, which will probably be some time this week. The Nanaimo, we are informed, was to have come some days ago but was necessarily detained in unloading her cargo on the sound. When loaded she will carry fully 800,000 feet of lumber and her destination will be Melbourne, Australia.

Old Cariboo.

Private advices from Cariboo state that the yield of gold in that district for this season promises to be greater than it has been in any of the past four years. The Forest-Rose Co.'s claim takes the lead, at present, on William's creek, but we failed to learn any particulars with respect to the "wash-ups." Joe Kennel, on the upper portion of the creek, cleaned up 60 oz. and expects to have as much more before the season closes. The Black Jack Co. are making about wages. Mosquitto Creek has, up to date, yielded about, 700 oz., and a few claims on the upper portion of Grouse creek are paying wages. On Snow Shoe creek what will be well known to many old timers as "The Live Yankee ground" is now owned by Mr. Anderson & Smith and is the "boss" claim, at the present time, in the once far famed districts of Cariboo.

A New Industry.

A gentleman, lately arrived in the province from eastern Canada, is about to commence the manufacture of pottery at, and in connection with, Manahan Bros.' brick yard. Having tested the clay which is taken from the yard, and having made several pieces of ware in a rough-handed manner, the gentleman, who is experienced in his business, is thoroughly satisfied that pottery ware of all kinds and of a very superior quality can be manufactured, and that when thoroughly started there is money in the business. He is now busy making patterns of pipes, pots and other articles with which to commence, and very shortly Westminster will add another industry to her increasing list brought about by natural resources. We might mention that already Manahan Bros. have been offered a sum of many thousands of dollars for their share of this manufactory, but have refused, on the grounds that if there is any money in potteries in the province, they are going to make it.

James Cullen, Pool's Island, N. F., writes: "I have been watching the progress of Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil since its introduction to this place, and with much pleasure state that my anticipations of its success have been fully realized, it having cured me of bronchitis and soreness of nose; while not a few of my 'rheumatic neighbors' (one old lady in particular) pronounce it to be the best article of its kind that has ever been brought before the public. Your medicine does not require any longer a sponsor, but if you wish me to act as such, I shall be only to happy to have my name connected with your prosperous child."

Interesting Letter from the Mines.

(From Our Regular Correspondent.)

ANDERSON LAKE, Aug. 28.—When I closed my last letter to THE COLUMBIAN I expected to go into camp for some time on the mountains between Cayoos Creek and Seaton Lake, but upon arriving at the foot of the lake I met with Mr. W. Manson, on his way to the head of Anderson Lake, where he has a contract for cutting saw logs for Marshall's mills, near Lillooet. Having heard of the stir amongst prospectors on Anderson Lake, and being strongly urged by Mr. Manson, I resolved to accompany him. So, after a very early breakfast, I took my seat in a very large Siwash canoe, Mr. Manson's being heavily loaded with goods for our camp.

The hull of the steamboat that plied on Seaton Lake is lying at the landing, a staunch memorial of olden times. The mountains on each side are very precipitous, and are composed of that ragged slaty material so common everywhere in B.C. Their varied forms are mirrored wonderfully in the water of the clear calm lake, making it pleasanter to study their reflection than to look up at the mountains themselves.

Lake Mission is situated on a small plateau on the right, about six miles below the head of the lake. I counted 20 well-built houses besides the church. I have observed that the Siwashes in all their villages attend devotional services every evening, and even in camp where a number may chance to be. On Sunday evening I have heard them at their prayers for an hour.

Landing at the portage, 20 miles from the starting point, I went up to the house of John Bull, the biggest, richest, and most consequential Indian here. He has a large comfortable house in a part of which are stored a great variety of the relics of the white man's enterprise, left when this so suddenly ceased to be the Cariboo route. In this store I observed stacks of what seemed to be straw mats. Upon examining them I found them to be masses of huckleberries and fine straws about 2 feet square and an inch thick. Coming out, I saw a number of stages about 4 feet high which were covered with berries laid out with fine straw or grass stems supported on narrow slats. Close by stood a great brass kettle of at least 20 gals. capacity, in which the fruit had been cooked. When sufficiently dry these mats are evidently cut and doubled to the required thickness for storing. Having obtained horses we packed over to

ANDERSON LAKE

In the old village, which is prettily situated, not a house is occupied. All are tabooed in consequence of many having died there of small-pox. There is nothing else to note of interest. One of the abutments of the wharf, and two of the bridges which crossed the creek or outlet of the lake, are all that remains to bear witness to the whiteman's reign. One would suppose that the brush-wood was sacred to the Siwash, so meekly does he allow it to take possession of the garden spots from which his pale brother had cleared it. We started early for Harrison, examining numerous quartz locations on the road. I did not fall in love with any of them. At Roding creek we stopped for dinner. This is a famous fishing place, but the trout wouldn't bite. Manson caught one with the gaff. As we were about starting a large porcupine came to call on us doubtless attracted by the odor of the fry. He came up to us as boldly as though he were an old acquaintance. He refused to run, and was soon dispatched and carried along for dog meat. On arriving at camp I observed a number of their skins lying around, and the man told me that they had been a great annoyance. Nothing will frighten them; they have to be killed. A few nights previous one came on to the bed of a man who was sleeping, and who narrowly escaped a thrashing with its tail, for no sooner had the man made a move in the direction of escape than the fretful animal began wreaking its fury on the blankets with such effect that it took half a day's picking to clear the bed of quills.

As to quartz, I have examined a great deal of it. The formation running N. E. from the head of Anderson Lake and Pemberton is favorable and the ledges well-defined, but only bearing galena in small quantities. There are now in the vicinity about a dozen ardent prospectors, all of long and varied experience, besides a number of Indian hunters, who have learned something about ores. One intelligent hunter, who has not been out yet, promises to bring me back something extra in specimens, but so far I have seen nothing valuable when the quantity and location of ore is considered.

Sunday, Sept 2nd we camped at the foot of the lake. Last night about sundown a large lynx came down to the ford of the outlet where some little children were playing. He was observed by two miners to be moving towards the children with cat-like eagerness. At this perilous moment I resorted to my stock of Chinook jargon and all were convinced that it had the effect of cutting the hungry beast out of a good supper, for he immediately beat a retreat at the sound of my bad Chinook!

The high promontory it might be called, between Seaton Lake and Cayoose creek, contains a great deal of quartz, including the Bonanza mine. I may have somethigg to say about it hereafter. Kla-how-ya. J.M.W.

The City Schools.

S. D. Pope, B.A., superintendent of education visited the public and high schools in this city to-day. The Rev. Donald Fraser, M.A., Rev. R. Jamieson, Rev. Thos. Scoular and Rev. McRae, were also present in some of the departments, when Mr. Pope in a felicitous manner put the pupils through exercises in different subjects. In all, there are about 280 pupils in attendance at present, and the superintendent expressed much satisfaction with the general discipline of the schools and the creditable manner in which the pupils answered the questions put to them. Mr. Pope takes great interest in his work and was evidently in his element when examining the children. In addressing the pupils of the high school he urged them to concentrate their minds on their work and counseled them to make the best use they possibly could of the advantages offered them in their young days. We can scarcely find, he said a man or woman in the province that do not regret having wasted some time in their youth. He said that New Westminster was to be congratulated on having so good a staff of teachers, and then remarked although that British Columbia was the youngest province in the Dominion she was doing more than any others to educate her children.

Personal.

Capt. Copp and Mrs. Copp, of New York, are registered at the Colonial.

W. A. Haustun and W. Mursell, of Montreal, and A. Muir, of Toronto, arrived in the city to-day.

Mr. W. H. Floetston who has been for several years in the large dry goods establishment of Carsley & Co., Montreal, arrived from the east yesterday and will remain in the city.

Mr. Moylan, inspector of penitentiaries, arrived down from Banff by the Pacific express this afternoon and will remain a couple of days in the city before returning to Ottawa.

Mr. M. Pottmeyer, principal of the Vancouver public school, and formerly principal of St. Louis college in this city, has, at the request of several parties at Vancouver decided to open night classes in that city for the purpose of giving instruction in foreign languages.

Late Canadian News.

TORONTO, Sept. 8.—Mrs. Fletcher, secretary of the volunteer monument committee, announces that Lady Stanly has kindly promised to aid the movement for the erection of a monument to the brave men who fell in the Northwest, and will give the scheme her patronage.

MONTREAL, Sept. 9.—On the Stock and Corn Exchanges the sole topic still is the condition of the Manitoba harvest. All sorts of stories of the damage done are current and everything receives attention. Duncan McIntyre, who returned this morning, confirms the report that damage was done in streaks, mostly on lines contiguous to Dakota. He was satisfied that if the crop was marketed early, it is possible that the farmers will realize 50 per cent more money than last year.

MONTREAL, Sept. 11.—The Stanstead county W. C. T. U. annual convention passed a resolution "That we emphatically condemn the action of Governor Royal in granting licenses in the Northwest, thereby bringing untold misery upon the people hitherto exempt from the evil of the liquor traffic.
