Daily British Columbian

Friday Evening, Sept. 21, 1888.

NOTES AND COMMENTS.

The Toronto exhibition has been opened with great eclat by the governor general. There was lots of enthusiasm, and the attendance on the opening day was unprecedented in point of numbers and general interest, which is being maintained throughout. Over a quarter of a million visitors are expected, and the exhibition will eclipse all its predecessors. The Ontario provincial exhibition at Kingston, was opened by Sir John Macdonald, in his well-known felicitous manner, on the same day—the 11th inst. This is also a splendid show.

A Canadian should never miss an opportunity of sturdily standing up for his country. THE BRITISH COLUMBIAN polishes off an American correspondent who has been belittling our Pacific province, and does so in a most refreshing style. It says: "The idea of British Columbia being 'tacked on to the domain of Uncle Sam,' when by its very location and other physical characteristics it forms one of the noblest provinces of a great, progressive and homogeneous Dominion, and is itself nearly equal in area to 'Uncle Sam's' three Pacific coast states—California, Oregon and Washington—combined!" These utterances have the right ring.—Toronto Empire.

Truth says that the bucket shop law is bearing better fruit than was anticipated. From what can be learned the particular form of gambling fever at which it aims has been well nigh if not altogether obliterated in Toronto, and in Montreal the same result to a very great extent seems likely to be secured. Several bucket shop keepers there have given notice that they mean to discontinue business. Our readers will remember that a few months ago, at the time of the Hanrahan bucket-shop raid in Toronto, the proprietors of such institutions were confident of being able successfully to evade the act passed at the last session of the Dominion parliament for the suppression of bucket shop gambling. This form of gambling drew largely upon the resources of persons of limited means—those who earned their living by honest labor mostly—and it must be a cause of satisfaction to right-thinking people that the "fleecers" have had to "wilt," contrary to their expectations.

"Courtesy pays," says the Canadian Grocer, of Toronto, and proceeds to relate how that the other day a gentleman entered one of the largest stores of that city in pursuit of an article the price of which he knew would scarcely exceed the cost of postage on an ounce letter. The fact of its insignificance, and that it was rarely called for, made it hard to find. One clerk after another was enlisted in the search, till finally they were joined by the proprietor before success crowned their efforts. Somewhat mortified at the amount of trouble he had caused, the customer began to apologize, when he was silenced by the proprietor, with, "My friend, it was no trouble; it was business. We have experienced full as much pleasure in finding that for you as you have in receiving it. If you insist upon calling this trouble, please remember that we like to be troubled." The merchant made an investment by his courtesy. He secured the patronage of a man, though he did not know it, who sometimes makes purchases that are worth the while. Without intending it, he cast some bread upon the waters.

The New York Times says: Whatever the authenticity of the letter ascribed by La France to Gen. Von Moltke, the opinion expressed in it is undoubtedly sound. The aged strategist is represented as saying that another war between Germany and France would be more doubtful than the one of 1870, because the forces would be much more nearly equal. At first this may appear a strange assertion, because the arms-bearing population and resources of France are now diminished by the loss of Alsace-Lorraine, while in addition it is well known that, in spite of the great emigration from Germany, her population has relatively increased more than that of France since 1870. But what Gen. Von Moltke looks at is the fact that France could now put in the field for the first shock of battle, and indeed for a whole campaign, about as many organized and drilled troops as Germany. On the contrary, in 1870, thanks to the fatal blindness of the Emperor Napoleon, France was outnumbered in all her great and decisive battles, and in some cases the odds were nearly or quite two to one. She has guarded against that source of military disaster now.

LAST NIGHT'S DESPATCHES.

MILITARY RIOTS.

DUBLIN, Sept. 20.—Last Sunday an emeute occurred in the commissary and transport corps stationed at Portobello Barracks, in this city, the details of which have just been made public. The men, irritated at the harshness of their officers, rushed to the quarters of Major Whitely after drill and nearly wrecked that officer's house. They smashed the furniture and burned a portrait of the major in a bonfire. The rioters then marched in a body to the guard house and gave themselves up. They were put under arrest and the leaders will be tried by court-martial.

A second riot has occurred in Dublin Barracks. A number of men belonging to the Black Watch regiment quarreled over politics with some Dragoons. A fight ensued in which 30 men were injured. The troops were called out and the fighters dispersed at the point of the bayonet. The Black Watch regiment has been ordered to Belfast.

CHAMBERLAIN AT BRADFORD.

LONDON, Sept. 20.—In his address to the radical unionists at Bradford yesterday, Mr. Chamberlain said he positively approved of the course of the government and he was partly responsible for it. He would support that policy while Mr. Gladstone's policy was the only alternative. The alliance between the conservatives and the dissident liberals was firm and a thorough entente prevailed. He warned the conservatives against a policy of reaction. He believed that the alliance would result in the formation of a national party. During his political career Mr. Chamberlain was never more bitter nor expressed himself more freely than in his recent utterances at Bradford before the radical union conference. It is evident he has abandoned the prospect of rejoining the former associates and is inclined to let no false conceptions of his intentions stand in the way of an alliance with the tories. His jeers at the hopes of the liberals of a split between the tories and unionists savored almost of coarseness and he spared no words to make them plain. His assurances of his adherence to the government and his approval of their course in everything, including the Irish evictions, were delivered slowly and emphatically. Nevertheless, there is a feeling that Mr. Chamberlain protests over much. His course, however, will undeniably strengthen the government abroad and will free Lord Salisbury's hands.

TO-DAY'S DESPATCHES.

A MILLIONAIRE FAILS.

HALIFAX, Sept. 21.—E. A. Hatfield, of Yarmouth, regarded for years as worth ten millions, has failed. He was formerly heavily interested in shipping in the West India trade.

FAILURE.

MONTREAL, Sept. 21.—Smith Fischel & Co., cigar manufacturers, have made an assignment at the demand of the Union bank. Liabilities, about $95,000.

NO EPIDEMIC.

GAINESVILLE, Fla., Sept. 21.—There have been only six cases of yellow fever and one death up to date, and from present appearances there will be no epidemic.

FOUGHT FOR A WIFE.

FORT SMITH, Ark., Sept. 21.—Two Indians quarreled yesterday in the Cherokee nation over the possession of a mulatto girl. After a short fight both fell mortally wounded. The girl who had stood by watching approached one of the Indians and stooped over him, which so angered the other that he managed to raise his pistol and fire at her, the ball striking her in the breast. She died an hour afterwards.

THE CHINESE BILL.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 21.—Representative Kilgore, acting chairman of the house committee on enrolled bills, called upon the president this morning and delivered to him the Chinese exclusion bill.

NO FIGHTING REPORTED.

PARIS, Sept. 21.—Admiral Krantz, minister of marine, received a telegram from Tahiti yesterday, but no mention is made of any fighting in the Marquesas group. In official circles, therefore, no credit is given to the report received from San Francisco that two hundred French marines and a thousand natives were killed.

FRISCO NOTES.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 12.—The trial of Mrs. Bertha Stanley, the confidence queen, was again continued this morning until Oct. 3rd.

Mrs. A. Reed of this city, formerly a resident of Florida, to-day offered her services as nurse to the yellow fever sufferers at Jacksonville.

FATAL SALOON FIGHT.

CHEYENNE, Wyo., Sept. 21.—Two men en route to Washington Territory, overland, stopped at Rock Springs yesterday afternoon to purchase supplies. They became intoxicated and engaged in a saloon brawl with some coal miners. One of the strangers drew a revolver and emptied it into the crowd. Dick Davis was instantly killed and Phil Shaffer and Dan Harrison wounded. After the shooting the strangers jumped into their wagon and drove rapidly out of town. Two officers, who followed on foot, were fired upon by the emigrants. In the exchange of shots one stranger was wounded and both horses killed. The miners tried to take the prisoners from the officers when they were en route to jail. There is every probability that the men will be lynched.

STANLEY'S RESCUER DEAD.

BRUSSELS, Sept. 21.—Advices from Stanley Falls state that Prof. Jamison, who was engaged in organizing the expedition for the relief of Henry M. Stanley, died of an African fever at Bangalas, on the Congo, August 17th. The organization of another relief expedition is now regarded as hopeless.

THE INJUNCTION REMAINS.

ST. JOHN, N.B., Sept. 21.—Judge Tuck has refused to dissolve the injunction obtained by the Western Union Co., on Aug. 1st, restraining the Canadian Pacific Railroad Telegraph Co. from building a telegraph line on the right of way of the New Brunswick railway, between Vanceboro and St. John.

PANAMA NEWS.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 21.—The str. Acapulco, from Panama this morning, brings the following advices:

The Guatemalean government is taking steps to induce emigration of foreigners to Guatemala.

Salvador has exchanged a treaty of friendship, commerce and navigation with Germany.

Twenty-two Guatemaleans, while surveying the boundary line between two departments recently, were fired upon by a party of Indians in ambush and killed.

PASSENGER LIST.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 21.—Passengers per str. Umatilla for Victoria: J McDonald Cameron, Marquis of Queensberry, E Goujon, J Jessop, F F Gilmore, H B Reed, F C Cunk, J D Sproule, Mrs J B Williams, Mrs E S Field, W D Deihle, Miss B Kerr.

JOHN L. BETTER.

BOSTON, Sept. 21.—John L. Sullivan passed a comfortable night and this forenoon was reported stronger. His stomach is able to retain medicine and nutriment. His condition is generally better.

DE MORES A RAILROADER.

BISMARCK, Dakota, Sept. 21.—The Marquis de Mores has turned his attention from cattle to railroads and has in contemplation an extensive plan of railroad building in China. Over twenty citizens in this vicinity think seriously of joining his enterprise and going to China.

WARREN, THE ACTOR, DEAD.

BOSTON, Sept. 21.—William Warren, the actor, died this morning.

WILLIAM HAS A WILL.

BERLIN, Sept. 21.—The Emperor William has confirmed the election of Professor Harnack to the chair of church history in the Berlin university, despite the protests of the senior evangelical council which disapproved of his religious views. This is regarded as a heavy blow to the church party.

BANK ROBBER CAPTURED.

NEW YORK, Sept. 21.—O'Connor, who robbed the Fifth National bank of $2,000 and the Commercial National bank of $8,700 yesterday, and was captured, was arraigned in the Toombs court to-day and pleaded not guilty. He was committed for trial without bail. The fact has been developed that he is the same man who escaped from court two months ago, when up for some other offense. He acknowledges the fact. He has served three terms in prison for sneak thieving.

Police Court.

Before P. McTiernan and W. D. Ferris, J.Js.

Billy, a Chinaman, charged with supplying an intoxicant to Indians, pleaded not guilty. The Indian constable who arrested Billy was unable to capture the Siwash who got the liquor and he cannot be found. The case was remanded till to-morrow.

Billy, charged with being a loose, idle fellow with no visible means of support, was sentenced to 6 months in gaol with hard labor.

Ah Sam, a Chinaman charged with having supplied opium to an Indian named Jack was further remanded until Monday.

Tong, charged with stealing solder from Ewen's cannery was further remanded till Tuesday.

For Lumbering Operations.

Application for incorporation is made by the Ross-McLaren Lumber Company, with a capital of half a million dollars, for the purpose of manufacturing, shipping and dealing in lumber. The applicants are Hon. James Ross, Quebec; James McLaren, Buckingham; Leonard Greenham Little, Montreal; William Henry Higgins, New Westminster, and Charles David Rand, of Vancouver. The latter gentleman, who has been here promoting this enterprise, says that the chief point of operations will be at New Westminster, and that it is proposed to ship to the Australian, Japanese and South American markets. In conversation with the Empire correspondent Mr. Rand stated that the threatened American retaliation would in no way interfere with their proposed operations, as the other markets which were now available were much more advantageous and satisfactory.—Toronto Empire.

Children Cry for Pitcher's Castoria

Daily British Columbian

Friday Evening, Sept. 21, 1888.

Here is the rather facetious and ingenious way in which the Troy Times endeavors to hammer a somewhat homely truth into its readers, for their own good, of course: "The man who does not believe in advertising is doing just what he pretends to despise. He hangs coats outside his door, or puts dry-goods in his windows—that's advertising. He labels his goods or manufactures—that's advertising. If he has lost a cow he puts a written notice in the postoffice or tells his sister-in-law—and that's advertising too. He has his name put in gilt letters over his door—and that is also advertising. He paints his shop green, or red, or, if a doctor, he has his boy call him out of church in haste; if an auctioneer, he bellows to attract the attention of passers-by; if a heavy merchant, he keeps a huge pile of boxes on his sidewalk, in front of his store, and all for advertising. A man can't do business without advertising, and the question is whether to call to his aid the engine that moves the world—the printing press—with its thousands of messengers working night and day; or, rejecting these, to go back to the time when newspapers, telegraphs and railways were unknown. But advertising costs money! So does everything else that is worth having."

Since the woollen mill was established in this city, sheep-raising is gradually gaining ground among the farmers of the lower Fraser. The price of wool, as will be seen in the market report in this paper, is from 6 to 10 cents per lb., and we are told that the woollen mill here furnishes a market for all the wool that the farmers have for sale. Heretofore most of the wool produced in the province has been raised up country, east of the mountains; but, with two sources of sure profit, it is not a matter for wonder that the farmers of this district should regard with favor the raising of sheep as a branch of their farming operations, nor that it should steadily gain ground. Many parts of the district are well adapted for sheep raising, that are not so suitable for other things. These could be utilized for sheep runs almost exclusively; but there is probably not a farmer who could not profitably add sheep raising, on some scale or other, to his usual branches of farming. Mr. Henderson, of Chilliwhack, informs us that in the Chilliwhack valley there is a large tract of country, principally foothills, that is specially adapted for sheep runs, and when it is opened up, which will be soon, sheep raising will be entered into extensively. British Columbia is constantly demonstrating that its outlook as an "agricultural country" is not nearly so forlorn as some wiseacres and interested villifiers would have the world believe.

The Vancouver city council, at their regular meeting on Monday evening last, passed a by-law providing for the establishment of a market, and the purchase of a site upon which to place the necessary buildings for that purpose, and the electors will vote upon the by-law on October 19th. The by-law provides for the issue of debentures to the extent of $15,000, payable in 40 years with 5 per cent per annum interest. So it seems that the "empire city" is actually going to have a public market before the "royal city," which had mooted this important question long before the former town was born. This will never do, however. We must look alive, and see to it that all our natural advantages are not suffered to go by the board by reason of our failure to supplement them with ordinary and necessary conveniences. Westminster is the natural centre for the unrivalled farming districts of the entire lower Fraser valley. Accessible by water to most of these, by rail and wagon roads—existing and prospective—all that is required to enable us to secure and hold the bulk of the valuable trade involved is a proper market in a convenient place in the city, and a general disposition—such as it is to be feared we have not always shown in the past—to cultivate the good-will of the farmers by all reasonable means. We have mentioned the Fraser river incidentally as one of our means of communication with the farming districts. But it is this same noble channel which places us "head and shoulders" above any possible rival in competing for the local trade of this district (provided, of course, that we do not depend altogether upon our natural advantages and ignore the commonest requirements of commerce). Just yesterday, in conversation with a live and go-ahead farmer from the thriving agricultural settlement of Port Hammond (which, by the way, is a C. P. R. station) and nearer Vancouver by rail than Westminster by water, in point of time), we were informed that the farmers much preferred bringing their produce to this city by water, to shipping it by rail to Vancouver. The former plan was the cheapest and more convenient every way. This is only what would be expected when the well-known superiority of a water route over a rail route, for commerce, both local and foreign, is considered. The remarks about the trade of Port Hammond and vicinity apply to all the splendid settlements on both sides of the river to the head of steamboat navigation. We have, it is true, allowed the trade of the delta districts to be alienated in part, a great deal of it going to Victoria, and now Vancouver is preparing to secure her share. Although we must necessarily divide up this portion of the trade of the district with Vancouver at least, we should take steps to retain our own full share. With the completion of the Southern Railway, and more particularly, perhaps, the running of the traffic ferry in connection therewith, and the ultimate completion of the railway and traffic bridge across the river at this city, a great impetus will be given to our trade with the fine settlements lying to the south and between this city and the boundary line. To secure our full share of the North Arm trade we must seek and obtain better road communication between that settlement and this city, and otherwise encourage the trade of that prosperous community to gravitate towards this centre. It will readily be seen by the foregoing that, notwithstanding our somewhat slothful past, we still have, to a great extent, by reason of the natural advantages of our position, our destiny, in the matter of being the trade centre for Westminster district, pretty much in our own hands. But we have no time to lose. Artificial channels are being hewed out by energetic and far-seeing rivals, and into these our trade will disappear if we stand lazily by and make no effort to retain and nourish our own. A public market we must have, and that soon. It will not cost Westminster anything like $15,000 to establish a market; we have a site, and do not need to purchase land for the purpose, like Vancouver. All that is required is to erect the necessary buildings. The market, once erected, will be partially self-sustaining in a direct sense, and, taking into account its indirect and general benefits, will pay for itself many times over within a year or two. If the present council, now that their term of office is drawing within a few months of its close, cannot see their way clear to take any action in this important matter, our citizens must have it in contemplation and insist upon the new council making provision for a good city market early in the coming year. In the meantime we hope the present council may not go to sleep upon other important questions.

I have been instructed by the Chief Commissioner of Lands and Works to sell by Auction

AT VANCOUVER, B. C.

Several parcels of fine agricultural lands, situate on or near the North Arm of Fraser River, being sub-divisions of Lots 325, 326, 329, 330, 331, 332 to 339, 149, 150, 156, 175, 166, 155. The subdivisions of these Lots contain from 27 to 172 acres each; the location of these lots is shown on the present maps of the District.

The farms in the immediate vicinity of these Lots are considered the finest agricultural properties in British Columbia. Some of the lots front on the North Arm, and others are in the immediate vicinity of the same.

Steamers run daily from New Westminster and Vancouver, past these valuable properties.

ALSO,

Lots 623 to 670, and Lots 750 to 756.

All situate between the North Arm of Fraser River and Vancouver City. The North Arm Road from Vancouver runs through these Lots, and there are other roads laid out that will give access to each of them. This property commences about 2½ miles south of Vancouver City and is bounded on the west by the C. P. Railway Land Grant, and is surveyed into lots containing from 6 to 56 acres each, maps of which will shortly be ready for distribution.

All the lands to be sold are well adapted for agricultural, dairy or orchard purposes, and on account of their close proximity to the markets of Vancouver and New Westminster cities, will be desirable properties for families seeking a home or for investment.

The C. P. Railway are now constructing a fine wagon road from Vancouver to the North Arm of Fraser River and Lulu Island. They are also surveying a line of railway through these properties with a view of connecting with the United States system of railways at Seattle.

These lands may fairly be considered as the most valuable ever offered for sale by auction in British Columbia.

GEORGE BYRNES,
se19td AUCTIONEER.

A Creaking Hinge

Is dry and turns hard, until oil is applied, after which it moves easily. When the joints, or hinges, of the body are stiffened and inflamed by Rheumatism, they cannot be moved without causing the most excruciating pains. Ayer's Sarsaparilla, by its action on the blood, relieves this condition, and restores the joints to good working order.

Ayer's Sarsaparilla has effected, in our city, many most remarkable cures, in cases which baffled the efforts of the most experienced physicians. Were it necessary, I could give the names of many individuals who have been cured by taking this medicine. In my case it has worked wonders, relieving me of after being troubled with it for years. In this, and all other diseases arising from impure blood, there is no remedy with which I am acquainted, that affords such relief as Ayer's Sarsaparilla.—R. H. Lawrence, M. D., Baltimore, Md.

Ayer's Sarsaparilla cured me of Gout and Rheumatism, when nothing else would. It has eradicated every trace of disease from my system.—R. H. Short, Manager Hotel Belmont, Lowell, Mass.

I was, during many months, a sufferer from chronic Rheumatism. The disease afflicted me grievously, in spite of all the remedies I could find, until I commenced using Ayer's Sarsaparilla. I took several bottles of this preparation, and was speedily restored to health.—J. Fream, Independence, Va. ††

Ayer's Sarsaparilla,

Intending investors are invited to call immediately, before prices are advanced. The advertisers offer their services as agents for the PURCHASERS of property, and as such will give the fullest information and advice to their best ability, to strangers and others, respecting any proposed investment in land, whether in their own hands for sale, or otherwise.

ICE CREAM.

Facts and Fancies Regarding This Delicious Refreshment.

Indians will eat ice cream if they have it until they can't walk. Dolly Madison asked a chief of a delegation, who was dining with her and the President at the White House, and who seemed to favor that dish, if he wouldn't like some more. His reply was characteristic, if not strictly polite:

"Me pretty blank full now. But me stand up and try."

A noted physician received a nice compliment from a little 4-year-old patient. "You are a splendid doctor," she lisped. "The best doctor I ever heard of," continued the little invalid.

"And why do you speak so nicely of me, my little darling?" eagerly asked the flattered physician.

"Oh, because you ordered ice cream for me," was the ingenuous reply.

"Begorra, sir, you have no equal as a doctor in the broad land," said a grateful Irishman when the physician prescribed whiskey.

Ice cream affords many a text for squibs to the humorist, and hardly a day passes that one of them doesn't appear. It isn't known who first discovered that the oyster was edible or who ventured to drink the first cup of coffee or who invented ice cream. But they are worthies, and here's to them.

There's a half million invested in the ice cream business and it's a growing trade. Just think of it; one can send a postal card for a pint of ice cream to be left at his residence at a certain hour and it will be delivered. This is an accommodation and leads to frequent orders and large ones. It is estimated that 1,000,000 quarts are eaten in New York on a sultry Sunday.

It was Sydney Smith who thought of doffing his flesh and sitting in his bones when the thermometer was ninety degrees in the shade. But think of wading with a linen bathing suit a few minutes into a pyramid of 1,000,000 quarts of vanilla ice cream and being obliged to eat your way out!

ONE SMALL BOY.

His Performances Are Ahead of the Record.

The small boy is proverbially lively and capable of making trouble for himself and others, but the reports which come from Wayland, Ia., regarding one specimen of this class go a little ahead of the performances of any other boy, at least on this coast, who has been heard of to date.

This youth started out one morning recently, in search of crabs, and wading about barefoot, stepped with his bare foot on a broken bottle, half buried in the sand, and had four toes nearly severed from his foot.

The wound was dressed, and the little fellow went to play at one end of the wharf, and by some means managed to fall into the water. He was rescued, and, clad in dry garments, he decided to sit quietly on the wharf and gently cast a line for fish.

Soon he felt a bite, and pulling in his prey found he had secured a catfish. Grasping the creature to remove it from the hook, he was soon rushing screaming up the wharf, having been pierced in the hand by the barbed fin of the cat.

Once more his father hurried to the rescue, and by bribing the boy with a dime, got him to stand still while the fin was pulled from his hand. The boy put the coin in his mouth while he braced himself to endure the pain of the operation. His father pulled, out came the fin, and the boy, dancing and yelling with pain, swallowed the dime he held in his mouth.

At this point the historian drew a veil over the scene. Evidently there is but one method of bedaubing up a boy like that. He should be put in a hogshead and led through the bunghole until he is old enough to keep out of mischief.—San Francisco Call.

ELUSIVE GEMS.

The Strange Manner in Which Dropped Diamonds Disappear.

Every trade has peculiarities about it that are inexplicable. A noticeable instance of this is the strange manner in which diamonds and other precious stones disappear when accidentally dropped by a dealer while handling them.

"It really seems," said a jeweler to a reporter, "that these valuable stones have the power of motion. A diamond dropped at one end of a room has been found in the dust at the further end of the apartment.

"On another occasion I saw a stone that was dropped to the floor from a loose setting, and after hours of fruitless search, this same stone was found in the show window six feet from where it fell.

"A friend of mine and a customer of his spent two hours in looking for a diamond that flew from the tweezers in which it was held for inspection, and when they had given up the search in despair it was found nestling coolly in the thick, black beard of the customer.

"Other precious stones seem to have the same faculty for disappearing. A short time ago I was handling a fine ruby to slip from my hand. I heard it on the floor where it fell, and in every part of the office, was thoroughly searched, but the stone was never recovered."

Not These Eminent Persons.

The two men had occupied the same seat in a railway coach for half a day and the train had reached its destination.

"I am indebted to you, sir, for an agreeable companion that has relieved greatly the monotony of a long journey. May I ask your name?"

"Certainly. My name is Sullivan."

(Joyfully.) "Not Mr. Sullivan of Boston!"

"Yes; I reside in Boston."

"What! Not——"

(Haughtily.) "No, sir! I am a college professor."

"Beg pardon. Let me introduce myself. My name is Crowley."

(Suddenly.) "Not Mr. Crowley of New York!"

"Yes; New York is my home."

"What! Not——"

(Hotly.) "No, sir! I am president of a bank, sir."

(Coldly.) "Good day, sir!"

(Frigidly.) "Good day!"—Chicago Tribune.

The Fate of Chicago.

"Bill" Mason, of Chicago, tells of a drunken fellow who dropped asleep in a graveyard into which he had wandered over night.

He was suddenly roused from sleep by the sound of an early fish horn which he mistook for the archangel's trumpet on the resurrection morn. Rubbing his eyes, he exclaimed:

"What! no'r a one rising here but me! It speaks hard for Chicago."

WEATHER WISDOM.

Feathered Forestellers of Storms.

The saw-like note of the great titmouse is said to foretell rain; that of the bluetit, cold.

Various proverbs would seem to indicate that the cry of the owl, if heard in bad weather, foretells a change.

Herons, says an old author, flying up and down in the evening as if doubtful where to rest, "presage some evil approaching weather"—a legend as old as Virgil.

In Germany dwellers in the country lack faith in the skylark as announcing fine weather, but when the lark and the cuckoo sing together they know summer has come.

In Hampshire swans are believed to be hatched in thunderstorms, and it is said that those on the Thames have an instinctive prescience of floods. Before heavy rains they raise their nests.

In the south of France so much store is set by the wisdom of the magpie, that if it builds its nest on the summit of a tree the country folk expect a season of calm, but if lower down winds and tempests are sure to follow.

The abhorrence in which mariners hold the swallow-like storm petrel is well known. Its appearance is believed to denote cold weather. This little bird is the Mother Carey's chicken of sailors, and is also called storm finch and water witch.

Concerning gulls in general children who live by the sea say: "Seagull, seagull, sit on the sand; it's never good weather while you're on the land;" and fisher folk know that when the seamews fly out early and far to seaward fair weather may be expected.

When rooks fly high and seem to imitate birds of prey by sparring, swooping, and falling, it is almost a certain sign of coming storm. Staying in the vicinity of the rookery, returning at midday, or coming to roost in groups are also said to be omens to the like effect.

The constant iteration of the green woodpecker's cry before the storm has given it the names of rain bird, rain pie, and rain fowl. Stormcock is a provincial name shared by this bird and the missel thrush, the latter often singing through gales of wind and rain. Storm bird is also applied to the fieldfare.

To Scotch shepherds the drumming of the snipe indicates dry weather and frost at night, and Gilbert White remarks that woodcocks have been observed to be remarkably listless against snowy, foul weather, while, according to another author, their early arrival and continued abode "foretells a liberal harvest."—Chicago News.

LEATHER FOR BOOK BINDINGS.

The Best Dress for Our Choice though Silent Companions.

Bookbinders, as well as other workers in leather, must look to nature for the best goods. Although science has made several noble efforts to supply an imitation, and in some cases has succeeded, yet for first-class work where durability is required, the genuine skin is necessary.

Russia leather, one of the oldest modern coverings, is still the most durable, so far as wear is concerned. Although American russia (cowhide) has very largely taken the place of the genuine article—American russia being larger skins, is much better adapted to factories than the imported skin—yet for a first-class blank book in every respect the genuine russia leather is best, some excellent bookbinders to the contrary, notwithstanding.

American russia was introduced about 18 years ago, and when first put on the market it was a pale red and binders used aniline to color it a deeper red, as near the color of russia as possible; but of late years tanners are making it of a beautiful color.

The splits or buffing, as it is called, is the outside of the hide; the inside is made into patent leather for carriage tops, etc. Buffing is made in all imaginable colors and grains, and some of the best morocco and sealskin imitations are buffing.

Roans are full substance sheepskins; skivers are split skins, the outside being used for pass books, law books and a great variety of cheap bindings; also for hat linings, jewelry cases, etc.

The inside or flesh side is used on heavy blank books for buff leather.—American Bookmaker.

A SUBSTITUTE FOR CREMATION.

Showing What Too Much Scientific Study Will Bring a Man To.

Dr. Hay, an English chemist, with a leaning toward ghastliness, has invented a substitute for cremation.

He would pound and pulverize the corpse in a mortar, breaking the bones to little bits. The resulting mass he would put through a prodigious sausage machine and make it into mincemeat. Dried by means of steam heat at a temperature of 230°, the mass would attain a commercial value as a fertilizer.

Should this method fail to suit, he suggests either the boiling of the body and the conversion of the resulting oil into a lubricant for soap, or else the placing of the body into a gas retort and converting it into illuminating gas, ammonia, tar, animal charcoal, sulphate of ammonia, aniline colors and prussic acid.

Dr. Hay is nothing if not scientific and practical.

Sponge Baths.

A fat-looking, bald-headed, lobster-colored German in shirt-sleeves appeared in the hallway of a Chicago bathing establishment, addressing a loose-jointed individual with wet, stringy hair.

"Holt on von minud," called out the first described: "you can go out, dese blace an you not bay me out not bat."

"Pay for this bath!" exclaimed the other in apparent astonishment; "who said anything about payin'?"

"I say somedings bout dat."

"You do?"

"Yaw, I say you must bay me fur diot, bat."

"You said it wouldn't cost nothing," said the wet-haired man.

"Noddings!" echoed the bath-keeper, "I no say such a dings!"

"What's that readin' on your sign, then?" inquired the disputant.

"Dot sign reads: 'Turkish bats, sulphur bats, vapor bats and sponge bats,'" replied the man of the lobster complexion.

"Well," said the other, as he edged away, "that last's it; bein's I didn't have any money, I took a sponge bath."

The Teuton fell to studying his sign, while his patron meandered towards the City Hall, but when at last he looked up he had resolved to strike "sponge bath" off his list.

The Foolish Virgins.

A Sunday-school teacher was explaining the parable of the ten virgins to her class, who were mostly boys.

When she had finished she asked:

"Now, why were five of them foolish?"

"Because they didn't get married," was one of the boys.

"It Saved My Life"

Is a common expression, often heard from those who have realized, by personal use, the curative powers of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. "I cannot say enough in praise of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, believing as I do that, but for its use, I should long since have died from lung troubles.—E. Bragdon, Palestine, Tex.

About six months ago I had a severe Hemorrhage of the Lungs, brought on by a distressing Cough, which deprived me of sleep and rest. I had used various cough balsams and expectorants, without obtaining relief. A friend advised me to try

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral.

I did so, and am happy to say that it helped me at once. By continued use this medicine cured my cough, and, I am satisfied, saved my life.—Mrs. E. Coburn, 18 Second st., Lowell, Mass.

I have used Ayer's Cherry Pectoral for over a year, and sincerely believe I should have been in my grave, had it not been for this medicine. It has cured me of a dangerous affection of the lungs, for which I had almost despaired of ever finding a remedy.—D. A. McMullen, Windsor, Province of Ontario.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral saved my life. Two years ago I took a very severe Cold which settled on my lungs. I consulted physicians, and took the remedies they prescribed, but failed to obtain relief until I began using Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. Two bottles of this medicine completely restored my health.—Lizzie M. Allen, West Lancaster, Ohio. ††

Ackerman Bros. are moving the Bon Marche building to-day to a vacant lot on Douglas street. Considering the size of the building it was moved with great ease and rapidity.

A resident of Elgin has become insane, and, as he is acting in a rather dangerous manner, Mr. Moresby has given orders to have him arrested and brought to the city for medical examination.

Take Ayer's Pills and be cured. Misery is a mild word to describe the sufferings of body and mind, caused by habitual constipation. A moderate use of Ayer's Pills will invariably regulate the bowels.

Rev. Mr. Miller, of Nanaimo, is in the city and will occupy the pulpit in the Presbyterian church both morning and evening on Sunday. The rev. gentleman is an eloquent speaker and his sermons are both interesting and learned.

The Fuhrer family are in town and will give a parlor entertainment at the Colonial hotel to-night. Judging from the favorable opinions by the press, they are thorough good musicians and create wonder and admiration by their performances. See adv.

A further suggestion anent the civic holiday is that the date be fixed for Thursday, Oct 4th, which will allow many to visit the provincial fair at Victoria. The idea is not a bad one, but every week adds to the chances of the day being marred by bad weather.

The ladies will be delighted to learn that P. Peebles' famous and much admired Whitney Baby Buggies, with reversible handles, have arrived. He has also for sale a novel brake attachment, which can be applied to any buggy, stopping it on a hillside as well as if held by a boy. se19t3

THE COLUMBIAN is pleased to acknowledge with thanks the receipt of a large piece of bridescake from Mrs. A. G. Pemberton (nee Miss Kate V. Cochrane). We trust prospective brides will make a mental note of this kind gift, and when the "happy day" for them arrives that the hungry newspaper man will not be forgotten. Mr. and Mrs. Pemberton have the best wishes of THE COLUMBIAN for their future happiness.

Children Cry for Pitcher's Castoria

Another Pioneer Gone.

Mr. Alex. McLean, J. P., one of the pioneers of the province and a prominent and respected citizen of Victoria, died at his residence on Wednesday night at the age of sixty-one years. Mr. McLean founded and successfully carried on the celebrated Scotch House commercial establishment on Fort street, and was noted for his public and private benevolence. He leaves a wife and one son—a young man who carries on his father's business.

Close Season for Trout.

Inspector Mowat has recommended for trout on Vancouver Island a close season from the 15th October to the 15th March, and on the mainland from the 1st February to the 1st May. He says the existing regulations are not suitable for the country. The British Columbian lakes covering such a large extent of territory, and the climate and temperature being so different, the breeding seasons are to a certain extent governed by these circumstances, and fish are found spawning in one or another locality nearly every month in the year.

Mammoth Corn.

Mr. D. C. Webber, of Port Hammond, laid on our table yesterday half a dozen ears of sweet corn, which for size and quality beats anything we have yet seen in or out of British Columbia. The ears averaged 11½ inches in length and 8½ inches in circumference and weighed nearly 2 lbs. The corn was planted on May 24th. Mr. Webber will send some of this fine corn to the provincial exhibition at Victoria and to the local exhibitions at Delta, Surrey and Chilliwhack. He has also sent some, in 14-foot stalks, to the Toronto exhibition.

Electric Lights, Motors and Tramway.

Last evening Capt. W. D. Warren sent a written application to the city council for permission to erect poles and stretch wires within the city limits for the transmission of electricity for lighting, motor and tramway purposes. The captain, who is said to represent local and eastern capitalists, proposes to introduce an improved electric light plant and to supply electricity for motors and tramways—the latter to carry passengers at five cents each. A company with a capital of $100,000 has been formed to forward the object of the petitioners.—Colonist.

Netting Trout.

Chehalis Creek, probably the best trout stream in the vicinity of Harrison Lake, bids fair to be destroyed before many months are over unless the fisheries department takes prompt steps to save it. The Indians have nets stretched across it at different points, ostensibly for catching salmon, but really for the purpose of netting the fine large trout with which the stream abounds. As much as 100 lbs. of trout have been captured by one of these nets in one day, which means the extinction of the fish from the Chehalis if not checked immediately. The Indians also fish for trout with salmon roe which spoils the stream for fly fishing.

The Wily Indian.

Harrison River Jim had his canoe dry-docked on the beach inside of the railway trestle to-day. Somebody's hungry cow happening along, was attracted by a little hay in the bottom of the canoe, and the better to get a square feed stepped right into the frail bark, which, not being "built that way," collapsed. And now the patriarchal Jim, with some of his retainers, and the assistance of Mr. McTiernan, Indian agent, is parading the streets, with the cow in custody, inquiring blandly for the owner, who Jim says must pay $30—the estimated value of the demolished canoe—or he vows he will have gore, either that of the cow or its owner. Up to the "time of going to press" no one had asserted his claim to the mischievous bovine.

Tourists.

A party of tourists, among whom are Mr. James Knox, of Kilburnie, Scotland, Mr. R. G. Ross, of Montreal, Mr. and Mrs. Thompson and Mr. John Lackie, of Toronto, arrived on the Pacific express yesterday. They intend visiting Vancouver, Seattle, Portland and San Francisco, thence home by Salt Lake City. To-day was spent by the party in visiting the various points of interest in and around the city, and a steamer has been chartered for to-morrow for the purpose of inspecting the canneries and the farming lands along the river. Mr. Knox, of Kilburnie, is a twine and net manufacturer and does an extensive business with the salmon packers of the Fraser and other fishing establishments in British Columbia. One of the objects in this gentleman's visit is to ascertain the exact kind of nets required and to make improvements on the present style if such is found necessary.

The Garden Party.

The garden party at Government House, on Wednesday afternoon, in honor of Lady Macdonald, who is a guest with Lieut.-Governor and Mrs. Nelson, was very largely attended, our leading citizens and a numqer of prominent visitors from the east being present. The excellent band of "C" battery was stationed in the garden and contributed a choice selection of music. Refreshments were served in a marquee erected on the grounds. Owing to the slight shower, the principal feature was the dancing party. Several ladies played for the dancers, the most prominent being Mrs. James Angus, who was specially thanked by Mrs. Nelson and Lady Macdonald for contributing so much to the enjoyment of the afternoon. Lady Macdonald and the other guests were delighted with the reception, and expressed to Governor and Mrs. Nelson their high appreciation of the hospitality they had received.—Times.

ATTEMPTED SUICIDE.

Alex. McFarlane, Late Assistant Steward of the Royal Columbian Hospital, Attempts Suicide.

This morning two gentlemen from Vancouver reported to Mr. Moresby that an old man had attempted to commit suicide, on the Vancouver road, about 1½ miles from this city. Mr. Moresby procured the services of Dr. DeWolf Smith and left immediately, and in a few minutes were by the side of the wounded man, who, fortunately, was still living. On examination it was found that the would-be suicide had cut the main artery of both wrists and had also made a deep cut on the side of his neck, close to the jugular vein. The instrument used was a small penknife, not very sharp, and the number of incisions made showed that the unfortunate man fully determined to take his life. Dr. Smith took up the veins and bandaged the wounds, and, although much blood was lost, the man's life will probably be saved. The would-be suicide's name is Alex. McFarlane, and he was for several years an inmate of the Royal Columbian hospital, for a time a patient, suffering from a wound in the head, but latterly acting in the capacity of assistant steward. He was discharged from the hospital a short time ago and since then has been drinking heavily, which, together with the wound on his head, which affected the brain somewhat, was the cause of the rash act. On being questioned by Mr. Moresby, McFarlane said he did the cutting himself; he had been drinking heavily for some time, got despondent, and wanted to end his life. When asked if he wanted to live, he replied, "I don't care whether I live or die." He is now in the jail and is receiving the best of attention, both medical and otherwise.

A Strange Circumstance.

The Tacoma News says: "Some days ago Henry Lawrence, one of the original locators of the Salmon River lode, came to this city from the mines. On his way here he lost his pocket book, containing notes and drafts amounting to $550. The loss nettled him, but he had no trouble while here of obtaining duplicates. While here he consulted the business and test medium who has been creating such an excitement in Tacoma, Mrs. Samson, and she assured him his book was all right and not to worry over it. Per a letter received here to day by Allen C. Mason it is learned that on his return trip he found the book just as Mrs. S. had described and predicted, in a lane leading to his location, and that the contents were intact. This all happened 300 miles from here; so here is material on which skeptics can work." Mrs. Samson, this celebrated business and test medium, is now giving sittings at the Colonial hotel, room 40, and will continue to do so until Wednesday next, 26th inst., when she positively leaves to fill other engagements. Office hours on Sunday from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m.—Adv.

Broke Loose.

On Saturday afternoon last the people of Nanaimo were startled to hear the prolonged shriek of a locomotive, and in a few seconds afterwards "Pioneer No. 1" of the Vancouver Coal Co. came tearing down the old Chase River railway, with three flat cars behind her. After passing over a trestle at terrific speed, the "wild" locomotive crashed into the locomotive "Nanaimo" which was standing on the track near the wharves, doing damage to the amount of several hundred dollars. No one was hurt, however. Mr. Joseph Sage, who was driving the Pioneer, states that on a grade the brakes gave way. He immediately shut off the steam and reversed the engine, but the grade was so steep that these precautions failed to overcome the momentum, and the train rushed on. He kept blowing the whistle as a danger signal, and finally tied down the whistle lever so that the alarm would keep sounding and, to save himself, jumped off just as the runaway reached the trestle. Engineers say it was the best time the Pioneer ever made. Some credit is certainly due to the engineer for his sensible precautions under the circumstances.

The Irrepressible Jenkins.

Mr. W. H. Jenkins has been up to another of his pleasant larks, and in this case though he ran considerable danger of breaking his neck, escaped with his usual luck, unharmed. Jenkins was in an outhouse in rear of the Holbrook Hotel, and seeing a parrot perched up on a board of the wall adjoining, thought he would like to secure it. For this purpose he managed to squeeze through a very small window and then made a grasp at the bird, but the reach was too long and Jenkins missed both bird and board and fell from his position to the ground some 10 feet below. Here Mr. Jenkins found himself a close prisoner with no means of escaping unassisted, being kept in by buildings on three sides and a wall on the other. To pass the time away and relieve the monotony of the situation he entered into an interesting conversation with the parrot, which was maintained with force and vigor until Mr. Neil McColl happened to espy Mr. Jenkins and interrupted the palaver. Jenkins applied for assistance to escape but Mr. McColl thought it would be better to let him remain there all night and refused to help him. He was rescued, however, later on by means of a ladder and some good natured people, who, though they considered a night in the hole would serve Jenkins right, thought it would be cruel to allow him to remain there.

TO ASSIST NATURE most effectually in her efforts to throw off or resist serious disease, it is essential that an impulse should be given to functions which growing ill health suspends or weakens, namely, the action of the bowels, bilious secretion, and digestion. Oftentimes, though this is impracticable by the use of ordinary remedies, it proves an easy task when Northrop & Lyman's Vegetable Discovery and Dyspeptic Cure is resorted to.

Canker humors of every description, whether in the mouth, throat, or stomach, are expelled from the system by the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla. No other remedy can compare with this, as a cure for all diseases originating in impure or impoverished blood.

Late Canadian News.

RIVER DU LOUP STATION, Sept. 15.—The opening of the Temiscouata railway will be postponed till about the 1st of October, owing to the giving way of some temporary cribwork, caused by a land slide on the bank of Lake Temiscouata, where filling and ballasting were in progress.

MONTREAL, Sept. 16.—Abbe Palin Dubonville, doctor of theology and professor of canonical law at the Sulspician seminary here, has been appointed superior of the seminary of his order at Rome and leaves shortly for the eternal city.

MONTREAL, Sept. 15.—The grand jury to-day found a true bill against Colonel Frank Bond, and N. Michaud, ex-brokers, for fraudulantly applying money entrusted to them to their own use. The crown prosecutor acting under special instructions from the attorney-general immediately entered a nolle prosequi on the back of the indictment.

TORONTO, Sept. 15.—The inter-association lacrosse match between the Ottawas, of the national association, and the Torontos, of the Canadian association, resulted in the Ottawas winning 3 goals to Torontos' 2.

OTTAWA, Sept. 16.—Next season the department of marine and fisheries will undertake the transporation of live lobsters from the Atlantic to the Pacific coast to see if they can be propagated there.

Mr. Chas. Langelier, M. P., who was here yesterday, says that the people of Quebec will not tolerate the Dominion government vetoing their legislature's local laws. Mr. Mercier will have the entire province at his back in defending the rights of the province. He said Quebec will fight for its rights as Manitoba and Ontario have.

Amyot, of the 9th battalion, who made himself famous during the Northwest rebellion by writing to Sir A. P. Caron that the volunteers should be allowed to guard the stores while the cowboys and Indians did the fighting, made a very bellicose speech, warning Sir John not to trifle with the people of Quebec or there would be a rebellion. "This province," he said, "was French, not British, and it should be understood that the people of Quebec were bound to fall into line and oppose the efforts of the English provinces to coerce them."

Jas. Shannon, Leaskdale, writes: For many years my wife was troubled with chilblains, and could get no relief until about two years ago: she was then not able to walk, and the pain was then so excruciating that she could not sleep at night. Your agent was then on his regular trip, and she asked him if he could cure her. He told her Dr. Thomas Eclectric Oil was a sure cure. She tried it, and judge of her astonishment when in a few days the pain was all allayed and the foot restored to its natural condition. It is also the best remedy for burns and bruises I ever used.
