NOTES AND COMMENTS.

A Missouri man who recently made a visit of six weeks in Kansas has circulated the slander that he spent five of them in running after his hat. A breezy story, that.

A solid chunk of wisdom was done up in a neat package by the Presbyterian delegate who said the other day that an ounce of taffy is worth a ton of epitaphy.—Ex.

Electricians working for the Edison Company at Gilbert's mines in Bechtelville, Pa., have invented a wire fishing rod with an electric bell, which will ring for every nibble.

An exchange says: A Worcester, Ohio, woman has been licensed to perform the marriage ceremony. This is rumored to be the first case where such a license has been granted, yet it would seem that there is nothing for which a woman is better fitted.

A pension has just been granted by the United States government to a soldier whose only claim for consideration was that he had been injured in a drunken bout through being hit by a demijohn. A number of ex-soldiers will now wish they had imbibed occasionally.

The German authorities have adopted a compound to be sifted into the boots of their foot soldiers which consists chiefly of soap stone, the British soldiers use soap and water, and this extraordinary precaution is necessary to prevent swollen feet in their ranks. There may be some difference in the swelling propensities of German lager and British beer.

Let us be thankful for the existence of experts. One has just relieved the public mind of a horrid sensation by testifying positively that Irving Bishop, the mind reader, was really dead before the surgeons began to carve up his mortal remains. Experts differ and the lay member of society often quarrels with the conclusion of the expert, but in this particular there will be no disposition to reject the testimony and fall back upon a blood-curdling hypothesis.—Ex.

King William of Holland has been amusing himself since he regained his faculties by reading all the despatches which passed between The Hague on one side, and Berlin, Vienna and St. Petersburg on the other, respecting the Duke of Nassau's regency of Luxemburg and Dutch affairs generally, and as the communications from Berlin were written under a full conviction that his majesty would be in his coffin before they were delivered there is much in them which is very distasteful to him.

The New York Sun relates how a full-fledged citizen of Uncle Sam's dominions, living on West Sixtieth street, in the metropolis, entertained a friend from Canada last week. The Canadian innocently desiring to honor the Queen's birthday, hung out the British flag from a window of the house. A crowd collected and forced the hauling down of the flag. There is just this to be said about the incident. The citizens of the republic have, within their own territory, the power to haul down the British flag as often as they like. They can't do it on the larger part of the continent, however, and those who try it may find themselves flying higher than the flag.—Empire.

Pope Leo the Thirteenth has ordered the Papal guards and other officials to abstain from taking part, even by going outside the door, in the ceremony of unveiling the monument of Giordano Bruno, the Italian philisopher, who was arrested for heresy by the inquisition, delivered over to the civil power, and put to death towards the end of the seventeenth century. The monument, which has been erected in the Quirinal part of Rome by public subscription, the King of Italy heading the list, will be uncovered on Monday. The Pope cannot "snub" men like Bruno by refusing to recognize their greatness; he might as well try to "insult the heavens by declining to see the sun."—Ex.

About twenty years ago, says Labouchere, in his paper, London Truth, I was talking with Mr. Bright in the smoking room of the house of commons. He was going to speak later on in the evening, and he had a large roll of notes which he was looking through. "I never learned a speech but once," he said, "and then did not remember it. But I consider that no one ought to address the house on an important issue without thoroughly getting the subject into his head and knowing how he intends to treat it." "You write down some passages?" I said, pointing to the notes. "Yes," he replied, "I do. Otherwise I might say say more than I had intended." And then he went on to explain that his greatest difficulty in mastering the art of which he had become such a master had been to acquire the habit of speaking slowly. "You should not pause between words and sentences," he went on to say, "but pronounce clearly and distinctly every syllable."

Job printing of all kinds neatly done at the COLUMBIAN office. Prices will be found as low as at any other office in the province.—Adv.

FINAL FIGURES

Of the Great Flood Give Appalling Results of Lives Lost and Damage Done.

The Yankees are Tinkering up Their Navy to Lick the Poor Haytiens.

The Cronin Murder Inquest Continues to Give Fresh and Important Evidence.

THE GRAND TOTAL.

JOHNSTOWN, Pa., June 6.—The loss of life by the floods in the towns of Mineral Point, Franklin Borough, East Conemaugh, Woodvale, Kernville, Cambria, Minersville, Morrellville, Sheriden, Coopersdale, which with Johnstown constitute a string of communities in the direct path of the flood is about 2,000 and loss of property about $6,000,000. Johnstown proper and Millville will probably add 7,000 to the death list, and about $18,000,000 to the financial loss. The Pennsylvania Railroad loss will be about $1,000,000. The loss of life at Johnstown proper is little more than a guess. It was too large a place for anybody to know everybody and the survivors are so scattered that though the registration of the living has reached 12,000 in the district, it indicates nothing. The loss in smaller towns was obtained from leading men in each which have in a measure got their heads again and able to think with coolness. In detail, the loss falls: Minerals Point, lives 16, property $100,000; East Conemaugh and Franklin, lives 38, property $120,000; Woodvale 300, $3,500,000; Johnstown and Millvale, 700, $18,000,000; Kernvale 700, $3,000,000; Cambria 1000, $750,000; Minersville 8, $35,000; Morrellville 1, $10,000; Sheridan and Coopersdale no lives, $75,000; Pennsylvania Railroad, $10,000,000; total lives 9,663; total property $32,890,000. Mr. Hechapine, of Washington, who built the Gauthier steel works and up to January 1889 was general superintendent of the Cambria iron works, at Johnstown, said last evening. "The loss sustained in round numbers I should think would reach $30,000,000. I doubt if twenty years will enable the valley to recover from the awful shock, which is almost too horrible to realize."

FOOD SCARCE.

JOHNSTOWN, June 6.—There is a scarcity of provisions here this morning, not because the stuff is not on hand, but because it was not distributed properly. Plenty of people are running around at the west end of the bridge asking for something to eat. The American club relief corps cars at Morrellville are taking care of all needy people in that district. Both Superintendent Flynn and Captain Jones have supplies for their men. An order was issued this morning positively forbidding anyone from entering the town without a pass. W. J. Elliott, who represents the New York Mail and Express, this morning received a telegram from Elliott F. Shepard, of New York, notifying to direct Major Harrell or some other one of the authorities to draw on him for $10,000. R. L. Sibbet, of the state board of health, detailed to inspect the river towns above here, reached Connelsville through the drift, examining both sides of the river. He finds at Rockwood only, where a great mass of wreckage confines many corpes, is the immediate chance of disease from dead bodies, elsewhere, particularly about Connelsville, the flood washed everything before it. Upon receiving this report the sanitory board decided to concentrate their labor upon the centre of wreck and work outward.

RIOT AT JOHNSTOWN.

JOHNSTOWN, June 6.—The scarcity of food for men, owing partly to the lack of utensils to work with, caused a small sized riot at the labor camp this morning. It was quelled, however, by a speech from Mr. Flynn, who afterwards had two ringleaders expelled from the town. The tents for the laborers to sleep in are arriving from Washington, and fully 5,000 men are at work this morning. In Cambria city shortly after midnight last night some drunken Italians caused trouble and a company of the 14th regiment was sent to the scene, but their services were not needed Adjt.-Gen. Hastings says the troops are needed only for guard duty, and denies the report that he ordered the tenth regiment out.

TO-DAY'S SENSATION.

CHICAGO, June 6.—An immense crowd was present this morning to hear the testimony in the Cronin investigation. The sensation promised for to-day was the introduction of the books of J. T. Lester & Co., containing the account of Alexander Sullivan with the firm. The Traders' Bank books shows that Sullivan has paid over to J. T. Dester & Co. nearly $100,000, and Mr. Lester's books are to be brought to show what has been done with this enormous amount of money. The books show it is said that all the money was invested in stocks through Lester & Co., but that it was not allowed to remain long in speculation. Each heavy margin, two of $30,000 each and one for $25,000 was deposited as security for a trade, but was soon withdrawn, being paid by check to Alex. Sullivan's order. "What he did with the money is for him to explain," said Judge Longenicker.

AFTER POOR HAYTI.

NEW YORK, June 6.—The Times this morning says that there is a strange activity in the Brooklyn navy yard, and that mysterious orders have been issued for night and day work on the cruisers. It hints at the possibilities of serious trouble with Hayti.

FIGHT TO FINISH.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 6.—Jack Dempsey and George Lablanche signed articles to-day for a finish contest at the California athletic club, for a purse of five thousand dollars on August 27th.

TASCOTT AGAIN.

CHICAGO, June 6.—Mrs. Snell, widow of the victim of William B. Tascott, when shown a despatch from San Francisco last night giving the statement of Mrs. Maude Gantz, recently of this city, that Tascott is now in China, said that she would extend the offer of $50,000 as a reward for Tascott's apprehension to ten months, if necessary, instead of sixty days as originally announced. She thought if $50,000 would not bring him back no no sum she could offer would do so.

TRAIN ACCIDENT.

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., June 6.—A Santa Fe work train ran into section foreman Smith's hand car this morning, one mile above the city, killing the foreman outright and probably fatally injuring two of the crew. The train was backing to a small station above the city and did not see the hand car, nor did the occupants of the latter observe the coming train. No blame is attached to anyone.

A CALIFORNIA VERDICT.

MARTINEZ, Cal., June 6.—John O'Neil, a worthless fellow shot and killed Phillip Stumpp, a saloon keeper, near here about a year ago. He was tried, convicted and sentenced to imprisonment for life. O'Neil obtained a second trial and last night the jury rendered a verdict of not guilty.

TROOPS UNDER ORDER.

PITTSBURG, Pa., June 6.—Adjutant Gen. Hastings has ordered battery B to Johnstown at once. The 18th regiment has been ordered under arms to prepare to leave for Johnstown at a moments notice. The occasion for this action is not ascertained.

CARNOT'S THANKS.

NEW YORK, June 6.—The Courier Des Etats Unis prints to-day a note from President Carnot to the French colony in this city, received through M. Edmond Bruwaert, consul-general. President Carnot says he has been deeply touched by the telegrams addressed to him by the French colony in New York on the occasion of the centennial of the reunion of the states general, testifying to unalterable attachment of the colony to the mother country, and extending congratulations to him. Mr. Carnot has charged the French minister of foreign affairs to transmit formally his thanks to the colony.

THE CRONIN MURDER.

CHICAGO, June 5.—The police claim to have an important clue to the murderer of Dr. Cronin. They have found the express man who hauled the murderer's goods from the building at 117 Clark street to the Carlson cottage. According to the expressman's statement, both fellows belong in Chicago, and he has seen both of them frequently since he hauled their goods. The last time he saw them was last Saturday. The expressman's description tallies closely with that of Lilon's, who brought the furniture from Roviland & Co., and of Williams, who rented the cottage from Carlsons. The police believe the two men are still in town and they are relying on the express man to find them.

THE CRONIN INQUEST.

CHICAGO, June 5.—The coroner's inquiry into the Cronin murder was resumed this morning, with a big crowd in attendance. Moreland, Dinan's hostler, testified regarding Capt. Schaack taking a horse out to be identified; and officer Kelly and Hall testified as to the arrest of Woodruff. Nothing new or important was developed. Patrick McGarry stated that in September '88 Cronin told him after the trial in Buffalo, that his, (Cronin's) life was in danger, saying: "Mc, I believe that man Alexander Sullivan will be the instigator of my death. There are papers and affidavits in Mr. Conklin's safe relating to this business, and in them Alexander Sullivan's name is mentioned, and if anything happens to me I will rely on you to give them to the authorities."

OTTAWA NOTES.

OTTAWA, June 4.—The government has had to set its foot down against granting the tremendous powers asked for by certain companies, chartered only under the general act by the issue of letters patent. Recently a British Columbia lumber company asked, in addition to ordinary powers, liberty to operate steamship and railway lines, and also to carry on a general merchandise business. The government only granted the powers necessary to carry on the lumber business.

Van Horne and party are en route to British Columbia.

Rev. Mr. Douglass, of London, is here, heading for British Columbia. He is inquiring into the resources of the country for immigration purposes.

FROM VICTORIA.

Death of Mr. Justice Gray.---Eloping Couple Caught.---Old Hudson Bay Fort Burned.

Special to the Columbian.

VICTORIA, June 6.—At 6:40 last evening Hon. John Hamilton Gray, judge of the supreme court of B. C. passed peacefully to his rest. Death was caused by paralysis. He was in the 76th year of his age. Flags throughout the city are at half mast.

An eloping couple from San Francisco were captured on the Islander by the lady's irate papa last evening. The young lady belonged to San Francisco while the gay Lothario was a Chicago drummer. The lady concluded to return to her home.

Andrew Haslan, formerly a member of the Royal City Planing Mills Co., Westminster, will be the independent candidate to contest the vacant seat for Nanaimo district caused by the death of Hon. Mr. Dunsmuir. The Courier and Free Press both support him.

Word has been received of the destruction by fire of the old Hudson's bay offices at Fort Rupert. They were erected in 1848.

T. D. Conway, of Chemainus, has secured the contract to build the Bonilla point Dominion government telegraph.

LATE CANADIAN NEWS.

Just after midnight yesterday morning a fire started in Brown's livery stable, Winnipeg. A large number of buildings were burned.

Anti-Jesuit meetings were held at Orangeville, Wingham and Feruus yesterday, at which all the delegates to the Toronto convention were approved.

A young Irishman named Jack McGoldrick, employed in a livery stable, attempted to commit suicide in Winnipeg, on Tuesday by taking laudanum.

The first farmers' excursion this season left Toronto yesterday for Manitoba. There were two trains, carrying about six hundred people, mostly Ontario farmers.

Children Cry for Pitcher's Castoria

STILL A FAVORITE.

Boulanger is Still Popular and is Made Much of in London Society.

The Secret Service Fund Causes Some Discussion in Parliament but is Voted.

Mrs. Mayrick, the American, is Found Guilty of Murdering Her Husband.

A MARCHIONESS MURDERED.

BRUSSELS, June 6.—The Marchioness De Chasteler, belonging to one of the oldest of the noble families of Belgium, was found murdered in her bed at her residence Chateau Moulbai, at Mons, this morning. The crime has created great excitment. The marchioness was shot through the heart. The ball was fired at her through the window. The report of the weapon was not heard within the house. It is supposed the murderer is a farmer who was angry with the marchioness for refusing to reduce the rent.

GUILTY OF MURDER.

LONDON, June 6.—The proceedings of the coroner's inquest on the body of Mr. Maybrick was brought to an end to-day by the jury bringing in a verdict of wilful murder against Mrs. Maybrick. One witness, a chemist, who testified to-day, swore he found a bottle of arsenic in Mrs. Maybrick's trunk and found a glass of chofola in her room which also contained arsenic.

BOULANGER THRIVING.

LONDON, June 5.—Gen. Boulanger is coming to the front. He is received in society and has met the Prince of Wales. The Royalists support him energetically. Nanguet, returning from France, predicts that there will be 400 Revisionists out of the 575 members of the next chamber. The Republicans predict as confidently a victory. Thanks to the exhibition, the Eiffel tower raises the peasant's confidence in the stability of the Republic. The belief that Boulanger will triumph is growing.

IMPERIAL PARLIAMENT.

LONDON, June 4.—In the Commons on the vote for secret service, Mr. Bradlaugh moved to reduce the amount from £28,000, asked by the Government, to £8,000. This fund, he said, was an open door for the misuse of public funds. He instanced Lecaron, who for years received pay from secret service fund through a person who was not himself personally responsible to the ministers. The money which might be expended secretly always encouraged concentration of conspiracies and always would do so. All public expenditures ought to be subject to credit. Mr. Biggar advised the Government to seriously consider whether they ever really got any value for money expended secretly. What had they got from Lecaron for the large sums paid him for years? Simply a lot of funny gossip. Secretary Matthews said that the disposition of secret service fund was a very disagreeable duty. Still it was a duty imposed on the ministers, and so long as the system existed they could not consent to give the open audit of the expenditures from this fund. After considerable debate the motion for reduction of the vote was rejected by 141 to 43.

PERSONAL.

Col. Percy Dickinson arrived in the city last evening on matters connected with the Southern Railway, and will remain a week. Mr. King arrived this evening.

J. Wilson, supt. C.P.R. telegraphs, returned to-day from Seattle, having successfully laid the telegraph cable between Alki and Bean points, connecting Seattle and Port Blakely.

S. H. Webb left for England and the continent to-day and will be absent about three months. Mr. Webb will act as special correspondent for THE COLUMBIAN, and some very interesting letters may be expected from him.

A despatch from Toronto received last night by Mr. Jas. Wilson, announces that Messrs. Thomas and William McInnes, sons of Senator McInnes, have successfully passed their final examination at Toronto University. Both were formerly pupils of Mr. H. M. Stramberg, principal of the Westminster high school. The senator and family leave for Europe next Monday.

C. R. T. Garrioch formerly a resident of Westminster, but latterly of Vancouver, left by the Atlantic express to-day for Ottawa, where he will reside in future. Mr. Garrioch was a general favorite and justly so. His qualities were all that could be desired in man, and his loss to the province is greatly to be deplored. Last night he paid a last visit to his mother lodge, Union Lodge No 9 A. F. & A. M., when a resolution was passed regretting his departure. Many kindly remarks were made concerning Mr. Garrioch, and many hopes were expressed that some day he would return to the province again.

Harrison Hot Springs Notes.

Big baskets of fish are so common now that only the largest are considered worthy of mention. On Monday a guest of the hotel spent three hours casting the fly and during that time successfully landed 136 fine trout.

A trail has been cut from Trout lake to a small unamed lake beyond, and a cabin will be built on the shore for the convenience of the sportsmen. The lake is only two miles from Trout lake, and the fish in it are said to be much larger and equally as numerous as in Trout lake. A number of fishing parties will visit it next week and results are anxiously awaited.

Several new cottages are going up on the new townsite.

A hunting lodge has been built at a point some thirty miles up the lake. Game of all kinds is reported to be plentiful in the vicinity.

The settlement of Havelock Corners, Kings County, has been wiped out by fire. Indications are that the fire was incendiary. Havelock Corners is the centre of one of the most fertile and thickly settled rural settlements of New Brunswick.

Thursday Evening, June 6, 1889.

We are glad to see that an interest is beginning to be taken in the sanitary condition of the city, as evidenced by the communication printed in this paper yesterday on "The Water We Drink." We have read the communication with considerable profit, and we are sure a large number of our readers have done likewise. Our correspondent advocates, in brief, a system of earth closets and wells for the city, instead of sewerage and water works. Our admiration for this suggestion is somewhat tempered by a feeling of sadness when we reflect upon the number of misguided cities that have squandered vast sums, and continue to do so, to establish and perfect their water and sewerage systems, when earth closets and wells could have been maintained for a "mere nothing" and have constituted a system "superior to any." Seriously, we should favor the suggestion of our correspondent, if there was no remote or immediate prospect of a proper system of water works and sewerage for the city. The case is just the reverse, however. We have the most unexceptionable prospects for water and sewerage. Any city might well envy us in these respects, and we are certain that the vast majority of our citizens will be heartily glad that there is no necessity of resorting permanently to any such make-shift, for a city of any pretensions and prospects, as wells and earth closets as a substitute for water works and sewerage. As a temporary expedient, until our water and sewerage works are completed, it would be well, we believe, to carry out, to a certain extent, our correspondent's suggestions. There is certainly need for placing the city in a better sanitary condition without delay, but this necessarily temporary work should not be viewed as an alternative scheme to a proper and thorough system of water works and sewerage. We give our correspondent every credit for sincerity, and would scorn to insinuate that he had any selfish interest in defeating the water works by-law so soon to be voted on; but we must say that he overlooks and misapprehends a great deal in his communication urging the adoption of wells and earth closets as a permanent sanitary system for the city. We shall go into the subject more fully in future issues.

Lord Wolseley in a recent lecture at Oxford on the British army made some political allusions, the following amongst them: "The English world at this moment was full of faddists, who did not hesitate to denounce all patriotism, all admiration for England and for renown, who mourned in plaintive tones that they should belong to an empire which had been won by the sword, and which wicked men like himself (Wolseley) were, if necessary, prepared to defend by the sword. They had political schemers longing for office who would willingly see this United Kingdom torn into pieces if only they should once again flourish in Downing street. Such men were, however, but the bubbles floating on their sea of empire, the flotsam and the jetsam to be found upon its shores." Lord Wolseley was sharply taken to task by Mr. John Morley, Mr. Bryce, and other Gladstonian Liberals, as well as by the Spectator, Economist, and other Unionist Liberal journals. Subsequently the secretary for war announced in the house that his lordship had withdrawn the passage just cited in an apology, which read as follows: "As I find that an interpretation is put upon some expressions contained in a lecture I delivered at Oxford on Saturday last which they were not intended to convey I wish to withdraw anything I said which can give pain to anyone."

The great Eiffel tower in Paris, although decidedly ornamental as an artistic and architectural work, is not merely ornamental, but promises to be useful in a scientific sense. M. Janssen, of the Institute France, says the Scientific American, is of opinion that the Eiffel tower will have many scientific uses. One of the greatest difficulties of meteorological observations is the disturbing influences of the station of observation itself. How, for example, it is asked, can a true deviation of the wind be observed if a purely local obstacle causes it to deviate? And how can a true temperature of the air be determined by a thermometer influenced by radiation from surrounding objects? Thus the meteorological elements of great centers of habitation have to be taken outside those centers, and at a certain height above the soil. The tower, since it rises to a great height, and, from the nature of its construction, does not modify in any way the meteorological elements to be observed, will get over this difficulty. A height of 300 yards is in itself not a negligible quantity from the point of view of rainfall, temperature, and pressure, but these circumstances give all the more interest to the institution of comparative experiments on variations due to altitude. The electrical interchanges between the soil and the atmosphere can also be studied to advantage. Special arrangements can be made for avoiding accidents, and results of great interest should be obtained. He recommends also the institution of a service of meteorological photography. A good series of photographs would give forms, movements, modifications, which the clouds and atmospheric conditions undergo from sunrise to sunset. Thus a history of the skies would be written on a radius not hitherto dealt with. In physical astronomy various other observations might be taken, especially in relation to the study of telluric spectrum. M. Eiffel announces that three laboratories have already been arranged on the tower. One will be devoted to astronomy, and the second will contain registering apparatus from the central bureau of meteorology, and will be devoted to physics and meteorology. MM. Mascart and Cornu expect to draw great advantages from its use in the study of the atmosphere. The second is reserved for biology and micrographic study of the air, to be organized by M. Henocque. M. Cailletet is arranging a great mercurial manometer, with which he expects to obtain pressures as high as 400 atmospheres. M. DeFonvielle has made very curious electrical experiments at the summit of the Eiffel tower. Some, it is considered, will lead to important considerations of a scientific character, which will be continued; others are of a more practical character. The atmosphere around the tower at this elevation is free from all influence of the soil, as would be the case at the top of a mountain, and the air is in an extraordinary active state of electricity. The tower will, it is said, be the most perfect conductor of electricity during a storm, and all within it will be in a state of entire immunity against all danger from lightning.

CONTENT.

In his garden he wandered about all day,
And watched the flowers about him blow;
His heart was as light as the heart of a jay,
For only white clouds did his vision know.
He trimmed his roses and read his book,
And sang in his bower of breeze and scent
To the birds, as his lingering steps he took:
"God pity the man who's not content!"

His neighbor to commerce was strongly wed;
He would talk of nothing at all but trade;
Though weary at night when he laid his head
On the pillow, for morning he ached and prayed.
He was busier far than the "busy bee,"
As for millions and millions of gold he tried,
And he sang, in his restless activity:
"God pity the man who's satisfied!"

They both are gone, and they're both forgot—
The happy dreamer, the man of trade.
Each one was satisfied with his lot,
And each at the other's content dismayed.
And I fancy I still hear their voices blent
Come in through the window, open wide:
"God pity the man who's not content!"
"God pity the man who's satisfied!"

HIS WIFE'S LETTERS.

Has the Average Husband a Right to Open Them?

A Lady Writer Emphatically Protests Against a Recent Decision by a French Court—The Whole Question in a Nut-Shell.

A few months ago, we all remember it, a letter intended exclusively for the eyes of madame fell into the hands of monsieur, and presto! a scandal in high life, a court scene, a divorce, and madame is left to the perusal of her billet doux. At that time the question: "Can a man open his wife's letters?" was first raised, and over there in France the court answered the question in the affirmative, and now the wife who enjoys the privilege of breaking the seals of her letters does so through the courtesy of her husband. Truly, "this is a pretty how d'ye do."

Happily, America is a law unto herself, observes a woman writer in the Baltimore American, and, so far as we are concerned, the question remains unanswered. There is not the slightest doubt in my own mind that if it were put to our courts they would follow the precedent set them in France, and declare that a man has the legal right to open his wife's letters, but not vice versa. Why! Simply because the judges are men, and we all know that every law which is to decide between a man and his wife goes in favor of the man, because men are the law-makers. Now, in the particular case of monsieur and madame, cited above, there was a plausible excuse for the husband opening her letters, which proved his suspicions well founded; but as American wives do not become entangled in the affairs for which the gay Parisian dames are famous, there is no reason why a man should not investigate his wife's correspondence. Indeed, if either should have surveillance over the other it should be the wife over the husband, for she would be sure to discover many more escapades than would he. Putting aside all such motives as those influencing monsieur, I claim that to open his wife's letters is not the right of any man, and a desire on his part to do so implies distrust and suspicion of his wife.

The idea of a woman being treated in her own home, and by her own husband, as though she were a romantic school-girl, to be watched by a vigilant master, and to have her letters intercepted by him, who may not give them to her at all if it should best please him not to do so! It is an insult to a wife to be so treated, and any woman of spirit would resent it.

Yet there are no doubt men in our own city even who consider it their prerogative to open and read their wives' letters, but would raise the roof if their wives should return the compliment. I have never met one of this kind and I hope I never will, but I am sure such exist.

Such "superior lights" of husbands lead us to sermonize a little.

What an unequal partnership is matrimony after all; both parties make the same promises at the altar, yet only one is expected to keep them, and that the weaker member. Most men seem to think that their wives should have no opinions, friends or interests other than theirs. Now, it is all folly to suppose that because a woman marries she must give up her individuality, her opinions and her correspondence. She is still a responsible being in the eyes of God and her fellow-creatures, strange as it may seem. She still has a mind and a heart—no, not a heart—that she gives to her husband, or is supposed to; and, by the way, she does not promise him any thing, while he bestows all his worldly goods upon her, which, of course, must include his letters, while in reality he takes hers and keeps his own.

Charles Dudley Warner, in replying to the question: "Can a man open his wife's letters?" said that it would depend upon what kind of a husband he is. I think it would be nearer right to say it would depend upon what kind of a wife she is. "Discretion is the better part of valor," as many a husband would learn if he made so bold as to open his wife's letters.

There is scarcely a wife who does not take her husband sufficiently into her confidence to tell him who her letters are from and to read them to him, or, perhaps, let him read them himself; but this is a very different matter from having them first opened, read and passed upon by one for whom they were not intended. Of course, many women receive letters that never reach the eyes of their life partners, not because they contain aught that would not bear the light of day, not because the wife is afraid or ashamed to show them, but simply because they contain things that are none of his affair. How often the home letters are written only for daughters' or sisters' eyes! How much of the family cares can be told her that would be proudly withheld from son-in-law or brother-in-law! Then, there are the letters from dear, intimate girl friends, who pour out the secrets of their heart upon paper for the sympathy and entertainment of sweet Mrs. Jones, but not for the eyes of sarcastic Mr. Jones. A very laughable but sensible reason for a wife withholding her letters from her husband was given by a contemporary not long since.

She said: "These letters contain the confessions of another soul, the confidences of another mind, that would be rudely treated if given any sort of publicity. And while husband and wife are one to each other, they are two in the eyes of other people, and it may well happen that a friend will desire to impart something to a discreet woman which she would not intrust to the babbling husband of that woman."

That's the whole thing in a nutshell. So we see that a woman of honor may keep her correspondence from her "better half" without in any way reflecting discredit on herself. As some one has truly said: "The charm of a letter is gone if read second hand, the aroma escapes when opened by another." Half of the pleasure is the eager expectancy felt while breaking the seal. Imagine how one must feel while waiting for her letter to be read slowly and deliberately and then carelessly or angrily tossed to her; I should think she would rather put them in the fire than read them then. Some women would.

No. Whether the French think so or not, a husband has no more right to open his wife's letters than has the greatest stranger, and it is just as flagrant a breach of honor for him to usurp the authority as it would be for a visitor in his house to do so. And I would like very much to know on what he bases his right to do it other than his wife's permission.

Her Busy Day.

There is a charitable institution in Boston, and each day one lady connected with the management has to take charge of a department of it. One young lady had selected Wednesday as her day, and the first week she was to commence her round of duties another lady received from the president a little note: "Dear Mrs. ——, can you take charge on Wednesday? It was arranged that Miss —— was to be here, but she forgot that it was the day she was to be married.

Water Works Debenture By-Law.

A By-Law to provide for the issue of Water Works Debentures.

WHEREAS BY THE "NEW Westminster Act, 1888," an act of the legislature of British Columbia, passed in the fifty-first year of the reign of Her Majesty, Queen Victoria, and chaptered forty-two relating to the corporation of the City of New Westminster, it is among other things provided that the council of the corporation of the said city may, subject to the provisions of the said act, pass by-laws for constructing water works, and providing for the expenditure thereof.

AND WHEREAS it is expedient that the council should provide for the construction of water works for the supplying of water to the inhabitants of the said city.

AND WHEREAS, in order to carry into effect the said proposed construction, it will be necessary to issue debentures of the said corporation for a sum of money not exceeding two hundred thousand dollars.

AND WHEREAS, for the payment of the said debentures, sinking fund and interest, it will require the sum of $14,000 to be raised annually by special rate in each year.

AND WHEREAS the amount of the whole rateable property of the said city according to the last revised assessment roll is the sum of $2,540,245.

AND WHEREAS the total amount of the existing debt of the city is the sum of $155,500, irrespective of the sum of $85,000 proposed to be borrowed under authority of the Streets and Park Improvement Debenture By-law, which by-law is to be submitted to a vote of the electors of the city concurrently with this by-law.

THEREFORE, the corporation of the City of New Westminster enacts as follows:—

1. It shall be lawful for the mayor to raise by way of loan from any person or persons, body or bodies corporate, who may be willing to advance the same upon the credit of the debentures hereinafter mentioned, a sum of money not exceeding in the whole the sum of two hundred thousand dollars.

2. It shall be lawful for the mayor to cause any number of debentures to be made for such sums of money as may be required, but not for less than one hundred dollars each, such debentures to be sealed with the seal of the corporation, and signed by the mayor and counter-signed by the treasurer thereof.

3. The said debentures shall be made payable in fifty years at furthest from the day on which this by-law takes effect, either in sterling money of Great Britain, or in the currency of this province, or the country where the same may respectively be made payable, which may be in any place or places authorized by the said act as may be agreed upon between the purchaser or purchasers thereof, and the mayor, and the said debentures shall have attached to them coupons for the payment of interest.

4. The said debentures shall bear interest at the rate of five per centum per annum from the date thereof, which interest shall be payable half yearly on the first days of January and July in each and every year.

5. For the purpo e of forming a sinking fund for the payment of the said debentures and the interest thereon an equal annual special rate of 5⅞ mills in the dollar shall be levied and collected in addition to all other rates in each year upon all the rateable property in the said city during the currency of the said debentures or any of them.

6. All monies arising from the said rate beyond the amount required for the payment of interest upon the said debentures may be invested in each year as the council of the said corporation may direct, for the purpose of creating a sinking fund for the redemption of the said debentures as they respectively become due, without prejudice to any of the powers conferred upon the said council by the said act.

7. This bylaw shall take effect on the 17th day of June in the year of Our Lord one thousand eight hundred and eighty-nine.

8. This by-law, before the final passing thereof, shall receive the assent of the electors of the city in the manner provided by the New Westminster Act, 1888, and amending acts.

9. This by-law may be cited as the Water Works Debenture By-Law, 1889.

By-law read a first time on the 11th day of March, 1889.

By-law read a second time on the 11th day of March, 1889.

A meeting of the council of the board of trade was held yesterday, and the committee appointed to obtain information respecting the fisheries license grievance reported. The board resolved under the circumstances it would be injudicious to re-open the question, and that it might safely be left in the hands of the fishery officials.

Strike Near Juneau.

By the str. Ancon, which arrived from Alaska, came news of a rich strike of silver ore thirty miles east of Juneau. The find was made by two poor prospectors from Juneau, who had worked assiduously in the neighborhood for months. They were about to give up the search when, upon May 1st, they stumbled on to the ledge. The quartz was assayed by a local assayer and will pan out from $250 to *$500 per ton. The excitment in Ju*neau when the Ancon reached there was great, and numbers were flocking to the new El Dorado.—Times.

Nanaimo's New Methodist Church.

The corner stone of the new Methodist church at Nanaimo was laid on Tuesday afternoon by Mr. Samuel Robins, superintendent of the Vancouver Coal Company, in the presence of a large number of people and visiting clergymen. The following clergymen took part: Rev. Joseph Hall, pastor and president of the B. C. Conference; Rev. E. Robson, pioneer Methodist minister of Nanaimo and ex-president of the B. C. Conference; Rev. J. H. White, of New Westminster; Rev. J. H. Starr and Rev. J. W. Wadman, of Victoria; Rev. J. P. Bowell, of Maple Bay.

Rich Gold Strike.

Our Yale correspondent writes that James Dunn and J. P. Roderick have discovered the gold bearing quartz ledge that feeds the well known Siwash creek, out of which many fine nuggets have been washed. The pure gold can be seen with the naked eye in the cap rock, and the new ledge is considered one of the richest ever found in British Columbia. Mr. Dunn is about 60 years of age, and has worked as a miner for many years. He had been working and prospecting alone through*out the whole of last winter, and at* last after many days of weary toil he has reaped his reward by striking a ledge which cannot fail to make him a rich man. There is considerable excitement in Yale over the discovery, and it is expected a rush will take place immediately for Siwash creek.

Road Work.

Mr. Sprott, inspector of the government roads, has a gang of men at work gravelling the Westminster-Vancouver road. The gravel being put on is excellent, but it has to be drawn 2½ miles, which makes it rather expensive for road making. Everyone is pleased that the government intends making the job a thorough one. Repairs to Scott, Semiahamoo and Yale roads will be commenced immediately and finished before the wet season commences. There is room for much good work to be done on these roads, and the settlers throughout the district are anxious that the repairs should be of a thoroughly permanent character. Road work throughout the district is being commenced this season much earlier than heretofore, and the results cannot be otherwise than satisfactory.

For the Mountains.

Mr. John Fannin, curator of the provincial museum, which was formally opened to the public, in Victoria, the other day, arrived in the city yesterday, via Vancouver, from Victoria. Mr. Fannin took the train to-day for Hope, and will spend the next two weeks in the mountains in that vicinity making a collection of small mammals for the museum. He will be accompanied as far as Hope by Mr. W. M. Pike, who is on his way to the McKenzie and Arctic regions for an extended hunting tour of over a year. In another item will be found a very interesting sketch of Capt. Pike's proposed excursion and a mention of the noble game that he will encounter in the far north. Mr. Fannin is a most enthusiastic and skilful collector and taxidermist, and the province is fortunate in having secured his services for the museum.

Incipient Fire.

Shortly before 8 o'clock last night an alarm of fire was sounded and in a few minutes everybody was running in the direction of the fire hall. The fire was reported to be in a Chinese laundry on Columbia street, directly opposite the foot of Blackwood street. *The hose reels and engine were quick*ly run out and got in position for operations, but they were not required as the Chinese, with the assistance of a few willing hands, managed to extinguish the flames with a dozen buckets of water. The fire caught from the stovepipe, and only did a small amount of damage to the roof round the chimney. After steam was up the pressure was turned on and the roofs of the surrounding houses deluged with water. The Hyacks turned out promptly to the call and were ready in a very few minutes to face a serious fire had it been necessary. During the excitement one of the Chinese, who was on the roof, let go his hold and fell to the ground, a distance of 20 feet, passing through the roof of a small shed in his descent. Strange to say the celestial only received a few bruises, and to-day he is none the worse of the accident.

Reduced Taxes.

Ald. Curtis' notice of motion, on Monday night, to introduce a by-law to amend the "Real Estate Tax By-law," is for the purpose of withdrawing the Southern Railway debenture tax for this year. As it will not be necessary to borrow money on the debentures until nearly the end of the current year at the earliest, this is a move that will be generally approved. The rate for this year will thus be quite low, and may be computed by anyone, as follows: As published some time ago in these columns, the total rate for the year, including the assessment for the railway debentures and the proposed streets and park improvement loan, would be, if paid before July 1st, 15 2·5 mills on the dollar. The rebate for prompt payment is made on the general revenue tax of 10 mills, and amounts to 2½ mills on the dollar, thus making the total tax levied 15 2·5 mills, as given above. By de*ducting the railway debenture rate,* 4½ mills, it will be seen that the total rate of taxation for this year, if paid on or before the first of July next, will be just 11 3·20 mills. This calculation, it will be seen, is made on the reasonable assumption that the streets and park improvement by-law will be carried on the 13th inst. If not, the rate would be 2 2·5 mills less.

Assault Case.

A few minutes before 8 o'clock last night Mr. George Pittendrigh, local manager of the Telephone Company, on entering his office found Mr. F. C. McCartney in the private office, stand*ing before the switchboard* and speaking to Vancouver. He had been requested several times not to enter the private office, but had disregarded the request. Mr. Pittendrigh asked McCartney to step outside the partition, to which he replied, "I want Vancouver, and none of your lip." The door was open and Mr. Pittendrigh again requested him to step outside, which he at first seemed inclined to do, but suddenly and without warning turned round and struck Pittendrigh on the mouth, inflicting a severe cut and knocking him down. McCartney then jumped on his opponent and struck him several times, after which he left the office. This is Pittendrigh's side of the story, but the facts as related by McCartney are entirely different. He was in the office when the fire alarm sounded, and numerous calls being made, and the little boy in charge being excited, he stepped inside to assist him and had just finished when Pittendrigh returned. A few words followed and he was ordered to leave the office, which order was followed by an attempt on Pittendrigh's part to force the ejectment. Then the assault took place. A warrant was sworn out for McCartney and he was arrested, but released on bail a few hours later. The case came before the police court this morning, Messrs. Jenns and Eckstein appearing for defendant, and Mr. J. C. Armstrong for the prosecution. An adjournment of a week was asked and granted.

Festival and Concert.

The strawberry festival and concert given last night in the Oddfellows' Hall, under the auspices of St. Paul's Reformed Episcopal church, was a decided success. The fine hall was filled to overflowing, about four hundred, comprising members of every denomination in the city, being present. The programme was choice and well rendered in particular. It was given as follows, a few changes being made from the order of the printed programme for convenience: Piano solo, "March of the Goblins," Mrs. Pearson; song, "They Beckon to Me," with guitar accompaniment, Mrs. Flanders; violin, selected, Mr. R. T. Duncan; song, "When the Boats come Home," Mrs. Lyal. The three latter responded to enthusiastic encores. Mr. T. J. Trapp, who was to have given a recitation in the first part of the programme, sent an apology for his unavoidable absence. The refreshments, strawberries and cream, with cake, followed by lemonade, were then passed around, and this part of the programme was devoutly and deservedly encored by all, mentally at least, the ladies of the R. E. congregation having excelled in preparing a delicate and bountiful treat. Part second was as follows: Piano, "Julight," Miss Lewis; reading Mr. J. S. Clute; song, "The Mountebank's Song," Mr. W. H. Keary; recitation, "A Portrait in Blank Verse," Mr. Hare; song, Mrs. McCrady. The first three and the last item in part second were heartily encored, and each performance was rendered to perfection. The singing of the National Anthem brought the enjoyable and successful evening to a close. Mr. W. D. Ferris did the honors of the chair in a most happy and appropriate manner. The city band was in attendance during the former portion of the evening, and by discoursing of sweet airs added not a little to the enjoyment and success of the occasion.

The Late Justice Gray.

The life of the late Justice Gray, who died last evening in Victoria, was a busy one, and few are aware of the many benefits he conferred on his country. The following short biographical sketch will be read with interest.

Lt.-Col. Hon. John Hamilton Gray, D.C.L., Q.C., was born at St. George, Bermuda, in 1814, and was educated at King's College, Windsor, Nova Scotia; was called to the bar of New Brunswick in 1837; was created a Q.C. in 1853, and received the degree of D. C.L. in 1866. He was a member of the bars of New Brunswick, Nova Scotia and Osgoode Hall, Ontario; sat as a member of the New Brunswick legislature from 1850 to 1865—a period of fifteen years—during which time he was a member of the executive council from 1851 to 1854, and attorney-general in 1856-7, and was speaker of the house of assembly from 1866 until the union. He was umpire between Great Britain and the United States, under the treaty of Washington, 1857-8, and received therefore the approval and thanks of her majesty's government through Lord John Russel; was her majesty's commissioner under the great seal to settle in, conjunction with Hon. Messrs. Howe and Ritchie, the tenant right question in P. E. Island, 1860; was a delegate to the conference of the provinces anent confederation, at Charlottetown in 1864, and was also a delegate to the famous Quebec convention of 1864, which settled confederation. He was *elected to the commons by acclama*tion after the union in 1867. In May, 1868, he was appointed arbitrator for the Dominion under the 142nd section of the B. N. A. Act, for the division and adjustment of the debts, credits, liabilities, properties, and assets of Upper and Lower Canada, amounting to $10,500,000. The decision given at that time was followed by the Geneva and fishery arbitrations, and was afterwards sustained by the privy council of England. He was appointed a judge of the supreme court of British Columbia in July, 1872; was appointed commissioner, with Hon. J. A. Chapleau, secretary of state of Canada, in 1884, to enquire into and report upon Chinese immigration. Upon the report of this commission the Chinese Immigration Act was passed, which has so far very materially restricted the influx of Chinese into this province. Judge Gray has been connected with the advancement of education, the improvement of agriculture and railways, and interested himself very much in all political and social reforms having for their object the advancement of his country and the well-being of his fellow men.

In a letter to a friend in this city, not long ago, speaking of honors for services rendered to his country, he said: I expect myself to go down to my grave "unwept, unhonored and unsung." On the other side of the "divide" "Sir" or not "Sir" won't make much difference.

FOR THE COLD ARCTIC.

A Grand Trip in Search of the Musk Ox and Polar Bear in the Unknown North.

Mr. W. M. Pike, of Saturna Island, left Westminster this afternoon for Calgary, en route for the Arctic circle, over the wild wastes of which he will hunt the musk ox and polar bear. This trip will outrival the one lately accomplished by Lord Lonsdale, and about which so much has been heard. Mr. Pike goes by stage from Calgary to Edmonton, thence by the Hudson Bay steamer to Athabasca Landing. From the Landing the trip will be continued by the famous batteaux up the Athabasca River to Fort Chippewayan on Athabasca lake. After crossing the lake the journey will be resumed up the Great Slave river to Fort Resolution on the shores of Great Slave lake. Here a stop will be made till an opportunity occurs to reach Fort Rae, about 200 miles up the lake, almost directly north of Fort Resolution. At this fort, which is 2000 miles north east of Westminster, Mr. Pike will make his headquarters for a time, going later to Old Fort Confidence at the head of Great Bear Lake. By this time the land of perpetual ice will have been reached, being within the arctic circle, and it is here the musk ox makes its home. Mr. Pike will hunt across the several hundred miles of snowy waste that lies between the Fort and Bathrust Inlet on the Arctic ocean. This is a stretch of land over which the foot of man has never yet trod, and to Mr. Pike remains the honor of first traversing it. On Bathrust Inlet and along the shores of the Arctic ocean Mr. Pike will hunt the polar bear, spending several months at this pastime. If the sport has been good he will turn homewards about July next, reaching British Columbia late in the fall.

Mr. Pike is one of the most enthusiastic sportsmen living, and, at the same time, one of the most accomplished and successful. He has hunted and fished all over the globe, and has killed almost every kind of game but the polar bear and musk-ox, and it is solely to kill a few of these animals that he is making his present trip. He has visited the arctic regions before, but on a fishing trip only, and in the direction of Iceland and Nova Zembla. Through influence with the Hudson's Bay Company, Mr. Pike has obtained an unlimited credit, right to use the company's boats, train dogs, etc. In fact he will have the command of all the facilities the company may have which he may deem of service to him in his excursion. Mr. Pike goes alone, and his only companions on the hunting trips will be an Indian or two, experienced in tracking the game. Of baggage he takes only a very small amount, a pair of tennis shoes being the most important item, but of ammunition he takes 200 pounds. Mr. Pike has not decided by which route he will return home. It will either be across the country to Fort Churchill on the Hudson Bay, and thence by ship to England, or by the way of the Yukon River down to the Pacific coast.
